Now that the nature of the Hierarchy has been, in my judgment, sufficiently defined, we must next celebrate the angelic Hierarchy, and we must contemplate with celestial vision its sacred descriptions contained in the oracles, in order that we may be borne aloft through the mystic representations to their most Godlike simplicity, and may celebrate the Author of all Hierarchical science, with God-becoming reverence and with thanksgivings to the origin of mysteries. First of all, however, let this truth be spoken—that it was through goodness that the superessential Godhead, having fixed the essence of created things, brought them into being. For this is the peculiar characteristic of the cause of all things, and of goodness surpassing all, to call created things to participation in itself, as each order of existences was determined from its own analogy. For all created beings that exist share in a Providence, bubbling forth from the supersubstantial Godhead, Creator of all things. For they would not be, unless they had participated in the essence and origin of things created. All things then, without life, participate in it, by their existence. For the Being of all things is the Godhead, which is above all Being. Things with life participate in the life-giving power which is itself above all life. Things rational and intellectual participate in the self-perfect and pre-eminently perfect wisdom which is above all reason and mind. It is evident, then, that all those Beings dwell around Him, who have participated in Him, in many forms. The holy ranks, then, of the heavenly Beings, share in the participation of the Divine gifts in a higher degree than things which merely exist, or which lead an irrational life, or which are rational like ourselves. For by moulding themselves intellectually to the Divine imitation, and looking from the earthly to the Divine likeness, and striving to mould their own spiritual likeness after its example, they naturally have more ungrudging communications with it, being near and ever moving upwards, as far as permissible; they elevate themselves with the intensity of the Divine unswerving love, and receive the primal illuminations without earthly stain and by moulding themselves to these, their whole life becomes spiritual. These, then, are they who, at first hand, and under many forms, participate in the Divine, and, at first hand, and under many forms, make known the hidden mysteries of the Godhead. Wherefore, beyond all, they are deemed pre-eminently worthy of the angelic appellation on the ground that the Divine illumination comes to them at first hand, and through them there pass to us manifestations above our capacities.

---

[1] The Holy Angels.

Thus, then, the Law, as the Word of God affirms, was given to us through the ministration of Angels[1]; and Angels led our illustrious fathers[2] before the Law, and after the Law to the Deity. Either by leading[3] them to what was to be done, and separating them from error and an unholy life to the straight way of truth,[4] or by making known to them sacred ordinances,[5] or hidden visions of celestial mysteries,[6] or certain Divine predictions through the Prophets.[7] But if anyone should say that Divine manifestations were made directly and immediately to some holy men,[8] let him learn, and that distinctly, from the most holy oracles, that no one hath seen. nor ever shall see, the hidden nature of God as it is in itself.[9] But Divine manifestations were made to those holy men as befits revelations of God, that is to say, through certain holy visions adapted to those who saw them. Now the Word of God, in the fulness of its wisdom, for the instruction of those who are contemplating the Divine, naturally names "Divine manifestation," that special vision which manifests that Divine image, depicted in itself, as clothing in form things without form. As though a Divine illumination were made through this to the spectators, and the godly persons themselves receive some religious initiation. But our illustrious fathers were instructed in these Divine visions, through the mediation of the heavenly powers. Does not the teaching given to us in the oracles describe the holy legislation of the Law, given to Moses, as coming straight from God, in order that it may teach us this truth, that it is a type of a Divine and holy economy. But the Word of God, in its wisdom, teaches this also—that it came to us by the mediation of Angels. As though the Divine regulation were laying down this rule, that through the first, the second are brought to God. For not only with regard to the superior and inferior minds, but even amongst those who are of the same rank, this Law has been established by the supreme Law-giver—that within each Hierarchy there are first and middle, and last ranks and powers. And that the more Divine are the instructors and conductors of the inferior, to the Divine access, and illumination, and participation. But I observe that Angels first revealed the Divine mystery of the love of Jesus towards man, since through them the gift of knowledge passed to us. Thus for example, the most Divine Gabriel instructed Zachariah,[1] the High Priest, that the son who was to be born by Divine grace, from him, beyond hope, should be a prophet, of the [2] God-incarnate work of our Jesus to be manifested to the world for its salvation, as becomes the Divine goodness. But he revealed to Mary,[3] how, in her, should take place the Divinely-originated mystery of the unutterable God-formation. Yet another Angel instructed Joseph[4] how in very truth were fulfilled the things Divinely promised to his ancestor David. Another announced to the shepherds,[5] as being purified by their separation from the multitude and their quiet life, and with him a multitude of the heavenly host, announced to those on earth that often sung doxology. Let us then ascend to the highest manifestations of light contained in the oracles, for I perceive that even Jesus[6] Himself, the supersubstantial cause of the highest heavenly Beings, after He had come to our condition without change in Himself, did not overstep the good order which becomes mankind, which Himself arranged and took, but readily subjected Himself to the dispositions of the Father and God, through Angels, and through their mediation was announced to Joseph the departure of the Son to[7] Egypt, which had been arranged by the Father, and again the return to Judæa[8] from Egypt. We see Him further, subjecting Himself to the Father's decrees. But I forbear to speak, as addressing one who knows the teaching of our hierarchical tradition concerning the Angel[9] who strengthened Jesus Himself; or that even Jesus Himself, when He had come to manifest the good work of our salvation. was called Angel[10] of Great Counsel. For, as He Himself says, after the manner of an Angel, "Whatsoever He heard from the Father, He declared to us."[11]

---

[1] Gal. iii. 18. [2] Acts vii. 53. [3] Gen. xxii. 12. [4] Acts x. 3. [5] Dan. vii. 16. [6] Dan. vii. 10. [7] 2 Cor. xii. 2. [8] Matt. ii. 13. [9] John i. 18; 1 John iv. 12; 1 Tim. vi. 16.

---

[1] Luke i. 11-20. [2] ανδρικῆς τοῦ Ἰησοῦ θεουργίας. [3] Luke i. 26-38.
[4] Matt. i. 20-23. [5] Luke ii. 8-14. [6] Phil. ii. 6-8. [7] Matt. ii. 13. [8] Matt. ii. 19, 20.
[9] Luke xxii. 43. [10] Isa. ix. 6. [11] John xv. 15.

CAPUT V.

For what reason all the heavenly Beings are called by the common names of Angels.

This, then, in our judgment, is the reason for the angelic appellation given in the oracles. We must now enquire for what reason the theologians call all[1] the heavenly Beings together "Angels;" but when they come to a more accurate description of the celestial orders, they name exclusively as angelic order that which completes the full tale of the Divine and heavenly hosts. Before this, however, they range as superior the Orders of Archangels and the Principalities, Authorities, and Powers, and all the Orders that the revealing tradition of the oracles recognize as their superior.[2] Now, we affirm that throughout every sacred order the superior ranks possess the illuminations and powers of the subordinates, but the lowest orders have not the same powers as those who are above them. The theologians, then, call the most holy ranks of the highest Beings "Angels," for even they make known Divine illumination. But there is no reason to call the lowest order of the celestial minds Principalities, or Thrones, or Seraphin. For this order does not possess the highest powers, but, as it were, by its own proper function conducts our inspired Hierarchs to the splendour of the Godhead known to itself. Thus, then, the saintly powers of the Beings above this act as conductors towards the Divine of that order which completes the angelic Hierarchies. Perhaps some may say this also, that all the angelic appellations are common in so far as all the celestial powers possess, in a less or a greater degree, a fellowship in the likeness of God and in the gift of light from God. But, in order that the question may be thoroughly investigated. let us reverently examine the saintly characteristics assigned to each celestial order in the oracles.

CAPUT VI.

Which is the first Order of the celestial Beings? which the middle? and which the last?

How many, and of what sort are the Orders of the supercelestial Beings, and how the Hierarchies are initiated amongst themselves, I affirm the Divine Author of their initiation alone distinctly knows. Further, that they know their own proper powers and illuminations, and their sacred and supermundane regularity. For it is impossible that we should know the mysteries of the supercelestial minds and their most holy perfections unless, someone might say, so far as the Godhead has revealed to us through them who know perfectly their own condition. We, then, will utter nothing as from ourselves, but whatever angelic visions have been gazed upon by the holy Prophets of God, we, as interpreting these, will set forth as best we can The Word of God has designated the whole nine celestial Beings by appellations which shew their functions These our Divine Initiator divides into three threefold orders. He also says that the first is that order which tradition declares to be always around God, and united closely and immediately to Him before all the rest. For he says that the teaching of the holy oracles declares that the Most Holy Thrones and the many-eyed[1] and many-winged[2] ranks named in the Hebrew tongue Cherubin[3] and Seraphin[4] are established immediately around God, with a nearness superior to all. This threefold order, then, our illustrious Guide affirmed to be one, and of equal rank, and really first, than which there is not another more God-like or immediately nearer to the earliest illuminations of the Godhead. But he says that the second is that which is composed of the Authorities, and Lordships, and Powers; and the third, as being the lowest of the celestial Hierarchies, is the Order of the Angels and Archangels and Principalities.

---

[1] Ps. ciii. 20; Matt. xxv. 31. [2] Isa. vi. 2.

CAPUT VII.

Concerning the Seraphin and Cherubin and Thrones, and concerning their Hierarchy, which is first.

We, whilst admitting this as the arrangement of the Hierarchies, affirm that every appellation of the celestial minds denotes the Godlike characteristic of each; and those who know Hebrew affirm that the holy designation of the Seraphin denotes that they are fiery or burning; but that of Cherubin, a fulness of knowledge and stream of wisdom. Naturally, then, the first of the heavenly Hierarchies is ministered[5] by the most exalted Beings, holding, as it does, a rank which is higher than all, by the fact that it is established immediately around God, and that the first-wrought Divine manifestations and perfections pass earlier to it, as being nearest. They are called, then, Burning and Thrones. and Stream of Wisdom—by a name which explains their Godlike dispositions. The appellation of Seraphin plainly teaches their ever moving around things Divine, and constancy, and warmth, and keenness, and the seething of that persistent, indomitable, and inflexible perpetual motion, and that vigorous transformation of the subordinate, by precept and example, as giving new life and rekindling them to the same heat; and purifying through fire and burnt offering, and the light-like and light-shedding characteristic which can never be concealed or consumed, and remains always the same, which destroys and dispels every kind of obscure darkness. But the appellation of the Cherubin denotes their knowledge and their vision of God, and their readiness to receive the highest gift of light, and their power of contemplating the Divine comeliness in its first revealed power, and their being filled with the impartation which maketh wise, and their ungrudging communication to those next to them by pouring forth the wisdom given to themselves. The appellation of the most exalted and pre-eminent Thrones denotes their manifest exaltation above every grovelling inferiority, and their celestial tendency towards higher things; and their unswerving separation from all remoteness; and their invariable and firmly-fixed settlement around the veritable Highest, with the whole force of their powers; and their capacity for receiving the approaches of the Godhead, through the absence of all passion and earthly tendency, and their bearing God; and the ardent expansion of themselves for the Divine receptions. This, then, is the explanation of their names, so far as we can give it; but we ought to say what we think their Hierarchy is. For I suppose we have sufficiently shown above that the purpose of every Hierarchy is an unswerving devotion to the imitation of the Divine Likeness, and that every Hierarchical function is set apart for the sacred reception and distribution of an undefiled purification, and Divine Light and perfecting science.

---

[1] Ezek. i. 18.
[2] Ezek. i. 6.
[3] Ezek. x.
[4] Isaiah vi. 2.
[5] ἱερουργεῖται.

But now I pray that I may speak worthily of the most exalted minds—how their Hierarchy is exhibited through the oracles.

One must consider, then, that the Hierarchy belongs properly, and is in every respect like, to the first Beings, who are established after the Godhead, who gave them Being, and who are marshalled, as it were, in its very vestibule, who surpass every unseen and seen created power. Now, so far as they are pure, we must regard them, not as though they have been freed from unholy stains and blemishes, nor as though they were unreceptive of earthly fancies, but as far exalted above all stain of inferiority and every transient holiness in accordance with the highest degree of purity—established above the most Godlike powers, and clinging unflinchingly to their own self-moved and same-moved order in their invariable love of God, conscious in no respect whatever of any declivity to a worse condition, but having the invariable fixity of their own godlike identity—never liable to fall, and always unmoved.

Again, so far as they are contemplative, we must not regard them as contemplating sensible signs intellectually, nor as being led to the Divine by the varied texture of holy representations written for our meditation, but as being filled with all kinds of unearthly knowledge of higher light, and satiated, as permissible, with the beautifying and princely beauty superessential and thrice manifested. Thus, deemed worthy of Communion with Jesus, they do not stamp the deifying similitude in the bodily forms of divinely-pictured images, but as being in very truth near to Him in first enjoyment of the knowledge of His deifying illuminations. Further, because the imitation of God is given to them in the highest possible degree, they participate, so far as possible, in His God-wrought and philanthropic virtues, in the power of a first manifestation. But, so far as they are perfected, we must not think of them as being illuminated with a sacred subtlety according to analytic science, but as being filled with a first and pre-eminent deification, as following from the most exalted science of the Divine operations which Angels can possibly possess. For, not through other holy Beings, but from the very Godhead, are they directed in spiritual things, by their elevation to Itself immediately, by their power, and order, and rank surpassing all. They are both planted near the All-Holy without any shadow of turning, and are conducted for contemplation to the unearthly, immaterial, and spiritual comeliness as far as possible, and to the reasons which make known the Divine operations, and as being first around God they are instructed from the source of mystery itself, and supremely directed in Divine mysteries. This, then, the theologians distinctly shew that the subordinate Orders of the heavenly Beings are taught by the superior, in due order, the deifying sciences, and that those who are higher than all are illuminated from the Godhead itself, as far as permissible, in revelations of the Divine mysteries. For they introduce some of them as being religiously instructed by those of a higher rank, that He, Who was raised to Heaven[1] as befits man, is the Lord of the heavenly Powers and King of Glory. Others, as putting the question to Jesus Himself, and as desiring to learn exactly the nature of His Divine work on our behalf, and Jesus, as instructing them directly, and shewing to them at first hand the work of His goodness out of love to man. "For I, He says, am pondering over righteousness and judgment of Salvation."[2] Now I am astonished that even the first of the Beings in Heaven, and so far above all others, should reverently strive after the Divine illuminations, as though they were intermediate Beings. For they do not ask directly, "Wherefore are Thy garments red?"[3] but they first raise the difficulty among themselves, thus shewing that they desire to learn, and crave the deifying knowledge, but not impeding the Divine illumination given to them after a Divine procedure.

---

[1] Psalm xxiv. 7-10. [2] Isaiah lxiii. 1. [3] Isaiah lxiii. 2.

The first Hierarchy, then, of the heavenly minds is purified, and enlightened, and perfected by being religiously directed by the Author of initiation Himself, by its elevation to Himself immediately, and by being filled, according to its degree, with the most holy purification of the unapproachable Light of the most perfect source of initiation, and being unstained by any inferiority and full of primal Light, and perfected by its participation in first-given knowledge and science. But to sum up, I may say this, not inappropriately, that the reception of Divine Science is both purification, and enlightenment, and perfecting—purifying, as it were, from ignorance, by the knowledge of the more perfect revelations imparted to it according to its fitness, but enlightening by the self-same Divine knowledge, through which it also purifies that order which did not before contemplate the things which are now made manifest through the higher illumination; and perfecting further, by the self-same Light the abiding science of the mysteries made clearly manifest. This, then, according to my most accurate knowledge, is the first rank of the heavenly Beings which encircle and stand immediately around God, and without symbol, and without interruption, dances around His eternal knowledge in the most exalted and ever-moving stability; viewing with pure eyes many and blessed contemplations, but illuminated with unique and immediate splendours; filled with a Divine nourishment—numerous indeed in its first-given profusion, but one in the unvariegated and unifying oneness of the Divine Food. It is thus deemed worthy of much participation and co-operation with God, by the assimilation to Him, as far as possible, in excellent habits and energies. They thus know many Divine things pre-eminently, and participate in Divine science and knowledge to the utmost. Wherefore the Word of God has transmitted their hymns to those on earth, in which are Divinely shewn the excellency of its most exalted illumination. For some of them, to speak after the manner of men, proclaim as the "voice of many waters," "Blessed is the glory of the Lord, from His place."[1] But others cry aloud that frequent and most august word of God, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord of Sabaoth," "The whole earth is full of His glory."[2] These most excellent hymnologies of the supercelestial minds, we have already unfolded to the best of our ability in the Treatise concerning the Divine hymns, and have spoken sufficiently concerning them in that Treatise, from which, by way of remembrance, it is enough to produce so much as is necessary to our present purpose, namely, "That the first Order, having been instructed in theological science from the Divine Goodness itself, as a Hierarchy reflecting that Goodness, transmitted it to the Order next after itself." To speak briefly, it teaches this—"That the august Godhead—itself both above praise and all praiseworthy—is rightly eulogised by the minds who receive God, so far as He is permitted to be known and sung For they, according to the oracles,[1] as images of God, are the Divine places of the Divine repose.[2] Yea further, they affirm that He is alone, and One of three-fold subsistence,[3] sending forth His most kindly forethought to all created things, from the supercelestial minds to the lowest of the earth; as Prince above principality and cause of all creation, and grasping all things supernaturally in His resistless embrace.

---

[1] Ezek. iii. 12. [2] Isaiah vi. 3.

CAPUT VIII.

Concerning Lordships and Powers and Authorities, and concerning their middle Hierarchy.

Let us now pass to the middle order of the heavenly minds, gazing as far as we may, with celestial vision, upon those Lordships and the truly terrible visions of the Divine Authorities and Powers. For each appellation of the minds above us denotes those characteristics by which they Divinely imitate the Divine Likeness. I think, then, that the explanatory name of the Holy Lordships denotes a certain unslavish tendency to higher things, free from all grovelling subserviency, which does not submit in any way whatever to one single imperious force dissimilar to itself, as befits the freedom of unbending Lordship; superior to every kind of cringing slavery, indomitable to every lower tendency, and elevated above every dissimilarity, ever seeking the true Lordship, and source of Lordship; and moulding as an image of goodness, itself and those after it, to His Lordly Likeness, turning itself wholly to none of the things that vainly seem, but to the Lordly Being, and ever sharing in the Lordly Likeness of God. The appellation of the Holy Powers denotes the possession to the highest possible extent of a certain masculine and unflinching manliness towards all those Godlike energies within themselves—not feebly weak, for the reception of any of the Divine illuminations vouchsafed to it—vigorously conducting itself to the Divine imitation; not forsaking the Godlike movement through its own cowardice, but unflinchingly looking to the superessential and powerful making Power; and becoming an image of this, as far as is permissible, in the likeness of His power, and powerfully turning itself to this as Source of Power, but issuing forth to those next in degree, in its gift of Power and in its likeness to God. But the appellation of the Holy Authorities denotes their being of the same rank as the Divine Lordships and Powers, their beautiful and unconfused good order with regard to the Divine receptions, and the marshalling of the celestial and spiritual Authority, not using their authoritative powers imperiously for base purposes, but conducting themselves in the highest possible degree towards Divine things in due order, and conducting those after them benignly; and being assimilated, as far as permissible to the Authority giving Source of Authority, and making this visible, as is possible to Angels, in the well-ordered regulations of the Authority giving power. The middle order of the heavenly minds, having these Godlike characteristics, is purified and illuminated in the manner described, through the Divine illuminations vouchsafed to it at second hand, which pass through the first Hierarchical Order, and through this middle as a secondary manifestation. Without dwelling upon that message, which is said to pass through one angel to another, let us take it as a symbol of a message delivered from afar, and obscured in its passage so as to become a secondary revelation. For, as men skilled in our initiation say, the knowledge of Divine things, manifested directly to ourselves, is more perfect than the Divine contemplations imparted through others. Thus, I think, with regard to the angelic ranks, the immediate participation in knowledge of those elevated to the nearest proximity to God, is more clear than that of those who are initiated through the instrumentality of others. Wherefore, by our sacerdotal tradition, the first minds are named, perfecting, illuminating, and purifying Powers, of the subordinate on the ground that these are conducted through them to the superessential Origin of all things; and are placed in possession, as far as is permissible to them, of the consecrating purifications, and illuminations, and perfections. For this is absolutely fixed by the Divinely-established law of consecration, that through the first, the second should partake of the Divine illuminations. This you will find declared by the theologians in many ways. For when the Divine and Paternal Love towards man had chastened in a remarkable manner, His people Israel, with a view to their spiritual salvation, and had delivered them to terrible and savage nations for correction, by every kind of providential training to better things, He both liberated them from their misery, and led them back, through His compassion, to their former state of comfort. Then, one of the theologians, Zechariah, saw in a vision one of the first Angels, as I think, around God (for the name of Angels is common, as I said, to them all), who learned from God Himself the comforting words, as we say, concerning this matter. But he saw another Angel, of inferior rank, advancing to meet the first Angel, for the purpose of receiving and explaining an illumination. Then, from him, instructed as from a Hierarch, and charged to reveal to the theologian, that Jerusalem should be abundantly occupied by a multitude of people.[1] But another theologian, Ezekiel, says that this was righteously ordained by the glorious Godhead itself, exalted above the Cherubin.[2] For the Paternal Love towards man, whilst conducting Israel through an education to better things, by a righteousness worthy of God, decided to separate the guilty from the guiltless. This is revealed to one first after the Cherubin [3]—He who was bound about the loins with a sapphire,[4] and wore displayed the hierarchical robe coming down to the feet as a symbol of Hierarchical Office. But the other Angels, who bore the battle-axe,[5] the Divine Government compels to be instructed from the former, as to the Divine judgment in this matter. For, to one, He said that he should go through the midst of Jerusalem, and place the sign upon the forehead of the just men. But to the others, "Go into the city after him and strike, and spare not your eyes, but to every one upon whom is the sign draw not near."

---

[1] Isaiah lxvi. 1. [2] Acts vii. 49. [3] Heb. i. 3.

What would any one say concerning the Angel who said to Daniel,[6] "The word has gone forth?" or concerning him of the first Order, who took the fire from the midst of the Cherubin; or what is more remarkable than this, foreshowing the good order that reigns amongst the Angels, the Cherubin casts the fire into the hands[7] of him wearing the sacred stole; or concerning him who called the most Divine Gabriel, and said to him, "Make this man understand the vision,"[8] or whatever else is recorded by the holy theologians concerning the Godlike Order of the celestial Hierarchies, to which the good order of our Hierarchy, after being assimilated to the greatest possible extent, will bear the likeness of the angelic comeliness, as it were, in reflection, taking its whole form from this, and conducted to the superessential source of order in every Hierarchy.

CAPUT IX.

Concerning the Principalities, Archangels and Angels, and concerning their Hierarchy which is last.

There remains for our religious contemplation an Order which completes the Angelic Hierarchies, which is composed of the Godlike Principalities, Archangels, and Angels. I think it necessary, first to declare the meaning of their sacred appellations. For the appellation of the heavenly Principalities denotes their ruling and guiding after the Divine example with religious order most befitting the Princely Powers, and their being wholly turned to the Principality above Principality, and their directing others in a princely fashion, and their being moulded to the distinguished Principality itself, the Maker of Princedom, and that they make manifest their superessential Source of order by the regularity of their princely powers.

---

[1] Zechariah i. 8-17. [2] Ezek. ix. 3. [3] Ezek. ix. 3. [4] Ezek. x. 1. [5] Ezek. ix. 2. [6] Dan. ix. 23. [7] Ezek. x. 2-7. [8] Dan. viii. 16.

The Order of the Holy Archangels is of the same rank with the heavenly Principalities. For there is one Hierarchy and rank, as I said, of themselves and the Angels. But since there is not a Hierarchy which does not possess first and middle and last powers, the holy order of Archangels occupies the middle position in the Hierarchy between the extremes. For it belongs alike to the most holy Principalities and to the holy Angels. To the Principalities because it is turned in a princely fashion to the superessential Prince, and is moulded to It as far as possible, and unites the Angels after the fashion of its own well-regulated and marshalled and invisible Leadership. But it belongs to the Angels because it is of the prophetic Order, receiving in a sacerdotal fashion the Divine illumination from the first powers, and conveys the same to the Angels after the example of God, and through Angels manifests them to us in proportion to the sacred aptitude of each one of the godly persons illuminated. For the Angels, as we have already previously said, complete the whole series of celestial minds as being the last Order of the heavenly Beings, who possess the Angelic characteristic. Yea, rather, they are more properly named Angels by us than those of higher degree. Especially because their Order is occupied in making known, and is more particularly concerned with the things of the world. For the very highest Order, as being placed in the first rank near the Hidden One, we must consider as directing in spiritual things in a more hidden fashion than the Order next to itself. But the second Order, which is composed of the holy Lordships and Powers and Authorities, directs the Hierarchy of the Principalities and Archangels and Angels more clearly indeed than the first Hierarchy, but more hiddenly than the Order after it. We must bear in mind that the more revealing Order of the Principalities, Archangels, and Angels presides through each other over the Hierarchies amongst men, in order that the instruction, and conversion, and communion, and union with God may be in due order, and, in short, that the procession from God vouchsafed in a manner becoming His goodness to all the Hierarchies, and passing to all in common, may be in a most sacred regularity. Hence, the Word of God has assigned our Hierarchy to Angels, naming the distinguished Michael as Ruler of the Jewish people, and others over other nations. For the Most High established borders of nations according to number of Angels of[1] God. But if anyone should say, "How then were the people of the Hebrews alone conducted to the Divine illuminations?" we must answer that we ought not to throw the blame of the other nations wandering after those which are no gods, upon the faithful superintendence of the Angels. But they themselves, by their own declension, fell away from the faithful conduct towards the Divine, through self-conceit and self-will, and through their irrational reverence for things which appeared to themselves worthy of God. Even the Hebrew people are testified to have suffered the same thing; for He says, "Thou[2] hast cast away knowledge of God, and hast gone after thine own heart."[3] For neither have we a life governed by necessity, nor, on account of the free will of those who are objects of providential care, are the Divine rays of the providential illumination blunted. But the inaptitude of the mental visions makes the overflowing gift of Light, which comes from paternal goodness, either altogether unparticipated or impenetrable to their resistance, or makes the participations of the one fontal ray, diverse, small or great, obscure or brilliant, although that ray is one and simplex, and always the same, and ever overflowing. For even over the other nations, from whom even we have emerged to that boundless and bounteous sea of Divine Light, which is expanded for the ready reception of all, there were not placed certain alien gods. But there is one Prince of all, and to Him the Angels who religiously direct each nation conduct those who follow them. Let us consider Melchizedek[4] as being a Hierarch, most dear to God; not of gods which are not, but of Him Who is truly most high God. For the godly wise not only speak of him as being dear to God, but also as Priest, in order that they may clearly shew to the wise that not only was he himself turned to the true God, but further, that he became as Hierarch, a guide to others, in that wisdom which leads to the true and only Godhead.

Let me also recall this to your Hierarchical judgment—that both to Pharaoh,[5] from the Angel who presided over the Egyptians, and to the Babylonian[6] Prince, from his own Angel, the watchful and ruling care of the Providence and Lordship over all was made known in visions. And leaders who were worshippers of the true God were appointed over those nations. For the interpretation of things shaped by angelic visions was made known from God through Angels to holy men akin to the Angels—Daniel and Joseph. For there is one Prince and Providence over all. And never must we think that the Godhead guides Jews by lot, but that Angels, independently, or as of equal rank, or as in opposition, or that certain other gods preside over the other nations. But that particular phrase of the Divine Word, must be accepted according to its very religious intention; not as though God had divided government amongst men with other gods or Angels, and had been elected by lot to the government and leadership of Israel, but in this sense—that, whereas there is one and the same forethought of the Supreme over all, which has assigned all men for their salvation to the elevating guidance of their own Angels, yet Israel, almost alone in comparison with the rest, turned itself to the Light-gift, and recognition of the true Lord. Hence the Word of God, in order to shew that Israel himself elected for the worship of the true God, says this, "He became[1] the Lord's portion." But as shewing that he was distributed equally with the other nations, to one of the holy Angels, for the recognition through him of the one Prince over all, he said, "That Michael[2] was the Leader of the Jewish people." From this it is evident that there is one Providence for the whole, pre-eminently established above all powers, unseen and seen, and that all the Angels who preside over each nation elevate as far as possible those who follow them with a willing mind, to Itself as their proper Head.

---

[1] Deut. xxxii. 8. [2] Hosea iv. 6. [3] Jer. xvi. 12. [4] Gen. xiv. 18; Heb. vii. 1. [5] Gen. xli. 1-7. [6] Dan. ii. 1.

CAPUT X.

A Repetiton and Summary concerning the Angelic Order.

We have concluded, then, that the most exalted order of the minds around God, whilst being sanctified by the perfecting illumination, is purified, and illuminated, and perfected by a gift of light, at once more hidden and more manifest—more hidden, indeed, as being more intellectual, and more simplifying, and more unifying—more manifest, as being a first gift and a first manifestation, and more complete, and more shed forth to it as being more transparent. But from this order again, in due degree, the second, and from the second, the third, and from the third our Hierarchy is religiously conducted to the Beginning above beginning, and End of all good order, acccording to the self-same law of well-ordered regularity, in Divine harmony and proportion. But all Angels are interpreters of those above them. The very highest, indeed, of God, Who moves them, but the rest in due order of those who have been moved by God. For, to such an extent has the superessential harmony of all things provided for the religious order, and the regulated conduct of each of the rational and intellectual beings, that each rank of the Hierarchies has been placed in sacred order, and we observe every Hierarchy distributed into first and middle and last Powers. But to speak accurately, He divided each order itself, by the same Divine harmonies, on which account the theologians say that the most Divine Seraphin cry one to another,[1] indicating distinctly, as I think, by this, that the first impart their theological knowledge to the second. I might add this not inappropriately, that each celestial and human mind has within itself its own special first and middle and last rank and power, corresponding to the foresaid peculiar instructions of the several Hierarchical illuminations made known in due order, in accordance with which each one participates, so far as is lawful and permissible to himself, in the most spotless purification, the most copious light, the pre-eminent perfection. For there is nothing that is self-perfect, or absolutely without need of perfecting, except the self-perfect and pre-eminently perfect One.

---

[1] Deut. xxxii. 9. [2] Dan. x. 21.

CAPUT XI.

For what reason all the celestial Beings, in common, are called celestial Powers.

Now that we have defined these things, it is worthy of consideration for what reason we are accustomed to call all the angelic Beings together, celestial Powers. For it is not possible to say, as with regard to the Angels, that the Order of the holy Powers is last of all. The Orders of the superior Beings share in the holy illuminations of the last; but the last in no degree of the first; and on this account all the holy minds are called celestial Powers, but never Seraphin and Thrones and Lordships. For the last do not enjoy the whole characteristics of the highest. For the Angels, and those above the Angels, Archangels, and Principalities, and Authorities, whilst being placed after the Powers, by the Word of God, are often called by us, in conjunction with the other holy Beings, heavenly Powers. But we affirm that whilst often using the appellation of celestial Powers for all in common, we do not introduce a sort of confusion of the characteristics of each Order. Now, inasmuch as all the Divine minds are divided into three, in the celestial description given of them—into substance, and power, and energy—when we speak of them all, or some of them, indiscriminately, as celestial Beings or celestial Powers, we must consider that we describe those about whom we speak in a general way, from the substance or power of each of them. For we must not apply the superior characteristic of those holy Powers, whom we have already sufficiently distinguished, to the Beings which are entirely inferior to them, so as to overthrow the unconfused order of the angelic ranks. According to the correct account which we have already frequently given, the superior Orders possess abundantly the sacred characteristics of the inferior, but the lowest do not possess the superior completeness of the highest. For the first-manifested illuminations are revealed to them, through the first Order, in proportion to their capacity.

---

[1] Isaiah vi. 3.

CAPUT XII.

Why human Hierarchs are called Angels.

But this is sometimes also asked by diligent readers of the oracles. Since the lowest Orders do not possess the completeness of the superior, for what reason is our Hierarch named by the oracles "Angel of the Lord Omnipotent"?[1] Now the statement, as I think, is not contrary to what has been before defined, for we say that the last lack the whole and pre-eminent Power of the most exalted Orders. For they possess in part and degree according to the one harmonious and binding fellowship of all things. For example, the Order of the holy Cherubin possess wisdom and knowledge in a higher degree. But the Orders of the Beings beneath them possess also themselves wisdom and knowledge, but nevertheless partially as compared with them and in a lower degree. For the possession of wisdom throughout is common to all the spiritual which bear the image of God. But the being near and first, or second and inferior, is not common, but as has been determined for each in its own degree. This also one might safely define respecting all the spiritual Minds, for, as the first possess abundantly the goodly characteristics of the inferior, so the last possess those goodly qualities, not indeed in the same degree, but subordinately. There is, then, as I think, nothing absurd if the Word of God calls our Hierarch Angel, since he participates, according to his own capacity, in the prophetic characteristic of the Angels, and elevates himself, as far as possible, to the likeness of their interpreting powers. But you will find that the Word of God calls gods, both the celestial Beings above us, and the holy men[2] amongst us, who are most beloved of God,[3] although the Divine Hiddenness is transcendently elevated and established above all; and no created Being can properly and entirely be said to be like unto It, except those intellectual and rational Beings who are entirely and wholly turned to its Oneness as far as possible, and who elevate themselves indomitably to its Divine illuminations by their imitation of God, if I may so speak, according to their power, and are deemed worthy of the same appellation as God.

---

[1] Mal. ii. 7. [2] ἄνδρας. [3] Ex. vii. 1; Ps. lxxxii. 6.

CAPUT XIII.

For what reason the Prophet Isaiah is said to have been purified by the Seraphin.

Come, then, let us examine this as best we can, why one of the Seraphin[1] is said to be sent to one of the theologians. For some one may object that not one of the inferior Angels, but one himself enrolled amongst the very highest Beings cleanses the Prophet. Some, indeed, do affirm that, according to the definition already given of the mutual relation of all the Minds, this portion of the Word of God does not name one of the highest around God as having come for the cleansing of the theologian, but that some one of the Angels placed over us as a sacred Minister of the Prophet's cleansing is called by the same name as the Seraphin, on the ground that the removal of the fault spoken of and the restoration of him who was cleansed to the Divine obedience[2] was through fire; and they say that this oracle speaks simply of one of the Seraphin, not of those who are established around God, but of the Powers established over us for the purpose of cleansing. Now another brought forward to me a by no means foolish defence of this present position. For he said that that great One, whoever he might be—the Angel who formed this vision—for the purpose of teaching the theologian Divine things, referred his own cleansing function to God, and after God, to the first working Hierarchy. And was not this statement true? For he who said this affirmed that the Divine Power passes to all in its frequent visitations, and penetrates all irresistibly, and yet is invisible to all, not only as being superessentially elevated above all, but as secretly transmitting its providential energies to all; yea, rather, it is manifested to all the spiritual Beings in due degree, and conducts its own gift of Light to the most reverend Beings, through whom, as being of the first Order, itself distributes in due order to the subordinate in proportion to the power of each Order to bear the vision of God. Or to speak more strictly, and through familiar illustrations (for if they fall short of the Glory of God, Who is exalted above all, yet they are more instructive to us), the transmission of the sun's ray passes most easily to matter of the first Order, as being more transparent than all, and through this lights up its own splendour more brilliantly. But when it strikes more dense matter, its transmitted brilliancy becomes more obscure, from the inaptitude of the matter illuminated for the transmission of the gift of Light. And from this it is, little by little, contracted so as to almost perfectly exclude the passage of Light. Again, the heat of fire transmits itself chiefly to things that are more receptive, and yielding, and conducive to assimilation to itself. But, as regards repellent substances, either it leaves none, or a very light trace of its fiery energy. More than this, when it comes in contact with things not congenial, through substances favourable to its proper action—First, if it chance to enflame things easily changed to its heat, and through them, either water or some other substance which is not easily heated, it heats them in proportion to their capacity. After the same rule, then, of Nature's well ordered method, the primal regulation of all good order, both visible and invisible, manifests supernaturally the brightness of its own gift of Light to the most exalted Beings in abundant streams of first-manifestation, and through these the Beings after them partake of the Divine ray. For these, as first knowing God, and striving pre-eminently after Divine virtue and to become first-workers, are deemed worthy of the power and energy for the imitation of God, to the utmost degree. And these lovingly elevate the beings after them to an equality with themselves as far as possible, by imparting ungrudgingly to them the splendour which rests upon themselves, and these again to those subordinate. Throughout every Order the first rank imparts its gift to that after it. The Divine Light thus rests upon all, in due proportion, with providential forethought. There is, then, for all those who are illuminated, a Source of illumination—God, that is, naturally, and really, and properly, as Essence of Light, and Cause of Being and Vision itself. But, by ordinance and by Divine imitation, the superior Order is successively the Source to that Order which follows it, by the fact that the Divine rays are poured through this to that. All the remaining Angels, then, naturally regard the highest Order of the heavenly minds as Source of every sacred knowledge and imitation of God, since through them the Divine illumination is distributed to all, and even to us. Wherefore they refer every holy energy of Divine imitation to God indeed as Cause, but to the first Godlike minds as being first authors and teachers of Divine things.

---

[1] Isaiah vi. 6-7. [2] Isaiah vi. 7.

The first Order, then, of the holy Angels, possess more than all, the characteristic of fire; and the distribution of the streams of Divine wisdom; and the faculty of knowing the highest science of the Divine illuminations; and the characteristic of Thrones, exhibiting their expansion for the reception of God. But the ranks of the subordinate Beings possess the faculty of fire, of wisdom, of knowledge, of Divine reception—but in a lower degree. And looking to the first, and through them, as being worthy of the Divine imitation in the first degree, they are conducted to the highest possible likeness of God. The aforesaid holy characteristics, then, which the Beings after them possess through the first, they attribute to those Beings themselves as Hierarchs after God.

He who said this, was accustomed to affirm that this vision was shewn to the Theologian[1] through one of the holy and blessed Angels who are set over us, and from his illuminating direction that he, the Prophet, was elevated to that spiritual vision in which he saw the most exalted Beings, to speak symbolically, fixed under God, and with God, and around[2] God, and the Supreme Eminence above all eminence, elevated unspeakably above all seated on high in the midst of the most exalted Beings. The Theologian then learned, from the things seen, that as compared with every supéressential pre-eminence, the Divine was seated above every visible and invisible power, and that He is exalted above all, as Absolute—not even comparable to the first of created Beings. Further also. that He is the very Being of all, and Cause of all cause, and unalterable centre of the undissolved continuance of all, from Whom is both the being and the well-being of the most exalted Powers themselves. Then he was instructed in the God-like qualities of the most holy Seraphin, whose sacred appellation signifies the Fiery, concerning which we shall shortly speak, so as to shew as best we can, the hidden mysteries of the empyrion faculty which leads to Divine imitation. But when the holy Prophet viewed the free and most exalted restoration to the Divine, in first, middle, and last conceptions, as depicted in the representation of the six wings; and further, when he contemplated their innumerable feet and many faces, and their extended wings—some under their feet, and the other over their faces, and their perpetual movement of their middle wings—he was brought to the intellectual knowledge of the things seen. Since there was manifested to him the power of the most exalted minds for deep penetration and numerous contemplation, and their sacred reverence which they have, above earthly Beings; for the bold, and courageous, and impossible scrutiny into higher and deeper mysteries; and the incessant and high-flying perpetual movement in their orderly striving after the Divine imitation, but he was also taught the hidden mysteries of that Divine and much esteemed heavenly Hymn of Praise—the Angel, whilst forming the vision, imparting, as far as possible, his own Divine knowledge to the theologian. He also taught him this, that the participation, as far as possible, in the Divine and radiant purity,

---

[1] Isaiah vi. [2] John i. 1.

F

is a purification to the pure, in whatever degree. But this being accomplished from the very Godhead by most exalted causes to all the sacred Minds by a supernatural Hiddenness, is in a manner more manifest, and exhibits and distributes itself in a higher degree to the highest powers around itself. But with regard to the second, or us the lowest intellectual powers, as each is distant as regards the Divine likeness from itself, so it contracts its brilliant manifestation to the single unknowableness of its own hiddenness. But he illuminates the second, severally through the first; and, if one must speak briefly, he is firstly brought from hiddenness to manifestation through the first powers. This, then, the Theologian was taught by the Angel who was leading him to Light—that purification, and all the Divine energies, being made known through the first Beings, are distributed to all the rest, according to the aptitude of each for the deifying participations. Wherefore also, the characteristic of purification by fire he naturally attributed to the Seraphin after God. There is nothing, then, absurd if the Seraphin is said to purify the Prophet. For, as God purifies all, by being cause of all purification, yea, rather (for I use a familiar illustration) as our Hierarch, when purifying or enlightening through his Deacons or Priests, is said himself to purify and enlighten, since the Orders consecrated through him attribute to him their own proper functions; so also the Angel who effected the purification of the Prophet attributed his own purifying science and power to God, as Cause, but to the Seraphin as first-operating Hierarch. As any one might say with Angelic reverence, whilst teaching one who was being purified by himself, "There is a pre-eminent Source, and Essence, and Worker, and Cause of the cleansing wrought upon you from me—He Who brings both the first Beings into Being, and holds them together by their fixity around Himself, and keeps them without change and without fall; moving them to the first participations of His own Providential energies. For this He who taught me these things used to say that this shews the mission of the Seraphin. Now that Hierarch and Leader after God, the Glory of the most exalted Beings, from whom I was taught to purify after the example of God—this is He, Who cleanses thee through me—through Whom the Cause and Creator of all cleansing brought forth His own provident energies from the hidden Abyss, even to us." These things, then, he taught me, and I impart them to thee. Let it be a part of thy spiritual and discriminating skill, either that each of the reasons assigned should be freed from objection, and to honour one before the other as having likelihood and good reason, and perhaps the truth: or from yourself, to find out something more allied to the real truth, or to learn from another; God, of course, giving the Word, and Angels supplying it; and to reveal to us, the friends of Angels, a more luminous view, if it should be so, and one to me specially welcome.

CAPUT XIV.

What the number attributed to the Angels signifies.

This also is worthy, in my opinion, of spiritual consideration—that the teaching of the oracles concerning the Angels, affirms that they are thousand thousands, and myriad myriads; cumulating and multiplying respecting them the supreme limit of our numbers, and through these shewing clearly that the ranks of the celestial Beings cannot be numbered by us; for many are the blessed hosts of the celestial minds, surpassing the weak and contracted measurement of our mundane calculation. And being definitely known to the celestial and heavenly intelligence and science amongst themselves, which is given to them in profusion by the supremely Divine and infinitely wise Head, and essential Cause and connecting Force, and encompassing Term of all created things together. (Dan. vii. 10.)

CAPUT XV.

What are the corporeal likenesses of the angelic Powers? what the fiery? what the likeness to man? what are the eyes? what the nostrils? what the ears? what the mouths? what the touch? what the eyelids? what the eyebrows? what the prime? what the teeth? what the shoulders? what the elbows? what the hands? what the heart? what the breasts? what the back? what the feet? what the wings? what the wrestler? what the robe? what the shining raiment? what the sacerdotal? what the girdles? what the rods? what the spears? what the battle-axe? what the measuring lines? what the winds? what the clouds? what the brass? what the electron? what the choir? what the clapping of hands? what the colours of transparent stones? what the likeness of the lion? what the likeness of the ox? what the likeness of the eagle? what the horses? what the various kinds of coloured horses? what the rivers? what the chariots of the Angels?

Come, then, let us at last, if you please, rest our mental vision from the strain of lofty contemplations, which is fit for Angels, and when we have descended to the divided and manifold picture of the manifold variety of the angelic forms, let us then return analytically from the same. as from images, to the naked[1] truth of the celestial minds. Let this first be borne in mind, that the explanations of the typical likenesses represent the same ranks of the celestial Beings. as sometimes ruling, and at other times as being ruled, and the last as ruling, and the first as being ruled; and the same, as has been said, as having first, and middle, and last powers—without introducing anything absurd into the description, according to the following mode of explanation. For if indeed we were to say that some are ruled by those above them, and then that they were ruling the same, and that those above, whilst ruling those below, are ruled by those same, who are being ruled, the thing would manifestly be absurd, and mixed with all sorts of confusion. But if we say that the same rule, and are ruled, but no longer the same, or from the same, but that each Order is itself ruled by those above it, but rules those below it, one might say appropriately that the Divinely pictured forms in the oracles, the self-same may sometimes properly and truly apply to both first and middle and last powers. Now the elevation by being turned to things above, and their being drawn inflexibly around each other, as being guardians of their own proper powers, and their possession, with regard to those after them, of the power to provide for them by a mutual communication, belongs truly to all the heavenly Beings; although to some pre-eminently and wholly, as we have often said, but to others partially and in a less degree. But we must keep our discourse within bounds, and must search in our first explanation of the types for what reason the Word of God prefers the sacred representation of fire in preference to almost every other.[1] You will find it, then, representing not only wheels of fire, but also living creatures of fire [2]; and men flashing like lightning [3]; and placing around the heavenly Beings themselves heaps of coals of fire [4]; and rivers of flame, flowing with irresistible force.[5] But also it says that the thrones are of fire [6]; and that the most exalted Cherubin glows with fire, it shows from their appellation; and it attributes the characteristic and energy of fire[7] to them; and everywhere, above and below, it prefers pre-eminently the representation by the image of fire. I think, then, the similitude of fire,[8] denotes the likeness of the Divine minds to God, in the highest degree, for the holy theologians frequently describe the superessential and formless Being by fire, as having many likenesses, if I may be permitted to say so, of the Divine character, in things visible. For the sensible fire is, so to speak, in everything, and passes through everything unmingled, and is exalted above all, and whilst giving light to everything, is at the same time concealed, unknown in its essential nature, except when it may happen to shew its own proper energy in any matter lying near it. It is both incomprehensible and invisible; itself subduing all things, and bringing under its own energy anything in which it may happen to be; unchangeable, imparting itself to all things near it, whatever they may be; renewing by its rousing heat, and giving light by its illuminations which cannot be hid; uncontrollable, unmingled, separating, unchangeable, elevating, penetrating, lofty, subject to no grovelling inferiority, ever moving, self-moving, moving other things, comprehending, incomprehended, needing no other, imperceptibly increasing itself, displaying its own magnitude to the materials receiving it, energetic, powerful, present in all, when unobserved seeming not to be, but manifesting itself suddenly, according to its own proper nature by friction, when, as it were, we seek to find it; and again flying away uncontrollably it remains undiminished, in all the joyful distributions of itself. And one might find many characteristics of fire, appropriate to display the Divine Energy, as it were, in sensible images. Those, then, who are wise in the things of God, knowing this, depict the celestial Beings under the image of Fire, shewing their Godlike nature, and their imitation of God, as far as permissible.

---

[1] τηὺ ἁπλότητα.

---

[1] Dan. vii. 9. [2] Ezek. i. 13, 16. [3] Ezek. i. 14. [4] Ezek. x. 2.
[5] Dan. vii. 10. [6] Dan. vii. 9. [7] Isaiah vi. 6, 7. [8] Le Cratyle de Platon i., 302.

But they also depict them under the likeness of men,[1] on account of their intellectual nature, and their having the faculty of looking to things above, and their straight and erect form, and their innate faculty of ruling and guiding; and whilst being least in natural power as compared with the powers of irrational Beings, yet ruling over all by their superior power of mind, and by their superiority in rational science, and their innate unslavishness and indomitableness of soul. It is possible, then, I think, to find within each of the many parts of our body images harmonious to the heavenly powers, whilst we affirm that the powers of vision [2] denote the most transparent elevation towards the Divine light; and again, the tender liquid and unrepellent, but sensitive, and pure, and unfolded reception, free from all passion, of the supremely Divine illuminations.

But the discriminating powers of the nostrils denote the receptive power of the distributed odours, sweet beyond conception, and the power of distinguishing accurately things which are not such, and entirely rejecting them.[3]

The powers of the ear denote the conscious participation and reception of the Divine inspiration.

The powers of taste denote the fulness of the intellectual food, and the reception of the Divine and nourishing streams.[4]

The powers of touch denote the skilful discrimination of that which is suitable or injurious.[5]

---

[1] Gen. xxxii. 24. [2] Ezek. i. 18; ibid ix. 5. [3] Gen. viii. 21. [4] Gen. xix. 3.
[5] Gen. xxxii. 25.

The eyelids and eyebrows denote the guarding of the conceptions which reveal God.

The figures of manhood and youth denote the perpetual bloom and vigour of life.[1]

The teeth denote the dividing of the perfect nourishment given to us. For each intellectual Being divides and multiplies by a provident faculty the unified conception given to it by the more Divine Order, in proportion necessary for the instruction of the inferior.

The shoulders and elbows,[2] and further, the hands,[3] denote the power of making, and striving, and accomplishing.

The heart is a symbol of the Godlike life, dispersing its own life-giving power to the objects of its forethought after the Divine likeness.

The chest again denotes the invincible and protective faculty of the life-giving distribution as being placed above the heart.

The back, the holding together the whole productive powers[4] of life.

The feet[5] denote the movement, and quickness, and skilfulness of the perpetual movement advancing towards Divine things. Wherefore also the Word of God represented the feet of the holy Minds as being placed under their wings[6]; for the wing displays the quickness of instruction, and the progress towards the heavenly and higher things, and the elevation above all earthly things for love of higher. But the elevation of the wings denotes their being in no respect earthly, but in all purity raised to the higher things without hindrance.

But the naked and unshod denotes the unfettered, agile, and unrestrained, and free from all external superfluity, and their assimilation to the Divine simplicity as far as attainable.

But since again the simple and variegated wisdom[7] both clothes the naked and distributes certain implements to them to carry, let us unfold, according to our power, the sacred garments and implements of the celestial Minds. The shining and glowing raiment, I think, signifies the Divine likeness after the image of fire—brilliant[8]—and their distribution of Light, in consequence of their repose in Heaven, where is the Light. And their complete illuminating as superior Beings, and their being illuminated as inferior. But the sacerdotal robe denotes their instruction[9] in Divine and mystical visions, and the consecration of their whole life. But the girdles signify their guard over their productive powers, and their own collected habit to be turned to Oneness with It, and to encircle It with good order by being drawn around itself by an unbroken identity.

---

[1] Mark xvi. 5. [2] Dan. x 6. [3] Dan. x. 10. [4] Dan. x. 5.
[5] Isaiah vi. 2. [6] Ezek. i. 6. [7] Eph. iii. 10. [8] John xx. 12. [9] Dan. x. 5.

The rods signify the kingly and directing faculty, making all things straight. The spears[1] and the battle-axe[2] denote the dividing of things unlike, and the sharp and energetic and drastic operation of the discriminating powers. The geometrical[3] and technical[4] articles denote the founding, and building, and completing, and whatever else belongs to the instructing and guiding forethought, for the subordinate Orders. But sometimes the implements of the holy Angels presented to our view are the symbols of God's judgment to ourselves. Some representing His correcting[5] instruction or avenging righteousness.[6] Others freedom from peril, or end of education, or resumption of former well-being, or addition of other gifts, small or great, material or intellectual.[7] Nor would a discriminating mind, in any case whatever, have difficulty in properly adapting things visible to things invisible.

But the fact that they are named winds[8] denotes their rapid flight, passing almost instantaneously to all things; and their movement in passing from above to below, and again from below to above—their elevating the second to the height above, but moving the first to a common and provident conduct of the inferior Orders. But perhaps someone would say that the appellation of wind, to the aerial spirit, also denotes the Divine likeness of the celestial minds. For this also bears a likeness and type of the Divine energy (as we have demonstrated more fully in the symbolic theology, in our explanation of the four elements) in accordance with the moving and life-producing, and the rapid and resistless procession of Nature, and the unobserved and invisible Hiddenness of the moving springs and terminations. For He says, "Thou knowest not whence it cometh[9] nor whither it goeth." But also the Word of God attributes to them the appearance of a cloud,[10] signifying through this that the holy minds are filled in an unearthly degree with the hidden Light; receiving the first manifestation without boasting, which they distribute ungrudgingly to the second, as a secondary manifestation, and in proportion to their capacity. Yea, further, that the productive, and life-producing, and increasing, and perfecting power is enshrined in them, in consequence of the spiritual production of showers, which summon the receptive womb of the earth, by fruitful showers, to the life-giving pangs of birth.

Also, the Word of God attributes to the celestial Beings a likeness to Brass,[1] Electron,[2] and many-coloured stones. Electron, as being partly like silver, partly like gold, denotes the incorruptible, as in gold, with unexpended, and undiminished, and spotless brilliancy, and the brightness as in silver, and a luminous and celestial radiance. But to the Brass, according to the reasons assigned, must be attributed either the likeness of fire or that of gold.

---

[1] Gen. iii. 24. [2] Ezek. ix. 2. [3] Ezek. xi. 3. [4] Amos vii. 7. [5] Num. xxii. 31.
[6] 2 Kings xxiv. 16. [7] Zech. iii. 9. [8] Ps. civ. 3; Dan. vii. 2.
[9] John iii. 8. [10] Ezek. x. 4.

We must consider the many-coloured appearances of stones, denotes either, as white, the luminous; or as red, the fiery; or as yellow, the golden; or as green, the youthful and the full grown; and within each likeness you will find an explanation which teaches the inner meaning of the typical images.

But since, I think, according to our power, this has been sufficiently said, we will pass to the sacred explanation of the Divine representations of the celestial minds through wild beasts. We must consider that the shape of a Lion[3] signifies the leading, and robust, and indomitable, and the assimilation as far as possible to the unutterable Deity, by the concealment of the spiritual footsteps, and by the mysteriously secret covering of the path leading to itself during Divine illumination.

The image of the Ox[4] denotes the strong and the mature, turning up the spiritual furrows for the reception of the heavenly and productive powers. The Horns the guarding and indomitable.

The representation of the Eagle[5]—the kingly, and soaring, and swift in flight, and quickness, and wariness, and agility, and cleverness in search of the nourishment which makes strong; and the unimpeded, straight, and unflinching gaze towards the bounteous and brilliant splendour of the Divine rays of the sun, with the robust endurance of its visual powers.

That of Horses represents obedience and docility; when they are white, brilliancy, and especially their affinity to the Divine Light; when they are black, the Hidden; when they are red, the fiery; when they are black and white, the uniting of the extremities by the power passing through them, and joining the first to the second, and the second to the first, by twining or directing. But if we did not consult the proportion of our discourse, we might, not inappropriately, adapt the particular characteristics of the living creatures spoken of, and all their bodily representations to the heavenly Powers, upon the principle of dissimilar similitudes. For instance, their appearance of anger—to spiritual manliness, of which anger is the last echo, but desire—to the Divine love, and to speak summarily, referring all the senses and many parts of irrational Beings to the immaterial conceptions and unified Powers of the celestial Beings. But not only is this sufficient for the wise, but even an explanation of one of the dissimilar representations would be sufficient for the accurate description of similar things after the same fashion. But we must examine the fact that Rivers[1] are spoken of, and Wheels[2] and Chariots,[3] as associated with the heavenly Beings. The rivers of fire signify the Divine streams providing for them an ungrudging and incessant flow, and nourishing the productive powers of life. The Chariots the conjoined communion of those of the same rank in united fellowship. The wheels as being winged, advancing without turning and without deviation, denote the power of their advancing energy within a straight and direct way, whilst their whole intellectual track is Divinely directed towards the same undeviating and direct way. But it is possible to interpret in another form the sacred description of the spiritual wheels, for the name Gel, Gel, is given to them, as the theologian says. This shows, according to the Hebrew tongue, revolutions and revelations. For the Divine wheels of fire have revolutions, by their perpetual movement around the Goodness itself; but revelations by the explanation of things hidden, and by the instruction of things on earth, and by the descending procession of the sublime illuminations to things below. There remains for accurate explanation, the statement respecting the rejoicing of the celestial Orders[4]; for they are utterly incapable of our impassioned pleasure. But they are said to rejoice with God, over the discovery of what was lost, in accordance with their Divine good nature, and that Godlike and ungrudging rejoicing over the care and salvation of those who are turned to God—with that joy beyond description of which also holy men often partake, whilst the deifying illuminations of the Deity rest upon them. Let it suffice, then, to have said this much concerning the Divine representations, which no doubt falls short of their accurate explanation, but which will prevent us, I think, from servilely resting in the resemblances of the types. But if you should say that we have not mentioned the whole Angelic Powers, depicted in the oracles, or energies, or likenesses, we answer in truth that we do not possess the celestial knowledge of some; and further, with regard to these, we have need of another instructor to guide us into Light. But other things as being parallel to the things said, we have omitted, out of regard to the length of the discourse; and the hidden mysteries, beyond our capacity, we have honoured by silence.

---

[1] Ezek. xi. 3. [2] Ezek. viii. 2. [3] Ezek. i. 10. [4] Ibid. [5] Ibid.

---

[1] Dan. vii. 10. [2] Ezek. x. 9. [3] 2 Kings ii. 11. [4] Luke xv. 10.

ECCLESIASTICAL HIERARCHY.

CAPUT I.

To my Fellow Presbyter Timothy.
Dionysius the Presbyter.

What is the traditional view of the Ecclesiastical Hierarchy, and what is its scope?

WE must, then, demonstrate, most pious of pious sons, that ours is a Hierarchy of the inspired and Divine and Deifying science, and energy and perfection. This we will do, from the celestial and most sacred oracles—for those who have been initiated with the initiation of the sacred revelation derived from the hierarchical mysteries and traditions. But see that you do not put to scorn the things the most holy. Take good heed, and you will then guard the honour of the hidden things of God by intellectual and obscure definitions, carefully guarding them from the participation and defilement of the profane, and communicating them reverently only to persons the most holy. For thus, as the Word of God has taught us who feast at His Banquet, even Jesus Himself—the supremely Divine and superessential Mind, the Head and Being, and most supremely Divine Power of every Hierarchy and Sanctification and Divine operation—illuminates the blessed Beings who are superior to us, in a manner more clear, and at the same time more fresh, and assimilates them to His own Light in proportion to their ability to receive. As for ourselves, by the love of things beautiful, elevated to Himself, and elevating us, He folds together our many diversities, and by making them into an unified and Divine life, suitable to a sacred vocation both as to habit and action, He Himself bequeaths the power of the Divine Priesthood, from which, by approaching to the holy exercise of the priestly office, we become nearer to the Beings above us, by assimilation, according to our power, to the stability and unchangeableness of their steadfastness in holy things. Hence, by looking upwards to the blessed and supremely Divine Glory of Jesus, and reverently gazing upon whatever we are permitted to see, and being illuminated with the knowledge of the visions, we shall be able to become, as regards the science of Divine mysteries, both purified and purifying—images of Light, and workers with God, perfected and perfecting.

What, then, is the Hierarchy of the Angels[1] and Archangels, and supermundane Principalities and Authorities, Powers and Lordships, Divine Thrones, or Beings of the same ranks as the Thrones—which the Word of God describes as being near, and always about God, and with[2] God, naming them in the Hebrew tongue Cherubin and Seraphin—what pertains to the sacred Orders and divisions of their ranks and Hierarchies you will find in the books we have written—not as befits their dignity, but to the best of our ability—in which we have followed the Word of God as it describes their Hierarchy in the Holy Scriptures. Nevertheless, it is necessary to say this, that both that and every Hierarchy which we are now celebrating has one and the same power throughout the whole of its hierarchical functions, and that the Hierarch himself, according to his nature, and aptitude, and rank, is initiated in Divine things, and deified and imparts to his subordinates according to the meetness of each, the sacred deification which comes to himself from God. Likewise, that the subordinates follow the superior, but elevate the inferior towards things in advance; and that some go before, and, as far as possible, give the lead to others; and that each, as far as may be, participates in Him Who is the truly Beautiful, and Wise, and Good, through this Divine and sacerdotal harmony.

But the Beings and ranks above us, of whom we have already made a reverent mention, are both incorporeal and their Hierarchy is intellectual and supermundane. But we observe that our hierarchy, conformably to our nature, abounds in a manifold variety of material symbols, from which, in proportion to our capacity, we are conducted by sacerdotal functions to the onelike deification—God and Divine Virtue. They indeed, as being minds, perceive, according to laws laid down for themselves. But we are led by sensible figures to Divine contemplations as is possible to us. And to speak truly, there is One to Whom all the Godlike aspire. But they do not partake of this One and the Same in one manner, but as the Divine ordinance distributes to each a meet inheritance. Now these things have been treated more systematically in the Treatise concerning "Intellectual and Sensible." But now I will attempt to describe our Hierarchy, and its head and substance as best I can; invoking Jesus the Head and Perfection of all Hierarchies. Every Hierarchy, then, is, according to our august tradition, the whole description of the sacred things falling under it—a most complete summary of the sacred rites of this or that Hierarchy, as the case may be. Our Hierarchy, then, is called and is the systematic account of the whole sacred rites included within it; according to which the divine Hierarch, being initiated, will have within himself the participation of the most sacred things, as chief[1] of Hierarchy. For as he who speaks of Hierarchy speaks of the order of the whole sacred rites collectively, so he who mentions Hierarch denotes the inspired and godly man—one who understands accurately all sacred knowledge, in whom is completed and recognized, in its purity, the whole Hierarchy.

---

[1] See Epistle to Trallians.

[2] John i. 1.

Of this Hierarchy, as supreme Head, is the Triad—the Fountain of Life—the Essence of Goodness—the One Cause of things that be—from Whom both being and well-being come to things that are—through goodness. Of this supremely Divine blessedness—exalted above all—the threefold One—the really existing—the will—inscrutable to us, but known to itself—is the rational salvation of Beings amongst us and above us. But that salvation cannot otherwise take place, than upon the condition that those who are being saved become deified. But the deification is the assimilation and oneness towards God, as far as permissible. Now this is the common end of every Hierarchy—the clinging love towards God and Divine things; a love divinely sanctified into oneness with Him; and for the sake of this, the complete and unswerving removal of things contrary—the knowledge of things as they are in themselves—the vision and clear knowledge of sacred truth—the Divine participation of the uniform perfection, the One itself, as far as permissible; the banquet of contemplation, nourishing intellectually and deifying every man who elevates himself towards it.

Let us affirm, then, that the Divine Blessedness, the self-existent Godhead, Source of deification, from Whom comes the deification of those deified, bequeathed by Divine Goodness the Hierarchy, for the salvation and deification of all rational and intellectual Beings. To the supermundane and blessed inheritors it is bequeathed in a manner more immaterial and intellectual (for God does not move them to Divine things from without, but intellectually, and they are illuminated as to the Divine will from within, with a pure and unearthly brilliancy), but to us—that which is given to them simply, and uniformly, and enveloped—is given from the Divinely transmitted oracles, in a variety and multitude of divisible symbols, as we are able to receive it. For the Divinely transmitted oracles are the very Being of our Hierarchy. But we affirm that these oracles are most august—all such as were given from our inspired initiators in Divinely written letters of the Word of God. And further, whatever our leaders have revealed to us from the same holy men, by a less earthly instruction, very similar to the Heavenly Hierarchy, from mind to mind; through the medium of speech, and so corporeal, but nevertheless more immaterial—without writing. Nor did the inspired Hierarchs transmit[1] these things in conceptions clear to the commonalty of the Divine Service, but in sacred symbols. For it is not every one that is holy, nor as the oracles affirm does knowledge belong to all.[2]

---

[1] Ιέραρχίας ἐπώνυμος.

Of necessity, then, the first leaders of our Hierarchy, after they had themselves been filled with the sacred gift from the superessential Godhead, and sent by the Divine Goodness to extend the same gift to those without; and they themselves as godly, desiring the instruction and deification of those after them, without grudging imparted to us—by written and unwritten revelations—in accordance with sacred injunctions, things supercelestial in sensible images—the simple and enfolded, in the variegated and multiform; the things Divine, in things human, things immaterial in things material; the superessential in things earthly. Nor did they do this on account merely of the unholy, to whom it is not permitted even to touch the symbols, but because our Hierarchy is, as I said, a kind of symbol adapted to our condition, which needs things material for our more Divine elevation from these to things spiritual. The reasons, however, of the symbols have been revealed to the Divine initiators, which it is not permitted to explain to those who are yet being initiated; as knowing that the Lawgivers for rites Divinely taught deliberately arranged the Hierarchy in well-established and unconfused ranks, and in proportionate and sacred distributions of that which was convenient to each according to capacity. Wherefore, trusting in those Thy sacred promises, for it is well to recall them to your recollection, that, since every Hierarchical doctrine is of supreme importance, you will not commit them to any other but those Godlike initiators of the same rank with yourself, and will persuade them to promise, according to the regulation of our Hierarchy, to touch pure things purely, and to communicate the things of God to the godly alone, and things perfect to those who are perfecting, and the most holy things to the holy; I have entrusted this Divine gift to thee, in addition to many other Hierarchical gifts.

CAPUT II.

Concerning those who are being initiated in illumination.

We have, then, reverently affirmed that the scope of our Hierarchy is this—the assimilation and oneness with God as far as permissible. But as the Divine oracles teach, we shall attain this only by the love and the religious performance of the worshipful

---

[1] Mark iv. 11. [2] 1 Cor. viii. 7.

Commandments. For He says: "He[1] that loveth Me will keep My Commandments, and My Father will love him, and will come unto him, and make Our abode with him." What, then, is the beginning of the religious performance of the most august commandments? The teaching of the sacred and most Divine regeneration, which forms an aptitude in the habits of our soul for the reception of the other Divine sayings and doings[2]; the preparation of the way for our ascent to the supercelestial rest.[3] For, as our illustrious Leader was used to say, the very first movement of the mind towards Divine things is the love of God, but the very earliest approach towards the religious performance of the Divine commandments is the unutterable creation of our being in God. For if our[4] being in God is the Divine engendering, never would he know, and certainly not perform any of the Divine instructions, who had not first his beginning to be in God. To speak after the manner of men, is it not necessary that we should first begin to be, and then to do what belongs to us? For he who does not exist at all has neither movement nor even beginning. But he who actually exists does or suffers only those things suitable to his own condition. This, then, as I think, is clear. Let us next contemplate the Divine symbols of the birth in God. And I pray, let no uninitiated person approach the sight; for neither is it without danger to gaze upon the glorious rays of the sun with weak eyes, nor is it without peril to put our hand to things above us. For right was the priesthood of the Law when rejecting Osias,[5] because he put his hand to sacred things; and Korah,[6] to things above his capacity; and Nadab[7] and Abihu, because they treated things within their own province unholily.

II.—Mystery of Illumination.

The Hierarch, then, wishing[8] that all men whatsoever should be saved by their assimilation towards God, and come to a recognition of truth, proclaims to all the veritable Gospel—that God being compassionate towards men upon earth, from His own proper and inherent goodness, Himself deigned to come to us with outstretched arms, on account of loving kindness towards men; and, by union with Himself, like as by fire, to assimilate things that have been made one, in proportion to their aptitude for deification. "For as many as received Him, to them gave He power[9] to become sons of God—to those believing on His Name, who were begotten, not from bloods, nor from will of flesh, but from God."

He who has felt a religious longing to possess these truly celestial gifts, comes to some one of the initiated, and persuades him to act as his conductor to the Hierarch. He then promises wholly to follow the teaching that shall be given to him, and prays him to undertake the superintendence of his introduction, and of all his life afterwards. But he, though religiously longing for his salvation, when he measures human infirmity against the loftiness of the undertaking, is seized with a shivering and sense of incapacity. Nevertheless, at last, he promises, with a good grace, to do what is requested, and takes and leads him to the chief Hierarch. He then benevolently receives the man, as a sheep upon his shoulders, and admits the two men, and worships and glorifies, with a mental thanksgiving and bodily prostration, the One Author[1] and Finisher of Good; from Whom those who are being called are called, and those who are being saved are saved.

---

[1] John xiv. 23. [2] John i. 13. [3] John iii. 5. [4] See Baptismal Offices.
[5] 2 Chron. xxvi. 16-21. Num. xvi. 1-33. [7] Num. iii. 4. [8] 1 Tim. ii. 4.
[9] John i. 12, 13.

He then collects the whole religious Order into the holy Choir for co-operation and common rejoicing over the man's salvation; but also for thanksgiving to the Divine Goodness. At the commencement he chants a certain hymn found in the oracles, accompanied by the whole body of the Church. And after this, when he has kissed the holy table, he advances to the man standing before him, and demands of him, what has brought him here? When the man, out of love to God, has confessed, according to the instruction of his sponsor, his ungodliness,[2] his ignorance of the truly beautiful, his insufficiency for the Divine life, and demands through his holy mediation to attain to God and Divine things, he testifies to him that his approach ought to be entire, as to God Who is All Perfect, and without blemish. When he has expounded to him fully the Divine course of life, and has demanded of him, if he would thus live; after his promise he places his right hand upon his head, and when he has sealed him, he commands the priests to register the man and his sponsor.

When these have enrolled the names, he offers a holy prayer, and when the whole Church have completed this with him, he unlooses his sandals and removes his clothing by means of the Deacons. Then when he has placed him facing the west, and whilst he beats with aversion his hands towards the same quarter, he thrice commands him to breathe scorn upon Satan, and further, to profess the words of the renunciation. When he has witnessed his threefold renunciation, he turns him to the east, after he has confessed this three times, and has looked up to heaven and extended his hands thitherward, he commands him to be subject to Christ, and to all the Divinely transmitted oracles of God. When the man has done this, he witnesses again for him his threefold confession, and again, when he has thrice confessed, after prayer, he gives thanks and lays his hand upon him. When the Deacons have entirely unclothed him, the Priests bring the holy oil of the chrism. Then he begins the chrism, through the threefold sealing, and assigns the man to the Priests for the anointing of his whole body, while he himself advances to the mother of filial adoption, and dedicates the water within it by the sacred invocations, and consecrates it by three cruciform affusions of the holy myrrh. And when he has invoked three times, as in the injection of the myrrh, the holy melody of the inspiration of the Divinely rapt Prophets, he orders the man to be brought forward. When one of the Priests, from the register, has announced the name of himself and his surety, he is conducted by the Priests over the water to the hand of the Hierarch, being led by the hand to him. Then the Hierarch, standing above, when the Priests have again called aloud, near the Hierarch, within the water, the name of the initiated, the Hierarch dips him three times, invoking the threefold[1] Subsistence of the Divine Blessedness at the three immersions and emersions of the initiated. The Priests then take him and entrust him to the Sponsor and guide of his introduction.

---

[1] Phil. ii. 13.

[2] ἀθεότητα; Matt. vi. 24; Eph. iv. 5.

And when they, in conjunction with him, have cast over the initiated appropriate clothing, they lead him again to the Hierarch, who, when he has sealed the man with the most Divinely operating myrrh, declares him henceforward a partaker of the most Divinely initiating Eucharist.

When he has finished these things, he elevates himself from his progression to things secondary, to the contemplation of the first; as one who at no time or manner turns himself to any other office than those which are peculiarly his own, but who, by gradual advance in Divine things, is persistently and always ranging himself under the banner of the supremely Divine Spirit.

III.—Contemplation.

This initiation, then, of the holy birth in God, as in symbols, has nothing unbecoming or irreverent, nor anything of sensible imagery, but enigmas of a contemplation worthy of God, bearing a likeness to natural images suitable to men. For should it appear in any particular misleading (even though the more Divine account of the religious ceremonies were passed over in silence), its Divine institution might persuade, diligently pursuing, as it does, the good life of the candidate; announcing to him, in a bodily form, the purification from every kind of evil, through a virtuous and Divine life, by the physical cleansing through the agency of water. This then, even if the symbolic teaching of the religious rites had nothing more divine, would not be without religious value, as I think—introducing a discipline of a well-regulated life, whilst suggesting through the bodily purification by water, the complete purification from an evil life. Let this, then, be for the uninitiated an introductive leading of the soul; separating, as is fit, things sacred and unified from multiplicity, and apportioning our harmonious restoration to the Orders in due degree. But we who have ascended by just gradations to the contemplation of the highest mysteries, and have been religiously taught their hidden meanings, shall recognize of what moulds they are the reliefs, and of what invisible things they are the likenesses. For, as is distinctly shewn in the Treatise concerning "Intelligible and Sensible," sensible sacred things are reliefs of things intelligible, to which they lead and shew the way. But things intelligible are an archetype and explanation of sacred things, cognizable by the senses. Let us affirm, then, that the goodness of the Divine Blessedness is always the same in condition and object, unfolding the beneficent rays of its own light upon all the intellectual visions without grudging. Either, then, the self-chosen freedom of action might turn away from spiritual light, by closing, through love of evil, the faculties for enlightenment, which naturally reside within it, and might be separated from the light present to it, and not turned from it—but illuminating it, whilst closing itself in darkness—and which generously runs to that which moves itself away. Or should anyone overstep the bounds of the vision given to itself, in due proportion, and rashly undertake to gaze upon the rays superior to its own vision, the light indeed does nothing beyond its own proper functions. But this, as imperfectly approaching the perfect, would not attain to things inappropriate to its condition, but by stupidly disregarding the due proportion, would fail through its own fault.

---

[1] τρισσὴν ὑπόστασνν. Heb. i. 3.

But as I said, the Divine Light is always unfolded for beneficent purposes to intellectual visions, and it is possible for them to seize it when it is present, and is always most ready for the distribution of its own gift, in a manner becoming the Deity. To the imitation of this, the divine Hierarch is fashioned, unfolding to all, without grudging, the luminous rays of his own divine teaching, and after the Divine example being most ready to enlighten him who comes to him, not using malice or an unholy wrath, for former backslidings or excess; but, after the example of God, always enlightening those who approach him, as becomes a Hierarch, in fitness, and order, and proportion to the aptitude of each for things Divine.

But inasmuch as the Deity is Origin of that sacred order, within which move the holy Minds who know themselves, he who recurs to the proper view of nature will see his proper self in what he was originally, and will acquire this as the first sacred gift from his recovery to light. Now he, who has well looked upon his own proper condition with unbiased eyes, will depart from the gloomy recesses of ignorance; yet, whilst being unitiated, he will not of his own accord at once desire the most perfect Oneness and participation of God, but little by little, through things present advancing to things more forward, and through these to things foremost; and having been perfected, he will be carried in order and in a heavenly manner to the Divinely supreme height. An image of this good order is the modesty of the person approaching, and his recognition of his own internal condition in providing the sponsor as leader in his approach to the Hierarch. The Divine Blessedness receives the man thus conducted into communion with itself, and imparts to him his own light, as a kind of sign, making him also a godly sharer of the inheritance and sacred order of godly men, of which the Hierarch's seal, given to the proselyte, is a sacred symbol; and the enrolment of the priests, as an image of salvation, registering him amongst those who are in a state of salvation, and placing in the sacred memorials his sponsor and himself—the one indeed, as a true lover and follower of a godly guide in the life-giving journey towards truth; and the other, as an unerring conductor of his neophyte to the Divinely taught directions.

But it is not possible to hold conjointly qualities thoroughly opposed, nor that a man who has had a certain fellowship with the One, should have divided lives, if he clings to the firm participation in the One. But he must be resistless and persistent as regards all separations from the uniform. This it is which the teaching of the symbols reverently intimates, by stripping the neophyte, as it were, of his former life, and unloosing to the very extremities all his habits within that life. It places him naked and barefoot, looking towards the west, and spurning, by the aversion of the hands, the participations in the gloomy evil, and breathing out, as it were, the dissimilar habit which he had acquired, and proclaiming the entire renunciation as regards everything contrary to the Divine likeness. When the man has thus become completely indomitable and separate from evil, he leads him towards the east, declaring clearly that his position and recovery will be in the Divine Light, in the complete separation from evil, receiving his sacred promises of his entire leaning towards the One, as of a man who has acquired the image of the One, through love of the truth. But it is pretty evident, as I think, to those versed in Hierarchical matters, that the spiritual acquire the unchangeableness of the Godlike habit by continuous and persistent struggles towards one; and by the entire destruction and annihilation of things contrary. For it is necessary that a man should not only depart from every kind of evil, but he must be bravely obdurate and ever disdainful against the baneful submission to it. Nor must he at any time become remiss in his sacred love of the truth, but he must, with all his power, persistently and perpetually aspire towards it, always religiously pursuing his upward course to the more perfect mysteries of the supreme Godhead.

Now you may perceive the distinct images of these things in the religious rites performed by the Hierarch. For the Godlike Hierarch starts with the holy anointing, but the Priests under him complete the Divine service of the Chrism, summoning the initiated, in type, to the holy contests within which he is placed under Christ as Umpire (since as God He is Framer of the laws of contest); as wise, He placed its laws; but as generous, He fixed the awards suitable to the victors.[1] And this is yet more Divine, inasmuch as being generous, He entered the lists with them, contending, on behalf of their freedom[2] and victory against the power of death[3] and destruction,[4] he who is initiated will enter the contests as those of God rejoicing. But he will remain fixed in the regulations of the Wise, and will contend, according to them, without transgression, holding fast the hope of the beautiful rewards, as being enrolled under a good Lord and Leader of the contest. But when he has followed in the Divine footsteps of the first of Athletes as regards goodness, and has overthrown, in his struggles after the Divine example, the energies and impulses opposed to his deification, he dies with Christ—to speak mystically—to sin in his Baptism.

But consider this attentively, I pray, with what appropriateness the holy symbols are presented. For since death is with us, not an annihilation of being, according to the opinion of others, but the separation of things united, leading to our being invisible (the soul becoming invisible through being deprived of the body; but the body as being buried in earth, in consequence of one of its various changes, becomes invisible to the sight of man);—appropriately, then, the whole covering by water is taken as an image of death and the darkness of the tomb. The symbolical teaching, then, reveals that the man, baptized according to religious rites, imitates, so far as Divine imitation is permissible to man, by the threefold immersions in the water, the supremely Divine death of the Life-giving Jesus, Who spent three days[5] and three nights in the tomb, in whom, according to the mystical and secret teaching of the sacred text, the Prince of this world found nothing.[6]

Next, they throw garments, white as light, over the initiated.

---

[1] 1 Cor. ii. 9. [2] Ps. lxxxviii. 5. [3] 2 Tim. i. 10. [4] Ps. xvi. 10.
[5] τριημερονύκτου ταφῆς. [6] John xiv. 30.

For by his manly and Godlike insensibility to contrary passions, and by his persistent inclination towards the One, the unadorned is adorned, and the shapeless acquires shape, being made brilliant by a life entirely reflecting the light.

But the most perfecting unction of the myrrh makes the man who has been perfected of good odour, for the holy perfection of the Divine birth unifies those who have been perfected with the supremely Divine Spirit. Now the spiritual indwelling which makes perfect, and of a good savour, as being unutterable, I leave to the spiritual consciousness of those who are deemed worthy of the sacred and deifying participation of the Holy Spirit within their mind.

At the conclusion of all, the Hierarch invites him who has been perfected to the most Holy Eucharist, and imparts to him the communion of the most perfecting mysteries.

CAPUT III.

Concerning those who are being initiated in the Synaxis.

Courage, then, because we have made mention of this (Eucharist) we may not pass over it to celebrate any other Hierarchical functions in preference to this. For according to our illustrious Leader, it is "initiation of initiations," and one must first give the Divine description of this, before the rest, from the inspired and sacred science of the oracles, and then be borne by the supremely Divine Spirit to its sacred contemplation. First, let us reverently consider this. For what reason that which is common to the other Hierarchical initiations, is pre-eminently attributed to this, beyond the rest. And why it is uniquely called, "Communion and Synaxis." For each consecrating function collects our divided lives into uniform deification, and gives communion and oneness with the One, by the Godlike folding together of our diversities. Now we affirm that the Perfection, which comes from the participation of the other Hierarchical symbols, springs from the supremely Divine and perfecting gifts of this Sacrament. For it scarcely ever happens that any Hierarchical initiation is celebrated without the most Divine Eucharist, at the head of the rites celebrated in each, Divinely accomplishing the collecting of the person initiated to the One, and completing his communion with God by the Divinely transmitted gift of the perfecting mysteries. If, then, each of the Hierarchical initiations, as being incomplete, will not complete our communion and our gathering to the One, even its being initiation is taken away, on account of the lack of initiation. For as the impartation of the supremely

Divine mysteries to the person being initiated is the completion and head of each initiation, naturally the Hierarchical judgment hit upon an appellation peculiar to it, from the truth of the facts. Thus, for instance, with regard to the holy initiation of the Divine birth; since it imparts first-Light, and is supreme head of all the Divine illuminations, we celebrate the true appellation, from the enlightenment conferred. For though it be common to all Hierarchical functions to impart the gift of sacred light to those who are being initiated, yet this gave to me the power of first sight, and through the primal light of this, I was conducted to the view of the other religious rites. Having said this, let us minutely investigate and examine, as becomes the Hierarchy, the perfect administration and contemplation of the most holy initiation.

II.—Mystery[1] of Synaxis, that is, Communion.

The Hierarch having completed a reverent prayer, near the Divine Altar, begins with the incense and proceeds to every part of the enclosure of the sacred place; he then returns to the Divine Altar and begins the sacred chanting of the Psalms—the whole ecclesiastical Order chanting with him the sacred language of the Psalter. Next follows the reading of the Holy Scriptures by the Leitourgoi. After these readings, the catechumens quit the sacred enclosure, as well as the energumenoi and the penitents. But those who are deemed worthy of the view and participation of the Divine Mysteries remain. Of the Leitourgoi, some stand near the closed gates of the sanctuary, whilst others perform some duty or other of their proper function. But chosen members of the diaconal Order, with the Priests, place the sacred Bread upon the Divine Altar, and the Cup of Blessing, whilst the universal Song[2] of Praise is sung by the whole body of the Church. Afterwards the Divine Hierarch offers a sacred prayer, and proclaims the holy Peace to all. When all have greeted each other, the mystical proclamation of the holy tablets is performed. When the Hierarch and the Priests have washed their hands in water, the Hierarch places himself in the midst of the Divine Altar. But the chosen Deacons alone, after the Priests, stand around. The Hierarch, when he has celebrated the sacred works of God, consecrates the most Divine gifts and brings to view the things celebrated, through the symbols reverently exposed.[3] When he has shown the free gifts of the works of God, he himself proceeds to the sacred participation of the same, and turns and exhorts the others. When he has received and distributed the supremely Divine Communion, he terminates with a holy thanksgiving. Whilst the multitude have merely glanced at the Divine symbols alone, he himself is ever conducted by the Divine Spirit, as becomes a Hierarch, in the purity of a Godlike condition, to the holy archetypes of the rites performed, in blessed and intellectual visions.

---

[1] See Traicté de la Liturgie ou S. Messe selon l'usage et la forme des apostres, et de leur disciple Sainct Denys, Apostre des François, par Gilb. Genebrard, archevesque d'Aix.

[2] See Appendix. [3] As in Denmark.

III.—Contemplation.

After the images, I come now, most excellent son, in due order and reverence, to the Divine reality of the archetypes. To those yet being initiated, I would say this, for the harmonious guidance of their souls, that the varied and sacred composition of the symbols is not without spiritual instruction even to them, when it is merely presented superficially. For the most sacred chants and readings of the oracles teach them a discipline of a virtuous life, and what is more than this, the complete purification from destructive evil. But the most Divine, and general, and peaceful distribution of one and the same both Bread and Cup, enjoins upon them a fellowship in character as well as a fellowship in food, and recalls to their memory the most Divine Supper, and arch-symbol of the rites performed, agreeably with which the Founder of the symbols himself excludes, most justly, him who had joined in the feast of the heavenly things, not piously,[1] and in a manner dissimilar to himself; teaching at once, clearly and Divinely, that the approach to Divine mysteries with a sincere mind, confers on those who draw nigh, the participation in a gift similar to their own character. Let us, then, as I said, leave behind these things, beautifully depicted upon the propylea of the innermost shrine, as being sufficient for those who are yet unfit for contemplation, and let us proceed from the effects to the cause; and then, Jesus lighting the way, let us view our holy Synaxis and the comely contemplation of the spiritual mysteries, which makes manifest the blessed beauty of the archetypes. But, oh, most Divine and holy initiation, uncover the folds of the dark mysteries, enveloping thee in symbols. Be manifest to us in thy bright glory, and fill our intellectual visions with unique and unconcealed light.

We must, then, in my opinion, pass within the All Holy Mysteries, after we have laid bare the spiritual conception of the first of the images, to gaze upon its Godlike beauty, and contemplate with a godly mind the Hierarch, as he goes with fragrance from the Divine Altar to the furthermost bounds of the holy place, and is again, at the end, restored to the same. For the Blessedness, supremely Divine above all, although through

---

[1] John xiii. 11. St. Cyprian thought Judas was excluded; St. Augustine not. See Cornelius a Lapide on John xiii. 11.

Divine goodness it goes forth to the communion of those who participate in itself, yet it never goes outside its essential unmoved position and steadfastness.

Further, it gives to all, according to their capacity, its Godlike illuminations; always self-centred, and in no wise moved from its own proper identity. In the same manner the Divine initiation of the Synaxis, although it has an unique and simple and enfolded origin, is multiplied, out of love towards man, into the holy variety of the symbols, and travels through the whole range of Divine imagery; yet uniformly it is again collected from these into its own proper Oneness, and unifies those who are being reverently conducted towards it. In the same Godlike manner the Divine Hierarch, even when he benignly deputes to his subordinates his own unique Hierarchical science, by using the multiplicity of Divine enigmas; yet again, as absolute, and not to be held in check by smaller things, he is restored to his own supreme dignity without diminution. And when he has himself made the spiritual entry to the Oneness of himself, he sees clearly the uniform reasons of the religious rites, as he makes the goal of his philanthropic progress to things secondary, the more Divine return to things first. The chanting of the Psalms, which is co-essential to almost all the Hierarchical mysteries, was not likely to be separated from the chief of all. For all holy and inspired Scriptures set forth for those meet for deification, either the originated Beginning[1] and Order from God of things created; or the Priesthood[2] and polity of the Law; or the distributions[3] and possessions of the inheritance of the people of God; or the understanding of sacred judges,[4] or wise kings, or inspired Priests; or philosophy[5] of men of old time, indomitable[6] in the endurance of evils springing up in multitude and measure; or the treasures of wisdom for the conduct of life; or odes or inspired[7] images of Divine Loves; or the prophetical predictions[8] of things to come; or [9]the God-Incarnate works of Jesus[10]; or the administrations[11] and sacred doctrines of His Apostles given by God for the imitation of God; or the hidden[12] and mystic range of view of the beloved and Divinely sweet disciple; or the supermundane theology of Jesus. These, too, are embedded in the holy and Godlike instructions of the initiations. But the sacred representations of the Divine odes, whose purpose is to celebrate the words and works of God throughout, and to praise the holy words and works of godly men, forms an universal Hymn Narrative of things Divine; which makes in those who reverently recite it a habit suitable for the reception and distribution of every Hierarchical mystery.

---

[1] Genesis i.
[2] Leviticus and Deut.
[3] Numbers.
[4] Judges and Kings.
[5] Proverbs and Wisdom.
[6] Job.
[7] Canticles.
[8] Prophets.
[9] τὰς ἀνδρικὰς Ἰησοῦ θεουργίας.
[10] Gospels.
[11] Acts and Epistles.
[12] Either Gospel or Apocalypse of St. John. If latter, it was added in revision of works, A.D. 96-98.

When, then, the universal melody of the holy Psalms has harmonized the spiritual condition of our souls to the things which are presently to be celebrated, and by the unison of the Divine odes, as one and concordant chorus of things Divine, has established concord towards things Divine, and ourselves[1] and one another, the things more compounded and obscure in the spiritual language of the mystic Psalms are expanded by the most holy lections of the inspired compositions, through more full and distinct images and narratives. He who devoutly contemplates these will perceive the uniform and one concordant breathing as being moved by One, the supremely Divine Spirit. Hence, naturally, in the history of the world, after the more ancient[2] tradition—the new Covenant is proclaimed. This inspired order of the Hierarchy teaches this—that the One affirmed the Divine works of Jesus as to come; the other accomplished them, in fact. And as that described the truth in figures, this, on the other hand, shewed it present. For the accomplishment, in fact, of this established the truth of the predictions of that, and the work of God is a consummation of the Word of God.

Those who in every respect have no ear for the sacred initiations do not even recognize their images—unblushingly rejecting the saving revelation of the Divine Birth, and realizing to their destruction the words, "Thy ways I do not wish to know."[3]

Now the custom of the holy Hierarchy permits the catechumens and the penitents to hear the sacred chanting of the Psalms, and the inspired reading of the all Holy Scriptures; but it does not invite these to the next religious services and contemplations, but only the perfect visions of the perfected. For the Divine-like Hierarchy is full of reverent justice, and distributes savingly to each, according to their due, the harmonious participation of each in things Divine, in measure and proportion and due time. The lowest rank, then, is assigned to the catechumens, for they are without participation and instruction, in any of the Hierarchical functions; not even having the existence in God after Divine Birth, but are being brought to[4] Birth by the paternal instructions, and moulded by life-giving formations towards the blessed acquisition of their first life and first light, from Birth in God. As, then, children after the flesh, if whilst immature and unformed they should anticipate their proper delivery, as untimely born and abortions, would fall to the earth without life and without light; and no one, in his senses, would say from what he saw, that they were brought to the light, released from the darkness of the womb (for the medical authority learned in the functions of the body would say that light operates on things receptive of light), thus also science, which knows all about religious rites, brings these first to delivery by the preparatory nourishment of the formative and life-giving instructions. But when it has made their condition ripe for Divine Birth, it gives to them savingly, in due order, the participation in things luminous and perfecting. But at present it separates things perfect from things imperfect, consulting the good order of Divine things, and the delivery and life of the catechumens in a Godlike order of the sacred rites.

---

[1] Republic, liber iv. ad finem. Dulac, p. 426-7. [2] The Law. [3] Job xxi. 14.
[4] See Plato, Theet. i. 114, 115. Dulac 429.

As for the multitude of the energumenoi, that indeed is unholy, but it is second above the catechumens, which is lowest. Nor is that on a par, as I think, with the altogether uninstructed and entirely uncommunicated in the Divine initiations, for it has received a certain participation in the most holy functions, but is yet held in chains by contrary qualities, whether enchantments or terrors. Now, as regards these, the sight and participation in the holy mysteries is withdrawn, and very properly. For if it be true that the altogether godly man, the worthy partaker of the Divine mysteries, who is carried to the very summit of the Divine likeness, to the best of his powers, in complete and most perfect deification, who does not follow the things of the flesh, beyond the most necessary requirements of nature, nor these, if it should happen to be superfluous; who will be, at the same time, a temple and a follower, according to his ability, of the supremely Divine Spirit, in the highest deification, labouring to add like to like. Such an one as this, would not be possessed by opposing phantoms or fears, but will laugh them to scorn, and when they approach will throw them and put them to flight, and will act rather than persuade. And besides this, by the passionless and indomitableness of his own character, he will be seen to be a physician to others for similar possessions.[1] But I think further, yea, rather, I know certainly, that the most clear decision of the Hierarchy holds that they are rather possessed with a most detestable possession, whoever, by departing from the Godlike life, become of one mind and one condition with destructive demons; turning themselves from things that really are, and undying possessions, and everlasting pleasures, for the sake of the most base folly, destructive to themselves, by desiring and pursuing the earthly variableness, vexed by many passions, and the perishable and corrupting pleasures, and the unstable comfort in things foreign to their nature, not real but seeming. These first, then, and more properly than those, were shut out by the discriminating authority of the Deacon, for it is not permitted to them to have part in any other holy function, than the teaching of the oracles, in order to turn them to better things. For if the Divine Service of the heavenly mysteries excludes from view the penitents and those who have already approached it, not permitting anything not completely perfect to draw nigh, but proclaims this, in all sincerity, that "I am invisible, and incommunicable to those who are in any respect imperfectly weak as regards the attainment of the highest degree of the Divine Likeness" (for that most impartial voice scares away also those who cannot be associated with the worthy partakers of the Divine mysteries), how much more then will the multitude of those who are under the sway of their passions, be unholy and alien from every view of, and participation in, the holy mysteries. After the uninstructed and uninitiated in the mysteries have been put outside the Divine Temple, and the holy service above their capacity, and with them the apostates from the religious life, and next, those who through want of manliness are easily affected by the fears and fancies of contrary influences, as not having reached the stability and activity of a Godlike condition, through the persistent and indomitable inclination towards godliness; then in addition to these, those who have separated indeed from the contrary life, but have not yet been cleansed from its imaginations by a habit and love, godly and pure; and next, those who are not altogether uniform, and to use an expression of the Law, "entirely without spot and blemish;" then the sacred ministers of sacred things, who love to gaze upon sacred rites, contemplate in all purity the most holy mystery, and celebrate in an universal Hymn of Praise the Author and Giver of all good, from Whom the mysteries were exhibited to us, as images of salvation, which divinely work the sacred deification of the initiated. Now that Hymn some indeed call a Hymn of Praise, others the symbol of worship, but others, as I think more Divinely, a Hierarchical thanksgiving, as giving a summary of the holy gifts which come to us from God. For it seems to me a systematic record[1] of all the works of God, on our behalf, celebrated in song, which, after it had fixed our being and life after the pattern of Divine goodness, and moulded the Divine likeness in ourselves to beautiful archetypes, placed us in possession of a more Divine condition and elevation. But when it witnessed the dearth of Divine gifts, which came upon us by our heedlessness, deigned to call us back to our original condition by the restoration of our blessings, and by the complete assumption of ours, to make good the most perfect impartation of His own, and thus to give to us a participation in God and Divine things.

---

[1] ἐνεργημάτων.

When the Divine goodness has thus been religiously celebrated, the Divine Bread is presented, veiled, and likewise the Cup of Blessing. The most Divine salutation is devoutly performed, and the instructive and heavenly proclamation of the holy names written on the tablets. For it is not possible to be collected to the One, and to partake of the peaceful Oneness of the One, when people are divided amongst themselves. For if being illuminated by the contemplation and knowledge of the One, we would be united to an uniform and Divine agreement, we must not permit ourselves to descend to divided lusts, from which are formed earthly enmities, envious and passionate, against that which is according to nature. This unified and undivided life is, in my opinion, established by the Divine Service of the salutation of peace, which roots like to like, and separates the Divine and unified visions from things divided. The reading of the holy tablets, after the salutation, proclaims those who have passed through life holily and have reached the term of a virtuous life without faltering, urging and conducting us to their blessed condition and Divine inheritance through their example. Further, it announces them as living, and, as the Word of God says, "not dead, but as having passed from death to a most divine life."[1] But observe that they are enrolled in the holy memorials, not as though the Divine memory were represented under the figure of a memorial, after the manner of men; but, as one might say, with reverence towards God, within the cherished and unfailing knowledge in God of those who have been perfected in the likeness of God. For "He knoweth," say the oracles, "those that are His,"[2] and, "dear, in the sight of the Lord, is the death of His saints."[3] "Death of saints" being said, instead of perfection in holiness. And bear this religiously in mind, that after the august symbols, through which Christ is signified and partaken, have been placed on the Divine Altar, the reading of the register of the holy persons immediately follows, signifying their inseparable conjunction with His celestial and sacred Oneness. When these things have been religiously performed, according to the regulations prescribed, the Hierarch, standing before the most holy symbols, washes his hands with water, together with the reverend order of the Priests. Because, as the oracles testify, when a man has been washed, he needs no other washing, except that of his extremities.[4] Through this extreme cleansing, in a sanctified habit of the Divine Likeness, whilst advancing in a goodly manner to things secondary, he will be resistless and free, as altogether uniform, and by turning himself uniquely to the One, he will make his return without spot and blemish, as preserving the fulness and entirety of the Divine likeness. There was even the sacred laver, as we have said, in the Hierarchy of the Law.[5] [1] Note. Appendix, Liturgy of Dionysius.

---

---

[1] 1 John iii. 14. [2] 2 Tim. ii. 19. [3] Ps. cxvi. 15. [4] Jo. xiii. 10. [5] Deut. xxi. 6.

But now the cleansing of the hands of the Hierarch and the Priests suggests that. For it behoves those who approach the most hallowed service to be purified even to the remotest imaginations of the soul, and to approach, as far as possible, through likeness to itself. For thus they will shed more visibly the glory of the Divine manifestations, since the celestial rays permit their own splendour to pass more thoroughly and brilliantly into the brightness of mirrors like themselves. Further, the cleansing of the Hierarch and the Priests to their very extremities, takes place before the most holy symbols, as in the presence of Christ, Who surveys our innermost thoughts, and because the utmost purification is enjoined under his most penetrating scrutiny and just and unflinching judgment. Thus the Hierarch becomes one with things Divine, and when he has celebrated the holy works of God, he consecrates the most Divine symbols, and brings them to view whilst their praises are sung.

We will now explain, to the best of our ability, the works of God, of which we have spoken. For we are not competent to extol the praises of all, much less to know accurately and to reveal their mysteries to others. But whatever has been sung and religiously performed by godly Hierarchs, after the oracles, this we will say, as far as permissible, invoking the Hierarchical inspiration to our aid. Immediately after our human nature had thoughtlessly fallen from the good things of God, it was seized by a life vexed with many passions, and, at last, a ruinous death. For, as a natural consequence, the pernicious departure from genuine goodness, and the transgression of the sacred Law laid down in Paradise, delivered him, when fretted with the life-giving yoke, to his own downward inclinations, and the enticing and hostile wiles of the adversary—the adversaries of the good things of God. Hence, he pitiably exchanged for the eternal, the mortal. As then the human race had its own origin in corrupted generations, the end naturally corresponded with the beginning. Now as mankind had willingly fallen from the Divine and conducted life, they were carried to the opposite extremity—the variableness of many passions. Whilst going astray, and turned aside from the strait way leading to the true God, and being subject to a destructive and evil-working diversity, they naturally forgot that they were worshipping, not gods, or friends, but enemies. Now when these had used the human race harshly, according to their own cruelty, it fell into danger of annihilation and destruction. But the boundless lovingkindness of the supremely Divine goodness towards man, did not, in its benevolence, withdraw from us its spontaneous forethought, but taking upon itself a real participation of our entire nature, without sin,[1] and having made itself one with our infirmity, with the unconfused possession of its own properties, entirely without flaw, it gave to us, as members of the same family, communion with itself henceforward, and proclaimed us partakers of his own good things; having, as the secret teaching holds, loosed the power[1] of the rebellious diversity which was against us; not by force, as having the upper hand, but according to the Divine saying, mystically transmitted to us, "in judgment and righteousness."[2]

---

[1] Heb. iv. 15.

Our condition, then, he benevolently changed to the contrary. For the darkness of our mind he filled with perfect and most Divine light, and adorned that which was without likeness with Godlike beauties. The tabernacle[3] of our soul, which was all but fallen down, he liberated from most damnable passions and destructive stains through a perfected salvation, and exhibited to us a supermundane elevation, and a Divine course of life in our assimilation to his own holiness, as far as permissible. But how could the Divine imitation otherwise become ours unless the memory of the most holy works of God were perpetually renewed by the holy teaching and service of the Hierarchy. This, then, we do, as the oracles say, "for its remembrance."[4] Wherefore the Divine Hierarch, standing before the Divine Altar, celebrates the holy works of God, which proceed from the most godly forethought of Jesus on our behalf, which He completed for the salvation of our race, by the good pleasure of the most Holy Father in the Holy Spirit, as the Divine Word affirms.[5] When he has celebrated their majesty, and gazed, with intellectual vision, upon the spiritual contemplation, he proceeds to the Divine service symbolical of them—and this, as transmitted from God. Hence, after the sacred praise of the works of God, he deprecates his own unworthiness for a service above his merits. First, reverently saying aloud, "Thou hast said, Do this for My remembrance"[6]—then,[7] having asked to become meet for this holy office of Divine imitation, and to consecrate the Divine symbols, by being made like to Christ Himself, and to distribute them in perfect holiness; and that those who shall partake of those holy mysteries may receive them religiously, he consecrates the most Divine symbols, and brings the mysteries to view through the reverent exposition of the symbols, while their praises are being sung. For when he has unveiled the veiled and undivided Bread, and divided it into many, and has apportioned the Oneness of the Cup to all, he symbolically multiplies and distributes the unity—completing in these a most holy Divine Service. For the unity and simplicity and hiddenness of Jesus, the Divinely supreme Word, by His becoming Man amongst us, came forth, out of goodness and love towards man, to the compound and visible, and benevolently devised the communion which makes us one with Himself, having united in the highest degree our lowliness to His own Godhead; if indeed we have been fitted to Him, as members to a body, after the identity of a blameless and Divine life; and have not, by being killed through destructive passions, become unsuited and unattached and unyoked, as regards the godly and healthy members. For if we aspire to communion with Him, we must keep our eye fixed upon His most godly Life in the flesh, and we must retrace our path to the Godlike and blameless habit of mind by being made like It in its holy sinlessness. For thus He will communicate to us an harmonious likeness to Himself.

---

[1] Ps. lxxiv. 14. [2] Ps. xcviii. 2. [3] Plato Crat. i. 295. [4] Luke xxii. 19.
[5] Ps. xl. 6-8. [6] Luke xxii. 19. [7] Prayer of humble access.

The Hierarch makes known these things to those who are living religiously by bringing the veiled gifts to view, by dividing their unity into multiplicity, and making the recipients partakers in them, by the utmost Oneness of the things distributed, with those who receive them. For he depicts in these things, visibly, by bringing to Jesus, the Christ, our spiritual life, as in images, coming as He does from the Hiddenness of the Divine Father; and out of love to man, moulded into our likeness from us, by the perfect and unconfused incarnation in our race, and advancing to the divided condition of ourselves without divergence from His essential unity; and calling the human race, through this beneficent love of man, into communion with Himself and His own good things, provided we are united to His most Divine Life by assimilation to it, as far as permissible. Thus in very truth we shall have been completed as partakers of God and Divine things. Having received and distributed the Divine Communion, he terminates with the singing of the holy thanksgiving, in which the whole body of the Church take part. For the communion precedes the distribution—and the reception of the mysteries the mystical impartation. For this is the regulation and order of the Divine Mysteries, that the reverend Leader should first partake and be filled with the gifts to be imparted through him, from God, to others, and that thus he should impart to others also. Wherefore, those who rashly content themselves with Divine instructions in preference to a life and condition agreeable to the same are profane and entirely alien from the sacred regulation established. For, as in the case of the bright shining of the sun, the more delicate and luminous substances being first filled with the brilliancy flowing into them, impart their overflowing light to things near them; thus it is not tolerable that one who has not become altogether Godlike in his whole character, and who has not been proved to govern by the Divine influence and judgment, should become a Leader to others in what is altogether Divine. When the whole order of the Priests have been collected together in sacerdotal order, and have communicated in the most Divine mysteries, they finish with a holy thanksgiving, after they have recognized and celebrated the gifts of the works of God, according to their degree. So that those who have not partaken or recognized the Divine mysteries would not come to thanksgiving; although the most Divine gifts are, in their essential nature, worthy of thanksgiving. But, as I said, not having wished even to look at the Divine gifts from their inclination to evil, they have remained throughout unblessed, as regards the boundless gifts of the works of God. "Taste and see," say the oracles, for, by the sacred instruction in Divine things, the instructed recognize their munificent gifts; and by gazing upon their most Divine height and breadth in the participation, they extol the supercelestial beneficent works of the Godhead.

CAPUT IV.

Concerning the initiatory rites in Myrrh, and those who are perfected in the same.

So great and so beautiful are the spiritual visions of the most holy Synaxis, which, as we have often said, accomplish by religious rites our participation in and collection towards the One. But there is another perfecting Service that occupies the same rank as this, which our Leaders name Initiation of Myrrh. By contemplating its parts in due order, after the rule of sacred images, we shall thus be borne, by religious contemplations, to its Oneness through its parts.

II.—Mystery of Consecration of Myrrh.

In the same way as in the Synaxis, the orders of the imperfect are dismissed, that is, after the Bishop has made the whole circuit of the temple, attended with fragrant incense, and the chanting of the Psalms, and the reading of the most Divine Lections. Then the Hierarch takes the Myrrh and places it upon the Divine Altar, veiled under twelve sacred wings, whilst all cry aloud, with a devout voice, the sacred melody of the inspiration of the God-rapt Prophets. When the Bishop has finished the prayer offered over it, he uses it in the most holy perfectings of things that are hallowed, for the completion of almost every Hierarchical function.

III.—Contemplation.

The introductory teaching, then, of this most perfecting function, through the rites performed respecting the Divine Myrrh, shews this, in my judgment, that that which is holy and of sweet savour in the minds of devout men, is covered, as with a veil, since it is Divinely enjoined upon holy men, to keep their beautiful and well-savoured likeness to the virtue of the hidden God, not made known for the purpose of vain glory. For the hidden and sweet-savoured comeliness of God is undefiled, and is spiritually manifested to the spiritual contemplators only, desiring to keep the unsullied images of virtue in the soul like unto itself. For when a man gazes, with undistracted vision, upon that spiritual and fragrant beauty, the unportrayed and well imitated image of Godlike virtue moulds and fashions itself to a most glorious imitation. And, as in material images, if the artist look without distraction upon the archetypal form, not drawn aside to any other sight, or in any way distracted, he will duplicate, if I may so speak, the very thing that is being engraved, whatever it may be, and will shew the reality in the likeness, and the archetype in the image—each in each, except as regards difference of substance. In the same way, to copyists who love the beautiful in mind, the persistent and unflinching contemplation of the sweet-savoured and hidden beauty, will confer the unerring and most Godlike appearance.[1] Naturally, then, the divine copyists, who unflinchingly mould their own spiritual image after the celestial sweet savour and spiritual comeliness, perform none of their Divinely imitated virtues "to be seen of men,"[2] as the Divine text expresses it. But they reverently contemplate the most holy things of the Church, veiled in the holy Myrrh, as in a figure. Wherefore, whilst religiously concealing that which is holy and most Divine in virtue, within their Godlike and God-engraved mind, they look to the archetypal conception alone. For not only are they blind to things dissimilar, but neither do they condescend themselves to gaze upon them. Wherefore, as becomes their character, they do not love things which merely seem to be good and just, but such as really are so. Nor do they look to a mere appearance, upon which the multitude unreasonably congratulate themselves; but, after the Divine example, distinguishing the good or evil as it is in itself, they are Divine images of the Supremely Divine Suavity, which, having its true savour within itself, does not turn itself, to the anomalously seeming of the multitude, but moulds its genuineness to true images of itself.

Come, then, since we have viewed the exterior comeliness of this Divine Service, beautiful throughout, let us look to its more godly beauty. Whilst itself, by itself, has uncovered the veils thrown around it, let us contemplate its blessed radiance, shedding its bright beams openly around, and filling us with its fragrance revealed to spiritual men. For the open consecration of the Myrrh is neither shut out from, nor invisible to, those who surround the Hierarch—but on the contrary is extended to them. But as its contemplation is above the reach of the many, they reverently conceal it; and by Hierarchical direction, it is kept from the gaze of the multitude.

---

[1] Plato, Rep. i. 6—ii. 116.

[2] Matt. xxiii. 5.

For the splendour of things all holy sheds its light clearly and without symbol to men inspired, as being congenial to the spiritual, and perfumes their intellectual perceptions without concealment. But it does not advance in the same way to the inferior. Further, the deep contemplators of the spiritual conceal it under the enigmas of the wings, without ostentation, so that it may not be defiled by the impure. Through these sacred enigmas the well-ordered ranks of the subordinate are conducted to the degree of holiness compatible with their powers. The holy consecration, then, which we are now extolling, is, as I said, of the most perfecting order and capacity of the Hierarchical functions. Wherefore our Divine Leaders arranged this as being of the same rank and effect, with the holy perfecting of the Synaxis, with the same figures, for the most part, and mystical regulations and lections. And you may see in like manner the Hierarch bearing forward the sweet perfume from the more holy place into the sacred precincts beyond—and teaching, by the return to the same, that the participation in things Divine comes to all holy persons according to their fitness, but that it remains undiminished and altogether unmoved, and stands unchangeably in its identity with a Divine fixity. In the same way the hymns and readings of the lections bring to birth those not yet perfect for the life bringing adoption of sons. They also form a religious inclination in those who are possessed with accursed spirits. They dispel the opposing fear and effeminacy from those possessed by a spirit of unmanliness; shewing to them, according to their capacity, the highest pinnacle of the Godlike habit and power, by following which they will, the rather, scare away the opposing forces, and will take the lead in healing others; and, following the example of God, whilst unmoved from their own proper gifts, they will not only be active against those opposing fears, but will themselves give activity to others. They also impart to those who have departed from evil to a religious mind, a sacred persistence, so that they should not be again enslaved by evil. They purify completely those who need to become altogether pure. They lead the holy to their own Divine likeness, and contemplation, and communion. They also establish those who are entirely holy in blessed and spiritual visions, completing their uniform likeness of the One, and making them One. What, then, shall I say further? Is it not those orders that we have mentioned, which are not entirely pure, that the present religious service excludes without distinction, in the same way as the Synaxis, so that it is viewed by the holy alone, in figures, and is contemplated and ministered by the perfectly holy alone, without symbols, through instructions given by the Hierarchy? Now this has already been so often mentioned that it is superfluous, as I think, to recur to the same statements. Those, then, who see with a Divine vision may appropriately contemplate the Hierarch. holding the Divine Myrrh, veiled under twelve wings, and devoutly completing the holy service of consecration. Let us then affirm that the composition of the Myrrh is a combination of sweet-smelling materials, which has in itself abundantly fragrant qualities, with which those who partake become perfumed, in proportion to the degree in which they partake of its sweet savour. Now we are persuaded that the Supremely Divine Jesus is superessentially of good savour, filling the spiritual part of ourselves with a Divine sweetness, by spiritual bequests. For if the reception of the sensible odours makes us feel joyous, and nourishes, with much sweetness, the sensitive organs of our nostrils—at least, if they be sound and well apportioned to the sweet savour—in the same way, anyone might say that our spiritual faculties, being soundly disposed with regard to the subjection to evil, in the strength of the distinguishing faculty implanted in us by nature, receive the sweet savour from God, and are filled with a holy comfort and most Divine nourishment, in accordance with Divinely fixed proportions and the suitable turning of the mind towards the Divine. Wherefore, the symbolical composition of the Myrrh, as expressing in form things that are formless, depicts to us Jesus Himself, as being a well-spring of the wealth of the Divine sweetness,[1] distributing in degrees fixed by God, to the most Godlike of spiritual persons, the most Divine perfumes; from which the minds, satiated with a most comforting joy, and filled with holy receptions, enjoy a spiritual nourishment, by the entrance of the savoury[2] gifts into their spiritual nature, according to a Divine participation. But it is evident, as I think, that the distribution of the primal perfume to the Beings above ourselves, as being more Divine, is, as it were, nearer, and manifests and distributes itself better to their luminous transparency, and overflows without stint the healthy capacity of their minds for its reception, and enters them much more abundantly. But as regards the subordinate minds, which are not so receptive, it piously conceals the highest vision and participation, and is distributed in a Divinely fixed proportion, in fragrance corresponding to the recipients. Amongst the holy Beings, then, who are above us, the highest exalted order of the Seraphin is represented under the figure of the twelve wings, as established and fixed around Jesus, giving itself to the most blessed contemplation as far as permissible, and filled with spiritual distributions through holy receptions, and, to speak after the manner of men, crying aloud, with never silent lips, the frequent Hymn of Praise.[1]

---

[1] Cant. i. 3. [2] 2 Cor. ii. 14.

For the sacred knowledge of the celestial minds is both untiring and possesses the Divine love without intermission, and is at the same time superior to all baseness and forgetfulness. Whence, as I think, that phrase, "unceasing cry," suggests their perpetual and persistent science, and conception of things Divine, with full determination and thanksgiving. Now we have, as I think, sufficiently contemplated, in the description of the Heavenly Hierarchy, the distinctive features of the incorporeal Seraphin, Divinely described in the Scriptures, under sensible figures, explanatory of the spiritual Beings; and we have made them evident to your intellectual vision. Nevertheless, as they who stand reverently around the Hierarch, reflect that same order, the highest of all in science, we will now view their most Godlike glory with unearthly visions.

Their numberless faces then, and many feet, demonstrate, as I think, their property of viewing the Divine illumination from many sides, and their conception of the good things of God, as ever active and abundantly receptive. But the sixfold arrangement of the wings, of which the Scripture speaks, does not, as I think, denote a sacred number, but that the first, and second, and last of the spiritual and Godlike powers of the highest existence and Order around God are elevating, and entirely free, and supermundane. Hence the most holy wisdom of the Scriptures, when Divinely describing the formation of the wings, places the wings around the heads,[2] and the middle, and their feet, suggesting their complete covering with wings, and their faculty of leading to the Truly Existing.

But if they cover their heads and their feet, and fly by their middle wings only; bear this religiously in mind, that the Order, so far exalted above the highest Beings, is circumspect respecting the more lofty and deep of its conceptions, and raises itself, in due proportion by its middle wings, to the vision of God; placing its own proper life under the Divine yokes, and by these is well directed to the knowledge of itself. But as regards the statement of Holy Scripture, that "one cried out to the other," that shows, I think, that they impart to each other ungrudgingly their own visions of God. And this we should deem worthy of religious recollection, that the Hebrew word in the Holy Scriptures names the most holy Seraphin, by an explanatory appellation signifying their glowing and seething, in a Divine and ever moving life.

If, then, as those who have learned Hebrew say, the most

---

[1] Isaiah vi. 3.

[2] Isaiah vi. 2.

Divine Seraphin are named by the Word of God, "glowing" and "heating," by a name expressive of their essential condition, they possess, according to the symbolical description of the Divine Myrrh, ever moving powers, calling into evidence its distribution of exhilarating perfumes. For the incomprehensible, benign Being loves to be moved by the glowing and most pure minds into manifestation, and imparts its most Divine breathings in cheerful distributions to those who thus devoutly call it forth. Thus the most exalted Order of celestial Beings did not fail to recognize [1] the supremely Divine Jesus when He descended for the purpose of being sanctified, but contemplates Him lowering Himself in our nature through Divine and inexpressible goodness; and when it had seen Him sanctified in a manner befitting man, from the Father [2] and Himself [3] and the Holy Spirit,[4] recognized their own supreme Head as being essentially unchanged in whatever He did, according to His supreme Deity. Hence the teaching of the sacred symbols places the Seraphin near the Divine Myrrh when it is being consecrated, recognizing and describing the Christ as unchanged in the complete incarnation amongst us in the truth of our nature. And what is still more Divine, it uses the Divine Myrrh for the perfecting of every religious function, distinctly shewing, according to the Divine saying, the sanctified Sanctifier as always the same in Himself throughout the whole course of His Divine Beneficence. Wherefore the completing gift and grace of the Divine regeneration is completed in the Divine perfecting of the Myrrh. Hence, as I think, the Hierarch pouring the Myrrh upon the purifying font, in the form of a cross, brings to view for contemplative eyes the Jesus descending to death itself through the cross,[5] for our birth in God, and drawing up from the jaws of a destructive death, by the same Divine and resistless descent, those who, according to the mysterious saying, "are baptized into His death," [6] from the former gulf of a destructive [7] death, and renewing them to a godly and eternal existence.[8]

But further, the perfecting unction of the Myrrh gives to him who has been initiated in the most sacred initiation of the birth in God, the indwelling of the supremely Divine Spirit; the sacred imagery of the symbols suggesting, as I think, the gift of the Divine Spirit, by Him Who for our sakes has been sanctified as man, by the Divine Spirit, in an unaltered condition of His essential Godhead. And bear this also most religiously in mind, that the Law of the most holy completion completes the sacred consecration of the Divine Altar by pure effusions of the most holy Myrrh. But the work of God, at once supercelestial and supernatural, is head and being and perfecting power of all the deifying holiness within ourselves. For if our most Divine Altar is Jesus—the supremely Divine sanctification of the godly minds—in Whom, according to the saying, "being sanctified and mystically offered as a whole burnt offering, we have access,"[1] let us gaze with celestial eyes upon the self-same Altar (in Whom things being perfected are perfected and sanctified), as being perfected from the self-same most Divine Myrrh. For the all-pure Jesus sanctifies Himself on our behalf and fills us with every purification, since the things completed[2] in Him during the Divine economy, pass afterwards in their beneficent effects to us, as children of God. Hence, as I think, the Divine Leaders of our Hierarchy in conformity with an Hierarchical conception received from God, have wisely named this august service, completing of Myrrh—from "being completed." As one might say, completing of God—celebrating its Divine completing work in both senses. For His completion is both the sanctification of Himself as Man, on our behalf, and the completing and sanctifying of all things, by His power as God. As for the sacred melody of the inspiration of the God-rapt Prophets, it is called by those who know Hebrew, "Praise of God," or "Praise ye the Lord." Since then, every Divine manifestation and work of God is religiously portrayed in the varied composition of the Hierarchical symbols, it is not unbefitting to mention the Divinely moved song of the Prophets, for it teaches at once, distinctly and reverently, that the beneficent works of the Divine Goodness are worthy of devout praise.

---

[1] 1 Tim. iii. 16. [2] John x. 36. [3] John xvii. 19. [4] Rom. i. 4. [5] Phil. ii. 8. [6] Rom. vi. 3. [7] Rom viii. 2. [8] Rom. vi. 4.

CAPUT V.

Concerning sacerdotal consecrations.

Such, then, is the most Divine perfecting work of the Myrrh. But it may be opportune, after these Divine functions, to set forth the sacerdotal Orders and elections themselves; their powers, and energies, and consecrations, and the triad of the superior Orders under them; in order that the harmonious Order of our Hierarchy may be demonstated as entirely rejecting and excluding the disordered, the unregulated, and the confused; and, at the same time, manifesting the regulated, and ordered, and well-established in the gradations of the sacred orders within itself. Now we have shewn, as I think, in the Hierarchy already celebrated by us, the threefold division of every Hierarchy—when we affirmed, as our sacred tradition holds, that every Hierarchical function is divided into (1) the most Divine initiations, and (2) the inspired experts and teachers of them, (3) and those who are being religiously initiated by them.

---

[1] Eph. iii. 12.

[2] Observe the doctrine of the Atonement.

Therefore the most Divine Hierarchy of the heavenly Beings has for its initiation its own proper and most immaterial conception of God and things Divine, according to its capacity, and a complete likeness to God, and a persistent habit of imitating God, as far as permissible. But its illuminators and leaders to this sacred consecration are the very first Beings around God. For these generously and proportionately transmit to the sacred ranks, subordinate to themselves, the knowledge given to themselves, and always deifying, by the self-subsisting and supreme Deity, who governs the Divine minds that impart wisdom to man. But the ranks who are subordinate to the first Beings are, and are truly called, the initiated orders, as being religiously conducted through those to the deifying illumination of the supreme Deity. After this the heavenly and supermundane Hierarchy, the supreme Deity gave the Hierarchy under the Law, for the purpose of imparting its most holy gifts, for the benefit of our race, as it were, to children,[1] giving an apportioned light, so as not to wound weak visions; and copies,[2] far from the Archetypes, and hard to understand[3]; and types, whose hidden meaning was not easily discerned.[4] Now the initiation of the Hierarchy under the Law is the restitution to spiritual worship.[5] Our conductors to this were men religiously instructed as to the holy tabernacle[6] by Moses, the first initiator and Leader of the Hierarchs under the Law. Now, in reference to this tabernacle, when describing, for purposes of instruction, the Hierarchy under the Law, he called all the sacred services of the Law an image of the type shewn to him in Mount Sinai.[7] But "initiated" are those who are being conducted from the symbols of the Law, in proportion to their capacity, to a more perfect revelation. The Word of God calls our Hierarchy the more perfect revelation, naming it a fulfilment[8] of that, and a holy inheritance. It is both celestial and legal, participating in common, as a mean between extremes—with the former by spiritual contemplations, and with the latter, because it is variegated by sensible signs, and through these is reverently led to the Divine. There is likewise a threefold division of the Hierarchy, which is divided into the most holy services of the initiations, and into the Godlike ministers of holy things, and those who are being conducted by them, according to their capacity, to the holy rites.

But each of the threefold divisions of our Hierarchy, like that of the Law, and of the Hierarchy which is more Divine than ours, is arranged as first, middle, and last in rank, each carefully guarding the proportion of religious rites, and the well-ordered fellowship which keeps in harmonious order and binds all things together. The most holy service of the initiations, regards the sacred cleansing of the imperfect as a first Godlike rank—the illuminating instruction of those who have been purified as the middle—the perfecting of those who have been instructed in an exact knowledge of their own revelations as the last, which is a summary of the two former. The Order of Ministers, in the first rank, cleanses the uninitiated through the initiations. In the middle rank, it imparts light to those who have been cleansed; and in the last, and highest of the ministering ranks, it completes those who have been made partakers of the light, by the perfect skill in the illuminations contemplated. The first rank[1] of those who are being initiated is that of those who are being purified; the next is that of those who are being illuminated after purification, who contemplate some sacred mysteries[2]; but the last, which is more Divine than the others, is that which is being illuminated with the most perfecting science of the sacred illuminations contemplated. The threefold rank of the holy service of the initiations is celebrated, since the Birth in God is exhibited in the oracles, as a purification and light-giving illumination; and the initiation of the Synaxis and the Myrrh, as a perfecting knowledge and science of the works of God, through which the unifying elevation and most blessed communion towards the Godhead is reverently perfected. But now let us next examine the sacerdotal order, which is divided into a purifying, and illuminating, and perfecting discipline. This, then, is the sacred Law of the Deity—that, through the first, the second are conducted to its most Divine Light. Do we not see the material substances of the elements, first approaching, by preference, things which are more congenial to themselves, and through these diffusing their own energy to other things. Naturally, then, the head and foundation of all good order, invisible and visible, causes the Divinely wrought rays to approach first the more Divine Beings, and through them, as being more transparent minds, and more properly adapted for reception and transmission of Light, transmits his light and manifestations to those who are subordinate, in proportions suitable to them.

---

[1] Gal. iv. 3. [2] Heb. x. 1. [3] Num. xii. 8. [4] Rom. ii. 20. [5] John iv. 23. [6] Heb. ix. 11. [7] Ex. xxv. 40. [8] Matt. v. 17.

It is, then, the function of these, the first contemplators, to exhibit ungrudgingly to the next order, in proportion to their capacity, the Divine visions reverently gazed upon by themselves, and to reveal the things relating to the Hierarchy (since they have been abundantly instructed with a complete science in all matters relating to their own Hierarchy, and have received the effectual power of instruction), and to impart sacred gifts according to capacity of reception, since they possess Hierarchical completeness in the highest degree of knowledge and attainment. The Divine order of the Hierarchs, then, is the first of the contemplative orders; but it is, at the same time, highest and lowest; inasmuch as every order of our Hierarchy is summed up and fulfilled in it. For as we see every Hierarchy is terminated in Jesus, thus we see each order summed up in its own godly Hierarch. Now the power of the Hierarchical order permeates the whole sacred body, and through every one of the sacred Orders performs the mysteries of its proper Hierarchy. But pre-eminently to this, the Divine institution assigned the more Divine Services of the Sanctuary, rather than to the other Orders, for his special work. For these are the perfecting images of the supremely Divine Power, completing all the most Divine symbols and all the sacred orders. For though some of the august symbols are consecrated by the Priests, yet never will the Priest effect the Divine Birth without the most Divine Myrrh; nor will he consecrate the mysteries of the Divine Communion, unless the symbols of Communion have been placed upon the most Divine Altar. But neither will he be Priest himself, unless he has been designated to this by the Hierarchical consecrations. Hence the Divine Institution has uniquely assigned the dedication of the Hierarchical orders, and the consecration of the Divine Myrrh, and the complete consecration of the Altar, to the perfecting powers of the inspired Hierarchs. It is, then, the Hierarchical Order which is furnished with the perfecting faculty, which pre-eminently completes the perfecting functions of the Hierarchy, and reveals lucidly the sciences of the holy mysteries, and teaches their proportions, and sacred conditions and powers. The illuminated order of the Priests, however, conducts those who are being initiated, under the direction of the inspired Hierarch, to the Divine visions of the initiations, and in co-operation with this, reverently ministers its own religious ministrations. Whatever this order may do, in shewing the works of God, through the most holy symbols, and in perfecting those who draw nigh, in the Divine contemplations, and in the participation in the hallowed initiations, it yet sends to the Hierarch those who crave the exact knowledge of the religious service which they have witnessed. The Order of the Leitourgoi, that which purifies, whose function it is to separate the unfit, previous to the Divine Service of the Priests, purifies those who are drawing nigh, making them entirely pure from opposing fashions, and suitable for the sanctifying vision and communion. For which reason, during the service of Regeneration, the Leitourgoi strip him who draws nigh of his old clothing, and even take off his sandals, and make him stand towards the west for renunciation. And again, they lead him back to the east (for they are of the purifying order and function), commanding those who approach to entirely cast away the coverings of their former life; and, showing the darkness of their former conduct, and teaching those who have said farewell to darkness, to transfer their allegiance to the Light. The Order of the Leitourgoi, then, is for purification, leading those who have been purified to the bright services of the Priests, both purifying and bringing to the Birth the uninitiated, by the purifying illuminations and teachings of the oracles, and further, sending away from the Priests the unholy, without respect of persons. Wherefore the Hierarchical institution places them over the holy gates, suggesting that the approach of those who come to holy things must be with complete purification, and conducting the approach to their reverent vision and communion, through the purifying functions, and admitting them through these without spot.

---

[1] Plato, Phæd. i. 52. [2] Plato, Phæd. i. 54.

We have shewn, then, that the order of the Hierarchs is perfecting and completing—that of the Priests illuminating and conducting to the light—that of the Leitourgoi purifying and discriminating; that is to say, the Hierarchical order is appointed not only to perfect but at the same time to enlighten and to purify. The rank of the Priests has within itself, along with the illuminating, the purifying science. For the inferior cannot step over to the superior functions, and in addition to this it is not permitted for them to undertake such quackery as that. But the more Divine Orders, in conjunction with their own, possess also the sacred science of the subordinate orders. Nevertheless, since the sacerdotal orders are images of Divine Energies, they are arranged in Hierarchical distinctions, shewing in themselves the regulated illuminations into the first and middle and last sacred energies and orders of the well regulated and unconfused order of the Divine Energies; manifesting, as I have said, in themselves the well ordered and unconfused character of the Divine Energies. For since the supreme Deity first cleanses the Minds which He may enter, then enlightens, and when enlightened, perfects them to a Godlike perfection; naturally the Hierarchical image of the Divine divides itself into well defined orders and functions, shewing clearly the Divine Energies firmly established without confusion in most hallowed and unmixed ranks. Now, since we have spoken as permitted to us, of the sacerdotal orders and completeness, their powers and energies, let us now contemplate their most holy consecrations as well as we can.

II.—Mystery of sacerdotal consecrations.

The Hierarch, being led to the Hierarchical consecration after he has bent both his[1] knees before the Altar, has upon his head the God-transmitted oracles, and the Hierarch's right hand, and in this manner is consecrated[1] by the Hierarch who consecrates him with all holy invocations. The Priest, after he has bent both his knees before the Divine Altar, has the Hierarch's right hand upon his head, and in this manner is dedicated[2] by the Hierarch ordaining him with hallowing invocations. But the Leitourgos, after he has bent the one of two knees before the Divine Altar, has upon his head the right hand of the Hierarch who ordains him, being ordained[3] by him with the consecrating invocations used in the ordination of the Leitourgoi. Upon each of them the cruciform seal[4] of the ordaining Hierarch is impressed, and at each ordination the sacred proclamation of name takes place, and the concluding salutation, since every sacerdotal person present, and the Hierarch who ordained, salute him who has been consecrated to any of the aforenamed Hierarchical orders.

---

[1] ἄμφω τὼ πόδε.

III.—Contemplation.

These things, then, are common to the Hierarch, and to the Priests, and to the Leitourgoi—the conducting to the Divine Altar and kneeling—the imposition of the Hierarch's right hand—the cruciform seal—the announcement of name—the completing salutation.

But the special and select rite for the Hierarchs is the placing of the oracles upon the head, since the subordinate orders have not this—but for the Priests the bending of both knees, since the consecration of the Leitourgoi has not this—for the Leitourgoi, as has been said, bend the one of two knees only. The conducting and kneeling before the Divine Altar suggests to those who are being sacerdotally consecrated that their own life is entirely placed under God as Author of consecration, and that their whole intellectual self approaches to Him all pure and hallowed, and that it is of one likeness; and, as far as possible, meet for the Divine and most hallowed Victim[5] and Altar, which purifies through religious ministrations the Godlike mind. But the imposition of the Hierarch's right hand signifies at once the protection of the primal consecrator, by whom, as holy children, they are cherished paternally, whilst it gives them the sacerdotal habit and function, and drives away their opposing powers. But it teaches at the same time also that all sacerdotal operations are effectual in so far as those who have been consecrated are acting under God, and have Him as Leader in every respect of their own life. But the signing with the sign of the Cross manifests the inaction of all the impulses of the flesh, and the life of Divine imitation which looks unflinchingly to the life of Jesus, at once manly and most godly, Who has come even to the Cross and death, with a supremely Divine sinlessness, and stamps those who thus live as of the same likeness by the cruciform image of his own sinlessness.

---

[1] ἀποτελειουται. [2] ἁγιάσεται. [3] τελειοῦμενος. [4] σφραγὶς. [5] Christ.

But the Hierarch calls aloud the name of the consecrations and of the consecrated. The mysterious meaning of which is, that the holy consecrator, beloved of God, makes manifest the supremely Divine choice—not of his own accord, or by his own favour, leading those who are consecrated to the sacerdotal consecration, but as being moved by God to all the Hierarchical dedications. Thus Moses, the consecrator under the Law, does not lead Aaron, his brother, to sacerdotal consecration, though thinking him both beloved of God and hallowed, until moved by God to this, in submission to God as chief consecrator, he completed by Hierarchical rites the sacerdotal consecration.[1] But our supremely Divine and first consecrator (for Jesus, out of His great love to man, became even this), did "not glorify Himself," as the Scriptures say, but He Who said to Him, "Thou[2] art Priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek." Wherefore also He Himself, when leading the disciples to sacerdotal consecration, although, being as God, chief consecrator, nevertheless refers the Hierarchical completion of the work of consecration to His most holy Father, and the supremely Divine Spirit, by admonishing the disciples not to depart from Jerusalem, but to "await the promise of the Father, which ye heard of me, that ye shall be baptized in the Holy Ghost."[3] And indeed, the coryphæus of the disciples himself, with the ten, of the same rank and Hierarchy with himself, when he proceeded to the sacerdotal completion of the number of the disciples to twelve, reverently left the selection to the Supreme Deity, saying, "Shew[4] whom Thou hast chosen," and received him, who was Divinely designated by the Divine choice, into the number of the twelve Hierarchs. Now concerning the Divine lot, which fell as a Divine intimation upon Matthias, others have expressed another view, not correctly, as I think, but I will express my own sentiment. For it seems to me that the Scriptures name "lot" as a certain gift from God, pointing out to that Hierarchical Choir, him who was designed by the Divine election. More particularly because the Divine Hierarch must not perform the sacerdotal consecration of his own motion; but, as subject to God, moving him to accomplish these consecrations, with religious rites and heavenly intimations.

Now the salutation at the end of the consecration has a religious significance. For all the members of the sacerdotal orders present, as well as the Hierarch who has consecrated them, salute the men ordained. For when by sacerdotal habits and dispositions, and by Divine call and dedication, a religious mind has attained to sacerdotal consecration, he is dearly loved by the most holy orders of the same rank; elevated, as he is, to a most Godlike comeliness; loving the minds similar to himself, and religiously loved by them in return. Hence it is that the mutual sacerdotal salutation is performed, proclaiming the religious communion of minds of like character, and their loving benignity towards each other, which keeps, by sacerdotal training, their most Godlike comeliness in complete perfection.

---

[1] Ex. xxix. 4. [2] Ps. cx. 4. [3] Acts i. 4, 5. [4] Acts i. 24.

These things, as I said, are common to the whole sacerdotal consecration. The Hierarch, however, as a distinctive mark, has the oracles most reverently placed upon his head. For since the perfecting function and science of the whole Priesthood is conferred upon the inspired Hierarchs by the supremely Divine and perfecting goodness, naturally the Divinely transmitted oracles are placed upon the heads of the Hierarchs—oracles which explain completely and scientifically all theology—work of God, manifestation of God, sacred word, sacred work: in one word, all the Divine and sacred works and words bequeathed to our Hierarchy by the beneficent Deity. Since the Godlike Hierarch, having partaken entirely of the whole Hierarchical power, will not only be illuminated in the true and God-transmitted science of all the holy words and works committed to the Hierarchy, but will also transmit them to others by Hierarchical teaching, and will perfect in most Divine knowledge and the highest instruction, through his power as Hierarch, all the most perfecting functions of the whole Priesthood. But the distinctive feature of the ordination of Priests, as contrasted with the ordination of the Leitourgoi, is the bending of the two knees, as that order bends only the one, and is consecrated by this religious symbol. The bending denotes the submissive approach of the man who draws nigh, who places under God that which is religiously presented. But since, as we have often said, the three orders of the consecrators, through the three most holy initiations and functions, preside over the three orders of the initiated, and accomplish or religiously perform their saving approach under the Divine yoke, naturally the order of Deacons, as being merely puritive, religiously performs the one approach of those who are being purified, placing it under the Divine Altar, as though the minds who are being purified were being transcendently hallowed in himself. But the Priests bend both their knees, because those who are religiously brought nigh by them are not only being purified, but have been religiously perfected by their most luminous instructions into a contemplative habit and power. But the Hierarch, bending both his knees, has upon his head the God-transmitted oracles, as leading, through his office of Hierarch, those who have been purified by the Leitourgoi, and enlightened by the Priests, to the exact knowledge of the things contemplated by them, in proportion to their capacities; and through this knowledge perfecting those who are brought nigh, into the most complete holiness of which they are capable.

CAPUT VI.

Concerning the Ranks of the Initiated.

These, then, are the sacerdotal ranks and vocations, their powers, and functions, and consecrations. We must next explain the Triad of the ranks initiated, which are subordinate to them. We affirm then that the multitudes who are dismissed from the Divine Services and Consecrations, which we have mentioned, are Orders undergoing a course of purification; for one is being moulded and fashioned to a living existence, by the Deacons through the oracles which bring to birth; another is already called back to the holy life, from which it had departed, by the wholesome discipline of the good oracles; another, as being already terrorized through want of manliness by opposing fears, is being fortified by the strengthening oracles; another, as being led back from evil counsels to holy efforts; and another as having been led back, indeed, but not yet having a chaste fixedness in more God-like habits and tranquillity. For these are the Orders under purification, by the nursing and purifying powers of the Leitourgoi. These, the Leitourgoi perfect, by their sacred powers, for the purpose of their being brought, after their complete cleansing, to the contemplation and participation in the most luminous Divine Services. The middle is the contemplative order, which participates in certain Divine Offices in all purity, according to its capacity, and is assigned to the Priests for its enlightenment. For it is evident, in my opinion, that this order, after having been cleansed from all unholy impurity, and when it has acquired the immovable steadfastness of its own mind in perfect purity, is led back, through priestly functions, to the habit and power of contemplation, and communicates in the most Divine symbols, filled with all holy joy in their contemplations and communions, mounting to the Divine love of their highest knowledge, through their instructions and functions, as far as their capacity admits. This, I say, is the order of the holy people, which, as having passed through complete purification, is deemed worthy, as far as permissible, both of the reverent vision, and participation of the most luminous Sacraments. But, the order higher than all the initiated is the sacred order of the Monks, which, as regards an entirely purified purification, with all its power and completely purified energies, has acquired a spiritual contemplation and participation in every Divine Service, which it is permissible for it to contemplate; and is being conducted by the most perfecting functions of the Hierarchs, and taught by their inspired illuminations and hierarchical traditions respecting the Divine Services of the holy Sacraments, viewed by them, according to their capacity, and elevated by their sacred science, to the most perfecting perfection of which they are capable. Hence our Divine leaders have deemed them worthy of sacred appellations. Some, indeed, call them "Therapeutæ," but others "Monks," from their pure service and fervid devotion to the true God; and from the undivided and unified life, as making them one, by folding together their divided qualities into a God-like isolation, and God-loving perfection. Wherefore the Divine institution accorded them a perfecting grace, and deemed them worthy of a certain invocation for their consecration—not hierarchical—for that is confined to the sacerdotal orders alone, but hallowing,[1] as being hallowed, by the pious Priests, by the hierarchical consecration in the second degree.

II.—MYSTERION.

Mystery of Monastic Consecration.

The Priest stands before the Divine Altar and religiously pronounces the invocation for Monks. The Monk stands behind the Priest, neither bends both knees, nor one of them, nor has upon his head the Divinely transmitted oracles; but only stands near the Priest, whilst he pronounces upon him the mystical Benediction. When the Priest has finished this, he approaches the man being consecrated, and asks him first, if he bids farewell to all distractions—not of life only, but also of imagination. Then he sets before him the most perfect life, and warns him that it is his bounden duty to surpass the ordinary life. When the initiated has promised steadfastly all these things, and the Priest has signed him with the sign of the Cross, he crops his hair. After an invocation to the threefold subsistence of the Divine Beatitude, he strips off all his clothing, and clothes him anew, and with all the holy men present salutes him, and administers to him the supremely Divine Mysteries.

III.—Contemplation.

The fact that he bends neither knee, nor has upon his head the Divinely transmitted oracles, but stands by the Priest, whilst pronouncing the benediction for Monks, signifies that the monastic order is not for the leading of others, but stands by itself, in an isolated and holy state, after the sacerdotal orders, and is readily conducted by them as a follower to the Divine science of sacred things, according to its capacity. The renunciation of the divided, not only lives, but even imaginations, shews the most perfect love of wisdom in the Monks, which exercises itself in the exact knowledge of the unifying commandments. For it is not, as I said, of the middle order of those who are initiated, but of the higher than all. Therefore many of the things which are done without reproach by the middle order, are forbidden in every way to the unified Monks—inasmuch as they are under obligation to be unified to the One, and to be collected to a sacred isolation, and to be transformed to the sacerdotal life, as far as permissible, as possessing an affinity to it in many things, and as being nearer to it, as compared with the rest of the ranks of the initiated. But the sealing with the sign of the Cross, as we have already said, denotes the inaction of almost all the desires of the flesh. The cropping of the hair shews the pure and unpretentious life, which does not beautify the darkness within the mind by overlarding it with smeared pretence, but shews it leads by itself to the highest likeness of God, not by human attractions, but by single and monastic. The casting aside of the former clothing, and taking another, seems to show a transition from a middle sort of religious life to the more perfect one; just as, in the holy Birth from God, the exchange of the clothing denoted the elevation of a purified life to a contemplative and enlightened condition. But if even now the Priest and all the religious present salute him who has been consecrated, bear in mind the holy fellowship of those who carry the likeness of God, who congratulate each other in a Divine rejoicing. But, as consummation of all, the Priest invites him who has been consecrated to the supremely Divine Communion, shewing through religious ordinance that the consecrated, if he would really attain to the monastic and uniform elevation, he will not merely be contemplative of the sacred mysteries in their essential nature, nor will he come to the communion of the most holy symbols, after the fashion of the middle rank; but with a Divine knowledge of the mysteries received by himself, he will come in a manner different from that of the holy people to the reception of the supremely Divine Communion. Wherefore, the Communion of the most holy Eucharist is also given to the sacerdotal[1] Orders, in their dedication to the Priesthood at the conclusion of their most sacred consecrations by the Hierarch who has consecrated them; not only because the reception of the supremely

---

[1] ἱερουργικῆς.

---

[1] See Ordinal.

Divine Mysteries is the consummation of each Hierarchical reception, but because all the sacred Orders, in accordance with their capacity, partake of the common and most godly gift, according to their own elevation and perfection in deification. We conclude, then, that the holy initiations are, purification, and illumination, and consecration. The Leitourgoi are a purifying Order, the Priests an illuminating, and the Godlike Hierarchs a perfecting Order. The Order which is excluded from the sacred contemplation and communion, as being already under course of purification, is an Order being purified. But the Order of the unified Monks is a purified Order. For thus our Hierarchy, reverently arranged in ranks fixed by God, is like the Heavenly Hierarchies, preserving, so far as man can do, its Godlike characteristics and Divine imitation.

But you will say that the Orders undergoing purification utterly fall short of the Heavenly Hierarchies (for it is neither permissible nor true to say that any celestial Order is impure), and I would altogether affirm myself that they are entirely without blemish, and possess a purity above this world, unless I had completely fallen away from a religious mind. For if any of them should have become captive to evil, and have fallen from the heavenly, undefiled harmony of the celestial minds, he would be brought to the gloomy fall of the rebellious multitudes. But one may reverently say, with regard to the Heavenly Hierarchy, that the revelation from God, of things hitherto unknown, is a purification to the subordinate Beings, leading them to a more perfect science of the God-derived communications, purifying them from the ignorance of those things of which they had not hitherto the exact knowledge, conducted as they are, through the first and more Divine Beings, to the higher and more luminous splendours of the visions of God. Thus there are ranks being illuminated, and being initiated and purified, and purifying and illuminating, and perfecting, after the example of the Heavenly Hierarchy; as though the highest and more Divine minds were purifying the subordinate, holy, and reverent ranks from all ignorance (in ranks and proportions of the Heavenly Hierarchies), but fitting them with the most Divine illuminations and perfections, in the most pure science of the supremely Divine conceptions. For we have already said, and the oracles Divinely demonstrate that all the heavenly Orders are not alike, in the sacred knowledge of all the illuminations that come from God. But, from God immediately, the first are illuminated; then through these, but again from God, the subordinate, in proportion to their powers, are illuminated with the most luminous glories of the Divine rays.

CAPUT VII.

Concerning the Rites celebrated over those who have fallen asleep.

Having defined these things, I think it necessary to describe the religious rites celebrated over those who have fallen asleep. For there is a difference here also between the sacred and the profane. For, as the form of life is different in each, so also, when approaching death, they differ. Those who have had a religious life, when they look to the unfailing promises of the Deity, inasmuch as they have observed their proof, in the resurrection proclaimed by it, come to the goal of death, with a firm and unfailing hope, in godly rejoicing, as at the conclusion of holy contests—knowing that their rewards will be in a perfect and endless life and salvation, through their future entire resurrection.[1] For the holy souls, which may possibly fall, during this present life, to a change for the worse, in the regeneration will have the most Godlike transition to an unchangeable[2] condition. Now, the pure bodies of the holy souls, which are enrolled together as yoke-fellows and companions, and fellow-combatants within their Divine struggles, in the unchanged steadfastness of their souls throughout the divine life, will jointly receive their own resurrection.[3] For, having been made one with the holy souls to which they were united in this present life, as having become members[4] of Christ, they will receive the Godlike and imperishable immortality, and a blessed repose.[5] In this respect, then, the sleep of the just is in comfort and unshaken hope as it draws nigh the goal of the Divine contests.[6] Now, amongst the profane, some[7] illogically think to go to a non-existence; others,[8] that the yoke binding the body to its own proper soul will be severed once for all, not deeming it suitable to them in a Divine life and blessed repose, inasmuch as they have not been sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Divine things, which teaches that our most Godlike life in Christ has already begun.[9] But others[10] assign to souls unions with other bodies, committing, as I suppose, this injustice to them, that, after they have laboured together with the godly souls, they unjustly deprive them, when they have reached the goal of the Divine course, of their righteous retribution. But others,[11] I do not know how they have strayed to conceptions of such earthly tendency, say, that the most holy and blessed inheritance, promised to the devout, is similar to our life in this world, and unlawfully reject, for those who are equal to the Angels, nourishment appropriate to another kind of life. But no one would ever forsake most reverent men, for such vagaries as these. But knowing that their whole selves will receive the Christlike inheritance, when they have come to the goal of this present life, they see more clearly their road to incorruption as already become nearer, and praise the gifts of the supreme Godhead and are filled with a Divine satisfaction, no longer fearing the fall to a worse condition, but well knowing that they will hold firmly and everlastingly the good things already acquired. But those who are full of blemishes, full of stains, even though they have attained to some instruction, yet, of their own accord, have to their own destruction rejected this from their mind, and have rashly followed destructive lusts, when they have approached the end of their life here, the Divine regulation of the oracles will no longer appear to them as before, a subject of scorn,[1] but when they have looked with other eyes upon the pleasures of their passions destroyed, and have pronounced blessed the holy life from which they thoughtlessly had fallen away, they are, piteously and against their will, separated from this present life, conducted to no blessed hope, in consequence of their shameful life.[2] But, whilst none of these attain the rest of holy men, the holy man himself, who comes to the end of his struggles, is filled with a holy consolation, and with much satisfaction draws nigh to the path of the holy regeneration. The familiar friends of him who has fallen asleep, as befits their Divine familiarity and fellowship, pronounce him blessed, whoever he is, as approaching, in answer to his prayers, the end crowned with victory. They send up odes of thanksgiving to the Author of victory, praying also that they themselves may come to the same inheritance. Then they take him and bring him to the Hierarch, as to a bequest of holy crowns. He right gladly receives him, and celebrates the rites fixed by reverend men, to be celebrated over those who have piously fallen asleep.

---

[1] Soul first—body afterwards. [2] 1 John iii. 2. [3] 1 Cor. xv. 52. [4] 1 Cor. vi. 15. [5] Heb. iv. 11. [6] 2 Tim. iv. 6-8. [7] Plato, Phed. i. 54. [8] Phed. i. 62-3. [9] Col. iii. 3-4. [10] Phed. i. 64. [11] Matt. xxii. 28.

II.—Mysterion[3] over those who have religiously fallen asleep.

The Divine Hierarch collects the reverend Choir. If the person who has fallen asleep were of the sacerdotal rank, he places him low before the Holy Altar, and offers the prayer and thanksgiving to God. But if he belonged to the rank of the chaste Monks, he places him near the hallowed sanctuary, before the sacerdotal entrance. Then the Hierarch finishes the prayer of thanksgiving to God. Next, the Leitourgoi read the faithful promises concerning our resurrection, which are contained in the Divine Lections, and chant the odes of the same teaching and power, from the Lections contained in the Psalter.[4] Then the first Deacon dismisses the catechumens, and calls aloud the names of the holy people who have already fallen asleep, amongst whom he deems the man who has just terminated his life worthy of registration, as being of the same rank, and urges all to seek the blessed consummation in Christ. Then the Divine Hierarch advances, and offers a most holy prayer over him, and after the prayer he salutes the defunct, and after him all who are present. When all have saluted, the Hierarch pours the oil upon the defunct, and when he has offered the prayer for all, he places the body in a worthy grave, with other holy bodies of the same rank.

---

[1] Republic, lib. i., p. 9. Cousin, Paris, 1833.
[2] Ps. cxii. 10.
[3] Instructive Function.
[4] See Burial Office.

III.—Contemplation.

Now, if the profane should see or hear that these rites were celebrated by us, they will, I suppose, split with laughter, and compassionate us for our folly. But we need not wonder at this. For, as the Scripture saith, "If they will not believe, neither shall they understand."[1] Now, let us who have contemplated the spiritual meaning of the rites celebrated, say—Whilst Jesus leads us to the light, that not without reason does the Hierarch conduct to, and place the defunct in the place with those of the same rank. For it shows spiritually that, in the regeneration, all will be in that inheritance for which they have chosen their own life here. For example, if anyone here had a Godlike and most holy life (so far as the imitation of God is attainable by man), he will be throughout the age to come in a divine and blessed lot. But if he lead a life inferior to the divine likeness in its perfection, but, nevertheless, a holy life, even this man will receive the holy retributions of the same kind. The Hierarch, having given thanks for this Divine righteousness, offers a sacred prayer, and celebrates the worshipful Deity, as subjugating the unjust and tyrannical power against us all, but conducting us to our own most just judgments.

Now, the Chants and Readings of the Divine promises are explanatory of the most blessed inheritances into which those who have attained a Divine perfection shall be appointed. But the inheritances which await the defunct, stimulate those who are still living to a similar perfection. But observe, that not all classes of those who are under purification are dismissed, but only the catechumens are put out of the holy place, for this class is entirely uninstructed in every holy initiation, and is not permitted to view any of the religious celebrations, great or small, inasmuch as they have not received the faculty of contemplating the holy mysteries, through the Birth from God, which is Source and gift of light. But the other classes of those who are being purified have already been under instruction in sacred tradition; but, as they have foolishly returned to an evil course (it being necessary to complete their training to better things), they are reasonably dismissed from Divine visions and communions, even under symbols, for they would be injured, as partaking of them unholily, and would come to a greater contempt of the Divine Mysteries and themselves. But it is not unbecoming that they should be present at the ceremonies now celebrated, as they are clearly taught and see the uncertainty of death amongst us, and the glories of the saints chanted from the unfailing oracles, and that the sufferings reserved to the unholy like themselves will be without end. For it will perhaps be profitable for them to see him who has religiously finished his course reverently proclaimed by the public declaration of the Leitourgoi, as being numbered amongst the saints for ever.[1] And, perchance, they also will come to the like condition, and will learn, from the instruction of the Deacons, that the consummation in Christ is blessed indeed. Then the Hierarch, advancing, offers a sacred prayer over the defunct. After the prayer, both the Hierarch himself salutes him, and next, all who are present. As for the prayer, it beseeches the supremely Divine Goodness to remit to the defunct all the failings committed through human infirmity, and to place him in the light[2] and land of the living[3]; in the bosom of Abraham,[4] and Isaac, and Jacob; in a place where grief and sorrow and sighing are no more. It is evident, then, as I think, that these, the rewards of the holy, are most blessed. For what can be compared to an immortality, entirely without grief, and luminous with light. Especially, if all the promises which pass man's understanding, and which are signified to us by signs adapted to our capacity, fall short in their description of the actual truth. For we must remember that that saying is true, that "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man to conceive, the things God hath prepared for them that love[5] him." "Bosoms" of the blessed Patriarchs, and of the other holy men are in my judgment the most divine and blessed inheritance which awaits all godly men, in that consummation[6] which grows not old, and is full of blessedness.

---

[1] Wisdom iii. 9.

But you may, perhaps, say that these things are correctly affirmed by us, but you want to know for what reason the Hierarch beseeches the supremely Divine Goodness, asking remission of the faults committed by the defunct, and his admission into the brightest inheritance amongst godly men of the same rank. For, if everyone shall receive, by judgment of God, equivalents for what he has done in the present life, whether it be good or otherwise, and the defunct has finished his activity within this present life, how, from any prayer offered by the

---

[1] Luke i. 70. [2] Ps. lvi. 13. [3] Ps. cxvi. 9. [4] Luke xvi. 22.
[5] 1 Cor. ii. 9. [6] Matt. vi. 10.

Hierarch, will he be transferred to another lot, besides that suitable to him, as an equivalent for his life here. Now, well do I know, as following the Oracles, that each one will have the inheritance which is like for like, for the Lord, he says, hath concluded respecting him, and each one "shall receive the things done in his body according to that he hath done, whether it be good, or whether it be bad."[1] Yea, the sure tradition of the Oracles teaches us that the prayers, even of the just, avail only for those who are worthy of pious prayers during this present life, much less[2] after death. Did the prayers of Samuel procure anything for Saul?[3] or did the intercession of the Prophet[4] bring any advantage to the people of Israel? For it is as if, when the sun is shedding its own splendour upon eyes that are sound, anyone should seek to enjoy the meridian splendour, whilst obliterating his own powers of vision. Thus does he cling to impossible and extravagant expectations, who, whilst beseeching the prayers of holy men, diminishes the holy efforts essential to the same, and departs from the most luminous and beneficent commandments through heedlessness of the Divine gifts.

Nevertheless, I affirm, on the authority of the oracles, that the prayers of the just[5] are in every respect profitable in this life, after the following fashion. If anyone, longing for holy gifts and having a religious disposition for their reception, approaches some one of the pious men, as being conscious of his own insufficiency, and should prevail upon him to become his fellow-helper, and fellow-suppliant, he will be benefitted in every respect, in this way, with a benefit superior to all. For he will attain the most Divine gifts he prays for, since the supremely Divine Goodness assists him, as well as his pious self-knowledge, and his reverence for devout men, and his craving for the religious gifts requested, and his brotherly and Godlike disposition. For this has been firmly fixed by the supremely Divine decrees—that the Divine gifts are given in an order most befitting God to those who are meet to receive them, through those who are meet to distribute them.

If any one then should despise this sacred regulation, and betake himself to a wretched self-conceit, and should deem himself sufficient for the Divine Converse, and look down upon pious men, and if he should further request requests unworthy of God, and not holy, and if he should have a disposition which is not concordant with the Divine, and similar to himself, he will fail in his inexperienced request through his own fault. Now, with reference to the prayer mentioned, which the Hierarch prays over the defunct, we think it necessary to mention the tradition which has come to us from our inspired leaders. The Divine Hierarch, as the oracles say, is the interpreter of the supremely divine judgments. For he is messenger[1] of the Lord God Omnipotent. He has learned then, from the God-transmitted oracles, that to those who have passed their life in piety, the most bright and divine[2] life is recompensed according to their deserts, by the most just measures, whilst the Divine Love towards man overlooks, through its goodness, the blemishes which have come to them, through human infirmity (since no one, as the oracles say, is pure and without spot).

---

[1] 2 Cor. v. 10.
[2] μήτιγε μετα θάνατον.
[3] 1 Sam. xvi. 1.
[4] Jer. vii. 16.
[5] James v. 16.

Now, the Hierarch knew these things to have been promised by the sure oracles. He asks, then, that these things may come to pass, and that the righteous returns may be given to those who have lived piously. At the same time, as being moulded as an image of goodness to the Divine imitation, he beseeches gifts for others as favours to himself. But, at the same time, he knows that the promises will be surely fulfilled, and manifests clearly to those present that the things asked by him, according to Divine law, will be entirely realized, for those who have been perfected in a Divine life. For the Hierarch, the expounder of the supremely Divine Justice, would never seek things which are not most pleasing to the Most Supreme God, and which were not divinely promised to be given by Him. Wherefore, he does not offer these prayers over the unholy departed; not only because in this he would deviate from his office of interpreter, and would presumptuously arrogate, on his own authority, a function of the Hierarchy, without being moved by the Supreme Legislator, but, because also, he would fail to obtain his abominable request, and would, not unnaturally, hear respecting himself, from the Divine Oracle, "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss."[4] Therefore, the Divine Hierarch beseeches things divinely promised, and dear to God, and which will, in every respect, be given, and demonstrates his own likeness to the good loving God, and declares, as the interpreter of God, the gifts which will be received by the devout. Thus, the Hierarchs have discriminating powers, as interpreters of the Divine Judgments. Not, as though the All-Wise Deity, to put it mildly, were slavishly following their irrational impulses, but, as though they, as interpreters of God, were deciding by the motion of the supremely judging Spirit, those who have already been judged by God according to their deserts. For receive, he says, the Holy Spirit, "whose[5] sins ye may have remitted, they are remitted; whose ye may retain, they are retained." And to him who was illuminated with the Divine revelations of the most Holy Father, the Oracles say, "Whatsoever thou shalt have bound upon the earth shall be bound in the heavens; and whatsoever thou shalt have loosed on earth, shall be loosed in heaven," inasmuch as He, and every Hierarch who is like Him, receives those who are dear to God, according to the revelations of the Father's judgments resting upon him, as announcing and interpreting the Divine Will, and rejects those who are without God. Further, as the Oracles affirm, He uttered that sacred and divine saying, not as self-moved,[1] nor as though flesh and blood had revealed it, but as one who had been spiritually taught Divine things by God. The inspired Hierarchs then, must so exercise their determinations and all their Hierarchical powers as the Godhead, the Supreme Initiator, may move them. As for the rest, they must so cling to the Hierarchs in their sacerdotal functions as men moved by God. "For he that despises you," He says, "despiseth Me."[2] [1] Malachi ii. 7.

---

[2] 1 John v. 16.
[3] Job xiv. 4.
[4] James iv. 3.
[5] John xx. 22, 23.

Let us now proceed to that which follows the prayer mentioned. When the Hierarch has finished this, he first salutes the defunct, and next, all who are present. For dear and honoured, to all Godlike men, is he who has been perfected in a Divine life. After the salutation the Hierarch pours the oil upon the defunct. But remember, that in course of the Birth from God, before the most Divine Baptism, the oil of Chrism, as a first participation of the holy symbol, is given to the neophyte, after the entire removal of the former clothing. But now, at the conclusion of all that is done, the oil is poured upon the defunct. The first anointing with the oil summons the initiated to the holy contests; but the pouring of the oil now shows the defunct to have struggled through those same contests, and to have been made perfect.

When the Hierarch has finished these things he places the body in an honourable chamber, with other bodies of holy men of the same rank. For if, in soul and body, the man has passed a life dear to God, there will be honoured with the devout soul also the body which contended with it throughout the devout struggles. Hence, the Divine justice gives to it, together with its own body, the reciprocal inheritances, as companions and participators in the devout or the contrary life. Wherefore, the Divine institution of sacred things bequeaths the supremely Divine participations to them both—to the soul, indeed, in a pure contemplation and in an exact knowledge of the rites celebrated; to the body, by sanctifying the whole man, as in a figure, with the most Divine Myrrh, and the most holy symbols of the Divine Communion, effecting his complete salvation, and announcing that his resurrection will be most complete by entire sanctification. Now, as regards the consecrating invocations, it is not permitted to explain them in writing, nor may we bring their mysterious meaning, nor the powers working in them from God, from their secrecy to publicity. But, as our sacred tradition holds, by learning these, through quiet instructions, and by being perfected to a more Godlike condition and elevation, through Divine love and holy duties, you will be borne by the most perfect illumination to the most exalted knowledge of them.

---

[1] Matt. xvi. 17.
[2] Luke x. 16.

Now the fact that even children, not yet able to understand the Divine mysteries, should become recipients of the holy Birth from God, and of the most holy symbols of the supremely Divine Communion, seems, as you say, to the profane, a fit subject for reasonable laughter, upon the supposition that the Hierarchs teach Divine things to those not able to hear, and vainly transmit the sacred traditions to those who do not understand. And this is still more laughable—that others, on their behalf, repeat the abjurations and the sacred compacts. But your Hierarchical judgment must not be too hard upon those who are led astray, but you should persuasively, and for the purpose of leading them to the light, reply affectionately to the positions alleged by them. When you have brought forward this fact, in accordance with sacred rule, that not all Divine things are comprehended in our knowledge, but many of the things unknown by us have causes worthy of God, which, although unknown to us, are yet well known to the Orders above us. Many things also escape even the most exalted Beings, and are known distinctly by the All-Wise and Wisdom-Giving Deity. Further, also, concerning this, we affirm what our God-like instructors conveyed to us, what they had learned from the early[1] tradition. For they say, what is also a fact, that infants being brought up according to a Divine institution will attain a religious disposition exempt from all error, and inexperienced in an unholy life. When our Divine leaders came to this conclusion, it was determined to admit infants upon the following conditions, viz. :—that the parents of the child to be presented should transfer him to some one of the instructed, who is a faithful teacher of children in Divine things, so that the child should lead the rest of his life under his instruction, as under a godfather, and security for his religious safe-keeping. The Hierarch requires him who promised to bring up the child according to the religious life, to pronounce the renunciations and the religious confessions. Not, as they would jokingly say, as instructing one instead of another in Divine things. For he does not say this, "on behalf of this child, I make myself the renunciation and the sacred profession," but that the child renounces and consents itself; i.e., I promise to persuade the child, when he has come to a frame of mind capable of religious impressions, through my instructions in Divine things, to renounce entirely contrary things, and to promise and perform the Divine confessions. There is nothing absurd, then, in my judgment, if the child is brought up in a religious training, in his having a guide and religious surety, who implants in him a disposition for Divine things, and keeps him inexperienced in things contrary.

---

[1] ἀρχαίας. See Acts xv. 7, 21, 16 ; and Archbp. Trench. Yet even Dupin ignorantly alleged that word as proof Post-Apostolic. Nov. Bib., p. 106.

The Hierarch imparts to the child the sacred symbols in order that he may be nourished by them, and may not have any other life, besides that of always contemplating Divine things; and that, being made partaker of them, in a religious progress, he may have a religious disposition in these matters, and may be devoutly brought up by his Godlike surety. So great, my son, and so beautiful, are the uniform visions of our Hierarchy, which have been presented to my view. But from others, perhaps, of a more clear-sighted mind, these things have been viewed, not only more clearly, but also more divinely. And to you, as I fancy, more brilliant and divine beauties will shine forth, whilst you use the foregoing as stepping stones to a higher ray. Impart then, my friend, yourself also, to me, a more perfect illumination, and show to my eyes the more comely and uniform beauties that you may have been able to see, for I am confident that, by what has been said, I shall strike the sparks[1] of the Divine Fire which lie dormant in you.

THANKS BE TO GOD.

27th October, 1893. JOHN PARKER.

---

[1] Bacon, Advancement of Learning, p. 2.

Works by same Author.

CHRISTIANITY CHRONOLOGICALLY CONFIRMED. 6d.

WHY AM I A CHRISTIAN? 2d.

DIONYSIUS THE AREOPAGITE. A Sermon preached in Paris. 1/-.

MY CONVERSION TO RITUAL. 6d.

Appendix.

BISHOPS OF PARIS.	BISHOPS OF ARLES.
1. Dionysius.	1. Trophimus.
2. Mallo.	2. Regulus.
3. Massus.	3. Martianus.
4. Marcus.	4. Victor.
5. Adventus.	5. Maurianus.
6. Victorinus.	6. Martinus.
Gallia Christiana, Tom. vii., p. 4.	Tom. i., p. 520.

NOTE 2.—Thanksgiving before the consecration, translated from a Latin Version of the Liturgy of Dionysius the Areopagite.

"Sacerdos inclinatus." For truly the celebration of Thy benefits, O Lord, exceeds the powers of mind, expression, and thought; nor can any lip, or mind, or tongue worthily praise Thee. For by Thy word the heavens were made, and by the breath of Thy mouth all the supernal powers, all lights which are in the firmament—sun and moon, sea and dry land, and whatever is in them. Things without voice, by their silence—things articulate by their voice through speech and hymns perpetually praise Thee, because Thou art essentially good, and above praise, existing incomprehensibly in Thy essential nature. (Elevating his voice.) This sensible creation praises Thee, O Lord, as well as those intellectual Beings placed above our material sense. Heaven and earth glorify Thee. Sea and air proclaim Thee. The sun in its predestined course praises Thee. The moon in its regulated changes venerates Thee. The multitudes of Archangels and the hosts of Angels, and those Virtues, seated above the world and the power of our conceptions, send their benediction to Thy throne. The Splendours of exceeding and hidden light send forth their Sanctus to Thy glory. Principalities and Orders praise Thee with Jubilate Powers and lordships venerate Thee. Virtues, Thrones, and Seats inaccessible—bright images of eternal light—mirrors without flaw—holy beings and recipients of wisdom sublime—pre-eminently searchers after that will kept secret from all—these exalt Thee by clear movements of tones inimitable, and by voices worthy of rational creatures. Many-eyed Cherubin, most highly exalted, bless Thee. Seraphin, with their enfolded wings, and full of feathers, call Thee Holy—those same beings who cover their faces with their wings, and veil their feet with their wings, and flying around and clapping their wings one to another, in order that they may not be consumed by Thy devouring heat, sing sweet and pure chants in a universal harmony, offering eternal glory to Thee, crying in a hymn worthy of God, and saying (Populus) "Holy, Holy, Holy."

(Priest bending low.) Holy art Thou, God the Father, Omnipotent Maker and Creator of every creature, invisible and visible and sensible. Holy art Thou, Only-Begotten Son—Power and Wisdom of the Father, Lord and our Saviour Jesus Christ. Holy art Thou, God the Holy Spirit, Perfecter and Sanctifier of Saints. Holy and Indivisible Trinity, co-essential and of equal glory, Whose compassion to our race is abundantly poured forth, Thou art Holy and sanctifying all: Who hast not left this our race in exile from Paradise, when it had become entangled in every kind of sin, but hast been manifested to it by the Word, which endured extremest poverty before the world. That Nature the Word took, made in all things like unto it sin excepted, that He might make it prepared unto holiness, and disposed to this life-giving feast. (Raising his voice.) Who conceived, formed, and moulded by the Holy Spirit, both from the Virgin blood of the Virgin Mary, Holy Mother of God, and from the pure and most holy body of the same, was born indeed Man, as Author of life, and receiving the Godhead in the flesh (whilst the law and properties of Nature were preserved, but in a manner above Nature), was acknowledged as God in Spirit and Man in flesh. And in so[1] far as the Word was before the worlds began, from Thee, in a manner worthy of God, He was born, and by signs and miracles such as became the Maker of All, was proved to be such, since He has abundantly provided complete healing and perfect salvation for the whole human race. But at the end and completion of His own dispensation, for our sake, and previous to His own saving Cross, He took Bread into His own pure holy hands, and looked up to Thee, God the Father, giving thanks, He blessed, sanctified, and brake, and gave to His own disciples, the holy Apostles, saying, "Take and eat from this, and believe[2] that the same is My Body, which for you and for many is broken and given for expiation of faults, remission of sins, and eternal life."

N.B.—I give this as example from a Liturgy full of interest, and preserved in the East, as that of Dionysius, Bishop of Athens, Disciple of St. Paul.

THE END.

---

[1] In quantum erat Verbum ante Sæcula.

[2] Credite quod corpus meum est illud ipsum quod pro vobis. This is not found in Greek or Almandrine Liturgies, but only Syriac. Migne.

This book is a preservation photocopy.
It is made in compliance with copyright law
and produced on acid-free archival 60# book weight paper which meets the requirements of ANSI/NISO Z39.48-1992 (permanence of paper)

Preservation photocopying and binding
by Acme Bookbinding
Charlestown, Massachusetts
2000

3 2044 054 10

The borrower must return this item on or before the last date stamped below. If another user places a recall for this item, the borrower will be notified of the need for an earlier return.

Non-receipt of overdue notices does not exempt the borrower from overdue fines.

Andover-Harvard Theological Library
Cambridge, MA 02138 617-495-5788

SEP 1 0 2002
NOV 2 2 2003

Please handle with care.
Thank you for helping to preserve
library collections at Harvard.

THE CAVE OF TREASURES

TRANSLATION

(Brit. Mus. MS. Add. 25875.)

[THE TITLE OF THE WORK: THE SCRIBE'S PRAYER.]

[Fol. 3*b*, col. 1.] By the might of our Lord Jesus Christ we begin to write the "Book of the Succession of the Generations," that is to say, ME`ÂRATH GAZZÊ, which was composed by SAINT MÂR APHRÊM (i.e. Ephraim, commonly known as "Ephraim Syrus," or "Ephraim the Syrian," who died A.D. 373). O our Lord, help Thou me in Thy Mercy. Amen.

This PDF was copied from www.sacred-texts.com

[THE FIRST THOUSAND YEARS: ADAM TO YARÊD (Jared).]

[The Creation. First Day.]

In the beginning, on the First Day, which was the holy First Day of the Week, the chief and firstborn of all the days, God created the heavens, p. 44 and the earth, and the waters, and the air, and the fire, and the hosts which are invisible (that is to say, the Angels, Archangels, Thrones, Lords, Principalities, Powers, Cherubim and Seraphim), and all the ranks and companies of Spiritual beings, and the Light, and the Night, and the Day-time, and the gentle winds and the strong winds (i.e. storms). All these were created on the First Day. And on the First Day of the Week the Spirit of holiness, one of the Persons of the Trinity, hovered over the waters, and through the hovering thereof over the [Fol. 3*b*, col. 2] face of the waters, the waters were blessed so that they might become producers of offspring, and they became hot, and the whole nature of the waters glowed with heat, and the leaven of creation was united to them. As the mother-bird maketh warm her young by the embrace of her closely covering wings, and the young birds acquire form through the warmth of the heat which [they derive] from her, so through the operation of the Spirit of holiness, the Spirit, the Paraclete, the leaven of the breath of life was united to the waters when He hovered over them.

[NOTES.--According to Solomon, a Nestorian bishop of Perâth Mayshân, or Al-Basrah, a city on the right bank of the Shatt al-`Arab, about p. 45 A.D. 1222, the creation of the heavens and the earth has been planned from everlasting in the immutable mind of God. He created SEVENsubstances (or natures) in silence, without voice, viz. heaven, earth, water, air, fire, the angels, and darkness. The earth was plunged in the midst of the waters, above the waters was air, and above the air was fire. Water is cold and moist, air is hot and moist, fire is hot and dry, but it had no luminosity until the Fourth Day, when the luminaries were created. The angels are divided into nine classes and three orders. The upper order contains Cherubim, Seraphim, and Thrones, and these are bearers of God's throne. The middle order contains Lords, Powers, and Rulers. The lower order contains Principalities, Archangels, and Angels. (Compare the "thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers" of Col. i. 16.) The Cherubim are an intellectual motion, the Seraphim are a fiery motion, the Thrones are a fixed motion, the Lords are a motion which governs the motions beneath it and controls the devils, the Powers are a motion which gives effect to God's will, the Rulers are a motion which rules spiritual measures and the sun, moon and stars, the Principalities are a motion which rules the elements, the Archangels are a swift operative motion which governs every living creature, p. 46 except man, and the Angels are a motion which has spiritual knowledge of everything which is in heaven or on the earth. The guardian angel of every man belongs to this last class. The number of each class of angels is equal to the number of all mankind from Adam to the Resurrection. The heaven in which the angels live is above the waters, which are above the firmament, and they minister to their God there, being invisible to bodily eyes. The angels are not self-existent beings--they were created; on the other hand, darkness is a self-existent nature (or substance). Solomon of Al-Basrah does not accept the view that the spirit which hovered over the waters was the Holy Spirit. (See Book of the Bee, ed. Budge, chapters i-vii.)]

[The Creation. Second Day.]

And on the Second Day God made the Lower Heaven, and called it REKÎ`A [that is to say, "what is sold and fixed," or "firmament"]. This He did that He might make known that the Lower Heaven doth not possess the nature of the heaven which is above it, and that it is different in appearance from that heaven which is above it, for the heaven above it is of fire. And that second heaven is NÛHRÂ (i.e. Light), and this lower heaven is DARPÎTÎÔN [Fol. 4*a*, col. 1], and because it hath the dense nature of water p. 47 it hath been called "Rekî`a." And on the Second Day God made a separation between the waters and the waters, that is to say, between the waters which were above [Rekî`a] and the waters which were below. And the ascent of these waters which were above heaven took place on the Second Day, and they were like unto a dense black cloud of thick darkness. Thus were they raised up there, and they mounted up, and behold, they stand above the Re̱ḵî`a in the air; and they do not spread, and they make no motion to any side.

[NOTES.--According to the "Book of the Bee," the creation of the firmament enabled God to allot a dwelling place to the angels, where also the souls of the righteous could be received after the General Resurrection. The great abyss of water which God created on the First Day was divided by Him into three parts; one part He left on the earth for the use of man and beast, and to form rivers and seas; of the second part He made the firmament, and the third part the place above the firmament. After the Resurrection all these parts will return to their original state. The word Darpîṯîôn is a difficulty, and I cannot explain it. The variant forms Dûrîḵôn and Dertêḵôn appear in Ethiopic books, wherein it is said to be a name of the sixth heaven.]

p. 48

[The Creation. Third Day.]

And on the Third Day God commanded the waters that were below the firmament (Re̱ḵî`a) to be gathered together in one place, and the dry land to appear. And when the covering of water had been rolled up from the face of the earth, the earth showed itself to be in an unsettled and unstable state, that is to say, it was of a damp (or moist) and yielding nature. And the waters were gathered together into seas that were under the earth and within it [Fol. 4*a*, col. 2], and upon it. And God made in the earth from below, corridors, and shafts, and channels for the passage of the waters; and the winds which come from within the earth ascend by means of these corridors and channels, and also the heat and the cold for the service of the earth. Now, as for the earth, the lower part of it is like unto a thick sponge, for it resteth on the waters. And on this Third Day God commanded the earth, and it brought forth herbs and vegetables, and it conceived in its interior trees, and seeds, and plants and roots.

[NOTE.--On this day the waters gathered together in the depths of the earth, sand was set as a limit for the waters of the seas, and the mountains and hills appeared. The sages say that Paradise was created on this day, but the p. 49 Rabbis held the view that it existed before the world. Solomon of Bas̱rah says that the earth produced herbs and trees by its own power, and that the luminaries had nothing to do with vegetable growth. Book of the Bee (chapter ix.)]

[The Creation. Fourth Day.]

And on the Fourth Day God made the sun, and the moon, and the stars. And as soon as the heat of the sun was diffused over the surface of the earth, the earth became hard and rigid, and lost its flaccidity, because the humidity and the dampness [caused by] the waters were taken away from it. The Creator made the sphere of the sun of fire and filled it with light. And God gave unto the sphere of the moon and the stars bodies of water and air, and filled them with light. And when the dust of the earth became hot, it brought forth all the trees [Fol. 4*b*, col. 1], and plants, and seeds, and roots which had been conceived inside it on the Third Day.

[NOTES.--The cases of the sun, moon, and stars were made of aerial material, after the manner of lamps, and God filled them with a mixture of fire, which had no light in it, and with light which had no heat in it. The path of the luminaries is beneath the firmament; they are not fixed, as the ignorant think, but are guided p. 50 in their courses by the angels. The Ethiopians have a tradition that when the sun was first made its light was twelve times as strong as it is to-day. The angels complained that the heat was too strong, and that it hampered them in the performance of their duties, whereupon God divided it into twelve parts, and took away six of these parts, and out of three of them He made the moon and stars, and the other three He distributed among the waters, the clouds, and the lightning.]

[The Creation. Fifth Day.]

And on the Fifth Day God commanded the waters, and they brought forth all kind of fish of divers appearances, and creatures which move about, and twist themselves and wriggle in the waters, and serpents, and Leviathan, and beasts of terrible aspects, and feathered fowl of the air and of the waters. And on this same day God made from the earth all the cattle and wild beasts, and all the reptiles which creep about upon the earth.

[NOTES.--According to the Book of the Bee (chapter xii), beasts and animals were created on Friday evening, and they can therefore see at night as well as in the daytime. In the Book of Mysteries of Heaven and Earth, "whales" and the Behemôth are mentioned with Leviathan.]

[The Creation. Sixth Day.]

And on the Sixth Day, which is the Eve of the Sabbath, God formed man out of the dust, and Eve from his rib.

And on the Seventh Day God rested from His labours, and it is called "Sabbath."

[The Creation of Adam.]

Now the formation of Adam took place in this wise: On the Sixth Day, which is the Eve of the Sabbath, at the first hour of the day, when quietness was reigning over [Fol. 4*b*, col. 2] all the Ranks [of the Angels], and the hosts [of heaven], God said, "Come ye, let Us make man in Our image, and according to Our likeness." Now by this word "Us" He maketh known concerning the Glorious Persons [of the Trinity]. And when the angels heard this utterance, they fell into a state of fear and trembling, and they said to one another, "A mighty miracle will be made manifest to us this day [that is to say], the likeness of God, our Maker." And they saw the right hand of God opened out flat, and stretched out over the whole world; and all creatures were collected in the palm of His right hand. And they saw that He took from the whole mass of the earth one grain of dust, and from the whole nature of water one drop of water, and from all the air which is above one puff of wind, and from the whole nature of fire a little of its heat and warmth. And the angels saw that when these four feeble (or inert) materials were placed in the palm of His right hand [Fol. 5*a*, col. 1], that is to say, cold, and heat, and dryness, and moisture, God formed Adam. Now, for what reason did God make Adam out of these four materials unless it were [to show] that everything which is in the world should be in subordination to him through them? He took a grain from the earth in order that everything in nature which is formed of earth should be subject unto him; and a drop of water in order that everything which is in the seas and rivers should be his; and a puff of air so that all kinds [of creatures] which fly in the air might be given unto him; and the heat of fire so that all the beings that are fiery in nature, and the celestial hosts, might be his helpers.

God formed Adam with His holy hands, in His own Image and Likeness, and when the angels saw Adam's glorious appearance they were greatly moved by the beauty thereof. For they saw [Fol. 5*a*, col. 2] the image of his face burning with glorious splendour like the orb of the sun, and the light of his eyes was like the light of the sun, and the image of his body was like unto the sparkling of crystal. And p. 53 when he rose at full length and stood upright in the centre of the earth, he planted his two feet on that spot whereon was set up the Cross of our Redeemer; for Adam was created in Jerusalem. There he was arrayed in the apparel of sovereignty, and there was the crown of glory set upon his head, there was he made king, and priest, and prophet, there did God make him to sit upon his honourable throne, and there did God give him dominion over all creatures and things. And all the wild beasts, and all the cattle, and the feathered fowl were gathered together, and they passed before Adam and he assigned names to them; and they bowed their heads before him; and eveything in nature worshipped him [Fol. 5*b*, col. 1], and submitted themselves unto him. And the angels and the hosts of heaven heard the Voice of God saying unto him, "Adam, behold; I have made thee king, and priest, and prophet, and lord, and head, and governor of everything which hath been made and created; and they shall be in subjection unto thee, and they shall be thine, and I have given unto thee power over everything which I have created." And when the angels heard this speech they all bowed the knee and worshipped Him.

[NOTES.--The Jews consider that the words, "Come, let Us make man," refer to God and the p. 54 angels, but the Fathers of the Syrian Church understand that God refers to the Three Persons of the Trinity. Some Fathers believe that Adam was formed on the morning of the Sixth Day, outside Paradise, but others think that the formation of Adam took place in the evening in Paradise. According to some, Paradise was created before the world, and, according to others, on the Third Day. Bar Hebraeus says that Adam was created on Friday of the first week of Nîsân (April), the first month of the first year of the world. The Egyptian and Ethiopian Churches have a tradition that the angels were not all created at the same time. The great archangel Michael, who is called the "Angel of the Face," and all his Rank of angels were created in the first hour of Friday, the Priests in the second, the Thrones in the third, the Dominions (or Sulṯâns) in the fourth, the Lords in the fifth, the Powers in the sixth, the Tens of Thousands in the seventh, the Governors in the eighth, the Masters in the ninth. After the Governors the Rank of angels governed by Satan were created, and then the Tenth Rank.

According to a Coptic tradition preserved in the Discourse on Abbatôn, the Angel of Death, by Timothy, Archbishop of Rakoti (Alexandria), the clay of which Adam was made was brought by the angel Mûrîêl from the Land of the East. p. 55 When God had made his body He left it lying for forty days and forty nights without putting breath into it. At the request of our Lord, Who promised to become Adam's advocate and to go down into the world, God breathed into Adam's nostrils the breath of life three times, saying, "Live! Live! Live! according to the type of My Divinity." Thereupon Adam rose up, and worshipped the Father, saying, "My Lord and my God."
(Budge, Coptic Martyrdoms, page 482.)]

[THE REVOLT OF SATAN, AND THE BATTLE IN HEAVEN.]

And when the prince of the lower order of angels saw what great majesty had been given unto Adam, he was jealous of him from that day, and he did not wish to worship him. And he said unto his hosts, "Ye shall not worship him, and ye shall not praise him with the angels. It is meet that ye should worship me, because I am fire and spirit; and not that I should worship a thing of dust, which hath been fashioned of fine dust." And the Rebel meditating these things [Fol. 5*b*, col. 2] would not render obedience to God, and of his own free will he asserted his independence and separated himself from God. But he was swept away out of heaven and fell, and the fall of himself and of all his company from heaven took place on the p. 56 Sixth Day, at the second hour of the day. And the apparel of their glorious state was stripped off them. And his name was called "Sâṯânâ" because he turned aside [from the right way], and "Shêdâ" because he was cast out, and "Daiwâ" because he lost the apparel of his glory. And behold, from that time until the present day, he and all his hosts have been stripped of their apparel, and they go naked and have horrible faces. And when Sâṯânâ was cast out from heaven, Adam was raised up so that he might ascend to Paradise in a chariot of fire. And the angels went before him, singing praises, and the Seraphim ascribed holiness unto him, and the Cherubim ascribed blessing; and amid cries of joy and praises Adam went into [Fol. 6*a*, col. 1] Paradise. And as soon as Adam entered Paradise he was commanded not to eat of a [certain] tree; his entrance into heaven took place at the third hour of the Eve of the Sabbath (i.e. on Friday morning).

[NOTES.--The Fathers of the Egyptian and Ethiopian Churches treat the story of the Fall of Satan in great detail. According to them, Satan, or Sat̲nâêl, was greatly astonished at the beauty and splendour of the sun and moon, and on the Fourth Day of the week he declared to himself that he would set his throne above the stars, p. 57 and make himself equal to God. One week after the creation of Adam, Satan declared war on the hosts of Almighty God. These were commanded by Michael and consisted of 120,000 horsemen, 600,000 shield bearers, 700,000 mail-clad horsemen in chariots of fire, 700,000 torch bearers, 800,000 angels with daggers of fire, 1,000,000 slingers, 500,000 bearers of axes of fire, 300,000 bearers of fiery crosses, and 400,000 bearers of lamps. The angels uttered their battle cries and began to fight, but Satan charged them and dispersed them; they reformed, but again Satan charged them and put them to flight. Then God gave the angels the Cross of Light, which bore the legend, "In the Name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost." And when they attacked the hosts of darkness under this Cross, Satan became faint, and he and his forces withdrew, and Michael hurled them down into hell. The Abyssinian legend says that Satan was 1,700 cubits high, and his hand 70 cubits long, and his foot 7,000 cubits long; his mouth was 40 cubits in width, his face was as broad as the distance of a day's journey, and the length of his eyebrows was a distance of three days' journey. [From the Book of the Mysteries of Heaven and Earth.] The prototype of the great fight in heaven between the powers of light and darkness is found in p. 58 ancient Egyptian religious texts, in more than one form. In the oldest form Set, , the Devil, rebels against H̲er-ur, , the god of heaven, whose chief symbols are the sun and moon, and is utterly defeated. In the next form Set attacks the Sun-god R¯a, , and is destroyed by him; the great ally of Set, called ¯Apep (Apôphis), , and all his fiends and devils (the Sebau), , are defeated and burnt up daily. In another form Set makes war on Horus, the son of Osiris, and on Osiris himself, and is defeated utterly. The Coptic version of the legend was borrowed from the old hieroglyphic texts, and then Christianized. Compare the following:--

When Satan saw Adam seated on a great throne, with a crown of glory on his head and a sceptre in his hand, and all the angels worshipping him, he was filled with anger. And when God said to him, "Come thou also, for thou shalt worship My image and likeness," Satan refused to do so, and, assuming an arrogant and insolent manner, he said, "It is meet that he should worship me, for I existed before he came into being." When the Father saw his overbearing attitude, He knew that Satan's wickedness p. 59 and rebellion had reached their highest pitch. He ordered the celestial soldiers to take from him the written authority that was in his hand, to strip off his armour, and to hurl him down from heaven to earth. Satan was the greatest of the angels, and God had made him the Commander-in-Chief of the celestial hosts, and in the document which Satan held in his hand were written the names of all the angels under his command. Knowing their names, his authority over them was absolute. When God saw that the angels hesitated to take the document from him, He commanded them to bring a sharp reaping-knife, and to stab him on this side and that, right through his body to the backbone and shoulder blades; and Satan could no longer stand upright. And a Cherub smote him, and broke his wings and his ribs, and having rendered him helpless he cast Satan down from Heaven upon the earth. Then he became the Arch-Devil and the leader of those who were cast out of heaven with him, and who henceforth were devils. (From Budge, Coptic Martyrdoms, page 484.)]

[THE MAKING OF EVE.]

And God cast a sleep upon Adam and he slept. And God took a rib from the loins on the right side of Adam, and He made Khâwâ (i.e. Eve) from it; and when Adam woke up, and saw Eve, p. 60 he rejoiced in her greatly. And Adam and Eve were in Paradise, and clothed with glory and shining with praise for three hours. Now this Paradise was situated on a high range of hills, and it was thirty spans--according to the measurement of the spirit--higher than all the high mountains, and it surrounded the whole earth.

[NOTES.--God did not make Eve of earth, that she might not be considered something alien to Adam in nature; and He did not take her from Adam's fore-parts, that she might not uplift herself against him; nor from his hind-parts, that she might not be accounted despicable; nor from his right side, that she might not have pre-eminence over him; nor from his head, that she might not seek authority over him; nor from his feet, that she might not be trodden down and scorned in the eyes of her husband; but [He took her] from his left side, for the side is the place which unites and joins both front and back (Book of the Bee, chapter xiv, and Bar Hebraeus, Aus̱ar Râzê). Further, God did not form Eve from Adam's head, that she might not carry her head proudly; nor from his eye, that she might not be curious; nor from his ear, that she might not be an eavesdropper; nor from his mouth, that she might not be gossiping; p. 61 nor from his heart, that she might not be quarrelsome; nor from his hand, that she might not touch everything with her hand; nor from his feet, that she might not rove about (Berêshîth Rabbah on Gen. ii. 23).]

Now Moses the prophet said that God planted Paradise in Eden and placed Adam there (Gen. ii. 8).

[NOTES.--Paradise was situated on Mount Eden, beyond the Ocean, and it was filled with fruit-bearing trees. The great river which sprung up in it was parted into four heads, viz. PISHÔN, which flowed through Havilâ, where there were beryls, and gold, and stones of price; GÎHÔN, or the Nile of Egypt; DEKLATH (the Tigris), which flows through Assyria; and PERATH (the Euphrates). The keepers of Paradise were Enoch and Elijah, and in it dwelt the souls of the righteous. The souls of sinners dwelt in a deep place, outside Eden. The tree of good and evil that was in Paradise did not possess these properties naturally, but only through the deed which was wrought by its means. Adam and Eve did not become naked and die the death of sin because they desired and ate of the fruit of the fig-tree, but because they transgressed the law. The tree of which they ate may have been the fig-tree, or the date-palm, or the vine or the p. 62 ethrôg (citron). Mount Eden is probably the original of Jabal Kâf of the Arabs, a mountain range which surrounds the whole world.]

[THE SYMBOLISM OF EDEN.]

Now Eden is the Holy Church, and the Church [Fol. 6*a*, col. 2] is the compassion of God, which He was about to extend to the children of men. For God, according to His foreknowledge, knew what Satan had devised against Adam, and therefore He set Adam beforehand in the bosom of His compassion, even as the blessed David singeth concerning Him in the Psalm (xc), saying, "Lord, Thou hast been an abiding place for us throughout all generations," that is to say, "Thou hast made us to have our abiding place in Thy compassion." And, when entreating God on behalf of the redemption of the children of men, David said, "Remember Thy Church, which Thou didst acquire in olden time " (Ps. lxxiv. 2), that is to say, "[Remember] Thy compassion, which Thou art about to spread over our feeble race." Eden is the Holy Church, and the Paradise which was in it is the land of rest, and the inheritance of life, which God hath prepared for all the holy children of men. And because [Fol. 6*b*, col. 1] Adam was priest, and king, and prophet, God brought him into Paradise that he might minister in Eden, the p. 63 Holy Church, even as the blessed man Moses testifieth concerning him, saying, "That he might serve God by means of priestly ministration with praise, and that he might keep that commandment which had been entrusted to him by the compassion of God" (Gen. ii. 15, 16 ?). And God made Adam and Eve to dwell in Paradise. True is this word, and it proclaimeth the truth: That Tree of Life which was in the midst of Paradise prefigured the Redeeming Cross, which is the veritable Tree of Life, and this it was that was fixed in the middle of the earth.

[SATAN'S ATTACK ON ADAM AND EVE.]

And when Satan saw that Adam and Eve were happy and joyful in Paradise, that Rebel was smitten sorely with jealousy, and he became filled with wrath. And he went and took up his abode in the serpent, and he raised him up, and made him to fly through the air to the skirts of Mount [Eden] whereon was Paradise [Fol. 6*b*, col. 2]. Now, why did Satan enter the body of the serpent and hide himself therein? Because he knew that his appearance was foul, and that if Eve saw his form, she would betake herself to flight straightway before him. Now, the man who wished to teach the Greek language to a bird--now the bird that can learn the speech of men p. 64 is called "babbaghah" (i.e. parrot)--first bringeth a large mirror and placeth between himself and the bird. He then beginneth to talk to the bird, and immediately the parrot heareth the voice of the man, it turneth round, and when it seeth its own form [reflected] in the mirror, it becometh pleased straightway, because it imagineth that a fellow parrot is talking to it. Then it inclineth its ear with pleasure, and listeneth to the words of the man who is talking to it, and it becometh eager to learn, and to speak Greek. In this manner (i.e. with the object of making Eve believe that it was the serpent that spoke to her) did Satan enter in and dwell in the serpent, and he watched for the opportunity, and [when] he saw Eve by herself [Fol. 7*a*, col. 1], he called her by her name. And when she turned round towards him, she saw her own form [reflected] in him, and she talked to him; and Satan led her astray with his lying words, because the nature of woman is soft (or, yielding).

And when Eve had heard from him concerning that tree, straightway she ran quickly to it, and she plucked the fruit of disobedience from the tree of transgression of the command, and she ate. Then immediately she found herself stripped naked, and she saw the hatefulness of her shame, and she ran away p. 65 naked, and hid herself in another tree, and covered her nakedness with the leaves thereof. And she cried out to Adam, and he came to her, and she handed to him some of the fruit of which she had eaten, and he also did eat thereof. And when he had eaten he also became naked, and he and Eve made girdles for their loins of the leaves of the fig-trees; and they were arrayed in these girdles of ignominy for three [Fol. 7*a*, col. 2] hours. At mid-day they received [their] sentence of doom. And God made for them tunics of skin which was stripped from the trees, that is to say, of the bark of the trees, because the trees that were in Paradise had soft barks, and they were softer than the byssus and silk wherefrom the garments worn by kings are made. And God dressed them in this soft skin, which was thus spread over a body of infirmities.

[NOTES.--The Fathers of the Ethiopian Church emphasize the difficulty which Satan found in entering Paradise. He knew that he could not carry out his plan for ruining Adam if he entered Paradise in his own form, and he decided that he must assume the form of some bird or animal or reptile if he was to succeed. He applied to the white bird Arzel, and the green bird Besel, and a red bird, but each refused to take him to the place where Eve was. Then he applied to p. 66 the elephant, and the lion, and the leopard, and the hyena, and the wild boar; the first four refused point blank to do what Satan wished, and the wild boar attempted to gore him with his tusks. On this Satan took to flight. He then went to the animal Sereg, which was commonly known as the "digger of graves," but this animal refused to help him, and then Satan approached the animal called "Taman," "the front part of which was like a camel's foal." This creature agreed to help him, and, mounted on his back, Satan entered Paradise and stood before Eve. The serpent became spokesman for him, and Eve hearkened to him and ate of the fruit. According to the "Book of the Mysteries of Heaven and Earth," the tree was called "Sezen," and each fruit cluster contained, 150,000 grains, or berries. It is described as a large and handsome tree, and it has been identified with the "Sendâlê," or sandal-wood tree. According to the same authorities, the Tree of Life was the prototype of the Cross on which our Lord was crucified.]

[Adam's stay in Paradise.]

At the third hour of the day Adam and Eve ascended into Paradise, and for three hours they enjoyed the good things thereof; for three hours they were in shame and disgrace, and at the p. 67 ninth hour their expulsion from Paradise took place. And as they were going forth sorrowfully, God spake unto Adam, and heartened him, and said unto him, "Be not sorrowful, O Adam, for I will restore unto thee thine inheritance. Behold, see how greatly I have loved thee, for though I have cursed the earth for thy sake, yet have I withdrawn thee from the operation of the curse. As for the serpent [Fol. 7*b*, col. 1], I have fettered his legs in his belly, and I have given him the dust of the earth for food; and Eve have I bound under the yoke of servitude.

Inasmuch as thou hast transgressed my commandments get thee forth, but be not sad. After the fulfilment of the times which I have allotted that you shall be in exile outside [Paradise], in the land which is under the curse, behold, I will send my Son. And He shall go down [from heaven] for thy redemption, and He shall sojourn in a Virgin, and shall put on a body [of flesh], and through Him redemption and a return shall be effected for thee. But command thy sons, and order them to embalm thy body after thy death with myrrh, cassia, and stakte. And they shall place thee in this cave, wherein I am making you to dwell this day, until the time when your expulsion shall take place from the regions of Paradise to that earth which is outside it. And whosoever shall be left in those days shall take p. 68 thy body with him, and [Fol. 7*b*, col. 2] shall deposit it on the spot which I shall show him, in the centre of the earth; for in that place shall redemption be effected for thee and for all thy children." And God revealed unto Adam everything which the Son would suffer on behalf of him.

[Adam's expulsion from Paradise.]

And when Adam and Eve had gone forth from Paradise, the door of Paradise was shut, and a cherub bearing a two-edged sword stood by it. [According to the Book of the Bee, the cherub, or, as some think, a "terrible form endowed with a body," was armed with a spear and sword, each being made of fire.]

And Adam and Eve went down in . . . . of spirit over the mountains of Paradise, and they found a cave in the top of the mountain, and they entered and hid themselves therein.

[NOTES.--When Adam and Eve left Paradise they no longer had fruit and wine and bread and flesh to live upon, and they subsisted on cooked grain and vegetables and the herbs of the earth, of which they ate sparingly. Moreover, the four-footed beasts and fowl and reptiles rebelled against them, and some of them became enemies and adversaries unto them. Book of the Bee (chapter xvii.)]

p. 69

Now Adam and Eve were virgins, and Adam wished to know Eve his wife. And Adam took from the skirts of the mountain of Paradise, gold, and myrrh, and frankincense, and he placed them in the cave, and he blessed the cave, and consecrated it that it might be the house of prayer for himself and his sons. And he called the cave "ME`ÂRATH GAZZÊ" (i.e. "CAVE OF TREASURES") [Fol. 8*a*, col. 1].

So Adam and Eve went down from that holy mountain [of Eden] to the slopes which were below it, and there Adam knew Eve his wife. [A marginal note in the manuscript says that Adam knew Eve thirty years after they went forth from Paradise.] And Eve conceived and brought forth Cain and Lebhûdhâ, his sister, with him; and Eve conceived again and she brought forth Hâbhîl (Abel) and Kelîmath, his sister, with him. [The Book of the Bee makes Kelîmath the twin sister of Cain, and Lebhûdhâ the twin sister of Abel.] And when the children grew up, Adam said unto Eve, "Let Cain take to wife Kelîmath, who was brought forth with Abel, and let Abel take to wife Lebhûdhâ, who was brought forth with Cain." And Cain said unto Eve his mother, "I will take to wife my twin sister Lebhûdhâ, and let Abel take to wife his twin sisterKelîmath"; now Lebhûdhâ was beautiful. When Adam heard these words, which were p. 70 exceedingly displeasing unto him, he said, "It will be a transgression of the commandment for thee to take [to wife] thy sister, who was born with thee. Nevertheless, take ye to yourselves fruits of trees, and the young of sheep, and get ye up to the top [Fol. 8*a*, col. 2] of this holy mountain. Then go ye into the Cave of Treasures, and offer ye up your offerings, and make your prayers, and then ye shall consort with your wives." And it came to pass that when Adam, the first priest, and Cain and Abel, his sons, were going up to the top of the mountain, Satan entered into Cain [and persuaded him] to kill Abel, his brother, because of Lebhûdhâ; and because his offering was rejected and was not accepted before God, whilst the offering of Abel was accepted, Cain's jealousy of his brother Abel was increased. And when they came down to the plain, Cain rose up against his brother Abel, and he killed him with a blow from a stone of flint. Then straightway Cain received the doom of death, instead of curses, and he became a fugitive and a wanderer all the days of his life. And God drove him forth into exile in a certain part of the forest of Nôdh, and Cain took to wife his twin sister and made the place of his abode there.

[NOTES.--Adam carried Abel to the Cave of Treasures and buried him therein, and he set by p. 71 the side of the body a lamp which burned day and night. Abel was fifteen and a half years old when Cain, who was seventeen and a half years old, murdered him. Adam and Eve mourned for Abel, in great grief, for one hundred and forty days. Book of Adam and Eve (II, 1.)]

[The Birth of Seth.]

And Adam and Eve mourned for Abel [Fol. 8*b*, col. 1] one hundred years (sic). And then Adam knew his wife again, and she brought forth Seth, the Beautiful, a man mighty and perfect like unto Adam, and he became the father of the mighty men who lived before the Flood.

[NOTES.--Seth was born in the 130th year of Adam's life (Gen. v. 3), but the Book of the Bee says it was the 230th year. Adam and Seth and his sons dwelt on the top of Mount Eden, while Cain and his children lived on the plain below.]

[The Posterity of Seth.]

And to Seth was born Ânôsh (Enos), and Ânôsh begot Kainân (Cainan), and Kainân begot Mahlâlâîl (Mahalaleel); these [are] the Patriarchs who were born in the days of Adam.

[The Death of Adam.]

And when Adam had lived nine hundred and thirty years, that is to say, until the one hundred p. 72 and thirty-fifth year of Mahlâlâîl, the day of his death drew nigh and came. And Seth, his son, and Ânôsh, and Kainân, and Mahlâlâîl gathered themselves together and came to him. And they were blessed by him, and he prayed over them. And he commanded his son Seth, and said unto him, "Observe, my son Seth, that which I command thee this day, and do thou on the day of thy death give my command to Ânôsh, and repeat it to him, and let him repeat it to Kainân, and Kainân shall repeat it to Mahlâlâîl [Fol. 8*b*, col. 2], and let this [my] command be handed on to all your generations. And when I die, embalm me with myrrh, and cassia, and stakte, and deposit my body in the Cave of Treasures. And whosoever shall be left of your generations in that day, when your going forth from this country, which is round about Paradise, shall take place, shall carry my body with him, and shall take it and deposit it in the centre of the earth, for in that place shall redemption be effected for me and for all my children. And be thou, O my son Seth, governor of the sons of thy people. And thou shalt rule them purely and holily in an the fear of God. And keep ye your offspring separate from the offspring of Cain, the murderer."

And when the report "Adam is dying" was known generally, all his offspring gathered p. 73 together, and came to him, that is to say, Seth, his son, and Ânôsh, and Kainân and Mahlâlâîl, they and their wives [Fol. 9*a*, col. 1], and their sons, and their daughters; and Adam blessed them. And the departure of Adam from this world took place in the nine hundred and thirtieth year--according to the reckoning from the beginning--on the fourteenth day of the moon, on the sixth day of the month of Nîsân (April), at the ninth hour, on the day of the Eve of the Sabbath (*i.e.*Friday). At the same hour in which the Son of Man delivered up his soul to His Father on the Cross, did our father Adam deliver up his soul to Him that fashioned him; and he departed from this world.

[The Burial of Adam.]

And when Adam was dead his son Seth embalmed him, according as Adam had commanded him, with myrrh, and cassia, and stakte; now Adam's dead body was the first [body buried] in the earth. And grief for him was exceedingly sore, and Seth [and his sons] mourned for his death one hundred and forty days; and they took Adam's body up to the top of the mountain, and buried it in the Cave of Treasures. And after the families and peoples of the childreh of Seth had buried Adam, they separated themselves from the children of Cain, p. 74 the murderer. And Seth took Ânôsh [Fol. 9*a*, col. 2], his firstborn, and Kainân, and Mahlâlâîl, and their wives and children, and led them up into the glorious mountain where Adam was buried; and Cain and all his descendants remained below on the plain where Cain slew Abel.

[The Rule of Seth.]

And Seth became the governor of the children of his people, and he ruled them in purity and holiness. And because of their purity they received the name, which is the best of all names, and were called "the sons of God," they and their wives and their sons. Thus they lived in that mountain in all purity and holiness and in the fear of God. And they went up on the skirts of [the mountain] of Paradise, and they became praisers and glorifiers of God in the place of that host of devils who fell from heaven. There they dwelt in peace and happiness: there was nothing about which they needed to feel anxiety, they had nothing to weary or trouble them [Fol. 9*b*, col. 1], and they had nothing to do except to praise and glorify God, with the angels. For they heard continually the voices of the angels who were singing praises in Paradise, which was situated at no great height above them--in fact, only about thirty spans--according to the measure of the spirit. They suffered p. 75 neither toil nor fatigue, they had neither seed [time] nor harvest, but they fed themselves with the delectable fruits of glorious trees of all kinds, and they enjoyed the sweet scent and perfume of the breezes which were wafted forth to them from Paradise. [Thus lived] those holy men, who were indeed holy, and their wives were pure, and their sons were virtuous, and their daughters were chaste and undefiled. In them there was no rebellious thought, no envy, no anger, no enmity. In their wives and daughters there was no impure longing, and neither lasciviousness [Fol. 9*b*, col. 2], nor cursing, nor lying was heard among them. The only oath which they used in swearing was, "By the blood of Abel." And they, and their wives, and their children used to rise up early in the morning, and go up to the top of that holy mountain, and worship there before God. And they were blessed by the body of Adam their father, and they lifted up their eyes to Paradise, and praised God; and thus they did all the days of their life.

[NOTES.--According to the Book of the Bee (chapter xviii), Adam lived 930 years, and Seth lived 913 or 905 years. Seth was 250 years old (105 years in Gen. v. 6) when he begot Enos. "In the days of Seth the knowledge of books went forth in the earth; but the Church does p. 76 not accept this." According to the Book of Adam (ii. 5), Seth knew good and evil when he was seven years of age, and he spent his days and nights in fasting and prayer, and he made an offering to God daily. Satan appeared to him, and tried to persuade him to leave the holy mountain, and to go and live with him, and to marry one of his women, but Seth resisted him; and mounting the altar of God, drove him away. When Seth was fifteen years old Adam married him to Aklia, the sister of Abel, and when he was twenty years old he begot Enos.]

And when Seth had lived nine hundred and thirteen years he became sick unto death. And Ânôsh his son, and Kainân, and Mahlâlâîl, and Yârêd (Jared), and Henôkh (Enoch), and their wives and their sons, gathered together and came unto him, and they were blessed by him. And he prayed over them, and commanded them, and made them to take an oath, and said unto them [Fol. 10*a*, col. 1], "I will make you to take an oath, and to swear by the holy blood of Abel, that none of you will go down from this holy mountain to the children of Cain, the murderer. For ye know well the enmity which hath existed between us and Cain from the day whereon he slew Abel." And Seth blessed Ânôsh, his son; and gave him commands p. 77 concerning the body of Adam, and he made him ruler over the children of his people. And Seth ruled them in purity and in holiness, and he ministered diligently before the body of Adam. And Seth died when he was nine hundred and twelve years old, on the seven-and-twentieth day of the blessed month of Âbh (August), on the second day of the week (Monday), at the third hour, in the twentieth year of the life of Enoch. And Ânôsh, Seth's first-born son, embalmed his body and buried him in the Cave of Treasures, with his father Adam; and they made a mourning for him forty [Fol. 10*a*, col. 2] days.

[NOTES.--The Book of Adam (ii. 12) says that Seth was embalmed with sweet spices, and laid on the right side of Adam's body, but there is no evidence that the Hebrews were acquainted with the art of mummification before they had intercourse with Egypt.]

[The Rule of Ânôsh.]

And Ânôsh rose up to minister before God in the Cave of Treasures. And he became the governor of the children of his people, and he kept all the commandments which his father Seth had commanded him, and he urged them to be constant in prayer.

[NOTES.--According to the Book of the Bee (chapter xviii), Ânôsh was two hundred and ninety (ninety years in Gen. v. 9) years old when he begot Kainân; and Ânôsh first called upon the name of the Lord. Some say that he first composed books upon the course of the stars and the signs of the Zodiac.]

And in the days of Ânôsh, in his eight hundred and twentieth year, Lamech, the blind man, killed Cain, the murderer, in the Forest of Nôdh. Now this killing took place in the following manner. As Lamech was leaning on the youth, his son [Tubal-Cain], and the youth was setting straight his father's arm in the direction in which he saw the quarry, he heard the sound of Cain moving about, backwards and forwards, in the forest. Now Cain was unable to stand still in one place and to hold his peace. And Lamech, thinking that it was a wild beast that was making a movement in the forest, raised his arm, and, having made ready, drew his bow and shot an arrow [Fol. 10*b*, col. 1] towards that spot, and the arrow smote Cain between his eyes, and he fell down and died. And Lamech, thinking that he had shot game, spake to the youth, saying, "Make haste, and let us see what game we have shot." And when they went to the spot, and the boy on whom Lamech leaned p. 79 had looked, he said unto him, "O my lord, thou hast killed Cain." And Lamech moved his hands to smite them together, and as he did so he smote the youth and killed him also.

[NOTES.--The Book of Adam (ii. 13) says that Lamech was armed with a bow and large arrows, and a sling and smooth stones. An arrow pierced one side of Cain, and a stone from Lamech's sling knocked out both his eyes. Lamech smote the youth who led him about accidentally, but afterwards he smashed his head in with a stone. There are many versions of the story in Arabic, Ethiopic, and Hebrew, but they all agree in essential details. According to the Book of the Bee (chapter xviii), the anvil and hammer and tongs were invented by Tubal-Cain and Jubal, who also constructed musical instruments, harps and pipes; devils lived in the pipes, and sang therein.]

And when Ânôsh had lived nine hundred and five years, and was sick unto death, all the patriarchs gathered themselves together, and came unto him, viz. Kainân, his first-born son, and Mahlâlâîl, and Yârêd, and Enoch, and Matûshlah (Methuselah), they, and their wives, and their sons. And they were blessed by him, and he prayed over them and commanded them, and spake unto them, saying, "I will make you p. 80 to swear by the holy blood of Abel that not one of you shall go down from this mountain to the plain, nor into the encampment of [Fol. 10*b*, col. 2] the children of Cain, the murderer; and ye shall not mingle yourselves among them. Take ye good heed unto this matter, for ye well know what enmity hath existed between us and them from the day whereon Cain slew Abel." And he blessed Kainân, his son, and commanded him concerning the body of Adam, that he should minister before it all the days of his life, and that he should rule over the children of his people in purity and holiness. And Ânôsh died at the age of nine hundred and five years, on the third day of the month of the First Teshrîn (October), on the day of the Sabbath, in the fifty-third year of the life of Methuselah. And Kainân, his first-born, embalmed him and buried him in the Cave of Treasures, with Adam and Seth, his father. And they made a mourning for him forty days.

[NOTES.--The Book of Adam (ii. 14) says that Ânôsh was 985 years old when he died, and that he was laid on the left-hand side of Adam in the Cave of Treasures.]

[The Rule of Kainân.]

And Kainân stood up before God to minister in the Cave of Treasures. He was an honourable p. 81 and pure man, and he governed the children of his people in the complete [Fol. 11*a*, col. 1] fear of God, and he fulfilled all the commandments of Ânôsh his father. And when Kainân had lived nine hundred and twenty years [in the Book of Adam and the Book of the Bee 910 years], and was sick unto death, all the Patriarchs gathered together and came unto him, viz. Mahlâlâîl his son, and Yârêd, and Enoch and Methuselah and Lamech, they and their wives and their children, and were blessed by him. And he prayed over them and commanded them, saying, "I will make you swear by the holy blood of Abel that not one of you shall go down from this holy mountain into the camp of the children of Cain, the murderer, for ye all know well what enmity hath existed between us and them since the day whereon he killed Abel." And he blessed his son Mahlâlâîl, and admonished him concerning the body of Adam, and said unto him, "Behold, O my son Mahlâlâîl, minister thou before God in purity and holiness [Fol. 11*a*, col. 2] in the Cave of Treasures, and depart not thou from the presence of the body of Adam all the days of thy life. And be thou the governor of the children of thy people, and rule thou them purely and holily." Kainân died, being nine hundred and twenty years old, on the thirteenth day of the month of Hezêrân (June), p. 82 on the fourth day of the week (Wednesday), at mid-day, in the five and sixtieth year of [the life of] Lamech, the father of Noah. And Mahlâlâîl, his son, embalmed him, and buried him in the Cave of Treasures; and they made mourning for him forty days.

[NOTES.--According to Gen. v. 12, Kainân was 70 years old when he begot Mahlâlâîl, but the Book of the Bee gives 140 years. The Book of Adam says that the people made "offerings for him, after the custom of their fathers," a statement that seems to suggest that the Hebrews not only mummified their dead, but presented funerary offerings to them, after the manner of the Egyptians.]

[The Rule of Mahlâlâîl.]

And Mahlâlâîl rose up and ministered before God in the place of Kainân his father. He was constant in prayer by day and by night, and he urged earnestly the children of his people to observe holiness and purity, and to pray without ceasing. And when Mahlâlâîl had lived eight hundred and ninety-five years [Fol. 11*b*, col. 1], and the day of his departure drew nigh, and he was sick unto death, all the Patriarchs gathered together and came unto him, viz. Yârêd, his p. 83 first-born, and Enoch and Methuselah, and Lamech, and Noah, they and their wives and their children, and were blessed by him. And he prayed over them, and commanded them, saying, "I will make you to swear by the holy blood of Abel, that not one of you shall go down from this holy mountain. And ye shall not permit any one of your descendants to go down to the plain, to the children of Cain, the murderer, for ye all well know what enmity hath existed between us and them from the day whereon he slew Abel." And he blessed Yârêd, his first-born, and he commanded him concerning the body of Adam, and revealed unto him the place whereto he should make ready to go. And he also commanded him, and made him to swear an oath, saying, "Thou shalt not depart from the body of our father Adam all the days of thy life, and thou shalt be [Fol. 11*b*, col. 2] the governor of the children of thy people, and shalt rule them in chastity and holiness." And Mahlâlâîl died, [being] eight hundred and ninety-five years old, on the second day of the month Nîsân (April), on the first day of the week (Sunday), at the third hour of the day, in the four and thirtieth year of the life of Noah. And Yârêd, his first-born, embalmed him, and buried him in the Cave of Treasures; and the people made a mourning for him forty days.

p. 84

[NOTES.--According to Gen. v. 15, Mahlâlâîl was 65 years old when he begot Yârêd, but the Book of the Bee gives 165 years; the Book of Adam (ii. 16) says he fell sick when he was 870 years old. The latter work makes the Patriarch tell Yârêd that the people will go down from the mountain, and mingle with the children of Cain, and perish with them.]

[The Rule of Yârêd.]

And Yârêd his son rose up and ministered before God [in the Cave of Treasures]. He was a perfect man, and was complete in all the virtues, and he was constant in prayer by day and by night. And because of the excellence of his life and conversation, his days were longer than those of all the children of his people. And in the days of Yârêd, in the five hundredth year of his life, the children of Seth broke the oaths which their fathers had made them to swear. And they began to go down from that holy mountain to the encampment of iniquity [Fol. 12*a*, col. 1] of the children of Cain, the murderer, and in this way the fall of the children of Seth took place.

[NOTES.--The Book of Adam (ii. 17) says that Yârêd continued to govern the people successfully until the end of the 485th year of his life. p. 85 At this time Satan and thirty of his devils appeared to Yârêd in the form of handsome men, and called him from the Cave of Treasures. He came out to them, and thought they were strangers, and asked them who they were. In answer, Satan told him that he was Adam, and that among his companions were Abel, Seth, Enos, Cainan, and other kinsmen of Yârêd. He invited Yârêd to come with him, and live with him in the garden which God had given him, and at length Yârêd was persuaded to leave the Cave and go with him. When they arrived at the top of the mountain of the sons of Cain, Satan pretended that he had left a garment for Yârêd by the Cave, and sent one of his devils back to fetch it, telling him at the same time to extinguish the lamp which was burning in the Cave near Adam's body. Satan and Yârêd rested by a fountain, and food was brought out to them by the sons and daughters of Cain, but Yârêd refused to eat or drink. Satan entreated him to put aside his sadness, and to do as he was going to do. Thereupon Satan and five of his devils each seized a woman and committed fornication with her, and on seeing this exhibition of iniquity Yârêd burst into tears and began to pray to God to be delivered from that place. When he began to pray the devils took to flight, and God sent an angel, who brought him back p. 86 to his holy mountain. When he returned to the Cave his people told him that the lamp had been extinguished, and that the bodies of the Patriarchs had been scattered about, and that voices had come from them. On entering the Cave a voice came to him from Adam's body, and warned him to beware of Satan and his wiles, and told him to relight the lamp from the fire on the altar at which Adam had ministered. The lamp was relighted at the end of the 450th year of Yârêd's life. Eighty years later his people began to go down to the children of Cain, and to mingle with their women.]

AND IN THE FORTIETH YEAR OF YÂRÊD THE FIRST THOUSAND YEARS, FROM ADAM TO YÂRÊD, CAME TO AN END.

And in these years the handicraftsmen of sin, and the disciples of Satan, appeared, for he was their teacher, and he entered in and dwelt in them, and he poured into them the spirit of the operation of error, through which the fall of the children of Seth was to take place.

The Celestial Hierarchy

Dionysius the Areopagite

THE CELESTIAL HIERARCHY

CHAPTER I

To my fellow-presbyter Timothy, Dionysius the Presbyter

That every divine illumination, while going forth with love in various ways to the objects of its forethought, remains one. Nor is this all: it also unifies the things illuminated.

'Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above and comes down from the Father of Lights.'[James 1:17]

Moreover, every divine procession of radiance from the Father, while constantly bounteously flowing to us, fills us anew as though with a unifying power, by recalling us to things above, and leading us to the unity of the Shepherding Father and to the Divine One. For from Him and into Him are all things, as is written in the holy Word.

Calling then upon Jesus, the Light of the Father, the Real and True, 'Which lights every man that comes into the world, by whom we have access to the Father,' the Origin of Light, let us raise our thought, according to our power, to the illumination of the most sacred doctrines handed down by the Fathers, and also as far as we may let us contemplate the Hierarchies of the Celestial Intelligences revealed to us by them in symbols for our upliftment: and admitting through the spiritual and unwavering eyes of the mind the original and super-original gift of Light of the Father who is the Source of Divinity, which shows to us images of the all-blessed Hierarchies of the Angels in figurative symbols, let us through them again strive upwards toward Its primal ray. For this Light can never be deprived of Its own intrinsic unity, and although in goodness It becomes manyness and proceeds into manifestation for the uplifting of those creatures governed by Its providence, yet It abides eternally within Itself in changeless sameness, firmly established in Its own unity, and elevates to Itself, according to their capacity, those who turn towards It, uniting them in accordance with Its own unity. For by that first divine ray we can be enlighted only insofar as It is hidden by all-various holy veils for our upliftment, and fittingly tempered to our natures by the Providence of the Father.

Wherefore that first institution of the sacred rites, judging it worthy of a supermundane copy of the Celestial Hierarchies, gave us our most holy hierarchy, and described that spiritual Hierarchy in material terms and in various compositions of forms so that we might be led, each according to his capacity, from the most holy imagery to formless, unific, elevative principles and assimilations. For the mind can by no means be directed to the spiritual presentation and contemplation of the Celestial Hierarchies unless it use the material guidance suited to it, accounting those beauties which are seen to be images of the hidden beauty, the sweet incense a symbol of spiritual dispensations, and the earthly lights a figure of the immaterial enlightenment. Similarly the details of the sacred teaching correspond to the feast of contemplation in the soul, while the ranks of order on earth reflect the Divine Concord and the disposition of the Heavenly Orders. The receiving of the most holy Eucharist symbolizes our participation of Jesus; and everything else delivered in a supermundane manner to Celestial Natures is given to us in symbols.

A cherub, after an image ca. 400 A.D.

To further, then, the attainment of our due measure of deification, the loving Source of all mysteries, in showing to us the Celestial Hierarchies, and consecrating our hierarchy as fellowministers, according to our capacity, in the likeness of their divine ministry, depicted those supercelestial Intelligences in material images in the inspired writings of the sacred Word so that we might be guided through the sensible to the intelligible, and from sacred symbols to the Primal Source of the Celestial Hierarchies.

CHAPTER II

That Divine and Celestial matters are fittingly revealed even through unlike symbols

I consider, then, that in the first place we must explain our conception of the purpose of each Hierarchy and the good conferred by each upon its followers; secondly we must celebrate the Celestial Hierarchies as they are revealed in the Scriptures; and finally we must say under what holy figures the descriptions in the sacred writings portray those Celestial Orders, and to what kind of purity we ought to be guided through those forms lest we, like the many, should impiously suppose that those Celestial and Divine Intelligences are many-footed or many-faced beings, or formed with the brutishness of oxen, or the savageness of lions, or the curved beaks of eagles, or the feathers of birds, or should imagine that they are some kind of fiery wheels above the heavens, or material thrones upon which the Supreme Deity may recline, or many-coloured horses, or commanders of arm- ies, or whatever else of symbolic description has been given to us in the various sacred images of the Scriptures.

Theology, in its sacred utterances concerning the formless Intelligences, does indeed use poetic symbolism, having regard to our intelligence, as has been said, and providing a means of ascent fitting and natural to it by framing the sacred Scriptures in a manner designed for our upliftment.

But someone may prefer to regard the Divine Orders as pure and ineffable in their own natures, and beyond our power of vision, and may consider that the imagery of the Celestial Intelligences in the Scriptures does not really represent them, and is like a crude dramatization of the celestial names: and he may say that the theologians, in depicting wholly incorporeal natures under bodily forms should, as far as possible, make use of fitting and related images, and represent them by the most exalted, incorporeal and spiritual substances amongst ourselves, and should not endue the Celestial and Godlike Principles with a multitude of low and earthly forms. For the one would contribute in a higher degree to our ascent by dissociating incongruous images from the descriptions of Supermundane Natures, while the other impiously outrages the Divine Powers, and leads our minds into error when -we dwell upon such unholy compositions. For we might even think that the supercelestial regions are filled with herds of lions and horses, and re-echo with roaring songs of praise, and contain flocks of birds and other creatures, and the lower forms of matter, and whatever other absurd, spurious, passion-arousing and unlike forms the Scriptures use in describing their resemblances.

Angel With Moon, from 12th c. Greek ms.

Nevertheless, I think that the investigation of the truth shows the most holy wisdom of the Scriptures in the representations of the Celestial Intelligences which makes the most perfect provision in each case, so that neither is dishonour done to the Divine Powers (as they may be called), nor are we bound more passionately to earth by the meanness and baseness of the images. For it might be said that the reason for attributing shapes to that which is above shape, and forms to that which is beyond form, is not only the feebleness of our intellectual power which is unable to rise at once to spiritual contemplation, and which needs to be encouraged by the natural and suitable support and upliftment which offers us forms perceptible to us of formless and supernatural contemplations, but it is also because it is most fitting that the secret doctrines, through ineffable and holy enigmas, should veil and render difficult of access for the multitude the sublime and profound truth of the supernatural Intelligences. For, as the Scripture declares, not everyone is holy, nor have all men knowledge.

Again, if anyone condemns these representations as incongruous, suggesting that it is disgraceful to fashion such base images of the divine and most holy Orders, it is sufficient to answer that the most holy Mysteries are set forth in two modes: one, by means of similar and sacred representations akin to their nature, and the other through unlike forms designed with every possible discordance and difference. For example, the mystical traditions of the enlightening Word sometimes celebrate the Sublime Blessedness of the Superessential ONE as Word, and Wisdom, and Essence; proclaiming the Intellect and Wisdom of God both essentially, as the Source of being, and also as the true Cause of existence; and they make It equivalent to Light, and call It Life.

Now although such sacred forms are more venerable, and seem in one sense to surpass the material presentation, even so they fail to express truly the Divine Likeness which verily transcends all essence and life, and which no light can fully represent; for an other word and wisdom is incomparably below It. But at other times It is extolled in a supermundane manner in the same writings, where It is named Invisible, Infinite and Unbounded, in such terms as indicate not what It is, but what It is not: for this, in my judgment, is more in accord with Its nature, since, as the Mysteries and the priestly tradition suggested, we are right in saying that It is not in the likeness of any created thing, and we cannot comprehend Its superessential, invisible and ineffable Infinity. If, therefore, the negations in the descriptions of the Divine are true, and the affirmations are inconsistent with It, the exposition of the hidden Mysteries by the use of unlike symbols accords more closely with That which is ineffable.

Accordingly this mode of description in the holy writings honours, rather than dishonours, the Holy and Celestial Orders by revealing them in unlike images, manifesting through these their supernal excellence, far beyond all mundane things. Nor, I suppose, will any reasonable man deny that discordant figures uplift the mind more than do the harmonious, for in dwelling upon the nobler images, it is probable that we might fall into the error of supposing that the Celestial Intelligences are some kind of golden beings, or shining men flashing like lightning, fair to behold, or clad in glittering apparel, raying forth harmless fire, or with such other similar forms as are assigned by theology to the Celestial Intelligences. But lest this thing befall those whose mind has conceived nothing higher than the wonders of visible beauty, the wisdom of the venerable theologists, which has power to lead us to the heights, reverently descends to the level of the inharmonious dissimilitudes, not allowing our irrational nature to remain attached to those unseemly images, but arousing the upward-turning part of the soul, and stimulating it through the ugliness of the images; since it would seem neither right nor true, even to those who cling to earthly things, that such low forms could resemble those supercelestial and divine contemplations. Moreover, it must be borne in mind that no single existing thing is entirely deprived of participation in the Beautiful, for, as the true Word says, all things are very beautiful.

Holy contemplations can therefore be derived from all things, and the above-named incongruous similitudes can be fashioned from material things to symbolize that which is intelligible and intellectual, since the intellectual has in another manner what has been attributed differently to the perceptible. For instance, passion in irrational creatures arises from the impulse of appetency, and their passion is full of all irrationality; but it is otherwise with intellectual beings in whom the energy of passion must be regarded as denoting their masculine reason and unwavering steadfastness, established in the changeless heavenly places. In the same manner, by desire in irrational creatures we mean the instinctual innate tendency towards temporal materials things, or the uncontrolled inborn appetites of mutable creatures, and the dominating irrational desires of the body which urge the whole creature towards that for which the senses crave.

But when, using unlike images, we speak of desire in connection with Intellectual Beings we must understand by this a divine love of the Immaterial, above reason and mind, and an enduring and unshakable superessential longing for pure and passionless contemplation, and true, sempiternal, intelligible participation in the most sublime and purest Light, and in the eternal and most perfect Beauty. And incontinence we must understand as that which is intense and unswerving and irresistible because of its pure and steadfast love of the Divine Beauty, and the undeviating urge towards That which most truly is to be desired.

In the case of the irrational or the insensitive things, such as brutes among living creatures, or inanimate objects, we rightly say that these are deprived of reason, or of sense-perception. But we fittingly proclaim the sovereignty, as Supermundane Beings, of the immaterial and intellectual Natures over our discursive and corporeal reasoning and sense-perceptions, which are remote from those Divine Intelligences.

It is therefore lawful to portray Celestial Beings in forms drawn from even the lowest of material things which are not discordant since they, too, having originated from That which is truly beautiful, have throughout the whole of their bodily constitution some vestiges of Intellectual Beauty, and through these we may be led to immaterial Archetypes; the similitudes being taken, as has been said, dissimilarly, and the same things being defined, not in the same way, but harmoniously and fittingly, in the case both of intellectual and sensible natures.

We shall see that the theologians mystically employ symbolical explanations not only in the case of the Celestial Orders, but even for the presentation of the Deific Principles themselves. And sometimes they celebrate Deity Itself with lofty symbolism as the Sun of justice, as the Morning Star rising mystically in the mind, or as Light shining forth unclouded and intelligibly; and sometimes they use images of things on earth, such as fire flashing forth with harmless flame, or water affording abundance of life symbolically flowing into a belly and gushing out in perpetually overflowing rivers and streams.

The lowest images are also used, such as fragrant ointment, or the corner-stone, and they even give It the forms of wild animals and liken It to the lion and panther, or name It a leopard, or a raging bear bereaved of its young. I will add, furthermore, that which appears most base and unseemly of all, namely that some renowned theologians have represented It as assuming the form of a worm. Thus all those who are wise in divine matters, and are interpreters of the mystical revelations, set apart in purity the Holy of Holies from the uninitiated and unpurified, and prefer incongruous symbols for holy things, so that divine things may not be easily accessible to the unworthy, nor may those who earnestly contemplate the divine symbols dwell upon the forms themselves as the final truth. Therefore we may celebrate the Divine Natures through the truest negations and also by the images of the lowest things in contrast with their own Likeness.

Hence there is no absurdity in portraying the Celestial Natures, for the reasons mentioned, by discordant and diverse symbols: for possibly we ourselves might not have begun to search into the Mysteries which lead us to the Heights through the careful examinations of the holy Word, had not the ugliness of the imagery of the Angels startled us, not suffering our mind to dwell upon the discordant figures, but stimulating it to leave behind all material attachments, and training it by means of that which is apparent to aspire devoutly to the supermundane ascent.

Let these things suffice touching the corporeal and inharmonious forms used for the delineation of Angels in the sacred Scriptures. We must proceed to the definition of our conception of the Hierarchy itself, and of the blessings which are enjoyed by those who participate in it. But let our leader in the discourse be my Christ (if thus I dare name Him) who inspires all hierarchical revelation. And do thou, my son, listen, according to the law of our hierarchical tradition, with meet reverence to that which is reverently set forth, becoming through instruction inspired by the revelations; and, treasuring deep in the soul the holy Mysteries, preserve them in their unity from the unpurified multitude: for, as the Scriptures declare, it is not fitting to cast before swine that pure and beautifying and clear-shining glory of the intelligible pearls.

CHAPTER III

What is Hierarchy, and what the use of Hierarchy?

Hierarchy is, in my opinion, a holy order and knowledge and activity which, so far as is attainable, participates in the Divine

Likeness, and is lifted up to the illuminations given it from God, and correspondingly towards the imitation of God.

Now the Beauty of God, being unific, good, and the Source of all perfection, is wholly free from dissimilarity, and bestows its own Light upon each according to his merit;* and in the most divine Mysteries perfects them in accordance with the unchangeable fashioning of those who are being perfected harmoniously to Itself.

The aim of Hierarchy is the greatest possible assimilation to and union with God, and by taking Him as leader in all holy wisdom, to become like Him, so far as is permitted, by contemplating intently His most Divine Beauty. Also it moulds and perfects its participants in the holy image of God like bright and spotless mirrors which receive the Ray of the Supreme Deity -which is the Source of Light; and being mystically filled with the Gift of Light, it pours it forth again abundantly, according to the Divine Law, upon those below itself. For it is not lawful for those who impart or participate in the holy Mysteries to overpass the bounds of its sacred laws; nor must they deviate from them if they seek to behold, as far as is allowed, that Deific Splendour and to be transformed into the likeness of those Divine Intelligences.

Therefore he who speaks of Hierarchy implies a certain perfectly holy Order in the likeness of the First Divine Beauty, ministering the sacred mystery of its own illuminations in hierarchical order and wisdom, being in due measure conformed to its own Principle. (1)

For each of those who is allotted a place in the Divine Order finds his perfection in being uplifted, according to his capacity , towards the Divine Likeness; and what is still more divine, he becomes, as the Scriptures say, a fellow-worker with God, and shows forth the Divine Activity revealed as far as possible 'in himself. For the holy constitution of the Hierarchy ordains that some are purified, others purify; some are enlightened, others enlighten; some are perfected, others make perfect; for in this way the divine imitation will fit each one.

Inasmuch as the Divine Bliss (to speak in human terms) is exempt from all dissimilarity, and is full of Eternal Light, perfect, in need of no perfection, purifying, illuminating, perfecting being rather Himself the holy Purification, Illumination and Perfection, above purification, above light. supremely perfect, Himself the origin of perfection and the cause of every Hierarchy, He transcends in excellence all holiness.(2)

I hold, therefore, that those who are being purified ought to be wholly perfected and free from all taint of unlikeness; those who are illuminated should be filled full with Divine Light, ascending, to the contemplative state and power with the most pure eyes of the mind; those who are being initiated, holding themselves apart from all imperfection, should become participators in the Divine Wisdom which they have contemplated.

Further it is meet that those who purify should bestow upon others from their abundance of purity their own holiness: those who illuminate, as possessing more luminous intelligence, duly receiving and again shedding forth the light, and joyously filled with holy brightness, should impart their own overflowing light to those worthy of it; finally, those who make perfect, being skilled in the mystical participations, should lead to that consummation those who are perfected by the most holy initiation of the knowledge of holy things which they have contemplated.

Thus each order in the hierarchical succession is guided to the divine co-operation, and brings into manifestation, through the Grace and Power of God, that which is naturally and supernaturally in the Godhead, and which is consummated by Him superessentially, but is hierarchically manifested for man's imitation as far as is attainable, of the God-loving Celestial Intelligences.

CHAPTER IV

The meaning of the name 'Angels'.

Since, in my opinion, the nature of a hierarchy has been adequately defined, we must proceed to render honour to the Angelic Hierarchy, intently gazing with supermundane sight upon the holy imagery of it in the Scriptures, that we may be uplifted in the highest degree to their divine purity through that mystical representation, and may praise the Origin of all hierarchical knowledge with a veneration worthy of the things of God, and with devout thanksgiving.

In the first place this truth must be declared, that the superessential Deity, having through His Goodness established the essential subsistence of all, brought all things into being. For 'it is the very nature of that God which is the Supreme Cause of all to call all things to participation in Itself in proportion to the capacity and nature of each.

Wherefore all things share in that Providence which streams forth from the superessential Deific Source of all; for they would not be unless they had come into existence through participation in the Essential Principle of all things.

All inanimate things participate in It through their being; for the 'to be' of all things is the Divinity above Being Itself, the true Life. Living things participate in Its life-giving Power above all life; rational things participate in Its self-perfect and pre-eminently perfect Wisdom above all reason and intellect.

It is manifest, therefore, that those Natures which are around the Godhead have participated of It in manifold ways. On this account the holy ranks of the Celestial Beings are present with and participate in the Divine Principle in a degree far surpassing all those things which merely exist, and irrational living creatures, and rational human beings. For moulding themselves intelligibly to the imitation of God, and looking in a supermundane way to the Likeness of the Supreme Deity, and longing to form the intellectual appearance of It, they naturally have more abundant communion with Him, and with unremitting activity they tend eternally up the steep, as far as is permitted, through the ardour of their unwearying divine love, and they receive the Primal Radiance in a pure and immaterial manner, adapting themselves to this in a life wholly intellectual.

Such, therefore, are they who participate first, and in an all-various manner, in Deity, and reveal first, and in many ways, the Divine Mysteries. Wherefore they, above all, are pre-eminently worthy of the name Angel because they first receive the Divine Light, and through them are transmitted to us the revelations which are above us.

It is thus that the Law (as it is written in the Scriptures) was given to us by Angels and, both before and after the days of the Law, Angels guided our illustrious forefathers to God, either by declaring to them what they should do and leading them from error and an evil life to the straight path of truth, or by making known to them the Divine Law, or in the manner of interpreters, by showing to them holy Hierarchies, or secret visions of supermundane Mysteries, or certain divine prophecies.

Now, if anyone should say that God has shown Himself without intermediary to certain holy men, let him know beyond doubt, from the most holy Scriptures, that no man has ever seen, nor shall see, the hidden Being of God; but God has shown Himself, according to revelations which are fitting to God, to His faithful servants in holy visions adapted to the nature of the seer.

The divine theology, in the fullness of its wisdom, very rightly applies the name theophany to that beholding of God which shows the Divine Likeness, figured in Itself as a likeness in form of That which is formless, through the uplifting of those who contemplate to the Divine; inasmuch as a Divine Light is shed upon the seers through it, and they are initiated into some participation of divine things.

By such divine visions our venerable forefathers were instructed through the mediation of the Celestial Powers. Is it not told in the holy Scriptures that the sacred Law was given to Moses by God Himself in order to teach us that in it is mirrored the divine and holy Law? Furthermore, theology wisely teaches that it was communicated to us by Angels, as though the authority of the Divine Law decreed that the second should be guided to the Divine Majesty by the first. For not solely in the case of higher and lower natures, but also for co-ordinate natures, this Law has been established by its superessential original Author: that within each Hierarchy there are first, middle and last ranks and powers, and that the higher are initiators and guides of the lower to the divine approach and illumination and union.(3)

I see that the Angels, too, were first initiated into the divine Mystery, of Jesus in His love for man, and through them the gift of that knowledge was bestowed upon us: for the divine Gabriel announced to Zachariah the high-priest that the son who should to born to him through Divine Grace, when he was bereft of hope, would be a prophet of that Jesus who would manifest the union of the human and divine natures through the ordinance of the Good Law for the salvation of the world; and he revealed to Mary how of her should be born the Divine Mystery of the ineffable Incarnation of God.

Another Angel taught Joseph that the divine promise made to his forefather David should be perfectly fulfilled. Another brought to the shepherds the glad tidings, as to those purified by quiet withdrawal from the many, and with him a multitude of the heavenly host gave forth to all the dwellers upon earth our often-sung hymn of adoring praise.

Let us now mount upward to that most sublime of all Lights celebrated in the Scriptures: for I perceive that Jesus Himself who is the superessential Head of the supercelestial Beings above Nature, when taking our nature while still keeping His own immutable Divinity, did not turn away from the human order which He arranged and chose, but rather submitted Himself obediently to the commands given by God the Father through Angels, by whose ministrations the Father's decree touching the flight of His Son into Egypt and the return from Egypt into Judaea. was announced to Joseph. Moreover, through Angels we see Him subjecting Himself to the Father's will; for I will not recall to one who knows our sacred tradition the Angel who fortified Jesus, or even that Jesus Himself, because He came for the good work of our salvation to fulfil the law in its spiritual application, was called Angel of Good Counsel. For He Himself says, in the manner of a herald, that whatsoever He heard from the Father He announced unto us.

,

CHAPTER V

Why all the Celestial Beings in common are called Angels.

This, so far as we understand it, is the reason for the name Angel in the Scriptures. Now I think we should investigate the reason why theologians give the general name Angels to all the Celestial Beings, but when explaining the characteristics of the supermundane Orders they specifically give the name Angel to those who complete and conclude the Divine Celestial Hierarchies. Above these they place the choirs of Archangels, Principalities, Powers, Virtues, and those other beings who are acknowledged by the traditional scriptural teachings to be of higher rank.

Now we maintain that in these Hierarchies the higher Orders possess the illuminations and powers of the lower ranks, but the lower do not participate equally with those above them. Hence the theologians call the higher of these spiritual Orders Angels because they, too, show forth the Divine Radiance; but we can find no reason for calling the lowest choirs of the Celestial Intelligences Principalities or Thrones or Seraphim, for they do not manifest in the same degree that supremely excellent power; but just as they guide our inspired hierarchs to the Divine Brightness known to them, so do those most holy Powers which are above them lead to the Divine Majesty those ranks which complete the Angelic Hierarchies.(4)

And this also may be added, that all can rightly be called Angels in respect of their participation in the Divine Likeness and Illumination both in the higher and lower ranks.

But now let us proceed further into detail, and with singleness of mind examine the particular sacred characteristics of each of the Celestial Orders which are set forth for us in the Scriptures.

CHAPTER VI

Which is the first Order of the Celestial Beings,which the middle, and which the last?

I hold that none but the Divine Creator by whom they were ordained is able to know fully the number and the nature of the supermundane Beings and the regulation of their sacred Hierarchies; and furthermore, that they know their own powers and illuminations and their own holy supermundane ordination. For we could not have known the mystery of these supercelestial Intelligences and all the holiness of their perfection had it not been taught to us by God through His Ministers who truly know their own natures.

Therefore we will say nothing as from ourselves, but being instructed will set forth, according to our ability, those angelic visions which the venerable theologians have beheld.

Theology has given to the Celestial Beings nine interpretative names, and among these our divine initiator distinguishes three threefold Orders.(5) In the first rank of all he places those who, as we are told, dwell eternally in the constant presence of God, and cleave to Him, and above all others are immediately united to Him. And he says that the teachings of the holy Word testify that the most holy Thrones and many-eyed and many-winged ones, named in the Hebrew tongue Cherubim and Seraphim, are established immediately about God and nearest to Him above all others. Our venerable hierarch describes this threefold Order as a co-equal unity, and truly the most exalted of the Hierarchies, the most fully Godlike, and the most closely and immediately united to the First Light of the Godhead.

The second, he says, contains the Powers, Virtues and Dominions, and the last and lowest choirs of the Celestial Intelligences are called Angels, Archangels and Principalities.

CHAPTER VII

Of the Seraphim, Cherubim and Thrones, and their first Hierarchy.

In accepting this order of the holy Hierarchies we affirm that the names of each of the Celestial Choirs expresses its own Godlike characteristic. We are told by Hebrew scholars that the holy name Seraphim means 'those who kindle or make hot', and Cherubim denotes abundance of knowledge or an outflowing of wisdom.* Reasonably, therefore, is this first Celestial Hierarchy administered by the most transcendent Natures, since it occupies a more exalted place than all the others, being imrnediately present with God; and because of its nearness, to it are brought the first revelations and perfections of God before the rest. Therefore they are named 'The Glowing Ones', 'Streams of Wisdom', 'Thrones', in illustration of their Divine Nature.

The name Seraphim clearly indicates their ceaseless and eternal revolution about Divine Principles, their heat and keenness, the exuberance of their intense, perpetual, tireless activity, and their elevative and energetic assimilation of those below, kindling them and firing them to their own heat, and wholly purifying them by a burning and all-consuming flame; and by the unhidden, unquenchable, changeless, radiant and enlightening power, dispelling and destroying the shadows of darkness.

The name Cherubim denotes their power of knowing and beholding God, their receptivity to the highest Gift of Light, their contemplation of the Beauty of the Godhead in Its First Manifestation, and that they are filled by participation in Divine Wisdom, and bounteously outpour to those below them from their own fount of wisdom.

The name of the most glorious and exalted Thrones denotes that which is exempt from and untainted by any base and earthly thing, and the supermundane ascent up the steep. For these have no part in that which is lowest, but dwell in fullest power, immovably and perfectly established in the Most High, and receive the Divine Immanence above all passion and matter, and manifest God, being attentively open to divine participations.

This, then, is the meaning of their names, so far as we understand it: but now we must set forth our conception of the nature of this Hierarchy, for the object of every Hierarchy, as I think we have already sufficiently shown, is a steadfast devotion to the divine assimilation in the Likeness of God; and the whole work of a Hierarchy is in the participation and the imparting of a most holy Purification, Divine Light and perfecting Knowledge.

And now I pray that I may speak worthily of those most exalted Intelligences, and as their Hierarchy is revealed in the Scriptures.

It is clear that the Hierarchy is similar in its nature and has close affinity with those First Beings who are established after the Godhead, which is the Source of their Being, as though within Its Portals, transcending all - created powers, both visible and invisible. Therefore we must recognize that they are pure, not as having been cleansed from stains and defilements, nor as not admitting material images, but as far higher than all baseness, and surpassing all that is holy. As befits the highest purity, they are established above the most Godlike Powers and eternally keep their own self-motive and self-same order through the Eternal Love of God, never weakening in power, abiding most purely in their own Godlike identity, ever unshaken and unchanging. Again, they are contemplative, not as beholding intellectual or sensible symbols, nor as being uplifted to the Divine by the all-various contemplations set forth in the Scriptures, but as filled with Light higher than all immaterial knowledge, and rapt, as is meet, in the contemplation of that Beauty which is the superessential triune Origin and Creator of all beauty. In like manner they are thought worthy of fellowship with Jesus, not through sacred images which shadow forth the Divine Likeness, but as truly being close to Him in that first participation of the knowledge of His Deifying Illuminations. Moreover, the imitation of God is granted to them in a preeminent degree, and as far as their nature permits they share the divine and human virtues in primary power.

In the same manner they are perfect, not as though enlightened by an analytical knowledge of holy variety, but because they are wholly perfected through the highest and most perfect deification, possessing the highest knowledge that Angels can have of the works of God; being Hierarchs not through other holy beings, but from God Himself, and since they are uplifted to God directly by their pre-eminent power and rank, they are both established immovably beside the All-Holy, and are borne up, as far as is allowable, to the contemplation of His Intelligible and Spiritual Beauty. Being placed nearest to God, they are instructed in the true understanding of the divine works, and receive their hierarchical order in the highest degree from Deity Itself, the First Principle of Perfection.

The theologians therefore clearly show that the lower ranks of the Celestial Beings receive the understanding of the divine works from those above them in a fitting manner, and that the highest are correspondingly enlightened in the Divine Mysteries by the Most High God Himself. (6) For some of them are shown to us as enlightened in holy matters by those above them, and we learn that He who in human form ascended to heaven is Lord of the Celestial Powers and King of Glory. And Angels are represented as questioning Him and desiring knowledge of His divine redemptive work for us, and Jesus Himself is depicted as teaching them and revealing directly to them His great goodness towards mankind. 'For I, He says, 'speak righteousness and the judgment of salvation.' Moreover, I am astonished that even the first rank of Celestial Beings, so far surpassing all the others, should reverently desire to receive the divine enlightenment in an intermediate manner. For they do not ask directly, 'Wherefore are Thy garments red?' but first eagerly question one another, showing that they seek and long for the knowledge of His divine words, without expectation of the enlightenment divinely granted them.

The first Hierarchy of the Celestial Intelligences, therefore, is purified and enlightened; being ordained by that First Perfecting Cause, uplifted directly to Himself, and filled, analogously, with the most holy purification of the boundless Light of the Supreme Perfection, untouched by any inferiority, full of Primal Light, and perfected by its union with the first-given Understanding and Knowledge.

But to sum up, I may say, not unreasonably, that the participation in Divine Knowledge is a purification, an illumination and a perfection. For it purifies from ignorance by the knowledge of the perfect Mysteries granted in due measure; it illuminates through the Divine Knowledge Itself by which it purifies the mind which formerly did not behold that which is now shown to it by the higher illumination; and it perfects by the self-same light through the abiding knowledge of the most luminous initiations.

This, so far as I know, is the first Order of Celestial Beings which are established about God, immediately encircling Him: and in perpetual purity they encompass His eternal Knowledge in that most high and eternal angelic dance, rapt in the bliss of manifold blessed contemplations, and irradiated with pure and primal splendours.

They are filled with divine food which is manifold, through the first-given outpouring, yet one through the unvaried and unific oneness of the divine banquet; and they are deemed worthy of communion and co-operation with God by reason of their assimilation to Him, as far as is possible for them, in the excellence of their natures and energies. For they know pre-eminently many divine matters, and they participate as far as they may in Divine Understanding and Knowledge.

Wherefore theology has given those on earth its hymns or praise in which is divinely shown forth the great excellence of its sublime illumination. For some of that choir (to use material terms) cry out as with a voice like the sound of many waters, 'Blessed is the Glory of the Lord from His Place'; others cry aloud that most renowned and sacred hymn of highest praise to God, 'Holy, holy, holy, Lord God of Sabaoth, the whole earth is full of Thy Glory !'

Now we have already expounded to the best of our ability in the treatise on Divine Hymns these most sublime hymns of the supercelestial Intelligences, and have sufficiently dealt with them there. For the present purpose it is enough to o recall that this first Order, having been duly enlightened by the Divine Goodness in the knowledge of theology, gave to those below it, as befits angelic goodness, this teaching (to state it briefly-) that it is meet that the most august Deity, above praise, and all-praised, worthy of the highest praise, should be known and proclaimed, as far as is attainable, by the God-filled Intelligences (for, as the Scriptures say, being in the Likeness of God, the\are divine habitations of the Divine Stillness); and again, the teaching that He is a monad and tri-subsistent unity, providentially pervading all things through His Goodness, from the supercelestial Natures down to the lowest things of the earth; for He is the super-original Principle and Cause of every essence, and holds the whole universe superessentially in His irresistible embrace.

CHAPTER VIII

Of the Dominions, Virtues and Powers, and their middle Hierarchy.

Now we must pass on to the middle Order of the Celestial Intelligences, contemplating with supermundane sight, as far as we may, the Dominions and the truly majestic splendour of the Divine Virtues and Powers. For the names of these supernal Beings denote the divine characteristics of their likeness to God.

The name given to the holy Dominions signifies, I think, a certain unbounded elevation to that which is above, freedom from all that is of the earth, and from all inward inclination to the bondage of discord, a liberal superiority to harsh tyranny, an exemptness from degrading servility and from all that is low: for they are untouched by any inconsistency. They are true Lords, perpetually aspiring to true lordship, and to the Source of lordship, and they providentially fashion themselves and those below them, as far as possible, into the likeness of true lordship. They do not turn towards vain shadows, but wholly give themselves to that true Authority, forever one with the Godlike Source of lordship.

The name of the holy Virtues signifies a certain powerful and unshakable virility welling forth into all their Godlike energies; not being weak and feeble for any reception of the divine Illuminations granted to it; mounting upwards in fullness of power to an assimilation with God; never falling away from the Divine Life through its own weakness, but ascending unwaveringly to the superessential Virtue which is the Source of virtue: fashioning itself, as far as it may, in virtue; perfectly turned towards the Source of virtue, and flowing forth providentially to those below it, abundantly filling them with virtue.

The name of the holy Powers, co-equal with the Divine Dominions and Virtues, signifies an orderly and unconfined order in the divine receptions, and the regulation of intellectual and supermundane power which never debases its authority by tyrannical force, but is irresistibly urged onward in due order to the Divine. It beneficently leads those below it, as far as possible, to the Supreme Power which is the Source of Power, which it manifests after the manner of Angels in the wellordered ranks of its own authoritative power.

This middle rank of the Celestial Intelligences, having these Godlike characteristics, is purified, illuminated and perfected in the manner already described, by the divine Illuminations bestowed upon it in a secondary manner through the first hierarchical Order, and shown forth in a secondary manifestation by the middle choir.

The knowledge which is said to be imparted by one Angel to another may be interpreted as a symbol of that perfecting which is effected from afar and made obscure because of its passage to the second rank. For, as those say who are wise in the sacred Mysteries, the direct revelations of the Divine Light impart a greater perfection than those bestowed through an intermediary; and in the same way I consider that the Order of Angels which is established nearest to the Godhead participates directly in a more resplendent light than is imparted to those who are perfected through others.

For this reason the First Intelligences are called in our priestly tradition perfective, illuminative and purificatory powers in regard to the lower Orders which are uplifted by them to the superessential Principle of all, and as far as is right for them are made partakers of the mystical purifications, illuminations and perfections. For this universal ordinance is divinely established, that the Divine Light is imparted to secondary natures through primary natures.

You will find this variously set forth by theologians, for when the Divine and Fatherly Love for man reproved the Israelites and chastened them for their salvation by delivering them for their correction into the hands of cruel and barbaric nations, and with providential guidance led them back by many paths to a better condition, and mercifully recalled them from captivity to freedom and their former happy state, one of the theologians, named Zachariah, sees one of those Angels which, as I believe are first and nearest to God (for the name Angel, as I have said, is common to all), receiving from God Himself the words of comfort, as they are called, and another Angel of lower rank going to meet the first as if to receive and partake of the light, and then receiving from him, as from a hierarch, the divine purpose, being directed to reveal to the theologian that Jerusalem should be inhabited by a great and fruitful nation.

Another theologian, Ezekiel, says that the most sacred edict came forth from the supremely glorious Godhead Itself, exalted above the Cherubim. For after the Father, as has been said, had in His mercy led the Children of Israel through disciplines to a better condition He decreed in His divine justice that the guilty should be separated from the innocent. This is first revealed to one below the Cherubim, who was girt about the loins with a sapphire, and was robed in a garment reaching to the feet, the symbol of an hierarch. But the Divine Law ordained that the other Angels armed with battle-axes should be instructed by the former respecting the divine judgment in this matter. For He directed the one to go through the midst of Jerusalem and to set a mark upon the foreheads of the innocent; but to the other Angels He said, 'Go into the city, following him, and strike, and turn not aside your eyes; but draw not near unto those upon whom is the mark'.

What could be said concerning the Angel who said to Daniel, 'The Word has gone forth'? or concerning that highest one who took the fire from the midst of the Cherubim? Or what could establish more clearly the distinction between the angelic ranks than this, that the Cherub cast the fire into the hands of him who was clothed with the sacred vestment? Or that He who called the most divine Gabriel to Himself said, 'Make this man understand the vision'? And many other similar things are related by the venerable theologians regarding the Divine Order of the Celestial Hierarchies.

By moulding itself after their likeness our own hierarchy will, as far as possible, be assimilated to it and will, in very deed, show forth, as in images, the angelic beauty; receiving its form from them, and being uplifted by them to the superessential Source of every Hierarchy.

An Image of an Angel by Perrugino

CHAPTER IX

Of the Principalities, Archangels and Angels, and of their last Hierarchy,.

There remains for us the reverent contemplation of that sacred Order which completes the Angelic Hierarchies, and is composed of the Divine Principalities, Archangels and Angels. And first, I think, I ought to explain to the best of my ability the meanings of their holy names.

The name of the Celestial Principalities signifies their Godlike princeliness and authoritativeness in an Order which is holy and most fitting to the princely Powers, and that they are wholly turned towards the Prince of Princes, and lead others in princely fashion, and that they are formed, as far as possible, in the likeness of the Source of Principality, and reveal Its superessential order by the good Order of the princely Powers.

The choir of the holy Archangels is placed in the same threefold Order as the Celestial Principalities; for, as has been said, there is one Hierarchy and Order which includes these and the Angels. But since each Hierarchy has first, middle and last ranks, the holy Order of Archangels, through its middle position, participates in the two extremes, being joined with the most .holy Principalities and with the holy Angels.

It is joined with the Princedoms because it is turned in a princely way to the superessential Principality and, as far as it can attain, moulds itself in His likeness, and it is seen to be the cause of the union of the Angels with its own orderly and invisible leadership. It is joined with the Angels because it belongs to the interpreting Order, receiving in its turn the illuminations from the First Powers, and beneficently announcing these revelations to the Angels; and by means of the Angels it shows them forth to us in the measure of the mystical receptivity of each one who is inspired by the divine Illumination. For the Angels, as we have said, fill up and complete the lowest choir of all the Hierarchies of the Celestial Intelligences since they are the last of the Celestial Beings possessing the angelic nature. And they, indeed, are more properly named Angels by us than are those of a higher rank because their choir is more directly in contact With manifested and mundane things.

The highest Order, as we have said, being in the foremost place near the Hidden One, must be regarded as hierarchically ordering in a bidden manner the second Order; and the second Order of Dominions, Virtues and Powers, leads the Principalities, Archangels and Angels more manifestly, indeed, than the first Hierarchy, but in a more hidden manner than the Order below it; and the revealing Order of the Principalities, Archangels and Angels presides one through the other over the human hierarchies so that their elevation and turning to God and their communion and union with Him may be in order; and moreover, that the procession from God, beneficently granted to all the Hierarchies, and visiting them all in common, may be with the most holy order.

Accordingly the Word of God has given our hierarchy into the care of Angels, for Michael is called Lord of the people of Judah, and other Angels are assigned to other peoples. For the Most High established the boundaries of the nations according to the number of the Angels of God.

If someone should ask why the Hebrews alone were guided to the divine Illuminations, we should answer that the turning away of the nations to false gods ought not to be attributed to the direct guidance of Angels, but to their own refusal of the true path which leads to God, and the falling away through selflove and perversity, and similarly, the worship of things which they regarded as divine.

Even the Hebrews are said to have acted thus, for he says, 'Thou hast cast away the knowledge of God and hast gone after thine own heart'. For our life is not ruled by necessity, nor are the divine irradiations of Providential Light obscured because of the freewill of those under Its care; but it is the dissimilarity of the mental eyes which causes the Light streaming forth resplendently from the Goodness of the Father to be either totally unshared and unaccepted through their resistance to It, or causes an unequal participation, small or great, dark or bright, of that Fontal Ray which nevertheless is one and unmixed, eternally changeless, and for ever abundantly shed forth.

For even if certain Gods not alien to them presided over the other nations (from which we ourselves have come forth into that illimitable and abundant sea of Divine Light which is outspread freely for all to share), yet there is one Ruler of all, and to Him the Angels who minister to each nation lead their followers.

Let us consider Melchisadek, the hierarch most beloved of God - not of vain gods, but a priest of the truly highest of Gods - for those wise in the things of God did not simply call Melchisadek the friend of God, but also priest, in order to show clearly to the wise that not only was he himself turned to Him who is truly God, but also, as hierarch, was the leader of others in the ascent to the true and only Godhead.

Let us also remind you in connection with your knowledge of hierarchy that Pharaoh was shown through visions by the Angel who presided over the Egyptians, and the Prince of Babylon was shown by his own Angel, the watchful and overruling Power of Providence. And for those nations the servants of the true God were appointed as leaders, the interpretations of angelic visions having been revealed from God through Angels to holy men near to the Angels, like Daniel and Joseph.

For there is one Sovereign and Providence of all, and we must never suppose that God was leader of the Jews by chance, nor that certain Angels, either independently, or with equal rank, or in opposition to one another, ruled over the other nations; but this teaching must be received according to the following holy intention, not as meaning that God had shared the sovereignty of mankind with other Gods, or with Angels, and had been chosen by chance as ruler and leader of Israel, but as showing that although one all-powerful Providence of the Most High consigned the whole of mankind to the care of their own Angels for their preservation, yet the Israelites, almost alone of them all, turned to the knowledge and light of the true God.

Therefore the Word of God, when relating how Israel devoted himself to the worship of the true God, says, 'He became the Lord's portion'. Moreover it shows that he too, equally with other nations, was given into the charge of one of the holy Angels, in order that he might know through him the one Principle of all things. For it says that Michael was the leader of the Jews, clearly showing that there is one Providence established superessentially above all the invisible and visible powers, and that all the Angels who preside over the different nations lift up to that Providence, as to their own Principle, as far as is in their power, those who willingly follow them.

CHAPTER X

Recapitulation and summary of the Angelic Hierarchies.

We have agreed that the most venerable Hierarchy of the Intelligences, which is close to God, is consecrated by His first and highest Ray, and uplifting itself directly to It, is purified, illuminated and perfected by the Light of the Godhead which is both more hidden and more revealed. It is more hidden because It is more intelligible, more simplifying, and more unitive, It is more revealed because It is the First Gift and the First Light, and more universal and more infused with the Godhead, as though transparent. And by this again the second in its own degree, and by the second the third, and by the third our hierarchy, according to the same law of the regular principle of order, in divine harmony and proportion, are hierarchically, led up to the super-primal Source and End of all good orders, according to that divinely established law.

Each Order is the interpreter and herald of those above it, the most venerable being the interpreter of God who inspires them, and the others in turn of those inspired by God. For that superessential harmony of all things has provided most completely for the holy regulation and the sure guidance of rational and intellectual beings by the establishment of the beautiful choirs of each Hierarchy; and we see that every Hierarchy possesses first, middle and last powers.

But to speak rightly, He also divided each rank in the same divine harmonies, and on this account the Scriptures say that the most divine Seraphim cry one to another, by which, as I think, it is clear that the first impart to the second their knowledge of divine things.

This may fittingly be added, that each Celestial and human intelligence contains in itself its own first, middle and last powers, which are manifested in a way analogous to the aforesaid ordination belonging to each of the Hierarchical illuminations; and accordingly each intelligence, as far as is right and attainable to it, participates in the most spotless purity, the most abundant light, and the most complete perfection. For nothing is self-perfect nor absolutely unindigent of perfection, save only That which is truly self-perfect and above all perfection.

CHAPTER XI

Why all the Celestial Hierarchies in common are called Celestial Powers.

Now that these things have been defined, the reason for applying the general name, Celestial Powers, to all the Angelic beings demands our consideration. For we cannot say of these, as we can of the Angels, that the Order of the holy Powers is the last of all; moreover, the higher Orders of beings, indeed, have part in the illuminations of the lowest, but the last by no means possess those of the first. And for this reason all the Divine Intelligences are called Celestial Powers, but never Seraphim or Thrones or Dominions; since the lowest do not share in the whole characteristics of the highest. For the Angels, and the Archangels above them, and the Principalities, and the ranks which are placed by theology after the Powers, are frequent1y called by us Celestial Powers, in common with all the other holy beings.

But we deny that in using the general name, Celestial Powers, for all we cause any confusion with regard to the characteristics of each Order. For all the Divine Celestial Intelligences are divided, according to the supermundane account of them, into three groups in respect of their essence, power and activity; and when we name all or some of them, loosely, Celestial Beings or Celestial Powers, we are referring to them indirectly in terms of that essence or power which each possesses.

But we must not assign the highest characteristics of the holy Powers (which we have already well distinguished) to all the natures wholly below them, for this would bring confusion into the clear and harmonious Order of Angels: for, as we have frequently rightly shown, the highest Orders possess in fullest measure the holy characteristics of the lower, but the lowest do not possess the pre-eminent unitive principles of those more venerable than themselves, because the First Radiance is imparted to them through the first Orders according to their capacity.

CHAPTER XII

Why the Hierarchs among men are called Angels.

Those who earnestly study the holy Scriptures sometimes ask, 'If the lowest ranks do not possess to the full the powers of those above them, why is our Hierarch called in the holy Word the Angel of the Omnipotent Lord?'

This, however, does not contradict what has been already defined. For we say that the lowest choirs do not possess the integral and pre-eminent power of the higher Orders, since they receive it partially, in the measure of their capacity, in accordance with the one harmonious and binding fellowship of all things.

For example, the choir of the holy Cherubim participates in higher wisdom and knowledge, whilst the Orders below them are themselves also partakers of wisdom and knowledge, but more partially, and in a lower degree proportioned to their capacity. For the universal participation in wisdom and knowledge is shared by all the Divine Intelligences, but the degree of participation, whether immediate and first, or second and inferior, is not common, but is determined for each by its own rank. This also may be rightly said of all the Divine Intelligences, that even as the first possess in the highest degree the holy characteristics of the Orders below them, so the lowest possess the powers of the higher, not in equal measure, but in a subordinate degree.

Therefore I do not think it unreasonable that the Scriptures should call our hierarchs Angels, since they participate according to their own power in the interpretative characteristic of the Angels, and uplift themselves, as far as is possible to man, into an assimilation to the Angels as revealers of truth.

You will find, moreover, that the Word of God not only calls these Celestial Beings above us Gods, but also gives this name to saintly men amongst us, and to those men who, in the highest degree, are lovers of God; although the First and Unmanifest God superessentially transcends all things, being enthroned above all, and therefore none of the beings or things which are can truly be said to be wholly like Him, save in so far as those intellectual and rational beings who are wholly turned towards union with Him, as far as is in their power, and who, uplifting themselves perpetually, as far as possible, to the Divine Radiance, in the imitation of God (if it be lawful so to speak) with all their powers, are thought worthy of the same divine name.

CHAPTER XIII

The reason why the prophet Isaiah is said to have been purified by the Seraphim.

Let us now deal to the best of our ability with the question why the Seraph is said to have been sent to one of the prophets. For someone may feel doubt or uncertainty as to why one of the beings of the highest rank is mentioned as cleansing the prophet, instead of one of the lower ranks of Angels.

Some, indeed, say that according to the description already given of the inter-relation of all the Intelligences, the passage does not refer to one of the first of the Intelligences nearest to God, as having come to purify the hierarch, but that one of those Angels who are our guardians was called by the same name as the Seraphim because of his sacred function of purifying the prophet, for the reason that the remission of sins and the regeneration of him who was purified to obedience to God was accomplished through fire. And they say also that the passage simply says one of the Seraphim, not of those established around God, but of the purifying powers which preside over us.

But another suggested to me a solution of the problem by no means unlikely, for he said that the great Angel, whoever he may have been, who fashioned this vision for the purpose of instructing the prophet in divine matters, referred his own office of purification first to God, and after God to that first Hierarchy. And is not this statement true? For he who said this said that the Divine First Power goes forth visiting all things, and irresistibly penetrates all things, and yet is invisible to all, not only as superessentially transcending all things, but also because It transmits Its Providential Energies in a hidden way through all things. Moreover, It is revealed to all Intellectual Natures in due proportion, and bestows the radiance of Its Light upon the most exalted beings through whom, as leaders, It is imparted to the lower choirs in order according to their power of divine contemplation; or to speak in more simple terms, by way of illustration (for although natural things do not truly resemble God, who transcends all, yet they are more easily seen by us), the light of the sun passes readily through the first matter, for this is more transparent, and by means of this it displays more brightly its own brilliance; but when it falls upon some denser material it is shed forth again less brightly because the material which is illuminated is not adapted for the transmission of light, and after this it is little by little diminished until it hardly passes through at all. Similarly, the heat of fire imparts itself more readily to that which is more adapted to receive it, being yielding and conductive to its likeness; but upon substances of opposite nature which are resistant to it, either no effect at all or only a slight trace of the action of the fire appears; and what is more, when fire is applied to materials of opposite nature through the use of other substances receptive to it the fire first heats the material which is easily made hot, and through it, heats proportionately the water or other substance which does not so easily become hot.

Thus, according to the same law of the material order, the Fount of all order, visible and invisible, supernaturally shows forth the glory of Its own radiance in all-blessed outpourings of first manifestation to the highest beings, and through them those below them participate in the Divine Ray. For since these have the highest knowledge of God, and desire pre-eminently the Divine Goodness, they are thought worthy to become first workers, as far as can be attained, of the imitation of the Divine Power and Energy, and beneficently uplift those below them, as far as is in their power, to the same imitation by shedding abundantly upon them the splendour which has come upon themselves; while these, in turn, impart their light to lower choirs. And thus, throughout the whole Hierarchy, the higher impart that which they receive to the lower, and through the Divine Providence all are granted participation in the Divine Light in the measure of their receptivity.

There is, therefore, one Source of Light for everything which is illuminated, namely, God, who by His Nature, truly and rightly, is the Essence of Light, and Cause of being and of vision. But it is ordained that in imitation of God each of the higher ranks of beings is the source in turn for the one which follows it; since the Divine Rays are passed through it to the other. Therefore the beings of all the Angelic ranks naturally consider the highest Order of the Celestial Intelligences as the source, after God, of all holy knowledge and imitation of God, because through them the Light of the Supreme God is imparted to all and to us. On this account they refer all holy works, in imitation of God, to God as the Ultimate Cause, but to the first Divine Intelligences as the first regulators and transmitters of Divine Energies.

Therefore the first Order of the holy Angels possesses above all others the characteristic of fire, and the abundant participation of Divine Wisdom, and the possession of the highest knowledge of the Divine Illuminations, and the characteristic of Thrones which symbolizes openness to the reception of God. The lower Orders of the Celestial Beings participate also in these fiery, wise and God-receptive Powers, but in a lower degree, and as looking to those above them who, being thought worthy of the primary imitation of God, uplift them, as far as possible, into the likeness of God.

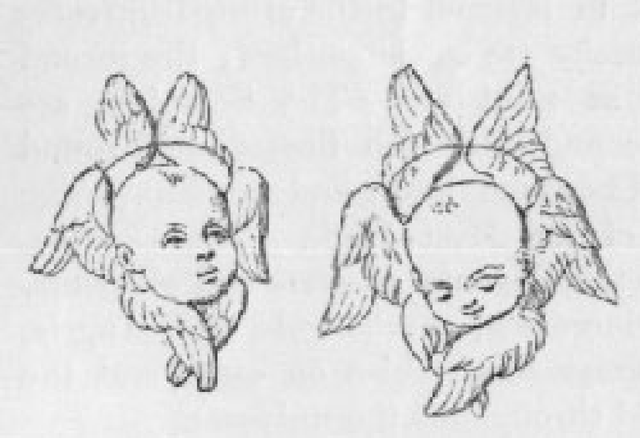
These holy characteristics in which the secondary natures are granted participation through the first, they ascribe to those very Intelligences, after God, as Hierarchs.

He who gave this explanation used to say that the vision was shown to the prophet by one of those holy and blessed Angels who preside over us, by whose enlightening guidance he was raised to that intellectual contemplation in which he beheld the most exalted Beings (to speak in symbols) established under God, with God and around God; and their super-princely Leader, ineffably uplifted above them all, established in the midst of the supremely exalted Powers.

The prophet, therefore, learned from these visions that, according to every superessential excellence, the divine One subsists in incomparable pre-eminence, excelling all visible and invisible powers, above and exempt from all; and that He bears no likeness even to those first-subsisting Beings; and moreover that He is the Principle and Cause of all being, and the Immutable Foundation of the abiding stability of things that are, from which the most exalted Powers have both their being and their well-being. Then he was instructed that the Divine Powers of the holy Scriptures, whose sacred name means 'The Fiery Ones', and of which we shall soon speak, as far as we can, led the upliftment of the fiery power towards the Divine Likeness.

When the holy prophet saw in the sacred vision of the sixfold wings the most high and absolute upliftment to the Divine in first, middle and last Intelligences, and beheld their many feet and many faces, and perceived that their eyes and their feet were covered by their wings, and that the middle wings were in ceaseless movement, he was guided to the intelligible knowledge of that which was seen through the revelation to him of the farreaching and far-seeing power of the most exalted Intelligences, and of their holy awe which they have in a supermundane manner in the bold and persistent and unending search into higher and deeper Mysteries, and the perfect harmony of their ceaseless activity in imitation of God, and their perpetual upward soaring to the heights.

Moreover, he also learned that divine and most glorious song of praise; for the Angel who fashioned the vision gave, as far as possible, his own holy knowledge to the prophet. He also taught him that every participation in the Divine Light and Purity, as far as this may be attained, is a purification, even to the most pure. Having its source in the Most High God, it proceeds from the most exalted Causes in a superessential and hidden manner, traversing the whole of the Divine Intelligences, and yet it shows itself more clearly, and imparts itself more fully to the most exalted Powers around God.



Cherubs, by Pinturicchio

But as to the secondary or last intellectual powers, or our own powers, in proportion as each is further from the Divine Likeness, so the Divine Ray enfolds Its most brilliant light within Its own ineffable and hidden Unity. Moreover, It illuminates the second Orders severally through the first, and in short, It comes forth originally into manifestation from the Unmanifest through the first Powers.

The prophet was taught by the Angel who was leading him to light that the divine purification, and all the other divine activities shining forth through the First Beings, are imparted to all the others in the measure of the fitness of each for the divine participations.

Wherefore he reasonably assigned to the Seraphim, after God, the characteristic of imparting purification by fire. And there is nothing unreasonable in the representation of the Seraph as purifying the prophet; for just as God Himself, the cause of every purification, purifies all, or rather (to use a more familar illustration), just as our hierarch, when purifying or enlightening through his priests or ministers, may himself be said to purify and illuminate, because those orders which he has consecrated refer their sacred activities to him, so also the Angel who purifies the prophet refers his own purifying power and knowledge to God as its origin, but to the Seraph as the first-working Hierarch-as though saying with angelic reverence when instructing him who was being purified: 'There is an exempt Source and Essence and Creator and Cause of the purification effected in you by me, He who brings into being the First Beings, and holds them established round Himself, and preserves their changeless stability, and guides them towards the first participations in His own Providential Energies.' (For this, so he said who taught me, shows the mission of the Seraph.) 'But the Hierarch and Leader, after God, the first Order of the first Beings, by whom I was taught to perform the divine purifications, is that which purifies thee through me; and through it the Cause and Creator of all purification brought forth His Providential Energies to us from the hidden depths.'

Thus he taught me, and I in turn impart it to thee. It is for thy intellectual and discriminating skill either to accept one of the two reasons given as a solution of the difficulty, and prefer that to the other as probable and reasonable and perhaps true, or to find from thyself something more akin to the real truth, or learn from another (God indeed giving the word, and Angels directing it), and then to reveal to us who love the Angels a clearer, and to me more welcome view, if such should be possible.

CHAPTER XIV

What the traditional number of the Angels signifies.

This also is worthy, I think, of intellectual consideration, that the scriptural tradition respecting the Angels gives their number as thousands of thousands and ten thousand times ten thousand, multiplying and repeating the very highest numbers we have, thus clearly showing that the Orders of the Celestial Beings are innumerable for us; so many are the blessed Hosts of the Supermundane Intelligences, wholly surpassing the feeble and limited range of our material numbers. And they are definitely known only by their own supermundane and celestial Intellect and the knowledge which is granted to them allbounteously by the All-knowing Mother-Wisdom of the Most High God, which is superessentially at once the substantiating Cause, the connecting Power, and the universal Consummation of all principles and things.

CHAPTER XV

What is the meaning of the formal semblances of the Angelic Powers? What of the fiery and the anthropomorphic? What is meant by their yes, nostrils, ears, mouths, touch, eyelids eyebrows their manhood, teeth, shoulders, arms, hands, heart, breasts, backs, feet and wings? What are the nakedness and the vesture, the shining raiment, the priestly insignia, the girdles? What are the rods, spears, battle-axes and measuring-lines? What are the winds and clouds? What is meant by their brass and electron? What are the choirs and the clapping of bands? What are the colours of the various jewels?

What is the form of the lion, the ox, the eagle? What are the horses, and their various colours? What are the rivers, the chariots, the wheels? What is the so-called joy of the Angels?

Let us, if you are so disposed, now relax our mental vision from the effort of the contemplation of the sublimity of the Angels, and descend to the particularized, all-various expanse of the manifold diversity of forms in angelic images; and then return analytically from them, as from symbols, ascending again to the simplicity of the Celestial Intelligences. But first let me point out clearly to you that the explanations of the sacred likenesses represent the same Orders of Celestial Beings sometimes as leading, and again being led, and the last leading and the first being led, and the same ones, as has been said, having first, middle and last powers. But there is nothing unreasonable in the account, according to the following method of unfoldment.

If, indeed, we said that some are first governed by those above them, and afterwards govern those Orders, and that the highest, whilst leading the lowest ranks, are at the same time being led by those whom they are leading, the statement would be obviously absurd and wholly confused. But if we say that these holy Orders both lead and are led, but not the same ones, nor by the same ones, but that each is led by those above itself, and in turn leads those below it, we may reasonably say that the Scripture in its sacred symbolic presentation sometimes rightly and truly assigns the same powers to the first, middle and last ranks.

Wherefore the eager upward tending to those above them, and the constancy of their revolution around them, being guardians of their own powers, and their participation in the providential power of proceeding forth to those below them through their own inter-relations, will truly befit all the Celestial Beings, although some pre-eminently and universally, others in a partial and lower degree.

But we must begin to deal with the remaining part of our discourse, and must ask, in first explanation of the forms, why the Word of God prefers the sacred symbol of fire almost above all others. For you will find that it is used not only under the figure of fiery wheels, but also of living creatures of fire, and of men flashing like lightning who heap live coals of fire about the Heavenly Beings, and of irresistibly rushing rivers of flame. Also it says that the Thrones are of fire, and it shows from their name that the most exalted Seraphim themselves are burning with fire, assigning to them the qualities and forces of fire; and throughout, above and below, it gives the highest preference to the symbol of fire.

Therefore I think that this image of fire signifies the perfect conformity to God of the Celestial Intelligences For the holy prophets frequently liken that which is superessential and formless to fire which (if it may lawfully be said) possesses many resemblances as in visible things to the Divine Reality. For the sensible fire is in some manner in everything, and pervades all things without mingling with them, and is exempt from all things and, although wholly bright, yet lies essentially hidden and unknown when not in contact with any substance on which it can exert its own energy. It is irresistible and invisible, having absolute rule over all things, bringing under its own power all things in which it subsists. It has transforming power, and imparts itself in some measure to everything near it. It revives all things by its revivifying heat, and illuminates them all with its resplendent brightness. It is insuperable and pure, possessing separative power, but itself changeless, uplifting, penetrative, high, not held back by servile baseness, ever-moving, selfmoved, moving other things. It comprehends, but is incomprehensible, unindigent, mysteriously increasing itself and showing forth its majesty according to the nature of the substance receiving it, powerful, mighty, invisibly present to all things. When not thought of, it seems not to exist, but suddenly enkindles its light in the way proper to its nature by friction, as though seeking to do so, uncontrollably flying upwards without diminishing its all-blessed self- giving.

Thus many properties of fire may be found which symbolize through sensible images the Divine activities. Knowing this, those wise in the things of God have portrayed the Celestial Beings under the figure of fire, thus proclaiming their likeness to the Divine, and their imitation of Him in the measure of their power.

But they also invest them with the likeness of men because of the human powers of intellect and aspiration, the straight and erect form, the inherent power of guiding and governing; and because man, although least in sense- perception in comparison with the powers of irrational creatures, yet rules over them all through the pre-eminence of his intellect, the lordship of his rational knowledge, and the intrinsic freedom of his unconquerable soul.

Thus it is possible, I think, to find in the various parts of our bodies fitting symbols of the Celestial Powers by taking, for example, the power of sight as an image of their most transparent upliftment to the Divine Light, their single, free, unresisting reception of that Light, their responsiveness and pure receptivity without passion to the divine illuminations.

The human power of distinguishing odours signifies the power to receive the inconceivable and most fragrant divine influences, as far as is attainable, and the definite recognition and utter rejection of others not of this kind.

An Angel as envisioned by Rembrandt

The power of the ears denotes participation in and conscious gnostic receptivity to divine inspiration. The power of taste represents an abundance of spiritual food and the reception of divine streams of nourishment.

The power of touch symbolizes the power of distinguishing that which is of advantage from that which is harmful. The eyelids and eyebrows represent the guarding of intellectual conceptions in divine contemplations. The images of youth and vigour denote their perpetual bloom and vigour of life. The teeth symbolize the distribution of the sustaining perfection supplied to them; for each Intellectual Order, receiving a unitive conception from the Divine, with Providential Power divides and multiplies it for the proportionate upliftment of the one below.

The shoulders, arms and hands signify the powers of activity and accomplishment. The heart is a symbol of that Divine Life which imparts its own life-giving power beneficently to those within its care. We may add that the chest, being placed over the heart, represents the indomitable power which guards its own life-giving dispensations. The back denotes that strength which holds together all the life-giving powers. The feet signify the power of motion, swiftness and skilfulness in the evermoving advance towards divine things. Wherefore the prophet described the feet of the Celestial Intelligences as being covered by their wings which symbolize a swift soaring to the heights, and the heavenly progression up the steep, and the exemption from everything earthly through the upward ascent. The lightness of the wings shows that they are altogether heavenly and unsullied and untrammelled in their upliftment on high. The naked and unshod feet symbolize their free, easy and unrestrained power, pure from all externality, and assimilated, as far as is attainable, to the Divine Simplicity.

But since that single and manifold Wisdom both clothes the naked and assigns to them implements to carry, let us unfold, as far as we can, these sacred garments and instruments of the Celestial Intelligences.

Their shining and fiery vestures symbolizes, I think, the Divine Likeness under the image of fire, and their own enlightening power, because they abide in Heaven, where Light is: and also it shows that they impart wholly intelligible Light, and are enlightened intellectually.

Their priestly garment symbolizes their authority as leaders to the mystical and divine contemplations, and the consecration of their whole life. The girdles denote their guardianship of their own generative power, and their state of unification, for they are wholly drawn together towards their essential unity surrounding it in a perfect circle with changeless sameness.

The rods are tokens of the authority of sovereignty and leadership and the true directing of all things. The spears and battle-axes represent the power of dividing incongruous things and the keen, vigorous and effectual power of discrimination. The measuring-lines and carpenters' tools are figures of the power of foundation and erection and perfection, and whatever else belongs to the providential guidance and upliftment of the lower orders. Sometimes, however, the implements assigned to the holy Angels symbolize the divine judgment upon ourselves; for some are figures of His corrective discipline of avenging justice, others of freedom from difficulties, or the perfection of disciplinary instruction, or the restoration to our first happiness, while others signify the addition of other gifts, great or small, sensible or intelligible; and no acute mind would have any difficulty at all in finding the correspondence between the visible symbols and the invisible realities.

The name winds given to the Angels denotes their swift operations, and their almost immediate impenetration of everything, and a transmitting power in all realms, reaching from the above to the below, and from the depths to the heights, and the power which uplifts the second natures to the height above them, and moves the first to a participative and providential upliftment of the lower.

But perhaps it may be said that the name winds, applied to the aerial spirit, signifies the Divine Likeness in the Celestial Beings. For the figure is a true image and type of Divine Energy (as is shown more fully in the Symbolical Theology in our fourfold explanation) corresponding to the moving and generative forces of Nature, and a swift and irresistible advance, and the mystery, unknown and unseen by us, of the motive principles and ends. For He says: 'Thou knowest not whence it cometh nor whither it goeth.' The Scriptures also depict them as a cloud, showing by this that these holy Intelligences are filled in a supermundane manner with the hidden Light, receiving that first revelation without undue glorying, and transmitting it with abundant brightness to the lower Orders as a secondary, proportionate illumination; and further, that they, possess generating, lifegiving, increasing and perfecting powers by reason of their intelligible outpourings, as of showers quickening the receptive womb of earth by fertilizing rains for life-giving travail.

The Scriptures also liken the Celestial Beings to brass and electron, and many coloured jewels. Now electron, [an alloy of silver and gold] resembling both gold and silver, is like gold in its resistance to corruption unspent and undiminished, and its undimmed brightness; and is like silver in its shining and heavenly lustre. But the symbolism of brass (in line with the explanations already given) must resemble that of fire or gold. Again, of the many coloured varieties of stones, the white represents that which is luminous, and the red corresponds to fire, yellow to gold, and green to youth and vigour. Thus corresponding to each figure you will find a mystical interpretation which relates these symbolical images to the things above.

But now, since this has been sufficiently explained, I think, according to our ability, let us pass on to the sacred unfoldment of the symbolism which depicts the Celestial Intelligences in the likeness of beasts.

The form of a lion must be regarded as typifying their power of sovereignty, strength and indomitableness, and the ardent striving upward with all their powers to that most hidden, ineffable, mysterious Divine Unity and the covering of the intellectual foot-prints, (7) and the mystically modest concealment of the way leading to divine union through the Divine Illumination.

The figure of the ox signifies strength and vigour and the opening of the intellectual furrows to the reception of fertilizing showers; and the horns signify the guarding and unconquerable power. The form of the eagle signifies royalty and high soaring and swiftness of flight and the eager seizing of that food which renews their strength, discretion, and ease of movement and skill, with strong intensity of vision which has the power to gaze unhindered, directly and unflinchingly upon the full and brilliant splendour of the brightness of the Divine Sun.

The symbolism of horses represents obedience and tractability. The shining white horses denote clear truth and that which is perfectly assimilated to the Divine Light the dark, that which is hidden and secret; the red, fiery might and energy; the dappled black and white, that power which traverses all and connects the extremes, providential1y and with perfecting power uniting the highest to the lowest and the lowest to the highest.

If we had not to bear in mind the length of our discourse, we might well describe the symbolic relations of the particular characteristics of animals already given, and all their bodily forms, with the powers of the Celestial Intelligences according to dissimilar similitudes: for example, their fury of anger represents an intellectual power of resistance of which anger is the last and faintest echo; their desire symbolizes the Divine Love; and in short, we might find in all the irrational tendencies and many parts of irrational creatures, figures of the immaterial conceptions and single powers of the Celestial Beings. This, however, is enough for the prudent, for one mystical interpretation will sufficiently serve as an example for the explanation of others of a similar kind.

We must now consider the representations of the Celestial Beings in connection with rivers and wheels and chariots. The rivers of flame denote those Divine Channels which fill them with super-abundant and eternally out- pouring streams and nourish their life-giving prolificness.

The chariots symbolize the conjoined fellowship of those of the same Order; the winged wheels, ever moving onward, never turning back or going aside, denote the power of their progressive energy on a straight and direct path in which all their intellectual revolutions are supermundanely guided upon that straight and unswerving course.

The figure of the spiritual wheels can also have another mystical meaning, for the prophet says that the name Gel, Gel is given to them, which in the Hebrew tongue means revolutions and revelations. For the divine fiery wheels truly revolve, by reason of their ceaseless movement, around the highest Good Itself, and they are granted revelations because to them the holy hidden Mysteries are made clear, and the earthly are lifted up, and the high illuminations are brought down and imparted to the lowest orders.

The last thing for us to explain is the joy attributed to the Celestial Orders. For they are utterly above and beyond our passionate pleasures. But they are said to rejoice with God over the finding of that which was lost, as well befits the Godlike mildness of their nature, and as befits their beneficent and boundless joy at the providential salvation of those who are turned to God, and that ineffable bliss in which holy men have often participated when the illuminations of God have divinely visited them.

Let this be a sufficient account of those sacred symbols which, although it falls far short of their full interpretation, will yet, I think, contribute to prevent us from lingering basely in the figures and forms themselves.

If you should point out that we have not mentioned in order all the Angelic powers, activities and images described in the scriptures, we should answer truly that we do not possess the supermundane knowledge of some, or rather that we have need of another to guide us to the light and instruct us; but others have been passed over for the sake of proportion, as being parallel to what has been given; and the hidden Mysteries which lie beyond our view we have honoured by silence.

NOTES

(1) 'A chain likewise extends from on high, as far as to the last of things, secondary natures always expressing the powers of the natures prior to them, progression indeed diminishing the similitude, but all things at the same time, and even such as most obscurely participate of existence, bearing a similitude to the first causes, and being co-passive with each other and with their original causes.'-Proclus, Tbeology of Plato, VI.4

(2) 'For everything which is converted hastens to be conjoined with its cause and aspires after communion with it.'-Proposition XXXII. Proclus, Metaphysical Elements.

'The soul ought first to examine its own nature, to know whether it has the faculty of contemplating spiritual things, and whether it has indeed an eye wherewith to see them, and if it ought to embark on the quest. If the spiritual is foreign to it, what is the use of trying? But if there is a relationship between us and it, we both can and ought to find it.' Plotinus, Ennead, V. 1- 3

(3) 'The progressions of beings, however, are completed through similitude. But the terminations of the higher orders are united to the beginnings of second orders. And one series and indissoluble order extends from on high through the surpassing goodness of the First Cause and His unified Power. For because indeed He is One He is the supplier of union; but because He is the Good He constitutes things similar to Him prior to such as are dissimilar. And thus all things are in continuity with each other. For if this continuity were broken there would not be union.'-Proclus, Tbeology of Plato, VI.11.

(4) 'Everything which proceeds in the divine orders is not naturally adapted to receive all the powers of its producing cause. Not in short, are secondary natures able to receive all the powers of the natures prior to themselves, but the latter have certain powers exempt from things in in inferior order, and incomprehensible by the beings posterior to themselves.'-Proposition CL. Proclus, Metaphysical Elements.

(5) 'There are nine Orders of Angels, figures of the nine Archetypes in God; and each one obtains a name corresponding to the property in God which it exhibits.' Further, the Cherubim are those 'who may be called loving Wisdoms, as those first may be called wise Loves. For there is in each both love and wisdom. But in the first, inasmuch as they are nearer to God, the very Sun of Truth, this exists in a far greater degree. ... Such then is the difference between these Orders: namely, that in the latter is knowledge proceeding from love; in the former is love proceeding from knowledge.' 'In the third rank are those who, from their unity, simplicity, constancy and firmness, are sometimes called Thrones, sometimes Seats; who' themselves also are wise and loving. But from their simplicity, they have the attributes of unity, power, strength, fortitude, steadfastness. Which very attributes the Cherubim and Seraphim also possess.... Steadfastness comes from simplicity, simplicity from purification. For when each object is purified back to its own simple nature, then, being uncompounded, it remains indissoluble through its unity. Whence it is clear that purification is assigned to the Thrones. Moreover, when a thing is purified, it is illumined, and after it is illumined, it is perfected. This last office is given to the Seraphs, the other to the Cherubs. Among them all, in every threefold manncr, there is a striving with all their might to imitate God; who is Purification Itself, the Parent of unities; who is the very Illumination of those unities; who is lastly the very Perfection of the illuminated. Power cleanses, clear truth makes serene, finished love makes perfect.' 'Thus does God beam forth with firmness, wisdom and love in the Thrones, Cherubs and Seraphs, which threefold system of the Divine Ray goes forth, and causes that in the Powers, Virtues and Dominions there should be reflected His divine and firm Power, His wise Virtue and the most loving Dominion; and that the Trinity of God, coequal in Itself, should shine with softened lustre, filling now the second place under that first one.' 'Among all the Angels, from the higher ones even down to us, there is a mutual and alternate announcement proceeding from above; as they receive and deliver in turn what they announce in a marvellous and most beautiful order. Since among the Angels themselves there is an order of all ordinances after the pattern of the Order of all.... But every announcement is a receiving, informing, purifying, enlightening, perfecting and representing of the Divine Truth; the Light of which as it goes forth in order and shines upon all, so distinguishes and marks each object in a wonderful manner, that everything shines forth in it in its own proper quality, and stands out and appears in its own nature, with its individual powers and office, exhibiting in its own degree some perfection in God, in whom all perfection is in its highest; nay, rather, who is Himself the proper Perfection of every one, perfecting all things, in whom there is nothing perfect but Himself.' John Colet, Works, J.H. Lupton, ed., (London: G. Bell, 1869).

(6) 'For all things concur with each other through similitude, and communicate the powers which they possess. And first natures, indeed, impart by illumination the gift of themselves to secondary natures, in unenvying abundance. But effects are established in their causes. An indissoluble connection, likewise, and comnmunion of wholes, and a colligation of agents and patients, are surveyed in the world.'-Proclus, Tbeology of Plato, VI.4

(7) The lion was said by the ancients to erase his footprints with his tail.

Warning!
This translation is not a professional translation,
it might have some mistakes.
I hope you will enjoy the first and only
English translation of the Ginza Raba.
For more translated texts join our telegram group.
t.me/mandaen_friends
Greetings may heyy bless you all!

Translated by Ram Al Sabiry
Abdul Kareem Abdul Jabbar Abdul Emam
24. June 2022, Nuremberg Germany

Mandaean friends

TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH
BY RAM AL SABIRY

Ginza Rabba

TREASURE

or

THE GREAT BOOK OF THE MANDAEANS

[illegible]

TRANSLATED AND EXPLAINED

of

MARK LIDZBARSKI

English translation by Ram Al Sabiry

GöttINGEN
VANDENHOECK & RUPRECHT
1925

LEIPZIG
J. C. HINRICHS
BOOKSTORE

Introduction.

Na'man, the field captain of the King of Aram in Damascus, was a brave man, but a leper. On the advice of a young prisoner from Israel he goes to the Prophet Elisha in Samaria, that he may send him from Cure leprosy. Elisha tells him to bathe in the Jordan seven times, his flesh will be healed and purified. Na'man is about this Let me know. ,,Are not Abānā and Parpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters in Israel? Could I not bathe in them and get in?But at the persuasion of his servants, he heeds the counsel the man of God, he dives seven times in the Jordan, and thereupon his skin is as pure as that of a young boy (2 Kings 5).

We see from this that the Jordan has a greater healing effect- it was written as more respectable rivers. The reason can only be explained by- muten. Like no other river in front Asia, it pours out into- spoken direction from north to south. In the north, however, the Seat of the gods. The Jordan also springs from a mountain that, like his name Hermön shows, especially related to the gods be. After that, it was possible to get more from it than from other rivers- that his water may come from the seat of the gods, thus divine It carries with it potency and contains healing power. How alive these The concept of "living water" is pp. 281, 19ff. ').

For a long time we hear nothing of the effect of the Jordan. Only in the Gospels we read that John had a peravoias ice on the Jordan čferv araptiiv (Mk. 1:4; Lk. 3, 3). The Change of Mind and repentance was not the effect, but the occasion of baptism, which The effect was the forgiveness of sins, or actually the eradication of sins. Which The perception of the effect of the Jordan had changed. Not more healing of the body, but healing of the soul was sought in him. The same water that used to wash away the cicatrices corporis should now eradicate the vulnera animae. In both cases, the effect is in the same The reason for this is the connection of water with the divine being. You were, of course, no longer as under more primitive conditions of the commonslopes consciously.

---

1) In the two-stream country, the Euphrates was especially revered, while the Tigris resignation, cf. Jastrow, Religion of Babylonia and Assyria I, p. 378; Cumont, Etudes szriennes, p. 247ff. Also among the Mandaeans, the Euphrates is more often referred to as Fraš-Zīwā in- related to religion.

Through the baptism of Christ in the Jordan, the Jordan baptism received its- interpretation within Christianity, but only as a moment ofinnerung. And even if tens of thousands still go on pilgrimage every year, in order to submerge in the supposed place in the Jordan Water, a commandment the baptism of the Jordan is not for Christendom. But outside of the Christiantums, yes, in a community hostile to Christianity- the baptism of the Jordan is a commandment, yes, it is in the center of your reli- among the Mandaeans in Babylonia.

May names that sound like Jordan, also elsewhere for rivers occur, and may the word originally have appellative meaning in historical times and in the Middle East, Jordan can only have the Palestinian river, and the commandment of the baptism of the Jordan can be refer only to this river. A religious community in which this commandment did not arise for a one-time or rare act, butfor a frequent, even almost daily exercise, your seat must be originally it was near the Jordan. When the Mandaeans are in their Scriptures call every flowing water Jordan, so this can only be a Which they used when they were far away from the original Seats of their faith. I have Joh., p. XVIff., Lit., p. XIXff. after many factual and linguistic moments, I wanted to show that although in the time of which we know, the Mandaeans established their headquarters in Babylonia, their homeland was originally in the West shall. I also tried to locate her seat more closely: in the Transjordan- areas in view of the Haurān Mountains. What is said there, I want here do not repeat, but want to highlight some new moments.

From the genius Haurān I suspected that in him the deified Haurān- The mountains are preserved. In fact, a deity pn is already found in in ancient times, in the name of pnaay on the seal, which was signed by Clermont-Ganneau in the Journal Asiatique 1883, Vol. I, p. 141, p. n. 17 (Vol. II Table see p. 304). The letters all have an archaic form. Unfortunately missing the signs that provide a special support for age determination, nevertheless, the seal is probably of the first half of the first millennium B.C. to assign.

Brandt combined the Mandaean script with the Nabataean and especially based on the Ã similärity of the round Mandaean aleph with the Aleph of the Nabataean Scripture'). In the forms known to him

---

1) The Mandaeans (1915), p. 33.

however, the agreement is not great. Meanwhile, it showed but that on the oldest Mandaean written monuments, on coins the Character that Aleph has a form that is completely similar to Nabataean'). The form is so singular that it is not independent at different points in- they may have arisen from each other, but the Mandaean Scripture must have related to the Nabataean genuin. The branch of the Aramaic Scripture, which was formed in Babylonia, is the Scripture that Mānī- and which became the scripture of Manichaeism"). In the same area nor can two different Aramaic writings have arisen. The Mandaeans must rather have their writing from abroad, from the Be- the kingdoms of the Nabataeans.

Of the religion of the Nabataeans we know very little. Your literature has been lost, and their inscriptions offer of religion only Externally. Some things in the Mandaean prehistory that are unknown to us or a neighboring people in the Arab-Syrian border- so perhaps the doctrine of the four world epochs with their heads. The names DN7 and are otherwise unknown. name שורבאי and probably hang with the twist שארהיב שורבאתא ,Tribes spread" also ,,establish" (R 240, 24; 244, 14, 24; 251, 2 and otherwise) together. Next to anonymous is the Syrian ananw, but otherwise u has only the Arabic surbah, and byenntnz is probably due to the Arabic, especially influenced by South Arabian names. The name of the country jnann, a paradisiacal area (see p. 301ff.), can neither be excluded the Aramaic, which can still be explained from the Canaanite, on the other hand, offers the Arabic parwan ,"rich, lush" a good explanation.

Among the geniuses of the Mandaeans, there are many who can be found in the biblical But from this alone its essence cannot be derived explain. The Hebrews certainly did not stand with their prehistory isolated there, the neighboring peoples will have taught Ã something similar. I was looking for to show that Adam and Eve were also in the religion of the Phoenicians- they existed, but in a more primitive form, as a chthonic god- Adam as king Earth, Hawwah as Queen Serpent"). In the bib- in the narrative of Abel, the most remarkable his violent death. The Mandaean hibil is not mentioned anywhere- played. Of course, his death could be reinterpreted as a Descensus ad inferos but I can't imagine that if the teaching of Hibil only went back to Genesis, where he was called to the Savior and salvation- he was not made to bring Cain to his counterpart, to Ver- the evil one would have done. But the figure of Cain is entirely unknown.

---

1) Journal of Numismatics XXXIII (1921), p. 85.

*) See Proceedings of the Berlin Academy 1916, p. 1213ff.

a) Nachrichten der Göttinger Gesellschaft der Wissenschaften, Phil.-hist. Class 1916, p. 90f.

Such a huge upheaval in the religious field as the one- this presupposes them (see Lit., p. XVf.), can not be done overnight- even less, she was able to stabilize herself quickly and to We believe in other circles. But we lack any possibility of a Take a look at these processes. Of the two powers that exist in The central points of the Mandaean religion, light and life, go probably the penetration of the idea of light is due to Persian influence. Since the 6th century BC, there has been enough opportunity to be- the flow of the peoples of the Near East through the Mazdajasnian religion. Since- may be opposed to speculation about life and the final position of absolute life at the head of all that is divine among the Semites themselves have come up. The old connection of the concepts of life and salvation ') may have had an effect on this. Since ancient times, the countries of the asia in connection with Babylonia and Egypt. In the priest- of Phoenicia and Syria were probably also tried, to sublimate religion, to move the gods to a higher sphere. The early advent of the celestial Eel and the spread of its Cults speak for it. When the literatures of these peoples have been lost and we have no sources to rely on, so are we are therefore not entitled to deny the possibility. What is the term in the life of the world, so be mindful of the connection of one with gods in phoenician inscriptions*). Here p. 452,5 (587, 24) the Ge- thank you for putting the soul into the pocket of life be. The same thought is strange in the mouth of Abigail, when Wish Statement 1. Sam. 25, 29, except that in the present context ,"Bundle" or "bag of life" is understood as a bag in which life, like other valuables, is kept. The Jews take set the sentence for yourself and put the words pynn anys nainy (12e)) 120) nn, usually in the abbreviation nayn, on their tombstones. Despite the age it does not seem to me impossible that the sentence from a In which one has a similar idea of life and the soul had, as with the Mandaeans, that originally there was also,bag the meaning of life": a bag in the possession of life as a means of- that the sentence is within the scope of the author, who used him in his own way.

In any case, it seems impossible to me that the beginnings to transfer Mandaism to the Christian era. This already shows the The position of the Mandaeans towards the Jews. The bitter hatred of the Jews, which from their writings, could also be found in later times in Babylonia, but the motive of the persecution by the Jews (see

---

1) See Baudissin, Adonis and Esmun, p. 385ff.

2) Ty in CIS I, 95, see Old Semitic Texts I, p. 33 s. n. 35 and news A. A. O., p. 88. DN well ,,Life of life", quintessence of life, in the consecration-inscription of the Micipsa North Semitic Epigraphy, p. 439.

especially p. 341ff.) could hardly arise in Babylonia. Jew there were strangers there and only tolerated and there will be riots against People of other faiths hardly dared. Even less is available to me for a later The expectation of the destruction of Jerusalem is understandable. Jerusalem was in the first centuries AD, it was destroyed and lay as never before. In Babylonia there was also no reason to deal with the fate of the Dealing with the city. On the other hand, these ideas are understandable to me with hetero- doxen circles, which still existed at the time of the Jewish Empire, in which The area of power lived. The zealous Jewish legalists will have endeavored to oppress people who paid homage to other teachings, and Communities that took other paths, which after an internalization religion, and in the outward piety of the rabbini- jews saw a false faith and a apostasy from God, may they have lived in the hope that Jerusalem, with its false The cult will soon be destroyed.

To my disputes about Naǧwpaios nn-ens Lit., p. XVIff. and the attempt to show that the word does not mean a man from Nazareth many discussions have taken place. In general the philologists agreed with me, while the theologians at the The statement). If things are so that for Naǧapéd (Naǧa- pér) only this form of name has been handed down, that all the forms that have been put forward in order to establish a connection between Našapéd and Našwpaios, i.e. are נוצרי invented and contrived, that on the other hand Naǧwpaïos is a A form that is otherwise exclusively representative of a profession, especially a specific teaching activity *), so for each unab- those who think hard have decided the question. Straight from the words Mt. 2, 23, on which one relies, it seems to me that one Jesus' parents lived in Nazareth in order to find an explanation for Naǧwpaīos have. If Nazareth was really the home of Jesus, here we have a coincidental coincidence, as it also happens otherwise. Mohammed called his helpers from Medina ansar and apparently also thought of the nasara, the Nazarenes, as the ansar, as the helpers of Jesus"). The two words they are of the same tribe, but they have nothing to do with each other.

---

1) The Ed. In his book The Origin and Beginnings of Christianity for the old declaration occurs (Vol. II, p. 423f.), is in the whole direction of the book itself-understandable. In Nazoraios, Zeitschrift für Semitistik I (1922), p. 230ff. I showed that the information he relies on is wrong.

2) ANTON, Amurian, Talmud teacher from earlier times; ANTIED, Säböräer, Talmud teacher from later times; w, Tānöjäer, Mišnahlelrer, for the more common NJ (by Dalman, Grammar", p. 90 unt. incorrectly explained); ,,Reiter' (Schulthess, Lexicon Syro-palaestinum, p. 164b). In the ending āi, the iodine becomes when a vowel is added. for Alef, as is usually the case, especially in Palestinian Aramaic, see Barth, Nominal-education, p. 81; Schulthess, Grammatik des christl.-palace. Aramaic, § 22.2. See ibrigens also here p. 1354.

") Sur. 3, 45; 61, 14. See also Sprenger, Mohammad II, p. 533.

The Nağwpaio: of Epiphanius (haer. 29) have probably got their name from the same source, perhaps also the Nacapaioi (haer. 18), but they left other ways, and according to what Epiphanius said of these Judeo-Christian They have nothing in common with the Mandaeans. The Mandaean religion was probably founded even before the- the Jewish Empire was transplanted to Babylonia. Maybe it was it is precisely the persecution by the ruling Jewish circles that There was a reason for this. But we lack any historical news about how we have no tradition at all about the history of the Mandaeans have. Their gaze is too intensely focused on the Hereafter for them to paid much attention to the events of this world. Only one legendary clothing is available, which is dedicated to the person of the Mirjai socialize. The legend is described in detail in the Book of John (II, p. 126ff.) and in a poem of the Oxford Liturgy (Lit., p. 209ff.), only at- is played on you here p. 341. Mirjai, a virgin of royal He turns away from Judaism and joins the Naşöreans to. She is persecuted by the Jews and flees from them after babylonien. The name Mirjai is a transformation of Miriam, Mariam, a Type of transformation, as is usually the case with the Mandaeans, also with find the Elxaite'). That these Mirjai with one of the New Testament I don't think Mary is the same. But that the heroine has a name which was especially popular with the Jews in the age of Jesus, shows that the legend of a historical core is not entirely lacking.

Probably, the Mandaeans have the activity of John the Baptist, which, after all, arose from the same movement, witnessed in the West, maybe even participated in it. That they only returned to John- go, as is often assumed, I do not think.

The bundle of religious demands that they took into the foreign, it wasn't big. First came the demand for baptism in living water. Perhaps it has been reported that Babylonia is particularly rich in The waters are causing them to turn straight there. Then came sacraments, sacramental food and sacramental drink (פיהתא and nnadnd), sincerity and community among the Brothers (nochs and neons) and especially emphasizes charity (npy). Although they are in opposition to Judaism at home, they will probably in a foreign country, like the spreading Christianity, Anschluss an they searched for and found the Jews there. About the religious Ver- the conditions that you found in Babylonia, we are for lack of locals Sources, on the other hand, are very poorly taught, but we can do a lot from what the Mandaeans are fighting. With a special- their struggle against the belief in the influence of the Stars, the Seven and the Twelve, especially the Seven, then against Ruha and your circle. The Babylonian religion had become a desert star-superstition, she nevertheless exerted the greatest influence on the Religions of other peoples. They wrote the power to the stars above all, everything was dependent on them, they were,the lords of the World". In addition, the old Syrian paganism continued to live, in the middle of which the cult of the mother of the gods stood. Ruha belongs to this cult. As Ruha in the Mandaean writings, especially in the third book of the right Ginzā (here p. 63ff.), it is quite reminiscent of the Dea Syria. According to other indications, it was already assumed that these were in priests- it has been reinterpreted as the Holy Spirit'). That "the Spirit" in the Semitic feminine, this transformation was facilitated if you also not exactly stimulated by this. Under Babylonian influence this holy spirit, like Ištar, with whom the Mother goddess of The house is identical, having been identified with the morning star"). Was this happened, so you could continue this goddess, who now belongs to the fwo- fópos had been interpreted as the producer and mother of light. Of the explanations which have hitherto been given for Ur, the Son of Ruha I am still the most likely person to say that he is "light." sei (Joh., p. XXIXf.). The Mandaean my can be spoken in Ur and Or Siouffi has Our. This is probably also the original pronunciation, see Babylonian urru. The word is not Aramaic, but that's why is it not necessary to call the homeland of this combination on Canaanite territory look. Since it is Canaanite and Babylonian, it could also ara- mäisch exist. With the inconsistency inherent in these speculations Ruha-Morgenstern and her son Ur were then made parents the planet, as was assumed, in addition to the seven planets, five, i.e. the Planets without sun and moon. The immorality, the immorality, the immorality, the immorality, the immorality associated with the cult of the Mother goddess, it seems that at the Rüha as is also the case in the Mandaean writings by- schimmert (Joh. II, p. 33"), and this has the abhorrence of this cults and the fight against him is still encouraged.

---

1) See Deutsche Literaturzeitung 1913, Sp. 1805.

In ancient times, when Christianity was not yet Judaism and paganism, may relations with the Christians have passed. That later, when in Christianity the Institute- when it had become Catholic, a Ver- I don't think there was a bond between Mandaeans and Christians. Nothing speaks for it. Even the position of baptism made a difference- binding is impossible. Those who accept such a connection, yes believe that the Mandaeans wanted to be Christians at a certain time and called themselves Christians, relying solely on the name Naşoraeans, but I have shown that this name goes beyond Christianity and it has nothing to do with Christianity. However, the

---

1) Cf. Leisegang, Pneuma Hagion, p. 88f. and the works cited there.
2) See the series p. 28, 26f.; 46, 31f.

attempts have been made by the Christian side to persuade them to convert to Christianity 29, 199; 47, 132 is advised, in this case externally to yield to the pressure, but to be faithful to one's own faith- remain. This compulsion was probably less of the Christians of the cities and the Cultural lands, against which the Mandaeans successfully protected the Persians could have called, as from neighboring Christian Arab tribes. At all times, the Mandaeans in the West were particularly under the violence the Arab tribes of the neighborhood. Maybe the introduction is also possible the Sunday celebration is due to a pressure from the Christian side. The older ones You don't know 10 scriptures. Yes, the words p. 50, 25, where highlighted the fact that Christians will keep their hands still on Sunday will show that the Mandaeans saw something strange in the Sunday celebration. Only in younger Texts are required. But there are other moments for the To have been decisive in the introduction of the celebration, otherwise one would understand not why their observance is demanded with such intensity. Even in the first period of the movement, to which the Mandaism there will be no lack of attempts at literary activity have. In treatises, beings were placed and become known to the world according to the the new doctrine, taught the believer about his duties, 20 wrote prayers and hymns for the cult. But from this scripture, in general, from the literature of pre-Christian times, there is hardly anything to- continuous preservation; at most smaller pieces or individual sets, which are inserted into later compositions. Reitzenstein was looking for To show the greatness of the Mandaean Book of the Lord, that in the Pieces p. 29f., 200 202 and in the parallel passage in B an apocalypse from the last time before the destruction of Jerusalem. core with the description of the appearance of Enoš-Uthra's is probably really old, but the piece was already revised in the template of A and B. A Man, who was close to the time of Jesus, could not have Pilate as king of the We call 30 the world. Nor is there any reason to assume that in the Source of Mt. 11,5; Lk. 7, 22 ("The blind see, and the lame walk" the Mandaean script is used. It is an old and far more- a broad motif and can be used in various ways to the Mandaean and The author of the source Q').

The surviving writings were probably all written in Babylonia, which The main mass in pre-Islamic times, but the literary activity lasted- it goes deep into Islam. The Mandaeans also took over The Scriptures from related circles and adapted them to their teaching (see p. 4. 197. 206. 250). Due to a lack of historical evidence, we lack all but a few Exceptions to any possibility of time fixation. Conscience The texts on lead tablets, which date back to about the 4th century AD, offer an Anhalt. and of which I am the only one well preserved in the Florilegium Melchior de Vogüé, p. 352ff. The content touches each other intimately with the literary texts and sets a literary work, as they are in these there is, ahead. Larger connected works are probably at all did not materialize. When Islam came, and between the religions with a holy, revealed book and the religions without an open one-barung, the Mandaeans united the most important received from them Writings, of which perhaps smaller pieces already at that time became books they were united into a collection and placed it as their holy book before. This is how the present ginza seems to have been created '). Basically were they counted by Muhammad among the "people of the Book," for with the Sabians of the Koran, there is no doubt that the Babylonian Anabaptistsassume. But there was no agreement on this in Islam, and as you know this designation was later used by others with success for themselves in Anthe saying is taken (see Joh., p. VI).

---

1) See also Gressmann, Zeitsclrift für Kirchengeschichte XL (New Episode III), pp. 188f.; XLI (IV), pp. 167 ff.

The parts of the "treasure" were perhaps so colorful from the outset messed up without the attempt of a factual arrangement as now. The collection was not completed. The pieces were reworked, also added new ones. Perhaps these insertions made a greatby leaps and bounds better disposition blew up. Nor is it certain that from the outset, the whole was divided into two parts. Now it so happened that the greater part, about three quarters of the whole, more of the life, the another smaller part is more about death (see p. 423). The two Parts are folded so that their last pages are on top of each other, so that one part is upside down in relation to the other. Which long colophons and the list of copyists would take us over the history of the work would offer more, if it were not for the immorality, just copy the first and last pages to get an opportunity to in the introductions and concluding remarks, offer blessings for or the copyist. to pronounce the principal.

Since the 17th century, Mandaean manuscripts came to Europe, mainly through the mediation of missionaries working in Babylonia goods*). Four manuscripts from the Ginzā came to Paris*), three whole and fragments to London*), one to Oxford"), also fragments after Leiden and Munich. The oldest manuscript of the Ginzā is the Parisian Manuscript 1 at Zotenberg from the year 968 d. H. (Anf. 22 Sept. 1560).

---

1) N1 can you rewrite genzā and Ginzā, I write ginzā after ghizo at Siouffi, p. 166. PETeRmann also writes Ginsa (Reisen II, p. 447ff.), who probably I have often heard of the Mandaeans.

2) See Brandt, Die Mandäer (1915), p. 55f.

d) Manuscripts orientaux. Catalogues des manuscripts szriagues et sabeens (mandaites) de la Bibliothèque Nationale (par H. ZotEnBERG), Paris 1874, p. 217ff.

4) W. Wright, Catalogue of the Syriac Manuscripts in the British Museum III, London 1872, pp. 1210 ff.

6) R. Payne Smith, Catalogi codicum manuser. bibliothecae Bodleianae Pars VI, Oxford 1864, col. 646, n. 203.

As the manuscripts of the Book of John and the Qolastā also show the Ginzā has a fixed text, the variants are of lower Meaning and mostly concern the external spelling. text must have been fixed for centuries.

The Mandaean manuscripts attracted the attention of the Orien- talists, and they tried to translate pieces from them'). At the beginning in the 19th century, the Swedish orientalist Matthias Norberg to publish the entire work according to the Paris Manuscript 2 and translate*). He considered the language a spoiled Syriac, changed translated the text into Syriac and communicated it in this form. If he had simply reproduce the text as the handwriting has it, if even with a different font, the output would have its value, so it is completely unusable. The Latin translation was for the time a a remarkable achievement, it was also recognized in the following decades, it is of no importance to us, and I have not- taken into account. In 1867 H. Petermann published a Edition of the work based on the Paris manuscripts"). In the main band he reproduced manuscript 1 in an autograph, and in a Variants from the other manuscripts. Understanding the Mandaean was still in trouble at the time, Petermann understood little of the content of the Texts and could not distinguish similar characters. After this Edition, Euting's Edition of the Qolasta and the other handwritten Nöldeke offered a masterful adaptation of the Mandaean in his Mandaean Grammar (1875), through which the understanding of the Languages have been developed. After a thorough study of the ginza and the Qolastā gave Wilh. Brandt in 1889 a depiction of the Mandaean religion, which, despite the schematism and artificial He then proceeded to a translation of the Ginzā. He apparently had the intention to translate the whole collection, settled but put off by the difficult third book, at the beginning of this And translated only the treatise of Hibil-Ziwa's Hells- and two smaller pieces (V, 4 and XII, 7). His translation shows the same advantages as the other work. She is conscientious, despite some Misunderstandings reliably and was also used a lot in the following time.

In 1913, the Göttingen Society of Sciences- the most important sources of the history of religion in translations- the Mandaean writings of mine should be used for the collection be edited. The text of the Book of John had already been published, and

---

1) See Brandt, Schr., p. XIVff.

2) Codex Nasaraeus, Liber Adami appellatus, syriace transscriptus ... . latineque redditus. 3 Frets, Lund 1815-1816. In addition, a lexidion 1816.

3) Thesaurus S. Liber magnus vulgo ,,Liber Adami" appellatus opus Mandaeorum summi ponderis. Tomus I textum continens. Tomus II lectiones Codd. additamenta et corrigenda continens. Leipzig 1867.

the translation had to be added to it, so John- the book is separated. It seemed to me advisable to give the Qolastā the Oxford liturgy- add to the collection. Since from this collection the text is still was not published, I wanted to attach the text of the translation, but also give a critically produced text of the Qolastā. Volume 5 in this form did not fit into the framework of the "sources", therefore he was included in the treatises of the society. translation I made the Ginzā in 1916 and 1917. I let them- it is my expectation that after the end of the war it would be possible to find the manuscripts lying in London and Oxford to use their variants for translation. Already in 1906 I had several sheets of these manuscripts as samples photo- i tried to find the means to do all the To have manuscripts photographed, but without success. Also in the in the first years after the war, a trip to England was not possible, after that came the economic hardship, which neither a trip nor the- making photography possible. Not to mention the translation for an indefinite period of time, as a result of which their appearance at all i decided to hand them over to the Parisian- to give writings. From the photographs of the Oxford and London And repeated autopsies, I knew that their variants are not of great importance and that the translation by them is not would be significantly influenced. But I could write the Leiden manuscript which contains about two-thirds of the entire collection. Be even by their readings, the translation is not significantly modified, so it was very dear to me to be able to use them, and I feel thanks to the administration of the Leiden University Library although the pressure of the tape dragged on for a very long time, the manuscript was lying in Göttingen until the printing was completed let. From Nöldeke's grammar, p. XXIIII I knew that he had readings the ginza was made from manuscripts other than the Parisian one. When I saw him asked about the reading at one point, he had the great kindness, to send me his copy of the right Ginza, from which I can get the listed variants are noted.

I also could not have made this translation if I was not all the Mandaean language material, the printed, such as the hand- written, as far as it has reached Europe, would have been lexically processed. Nevertheless, the difficulties were great. In the commentary on John- book I was looking for to ascertain the meaning of religious terminology, but there are still many things that are dark or uncertain. Some of them had to be remain untranslated, some are called unsafe. control, which one usually has in a translation that it makes a satisfactory sense is not always applicable in Mandaean. The Mandaeans were weak thinkers, and many things were wrong and meaningless from the outset.

It is disturbing that a number of words have different meanings. In most cases, one can also look for the connection for decide one or the other sense, so it still remains in many places insecure. It is particularly disturbing that nen and nenn both, the great, mighty (life) can mean"as,,the great, mighty (being)". אלמיא can mean "worlds" and "world", as well as "beings", Np ,call" and,,evoke, create", pn ,,be firm" and ,,be bright", p3 ,,be clear" and ,,build", ,,Creator" and , helper", n2(2)N77 ,,hymns, writings" and,,flags", n'non ,,victorious" and ,,sin-pure", as well as the opposite NeNNn ,,inferior" and ,guilty". There is a suffix to a word, so it is often uncertain whether it is singular or plural. In general, ver- it is painful to miss the help of the traditional explanation, which helps us to most religious literature is available. Is it also suitable for we are not authoritative and must be subjected to sharp criticism, she has received a lot of good things. For many words whose meaning and derivation I did not know, I considered whether they were not Akkadian Ur- there are jumps. Mr. Zimmern did not get tired of answering my many questions and for some words there was a satisfactory explanation, but, of course, much remains dark. About some Persian words there were Mr. Andreas informs me. Thank you very much, too.

The scope of the work required me to explain myself as much as possible in the explanations to be brief. When I hear a word or phrase in the earlier I have dealt with volumes, I referred to them. I divided the variants into the Only include comments if they come from unpublished material. Where, in the translation, I am not referring to manuscript A, but to the other followed, I did not particularly note it. Therefore, one will be at a- checking the translation always includes the readings in Petermann's variants-gang must take into account').

The printing began in the summer of 1923, but soon had to economic difficulties are set. He was born in the spring resumed in 1924, but then had to rest again for a long time. So he dragged on for two years. As a result of this long duration and Changes in the order of the sentence and correction are unequal- they have penetrated into the print, which probably will not bother too much.

With the publication of this volume, all Mandaean writings are in Translation, which deserve to be known to wider circles. Hoffent- this will stimulate cooperation with you; there is still a lot for you do. First of all, accurate studies on this are desirable, to what extent certain words and phrases can only be found in individual writings find. One will then perhaps unite certain treatises into groups can, perhaps, also provide clues for a chronological arrangement winning a number of fonts. In recent years, the That the Mandaean literature is in contact with the it contains the oldest Christian literature and offers much to explain it. In addition to the writings of Reitzenstein, see Walter Bauer's commentary on Gospel of John (Handbook to the New Testament VI*, 1925) and Bultman, The importance of the newly discovered Mandaean and Manichaean Sources for the Understanding of the Gospel of John, ZNTW XXIV (1925), pp. 100-146 . I hope that there will be a take and give here. The Orientalist will have to deal primarily with the linguistic; Connoisseurs of late Pagan and early Christian literature become much more interested in the 10th century can contribute a factual explanation.

---

1) In the references, R means the right, L the left part of the text. The Text does not have a count of the tracts, so the text and translation should only be quoted after Page and line, if not whole pieces are meant.

* * *

Explanation of the signs.

[ ] added gap.
( ) Addition in the translation to the explanation.
⟨ ⟩removable insert.
. . . . . an untranslated place.
 assumed gap.

Used printing units,

which are quoted in abbreviations.

Jn.: Das Johannesbuch der Mandäer by Mark Lidzbarski, Gießen 1915. - Joh. with simple numbers behind it (e.g. Joh. 45, 12) refers to the text.

Lit.: Mandaean Liturgies communicated, translated and explained by Mark Lidzbarskl. (Starting-proceedings of the Royal Society of Sciences of Göttingen, Phil.-hist. Class, New episode, Vol. XVII, 1.) Berlin

1920. Mand. Divan: Mandaean divan after photographic recording by Dr. B. Poertner reported by Julius Euting. Strasbourg 1904.

Brandt, Rel. : The Mandaean religion, its development and historical significance researched, illustrated and illuminated by Dr. A. J. H. Wilhelm Brandt. Leidzig 1889.

Brandt, Schr.: Mandäische Scheriften translated and explained by Dr. W. Brandt. Göttingen 1893.

Nöld.: Mandäische Grammatik by Theodor Nöldeke. Halle 1875.

Siouffi: Études sur la religion des Soubbas ou Sabéens, leurs dogmes, leurs moeurs par M. N. Siouffi. Paris 1880.

Uthra: Uthra and Malakha. By Mark LidzbArski. Oriental studies Theodor Nöldeke dedicated to the seventieth birthday, Giessen 1906, p. 537-545 .

Used manuscripts.

Asfar Malwāše, an astrological work, cf. Nöld., p. XXIVf., in two manuscripts before-handen: Cod. Petermann I, 155 of the Staatsbibliothek zu Berlin and Code Sabéen 26 of the National Library of Paris. The Parisian manuscript has a longer appendix a recent one, which is missing in Berlin. The Berlin manuscript is quoted here.

Code Sabéen 15, f. 1-49a = Code Sabéen 25 of the Paris National Library, a wedding-ritual, see ZotenberG, Catalogue, p. 229, p. n. 15 and Lit., p. VII.

Lond. Roll A. A roll of 806 lines in the possession of the British Museum. Includes a Ritual for "the imposition of the crown of the great Šišlam". Written in 1289 I.e. (Anf. March 11, 1872).

Lond. Role B. A role of 634 lines of apotropaic content located there. Moves- it was written in 1269 (Anf. 15 Oct. 1852). Oxf.

Roll F. A roll of 1404 lines in possession of the Bodleiana. Contains Z. 1-1222 a ritual for the feast of the five Epagomenes (Parwānājē or Panšā, cf. Siouffi, pp. 102, 4). The rest includes a wedding ritual. The handwriting is at the beginning and supplemented in the middle. This part is dated in 1203 i.e. (Anf. 2 Oct. 1788) ge- write.

Oxf. Roll G. A roll of 1124 lines with two texts apotropaic Site content. Written 1231-1232 i.e. (Anf. 3 Dec. 1815).

Parisian divan. The Parisian role Code Sabéen 16. Cf. Zotenberg, Catalogue, p. 230, S. N. 16 and Nöld., p. XXIV.

Right part.

First book.

At the head of the ginzā is a treatise in two versions; the one (A) stands as the first book, the other (B) as the first piece of the second book. They are edits Reitzenstein examined in detail in this respect (The mandaean book of the Lord of Greatness and the Gospel tradition. Session 5 reports of the Heidelberg Academy of Sciences, Phil.-hist. Kl. 1919, 12. Heidelberg 1919). The treatises begin with a praise of the supreme Being and a description the world of light, which are particularly detailed in A hesonders. This is followed by a creation report about the formation of the world and the first people. The command to creation is given to Hibil-Zīwā, who is identified in A with Gabriel, in B with Ptahil. After creation through him, the "pure Messenger", admonitions and warnings are sent to Adam- a complete moral code for the Mandaean on his ethical and cultural- provide duties. The exhortations are followed by a revelation about the course the story of the four first ages from the beginning of the world to its destruction. This is a warning against false religions. In B, with a special He warned in detail about Christ and the Christian sects.

The sixth part of the twelfth book (R 278 282) contains a description of the King of darkness and his world. The author says (278,3): 'At first I taught you are about the King of Light, who is praised for all eternity. I spoke to you about the praised light worlds, which are not cheap, about the Uthras, Jordans and Škīnās, the are wondrous and luminous." A piece of this content is among the received- there are no Danish writings, on the other hand, the spelling matches the complete Schil- the King of Light and the world of Light in A1). Therefore, I assume that the mentioned The treatise is inserted here in A. The seam is in Abs. 6, the insertion extends to abs. 39, then from Abs. 44 to 76°). However, the seventh piece of the 25th century also comes from the same author the twelfth book, which is a supplement to the two treatises. The common Origin is manifested in matching factual and stylistic peculiarities. Only in them there are quotations that are introduced (text 11, 11; 278, 17; 284, 18; anoni onona 284, 6). Cf, pany anyndtnpi 8,11 and nosnd

---

1) For text 278, 4 cf. 2, 22; 10, 8.

2) Before 44 a piece is omitted, if not already here in the independent treatise the basic script of A and B was used, but 44 could also join 35.

וקאדמאיתא ובאתראיתא לאיאדא 278, 15; דנהורא דיאדא ופאריש קאדמאיתא ובאתראיתא 278, 14; 280,6, - non non 3,22; no one notes 280,1; ארקא דהשוכאupnp 278,10, - Anx in the sense of "being in the way of" (not ,,exist in') 4, 3; 10, 6, 22; 278, 10, 13, - NONG in the sense of ,,species" 4, 3, 10; 9, 17; 278, 12; 280, 7.

In these two passages, also in the others of the second book, in the fourth book and in the sixth and seventh parts of the twelfth book does not appear as the supreme being the great life or the great, first life, but the high King of light, the Lord and the Great and Exalted (N'sy N37) is called. This doctrine of the King of Light, proceeding from a monotheistic tendency, is probably of 10 reaches the Mandaeans from the outside, perhaps with the basic script of the two treatises. It has been preserved in a certain sense, because SioufFi is also at the forefront the celestial being of the Moro Eddarboutho. The Grundschrift also pointed out other features which deviate from the other Mandaean teachings. In A 91, B 26 there are three prayers two for the day and two for the night. Otherwise, the Mandaeans as a whole only know three prayers, see R 222 ob., Lit., pp. 171 et seq., Brandt, Rel., p. 92. Yes it is expressly forbidden to pray at night and in darkness: R 300 ob. The requirement of the five prayers is probably influenced by the custom of the five Persian yawns, see DarmstEter, Le Zend- Avesta III, p. 709ff., to which the five prayers of Islam probably also go back, see Goldziher, ZDMG LIII (1899), p. 385.

They have otherwise descended to the geniuses of sorcery among the Mandaeans (see Uthra, p. 541f.) and are also referred to by SiouFFI par excellence as esprits malins (p. 42). Here they also find themselves as good beings. Of course, this is more מאלכיאoften, especially in A, used. On the other hand, the use of man, which is now reflected in both As a designation for the supreme being (text 1, 22; 2, 20; 3, 3; 15, 6; 17, 16; 25 22, 5; 34, 13)[1]), it was foreign to the original. The word is not found on the- the same place in both versions, and the words ,,put the name to them in the Mund", A 173, B 110, I can only understand that the author is the false prophet the accusation is that they let their followers use the word. About for the use of now among the Mandaeans, see Uthra, p. 5401.

In both versions, the last age of the Arab is called Mohammed (A 203, B 164). The pieces have thus received their last version in Islamic times. But these sentences are inserted loosely and late; otherwise there is nothing in the treatises to indicate the arabic time. Even the otherwise ordinary connection of the Nerig (Mars) with the Arabs are missing here, see A 197, B 130, 160. On the other hand, even that at the end of B 35 inserted pieces about the false religions still refer to pagan cults (para. 159, 160). The basic script will have been written several centuries before Islam. About the Reitzenstein's experiment, in A 200ff. and the parallel piece an apocalypse from the time shortly before the destruction of Jerusalem, see the introduction.

So that the two versions can be compared more easily with each other, I have 40 the individual paragraphs are numbered and at the end of the paragraphs the number of the corresponding Pieces are specified.

---

1) A compilation of the use of the word Can be found at all in the ginzā see Brandt, Rel., pp. 211 f.

Blessed be my Lord of pure heart.

1. In the name of the great, first '), stranger') life from the light-worlds"), the exalted one who stands above all works, let healing, victory-responsibility*) and a remission of sins granted to me NN °), my father NN, my mother NN, my wife NN and my children .... Mandā dHaije") set up her name in his treasure house, take her to the be a community, and be a support to them. Because of the name I had confidence in life, and they wrote these books so that for me (Var.: for you) a souvenir in the Tibil*) exist and mine (Var.: your name in the house of perfection") will be established. (1)

2. Then let a remission of sins be given to all priests, and let to the Daeans who seek instruction in these Writings'0), to the voice of the Listen to life and praise the first life.

3. Blessed are you, my Lord, of a pure heart, you Lord of all Different' worlds. (2)

4. Blessed be you! Blessed, praised, glorified, honored and ") be the great, high, praised God, the high Liclit king, the God of truth, whose power is vast and endless. The pure Shine and the great light that does not pass. The Compassionate, Imploring, Pleasing, [2] Merciful, the Redeemer of all believers, the fortifier of all Good. The Mighty, the wise, the knower, the seer, the discriminator, the power- haber about every thing. The Lord of all the worlds of light, the upper, the middle and lower. The great face of glory, invisible, unlimited, without comrades in the crown, without partners in the Lord- shaft. He who trusts in him will not be disgraced, he who calls his name sincerely '*), it does not fall to anyone who stands in trust in him, will not be humiliated. (3)

---

1) This after suffering.

2) Standing designation among the Mandaeans for the otherworldly, the earthly world alien beings, especially for the big life. Even with the "Strange God" Marcions perhaps the word "foreign" has this meaning.

") The plural is more often used in a singular sense, but it is most not sure what the meaning is. 4) Cf. Joh. II, p. 1 f.

b) Here is named the one who let the book lat be written off.

6) The personified Fvwais tons, who like the "live" in the midpoints of the Mandaean Religion stands, cf. Brandt, Rel., pp. 167f. 7) Cf. Lit., p 13".

8) The Old Testament as a designation for the earthly world. °) The place where the departed believers are brought to completion, the hereafter. 10) Sorry. : in this S:lurift.

") The expression is used in Mandaean in the same sense as "praised", cf. Lit. , p. XXIII.

12) In Kuštā, NDW1D is truth, truthfulness, the true faith, also fidelity and

5. The great Lord of all kings; nothing was, since he was not, nothing is, so he is not. For him there is no death created, for him there is no Pass. His light shines, and his radiance shines on all beings') and kings'), who stand before him in their glory and the great 5 Lights, which are stored above them, shine. (5).

6. He bestowed on them prayer and praise, which lay in their hearts, who stand in clouds of light"). They worship, praise and confess under- worthy of the Lord of greatness, the high King of light, for whose splendor, light and glory there is no measure, no number, no limit, the whole 10 Shine, all light, all brightness, all life, all fidelity, all love, all compassion, all forbearance, all eyes, all faces, all praise Faces of beauty, of total insight'), knowledge and revelation, total Name") of glory. (5)

7. The great, high God, whose power no one measured°), no one 15; no one grasps his power and the power of all his worlds.

8. He is the high King of Light, blessed with all blessings, from Beginning to all eternity, the First') from all primordial beginnings, the Creator of all forms, the creator of beautiful things, who [3] in his wisdom preserved, hidden, not revealed.

9. He is the high King of Light, the Lord of all the worlds of Light, the High over all Uthras"), the God over all ), the king of kings, the great lord over all kings. A shine that does not change, a light, that does not perish, beauty, splendor and glory that is not contemptible have. Life, a survival, shine, an overglow, light, an overlight; an 25 he is neither lacking nor lacking.

10. He is the Light in which there is no darkness, the Living, in which n

---

Sincerity in the behavior of believers towards the supreme being, as well as among themselves. ‚Kuštā reichen" means to give the handshake of brotherly loyalty. Refer to the word Joh., p. XVII.

1) Distress often has this meaning in Mandaean, cf. Brandt, Schr., p. 33.

2) NDsnD is here a designation for the heavenly beings, cf. Uthra, p. 544f. and above, p. 4.

8) Here, too, we are talking about the higher beings, who in the upper world are the light-surrounded by the king. See the parallel passage.

4) Contrary to Joh. II, p. 367 I summarize here and R 213, 27 thus. It is written here together with and and there between and Rnddin.

f) Sorry. has FD instead of Ry.

°) Probably because Have or read Abyxn woya. 7) Read NNd np.

8) Designation for angelic beings; the common Semitic is pushed back, see p. 4. The derivation of the word "abundance" attempted in Uthra, p. 539 i have since given up. It is probably according to the spelling Nmy ‚wealth" as The nature and emanation of the deity. An approach to this personified Nny finds apparently already in the odes of Solomon, see Reitzenstein, Iran. Redemption-mysterium, p. 91.

") Here maybe has .Gods", which was deleted by a fearful be. Text 5, 24 it has stopped.

no death, the good, in which no wickedness, the mild, in which neither Rebellion, nor anger, the gentle, in which there is neither poison nor bitterness.

11. He sits in the Far North'), powerful, beautiful and resplendent, the Primordial container of all Luminaries, the Father of all Uthras.

12. He blesses all beings, he rests on all perfect, True- and believers, in whose mouth his name is set up.

13. The king in the city of life, who is in the abodes of the Königtums abides. He is constant, his radiance rises and illuminates, he is without end, measure and number.

14. He rejoices with joy without sorrow, and all his Reich is happy with her. A (beautiful) picture, an ornament*) and splendor (is he), that there is no beauty like him.

15. The truth is He who dwells in the upper heights, the Lord the grandeur, the Lord of all great things. No one can do it.") his power to determine and describe in more detail and those of all his worlds, as well as his Škinās'), in which he resides, and the Uthras and kings who lived in stay with them.

16. That high king of Light sits safely in his dwelling. He is higher than all beings, like the earth as its inhabitants"). He excels [4] everyone, like the sky, the mountains. He shines more than all, like the sun more than lamps. He is brighter than all, like the moon more than the stars.

17. He is of qualities"), in which there is no lack. He is great crowns, that his power and greatness is limitless. Not it is limited by number or invoice.

18. The sparks of his crown spray to every place. Rays of the Glory, light and glory go from his face and between the leaves of his wreath. All uthras and kings, yes all the worlds') stand in prayer and praise and praise those high King of Light. (7)

19. Five mighty, great qualities emanate from him"). The

---

1) The same author comments on the North as a preferred area in the seventh Part of the twelfth book. The Babylonians also considered the north to be the seat of the gods, see Jeremias, The Old Testament in the Light of the Ancient Orient", p.20f. As the seat of the Gods the north was deified by the Arameans and Canaanites themselves (ŠNDW, DB).

2) Instead of suffering. Norb, too. N7TNA.

2) Sorry. and Norb. before xdyss.

4) is used by the Mandaeans predominantly in the original sense ‚residence" used, occasionally it is found as a designation for personified higher beings.

b) what is meant is: how the earth is bigger than its inhabitants. The exception is that the earth surpasses its inhabitants, one could at best live in a country with high mountains but not in Babylonia.

°) NDND ‚end, border, area" has further become the sense , category, type, propershaft" is developed.

7) Sorry. has patne i.e. ‚of all light worlds".

8) See BoussET, Main problems of the Avesta and Māni

the first is his') light that rises above them. The second is his well-being- the smell that wafts over you. The third is the loveliness of his voice, through which they rejoice. The fourth is the speech of his mouth, through which he creates and begets them. The fifth is the beauty of his figure, due to they grow as large as fruits in the sun.

20. All the Uthras opened their mouths, they praise that high light- and they said to him, Who shall praise you, who shall glorify you, who will bless you, who will honor you, who will "consolidate" you')? If we are) you with your prices you should praise, your price is limitless. When we meet you you are to bless with your blessing, your blessing is extended and endless. If we are to hold you up according to your sublimity, your sublimity- heit is immeasurable. If we are to praise you according to your depth, your Depth is unfathomable. When we hear of your strength, your brilliance and to speak to your light, your radiance is too extended to speak with words to speak of it, [your] light too abundant and great to speak of it to talk and tell.

21. The blessing, [5] the grace and majesty of the High King of Light blossom up, come out and can not be delimited. Never- man can understand them, nor understand them, except the life that is with you and the Uthras and messengers who stand before you. All beings know your No names. The kings stand there and speak to each other'):Which Does the name carry the great light?u They say,,There is no name like his name, there is no one who calls it by name, no one who calls his The name is recorded."

22. Save the perfect ones who knew you with a pure heart, your and remember you with a clear conscience who blessed you with a mouth that is all praise, praising you with a sincere tongue, confessing you with believing lips and they said, One is the king of light in his kingdom, there is none, he who is greater than he is, no one who made war with him. There is no, who could compare himself with his figure, no one who could see his eyes- lift up to look at the crown on the head of that high King of light, without his own crown falling from his head.

23. He is a high mountain, which the storms of the air do not shake.

24. He is clothed with new robes of splendor, which are not of the The clothes of this world. No woman has yet spoken: We want

---

Gnosis, p. 231 and Reitzenstein, Nachrichten der Gesellschaft der Wissenschaften zu Göttingen 1922, p. 249 ff.

1) Probably Aanng, etc. to read.

2) after suffering., see also continue. For the meaning of Dr, see above, p. 511. Note the fiveness of the glorification according to the five previously mentioned-named properties.

3) More likely than 1. pl. because as the 3rd sing. m. to grasp.

4) Probably read nadn ndnpi.

make a robe for the Lord of the crowns. Don't talk like that, even the children of the nations are not able to create the shell for him. '), which lies around his shoulders. The robe he wears will not come off- and the moth does not come and eat") in its shell.

25. The sun does not set before him, the lights of his city do not go out. The crowns on his head will not wither, and the leaves of his wreath fall off, which protrude above his face"). The fragrance wafts out from between the leaves of the wreath, which is over his Faces lie. All Uthras are enveloped by the fragrance ') and rejoice.

26. Blessed, exalted, and mighty is he above all gods; on Anfang [6] of all ages he was the king from the beginning. Will not be Name in our mouth, not his name between our lips limited. He is the judge of his place, in whose mouth there is no lie.

27. The throne of the Great, the Exalted, is firmly established, that he may al!e eternity is not moved from the place. Non-physical carpenters have established the throne that is under him, not builders of clay who Houses of his residence were built. He is king from the beginning, whose kingdom exists for eternity and does not pass away.

28. Never did his hip tremble in fear, nor did the Fear and anxiety of the children of darkness. He has never participated in a Days of terror, and ibn does not reach the hour of wrath and the quake.

29. The King of Light is with his crown as king for eternity for his kingdom there is no offense. A king, praised") and honored in his city, which huge diamond walls surround"). King of the Great, rich in Uthras, abundant in messengers, greater than the Kings of every place. He is frol, glad is his city, glad to be his the whole empire.

30. He has no father older than him, no firstborn), who would have been before him. He has no brother to share with him there is no twin brother who lives together ... . ). He has not mixed and has not divided, and there is no division in his city.

31. Before him they do not offer a sacrifice, do not eat meat ....[9]),

---

See the previous sentence, but Nöld suspects., p. 2391 a form of BDJ, after that,take it away from him".

*) Sorry. hat והבאלא. *) Cf. also 32.

4) To be understood in this way. The ordinary sense of ABon' NDny is to embrace", see also R 65, 4.

6) According to Nöld., p. 305° is maw instead of reading.

6) Sorry. hat הדירילה. 7) This means a first-born brother.

8) The meaning of NNYD is uncertain, cf. Nöld., pp. 39, 12; Sorry. hat דכניצאת. A word is missing later. In any case, it is meant that he has no brother who is with him the inheritance was divided.

*) Nant , very much" does not fit, but also Neds not, see Nöld., pp. 207, 24 and Note. Here must have been something of a meat enjoyed for cultic purposes.

do not drink wine of pleasure and do not sing before him a song of Sacrilege.

32. The garment with which he is clothed does not turn black, the Crowns on his head do not wither, and leaves do not fall of his wreath).

33. No sound of lamentation is in its place, no childlessness child of man. No body passes in front of him, his apartment will not be defiled by a dead man.

34. He did not fight a hard fight, he did not stand there at the[1] Days of Terror.

35. The king rejoices in the children of the light. He calls one, and a thousand answers to him. By his Word he creates Uthras, [7] by which He makes the speech of his mouth complete.

36. King of all Uthras and Škinās, great crown on the head of the The height of heaven, Gentle one, you who force down the mighty, the strength that you all unruly (push), blessed and praised are you by everyone Time and time will last into eternity.

37. Greater is your own power than that of all the kings of the place of Darkness. You live in a place that is light and bright, and beautiful and exalted is the land in which you dwell.

38. Blessed are you in the seat of the good, established in the place where the whole It is a blessing. You rejoice in him, and your heart rejoices because of all your Roommate.

39. You have been since the first day and have existed for all eternity.

40. He spoke with great power and mighty speech, and Kings*) of the light of pure splendor and great light that does not pass away. Kings") of praise ascended, arose and came into being for which there is no end, number or offense. They are all full Praise and stand there and praise that high King of light, whose splendor he is richer than to be described with a mouth of flesh and blood, and whose light is greater than that which one utters with the lips can. His radiance shines, and his light shines over all the worlds. Bright and luminous is the firmament in which they dwell °). (4. 7) .

41. The world in which he stands is without offense: a world of splendor and light without darkness, a world of gentleness without rebellion, a world of legality without confusion and hustle and bustle, a world of scents without an ugly scent, a world of life in eternity without offense and death, a world of living water, the smell of which makes kings rejoice,

---

1) See also 47.

2) At the parallel point there is NonsND ‚Engel", see above, p. 4.

3) 12 refers to the kings, as can be seen from R 31, 20.

a world of goodness without badness,
a world of faithfulness and faith without lies and deceit.
It is a pure world without a bad mixture. (8)

42. The angels') of splendor praise that high King of light 'in the splendor and the light that he bestowed upon them. The angels of glory [8] praise him in the garments of splendor that he bestowed upon them. The angels of glory praise him in the sheaths of light that he bestowed upon them.
The angels of glory praise him
in the belts of splendor that he bestowed on them.
The angels of glory praise him
in the wreaths of splendor that he put on them.
The angels of glory praise him
with the strength and firmness that he gave them.
The angels of glory praise him
with faithfulness, community and faith, the he awarded them. (9)

43. They are all gentle, wise and pleasant without wickedness, lies and wore. (10)

44. They are clothed with garments of splendor, and with garments of Light is covered. They sit and live next to each other, without sin against one another, or sin against one another. They are gorgeous on their firmamentena) and fit to each other like an eyelash to the eye.

45. Their inwardness is manifest to one another; first and last they know. A thousand times a thousand miles away from each other, and yet one shines through the other shine and one smells through the other Smell good. They include brotherly loyalty with each other and reveal-or their insides.

46. They are caught up in all manner of death, and the destruction of death is not created for you. For them there is no offense, they do not seize, their strength does not decrease, and with pain and infirmity they become not clothed.

47. Her robe does not turn black, her sheath does not darken. Your Wreaths do not wither and do not diverge, and the leaves fall do not get out of them.

48. They grow in all growth, live and stand firmly their places. They do not waver and are not shaken. Among them is there no old man who seized, no miscarriage that resulted from the mother-body would have come out.

49. There is no judgment in their city, and they do not judge one another.

---

1) Here the Parisian manuscripts have yet to suffer. here and in the Folgenden ,"Kings".

2) See Nöld., p. 1710.

50. They do not hunger and thirst, and heat and cold, malice and Anger is not with them. (6)

51. They do not wage war with each other and do not get into troublefangenschaft.

52. No wild animal enters their earth, [9] and evil worm comes not out of it.

53. No bad leaf is on your trees, no bitterness on the fruits of their dwellings. Their fruits wither and dry up no, and the leaves of the trees do not fall off. Moth and dust') falls not in their slothfulness, and for their dwellings there is no offense.

54. Angry rulers without mercy have no dominion over you. There are no angry ravings without pity at their residences.

55. Their firmaments") are lofty and lofty, and their buildings are Houses of the seat of completion. Their seas are calm and gentle, and there is no passage in them. The Jordans of the worlds of light are full white water, whiter than milk, cold and tasty, and its fragrance strengthens more than the spicy, big vines. (11)

56. The uthras and kings who drink from them do not taste the Taste of death, they have no evil, dull or hard day, and there is no sorrow in her soul.

57. For your years there is no number, for your whole life there is no measure. They are all joyful and flaunting in joy without tribulation. They stride they float over that white earth of the Ãther. In the splendor that has risen above them, no darkness is mixed.

58. Those beings of light disintegrate into many species"). They are divided into Earths, Škinās, Jordans, trees, Uthras and angels'), as well as in splendor, light and brightness that rest on them. There is no boundary between the one and the other.

59. Her figure is luminous and bright. The sight of her face is flashing and clear, equal to pure beryl. Strength and voice become stronger every day, Speech and victory were created by the king of all the Liclite worlds and sent to them. 60. They all stand there with prayer and praise, with miraculous (Prayers)orders and hymns") and show [10] to the High King of Light Submission, ...") and praise. And those angels'), who are from the king, to their Lord *). (11)

61. Fragrance comes forth from among them, and all the fragrances of the Joy, not the smell of idols and not the smell ...") of all astartes.

---

1) R 5, 19 is similar in appearance, see p. 9, 4. °) See p. 11, 24.

8) See above, p. 7°. ') Cod. B and sorry. have NDSNDI ,,and kings".

") Cf. Lit., p. XIVf. Later, NATD, like NN77, has the meaning ,,book" angenommen, cf. Joh., P. V.

°) See to Joh. II, p. 34". The meaning is not quite clear, but it fits in in most cases,"enlightenment", and it is usually translated as follows.

7) Also sorry. got here ומאלאכיא. 8) Here is a gap.

°) gives no more meaning than suffering. hat. Maybe he has

62. All rejoice over one another, as the rain clouds rejoice over the trees and the seeds of the earth. They are emblems of the beautiful- the beauty, the beauty, the beauty and the beauty. One is more miraculous than the other, one more luminous than the other.

63. The name of the High King of Light is blessed for all eternity and 5 rates.

64. The Uthras, Angels'), messengers, apparitions, figures, earths, Škinās, castles"), buildings, Jordans and trees, as well as the splendor that shines on they were created by the King of Light.

65. [From the King of Light?] uthras and kings are evoked, from 10 the earth is made of Jordan and trees, of brightness and light there are garments, cloaks and wreaths made for them, and not one of them there is something that would be lacking and lacking.

66. That place is a place of life, truthfulness, tranquility, the security, peace and faith that everyone hopes for, and 15 on which he builds his confidence.

67. The king rejoices the sons of Light, and they are proud here's to him. Their buildings and škīnās are built of splendor and light, their Walls of safety and strength.

68. Their splendor is more miraculous than the splendor of the sun and the 20th century Moon. Their brightness is brighter than the brightness of this world. At the 1 The splendor of this world is a mixture, but the splendor of that [world] is bright- without turbidity. Of course, the splendor of this world is in the image created with the same brilliance, but like small shells and pebbles") Pearls are.

69. Your earth does not rest on any ambos, your firmament does not turn by wheels, the seven stars do not walk above them, [U] the Five and twelve*) do not guide your destiny.

70. Dust is not in their way, mud is not found in your Jordans.

71. They are nimble in their course like the thought (the heart) the man who does not walk on his feet, and yet in an hour to every The place arrives. Light and calm is her gait, like the rays of the sun to the eyes of the children of Adam, the rays that appear") from heaven reaching the earth.

72. When they meet each other, they undress and clothe themselves dealing with the mutual treasures").

ריהא lthe meaning of "frankincense" and will this be called "daughter (read of all kinds of astarts" this is how the salt is called the daughter of the god Bel (Jn. II, p. 6, בראתא Note.). Dal Cypress, see Brandt on the spot, is not likely to me.

1) See p. 12, note. 7. 2) Read Nan, so sorry too.

a) The small fake ornaments on the necklaces of the women.

4) The five planets without sun and Moon and the zodiac images.

a) Read pondt npos.

°) They exchange each other's robes and ornaments.

73. They do not sin and do not offend each other, like the splendor of the sun and the wind, (like) the fire and the water this world').

74. Their food is from the blessing of the Jordan, the fruits and the trees.

75. There is no end and no limit to your virtues, and we don't talk about your power. As someone said: Should the stinking body praising you or the vain tongue? Would be our Mouth like the sea, our tongue like the rugged rocks in it, our Lips like its two banks, we could not, my Lord, your Comprehensively describe power over all your worlds"). No, there is no one, who could describe your power comprehensively.

76. Salvation to him who knows you; Salvation to him who speaks of you in knowledge. Salvation to the one who is enlightened about you; Salvation to the one who is enlightened about spread yourself.

Salvation to him who teaches himself about you in truth; Salvation to him who teach you.

Save him who has learned your wisdom") and free himself from error and confusion he liberated this world.

Save the truthful and faithful ones who have known you and they have seen; they ascend victorious and look at the place [12] light.

77. Blessed and praised be you, my Lord, you high King of light, from today to all eternity.

78. By your word every thing became.

79. From the side of that Lord of greatness a uthra was created and sent out, whose name is Hibil-Zīwa, the Gabriel, the Messenger, who-is called. (12)

80. When the high King of Light wanted it, he called me out of the splendor and the light in which he stands, out of that Škinā which he, the Great, was founded at his right hand, and said to him'): 'Arise, go forth into the world the darkness that is full of wickedness. She is full of Evil, full of consuming fire. To the world that was full of lies and deceit which is sown with thistles and thorns. The world of confusion and confusion To the world of darkness without light, to the world of Stench without fragrance, to the world of persecution and death without To live in eternity, to the world in which the good things pass away and the Plans do not come true." (13)

81. He said to him, 'Go, let the darkness come down, and my-

---

1) Who seek to oppress each other.

2) See Lit., p. 129 and on the wide distribution of this picture Reinh. Köhler, Kleiner Schriften III, p. 293ff.

3) Read with sorrow. דסבאר.

4) Such a change in person is not uncommon in oriental writings.

sterias formed from it'). Seal the earth, tighten the firmament and form stars in it. Give shine to the sun, brightness to the moon and to all the stars. Give them a good taste Water and shine to the fire. (14)

82. Create fruits, grapes and trees that flaunt in the world. Livestock*), fish and poultry, of every genus A little man and a little woman who belong to Adam and his entire family Should be of service. (15)

83. A man and a woman shall arise, and their name shall be given to Adam and Be Hawwa. Of the angels of fire, some shall be servants to Adam be. Everyone who deviates from your word"), [13] should go to the blazing Fire will be contained. Three angels of Splendor and Light let's create*) and keep Adam company. (16)

84. Living water") come and mix with the turbid water. Through the scent of living water, the whole world flaunts. The four Winds of the house °) are to be created, as well as the air'), which blowing them. Let fire arise and spread") over all the world. That world shine through your hand." (17)

85. The high King of light uttered the word, and all things arose Ding by his word. (20)

86. Gabriel, the Messenger, came, lifted up the sky and stretched it he sealed the earth and firmly established it (and the whole world by the power of the high King of Light). (21)

87. Adam the husband and Hawwa his wife were formed, and the Soul fell into the body. When the soul had fallen into the body, be- they understood and understood everything. (22)

---

1) Note the deviation in the parallel point. °) The domestic animals; the wild animals are not named here and at the parallel point (against Nöld., pp. 326,6). is formed as a plural ans, which is the tame domestic animals in contrast to Nyn, the devouring, wild animal, bedraw. Text 33.5 is to be read with D.

d) One expects,"from his word", see also 88, but both versions have so.

4) At the parallel point it is better ,'shall come', see the following sentence.

b) "Living water", i.e. running water that is of noble origin and in which running rivers, the "Jordanes", flows. This alone is usable in the cult. In contrast- the stagnant water and the turbid water (NDANN ND) of the primordial chaos and the seas. The expression N is probably borrowed from Judaism, see Gen. 26,19; Lev. 14, 5,50. After forming a nanny,"living fire" as a Be- drawing for the fire of the heliren world. The opposite is according to NINDy, ND "consuming fire" (see Jn. II, p. XVI') ,"consuming, burning water" formed as a designation for the water of the underworld, see also Brandt, Rel., pp. 64ff.

") ,,House" is a common name in the Mandaean writings for the earthdiscle For the world, including the Persians, see Joh. II, p. 76.

7), i.e. dnp can mean, in the Mandäisclen ,,air" like ,,Ather", and it is sometimes-not sure what the meaning is. However, the expression seems particularly to designate the air, see by name R 283, 4f.

) For the meaning of DFD, see Lit., p. 178.

88. The angels of fire came and submitted to Adam. You they came and bowed down to him and did not deviate from his speech. Only he alone, the evil one, from whom evil was formed, departed from the word from his Lord. Then his master bound him with a fetter. (23)

89. My Lord called me, the noble Messenger, and appointed me and said, 'Go, call a voice to Adam, to his wife Hawwa, and to all his kinsmen. A noble voice call to them and teach them about every thing. Teach them about the high King of Light, whose power is far-reaching and large, without limit and number. Teach them about the 10 Worlds of light, the imperishable. (24)

90. Speak to him that his heart may be enlightened, and teach him, that his mind may be enlightened. Show yourself to him graciously and afford him Company, you and the two angels who are with you. Teaching Knowledge Adam, Hawwa his wife and all his kinsmen. Tell them that the wicked and Satan, the unfit, shall not deceive them. (25)

91. Teach them [14] prayer and praise, that they may step down and praise the Lord of all the worlds: three times a day and two times of the Night. (26)

92. Tell them: Take a wife and form a tribe, so that let the world multiply from you. (27)

93. When you approach your wives, wash yourselves with water and keep yourself in. (28)

94. Do not fight and do not steal and do not kill children of men. (29) 95. O you who are perfect and faithful! Do not depart from your Speak away, and do not love falsehood and falsehood. Don't love gold and Silver and the possessions of this world. Because this world stops and passes away, and their possessions and their works will be abandoned. (30)

96. Do not worship Satan, idols, images, error, and the confusion of this world. For he who worships Satan falls into the blazing Fire, until the day of judgment, until the hour, the hours of judgment- as long as the High Light King, who judges all beings, wants it. He judge the souls, each according to the works of his hands'). (31)

97. Do not learn the magic work of Satan and do not bear witness to the Lie down. If you speak right, then keep straight right and wrong- don't turn it. When they call witnesses, they are true people, stuff. Every one who perverts the law is consumed by the blazing Fire. (32)

98. Deliver unrighteous servants into the hand of their wicked masters and do not leave the weak to the strong. (33)

99. Honor the father and mother and the elder brothers like the Father. A son who despises father and mother will be sentenced on court day be. (35)

---

1) Sorry. "he grants to everyone according to the works of his hands."

100. Do not look with greed and desire for something that is not yours shall. If your Lord grants it to you - - - '); but do not argue about it in a sinful way. For according to the will of your Lord, every one of you was The thing is attributed and granted in kindness. (37)

101. If evil comes upon you, endure it and hold fast in your faith. Do not change anything and do not twist anything in [15] of your speech. Do not bend your knee and do not bow your head and do not pay homage Satan is the Devil, the Devil is the Devil. (38)

102. Keep away from everyone who is the evil one, the idol and adores the pictures. Don't be a friend to him"). Have you asked for follow him and love him, so let the scriptures and speeches and the Hear the praise that your Lord has bestowed upon you. Does he listen to it, become a believer and bear witness to the high King of light, the God who love him, draw near to him and show him good from everything you own. He does not listen, does not bear witness, and does not turn believing, he will be held accountable for his own sins be. (59)

103. If you see a prisoner who is a believer and a truthful, then pray ransom and redeem him. But not with gold and silver alone release the soul, but with truthfulness and faith and with the mouth pure speech releases the soul: from darkness to light, from error to the truth, from infidelity and rebellion to prayer and praise, from unbelief to faith in your Lord. Whoever releases a soul is worth generations and worlds to me'). (43)

104. I tell you, my chosen ones, I teach you, my Gläubigen: Pray alms to the poor and be a guide to the blind'). When you pray alms, my elect, do not bear witness to it. Be- if you witness it once, do not repeat it. Pray with your right hand, so don't tell your left. Pray with your left hand, so say it not your right°). To every one who gives alms and bears witness to it,

---

1) The postscript is omitted, instead you have to think of a gesture: then it's good.

2) Nn is only in A and may only be inserted later under the influence of the Qur'anic aš-šaiṭān ar-rağim (Sura 3,31 and others). According to the Arab mußar-rağim ,"the stoned one". Since the word in the athiopic has the meaning "cursed" and this sense apparently paft better, the Arabic word is considered a borrowing from the Nöldeke, Neue Beiträge zur semit. Linguistics, p. 47. Now Satan is already at Ephrem (+ 373) daggālā rgīmā ,,the stoned (or to be stoned) cheaters" called: Ephraemi ... Opera selecta ed. OvERBECk, pp. 131,11. So, the expression was common among the Arameans long before Muhammad. Therefore, can he also came from them to the Arabs, on the other hand, it is not necessary that רגימא this verse is taken from the Qur'an.

3) Maybe nonna Abynnn's "don't be a friend" originally stood there.

1) nne is = it belongs to the turn nn שאוילִיא ד (Jn. 200, 14).

b) See timesheet. f. Semitistik I (1922), p. 2.

6) Matt. 6, 3.

it will be repaid and not credited. (34) Everyone who gives alms and does abundant good, but then abolishes alms and does not donates, falls into the blazing fire, until his sins are finished and all his Misdemeanors are expunged. (41)

105. My chosen ones! Do you see someone who is hungry, so sate he. If you see someone who is thirsty, pray to him to drink. Do you see [16] a naked man, put garments and cloaks around his neck. For everyone who gives receives, and everyone who lends receives payment. For everyone who gives alms, the great alms will be a support. Whosoever clotheeth the naked man with raiment, it shall be around his neck Lay robes and covers. Anyone who releases a prisoner will The messenger of life. (42)

106. Whoever lets himself be enlightened and instructed, he will be helped create. Whoever calls the call of life, its construction is firmly built") and 15 is fixed. Who can be enlightened by my praise, whose name is will be remembered daily at the place of light. Who can stand by my words he will be among the Uthras.

107. He who frees himself from the infidelity of the wicked will be without Sins and transgressions rise up and look at the place of light. 108. Every one who, out of love for his Lord, puts his body to Is pure in sin without blemish. (45)

109. To you I say, my elect, to you I declare, my Believers: Fast the great fast, but not a fast of food the drinking of the world. (74)

110. Fast with your eyes from winking and see and do nothing Evil. (76)

111. Fast with your ears from listening to doors that are not yours have. (78)

112. Fast with your mouth of impious falsehood and love do not lie and lie. (77)

113. Fast with your heart from evil senses, and hatred, jealousy and do not be divided in your heart. Those who are jealous will not Called more perfect. (79)

114. Fast with your hands from the commission of a murder, and do not commit theft. (81)

115. Fast with your body from a wife who is not your shall. (80)

116. Fast with your knees from the worship of Satan and kneel not in front of the images of deception.

(83) 117. Fast with your feet from cunning gait for a thing, that's not yours.

118. Fast this great fast and do not break it until you your body is separated. (85)

---

1) That distributes life to the pious.

2) Sorry. hat בנינא.

119. Who [17] sins in his childhood, but then no longer sins, and no longer transgresses, the forbearance of his Lord will be granted. He, the High King of Light, is compassionate, forgiving and merciful, he is a remitter of sins and offenses. (40)

120. Everyone who loves gold and silver and the possessions of this world and therefore commits a murder, falls into the blazing, red-hot fire. (46)

121. My chosen ones! Have no confidence in the kings, and Rulers and the rebellious of this world, not even on armies- power, armor, battle, crowds that gather them '), and prisoners, who bring them together in this world, still on gold and silver. You they made a fuss and threw him out"). They collect well and leave it back in the world, then go there and boil in the fire. With your They stir up the coals with their hands, and with their lips they fan the fire to"). Their scourge and their ruling power are collapsing, and their splendor will be blocked to you. Neither their gold nor their silver shall remain to them. and will be your support. Neither your money nor your estate will be given to you for Redemption. Their rule will pass away and come to an end, and they will the verdict was pronounced. (87)

122. I say to all of you who listen to the speech of God: At your standing and your sitting, your walking and your coming, with your food and your drink, with your resting and your lying, in general, in all your actions, call and praise the name of the the high King of Light. (47)

123. ......5) cross the Jordan and be baptized. Baptize your soul with the living baptism"), which I brought to you from the worlds of light, with the all perfect and faithful are baptized. Say the blessing about the pihta') and eat it, say the praises about the mambuha and drink it, that a remitter of sins and offenses may chastise you be. (48)

124. Anyone who is marked with the sign of life, over

---

1) Probably to be understood in this way, supported by the parallel passage (42, 9). Anders Nöld., p. 328. Sorry. has NDIND).

2) Doubtful. The words Narn are probably disfigured ראמילון) (sorry. hat and maybe they don't belong here at all. In the original place they like similar as Lit. , p. 227, 4f.

8) See NöLDEKE, Zeitschr. f. Assyriologie XXX (1916), p. 150, the translated last words , "with his lips he swallows embers".

4) Read with BD NMW.

8) The word has not yet been explained. The previous attempts to explain see at Brandt, Rel., p. 100f. Perhaps it is with heb. ynD to combine ,free his way let", here ,,let (flow) freely", do not contain or cut off.

c) With baptism in living, flowing, not in "cut off" water, see above, p. 15'.

7) Pihtā is the sacramental food, Mambūhā (Mambūgā) is the cult potion. See about the two names and their meaning rooms, Oriental studies, Theodor Nöldeke dedicated to the 70th birthday, p. 959ff. and Lit., p. XXIIf.

the name of the King of Light [18], who firmly and steadfastly who keeps baptism and practices good and beautiful works, no one will be on his Ways ').

125. Do not eat the blood of animals, not a dead (animal), not a pregnant, 5 no throwing*), none that stands [in ]*), none that is a wild The animal attacked). But slaughter with the iron, wash, rinse, clean, cook and eat it. (57)

126. Do not eat or drink from the house of the twelve gates"), for they are all full of impurity and ugliness.

127. O men who take a wife! Why do you want to go out take a wife in their midst?

128. Love and endure one another, like the eyes that are on the feet pay attention. Love and endure each other, then you will become the great Suf- Sea°). For the brothers in the flesh perish, but the Brothers in Kušta"). So you are brothers in Kušta, who Practice love to perfection. Because the name of the First one") is on your Head erect. Your sign is the sign of the living water, by virtue of which you will ascend to the place of Light.

129. If you, my chosen ones, listen to what I have told you say, if you will do as I command you, I will give you splendor of to grant me in abundance and light from me without end. You will be in the house of life, as the Uthras of Light flaunted at the places of light.

130. If you do not listen to what I am telling you, if you do not do what I command you, and you will descend into darkness-, into which the wicked sink without ascending.

131. Salvation to him who heard and believed, woe to everyone who wrapped up and lay down10). The good ones who heard and believed, rise up victorious and look at the place of light. The bad guys who they heard and did not believe, they set their faces to the great South Sea.

132. My chosen ones! Stay away from the unruly the empty apartment. Every day, every day, they sit on the thrones of the Rebellion, they sit on the thrones [19] of rebellion, and with the

---

1) Up to the place of light.

2) Perhaps this is how it should be understood here, see about the word Joh II, p. 136*.

3) A word has come up behind woll. Names in B (text 38, 20) it may be added only after the misunderstood.

4) I suspect 5.

") The "gates" are the foreign, false religions, the Zalil of which has twelve-11 will be.

°) In Alexandrian-Jewish speculation, the exit of the soul from the body combined with the exodus of the children of Israel from Ãgypten and the Red Sea interpreted as the sea of the end (Jam süfals Jam söf), see Joh., p. XXI.

7) See above, p. 512

8) Instead of ND12 ,,name" is perhaps ND12 ,,characters" to be read.

°) Of the King of Light, see p. 6, 17... 10) See Joh. II, p. 180; Lit., p. 96*.

Scourge perform their works. Their works lead them with the scourge and faithfulness, meekness and peace is not in them.

133. Do not take a course of error and do not commit a mistake-faults with gold and silver. Whoever accepts the path of error, whose Name is cut off from the place of light.

134. If a man leaves his body, do not weep and exalt no complaining and complaining about him. Bread from ....") do not eat about him. Anyone who weeps over a dead man will be put in streams of water, when they are full. Whoever tears his robe by the neck*) will make the mistake keep his clothes on. He who pulls out his hair around the dead man, they will enclose it in the mountain, in the Dark Mountain"). (49)

135. Go, you poor, wretched*) and persecuted, weep over you itself. For while you are still in the world, your sins increase.

136. When you are grieved for the souls that depart from among you, so put out displeasure and sorrow from your heart, and keep sorrow, and Complain away from your gates. Because of grief and lamentation, the- monen and Dews formed. They rush ahead of the souls on the way and harass them in the customs house'). If you ask for them, and she loves, so perform intercession, prayer and praise for her, recite Hymns, reads orders of prayer and organizes masses for the dead, so that the 20 be merciful to them. Shine will then give you go ahead, let the light follow you. Messengers of life will be sent to you On the right, angels of light will be on the left, and they will be watched by the- °) and the boiling boilers. (50)

137. Teach souls that their hearts should not falter. Let them speak softly and hear the praise that I have brought you. May they hear and witness, and may their hearts find rest on his support.

138. Pray bread and water and shelter to the poor and poor- they followed the children of men who were persecuted.

---

1) The word has not yet been explained. G.Hoffmann's declaration Zeitschr. f. Assyriologie IX (1894), p. 336 is no more probable than that of his predecessors. It is probably of Babylonian origin.

*) As a sign of mourning, a custom that Muslims and Jews also practice.

8) nDN can be called,"on the Finsterberg, fetter to the Finsterberg" and "enclose it in the Dark Mountain". Also the expression (R 37, 20; Jn. 99, 5) is ambiguous; he kaun mean "to the dark Mountain" and "to the dark Mountain provide". The motive that a wicked man is tied to a mountain is otherwise in the myth spread (Dahāk, Prometheus). R 58,16 the words can only he will be tied up on the mountain Mārā", and also for the expression Jn. 97,4 מיתיאבאט בטורא האשכא is the meaning of "on which mountains are bound" closer. On the other hand, the turn shows Joh. 87.3; 184.4; 208.3 with It is certain that the idea that the wicked will enter the mountain of darkness, with the Mandaeans, see also above, p. 15, 11, therefore I take this meaning also at nDx and on.

4) Read ודאנייא. 6) Which stands on the border between this world and the Hereafter. °) See the preface to the third piece of the fifth book.

139. Walk the ways of the Kuštā, and the wage of the wage-earner- don't spend the night with you. (51)

140. [20] Do not rob the partner and do not deceive your Friend. Whoever robs his companion and partner, whose eyes look not the light. (52)

141. Give each other the rights and do not make your oath of allegiance to lie. For the Uthras and Kings of Light grant each other Covenant and oath of allegiance. (53)

142. O you chosen and perfect ones! Be humble and bedivorce, so that you may be called chosen, faithful, and believers. Love each other faithfully and lead your love to perfection. Be gently and modestly against the excellent teachers who give you the rights Teaching wisdom. Do not overpower them, so that you may save your soul does not attach any blemish. (54)

143. Do not pray to the soothsayers and Chaldeans of falsehood, for in the darkness they will be accommodated. (55)

144. Do not swear false oaths and twist your oaths .not. (56)

145. Do not consume interest and compound interest, so that you are not in the dark darkness will be judged. (58)

146. Do not boo and do not whore, do not sing and do not dance. Your Do not let your heart be taken for the song of Satan, which is entirely from Magic, deception and seduction, which is the meaning of the perfect it turns the hearts of the believers upside down. (59)

147. My chosen ones! Take care and be prepared so that you You are called armed in the world. Stand still in the world and endure the persecution of the world until your measure is full. Be each other a support and help, as well as the perfect one, in the pursuit ofkick. (60)

148. If your mind is in anger, calm down and keep down your heart. Accept from the Word of your Lord. Because the attitude of the Who is filled with the wrath of Satan, [is made wise by the right- faith and humility. Who can get through will not allow faith to be drawn to modesty, will be destroyed by sword and the sabre was slain. He will be slain by sword and sword, and falls into the blazing fire. (61)

149. If you see a good man who has learned wisdom, approach and accept from him his wisdom. Do you see a bad, [21] he who is wise to evil, so stay away from him, do not take anything from his wisdom, do nothing of his works, and walk not on his path. (63)

150. O you who believe and are perfect! Everything that you have- if you hate it, don't hurt your neighbor either. (65)

---

1) After the parallel point.

151. My chosen ones! Do good works and take care of travel- food for your way. See, hear and believe and take this The word of your Lord.

152. See with your eyes, speak with your mouth, listen with with your ears, believe with your heart, practice alms with your hands- give and do good, and act according to the will of your Lord, but after the will of Satan does not act. (66)

153. Do not have confidence in the beauty of the bodies, because completely suddenly they spoil. Walk according to the word of your Lord, that you may victoriously ascended to the place of light. Show the high King of Light Submission'), veneration and praise, so that your sin and guilt you will be forgiven. (67)

154. Do not forget about Satan and the deceptive images of this world. For everything that is born dies, and everything that is made with hands will, spoils. The whole world is coming to an end, and their divinity pass. (83)

155. My chosen ones! Have no faith in the world, in who lives, because she does not belong to you. Have faith in the beautiful The works that you do. When you leave your body, you can you rely on the works of your hands. (86)

156. My chosen ones! Don't show contempt for the orders, which your Lord commanded. Show legality, gentleness and modesty, which are of the nature of light. Show forbearance, compassion, Conciliatory- and mercy, which are of the nature of light. (88)

157. O you men who take wives, O you women who give you Men come, O you men who take women! Witness and be- come on, kids. [22] If you do not bear witness and receive, then bear the disease is in the camp. But I will tell you about the ugly works the women who commit adultery: about every woman who commits fornication, about every woman who commits theft, about every woman who practices magic, and the soul is oppressed in the body: an action that God does not like and for people are not beautiful. For it is like the terrible sufferings, for which there is no cure. (92)

158. Do not take as a wife a slave who has not been set free, and so do not take your children to a mansion. On the day of the 35th If the servant is missing and the heart of the Lord is angry with him, the sins will, which the servant commits, coming upon the head of his Father"). When you take a woman who is released, so take abundant kindness, about- a lot and a lot. (93. 94)

159. Receive faithful love from a woman to whom there is fidelity. Do not turn away from one another until your measure is full. Because who will be

---

1) For the intransitive use of 1733 cf. Joh. II, p. 218*.

*) See Joh. II, p. 174.

A woman betrays, in whom there is no mistake, lies and deceit, and loves and drives the lust of the Tibil, about whom the verdict will be pronounced. (95)

160. If you have children and they remain alive, teach as soon as you understand yourself on knowledge, the right wisdom and let walk the path of the Kušta. If you do not teach them, and teach, and you will be condemned in the Court of Justice. When you but they don't want to learn, they will because of their own Sins will be called to account. (96)

161. If a man inclines away once'), he straightens him up again and support him. If a soul inclines away for the second time, it will judge back up and support her. Does a soul bow away for the third time, so raise her up again and support her. Leave them the scriptures and Listen to the words, prayers and praises of your Lord. When you but she will not let herself be supported, so pluck out the evil vine, bring [23] a good one and plant him in his place. Because you give him in his ear, but he did not want to hear, they showed him in the eye, he but did not want to see, you showed him, but he did not see with the eye if he wanted to, he should come to an end on the day of the end. He falls into the torture, into which the wicked fall without rising. (97)

162. When you see people with a physical defect so do not show contempt for them ") and do not laugh at them you. For only the bodies formed of flesh and blood are formed by Suffering and infirmity are contemptible, but the soul will not be saved by suffering and infirmities contemptible. The soul is only scorned by ugly Works she commits. (98)

163. I tell you, my chosen ones, I teach you, my Gläubigen. Do not praise the Seven and Twelve*), the leaders of the world who walking by day and night'). For they mislead you."

---

1) The right faith.

2) Read Brockelmann, Lex. Syr.2, p. 79b is to be corrected, otherwise mandaean ND3 finds (R 43, 15; 191,8; 215, 24), in addition, several times NIND)2. Syrian ND3 with by see at Brockelm. there.

3) The seven planets and the twelve animal images.

4) The verb 817 (177) is almost only with the planets. It is in Aramaic (such as in Babylonian) ambiguous; it can mean "wandering" and "chastising, ruling". To this place, where next to NIDNTD, "Leiter" is written and not just one of the Seven, but also stated by the twelve, the meaning "reign" fits better, but R 40, 12 is also mentioned by the Dews and the hosts of Satan, to which also the Seven that they should be subjected to the children of Adam, R 125, 1 of the That they should obey Adam and his kinsmen, and R 171, 8f. stands in parallel Also, the אסגי. noun standing next to it only has the meaning "gait, run" (such as babyl. marditu), not the sense of domination". Therefore, one must also at this point the Meaning , "walking". If it is now also stated by the signs of the zodiac, so it should be borne in mind that even these seem to wander with the sun over the sky.

8) Read Abwnd, cf. R 231, 19.

Tribe of Souls'), who moved here from the house of life be. (101)

164. Do not praise the sun and the moon, the illuminators of this world, because this shine is not hers. It was given to them only in order to dark apartment"). They are the angels of the lapsed The house"); they made a vain call to be heard*).

165. Do not praise Šamiš (the Sun), whose name is Adonai, whose Name Qadoš, whose name is Ēl-El, in addition, he has hidden, in the World non-revealed names. (102)

166. He, Adonai, chose a people for himself and founded a Synagogue. Jerusalem Square is being built, the city of the Jews who cutting with a sword, splashing her face with her blood*) and so Adonai worship. The men leave their wives, go there and lie down to each other. The women who are in their menstruation lie in the lap of men. They turn away from the first teaching and make a "book" for yourself. (103. 104)

167. I tell you, my chosen ones, do not hold it with those Slaves who are abhorred by their master. Do not mix with [24] to the Jews who do not stand there in a speech"). (105)

168. Out of the people of the Jews all nations and gates are born-go. (106)

169. False prophets appeared, which are accompanied by lies and deception- go. They enter from the angels of defectiveness°) into the parturition- mother of the women who become pregnant with them and they are covered with blood and give birth to menstruation. They bring (false) wisdom out of their hearts and throw them into the world'). They call themselves God and they are the messengers ("the Messengers"). They attract a body and take the shape of men. You write a book of deception, ask Warn them and let them perform false prayer. Lustful-they cast lust, lust and passion over the face of the earth, and they call themselves prophets. (107)

---

1) A designation for the totality of the Mandaeans, cf. Jn. II, p. 5. ") Both names for this world.

3) Read mp cf. the Var. in D.

4) After the circumcision, the blood is sucked out at the wound, so the Mōhēl (circumciser) slightly blood on the face. Cf. also B.

b) This indicates divisions among the Jews.

°) It is unclear how this is meant; here hardly means "with". See by the way the parallel passage.

7) is often in the Mandaean sense of false wisdom, after- wisdom. I take the sentence in this way, not in the sense,you remove the wisdom from your Hearts and throw embroidery into the world" (FROM anticipation of ND5NB) by name with With regard to R 121.9; cf. also R 375.15.

8) See also L 33, 19 on this use of pDn. But perhaps almost, "to name oneself", cf. ND12 PDN Joh. 117, 12f. and see Z. 31.

170. Now I, the first Messenger, teach and tell all the Naşoreans '), the who are now and who are yet to be born: do not listen to their speech and do not stray from the path of life. My chosen ones! Hold it not with those who do not stand there in a speech. Recognize it in your speech, they accuse one another of lying. A king reviles the another king, a prophet punishes the other prophet with lies. They call the children of men approach, make them greedy for gold and silver, money and well, fill them with desire and seduce them. (108)

171. Some of them take you by singing, dancing and voluptuousness caught. Some of them seduce you with images of gold and Silver, by sculptures made of a block, by idols made of clay and other worthless works. (108)

172. Some of them oppress you with sword, saber, blow, War, struggle, fear and terror, frighten them and command them and make them slaves of the planets against their will. (109)

173. Some of them seduce the children of Adam by humility and Flattery, [25] by candy and cunning, by cunning and deception. They put the name of God in their mouths") and speak to them: These are the books and speeches that the Great, the Exalted bestowed on us has. They mix among them speeches by which their souls are inhibited") and perish. They twist their hearts and throw folly*) into the world. (110)

174. And now I, the pure Messenger, say to you: Do not listen to the Speech of the false prophets posing as prophets of the Kušta and make themselves like the three Uthras who have gone into the world"). Your Shine is not a shine, her robe is a robe of fire. Some of they are clothed with garments of darkness, with shrouds of darkness- and their smell is ugly and smelly. (111)

175. I say to you, my elect, I call to you and teach i, my believers, clothe yourselves in white and cover yourselves with white like the garments of splendor and the sheaths of light. Lay white headbands around the same as the flaunting wreaths"). Bind yourselves Belts of living water, which the Uthras around tie her hips. Put split shoes on and take bars in your hand is like the rods of living water, which the Uthras on the Carry places of light. (112)

176. O you who believe and are perfect! Don't say anything you don't

---

1) Designation for the Mandaeans. The meaning of the word and its- in connection with the New Testament Natwpaios, see Lit., p. XVIff., Rooms, ZDMG LXXIV (1920), p. 429ff. and my remarks Zeitschr. f. Semitistik I (1922), p. 230ff.

°) See above p. 4, 26.

4) At the ascent to the place of light.

4) B (47, 12) has "waste". See also pp. 29, 9.

8) See above p. 15, 12; 16, 13 and Brandt, Rel., pp. 122f.

°) Of the celestial beings who are white.

know, and it is not revealed to you. For there is no one to whom the- except for the Great, Exalted One, who is All knows and sees through. (113)

177. My chosen ones! Arm yourself with an armor that does not of iron. May your armor be Naşaraerdom') and the true 5 Speeches of the place of light. (114)

178. Pray to one another good advice, as you warned and instructed be. As you see with your eyes, call with your mouth, with your Listen to ears, so do good, [26] beautiful works with your hands. Equal not to the evil plants that drink water, and not to their Lord Bring fruit. (115)

179. My chosen ones! See, I have told you about the light- for which there is no end or number. I told you about the Darkness and the blazing fire are proclaimed. I told you about the Satan, who is without strength and firmness and is not from the 15th century he can save the fire and the fire. (116)

180. This is the first teaching given to Adam, the head of the living Gender was awarded. It was a speech and a testimony.

181. Then the world will be destroyed by sword and pestilence. It is it intended for souls that they should leave their bodies at that time divorce. And these souls rise up without sins and Veerschuldungen to Light up.

182. Then Ram the man and Rūd the woman remain; the head of the age they are called. Then the world will be new from you- wake up, and the world will multiply.

183. Adam the Man is destined to last a thousand years "). Of From Adam to Ram and Rūd there are thirty generations. All of them rise up to the light in an ascent, because in a teaching there- steles, walking in a speech and witnessing in a praise. (118)

184. Then the world will be destroyed by fire. There are 30 the remaining Šurbai is a man, and Sarhabel is a woman. All souls part at they leave their body and ascend to the light, because do not distort the first teaching and do not distort the first speech- turn. (119)

---

1) See also the variant Lit., p. XVIII. *)

Here follows a fragment about the four world ages, of which also in the the Mandaean literature is mentioned, except in B also Joh. II, p. 93 (here in note. 4 others Evidence:), 195, 244. The two pairs Ram and Rūd, Šurbai and Šarhabēl as heads of the Ages (note the alliteration) are otherwise unknown. The name Sarhabēl is an Arabic male name and is also found among the Mandaeans as the name of male Light being.

a) In the Midrashim it is told that Adam should actually live a thousand years, however, he had voluntarily given seventy years to David, cf. Grünbaum, New contributions zur semit. Sagenkunde, p. 63.

185. Then the world is reawakened and multiplies. By Rām and from Rud to Šurbai and Šarhabel there are twenty-five generations. (120) 186. Then, after Surbai and Sarhabel, the world will be- floods hit. Noah of the Ark and Shem (Sum), the son of Noah. The whole world is destroyed by water, [27] for it is written for them that the souls depart from that separate your body and ascend to the light. (121)

187. From the age of Šurbai and Šarhabel to the age of Noah is fifteen generations old. (122)

188. From Noah the Man the world will multiply, and they will witness in a shout and praise. And I will make a speech i, the Messenger of life, and the two angels, my Beglider. (122)

189. From Noah the Man until the place of Jerusalem is built there are six generations. It exists in bloom for a thousand years. (123)

190. Then is born and steps on the King Solomon, the son David, and he becomes king of Judah and the mighty ruler over Jerusalem. The demons and Dews submit to him and go after his will, until he glorifies himself and for the goodness of his Lord is ungrateful. Then the demons and Dews turn away from his speech and the lordship will be taken away from him. (124)

191. Then Cbristus, the prophet of the Jews, appears. He calls the He makes them his party, and everyone is fighting for he '). (125)

192. The seven Dews, the seducers, seduce all the children of Adam. The first is Šamiš by name (the Sun). The second is the saint Spirit, Estrā (Venus), also Libat, Amamite by name. The third is Nbū (Mercury), the lying Messiah who falsifies the first praise. The fourth is Sin (the Moon), Şaurel by name. The fifth is Kewan (Saturn), the sixth Bel (Jupiter), the seventh Nerig (Mars). (126)

193. The Dews of the House of Šamiš give gold to their admirers and silver, and lushness of the abdomen. He sends messengers to the world- and they lead the children of men to worship the sun and Moon. (127)

194. The Dews of the House of Libat leave delusion, adultery, fornication, [28] Fornication, lust, passion, song and sorcery on the Let go of human children. (128)

195. The Dews of the Nbu-Christ treacherously attack the people-

---

1) That's what it says here. But the template certainly had the same as B (text 50,24) 1855 by W787NDnD Aty, everyone "fights for what does not belong to him", how can anyone here, apparently, better reproduces the template. But the change probably comes from the editor from A itself, since the current wording fits better with the previous sentence.

°) is probably only inserted under the influence of the following statements. Also at מאלאכיא the parallel point is probably secondary.

children. They spread among them, take them out of their homes and their families, carry them away to mountains and plains, let them to sit there for themselves, and their sex and their seed flow to them on the Legs'). The demons and Dews  the human children. You take the bodies trapped and tormented mind and soul. You take ....²) ... and for them there is neither medicine nor cure. He himself appears to his admirers and admirers in the fire and speaks to to them: 'See how my glory has risen over the world." You know not that it's not his shine. He spreads folly in the world. (128. 145)

196. The Dews of the house of Kewan throw lamentation, weeping and (false) wisdom*) into the hearts of men and snatch them from the Grace. (129)

197. The Dews of the house of Nerig raid the children of men, grind them*), cut their flesh and shed their blood earth. They will become scavengers, priests, priests and oracles") genannt. (130. 160)

198. Christ also reveals himself in another form°). With fire he is clothed, enveloped in fire and shows miracles in the fire. Amünel') is his name, Jesus the Saviour he called himself. On Fire is his abode, and he shows his chariot [in the fire]. He turns before you and says to you: 'Come, come to me, you will not burn (scald)." But do not believe him, for in sorcery and He goes hand in hand with Blendwerk *). (131)

199. If he afflicts you, tell him, 'We belong to you." But in your heart do not confess him and do not fall from the word of your Lord, the High King of Light. For the lying Messiah, the-borrowed things are not revealed. (132)

200. He says, 'I am God, [29] God's Son, whom my Father gave me sent here." He explains to you: 'I am the first Messenger, I I am Hibil-Zīwā, who came from on high." But confess him not. For he is not Hibil-Zīwā. Hibil-Zīwa is not with fire-clothed, Hibil-Zīwā does not reveal himself in that age. Rather, Enoš- Uthra comes and goes to Jerusalem, with a robe of Clouds of water. In physical form he strides, but he is not wearing any physical clothing. Embers and anger are at ilım not. (133. 135. 149)

---

1) In Mandaean, NDn also refers to the limb, the "leg", especially the Thigh, see R 226, 14; 337, 13; 338, 7; Lit., pp. 20, 12; 56, 5.

2) ,"Number" does not fit, but also prn B probably does not offer the original.

8) See above, p. 257.

4) Probably to be interpreted that way. In the Talmud, it is also used in the sense of 'emasculating- needs, cf. LEvy, Neuhebr. Wörterb. IV, p. 565 b.

6) According to Zimmern, NENt is the Babylonian zabbu, denoting a class of priests (Delitzsch, Assyr. Handwörterbuch, p. 250a). See also Lit., p. 226.

°) Is linked to 195. 7) I.E. Immanuel. 8) Read NIDND.

201. He goes and comes in the years of Palṭus (Pilate), the King of the world. Enoš-Uthra comes into the world with the power of the high Lichtkönigs. He heals the sick, makes the blind see, cleanses the Lepers, raise up the crippled, crawling on the ground, that they may walk makes the deaf and dumb speak, and revives the dead. He wins believers among the Jews and shows them: there is death and there is there is life, there is darkness and there is light, there is error and there is Truth'). He converts the Jews to the name of the holien King of Light. (136)

202. Three hundred and sixty prophets go out of the village Jerusalem. They testify to the name of the Lord of Greatness. Enoš- Uthra then rises to the height and sits down to the Mšunne-Kušta "). (Everybody Uthras are hidden from the eyes of the children of men. Then there will be the Jerusalem Square is devastated, the Jews go into exile and will be scattered to all cities. (137)

203. Then comes Ahmat, the son of the wizard Bizbat"). A He spreads a reputation that is not a reputation, he creates a lot of evil in the world and lead the tribe of souls to sin'). (164)

204. To every one who remains in that last age, and with the call [30] of the power and the proclamation goes out to the Jordan, to the you will come out of the place of light with flags, flags of splendor-go. The Naşöreans, who put the headscarf around their heads, will it is worth generations and worlds to me"). To every Mandaean who lives in the Kušta persevere, I, Manda dHaijē, will lay down my rights. So listen for hear and be instructed, my chosen ones, so that you climb up victorious and look at the place of light. Life is victorious over all works.

---

1) See p. 205 et seq. (text).

2) The Mandaeans who have been raptured to bliss, cf. Jn., p. XVIII.

3) The Prophet Muhammad, see Jn. II, pp. 193f.

4) Read At02ND1 see also p. 24". 8) Read w,see above, p. 174.

Second book.

1. In the name of the great, strange life from the worlds of light, the may the blessed one, who is above all works, be healed and victorious, Give strength and firmness, speech and hearing to me and my wife NN because of this book. Our meaning, our knowledge and our knowledge shine, our figure shine, our face flaunt here in the Tibil and in the hereafter, in the world of light, and let our name be established at Jawar-Zīwa and Sīmath-Haije. (1)

First piece.

See above, p. 3.

2. In the name of the great life you are praised, my Lord, with a pure heart, you Lord of all worlds. (3)

3. Blessed be thy name, O Lord of greatness, in name and in the power of the Lord of greatness, King of light, Lord of all worlds, pure splendor and a great light that does not pass away, More compassionate, more imploring, more merciful, Redeemer of all believers, fortifier of all good. The Great, High, Vaunted, The mighty, the wise, the knower, the discriminator, the ruler of all things. The Lord of the Upper, Middle and Lower, the great face of the Lord- [31] who is invisible and whose power is unlimited, who has no He has no partner in the crown, no partner in the lordship. Who is on trust him, do not come to shame, who sincerely praises his name, if he does not fall, who stands in trust in him, he will not- low. (4)

4. The Lord of all kings spoke with great power and mighty speech, then the angels of light arose from pure splendor and great light, that does not pass. Angels of praise came up and were For which there is no end, number or offense. They are all are full of praise and stand there and praise the high King of Light, whose It is richer in splendor than to be described with the mouth, and whose Light is greater than that which could be pronounced with the lips. His 30th birthday Light shines and its radiance shines over all worlds. (6. 40)

5. Nothing was, since he was not, nothing is, so he is not. king with their splendor and the great light that is stored above them, with the n

Blessed fragrance, which the High King of Light bestowed upon them, with prayer and praise- those who have placed themselves in their hearts stand in a cloud of light and ver- honor and praise (him)'). (5. 6. 45)

6. They do not starve and do not thirst and do not feel heat still cold. (50)

7. The Kings*) of the Light earth are all full of praise and stand there and praise the King of light: living, who do not die, for whom there is no mistake shall. Bright and luminous is the firmament in which they dwell. (18)

8. The world in which he stands is without offense:
a world of splendor and light without darkness,
a world of gentleness without rebellion,
a world of legality without confusion and hustle and bustle,
a world of scents without an ugly scent,
a world of life in eternity without passing away, [32] a world of living water, the smell of which the angels rejoice,
a world of faithfulness and faith without lies and deceit.
It is a pure world without a bad mixture. (41)

9. The angels of splendor praise the King of Light in the glory and light that he bestowed upon them.
The angels of splendor praise the King of light in the garments of splendor that he bestowed upon them.
The angels of splendor praise the King of Light
in the turbans of splendor that he bestowed on them.
The angels of splendor praise the King of Light
in the wreaths of splendor that he bestowed on them.
The angels of splendor praise the King of Light
with the strength and firmness that he gave them.
The angels of splendor praise the King of Light with the faithfulness, the fellowship and the faith that he awarded to you. (42)

10. They are all gentle, wise and pleasant without lies and deceit. (43)

11. The trees of the light earth are all full of splendor and brightness. The Jordans of the worlds of light are full of white water. In the clouds of the Škīnās of splendor are furnished"). In the Škīnās of splendor kings worship and praise. Praise you and all beings the Great, the Exalted, the Lord of Greatness, who is above all the worlds live. (55. 60)

12. I am the pure Messenger whom the King of Light has given me[1] in my The name Hibil-Zīwa*). (79)

---

1) Compare the parallel point.

2) In the text it says "Trees", which mistakenly got here from text 32, 12.

3) Read pEN:D2.

4) nap has changed from the meaning ," continue to call for consideration ,,evoke", by

13. When the high King of Light wanted it, he called me out of his Škinā: out of that Škīnā, whom he, the Great, on his right and said, 'Go to the world of darkness, which is entirely of Wickedness is full. She is full of wickedness, full of devouring- fire. To the world of confusion and turmoil without firmness, to the 5 World of darkness without a ray of light, to the world of persecution and death without life in eternity." (80)

14. He said: 'Go, let the darkness come down and the inmates, [33] which were formed out of it. Stretch out the firmament and form stars in it. Create angels of fire. Give shine to the sun, the 10 one of them is to give brightness to the moons, shimmer to the stars and lift they ascend to the celestial sphere. (81)

15. Let the earth be formed, and the fruits, and the grapes, and the trees, which flaunting the world. There are livestock, fish in the sea and poultry, of every kind, male and female. (82)

16. A man and a woman shall arise, and their name shall be given to Adam and Be Hawwā. Of the angels of fire, some are said to be ministering to Adam. Whoever deviates from your word should be locked in the blazing fire be. Three angels are to come and keep Adam company. (83)

17. Let living water come and mix with the turbid water. 20 Through the scent of living water, the whole world flaunts. The four Let there be winds that blow over the world. There is a fire, and extend to all bodies, as well as the fruits, grapes and trees. It eats a mouthful in the world; if it eats the mouthful in the world hat, ...). (84)

18. The solid that is in the water shall be counted among the souls that Flowing at the food should be counted among the bodies*). Everybody Seeds, flowers, fragrant plants, spices, leaves and medicinal- herbs, livestock, poultry, delicious, everything is good and it is a beautiful thing to be at the service of Adam and his entire family.

19. That world shall be illuminated by the hand of Ptahil." 20. The high King of light spoke the word, and all things arose Ding by his word. (85)

---

the spoken word is developed. In some places it is doubtful which There is significance.

1) The text is mutilated, the postscript seems to be missing. N ,,erren" is found also in Mandaean: Joh. 48, 12 and more often in the Parisian divan, there also the noun שוניאנא (Z. 562f., 315, 627 and otherwise). But the abbot is not here; for this the imperfect נישגיא called. Also, N can be feminine, not subject to it. Neither it fits when you use it with syr. nešgā ,"Fog in summer"' (Payne Smith, col. 2475) identi- fiziert and moves to the next sentence.

a) The meaning of the sentence, which seems to be inserted secondarily, is not entirely clear. The solid in the liquid is opposed to the liquid in the solid. This should be done with the With the help of this method, the body will be able to cope with the weight loss. Cf. also Abs. 21, 57.

21. Ptahil came, lifted up the sky of water, stretched the firmament was out, and the earth Tibil was sealed. He created the Angel of fire, he gave splendor to the sun, brightness to the moon, Shine the stars and lifted them up to the celestial sphere. Put in place [34] Wind, fire and water, fruits, grapes were created, Trees, medicinal herbs, seeds and fragrant flowers. He created cattle-animals and wild animals of any kind made of earth dust, the red'), the Casting and clouding of the clouds of fog, wind, fire and water, gender (Seeds), Blood and bile and the other mysteries of this world. (86)

22. Adam and Hawwa were formed; by the power of the high The soul of the Light King fell into Adam and Hawwa. When the soul fell into it, they were in paradise. When they were in paradise, they understood and understood-they stood nothing. (87)

23. The high King of light said: Of the angels of fire shall some of Adam's servants. Let them come, bow down to him and do not deviate from his speech. Only he alone, the evil one, from whom evil was formed, deviated from the word of his Lord and judged not according to the word of his Lord. When he did not follow the When he judged the words of his Lord, he was bound in his chariot with God's fetter tied up. (88)

24. My Lord called me, and commanded me, and said, Go, call a i agree with Adam and his wife Hawwa. A noble voice call Hawwa to Adam and his wife and teach them about all things Ding: about the high King of Light, the Lord of all worlds, whose power is far-reaching and mighty, infinite and imperishable; about the angels the praises that are standing there and praising incessantly; about the worlds of light, the imperishable. (89)

25. Teach Adam that his heart may be enlightened, strengthen him that his mind is enlightened. Show yourself to him graciously and kindly and keep him company, you and the two angels who are born with you should go. Adam, Hawwa, his wife, and his clans know the doctrine. Tell them that they will not sink, and the wicked, and Satan, the unfit-i don't want to seduce you. (90)

26. Teach them prayer and praise, that they may come forward and [35] praise the high King of Light, the Lord of all the worlds: three times on Days and twice at night. (91)

27. Tell them: Take a wife and form a tribe, so that the Let the world multiply from you. (92)

---

1) The following is probably inserted secondarily, note the double N p. The insertion may have come from the same source as the one in para. 18. In any case, the Do not take words in such a way that the animals are made of dust from the earth and the Substances are formed. also R 126, 17. For see R 28,5 (besides 8711).

28. When you approach your wives, wash yourselves with water and keep yourself in. (93)

29. Do not fight and do not steal and do not kill perfect, faithful children of men'). (94)

30. O you who are perfect and believers! Don't leave your Speak away and do not love iniquity and falsehood. Don't love gold and silver and the possession of this world. For this world passes away, and its possessions go lose. (95)

31. Do not worship Satan and idols. Rather, they should be your servants and obey in the world. For he who worships Satan, will be tormented in the blazing fire until the day, the day of Judgment, until the hour, the hours of salvation, as long as the light- king wills it, the judge who judges all the world. He judges the souls, every man according to the works he has done. (96)

32. Do not learn the magic of Satan and do not bear witness to the Lie down. If you speak justly, then true witnesses shall come and witnesses. If they call witnesses, then let believing men witness*). Keep straight and do not twist it. Don't take a bribe and do not twist the right. Everyone who twists the law falls into the blazing fire. (97)

33. Deliver unrighteous servants into the hands of their masters from. (98)

34. Prayer alms the poor. When you pray, do not testify to it. If you pray with your right hand, do not say it to your left. Pray with her to your left, do not tell it to your right. When someone gives alms and if it testifies, it will be repaid to him and not credited. (104)

35. Honor the father and mother and the elder brothers as the Father. A son who despises his father and mother is sentenced in the court house be. (99)

36. Do not bow your head to Satan. Your eyes [36] shall be do not wink, your ears do not listen to bad, your heart does not Absorb envy. He who takes envy in himself will not become a perfect call.

37. Do not look with greed and desire for something that is not yours shall. If your Lord grants it to you - - - but do not argue about it. For according to the will of your Lord, every thing was given to you in kindness-written and granted. (100)

38. When disaster comes upon you, remain firm and steadfast in Believe. Do not twist anything and do not change anything and do not bend your knee before the sinking of Satan. (101)

39. Keep away from everyone who worships Satan; be to him

---

1) Note the restriction against A.

2) Again, a limitation compared to A.

no friend'). When he hears, he becomes a believer, and the one Lord of all The world, the high King of Light, who became of himself, testifies, so love draw near to him and give him good of what you have. If he does not listen, does not bear witness, and does not believe, he will will be held accountable for his sins. (102)

40. For every one who sins in his childhood and forgives himself, then it goes into itself, no longer sins and passes away, the indulgence will and his Lord. He, the high King of Light, is indulgent and merciful, he is a remitter of sins and offenses. (119)

41. Everyone who gives alms and does much good afterwards but the alms abolishes, falls into the fire, until his sins ended have. (104)

42. If you see someone who is hungry, satisfy him, someone who is thirsty, so pray to him to drink. If you see a naked man, put him around the 15. Put a garment on his neck and cover him. (105)

43. If you see a prisoner who is a believer and a righteous man, then pray ransom and redeem him. But not with gold and not with silver [alone] you shall release and save the prisoner*), but with speak more loudly and with faith release and save the prisoner: 20 from darkness to light, from evil [37] to good, from the un- believers to believers, from error to truth, from infidelity and rebellion for the praise of your Lord, who is without end, number and Stop is. (103)

44. Who disengages souls and who follows the paths of Kušta and faith 25, he will be allowed to walk the path of the Kuštā and the faith and he will ascend in the way of the believers.

45. Anyone who, out of love for his Lord, kills his body will rise up without sin and offense, and the great Look at the place of light. (108)

46. Everyone who loves gold and silver and the possessions of this world and therefore commits a murder"), is himself murdered and falls into the blazing fires. (120)

47. In your standing and sitting, in your eating and in your Drink, when you go and when you come, when you rest and 35 of your lying, in general, in all the actions that you practice, call and praise the name of your Lord, the high King of light, the Lord of all Different worlds. (122)

48. Let flow freely (?) cross the Jordan and be baptized. Baptize your Soul, speak the praises of the Pihtā and eat it, speak the 10 Praise the mambuha and drink it and say the blessing over the oil and draw you with it'). (123)

---

1) Probably also read Abymvansy here, see the parallel passage.

2) Read בר שיביא. 3) Read Synd cf. A. 4) See Lit., p. 35*, 57*.

49. When a soul is redeemed from the body and divorces, so weep do not complain about them, do not complain about them, and complain about them, and eat about them no bread ... To anyone who weeps over a soul, seas will and cut off rivers'). Whoever tears his garment over them, he will Keep mistakes on his robe. Who will pull his hair out over them, they will put it in the Dark Mountain'). (134)

50. When a soul departs from among you, carry the people And teach them, so that their hearts may not strauchele. Pray for them (the soul) alms, distribute bread for them, read for them, say mass for the dead, perform prayer and praise for them, and [wear for them] hymns and orders of prayer [before]. Dressed for you with Ge- [38] sheathe with sheaths, pay ransom and perform prayers, so that he, the Great One, may be full of mercy to her. (136)

51. O you who are perfect and believers! Pay the wage of the wage earner, and if he asks you for a reward, do not let him stay with you. (139)

52. O you who are perfect according to the word of your Lord! Deprive not the partner. Anyone who robs his comrade will be Graces of the world of light are deprived. (140)

53. If you speak a word, do not turn back from it. Sufficient be faithful to one another in your rights, and do not turn back from your rights. For of rich splendor and mighty light is the command, the warning and the Kušta, who came from the great ones"), the holding together came in the Škīnās. All angels') of the Light take the oath of allegiance to each other and kiss the rights. When you speak a word of good (people) and a- if the other reaches the right, do not turn back from it. (141)

54. Be humble, gentle and humble towards the excellent teachers, who teach you wisdom and truth. Do not get carried away over the He is the One whom your Lord has appointed over you. When you are about- lift up, you deny the word of your Lord, and you will be in the blazing Fire boil. (142)

55. Do not go to the soothsayers and Chaldeans of falsehood, for the soothsayers and Chaldeans are housed in the darkness. (143)

56. Do not swear false oaths, for everyone who swears false swears, will be housed in the darkness. (144).

57. Do not eat animals°). Don't eat a dead one, not a standing one, not a falling one, not a pregnant one, not one that has ambushed a wild animal. Eat the flesh of the animals that come forth from the fruits of the water- have been called '). The portion of the light shall be given to the light, the portion

---

1) From the Hereafter. 2) See above, p. 21. ")

Nen probably does not stand here as elsewhere very often for NEn, the great Life". The "great ones" are the higher beings, see further.

4) BD ,"Kings", cf. also A. b) There is no mention of these in A.

°) In A it says: the blood of animals!

7) It is unclear what is meant here by the fruits of water, apparently the darkness of the darkness. Also, do not eat anything that does not the iron is driven. (125)

58. Do not consume interest and compound interest of gold and silver, so that do not fall into the consuming sea'). (145)

59. Do not whore, [39] do not sing, do not dance, and leave your heart do not take yourself for the song that Satan sang, who, completely full of magic and deception, the hearts of believers are twisted. (146)

60. Love and endure one another and arm yourselves with the right The wisdom of your Lord. Stay firm and stand firm in the world and hold until your measure is full. Be a help and support the Full- come to the pursuit. (147)

61. Do not be among you hatred, jealousy and discord. When your In anger and bitterness, so calm down and hold down your Heart by the right word of your Lord. The thoughts of those who arm themselves with the wrath and venom of Satan, they will be strengthened by the right wisdom and faith are attracted to modesty. Who is not to be led by faith to modesty, but to be led by Sword and sabre taken down. He will be slain by sword and sabre and falls into the well-heated gehenna. (148)

62. If anyone does you any good, be thankful for it. Do not despise him, but honor him, be pleasing to him, and deny the No benefit. If you deny the benefit, then you will show yourself the Unworthy of kindness, and the kindness does not remain with you.

63. If you see a good one, approach him, take from him Apply wisdom and act accordingly. If you see an evil one, the wise one so stay away from him. Do not learn from his wisdom, do nothing of his works and does not walk in his path. (149)

64. In all your actions, observe limit and measure except in prayer, in praise and in adoration of your Lord. Practice wages-payment, alms-giving, charity and true mercy from the full, full of strength. There is no limit or measure to these benefits.

65. O you who are perfect and believers! Everything that you dislike and if you are hated, do not harm your neighbor either. [40] All that is good for you it seems, do what you can, if your strength is sufficient, and support each other. (150)

66. My chosen ones! Listen and be faithful and take this The word of your Lord. Believe with your heart, see with your eyes, listen with your ears, speak with your mouth, practice with your hands in general, fruits that get their nourishment from water. The position is even more unclear R 100, 14, which not only the cattle, but also the fruits of the earth out of the waters- and the fruits have come to fruition. Here you would get a better sense if you Nd strokes: which arose from the water. On the other hand, the R 124, 2 are in Unlike the benign fruits; they are bad, deadly fruits.

---

1) The designation is also found R 376, 24. N has the same meaning here as in and in see above, p. 15°. There is a sea of flames in the underworld.

Give alms and charity, and act according to the will of your Lord, but do not act according to the will of the bodies, nor according to the will of the the sinking of Satan. (152)

67. Do not have confidence in the beauty of the bodies, because completely suddenly they spoil. (153).

68. Have no confidence in the sinking Satan, who has come to naught and can not save himself from the consuming fire, which devoured and destroyed the Dews and all the hosts of Satan, who were attached to the Works of this world are bound and') were left here, that they are subservient to the children of Adam and wander in the world*).

69. About every one who denies the word of his Lord, and If the evil one leaves a way open, the hand of the Safan will have power. Who the will of Satan will not be done at the gate of fire need to pass by. Do the will of your Lord, that you may be victorious the light of the world.

70. Do not oppress the lowly who cannot fight with you. 71. Do not push the boundaries in injustice and do not go crazy landmark. If someone pushes the boundaries, a verjudgment will be pronounced on him.

72. Rebuke your friends sincerely and guide your friendship rightly. Do not flatter each other and do not talk about lies and deceit. Those who flatter are dragged on their faces into the blazing fire.

73. Put the great seal*) on your whole body and release it not from your body until the day you leave your body, on that day [41] of redemption.

74. Fast the Great Fast: (109)

75. Fast with your head in faith and worship and praise your Lord, the Lord of all the worlds. Do not worship the satans and Idols that are in the world, so they will be subject to you. If if there is faith in you, they will be your servants. However, if you are when you cease from the word of your Lord, the dews will be hidden from your eyes-stay borrowed.

76. Fast with your eyes from evil beckoning to each other. See and do no harm. (110)

77, Fast with your mouth of false, evil speech; say nothing False and lying. (112)

78. Fast with your ears from listening to evil. Listen and do nothing bad. (111)

79. Fast and purify your heart by faith. Heget no evil thoughts. Do not sin on evil and do not go with your

---

") Read the rzptsu.

*) With the last words He has the planets in mind, see above, p. 244.

8) By "seal" is otherwise meant the oiling, see Lit., p. 114. Here it denotes the Baptism with all its accessories.

Next up in malice. Who is deceitful and whose purpose is not through which Kušta has been purified, prayer, praise, veneration, The payment of wages and alms is not taken into account; he falls into the blazing Fire. (113)

80. Fast with your body from a wife who is not your shall. (115)

81. Fast with your hands from the commission of a murder of the The children of Adam. (114)

82. O you who are perfect and believers! Your hands should not practice evil magic.

83. Fast with your knees from kneeling down before sinking down- Satan, the deceitful images and the vain counterfeits, and Work. For all that is born dies, and all that is with the Hands are made, spoils. Have no confidence in it. (116. 154)

84. My chosen ones! Have faith in the High King of Light, the Lord of all the worlds, auf') the right wisdom, the Kušṭā and the Faith, [42] the sublime speeches and the miraculous commands that your Lord is given. For it is through them that victory comes to you, through them your soul is redeemed.

85. This is the fast that was appointed for you; do not break it, until your body dies. (118)

86. Trust in the beautiful works that you practice. If you are from your body, you can rely on the beautiful works, which you practice in the world. (155)

87. My chosen ones! Have no trust in the kings, noble ones, Rulers and oppressors who are in the world, not even on army power, Armaments, war, battle, troops and armies, which they gather together and-bringing together the world's scavengers for gold, silver, money and goods of this World. Then their kingship will vanish, and their scourge and their rulers-power will not be a support for them. They perish and leave it they go back and simmer in the fire until the day of Judgment-days, until the hour, the hours of salvation. (121)

88. My chosen ones! Show no contempt for what it is up to you to do this in the world. Show legality, gentleness, Be- divorce and kindness, which are of the nature of light. Show Indulgence and faithful friendship, which are of the nature of light. (156)

89. If someone turns to you with a request and you so do not hold it against him."). When someone who is- is meager, is worthy, turns to his neighbor with a request") and this one, although he can and is able to do it, does not give him anything, so the No mercy for him.

---

1) Read Sy. 2) It is not certain that this is the meaning of the words.

3) is repeated incorrectly from the previous line. It is also probably swipe.

90. Grant shelter and lodging, bread and water to the- the one who wanders abroad, and provides him with food for travel for his way.

91. He who has no knowledge and does not become wise from this wisdom, approach him and teach him, so that the deceivers about him may not fall over.

92. [43] O you men who take wives, O you women who come to men, love, test and take'). Then, if it is for it is written down to you*) and it is loved in your heart, take it. If you do not examine about them and do not get anything"), then endure it as Illness in the camp. When he does evil deeds, he has no mercy himself. Get away from her, you will not love too- share and say goodbye to her. Because it is like suffering*), for which there is no cure. (157)

93. Do not take a slave for a wife who is not free from her master- so don't take your children to a mansion. Take one of you, release them, and they will know thanks to you. (158)

94. Do not take as a wife a slave who has not been set free, and so do not take your children to a mansion. When for someone Sons and daughters are written down and he puts them in a gentleman's in the day when the servant sins and his master over him the sins that the servant commits on the head of his father come. (158)

95. Receive faithful love from a woman of faithfulness who, according to the will of your Lord is yours. Do not despise each other until your The measure is full. If someone betrays his wife while wearing her and does not fail, and loves and lusts for the lust of this world, so it is on he wore it and failed. He is sentenced in the courtroom, in the darkness be accommodated. (159)

96. If you have children, teach them as soon as they turn Understanding knowledge, prayer and praise, which is not a mixture of It's a lie. When you show them the ways of truth and faith and if they do not accept it, you are free from their sins. (160)

97. Does any evil one ever bow down from among you and from The words of his Lord are gone, so raise him up again°) and support him. If a vine inclines°) for the second time, [44] direct it back up and support him. A vine tilts for the third time away, so raise him up again and support him. If you support him, he

---

1) Further down is wab in a different sense.

2) In the book of fate or after the identification of the horoscope. About this, see Joh. II, p. 187. Perhaps the recommended examination also refers to this.

8) No children, see the parallel passage.

1) Cod. B: the terrible suffering.

8) Read הדאר.

9) So quite characteristic of the banausic nature of this reworker.

but if he cannot be supported, then tear out the evil vine'), bring take him to the gate of the temple, let him hymns and orders of prayer listen, show him writings and speeches, so that his heart and mind can be carried through they are enlightened. If he hears, testifies, and allows himself to be awakened, then love him, put him in his place, and do not condemn him. When he if he does not hear, testifies, and allows himself to be awakened, then tear the evil vine take out a good one and plant it in its place. If he doesn't hear, witness, and be raised up, and he will be raised up by the Ruler." be killed. He is killed by the ruler and falls into the blazing fires. Because you showed him in the eye, but he did not see if you wanted to call him in the ear, but he did not want to hear, he should Part of the consuming fire. (161)

98. When you see the wretched, the persecuted, and the perfect, the afflicted with physical evil and infirmity, so do not laugh at them in your Hearts. For only the bodies formed of flesh and blood become despicable by suffering and infirmity4). The bodies are Suffering and infirmity, but the soul is destroyed by suffering and Infirmities are not contemptible. The soul is saved only by the ugly works a crime she committed while she was in prison. (162)

99. Those who do not want to accept wisdom, sink like those who do the will of the body, with your body in the darkness. The To do the will of Satan, wander with Satan into the fire.

100. Whoever does the will of the High King of Light will be in this world not humiliated. When his measure is full, angels of light go to meet him. He ascends with angels of light, and his face shines and shines. A everyone hands him his splendor, covers him with his own light, He puts victory wreaths of his own [45] around his head, and so he will become like the angels of glory. They teach him rich, unforgettable- and he stands in a cloud of light and worships and praises the high king of light. This one will be full of mercy to him and granted great grace is rich in him in the place of light. He will be strengthened with a security, which is nothing of a physical garment. His form is pure, imperishable light. Anyone who truly and reliably stands in the first faith, sustains existence for all eternity.

101. My chosen ones! Do not praise the angels who by day and wander at night"), since the day when you give them shine and brightness to enlighten the worlds. (163)

---

1) The reworker has left these words meaningless here, see also and A.

2) Read דבנאואיהון.

a) In the previous sentence it is said that he will be expelled from the church in this, that he should fall into the power of the worldly ruler and be killed by him will be. He is not to be killed by Mandaeans.

4) there is no sense. It may have been there, too. Which Words are torn apart, cf. A.

b) Cf. Joh. II, p. 2.

°) See above, p. 244.

102. Do not praise the angry Šamiš (the Sun), whose name Qadoš, whose name is Adonai, whose name is El-El. In addition, he has Names that are not revealed in the world. (165)

103. When Jerusalem, the city of the Jews, is built , the Abraham, the Prophet, is called in Jerusalem.

104. He, Adonai, calls Moses from Mount Sinai, he confessed to Moses and awarded him '). He calls a people for himself and creates himself a house of prayer. Thus arose the people of the Jews. Victims of animal fat offer him the blood of the animals you pour out in front of you in the temple and do what you shouldn't. The people of the House of Israel will give you genannt. They circumcise themselves with swords, splashing with their blood they cover their face and smear their mouth. The men leave their wives and go to each other. They deny the word of their Lord and turn away from this faith. They are called Jews, [46] because they have sinned). (166)

105. I teach you, my disciples, you chosen, perfect ones and believers, whom you should live in that age: do nothing of do not eat of their food and do not drink of their Drinks. Do not mix with them and do not take a wife from them, of those whorish slaves who do not worship their master and from the The words of their Lord turn away. They deny Moses, the Prophet the one who brought you the law. They falsify it, they falsify the works of Abraham, the Prophet of Ruha on Mount Sinai"). Since his lord Adonai loves him*), he circumcises himself, separates himself from his father, moves out into the foreign world, into the world, founds a Make room and create a prayer house. Do not mix with those Jews, who do not stand in a speech. (167)

106. From the people of the Jews go forth peoples and tongues.

(168) 107. My Lord called me and instructed me to inform you about the People of lies, as well as about the prophets of lies and the Messengers they arise in the womb of women, the women become pregnant with them and give birth to them. From the body of women enter into bodies and take physical shape. They twist

---

1) Perhaps we were talking here about the awarding of the Torah, cf. Jn. II, pp. 192f.

2) is derived from (ND).

a) The last two sentences are probably to be understood in this way, not in the sense of ,,are disbelieved by", N ,,lie by". Moses and Abraham- Rūhā, the Jews are nevertheless reproached for the fact that they the law of Moses is denied and the "works" of Abraham, i.e. those introduced by him Acts of worship that have falsified, a view that the Islām also emphatically represents. כפר ב in the sense of "deny" also R 94, 22; 104, 11, 13. The concept of benote that 27, 19 stands for 51, 4, see also 26, 19; 49, 16.

4) In Jewish, Christian and Muhammedan literature, Abraham is described as-especially called a friend of God, cf. Nöldeke-Schwally, Geschichte des Qorāns*, I, p. 1472.

the first teaching, and lies, deception and trickery bring them into the world. They call themselves prophets and say: we are messengers. (169)

108. Now I, the first Messenger, say and teach all the children of Adam, those who are and who are to be born in that age: Hear do not listen to the speech of the angels of error, who fall away and the people-driving children to waste. They make you greedy for gold and silver, Money, property and possessions, [take a] ¹) by false images, void Counterfeiting [47] and formations, through song and the lust of this world. (170. 171)

109. Soon let sword²), saber, blow, fight, war, fear and Looses terror against men and fills them with fear and dread. They claim that they fear us, worship us and confess us. (172) 110. Soon they enter with cunning, humility and flattery, with Sweet, cunning and deception approach the children of Adam and take her heart caught. They put the name of God in their mouths and more deception and lies. In lying they fast and pray and give Alms. They write books and set up warnings for you. Of the wisdom that the Great, the Exalted, bestowed on me and I brought to you also, adjust and talk after. They mix under it The words that their souls are hindered by, they-turn their hearts and bring waste into the world. (173)

111. Now I say to you, my disciples: Do not listen to the speech of the Do not turn away from the way of your Lord. Because the Angels of error take shape in our, the three Messengers, whom we the Tibils are gone. I explained to you: they too are walking in the world but they are not like us. Her splendor is not a splendor, her robe it is a garment of fire. Her garment is like fire, her and) dress of sinister darkness. Yes, they are prophets and imitate our clothes. (174)

112. I tell you, you who are perfect and believers, do not fall from the Words from your Lord. Do you dress in white and cover yourself with White is equal to the mystery of living water, the ... and Ophanen ᵃ). Put white headbands around your head like wreaths of splendor, which the angels of splendor put around the head. Tie your belt around the hips [48] like the belts of splendor that the uthras of the Light ties around the hips. Cover your body with ophans of water, so that glory may rest upon you. Take rods in your Hand like the rods of living water, which the angels of light carry. (175)

113. O you who believe and are perfect! Don't say anything you don't know, and it is not revealed to you. There is no one to whom the-

---

1) See A.

2) is thoughtlessly taken from the template, see text 24, 21.

a) To see Nöld., p. 126, 4. contains a misunderstood Hebrew D)Din, which is intended here as a robe, see Lit., p. 129°.

the things borrowed would have been revealed, except to the Great, the Exalted, the Lord the Lord of all the worlds. (176)

114. O you who believe and are perfect! Arm yourself with a Armor that is not of iron. Let your armor be Naşaraerdom, and the Kuštā faith. (177)

115. As you see of wisdom with your eyes, with your Call with your mouth and listen with your ears, so act. Because those with their See with your eyes, call with your mouth, listen with your ears and something Do not do good with your hands  and you tear from the bad A vine that drinks water, while fruits, grapes and trees verdorren'). The lie turns away from them at the judgment of death. You they did not know and did not understand, now they will follow their works- they will be called to account. The witnesses testify about them, who go to the right and left of all the children of Adam. (178)

116. I teach you as the Great One commanded me. I announce you are above the light, which is extended and endless. I announce you about the darkness and the blazing fire, which is devoid of rest and grace. I tell you about Satan, who is without strength and firmness, who in the blazing fire passes, in the nature from which he emerged. (179)

117. Further, I announce to you, you Naşöreans, who live in this world be, arise and be born:

118. In the first age the world will be destroyed by sword and plague- gathered). The souls leave their bodies and rise to the light [49] up. For it is destined for the perfect and the faithful that in that case, they will separate from their body. To you, Adam, is it be- true, to dwell in the world for a thousand years, and before the sword you will you ascend. Then your wife will take off Hawwa, then all your Genders, except Rām the man and Rud the woman. They will the world is multiplying, from them the world will be awakened anew. Everybody in a speech and a praise that I will call into this world i brought them with which they should praise. (181-183)

119. Then the world will be destroyed by fire. Because it is destined for the sons of the great tribe of life that they they are separated from their bodies, except for two, Šurbai dem Man and woman, from whom the world is to multiply. Surbai the man will be called the head of the age. soul, those who pass away through the fire, all rise up to the light, because they The teaching which their Lord has sent to them, do not falsify. (184)

120. From the Age of Rām and Rūd to the age of Šurbai and the sarhabel people will multiply. With these speeches they will praise and will not turn away from the word of glory. (185) 121.

When twenty-five ages go out, the world will be destroyed by

---

1) Cf. A.

e) Read cf. 2DD Text 26, 8.

Water will be taken away. People are getting divorced with a Remove water from your body. For it is settled for that age- it is written that the bodies die by water, but the souls die by The light shall ascend, except Noah the Man, and Nuraita"), his 5 Women, [50] and Šum, Jam ") and Jafeth, the sons of Noah, who came from the water- death is to be saved. It is from them that the world is to be awakened anew. (186)

122. From Šurbai and Šarhabel to the Age of Noah, there are fifteen generations. Then I and the two Uthras, my Brothers, proclaim the call and praise in the world. (187. 188)

123. From Noah the Ark to Abraham the Prophet of Peace- until Moses appears, until the city of Jerusalem is built, these are six generations. (189)

124. Then King Solomon, the son of David, is born, and become king of Judah. He builds the place of Jerusalem, and the demons and Dews submit themselves to him, until he glorifies himself, and for goodness his Lord is ungrateful. Then all turn away from him, and the Domination is lost to him. Those who glorify themselves must then ashamed of himself. (190)

125. From Moses, the Son of Amrā, to the end of the worlds') will be believers of the Kušta; they will be faithful in this faith- be found. Then false prophets will appear, the figure of *suppose"), performing in every city. The peoples will ver- the tongues spread over every city, over every place. Jew will be scattered over every city. The world will split and Tyrants take possession of every place. A place is built over the one city over another with war, and you shedding blood streams in the world. Everyone is looking for a Take advantage and fight for what does not belong to him. (191)

126. The seven angels, [5]] the deceivers, seduce them and call them, then they worship her. The first seducer, one°), is Šamiš by name (the sun), the second is the holy Spirit, Dlibat, Esträ, Amamite by name (Venus). The third is Christ, the forger who the first teaching falsifies. The fourth is Sin, whose name is Moon, whose Name is Saurel. The fifth is Kevan (Saturn), the sixth is Bel (Jupiter), the seventh Nerig (Mars). (192)

127. The Dews of the house of Samiš spread lies, arrogance, Boasting and voluptuousness of the belly about the children of men and ver- run. He sends messengers out into the world, Ruha and Christ'), and they worship the sun and the moon and worship the fire. (193)

---

1) Read ND3. °) See Joli. II, p. 58. Note the alliteration here as well.

8) Originated from Cham under the influence of Jafeth. .

4) Here, "world" is used in the sense of alúv, as well as text 53, 18; 58, 23.

(b) See paragraph 111. c) Just wanted to get into the text as a gloss.

7) These words may not come from the editor, but are remembered.

128. The Dews of Ruha, whose name is Estra, go to Christ and throw apostasy into the world. They throw adultery, fornication, Singing, dancing and lust in the hearts of the children of men. Which Liliths (sorceresses), the Dews (sorcerers)') can be found on mountains and They settle down in any place. They teach people- 5 children, spread among them, get them out of their homes and their Families, take them to the mountains and heights, take them to the plains go out and let them sit for themselves. They love dirt, blood and Menstrual flow, love impudence and deceit. In the fire, that one appears to them Christ, and calls upon his worshippers*). (194. 195)

129. The Dews of the house of Kewan lament and weep in the hearts of the people. They banish you from grace and vertow them to the mountains. (196)

130. The Dews of the house of Nerig fall on the children of men come here and grind them. (197)

131. I teach you, my disciples, [52] about the lying Messiah. When he first appears, he will show you miracles in the fire. He is clothed with fire, enveloped in fire. Amünel is his name, He calls himself Jesus the Savior. On fire is his abode, and he is sitting in a fire truck. He comes and stands before you, takes you 20 and says to you: 'Come, come to me in the fire, without that you burn. Believe in me." (198)

132. If he afflicts you and you go over to him, then confess do not turn away from him and do not turn away from your faith. Call it Name of the high King of Light, who stands above all worlds. Let his name be 25 in your heart and in your mouth, and his power rest with you. (199)

133. Then I declare to you, my disciples, that he is also another Takes shape. He comes before you, clothed with fire shine, with fire envelop. However, he is hidden from your eyes by making the eyes dazzle. He says to you, 'I am the One who came from God." 30 That deceiver says, 'I am the Son of God, whom my Father gave me sent here." He says to you, 'I am the first Messenger, I I am Hibil-Zīwā, who came from the upper height." But bedon't know him. For I am not clothed with a garment of fire, and I do not reveal myself to the children of men in that age. Rather, 35 Enöš-Uthra comes to Noah and his family before the floods.

184. Asdavn, when the world is swept away by the floods of water and then, in turn, rest will occur, will be separated from Noah, his wife and multiply the children of men by their generations.

135. When the children of Israel disperse, the city of Jerusalem will become 40 be built. Enoš-Uthra arrives) [53] and goes to Jerusalem, (be-

---

1) The words and are probably just glosses.

2) The statements iiber Dlibat-Rūhā and Nbū-Christ are thrown together here.

before the Dews enter the world. For two thousand years Anoš has been Around the world>'). His robe is a robe of clouds of water and ver- envelops its shine. His robe is*) not a physical one, and embers and anger it is not") about him. (200)

136. Ers) comes into this world in the years of Pilate, who then There is a king in the world. Anoš-Uthra comes into the world with the power of the high King of Light. He heals the sick, makes the blind see, cleanses the lepers, raise up the crippled, that they may go, and make the deaf and dumb talk. Enlivened with the power of the High King of Light the dead. He wins believers among the Jews and shows them: it there is life and there is death, there is light and there is darkness and blazing fire, there is truth and there is error. He leads a each of them*), who are zealous and firm in their faith in the One, the Lord of all the worlds. (201)

137. Then, when he shows his friends the truth, the city Jerusalem is devastated and we go to the worlds of light and the Škīnās of the We will no longer reveal ourselves in the world until the Time is coming and the measure of the world is full. (202)

138. Then, at the end of the worlds"), we come to the souls of the Perfections, and to the souls of the guilty who have sinned in the world and have been wrong, and therefore dwell in darkness. Everyone becomes saved from fire and darkness according to his works except for anyone who committed the great sin and made a person out of he destroyed the perfect and believing Adam's children°). Furthermore he who turns away from the word of his Lord, to whom one has spoken, without that he wanted to hear [54] and became a believer. Furthermore, who is from his own Satan will worship Him, will not repent, and thus will- damm. And who will turn away from the Jordan, the sign, and the baptism in the The Jordan of living water, which is called to the name of the first life is baptized, and then life is denied; the root of which is taken from the Worlds of light separated. Then we come into this world with") the shine the sun, with the brightness of the moon, with the shimmer of the stars, with the power of the wind, with the glow that gave fire, and

---

1) The pieces are inserted and stirred by a For the man who transferred the appearance of the Enoš to prehistoric times, see also R 265. True- apparently, instead of 2y3y, this bin slider had the other form 12) 38, which was inserted into the- däische Schriften with 213y (changed in the first place), and then it was also, 1273N continues to be written.

2) In B, according to the transfer to the past, the perfektum stands.

5) The preceding words are from the following got here.

4) The compiler of B misunderstood the template, see A text 29, 14.

5) See above, p. 464.

6) Cf. p. 35, 3.

?) In the text here and in the following it says "up".

with the brightness that is given to living water. Until that Time we do not reveal ourselves in the world.

139. Further, I declare to you, my believers: If Nbu') from the In the middle of the angel of error comes, Ruha dQudša, his mother, calls him. On the wreaths of heaven and earth, on Mount Tabdanā "), the angels of error. They anoint Nbu from the oil horn and clothe him with fire.

140. Furthermore, Christ the Deceiver appears in a different form. He comes before you and says to you: 'I am going over the water. Come with me, you will not drown." But don't do it, and don't believe him. If he oppresses you and kills some of you, then don't be afraid. If he kills, he only kills your body, but your soul will dwell on the light earth. Do not be afraid, be afraid do not be afraid and do not be afraid of Christ, the Rhomaean"), the void, and before the one who modifies the speeches*).

141. Furthermore, he tears fruits, vines and trees from this side of the And throws them to the other side of the sea. Then it sprouts on the spot") and bears fruit.

142. He also makes a ladder, throws it down from the ground to to heaven, rising and falling, floating between heaven and earth [55] and he saith unto you, "Behold," that I come from on high; I am your Lord." But don't believe him. For the leader of Christ is produced by deception, sorcery and deception. Where the Christ he blinds his eyes, hides the glare of the sun and speaks to the Sun: ,Hide your shine." But the sun hides its splendor not. Now, by magic, he creates darkness in the place where he stands, and he saith unto you, Behold, I have spoken unto the sun, and it hid its Shine, for I am God the Redeemer ')."

143. Now I say to you, children of men, 'Do not believe him. Rather, you praise the High King of Light, the Lord of all worlds. Price not the vain Christ. He seduces the worlds, generations and People, and they do not know the nature from which he came."

144. In these figures he comes, makes prisoners in the world, seduce the children of men and teach them his wisdom. ,God- they call themselves "righteous" and "righteous". He calls them Christians.

---

1) Designation for Christ, see A 192.

2) The mountain is named only at this point. The name is ans NINTENT.,the Verderbens" is formed under the action of the.

3) Christ is characterized as a Byzantine. Perhaps the author in ein Wortspiel mit N, Cheater" vor, siche Nöldeke, Zeitscher, f. Assyriologie XXX (1916), p. 144.

4) Who falsifies the real revelations, see p. 439.

5) Probably identical to "entilammen sich".

°) Read pin5, see text line 6.

7) Perhaps a reminiscence of the darkness at the crucifixion of Jesus.

He makes them "God-fearing" and "God-fearing". ,,God- he calls them "holy ones", "righteous ones" and "righteous women".

145. They leave their homes and become monks and nuns. You their seed from each other, the women from the men and the Men from the women. They inhibit their seed and offspring- the shaft of the world. They put fasting on their mouths, and you put them in shackles. They keep food and drink away from their mouths, keep away white robes from her body. You let them sit there alone, then liliths go to them, lie down, receive seeds from them and become pregnant; from this arise spirits and shrines, which over the Human children are falling. Medicines, remedies and.......... ... [56] take not on them, but from the seed, filth (stench) and dirt of those Monks are thrown at them and smeared. Some of them then leave ab, others do not. (195)

146. Further, I declare to you, my disciples: Nine months Nbu-Christ enters into the belly of his Mother, the Virgin, and holds himself hidden there. Then it comes out as a body, blood and menstrual flow. He grows up on her lap and sucks milk.

147. When he has grown up, he enters the people's house.') Jews, appropriates all his wisdom*), twists the Torah and change their teaching and all works.

148. He beguiles people among the Jews, makes them "fear God." and show them magic phenomena in which they believe. He lays them a colored skirt, he sheers a tonsure on your head and be- clothe them like darkness. On Sunday, keep your hands still

"). 149. He says to them: 'I am the true God, whom my My Father sent me here. I am the first, I am the last messenger; I i am the Father, I am the Son, I am the Holy Spirit, I come from the I moved out of the city of Nazareth")." That's his car. He keeps himself he humbly goes to Jerusalem. He takes among the Jews some caught by sorcery and deception and shows you wonders and apparitions. Dews of his escort he leaves in a dead enter, and they speak in the dead. Then he calls to the Jews and he says to them: 'Come, see, I am the one who is dead- awakens, causes resurrections, accomplishes redemptions. I am Anoš, who Nasoreans." (200)

150. Then Rüha will make a call in Jerusalem, and will speak the testimony about him. He takes the children of men by magic caught and soiled them with blood and menstruation. [57] He baptizes them")

---

1) The expression is found as a designation for the Jewish temple, cf. Jn. II, p. 761.

2) For the use of see Joh. II, p: 1164.

a) See the introduction to the sentence.

4) There is probably a gap here.

5) Here the Christian word stands for "baptism".

in cut-off water'). He twists the living baptism and baptizes it in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. He turns them from the living baptism of living water in the Jordan, with which you, Adam, you were baptized.

151. Further, in that age a child will be born whose 5 Name Johānā "), the son of the elderly father Zakhriā, who was in old age, at the end of a hundred years, was granted. His mother, the wife Enišbai, became pregnant with him, in old age she gave birth to him. When Johānā becomes great in that age of Jerusalem, faith in his Hearts rest, he will cross the Jordan, forty-two years of baptism before Nbu puts on a body and goes out into the world.

152. When Johānā lives in that age of Jerusalem, the Jordan Jesus Christ comes, enters in humility- receive the baptism of Johana and be guided by the wisdom of Johana way. But then he distorts the speech of Johanā, changes the baptism in the 15th century Jordan, distorts the speeches of the Kuštā and preaches impudence and carried on in the World.

153. On the day when Johānā's measure becomes full"), I myself come to him, Johana appears as a little boy at the age of three and a Talk to him about baptism and teach his friends. Then 20 i take him out of the body, lead him victoriously up to the world, which pure splendor, baptize him in the white Jordan living, flaunting water, clothe him with robes of splendor and cover him with light turbans, he- judge praise in his pure heart from the praise of the light- an angel with whom they praise their Lord forever without ceasing.

154. According to Johana, the world [58] will be lying. The Rhomaean Christ will divide the nations, the twelve deceivers will move in the world around, thirty years the Rhomaean shows itself in the world.

155. In that age prove yourselves, ye men of tried and tested Justice"), you who are truthful and firm in your faith. Everyone who is true- 30 'do not listen to the teaching') of the Christ and on the false wisdom of the twelve peoples') and do not abandon this first Teaching. Remain firm and steadfast in your faith, for very soon you will

---

1) In water that has been taken from the river and put into a vessel, see p. 156.

2) For the pronunciation of the name, see Joh. II, p. 74f.

a) The alluded to in this paragraph is made in the fourth part of the fifth book from- thoroughly told.

4) Here the apostles are meant, but therein lies an allusion to the zodiacal- ghosts, see p. 244.

6) Or , "piety", refer to the print-out Joli. II, p. 50".6) Read ?) לשותא.

According to the previous paragraph, one should expect that here of the ,,twelve Seducers", and an erroneous exchange of the words NUN and NInDND is all the more possible because they are close to each other shortly before. But after all, could we be talking about the foreign, false religions in general and תריסארnonone in the sense of andine (sielie p. 20 °).

you leave the world. Do not listen to the lying doctrine of the one who It is a lie.

156. If the Great One wants it, Anoš-Uthra goes here. He will expose the lie of the liar Jesus, who is equal to the angels of light power. He becomes the Rhomaean Christ, the liar, the son of a woman, that did not come out of the light, guilty of being one of the there are seven deceivers who go about in the world, that he may be at the- sphere wanders'). He will expose the Rhomaean Christ as a liar. He will be bound by the Jews, his worshippers will shackles, and he will be crucified. His body will be- be killed, and his worshipers will divide him into separate parts. He will be tied up on Mount Mara*); when the sun rises, let them loose from their ardor on him, because he has led error and persecution into the World throws.

157. Also, all the seducers who have visited the seven planets in the world- and the children of men who profess them"), all wander into the fire. For they are called to them, but they do not want to hear, they show them, but they do not want to see, they are ordered, but they do not want to act. They turn away from the light, make ... .[4]) and love reputation"), fame (names) and the possession of this world.

158. My chosen ones! I tell you, the perfect ones who are in to that Ãon, when the Rhomaean appears, are and are born: Turn do not, I tell you, turn away from true wisdom, [59] does not change anything do not testify to the clear speeches and do not dwell on the dreams and the deceits which the deceivers show you. Do not witness (for them) for gold and silver, by which the children of men are drunk, and then fall into the blazing fire.

159. Do not praise with singing the Nbu-Christ in the world sing. If he takes a different form, call him the lustful Oros°), who sings the song of magic and lust, dances, in his hands clap and capture the hearts of people. They call ihu the lustful Oros,  he throws into the world. His mother Ruha breasts his own. By his lovely appearance') and seduced by magic he is the children of men. At his call, the brides leave the bride-, and the woman who had given birth had the house of birth. He throws lustful in the world-

---

1) Like one of the planets.

2) The text says NaNd7. Hardly,"of his Lord" (AaNd7); perhaps there is a Reminiscence of Moriah.

a) Read דמאודיבון.

4) The standing ,friends" pact does not. The writing error is caused by the the following word is affected.

°) Cf. Lit. , p. 78°.

°) Or Oreus. Probably disfigured from Orpheus (Diin from DIDi). Christ was identified with Orpheus, cf. Joh. III, p. 20.

7) Sorry. hat בהיוזא.

he is jealous of men, and he is jealous of women. husband women run after women, women after men. He drives old people and Old women from their homes, married men from their wives way. He drives the young men out of their family, and they call the name. not your family anymore. He throws') Fornication, adultery, fornication, estrus and passion about men and women, about bachelors and young-womens. They will sing to fornicators *. The women dance the Men, the men dance towards the women. He throws lustfulness and falsehood in the world.

160. The Dews of the Nerig scatter theft among the children of men. Through their theft"), the children of men are being tortured. Erzürner and idols fall upon the children of men and fill them with wrath, and they will be punished. They become scavengers, become priests, and Oracle men") and cut up their bodies. Those Dews and Hmurthas*) of Nerig and the satans lay down on them, eating from their Flesh, drink of their blood, and become an (evil) spectacle in the World. [60] They do stargazing, and the fortune tellers prepare them°) Offerings and sacrificial cakes. They settle down on their temples, in every place, on the tell, roofs, mountains, heights, in every And remove the children of men from the way of faith. You seduce all the world by tambourines, flutes, horns, šofars, talk with loud voice and seduce the world. They seduce the hearts of the Children of men and make them drunk by the drunkenness of love, the opulence of gold and silver and through roller-shaped sculptures, which are formed from clay. These vain works of their own hands then they pray, prostrate themselves and burn incense in front of them. (197)

161. Some of them worship the angels of fire and the stars that in the celestial sphere °), which have shine and brightness in themselves, to enlighten the worlds of darkness. The dull, Shameful do not know that this shine has come from the upper height and only it was given to the hikers so that they could hike by day and night should ').

162. You too, Adam and your wife and your children and your Every one who is truthful and firm in faith, who is glad and be of good cheer: keep away from the vain, ugly works

---

1) MDNT stands here and still erroneously for NDNT, see also Joh. II, p. XII, 24. At this point there is suffering. No, but still pDn1.

2) Perhaps there is a gap here, or the sentence is written in thoughtlessness.

°) Insecure. Sorry. maybe pnn is pinn to read. See the parallel passage.

4) Small stones and shells, which were considered to be the seat of deities, baitylien, who were then thought to be demons themselves, see Uthra, p. 541. Above p. 13, 24 the word is still in the original meaning.

d) Well read. Sorry. has p5veN7.

°) For prescribed, see text 58, 13.

?) See Joh. II, p. 425.

of Satan, of the Dews, demons, spirits, Hmurthās, Liliths, idols, which he') has let into the world in order to apply the power of the children of men to the To put it to the test. Some among these also sin. But all those who the will of those who do the will of Satan and the will of their 5 they offer themselves to the blazing fire.

163. Preserve! The men of proven righteousness who are Fully- believers and believers, do not extend their hand to Satan and do not the will of Satan, so also the hand of Satan will not have power about them. For they are armed with faith, [61] take 10 set up a fight with Satan, and do righteous deeds, as their Lord has done taught them.

164. Further, I teach you, perfected and believers: According to to all prophets a prophet will rise from the earth. The Arab The Prophet comes and rules over all nations. Then the need is great in 15 of the world. After that reign, the world will be in turmoil. After the Arab Mahammad, the son of Bizbat, will no longer be a prophet in and faith will disappear from the earth. (203) 165. May the great life be praised in the Light, Manda dHaije consolidated in victory.

This is the book of the Lord of Greatness.

Second piece.

A powerful confession of sins with a request for mercy. The piece is performed in the It is called "The Book of Jordan". Thus it is said that at baptism there is- it should be said, but it is in the baptismal liturgy (Lit., p. 3ff.) not included.

In the name of the great life be praised the splendor and the great, first light.

Lord of praise! Look at us and don't condemn us.

Our Lord! We have sinned and missed; forgive us our Sin and guilt.

More implacable, more conciliatory, more merciful! Look at us and damn not us.

Seers and recognizers! Look at us and don't condemn us. See us and in your mercy, have mercy on us. By your strength, and Trust*) give in and have mercy on us.

---

1) Satan, see further.

2) Maybe originally ,,and our confidence" in the following sentences confessed, then mistakenly got here and was adjusted.

Our hope and our trust! In your mercy he- have mercy on us.

Wise men and rulers! By your grace and mercy have mercy on us.

High King of Light! Listen to our call and do not condemn us.

Great, High, Praised! Because we have sinned, damn not us.

Revealer, who reveals the hidden things! In your barmheartiness have mercy on us.

God of praise! Look at us and don't condemn us. Savior of all believers! Hear us and do not condemn us. [62]

Consolidator of all good! Because we have sinned, condemn us not.

Creator of all good beings! In your mercy have mercy our.

Savior of all') beautiful beings! Listen to our call and condemn not us.

Giver of all gifts! Give us strength and do not condemn us. Savior of all believers! Deliver us from everyone who is evil. Savior of souls! Save us from everyone who sins. Eliminate all evils! Remove from us sword and wrath.

Fastener of all his friends! Give us strength so that we do not fall.

Shining with rich power! Give us strength so that we do not come in shame.

Lord of all praise! Your praise rest over us*).

Guardians of the truthful! May Your care be preserved to us"). An incentive for all the elect! Your incentive rest over us. Send all kinds of prayers and praise! Your praise rest about us.

High King full of mercy! In your mercy have mercy our.

Doctor who heals his friends! Heal us from our sins and don't condemn us.

Doctor who heals the souls! Heal us and do not condemn us. Mighty of mighty power! Break the power of the rebels.

---

1) Sorry. has pato5.

2) Very often the desire is purged, dali the splendor or light of the deity above the faithful rule, cf. e.g. R 62, 18f.; Lit. 109,4; 208,6. Since now also תושביהתא together with "shine" and "light" (cf. R 64, 12; 74, 4, 6; 304, 24; Lit. 205, 7), seems in addition to "praise", it has assumed the meaning of "glory, splendor" that here so there is the same connection of different meanings as with sóga. At the same time a more and more detailed study of the history of this word will also Use of Nowerii must be observed.

a) One expects eafrd an asset: "keep us" ("THEN).

More brilliant of great luster! Rest a part of your shine
here's to us. Great, imperishable light! A part of your light rest
here's to
us. Who extends his hand to the perfect! Shake hands with us, so that we do not fall.
Who set you on the paths of truth! Let us off your path
do not deviate.
More powerful, wiser! Remove the anger from your friends. Verily, He who guides the truthful to truthfulness! See us and don't condemn us.
Great Lord of all mercy! In your mercy destroy everyone's anger.
Who [63] separates life from death! Remove the anger from your Friends.
The light separates from darkness! Remove the anger from your Friends.
Who separates good from evil! Remove the anger from your Friends.
The truth is separated from error! Remove the anger from your Friends.
Illuminators of the luminaries')! Remove the anger from your friends.
Who stretches out the sky with his power! Remove the anger of your friends.
Who seals the earth by his Word! Remove the anger from your Friends.
Transmitter of living water! Remove the anger from your friends. Fruits, grapes and trees! Eliminate the anger from your friends.
Keeper of souls! Save them *) from everything that is ugly.
Sender of the messengers of the Kušta "). Remove the anger from your friends. Giver of wisdom and praise! Remove the anger of your friends.
Judge who judges the souls! Remove the anger from your friends.
Revealer, whose eyes are open*)! Get rid of us sword and anger.
Blameless without fail! Leave us without guilt and do not condemn us. We are slaves to sins! Because we have sinned, damn not us.

---

1) Of the stars in the sky, see p. 25, 3f. ")
Sorry. has , "preserve us," see also the reading in C.
8) The true faith.
4) Sorry. has jntno nnsno. See also Lit., p. 108, where there is also A-rivers of this piece show.

We are slaves who have sinned. Lord! Don't condemn us.

Our head went into sin. Because we have sinned, ver- don't dam us.

Our eye gave (unchaste) a wave. Because we have sinned, ver- don't dam us.

Our ear heard evil. Because we have sinned, damn not us.

Our mouth was chattering') lie. Because we have sinned, damn not us.

Our hand committed theft and did evil. Lord! Damn us not.

Our heart conceived evil thoughts. Lord! Don't condemn us.

Our body was committing adultery. Because we have sinned, Lord, ver- don't dam us.

Our knee bowed to the wicked. Forgive us our sin and guilt. Lord! Do not condemn [64] us.

Our foot went barefoot. Lord! Don't condemn us.

We are slaves to sin. In your mercy have mercy our.

Lord of all souls! We looked at your splendor and received life. We saw your light and believed. We heard your praise, and Kuštā lay down in our heart. Kuštā lay down in our heart, we they accepted your praise and heard the words of praise that you sent us.

Lord! We have sinned and missed; forgive us our sin and guilt. Blessed be thy name in the place of light.

This is the Book of Jordan.

Third piece.

Proclamation of the Messenger of Light about his appearance in the world and the effect, who exercised his appearance. The play is written in verse. About the construction of the for Mandaean verse, see Lit., p. VIIIf.

In the name of the great life.

When I came, I, the Messenger of Light,
the king who I went here from the light,
that's when I came*), communality") and shine in my hand, Light and praise*) on me,

---

1) Cf. Joh. II, p. 416.

2) standing in parallel with the first Less good is suffering.: ,,Since braclte i have togetherness and shine in my hand."

a) Cf. Lit., p. 13".

4) See above, p. 55*.

Shine on me and enlighten me,
Call and proclaim upon me,
the sign[1] on me and the baptism,
and I enlighten the dark hearts.
With my voice and my proclamation
I sent a call out into the world.
I sent out a call to the world from
the ends to the ends of the world.
I sent a call out into the world: Let everyone take care of themselves.
Anyone who takes care of themselves,
will be freed from the consuming fire.
Hail to the servants of the Kuštā,
the perfect and the faithful.
Heal the Perfect,
who stay away from all evil.

I am the Messenger of Light,
whom the Great One*) has sent into this world. I am the true Messenger,
where there is no lie;
the truthful one"), to which there is no lie,
there is no lack or lack of him.

I am the Messenger of Light;
everyone who smells his fragrance receives life. Anyone who takes in his speech, his eyes fill with light.
His eyes fill with light,
[65] his mouth is filled with praise.
His mouth fills with praise,
his heart is filled with wisdom.
The adulterers smelled me'),
so they hastily abandoned their adultery.
They hurried from their adultery,
they came and surrounded themselves with my smell.
They spoke:
When we were without knowledge"), we committed adultery,
now that we have the knowledge, we no longer commit adultery.

---

1) The sign of oiling, see Lit., pp. 27, 40 et al.

2) This means here, as in Book I and Book II, 1, the King of Light.

8) Sorry. has less good NIN ND27D, which is also not affected by the faulty D is supported.

4) Maybe the 3rd pers. confessed, cf. pp. 59, 8, 25.

b) When we did not yet know the right faith, in which äyvoia were.

I am the true Messenger,
where there is no lie,
the truth, in which there is no lie,
there is no lack or lack of him.
Everyone who smells his fragrance receives life1).
Everyone who smells of him,
his eyes fill with light.
The liars smelled him,
so they hastily abandoned their lie.
And their lies made them hurry,
they came and surrounded themselves with my smell.
They spoke:
Lord! When we were ignorant, we told a lie, now that we have the knowledge, we no longer speak it.

I am the Messenger of Life,
the truth, in which there is no lie,
the truth, in which there is no lie,
there is no lack or lack of him.
The Tree of Praise,
from the smell of which everyone receives life.
Everyone who smells of him,
his eyes fill with light.
His eyes fill with light,
[his mouth fills with praise].
The killers smelled him,
so they hastily abandoned their murders.
They hurried away from their murders,
they came and surrounded themselves with my smell.
They spoke:
Lord*)! When we were without knowledge, we committed murder, now that we have the knowledge, we don't murder anymore.
The magicians smelled him,
so they hurried away from their magic.
They hurried away from their magic,
they came and surrounded themselves with my smell.
They spoke:
Lord! When we were without knowledge, we practiced magic,
now that we have the knowledge, we don't do it anymore.

We are a vine*), the vine of life,
a tree where there is no lie.

---

1) See p. 58, 23f. 2) here only in sorrow.

a) NorberG has, perhaps only as a conjecture, NDN ,,I am" (p. 124).

The Tree of Praise,
from the smell of which everyone receives life.
Everyone who hears his speech,
his eyes fill with light.
His eyes fill with light,
his mouth is filled with praise.
His mouth fills with praise,
[66] his heart fills with truth.
The winkers') smelled him,
then they hurriedly left her beckoning.
Her waving hurriedly left her,
they came and surrounded themselves with my smell.
They spoke:
When we were without knowledge, we waved,
now that we have the knowledge, we no longer wave. From the day we saw you,
from the day we heard your speech,
from the day we saw you,
our heart filled with peace.
We believed in you "), Good,
we saw your light and will not forget you anymore.
We will not forget you all our days,
do not let an hour from our heart leave you.
For our heart shall not go blind.",
these souls are not inhibited.

I spoke to you:
Everyone who repents,
whose soul shall never be cut off; the Lord will never condemn him.
But the wicked, they, the liars,
damn themselves.
Because you show them, and they don't want to see,
they are called to them, and they do not want to hear and believe.
The wicked sink by their own will
in the great Suf Sea.
They will be housed in the darkness, and the mountain of darkness devours
them, by the day, the court days,
until the hour, the hours of salvation.
But we who praise (you), Lord,
will you forgive our sin and guilt.

---

1) Give the unchaste a wave. *) Read "London.
3) Sorry. has bad ,,should not perish.

Blessed be you, King of Light,
who sent the truth to us, your friends').
You were victorious, Manda dHaije,
and help all your friends to victory.
Life prevails over all works.

Fourth piece.

Exhortations, especially on the conjugal life.

In the name of the great life.

To you I call, plants that I planted, Chosen ones that I i have chosen:

Don't fight and don't steal - why do you want to be a winker, why hand over the weak to the strong")?

Do not be like the prophets of deceit, nor the judges of falsehood; they do not ascend from the Jordan, nor have they been strengthened by this [67] Lord who sits in the upper height.

Then I will say and show you, you chosen and perfect ones, who have accepted faith in the Lord of Greatness. I am- taught you about the bachelors and virgins, about the men who no women, and about the women who are not looking for men.

Go up to the shore of the sea, see the fish in the sea: two by two 20 go to the sea and do not perish. See4) the flying ones Birds in the sky: they fly there in twos and do not perish. Now, see, why do you want to perish?

Go up to the bank of the great Euphrates, see the trees that are on the bank of the great Euphrates: they drink water and bear fruit, and 25 do not perish.

But see the dry river, in which no water drags. He dries out°), and the trees on its shore dry up and die away.

---

1) CD and sorry. who sent you to your friends".

2) See the admonitions of Joh. 174f. (II, p. 174). With ,,Winkern* or "Nodding" means people who give unchaste waves, as above p. 60,9 (Text 66, 1). See also Nöld, p. 39, 11. Also L 60, 5; 105, 15; Joh. 175, 11, 12; 185, 14 stand and together. In the sense of pynp (bzw. pynD CIS II, 141,2) is unthinkable despite the following sentence. -- Sorry. has DND simpler לאתאתנוןNDPADS ,"do not deliver the weak to the strong".

a) Sorry. has nopsndn'7.

1) Sorry. before that,my sons!"

5) The Munich manuscript has a good 17 here.

Likewise') the souls of the bachelors dry up and die, and Virgins, of men who have no wives, and of women who have no Looking for men. When you leave your body, you get your seat in a dark cloud. Because you will be out of your own belly-bears fruit, and it comes out of their mouth; because they have done have what I did not order you.

I also call you and declare to you: In the world in which you make a wedding for your sons, the men, as well as for your Daughters, the wives, and believe in your Lord, the High King of light. For this world comes to an end and passes away.

Furthermore, I call to you and declare to you, you chosen and full-those who have accepted the faith in the King of Light: Why do you associate with these bachelors and virgins, the men, who are not looking for women, and the women who are not looking for men? When you if you associate with them, you will fall into Gehenna, for whose Roof not a thousand times a thousand, for the walls of which not ten thousand ten thousand cedars is enough. If you are not [68] hold on to them, you will ascend and see his calm face.

Furthermore, I call you and show you, you chosen and full-come those who have accepted faith in the King of Light. I teach you about the animals, the flying birds, the fish in the sea and the animal in the sea. She slaughters, washes, cleans, rinses and cook, pray over them and eat, then you will not be a test to behave standing").

Life is victorious over all works.

The Uthras speak to Jözaṭaq Manda dHaije: Your robe shine and let your form be honored with that of your Father, the Lord of greatness.

---

1) Here has been preserved in the original sense. After that is Nöld., p. 206f. zu add.

a) On permitted and prohibited foods, see p. 20, 125; 37, 57.

Third book.

The book contains a complete creation report and is the comprehensive list of among the preserved Mandaean treatises. It is composed of different pieces- which are poorly processed, and the contradictions often collide with each other. Thereby that the evil forces seek to prevent creation or to shape it in their sense, ilır goings-on are described several times, and these games are not among the worst in the book.

At the top are two reports on the primordial creation; in both, everything is derived from a primordial fruit. According to the second report, the "life" goes from the rough Mānā, and the first life creates the second life through his supplicating word. This creates uthras, among which especially three stand out (see Brandt, Rel., p. 122). The three Uthras ask the second life, their father, Skināš and a world to establish can. The request is granted to them from the second life, but the great (first) life i don't like it. This is addressed to the great Mānā, who, on it, Kbar the Great creates. Kbar is identified with Mandā dHaije, and the following is a digit up to anf (Text 77, 7f.) there is no further mention of him. After several vain appeals, the Mandā dHaijē asked to forestall the Uthras, descend to the underworld and to thwart their plan (text 71). He points out the dangers of this work, but he is promised protection by the great Mānā. He goes to the House of Life, which he is also called upon to oppose the Uthras (73). This is followed by questions and Antwords about darkness and the primordial creation, which do not suit each other and apparently consist of stitches of different origin. A third representation of the Creation from the original fruit, in which the King of Light took the place of the great Mānā kicked. Mandā dHaijē is then equipped for descent into the underworld, and the Descent takes place (79f.). But here he does not kick the Uthras, but the fiends (N towards darkness, at the head of which is Rūhā and you are Soln Ur, the king of darkness, stand. Manda aHaije takes up the fight against him, he overcomes him, ties and put a wall around ilm. He then ascends to life, which thanks him for his work. Text 93, 2 is linked in a new piece to the idea of the second life. But here it is no longer called so, but "the second". Contact with the 14. Beech (R 291-298). Dic Uthras also turn to the second with a request to create a world to be allowed to establish. The request is granted to them, and they create Ptahil. B'haq-Zīwā measures he holds a special position among the sons of the Second, he considers himself Abathur and he sees himself as the father of the Uthras. He calls Ptahil, who according to R 297, 20 is his son, call him Gabriel (see also p. 89,6) and entrust him with the creation. From the Whatever resistance he encounters, he does not inform him and does not arm him. Ptahil descends below the Škīnās. It loses its luster, the compaction he does not succeed, and this encourages Rūhā to oppose him. She calls three times her Let the son lie with her, then he will regain his strength and freedom. She then gives birth first to seven, then twelve, then five fiends (see p. 134), whose appearance filled with horror... Ptahil now gets a robe of living fire from life, he step into the murky water with it, dust from the earth Siniawi falls on the murky water, and this creates a compaction. The firmament is also stretched out (97). Which Planets and the other bad guys surround Ptahil and offer him their services. He takes this is on the condition that you do only good. Then the house, i.e. the the earthly world is taken away, and the wicked are given dominion over it (98 unt.). Ptahil now make the decision to create Adam, but also attract the planets to the work is approaching. They create the body, but cannot throw a soul into it (101). They call the A wind of air, so that he would hollow out the bones, so that marrow might be formed in them. You but despite all their efforts, they can not put Adam on his feet. There goes Ptahil to his father, who came from the "hidden places", i.e. from the house of life, pick up a Mānā and hand it over to Ptahil. Life is calling (or calling out?) Hibil, Šitil and Anōš as helpers to protect the soul. After a spoiled spot appears, disturbing the harmony, Adakas-Zīwā, i.e. the hidden Adam (= DNTN NCND), the otherworldly counter-image to the earthly Adam, who is commissioned to be the soul-herding (102); he is subsequently thrown together with Mandā dHaijē. This animates together with Ptahil the body, and he is entrusted by life to teach Adam the true to announce. Rūhā and the planets, for their part, go after Adam and want to put him through seducing their arts (105). Mandā dHaijē confronts them powerfully. On the advice of of the three Uthras, Mandā dHaijē, together with these, arranges a wedding for Adam, and they give him Hawwā as a wife. Rūhā, the Seven and Twelve present the couple with all sorts of luxuries, with vestments, gold, wine, flowers to make them apostate. Mandā dllaije and his companions thwart jedocli's plans. He gives Adam a tribe to reasons (107). In a fragmentary play, the children of Adam and Hawwā, perhaps also called those of the otherworldly counterpart Adakas-Zīwā nnd Anānā dNhūrā. Mandā dHaijē instructs Adam and Hawwā in the acts of worship. Again looking for Rūhā and their circle, thwarting his work. They gather on Mount Carmel and make a plan to eliminate the strange man (110). Through all kinds of magic arts seek to beguile Adam and his tribe. The means of seduction are under the seven planets are distributed, and their sphere of action is also attributed to the twelve. Adam, who was asleep, wakes up as a result of the unrest in the world and calls for a helper (113). Instead of Mandā AHaijē's, Hibil-Utlra appears here, who enlightens iln and his sons and- calms down. It is then told of the apostasy of a son of Adam, who in the following-genden Adam, son of Adam, is called, and of whom there is no other mention. He goes and the Seven, and is received by them with Frenden (115). Furthermore, the he identified with Adam himself. In order to deceive and attract ilin to himself, Rūhā takes the shape of the Hawwa. The Savior appears, exposes their trickery and punishes them and the planets (118). The following is an overview of the false religions and their- draws to the planets. Representation of the distribution of the duration of the world under the zodiac- signs and derivation of animals and plants from the individual signs.

The book is written in verse. But in two pieces, even with more lenient assessment of verse construction, no verses win. The first piece is on the 5th Start of the book. It goes about as far as the great man of glory as the supreme being appears; then the great life takes its place. During the transition, where there is still talk of the great Mānā, there is several times the plural, which in the present Texts are meaningless, so CHILD text 71, 16, 72, 19; Nen 72, 22. It can only be so explain that even in these places, and probably even before, life was originally ge- it was mentioned that a reworking took place with the insertion of the great Mānā, but accidentally- the plural has been omitted. This is probably also the repetition p. 67, 33 and 69, 3 into existence. In this reworking, in which the two pieces also incorporate the original fruit- the verse form was lost.

The second piece is text 99, 22 to 101, 4. The beginning is obviously turned in- in addition, the piece has been reworked.

After the remarks at the beginning and at the end of the book, the Scripture has the Title , Book of the Living, First Teaching". At the beginning, the Bnch is called the "first", probably with regard to the introductory words in the following book. - See the book Brandt, Rel., pp. 24ff., 34ff., 50, 122; Schr., pp. 125ff.

In the name of the great, strange life, the sublime, which is above all Healing and victory, strength and firmness, and a remission of sins is granted to me, my wife and my children NN, NN, and let her name be established in the house of life.

In the name of the great, strange life from the worlds of light, the er- it is above all works.

This is the mystery and the first book of the living, first A teaching that has always been.

When the fruit was still in the fruit, when the ather was still in the ather, when the great Mānā1) of glory was there, out of the mighty, great Mānās, whose splendor is extended, [69] whose light is great, came forth before where there was no one in the great fruit that is vast and endless,

---

1) Means spiritual being, spirit, also the spirit in man. The original Sense is perceptible ,"feeling". In the case of the Semites, the object that is often he thinks of himself as the seat of the divine Being, the God, the stone, tree, stake, altar, etc. he is identified with the God and his name is transferred to the God. So could for even the spirit can be used according to the container that holds it, the "feeling". See Uthra, p. 5383; Nöldeke, Zeitschr. f. Assyriologie XXX (1916), p. 145, 160; Reitzenstein, The mand. Book of the Lord of Greatness, p. 86f. The designation okevos ēvripov, as the in the case of the Heracleonites (Epiphanius, Haer. 36, 3), ent- speaks Mandaean R 325, 12; 326, 1, 13, or the crusts R 135, 5, 14. G. HoFfmann's explanation of NJND as,.Gewand"' (ZNTW IV. 1903, p. 2842) is untrue- probably.

whose splendor is too extensive for speech with the mouth, whose light is too is great for telling with the lips that was in that fruit, since from it came forth a thousand times a thousand fruits without end, and ten- a thousand times ten thousand škīnās without number. In each individual fruit 5 were a thousand times a thousand fruits without end, and ten thousand times ten- a thousand škinās without number. They stand there and praise that great Mānā the glory that dwells in the great ather of life, who dwells in the Jordan white water that had come out of the great Mānā, whose The fragrance is pleasant, in which all the roots of light and the great, first Smell 10 Glints. The great Jordan arose without end and without number. On him plants stand, rejoice and rejoice. They are all full of praise and stand there perfectly. From the great Jordan came Jordanes without End and number.

When the fruit was still in the fruit, when the Ãther was still in the ather, 15 when the great splendor was'), whose splendor and light were extensive and great before whom there was no one, from whom the great Jordan of living water (from which life itself arose)*), then this poured out to the earth of the Athers, on which") life settled and settled in the guise of the the great Mānā from which it had emerged, and this one judged 20 a request to self4). At the first request, the consolidated Uthra, whom life called the second life. [70] Also created Uthras without end and number"). And out of that living water arose a Jordan that poured out like the first Jordan to the earth of light, and that the second life took a firm place in him (o). That second life then created 25 Uthras, founded Škinās and created a Jordan in which the Uthras feasted Received a seat.

Three uthras arose that made a request to the second life; they asked to be allowed to create škīnās for themselves. The three Uthras of second life, granted it to them. They consult and create 30 Škinās. They prayed') and spoke to their father, they asked their father

---

1) Here it says יורא.

2) I cross out those words that interrupt the thought and contradict the soon-to-follow exception is that life emerges from the great Mänā- gangen sei. The words are here under the influence of the third creation report p. 73 placed.

3) According to the syntactic position, it seems to me that rather than to refer to, although the latter view would have a support in the following.

4) Also in other religions there is the idea that divine beings pray to yourself. Cf. NöldekE, New contributions to sem. Linguistics, p. 29.

6) This sentence should be deleted. The following is probably too ומן הינון מיא הייא to supplement, but perhaps even more is missing.

d) One could assume here DN'npny in the sense of "to be consolidated, to be baptized", see Lit., p. XXIII, also especially R 293, 5, but this sense still does not fit p. 67, 12.

? Or, 'they asked', i.e. they asked (for information) to him. Maybe it's but also meant by "praying": they prayed for him, they spoke a wish formula as- greetings, see also pp. 67, 17.

and they said to him, 'Are you the one who brought this Jordan of living water?', who is so wonderful, and from whose waters the fragrance is so lovely, and the Uthras, who were given a permanent seat in it, are so great that they have caused, and is it your Uthras') that were firmly established in him?i don't think he- disgusted the second life and said to the three Uthras: ,,Me, your Father, life has brought me forth, the Jordan is of life, and you came into being through the power of life."¹

Then they said to him, 'Grant us of your splendor and your light and what is (otherwise) about you, and we want to- break and descend below the streams of water"). We want to give you Ěvoke skinās, create a world for you, and let the world be our and yours. We want to maintain our stock and seat in it, and Uthras in it they are ours and yours. Want the name of life we pronounce")." This pleased him, and he said, 'I will give it to you.'- währen."

But when he said this, the great one did not like it, and life wasn't it right. There was a prayer for the great mana of the Lord- '), who dwells in the great fruit, and praised him. Then rose the great Mānā in splendor, light and glory, created Kbar the Great, whose [71] name is Kbar-Zīwa, Nbat-Jāwar, the son of Jofin-Jõfafin, Sām, the well-preserved Mānā, the vine, the whole life, the- love of the Uthras is, in glorious splendor") and said to him: "You, rise above the Uthras and see what the Uthras are doing and what are you thinking about when you say: We want to create a world and Škinās like the mighty Uthras, the Sons of Light. You, Mandā dHaijē, do you like that the Uthras of the Light leave the Light and have turned their faces to darkness, to the great Suf sea, to the hay- darkness, to the consuming, perishable water, to the place that full of demons who speak with a loud voice, in which the consuming Is fire talking?s

But the Uthra of life keeps silence, and there was nothing about him Lack still Fails.

Then he (the Mānā) said to him for the second time: 'Behold, Mandā D.Haije, for what purpose the Uthras of Light consult °), why her heart has fallen into confusion, so that after the age of 35 she has lost her face Places that are bottomless and shoreless, according to the place where there is no living water flows and no shine dwells."

---

1) I suspect Nany instead of Namy y.

2) ND emerged from the biblical (Jn. p. XVI, Note.), be- in the Mandaeans, draw the boundary water that separates the light world from this world. see BranDT, Jahrbücher für protest. Theologie XVIII (1892), pp. 405, 427 ff.

a) See Nöld., pp. 216 unt. 4) is here only in sorrow.

8) Refers to the great Mānā; perhaps there is also DNP ,,he stood there" out- fall. °) Read watyony.

Again, the Uthra of life keeps silence. Then they turned the Mānās ') for the third time in Her Majesty to Manda dHaije and spoke: ,,You are the king of the Uthras, the Lord of the Kušta, the creator of the treasures. We have appointed you as ruler over all the worlds of light, as well as over all the uthras of Light who dwell in the skīnās, even over the lower ones Worlds of darkness. It is You who determines for that (the other) world and desired. Descend to the world earlier, before the Uthras go there- go and do something that is ugly and ugly for us, life is not that's right and you, Manda dHaije, don't like it. For it is you [72] who keep the Uthras in order, set up a path, and set up a waystone straighten. If we called you"), why did we call you? Because you, if you are called, worthy and as if created for this creation (3)."

To this Manda dHaije replied and spoke to the great, mighty Mānā: 'If I seek you, whom will I see? When I'm in Be- I am in a hurry, in whom should I have confidence? What should I mean Support the inner that was with you?"

The Mānā then spoke in majesty and replied to Manda dHaijē: ,,You you should not be cut off from us, we rather want to be with you. Everything you say is firmly with us. You are established with us and should of us will not be cut off. We are with you, because life is full of kindness to you. It created you helpers, it created you gentle and gentle- strengthened uthras, gentle and strengthened Uthras, so that they may be helpers to you. Then it created helpers for you, who are to be kept there as your sons. Let your sons hear the call of life, and merchants who trade and carry out their trade successfully*)."

He, the Great, then gave him shine and light and increased what he had.
He gave him a wide robe,
wondrous and endless.
He blessed him with rich blessings,
with which the mighty have been blessed.
They') made him the father of the Uthras,
who provides his friends with food.
At the command of the great fruit of glory
i concluded brotherly fidelity
with you), left and came to the house of life. Life asked me about the Mānā, from whom I was created:

---

1) The plural stands instead of the expected singular, see p. 65, 9.

a) Again ambiguous, see above, p. 324. a) Sorry. hat בריתא.

4) The commercial goods are good works, cf. R 340, 15; Lit., pp. 107, 1; 154, 9: Joh. II, pp. 178, 16.

8) It is uncertain, oh so that the Mānā (see note. 1) or the Uthras are meant.

,Since you came by the kindness of the great'),
how is your nature created (planting planted)?u

Life spoke to Manda dHaije in His Majesty"): You saw, Mandā dHaije,
what the Uthras [73] do,
what do the Uthras do
and what they think about this and that.
You saw them leaving the house of life and have turned their faces to the place of darkness.
They left the society of life
and loved the company of darkness.
They left the place of splendor and light, we went there and loved the empty apartment.
They left the sweetness,
they went and loved the bitterness.
They went and loved the bitterness,
where there is no swagger.
They left the Jordan of living water
and went to the murky water.
To the murky water they went,
went to the blazing flame.
They left the living fire, they went and loved the consuming fire.
They loved the consuming fire
and loved the blazing flame.
Yes, see, Manda dHaijē,
that's what the Uthras
did! See what the Uthras did and how lacking and lacking they were.
Let's overturn the world and leave it,
who will be a folder among them?
Who will be a folder among them,
who will free you from lack and error?
Who will free you from the deficient,
that you performed by yourself?
Who will make them hear the call of the great (life),
enthroned in the house of perfection?"

Life talked and talked to the sprightly, well-equipped Uthra:
,Was not before the Uthras existed, has your creation been accomplished")?

---

1) One expects the singular NEn, see above, p. 65, 9. 2) See p. 67 unt.
4) I.e. you were created.

Before the Uthras existed,
he has created you and commissioned you.
Created and commissioned by the Great,
you are equipped, instructed, sent and has authority over every thing. It instructed you about the Škīnā̈s and the mighty gates of the hidden place. It gave you dominion over the hidden Uthras, those who stand there and praise the mighty (life).
It gave you dominion over the Jordan of the Mighty and over the living, flapping water. When the Mighty commanded it,
they created uthras for you, [74] created messengers
for you"), gentle, firm uthras."

When life told me this,
I bowed down and praised the mighty.
I praised the great life,
that life accomplishes a creation for me,
that a creation accomplishes life for me
and gave me helpers.
I shone in my praise"),
while I was standing in a hidden place.
I shone in my enlightenment with what life grants me. I shone in my praise") about every thing in the hidden place. I shone") in my enlightenment
and set my eyes on the rebels.
Before the Uthras were there,
I went to the place of darkness.
When I stood in the house of life, i watched the outrages°), saw the gates of darkness, looked at the depth, the whole darkness

---

1) Read np.

2) A word of Persian origin, the meaning of which is not entirely certain, see Lit., p. 17°, NöldEke, Zeitschrift f. Assyriol. XXXIII (1920), p.

80. ") See above, p. 552.4) Sorry. did behind it still ,"I lit up".

6) Sorry. did NEYN3 ,,I lit up".

9) It is thought that Mandā dHaijē, from the house of life, is the underworld but perhaps the following description belonged to a representation according to which Mandā dHaijē was already in the underworld, which also included the previous sentence, which this is not the place.

watched the spoilers
and the Lord of the dark dwelling,
looked at the combats,
who are buried in darkness,
watched the gates of the fire,
how they burn and blaze.
The bad guys are burning and blazing,
and in doing so, they advise lack and failure.
I watched the wife Hewath'),
how she speaks in darkness and wickedness.
She talks in malice,
in sorcery and witchcraft, which she drives.
She speaks in the wisdom of trickery
and sits on Blendwerk.
I looked at the gate of darkness and the vein of the earth Siniawi, as they are. I looked at the black water in them, that rises to a height, boils and winds.
Whoever steps on it dies,
whoever sees it will be scorched.
I watched the dragons,
those who are thrown into it and squirm.
I watched the dragons
of any kind and of any kind.
I looked at the vehicles*) [of the sons] of darkness,
who are not like each other. I watched the evil rebels, how they sit in vehicles.
I watched the evil rebels,
how they are clothed with the weapon [75] of the wicked.
Are clothed with the weapon of the wicked and think of evil against the place of light.

When I saw her,
I turned to my father's house.

---

1) appears by name in this section as the name of the main demoness of the Underworld. I identify this with Mn on a tabella defixionis from Carthage as the name of the underworld goddess, see Ephemeris I, p. 30. The word originally means ,,Schlange" and is also available in the name of Eve, cf. Nachrichten der Götting. Gesellsch. der Wissensch., Phil.-hist. Kl. 1916, p. 91. From nayn is entrusted with the task of Kehl- sounds arose. This also takes care of the Nöld., p. 311 assumed syntactic Difficulty.

°) The Markabāthā, the "chariots", are first found as the chariots of the planets, see Jn. II, p. 76", but as here also of other beings. The suffix in pnNendaNds shows that there was a word in the plural behind it; perhaps ND25 should be added.

I stepped in front of life[1] and told him how I had seen her. I told him about the king of darkness,
tell him about this and that.
How I had seen things,
I reported before life.
How shall I wander to that place, the place of darkness, in the darkness where there is no ray of light,
to the vein of the water of the earth of darkness,
that boils, rises to a height and winds?
Whoever steps on it dies,
whoever sees it will be scorched." I want to rise to the Great and speak"):
Where did the darkness come from,
where did the darkness come from,
where do their inhabitants come from?
Where do your works come from,
who are so ugly and terrible?
Where did your mistake come from"),
which is so extensive,
whose sight is so ugly and terrible,
which is full of cracks?
It is full of cracks,
* * * * * * * *.
Where did the mighty, evil fiends come from,
who are sitting in the fire?
Where did the black water come from,
that so boils and squirms?
Whoever steps on it dies,
whoever sees it will be scorched.
Where did the dragons come from, who are thrown into the water and squirm?
Where did your vehicles come from,
where do the bad guys who are sitting in them come from? Where did Hewath, the woman, come from*),
of any kind and of any kind?u

When I spoke like this before life, life, my Father, showed itself in its fullness, without shortage.

---

1) Cf. Joh. III, pp. 222, 17.

2) This sentence, perhaps also the following, belongs to a piece, according to the Mandā dHaijē was already in the underworld, see also above, p. 70°.

8) There is a gap behind it; the following words refer to the location of the Darkness.

4) Here is a gap.

Life probably knows,
life knows it and keeps silence.
Life probably knows
and speaks to me:
,,Come on, so that we enlighten you, Manda dHaije,
thou well-armed, well-equipped Uthra.
Before all the worlds came into being,
there was this big fruit.
When the big fruit was inside the big fruit,
the great light King of glory was born. [76]
From the great Light King of Glory the great glossary came into being.
From the great shining
Ether there was a living fire.
From the living fire
the light arose.
By the power of the King of Light
and the great fruit was born.
The great fruit arose,
and in it the Jordan arose.
The Great Jordan was born,
the living water was created.
The shiny, resplendent water was created, and out of the living water I, the life, arose.
I, life, arose,
and then all the Uthras arose."

I then spoke before life:
,Since you, life, were there,
how did the darkness come about?
How did the darkness arise,
how did lack and failure arise?"

When I spoke so to life,
it was full of kindness.
Life was full of goodness
and spoke to Manda dHaijē:
,,You sprightly Uthra,
you fit, well-equipped Uthra,
you, sprightly Uthra, do not know,
how the darkness arose,
how did the darkness arise,
how did lack and failure arise?u ... –

When life spoke to me like this,
I asked for the authorization to say how it was.
I spoke to the great life,
the life that has always been:
,When I shouldn't be talking about it,
I was not one of the great ones.
But since I am one of the great,
life itself enlightened me about what it was like'). Life spoke to me in His Majesty, [spoke to me] at his "praise":
, We empower you, sprightly Uthra,
sprightly, well-equipped Uthra,
we empower you, sprightly Uthra,
to tell how it was,
to teach the hidden Uthras,
to teach all the elect,
how the Uthras of the hidden place came into being.u

When life spoke to me like this,
i repeated with the praise of the mighty,
with the joy of the great life,
what [77] life has spoken to me, (viz.): ,,You, Uthra, get up, go to the house of the Great, after the place where the mighty sit, the place where the big ones sit,
so that they will let you know about this and that*).'

When the Big one spoke to me like that,
i went to the house of the mighty,
the place where the big ones sit,
the place where the good ones live. I stepped in front of them and wanted to tell them,
as it was at the beginning.
When I wanted to talk to you, caress and kiss me,
strengthened me in my place and spoke:

---

1) It is not clear from the current text form, but the following is to see that Mandā dHaijē asked to enlighten the Uthras about creation can.

2) There was no mention of such a request before. In this and in the fol- and obviously other beings than the great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great- waltige (life). They are higher beings to whose seat Mandā dHaijē is to go. But as a result of the ambiguity of Nen and Nen, a bad Ver- confusion has arisen, and it is often uncertain who is meant by this.

, We empower you, Kbar-Zīwā, you gentle, solid Uthra. We empower you, Kbar-Zīwā, Uthra,
who consolidates his friends.
We empower you, sprightly Uthra,
you sturdy, solid Uthra. We empower you, sprightly Uthra,
to tell how it was,
to teach the hidden Uthras.
When you go to that place,
teach your friends,
teach the men of tried righteousness,
the true, believing men. We want to say to you in your honor'),
that there was no limit to the light.
There was no limit to the light,
and it did not become known when it arose.
Nothing was when the light was not,
nothing was when the shine was not. Nothing was when the mighty (life) was not");
there was never a limit to the light.
Nothing was when the water was not;
the water is older than the darkness.
Older than the darkness is the water; there is nothing that would be endless").

---

1) Insecure. Literally: for the image of honor. °) See p. 6,1; 31, 32.

8) The expression is found four times in this book, four times in the fourteenth book, moreover, R 229, 4; 236,1. He is always out of context. The smooth sense of the words is not doubtful, but about the purpose of use I am not to any final judgments. The explanation, the NölDeke Gram., p. 433, is not true, also does not lead to any results. The words seem to play on the more often of higher things used the phrase NDT ,"that is endless" and say that it there is nothing that is endless. A denial of the endlessness of the higher beings is in any case, even pronounced in it, but this is not the purpose of the utterance. In R 293, 7; 294.24 is obviously a gap. However, such a one is probably also available in 295, 3; 296, 13, similarly, in 236,1. Behind, one expects ,for the place of light" or a similar Expression. Also, the words are too short compared to those of the parallel sentences. But at this point, too, we probably have a gap. Although otherwise NAND and Nand often stand together (cf. especially text, p. 69), may Need it's not וליתלה a continuation of bond. Otherwise it would have to be Nand or nand ליכא NND name. The expression would then point to the transience of things- way. However, the digits 94,23, in the same context 95, 21, then 100,7 see after a deliberate interruption of the narrative, and such a one is also at this Do not make impossible. After that, the words would have the meaning: if I write everything down should, it would be endless, but nothing is endless. On the other hand, I can only say the words 229,4 as a defensive gloss. A reader or copyist probably found the one for wearing the punishment of the colored witness was too harsh; perhaps he himself had a guilty conscience.

There is no number') that we could tell you about,
how great she was when the Uthras were not yet there.
The Uthras are older than the darkness,
older than the darkness are the Uthras,
older than its inhabitants.
The goodness is older
as the wickedness of the place of darkness.
The gentleness is older
as the rebellion of the place of darkness.
The living fire is older
as the consuming fire of the place of darkness.
The praise is older [78] as the sorcery and witchcraft that drive the wicked").
The third Jordan is older
as the consuming water of the place of darkness.
The insight is older than this and that,
what the wicked of the place of darkness are doing.
The voice of the Uthras is older
as those of the mighty evils of the place of darkness.

We have informed you about the first ones"), now let's tell you about the second ones, as they were. The gentle throne is older
as the rebellious throne').
The hymns and prayer orders are older as the sorcery of the terrible wife Hewath. The vessel of the ather is far older
as the talk that Rūhā talks.

We have informed you about the second,
now we want to let you know about the third ones, as they were.
B'haq-Zīwa is older
as Ruhā, as she was.
The thought of all Uthras
is older than the seditious reputation.
The territory of the good is older
as the Lord of the whole place of darkness.

It should be assumed that the expression is at least uniformly related in the same treatise therefore, I do not consider the discussion of its meaning to be complete. An- playing on this turn is apparently Lit. 4.7 ago.

1) For the duration of time. 2) Read with C, sorry. אבדיא.

a) About things of the first order. Sorry. has NNDTNP2.

4) After NTND is previously with B, sorry. NT). Of course, this also applies to this reading is the throne of the gentle, the rebellious.

The men of proven justice are older
as all the creations of darkness, however they may be."

As the Great One') thus spoke to me, as the mighty One, my Father, who created me, so to me when the great spoke so to me, [spoken,
I understood it in my sense.
When I understood it in my mind,
i said to him, 'How did the darkness come about?
How did the darkness arise,
from what was she formed in her place?
Where you, chosen one*), are so big, why doesn't the darkness stop?
Why don't you listen to the darkness
and the light (the lamp) is completely erect")."

Before I spoke to the great,
the great One spoke to me:
,O orderly Uthra,
orderly, well-ordered Uthra,
o orderly Uthra,
Uthra, who consolidates his friends*)!
The good was in his goodness
neither lack nor lack.
The good is by virtue of his goodness
the [79] measures. For the good is the power of his goodness
the root is planted in its place.
The good blazes in its glory; the water is hidden in his robe.
The hidden words
they are hidden and preserved in their books.
Water does not mix with bad luck,
and darkness is not counted as light").
Darkness is not counted as light, the dark apartment is not illuminated.
The dark apartment is not illuminated,
and the turbid water does not prang.
The darkness expanded °),
and their inhabitants were formed.

---

1) Because I suppose there is talk of living here again; furthermore p. 78, 24 it is expressly mentioned.

2) is probably not OK.

3) Read wany or wany, cf. text 79, 16. 4) Read pp. 75, 4.

3) See Joh. II. p. 14710 6) Sorry. aNny did.

The darkness was formed,
and when she was educated, she tested her army'). Because of the wickedness she has in mind, it is enclosed in its own container. It is enclosed in its own container, and all their works pass away.
The children of darkness pass away,
but the children of the mighty (life) endure. The house of the wicked passes away,
and the consuming fire goes out.
Your magic work dies and goes out,
because it didn't exist from before.
Their creatures are coming to an end, but the tribes of life endure forever.
The living teaching comes up and enlightens the void dwelling."

When the great spoke so to me,
my heart was lifted up on his support. I lift up in the power of the Great,
spoke and praised the mighty:
,Since it was not through you, good, evil arose in them, why should I go to that place?u

When I wanted to talk like this,
the great life spoke to me: ,,One pregnant woman became pregnant in the second).
Get down to the world early.
Through your power Uthras will arise,
by your splendor, mighty ones will be raised up.

The big one in its size gave me a lot of shine.

---

1) The translation of the last words is uncertain. One would rather stay here in in a transitive sense, the darkness expanded and formed its inhabitants. Which Darkness formed (her), and when she had formed (her), she tested her army." But the one in- transitive use of results from the related text 83,22. Intransitives גבאל we also have R 34,11; 278, 24; Joh. 51.9; Lit. 4,9, see also Nöld., pp. 215,3.

2) Sorry. has ND. The sentence is made understandable by R 295, 24. There it says, that the second, i.e. Jošamīn, thought that his thought had become pregnant and that the- thank you, i.e. the plan of creation, was close to coming about through the Second state. One should expect that it is said that Jošamīn became pregnant with the thought, how is it still used in the same piece (296,15), but there is a Errors of thought. Again, the pregnant woman is the thought of the second, which deals with the The plane of creation. Instead of the second life, it is called the Second, because with it Jōšamīn see also p. 63, 29. Nöldeke's amendment from to (Gram., p. 1224) is not correct.

Abundantly it gave me shine, it gave me plenty of light. It gave me victory, which saves me from everything hateful. It gave me a wide robe, extended and [80] endless.
It gave me a wide robe
and made me great to a great extent.
It awarded me an olive stick of living water
'), a staff by which the rebels are crushed.
It awarded me a wreath of living fire,
wondrous and luminous without equal.
It armed me through its armament,
it cost and kissed me like mighty ones").
It spoke to me:
,,Go forth against the rebels of darkness,
who think evil against us.
They are thinking in malice,
and the evil one locked himself in his container.
The evil one locked himself in his container,
and nothing will come to him from your word."
It speaks to me:
,The good will rise because of his virtue and look at the place of light. The evil one becomes because of his wickedness
rushing down to the gates of darkness.
The calls are called out,
well thought out are the speeches ').
A call is coming
and teach about all the calls.
A speech is coming
and teach about all the talk.
A man is coming
and teach about this and that.*

When the great spoke so to me,
i went by his power to the place of darkness,
the place where the wicked dwell,
according to the apartment, which is full of spoilers,

---

1) How the beings of light carry it, see p. 26, 35.
2) As if I were one of the mighty.
a) Cf. Lit., p. 187. B uand sorry. i have pnbe here.

according to the location of the dragons'),
after the stoves of consuming fire,
after the furnaces whose flame*) rises and reached the middle of the firmament.
I went and met
the rebellious fiends of darkness.
I went and found her,
how they all sense in malice.
They stand there and reason in malice,
they stand there and forge weapons.
They stand there and forge weapons
and think evil against the good.
They are thinking in malice
and consult with each other.
They consult with each other
and speak:
,,Is there another being"),
want to make a division in our world? If there is someone stronger than us, so let's rise up and fight with him. We want to see where he came from, where his home and world came from.
This house belongs [81] entirely to us;
there is no division in our world. Are there (beings) whose power is greater as those of the fiends?
There are none whose power is greater
as those of the angels of our place".
All senses and searches,
and everyone stumbles upon each other.
Ruha, the buyer*):
her mind is treacherous, full of lies.
Such is the meaning of the liar Ruha, which is full of magic.

---

1) So according to B, sorry. After AC ,,the second", after D ,,the second", see above, p. 78*. The change to NINN (Nöld., p. 1224) also seems to me unnecessary here.

") The meaning came only after the connection. Sorry. hat point. Zimmern writes to me at d 1 N: ,cf. this event. an assyrian. alāku probably ,an-ignite" (from smoking victims, etc.) Evidence of this at Meissner, Supplement 7b; rooms, For the Babylonian New Year 138° (BSGW, Vol. 58, 1906)."

") See p. 61.

4) With respect to Zimmern's remarks KAT", p. 423 about qadištu as a Be- drawing for Ištar, I emphasize that Rühü is used here, as Joh. 187,7 Celibacy. There is probably no allusion to it.

She is full of magic,
full of witchcraft and (false) wisdom. Hewath,
the woman, Ruhā, is sitting there with her Hmurthās')
and pulls out the curls on the head.
She sits there and does a lying magic work, they and their Hmurthas"), and practice in (false) wisdom. How Ruha senses and suclit
and the magic of lying, he is engaged in evil magic work (?),
what she is well versed in,
how she meditates and rummages in magic work,
Ruha learned this and that.

Who told the Rüha"),
who taught the mistakes and shortcomings,
who taught the liar,
the wife, the mother of the decrepit fiend,
who taught the liar,
that the strange man has gone here?
The liar stood up,
you and all your hmurthās,
she came and found
the mighty fiends as they sat there.
She came and found them,
how they were all dressed in weapons.
Everyone was dressed in weapons
and they sat before the king of darkness.
The King of darkness with great power raged around in his skīnā and shouted:
'Is there anyone more powerful than me'), to whom all the worlds rejoice?
Should there be someone more powerful than me, so he rises to fight with me,
whose food is mountains,
in whose belly only poison, no blood is found').
All the greats and giants,
you and your demons and Dews,
you all rejoice with me.
You stand there and rejoice for me,
and every day they bow to me." —

---

1) See above, p. 534.
3) Read And. a) See R 328, 22; 332, 15, also Joh. II, pp. 117, 6.
4) Siche also R 280, 25 F.
6) Perhaps to read see R 281, 2f.

When the King of darkness spoke thus,
[82] Ruha staggered down from her throne.
Roha screamed and cried,
she and all her hmurthas.
Ruhā spoke to her son,
taught the king of darkness:
,There is someone bigger than you
and whose power surpasses all your worlds.
There is a world more vast than yours, live in the Mighty. There are great dwellings in it,
and her figure shines more than all the worlds."

When Namrus spoke like this[1]
before the sinking mountains
'), he filled his robe completely on the spot*)
and became equal to the fullness of the world
"). He became full of evil bitterness
. . . . in malice,
he spat and threw drool, glowing like fire. He consulted in malice
and gathered a decrepit army.
He gathered a decrepit army and spoke:
I want to get up and climb out of the place of darkness. I want to attach my bandage to the earth and uproot it,
and with my rope I want to wrap around the whole world.
I want to swallow them and the mighty fall from their thrones. The evil
one became full of evil bitterness,
he opened his spoiled mouth,
he opened his stinky mouth,
that his bad smell came out.
He opened his stinky mouth,
far equal to the fullness of the world.

When I saw him,
i showed myself to him in the garb of the mighty (life);
in the garb of the Mighty I showed myself to him,
which is far and endless.
When I appeared to him in extended glory,
extended and outstanding all over the world,

---

3) Before the decrepit, clumsy giant, cf. also pp. 81, 16.
2) He bloated. 3) Siele Joh. TT, p. 137".

i showed him the olive stick of living water,
which my father gave me.
I showed him the olive stick of living water,
with which the rebels are crushed. I showed him the wreath of living fire, at the sight of which the demons are frightened.
When I appeared to Namrus,
she cried woe, woe!
When I appeared to the giant,
[83] all his armies deserted him.
When his armies left him,
he drew against ') his multitudes,
moved against the warriors,
who take up arms against him,
pulled against all demons,
Dews, Hmurthās and Liliths.
He rose up and destroyed the whole world.
He embraced her with all his strength and buried half his mouth in the earth*).
He took twelve ...3) dust
and devoured from the place of darkness.
He swallowed the black water,
devoured all the demons and dews that were in it.
[He devoured?] all Hmurthās and liliths;
he rose up and destroyed the whole world.
His eyes glowed blood red4),
and his heart stood there in sorrow.
His heart stood there in sorrow,
because he now stood empty in the world.

Again I appeared to him with the call of the great (life),
then the crown fell from his head.
When the crown fell from his head,
his bile dragged on the earth.
The breath that came out of his mouth,
the mountains rise and boil.
The mountains rise and boil the poison that came from the mouth of Ur.

---

1) This or something else is probably the meaning of Es dürite cher Part, act. Peal as Perf. Pael included. About ,camped under"?

2) To devour them. Like D, too, has suffering. בארקא.

a) The expression is also found R 380, 3. N seems to be a Mali.

4) Nöldeke's attempt to explain Gram., p. 405 is not likely to me. Sorry, hat ND12, whereby ND72 is bred.

I appeared to him with the power of the Great,
there came from his breath something on my robe.
When something came from his breath on my robe, extinguished the blazing fire').
The blazing fire went out.
He covered the earth and swallowed it up.
When he covered the earth and swallowed it up,
his navel fell on the gate of the vein of darkness.
When his navel shook on the vein of darkness,
all the darkness formed from him.
Then the gate of darkness expanded *).
and he grasped them with his heart.
With his heart he grasped the darkness,
the container from which he had come.
I grabbed his eyes,
[84] kinked his heart.
I solved his ...),
crushed his liver.
I put his belly in the intestines
and wrapped him with four cloths').
I put a wrap around his navel and tied a knot around his heart. I put poison in his intestines
and bile into his whole body.
A tear fell in his eye,
glowing like fire.
He was tied with a shackle,
she was fatter than him.
Fatter than he was she,
and she crushed his bones.
A muzzle was placed around his mouth,
and he was bridled with an iron bridle.

---

1) That had come up with the hint.

4) The translation of the last is uncertain, see above, p. 77,37, To the others זאר see text 74, 18. in Z. 23 is influenced by the skinned aNnn, most of the manuscripts have ANN.

8) Nöldeke dentet im Sime vou , Kehricht" (Gram., p. 54'), which is not pabt. According to the Zusaninenhange it must denote an inner part of the body, apparently between Heart and liver. Zimmern writes to me: ,Event. considering Assyria. lipü ,fat (of the body), cf. in Holma, names of the body parts, p. 8 and note. 3 (in Delitzsch, Handwörterb, listed under libū p. 369a, by Meissner, Suppl., p. 105b, by Mass-Arnolt, p. 469 b under libü and li(p)bū 2). In contrast, lubbu (luppu) is associated with the alleged Definition , smeer, fat" probably safe to put it differently."

4) See also R 167, 6.

He was gagged on hands and feet,
Woe') fell into his side.
Convulsions") fell into his head,
his eyes went blind and were not bright. The speech became difficult in the mouth of the Dew, and he locked himself in his own container. In his own container he locked himself, and Alas, Acch he cried over himself. Alas,
Alas, he cried over himself,
and his own fire will burn on him. Woe,
woe he cried over himself,
because anger had come upon him.
Anger had come upon him,
and swarms covered him from head to foot.
Woe, woe calls the evil,
and all the waters clouded.
The waters were clouding.
His eyes grew dark and did not shine.
His arms (wings) he scllug against the earth, a shock arose in his heart. With his heel he stomped on the ground,
Convulsions fell into his side.
The King of Darkness locked himself in his own container,
and nothing came of my word to him.
He consumed himself in sighs and shouted:
,,Merciful one, have mercy on me."
When he cried, "Merciful one, have mercy on me",
he threw everything he had eaten out of his mouth.
He threw everything he had eaten out of his mouth,
and abominable was his stench.
When he cried,"pitiful one, have pity on me",
all his worshippers abandoned him").
His worshippers left him,
and his own burden pressed him.
He squeezed his own load, which was great [85] and endless.
When he wriggled,
wriggled, he shook his škinā.

---

1) Maybe you have to go to alla 1-Arnolt, p. 39b. Or to allu i ibid., col. a ,a chain placed on his side"?

2) BNYn(3'ynn, Byn) means to contract" and probably hangs with syr. together (R 137, 23; 154,8; 192, 6; L 48, 22; Pael L 44, 3). Of these, this is היצביא probably to deduce. L 12,3 it stands in a context where apparently from the sunstroke the speech is.

3) Who helped him carry his burden.

When he shook his škīnā, there were guards placed over him'). The guardians who were appointed over him,
were raw giants of the world.

Through the raw and giant there was a shock in the heart of Ruha. A shock arose in the heart of the Rüha, she cries, moans and screams*).
She speaks to the low blank,
the ugly, dirty snake"),
whose stench rises:
‚Who did this to you,
who has this ... . ‚pu4).

Then he spoke to Namrus,
the treasure ...), from which he had emerged.
When he wanted to talk to her,
the bridle moved in his mouth.
The bridle moved in his mouth,
and the man howled and screamed.
Woe howled, woe screamed
the man, the lord of the whole world°).
He spoke to Namrus,
the mother of this world:
,,The man who did this to me,
is bigger than all the world. I looked at the picture of his face and was no match for its entire size.
I had not grown to his full size, because he is greater than all the world."

When he spoke thus to his mother,
he wanted to draw her to him.
The angels who watched over him,
called out his vain name.

---

1) The meaning is not quite certain; the turn is also found in Joh. 190, 5f. *) Read And).

a) probably has this meaning and belongs to Nyn, see also p. 88,17, against Nöld., pp. 156 unt. See also above, p. 711.

4) Sorry. the expression is found only at this point, and the meaning-tung is uncertain. Neither ‚Fass", nor babyl. danānu or its derivatives fit here. A further development of NJ7 in the sense of "subjugating" is also hardly available.

8) Perhaps here is a designation for the Gehenna (otherwise mand. DNitni, DNJtg) garble. Sorry. hat גינאת.

c) The evil one, the äpxwv tou kóglov toútov.

One speaks to the other:
,Ur stirs away from his place."
When Ruha heard this,
hit her head with her hands.
Her hands hit her head
and pulls out the curls on the head.
She pulls out the curls on her head
and cries woe, woe.
Ruha and the Astarten are standing there
and make secret plans.
They stand there and make secret plans
gegen') the giants, the guardians of Ur.

When I saw it,
i surrounded him with a tire*).
[86] I surrounded him with a hoop,
who is at the heart of heaven ....3).
I created and made a wall for him, an iron wall,
and surrounded his whole apartment with it.
Over the wall with which I surrounded
him, i used guardians,
Guardians who should take care of his camp.
I created twenty-four gates in it,
through which his world is guarded.
Through her, his world is guarded and dust rises on him.
When I created twenty-four gates in it, he cried, Alas, alas, woe.
,If I'm hungry, what should I eat;
if I'm thirsty, what should I drink?
What should I lie down on,
and who should keep me company?"

I replied to this and spoke to Ur, the vain king of darkness: ,The good man rises above his virtue and look at the place of light*). The evil one becomes because of his wickedness cut off in the place of darkness.

---

1) Read by. Sorry. has NanoNi5. 2) See Joh. II, P. 30°.

3) 5N3D is disfigured. That it means "ladder" or "my ladder" (Nöld., pp. 173, 14; 176, 3) is unlikely. Perhaps it is said here that the tire is at the heart of the See R 97, 19; 118, 11. 4) Cf. pp. 79, 23.

You shall camp at the gates of darkness,
the container from which you emerged. She should keep you company,
the container you locked yourself in. If you are hungry, eat of your multitudes,
of everything that has joined
you. Let your drink be of that black water, where you lived."

When I eat and don't get full,
who will support my interior in its place? When I drink and do not satiate myself,
who will quench my thirst?u

When the evil one spoke thus,
i laughed by flaunting in my robe,
i defied and laughed at him,
the snake without hands and feet:
,,You wanted to devour the whole world,
but then came the word of life,
that has the power to rule and command."

When I spoke to him like this,
he wailed and wept over himself.
He whined and cried over himself
and spoke:
,Is there anyone [87] who is taller than you,
who has dominion over all the worlds?
If there is someone bigger than you,
so be lenient with me.
Don't condemn me for sinning; be lenient with me. Our Lord! We have sinned and missed, forgive us our sin and guilt').
Be lenient towards me,
and we all want to submit to you."

Me, the good, me for the good,
to you, life that has the power*),
* i spoke to him:

---

1) See above, p. 54, 28.

2) These words come from a different context. An address follows to Ur, which presupposes a question about how long he will have to endure in the shackle, ehn- as it continues to stand p. 89, 31. His bondage shall continue until the creation of the earthly! See p. 92 and R 127 ob.

Until life wants it and Abathur is planted here,
until Abathur was created and the sons of Salvation) will be created.
The miraculous, living fire is said to be donated and Gabriel, the Messenger, shall be created.
He is to be created and commissioned,
and they will send him here.
He is to be created and commissioned,
and he will create the world.
Let him come and seal the compaction and create the earth Greek artfully. He is supposed to create the earth in a Greek artful way and clog the well of turbid water.
From the dust that rises from Siniavis,
form a tributary pipe for yourself*).
‹It spreads over the living fire) It fills up") with living, resplendent water, whose fragrance is pleasant and from which wonderful things are brought.
From the pouring of that water
it will be your drink when you are thirsty. Of the food that the consuming fire eats, let it fall on you*).
Of what remains and falls off,
shall be your food.
Of your demons, Dews, Hmurthās and Liliths
shall be your food.
When the firmament is stretched out,
the embers will descend on you."

Ur groaned loudly
and spoke to me:
,How long should I stand alone
[88] and bear the burden of the world?"

When Ur spoke thus,
Rūhā, his mother, trembled and trembled.
Ruha was frightened and trembled and cried Alas, alas.

---

1) A common term for the higher beings, but see especially R 93, 9, 23 and 297, 12.

2) Nintendo,"Margrave" is thrown together with Ney and, cf. also R 132, 17.

") is from verderbt, cf. also text 102, 5.

4) Read baby.

Ruhā moaned loudly like a parturient
about the giant who was humiliated.
She called to him:
, Who will be like you,
step up and lead the world?
Who will be the master of your demons, be the ruler of your Hmurthas,
a giant, a giant?
Who will wear your jewelry')?
Who will wear your jewelry and then the women, the body of women")9

When the wicked spoke thus,
I answered them about everything"):
,How the big one wants it,
so it became on the spot.
How the big one wants it,
my Father, who created me, speaks it to me.
The calls are called out.
well thought out are the speeches*).
But what Rūhā is inventing,
there will be empty calls.
When the Seven arise,
from which the error comes,
the names of those calls
they are written and spoken about.
Then twelve shouts arise"),
from which comes lack and failure.
According to the plan of the liar
they will be bound in sorrow").
There are five calls,
who are looked at with horror.
The worlds behold them and fear them.
They appear in a container of blazing fire.

---

1) Or: who should make your company profitable? ") The meaning of in is uncertain; "Pride of women" does not fit. The first is probably not OK; a form of "forgotten" is used here hardly stood.

8) The words by hardly belong to the following, see also R 92, 11.

4) See above, p. 79, 27.

6) The call condenses into a concrete being created by the call. Here there are the twelve zodiac pictures and the seven bezw. five planets, cf. p. 13, 27. Of deu stars go out again Shout out, see the end of this book.

a) The fixed zodiacal images in contrast to the wandering planets.

They walk on wheels of anger,
they appear in fire color.

They let me know about the first things
and taught me about this and that.
They teach me about all the calls, how they came out of their place. A call is coming
and teach about all the calls.
A speech is coming
and teach about all the talk').
A [89] beloved son is coming,
which was formed from the womb of splendor.
He was formed from the bosom of the gloss,
and his image is well preserved in its place.
He comes with the enlightenment of life,
with the orders given by his father.
He comes in the garb of living fire
and goes into your world.
He shows reverence to the great (life),
let enlightenment come out of his mind. He lets enlightenment come out of his mind, he brings compaction and throws it into the water. It throws compaction into the water and creates a dam for the worlds.
He brings the living fire
and throws it into the murky water. He appeases the pits and dries out the cloudy water.
He creates a world for himself and build") a structure equal to the mighty.
He brings splendor from the house of life
and enlightens his škīnā.
He creates a king for the world and throws a soul into his body. A soul in his body he throws, and they eat physical food.
Through the power of living fire
speak the consuming fire.
The consuming fire speaks,
and everything, this and that, arises from this.

---

1) See pp. 79, 29.
2) See Nöld., pp. 83, 16.

When the leaves, flowers and herbs emerge,
as well as all fruits, grapes and trees,
who flaunt in the world,
the scent of the living water and the living fire
your evil scent will become fragrant.
Of the food that the devouring fire eats,
your food will come to you.
Three Uthras will come')
and guard the soul.
They will make the call of life heard and light up the decrepit house.
Two Uthras are coming
and at the top of the water go here.
They will bring water
and create a Jordan in the world.
They will create a Jordan in the world and spread splendor over him. They will plant [90] ... .2) plant.
You will be full of faith, wisdom and insight and make a noble call. They will make you hear a noble call and spread the shine over the house.
The gush that pours out of the water,
which falls to the earth Tibil,
the casting of the earth Tibil
when you are thirsty, serve you as water.
The house°) of the Earth Tibil
serve you as a guardian.
Of your sons who come forth from you,
let them be your guardians.
Let them be guardians over you*),
who take care of your tires.
They should take care of your tires, on the shackle, which resembles the fullness of the world. You should pay attention to the high foot block, which is heavier than all the worlds."

When the evil one heard this,
his heart became full of anger.

---

3) Var. ,,create". Cf. also pp. 15, 13.
2) The meaning of the word is uncertain, siche Joh. II, p. 2121.
a) i.e. the occupants.
4) Sorry. got behind TNṠy.

His heart became full of anger,
and he shook the anvil of the earth.
The anvil of the earth he shook,
he shook the tires, he shook the shackles,
which is like the fullness of the world.
I rose in the power of life
and addressed a request to the great life.
I then called out and created a wall around him. an iron and put a hoop around him. [Wall,
I put a hoop around him'),
whose strength no one has grown.
No one has grown seimer strength,
to get him out of his place.
With my heel I stomped on the ground and shook his heart from its support.
I put a wrap around his heart
and tied a knot around his body.
I tied seven knots around him, that the voice of darkness came out of him. i tied the big knot and made his whole speech a niece.
With twelve wraps I wrapped ilm,
that his twelve (evil) thoughts") remained with him.
I tied him up with a loud voice, that your") whole mistake gave way to them. I tied him up with a shackle *), that the seven ....b) stayed with him. I threw the club at him and hit him and split a slit in the Copt for him.
[91] I made him moan like the women and made him cry like a child.

---

1) Read Abraak.

2) See Joh. II, p. 171.

#) bad ones.

4) Add kounte zn or F)D include: ,I curved him with viner Curvature", but fits according to the Zusammnenhange hesser ADD. After that, AnDD stands for And, i.e. And, and is Siche anch R 170, 14.

") Nöldeke nimnt for the Syriac meaning to shine" (Gram., pp. 127, 18). But nowhere in Mandaean does it have this meaning, not even R 377, 8. where seven come from the nose of Ir, the Lord of the pinstripes; here are it wanted to Penertlammen and so apparently R 96, 14. R 242, 22 it is in the sense of Birth pangs. but it may be mistaken for this (cf. R 158:11). Something like ...pain" would also fit at this point, but the derivation is uncertain.

I made faeces his food,
Drink to his drink.
I put out the fire and the embers
the consuming, pernicious fire.
The greed I took from him1
and clothed him with anger').
I paved a path for the good and created a gateway for the world"). I created a gate for the world and set up a throne in him.
I set up a throne for the good
and set up a lamp for him.
I made a lamp for him, perfect
beyond measure.
A waiting for the sons of Salvation [I straightened up]
in places where they live in abundance, without shortage. I set up thrones for them and i gave them vestments.
The Jordan of the great (life) I created and set up keepers for him.
Ieh placed two uthras on him,
overabundant without shortage*).
I set up a throne for the chief of the brilliant beings")
and set up a lamp in front of it.
I set up a lamp,
perfect beyond measure.

With enlightenment and praise,
with what life has made me hear, with enlightenment and praise
I got up and went to the house of the mighty (life)"). In the joy I felt,
I spoke to the mighty one.
The great rejoiced and showed himself firmly°), it pleased me beyond measure.

---

1) The second half-verse contains a contradiction to the first. Maybe instead of Anne rabe originally stood there: and his malice and his anger.

2) The following describes the effect of Ur's overcoming, but it has probably not directly connected to the previous one from the outset. #) The guardians of the Jordan are usually the geniuses Šilmai mnd Nidbai, but are here, perhaps, as R 292, 24; 296, 3. Adatan and Jadatan are meant.

4) See also R 373.8.

*) Siche p. 74 unt., 954.

") A heliehtte connection is ONDNany) N, siche R 97, 18; 115, 8; 125, 3. Nevertheless, here is not EN'nphy zmn similar ENCNIny abznänder. see R 152, 2.

Life showed itself to me recognizably
and increased my splendor beyond the former measure.
It spoke to me'):
,Kuštā keep you safe, Good,
and receive in salvation the Word in which you have expressed yourself*)." Life turned in its joy to the Uthras and spoke:
,Praise the power of the man,
who healed the water by fire").
Praise the power of the man,
where the fire did not die. The fire did not sin against him: The Uthra shone in its splendor.
In its splendor the Uthra shone
and created a path for the perfect.
For the perfect he created a path
and grant the Perfect salvation.
He grants salvation to the perfect and remember her name [92] in the house of the Mighty."

The Uthra was cheerful and happy,
when life revealed itself to him.
It tasted and kissed the Uthra
and handed him Kuštā like one of the mighty ones.
.He did and had success' called it the Uthra.
,In everything you do, you should succeed.
When you create and plant uthras,
so your uthras want to go to that place
*great father,
for whom life is very recognizable."

I received Kuštā from him*)
and went to the house of the mighty,
the place where the good people live,
the place where the good ones live.
When I arrived at the house of the good,
I bowed down to the mighty (life).

---

1) Sorry. has wbanen.

°) Old blessing formula, see also R 240, 15; 348, 23; Lit. p. 501.

a) See above, p. 91, 25.

4) About life, see Z. 23. As the text now stands, you can open it up like this- understand that Mandā dHaije goes from life to the house of the great and mighty. see p. 74. But it is probably also in the following embroideries as in previous ones talk about life.

As soon as I wanted to talk to the big,
the Great One himself spoke to me').
As soon as I wanted to tell him,
thanked me the big one.
The big one thanked me
and told me about everything.
The Great called me in His Majesty a big one beyond measure.
The Great called me ,He did and succeeded',
a uthra who consolidates his friends.
'He did and had success' called me the Great: ,in everything you do, you should succeed. Thou shalt be the father of the Uthras,
who seals his friends with food.
You are the chosen one of the Uthras,
and do right") all the works.
Make all works right"),
because you are ,He did and had success'.
Manda dHaije,
you fit, well-equipped Uthra,
up, direct the line of living water
and lead them into that world.
Call the Three Uthras,
who should protect the treasure of life*).
Let them guard the treasure of life,
which is fetched from here.
Simple-minded Uthras get him
and bring him to that world.
They put him in feces")
and dress him in flesh color").
They put him in feces
and clothe him with a worthless garment.
They clothe him with a worthless garment
and create lack and failure in him.
[93] They create deficiency and failure in him,
and slyness arises at ilmen.
There is a slackness in them,
and this and that will happen to you." —

---

1) See above, p. 77, 15.

a) Read PPm, keep reading.

*) Sorry, has godfather ppanyn.

4) See Joh. II, p. 201. The "treasure of life" is also related to a feminine being personified. Here is meant the soul brought to the earthly world.

8) D. B. in the unclean body.

a) Cf. Nöld., p. 45 ob., 302 unt.

Then the second one straightened up').
His uthras rose and gave him advice.
His uthras rose up and gave him advice.",
by speaking:
"Grant us") that we may create a world and build skinās for you,
which should be called yours."

Then the Second gave them his splendor and his light
and of what life grants him otherwise.
He gave them his glory
and ordered them*) to create a world.
The sons of the second set out,
went and descended to the place of darkness.
They called out Ptahil-Uthra,
they called him out and fixed him in his place.
They called forth the sons of salvation
and they raised them up on their thrones.
They called forth and created škīnās
and created uthras in them.
They went to the streams of water"), they looked and saw the place of darkness.

B'haq-Zīwa") shone') in his soul
he saw himself as a mighty one.
As a formidable salı, he and left the name that his father had created").
He spoke:
,I am the father of the Uthras.
I am the father of Uthra,
who created the Uthras Skinās."
He was thinking about the muddy water and he said, 'I want to create a world."

---

1) See above, p. 63, 29: 78.

2) Cf. R 296, 22 et seq.

3) Read janet.

4) heiht ,,ziehen, ziehen- and especially stands by the water: it is also here not. It is likely that the INPD ...he was ordered- corrupted under the binding effect of text 92, 18.

5)See above, p. 672.

6) Br is ohen. pp. 76, 30 briefly warmed up. There is more detailed talk of ihmı R 297. He it is created by the second (life) and makt itself to the Nanen ., Father of the Uthras", i.e. he identifies with Abatlur. whose name is thus commemorated, see Joh., p. XXIX.

") ,"the pact did not shine, you expect something like ,iherhob sich". Perhaps is an ans 2nainany disfigured, if not like R 297, 17 nobne A2 an n ,he it's easy to read his cigene world- zn.

8) Or ...exclaimed hatter, see p. 321.

He did not consult with himself
and did not know the turbid water.
He did not know the murky water,
he did not know the consuming fire, on which there was no shine.
The father of the Uthras did not take advice'),
and he did not grant them any helpers.

He called Ptahil-Uthra, taste and kiss him like") Tremendous.
He gave him names,
which are hidden and kept in their place.
He gave him the name Gabriel, the Messenger,
called him, instructed him and spoke to him:
,Up, go, get down
to the place where there are no skinās and no worlds.
Create and make a world for yourself
like the sons of salvation you have seen.
Create and direct a world her4).
Create a world for yourself and form uthras in it. The father of the Uthras, in his haughtiness, told him nothing of the Opposition,
[94] he did not equip him or instruct him.

Ptahil-Uthra set out,
went there and descended below the Škinās, to the place where there is no more world.
He stepped into the dirty dirt,
stepped into the murky water.
He began to speak,
then the living fire changed.
When the living fire changed,
he grieved in his heart and spoke:
Since I am a son of Great,
why did the living fire change?

When Ptahil-Uthra spoke thus,
Ruhā felt strengthened.
Rühā felt strengthened,
and her soul took pride.

---

3) See also R 296, 23f.
2) These words refer to the representation in the Bolgenden.
a) Sorry. has 53, siche also above, p. 79, 14.
1) Also here is how to continue reading Tay. Sorry. has TayNt.
8) It is expected to write N71273, see job. II, p. 331: cf. also further-ref text 94, 10 vs. 94, 8. Teid. has bad ab-noni anornas.

She said: ,,His shine has changed, there was a lack and a lack of his brilliance."
She got up, destroyed her belongings')
and dressed in a wide robe;
she changed her mind into haughtiness")
and stood as she was not.
She spoke to the warrior,
the foolish, the senseless and the unintelligent.
She spoke to him:
,Look how the shine of the strange man has diminished,
how its luster was lacking and misshapen.
Up, sleep with your mother,
so that you will be freed from the shackle with which you are tied, which is stronger than all the world."

When the evil one heard this,
he shook himself with his bones,
he lay down to restā,
and she received seven characters from one act.
After seven days she gave birth and gave birth to the contemptible,
she gave birth to the planets,
from which the seven figures emanated").
When she saw them,
her heart dropped from the support.
She spoke:
,I said, but I wasn't told, what I wanted did not become, no one is like the other."

When Ruha spoke thus,
her sons rebelled.
They rebelled and denied their father. There is nothing that is endless.

Ptahil washed his hands in the murky water
and spoke:
Let there be an earth,
as they were in the house of the mighty ward."

---

1) The Ausdrnek is only here and continues. Should he say as much as ,,on-break" ?

2) But probably to be understood in this way, here not as a proper name, but Arn parallel נאפשה. For the reading (also sorry.), siche R 117, 6; 173, 16.

a) Which correspond to their own essence, see p. 114, 4, 15; 138 nnt.

When he dipped his hands,
a compaction formed.
A [95] compaction formed,
who lay thrown down and moved back and forth(?), as if it there would be no compaction.
When no earth was created and sicl compacted,
his heart was at odds.
When his heart fell into discord,
in turn, Ruha felt strengthened.
She spoke:
,,I want to open up, destroy my belongings and to the kings of the world')."

She set out anew,
destroyed her belongings and clothed herself with her robe.
She got up, destroyed her belongings,
went to the fiend and spoke to him:
,,On, great fiend, on,
behold, the whole world is thine.
I heard that the house was abandoned and all the knots are untied")*

When the Büse heard this, his heart felt twice as strong. When his heart was strengthened,
she said to him, 'I am your sister.
When you lie with me,
your strength will double."
When he slept with her,
received them from a plot of twelve fiends. She received from him twelve fiends,
not a single one of them was good.
After twelve days,
Ruha got the contractions.
She gave birth and gave birth to twelve figures,
none of which resembled the others.
They did not resemble each other;
each rode on the lap of the other.

When she saw them,
her heart dropped from the support.
Her heart fell from the support, and she howled and cried over herself.

---

1) i.e. this world, siele p. 86".

2) Everything is on edge and tape.

She spoke:
,I told myself I would carry and give birth, and they would be like the Lord of the world'). I ran, my Lord, but did not get there; Torment I charged myself").

When Namrus spoke thus,
all twelve are angry.
All the angry ones
and they denied their father.
There is nothing that is endless.

Ptahil stood there in thought.
Ptahil stood in thought and spoke:
,,I want to leave the world."
When Ruha heard this,
her heart was on the support again").
She spoke:
,The stranger is not an adversary to me;
the stranger has no power over the world."

She got up, destroyed her belongings
and put [96] on her robe.
She got up, destroyed her belongings
and went to their homeland*) in the place of darkness.
She spoke to the low warrior,
who is without hands and feet:
,,Get up, my father, see,
i'm your daughter.
Kiss and kiss me
and lie with me.
[Lie] with me
and fill your eyes with the world").
Fill your eyes with the world
and behold, the whole world belongs to you").
The stranger who came into your world,
she left again in a hurry and went up to his place-
When you lie with me, [prices rose.
your eyes will remain as they are." —

---

1) Sorry. has Found it.
2) Apparently a quote, siche also continue. Sorry, hat לנאפשאי.
) Read Abyan or Abyany.
4) Well read.
") Take a full look at the world, siche Joh. IT, p. 478.
°) Sorry. hat wet8 55)25.

When the evil one heard this,
he tasted and kissed her and slept with her.
He kissed her and slept with her,
and she conceived a pregnancy from him.
She received from him five angry'),
they deny each other.").
They deny each other
and give themselves up to an unworthy, unsightly hustle and bustle"). On the first day (the sky) split, and it flashed. On the second day it thundered.
On the third day (the sky) was surrounded by flames of fire*). On the fourth day there was a quake at the gates of darkness.
On the fifth day, her heart began to ache and she became sad.
Her mind felt the pain of a parturient, parturient
Mother-in-law.

She gave birth and gave birth to five figures,
none of which resembled the others.
No one resembled the others,
and they stumbled over each other.
From them the error emanates,
all the worlds are not up to it.

When she saw them,
hit her on the head with her hands.
With her hands she hit the head and pulled out the curls on the head. She pulled out the curls on her head
and brought wickedness to her heart.
She spoke:
,,I ran, my Lord, but did not get there;
I charged myself with torments. I did not see her and did not find satisfaction,
I spoke, and it did not occur.
All my witchcraft skills were lost to me,
and all my words left me.
What do I gain from [97] that I destroyed my possessions, and what do I gain from putting on my robe? What do I gain from putting on my clothes?", where I have no share in the house?tt ...-

---

1) Cf. p. 134.

*) By their dissimilarity, as if they did not belong to each other.

3) This is anticipated. The five days mentioned below are the days pregnancy; the birth is only mentioned afterwards.

*) Cf. p. 936.

6) Sorry. hat דתותבאי ליבשית.

Ptahil thought in his mind,
he consulted his wisdom and spoke: ,,I want to open up, bow down to life and submit to the Great.
It is my desire to nelimen a garment of living fire and walk around in the murky water. In the murky water I want to walk around and specify what should happen.

As Ptahil planned according to the wise one whom he apprehended, life had worshipped and praised, he received a robe of living fire and walked around in the murky water.
When the living fire mixed sicl
with the turbid water,
rose as a result of the smell of the robe of living fire Dust powder from the earth Siniawi.
Dust rose from the earth of Siniawi
and fell everywhere').
All the seas were clogged,
all pits appeased*).
Trocknes emerged,
a compaction formed and fell into the water.
A curtain lifted") into the air, rose up and stood at the heart of the sky*). When the firmament was stretched out,
he bowed down and praised the Man, his Creator.
When he saw the high throne"),
he rejoiced and was glad at heart.
He grasped the navel of the earth
and wanted to tie him to the heart of heaven.
When he wanted to grasp the navel of the earth,
the lapsed° encircled him).
It encircled him the basket') of the cunning,
who is full of (false) wisdom.

---

1) Read Jnong.

2) See above, p. 91, 27 and Joh. II, p. 90.

3) Sorry. hat ועדאליא.

*) The "curtain" is probably the firmament, see also, not that of the Ptahil, of which R 306, 19; 340, 8 is mentioned.

b) The high throne is the firmament, not Ptahil's throne.

a) Or "the sinking ones". It is a designation for the demons, see above, pp. 17, 8; 35, 40. The word is also more often used for the ephemeral earthly things. especially in the expression "the decrepit house", i.e. this world. ?) The word NNDP is Mandaean only at this point. In the Talmud it is

He is full of dazzle,
full of wisdom.
He is full of dazzle,
the Weibskorb') of witchcraft.
The seven planets orbited him
and the twelve worthless fiends.
It encircled him [98] Aṭarpan and Lufan,
the two princes of the world,
Urpel and Marpel,
which are inserted in the tibil over the anger.
They circled the great Dráchen*), they climbed up and stood at the bulge. When
he grasped the navel of the earth,
lifted him up and tied him to the arch,
when he grasped the high hoop of the firmament, and tied him to his throne,
were the planets bound,
and they climbed up, stood at the bulge.
The fiends stood up
and were tied up in their bonds").
Your five handlebars crying woe, woe*).

Ptahil in his wisdom sits there and ask them individually: Where did you come from, you bad guys, whose figure does not come from the father's house?"

When he spoke thus to them,
Rūhā answered him from below").
,,We are coming"), we want to be your servants, we want to come and help you.

---

hautiger, see Levy, Neulcbr. Wörterb. IV, p. 2701. The Arabic borrowed from it quffe (guffe) now in Babylonia refers to the round braided clay-coated Fhooßboot. ,"The Basket of the Cunning" probably refers contemptuously to the pack of the cunning.

1) Read natyd.

e) Siche NölDEKe, Zeitscher, f. Assyriol. XXV (1911), p. 356.

3) Notd, must have about this sense. Es stelit R'225, 21; 377, 18 zwischen (cf. Joh. II, p. 502) and Ns 22, see also R 361, 17. The meaning ...Punishments" (Nöld., p. 21, 12; 140, 1; 325, 9; 327, 21) does not fit. The derivation is uncertain. Neither yno offers a suitable explanation, but there is a corresponding verb maybe text 99, 2; 114, 14 before.

4) The Oxford handwriting has good דמנאמביא.

5) So it is wrong; it is the planets that answer him.

e) Oxf. has good prrn.

We want to be your helpers in everything you do,
and leave you undisturbed on your throne.
We want to leave you undisturbed on your throne,
we want to step up and keep the world in order.
We want to be good
and be devoted to you in every way."

When the seven planets spoke thus to him, he said to them, 'You are my sons.
When you do good deeds,
I will count you among my party."

When Ptahil spoke thus,
the house was taken from him. The house was taken away from him,
and the lapsed received dominion over it,
how to stretch out the firmament before
and the earth had become solid due to the compaction.
When Ptahil spoke thus,
Hans was taken away from him.

Ptahil clears up at his prudence and speaks:
,I will go up and go to my father's house-[rise.
I want to speak to my high Father:
Everything that you ordered me, I carried out."

When Ptahil spoke thus,
Ruha clears up at her cleverness and speaks'):
,,I want to create Hmurthas and Astarten,
who should be my children in the world.
[99] The planets and their demons
let them rise to the opposition.
The Fiends and Dews shall rise, and we want all the world ... .2)
The five rulers of the house")
let them rise up and wage war." —

---

1) Sorry. did Nidhi nNdidine need Nothing, which I do not understand.

2) The word AD) can also be found in the same context R 114, 14. From at this point it can be seen that the object is The meaning is uncertain, the above, p. 1045. Two London manuscripts and suffering. have FPEN at this point, what an aggravation is an improvement, especially since suffering. there also has.

a) The fiinf planets as lords of the earthly world.

When Ptahil saw her,
it was his cleverness that made him light up.
He clenched his fist
and struck at the atria of his chest').
He spoke:
,Before I go to my father's house,
I will appoint a Lord over this world.
The lords of the house do not know,
that this world has a Lord")."

When he went to the house of life, to his father"),
the Uthra said to him, 'I have created the world."
Ruhā created Hmurthas
and created astartes that are veiled').
She formed Liliths
of any genus and species.
The planets created demons,
numerous and unlimited.
The fiends created Dews as their image in the world.
The Five formed the sword,
they who are used to anger in the world.
Some of the images are on Earth,
from others in the murky water.
,,We want to stay in heaven,
but our creatures all over the world.
Let the earth be ours,
and no one else is to rule over this world.
The house that our Father built us,
let us dwell after him.
Because we are the masters of the house;
Let Rūhā be the mistress of our place.
Ruhā dQudšā with us,
we want to be his guardians.
The twelve stars are to step down
and divide days and months.
You should divide hours and sauce,
let's divide minutes and seconds").

---

1) i.e. the protruding parts of the chest, see Joh. II, P. 37°.

2) The sentences are unclear. Instead, I read The Lord he is talking about the one who wants to use the world is Adam. The lords of the house are the planets. These know not that he, Ptahil, is the real lord of the world. See also R 110, 22.

a) Regarding B'haq-Abathur, see p. 97, 21.

4) See Joh. II, p 2231.

n) The sossos is with the Mandaeans the twelfth part of an hour, see Joh. II, p 1801.

When we do this,
the whole house will be ours').

From the time the earth was sealed until Adam came, there are it is three hundred and sixty thousand years. From the time Adam came to The end of the world is four hundred [100] eighty thousand years. The seven Planets spread the years so that no one was too short before the other"). The seductress Rūhā spread the whole world. Of the twelve sons none of the deficient had less than the other. Rüha and all Planets did not suspect and did not know that the world has a Lord and he has helpers by his side. How to stand there and make plans, and want to give the world a Lord, - there is nothing that would be endless*).

Ptahil returned to the world again and listened to what his Father told him. He said, 'I came here to find a lover Create a son. I want to create and strengthen it, then it will rise and glorify the mighty (life). If he stands on his feet, he will be hit the wild animal with your hand. He will be with the hand beating and instructing the wild animal and the many animals, that it will benefit pens because of what the planets have done. They they distributed the (earth)reicl, that it belonged to the bodies, that these all And eat all the fruits of the earth, all of which are from the fruits of the water kamen'). '

When Ptahil came and said to (all)") the planets: "We want to Adam, that he might be king over the world," when he thus spoke to them, we all agreed with each other: we want to tell him that we are Adam and We want to create Hawwā, because he belongs to us. You now tell him: We want Adam and Hawwa, the head of the whole family, create."

When the planets spoke thus to him, Ptahil was grieved at heart and said, 'If I alone am Adam and Hawwa, the head of the whole Genders, create, then what does Adam know how to start in the world?" Then Ptahil-Uthra spoke to the planets and said to them: 'Adam is my son, the king of this world." That's what the planets were talking about [101] and said to Ptahil, "In trust, what are we standing on then?"), and

---

Also, and must require small parts of time; maybe about minutes and More seconds. They are R 112, 19 in the same context. The importance of Nin L 76, 17 also shows short periods of time. The gamD standing here is hardly identical to N̅D ,,Festversammlung, Festmahl".

1) The paragraph ends in a speech of the Seven. The following piece is inserted. °) More detailed R 378, 37 et seq.

3) See above, p. 753. The following section presupposes a speech by Abathur.

4) Cod. B and sorry. see above, p. 377.

d) may be deleted at this point. It is probably from the following The line came here.

6) That is, what can we count on.

what do we have power over in the world?and Ptahil answered them and said: 'You shall be his carer and shall serve him in every way stand."

They then created Adam and put him down,
there was no soul in him.
When they created Adam,
they couldn't throw a soul into him. Then they called the air wind'),
that he may hollow out his bones.
He hollowed out his bones,
and Mark is formed in them.
Mark is formed in them,
so that he would stand firmly on his feet. They called the splendor of the living fire, so that his robe might make light.
Let his robe make light, so that he would stand firmly on his feet. They called the haze of the streams and the smoke of the consuming fire"),
that they entered his trunk,
so that he can clench
his fist and with his arms open,
so that he scolded and shook himself,
so that he would stand firmly on his feet.

The planets then spoke
and they turned to Ptahil:
,,Grant us that we may cast from the Spirit into him,
which you brought with you from the father's house."
All the planets tried to,
the masters of the world made an effort to do this.
Although everyone tried to,
they couldn't get him to his feet.

Then Ptahil arose in his enlightenment
and ascended to the place of light.
He stood before the Father of the Uthras"),
then his father said to him, 'What have you done?u

---

1) See above, p. 157.

2) The meaning of NPEN2 is safe, siche Nöld., p. 113, 5. Out of the bad, unhealthy water vapor and the smoke of the evil F'euer formed in Adam the Jähzovn, siche anch Joh. II, p. 57 ob.

a) i.e. before B'haq-Abathur, see above, p. 97, 21.

To this he replied to him:
What else I created, succeeded,
but my and your image did not succeed')."

Then the father of the Uthras arose,
got up and went to the hidden places.
He got the Mānā"),
that he may enlighten all perishable things, that he may enlighten the garment of the body,
of any genus and species.
He wrapped him in his pure turban
among the names that life bestowed on him ").
He grabbed him by the ends of his turban'),
brought him there and handed him over to his son Ptahil.
When he gave it to Ptahil-Uthra tibergab,
life called the helpers.
It called Hibil, Šitil and Anoš,
the Uthras, [102] which are superior and without defect.
She called them and gave them orders.
as well as warnings about the souls.
It spoke to them:
,Do you keep them,
that all the world would know nothing about them.
The evil Ptahil do not know,
how the soul falls into the body.
How the soul falls into the body,
and how the blood in him speaks").
How the blood speaks in him")
and how to penetrate through it ... .
The ... . .⁶) Adakas-Mānā,
he was her guardian.

---

4) Sorry, did weNTp instead ,succeeded before me, but your likeness is not-Imgen."

2) is to delete zn. Here is not the big Mänä. the highest being, I mean. but soul substance, which is supposed to fill and revive the dead body.

") i.e. by invoking the names that life communicated to ilnn.

⁴) Lies בכאנפיא (ד)טארטבונה.

5) See also R 349, 14f. Instead of having living forms originally of course, in the first place, about nae, in the second place, he has right after that: as the blood fills itself in him (in body), so also p. 89". Dat here instead of reading as in 7. 17 (text), I do not glanbe.

") Or: penetrate through it (the soul). To N7y in Sine ,cleave, penetrate- siele Joh, II, p. 764, 1104. The Bedentang of A (Sorry, hat is musicher, Hüutig is NIN, PL. NIN im Sinn ...Zweig- bei NDN ...Myrten' (Tit. 146, 7 and otherwise in the rituals). This will

When he (Adam) envelops himself in the splendor of life and stands firmly on his feet,
when he speaks with a clean mouth, take him back to his place. Take him back to his place again and save him from this and from that."
Ptahil wrapped him in his pure turban and wrapped him°) with his robe. The Uthra flies and goes there,
and his helpers go with him.
His helpers who go with him,
they are men who are appointed over the souls.

When they came to the Tibil and for the physical hull,
when he") wanted to throw her (the soul) into the hull, 4) she took it out of his pocket.
While Ptahil touched Adam,
I straightened his bones.
While he put his hands on him, I made him smell the fragrance of the mighty (life). The body became full of marrow,
and the splendor of life spoke in him.
When the splendor of life spoke in him,
he opened his eyes in the physical trunk.
When the splendor of life spoke in him,
Adakas-Zīwā ascended to his place.

---

probably related to NIN,"thorn" in the Mišnahı (Löw, Aram. Plant names, p. 146). This is probably separate from zn sing, with Lit. 180,3; Tond. Roll A. 380. On the latter The job is called עצטריא אגיא דנהורא.   ותושביהאת עותריא עהביהראת

so here, too, NN together with NY. Then it heals in the mouth. Divan B 49: NNT

מאליל אבאתור ליפתאהיל דנימארלה דוהה לאדאם בראך ועזיל בנילה ביניאנא רבא ואותבה
בנאוה ואזיל אתיה לקאדיאייל תאורא וכובשה ולגיטלה נירא וניצריא אגיא בטוריא וניזרא

Next). Then Abathur said to Ptahil as follows: Carry your Solm to Adam, go, bane ilnn a rough ban, put him in. go, bring the bull Qadiel, hands to him, lab ilm carry a yoke, that he would sow seeds in the mountains column mnd." Since apparently, it is in the sense of "Rurche", Note that even in Syrian NS from Plowing the soil is branched (Payne Smith, col. 3439 unt.). Means Nn here the passages in the body through which the blood flows? Just as sure is the meaning of NINDND. Anchorily, it is an extended participle of ., but that's why the point is nngewil. After the verse ban and DNDNTNT, it seems to belong to the following. but next to DNONTNT is the reading DNONTN. The place is probably full of gaps.

1) The address here probably applies to the Adakas.

2) I guessed instead of Aarentd. 3) D. I. Ptahil.

*) Here Mandā dHaije is meant, not Adakas, see further.

I led him to his place, to the house of the mighty (life), up, the place where the Great Throne.
I handed him over to the treasurers,
the Uthras, who have the Jordan in their custody.
Life thanked the Uthra'),
who brought the soul.
The Great One called to me*) commanding
and he said to me, 'Go, call a noble voice.
A noble voice is calling "),
that the wicked know nothing of the soul."

I came and found the bad guys,
all of you, as you sit there.
How the bad guys sit there and pour out witchcraft on them*).
About them [103] they pour out witchcraft,
and the wicked want to divide them into separate parts. When I saw her,
I shone in my pure robe.
I showed myself to the worlds in the rich splendor,
which my father gave me.
I showed myself Ptahil-Uthra,
then he howled and wept over himself.
He howled and cried over himself, because of what") he had done. I showed myself to the seductive Ruha,
who seduces the whole world.
I showed her the great mystery,
by which the rebels are thrown down.
I showed her the great mystery,
but she was blind") and saw nothing.
I showed her a second,
so I put a camel bridle on her.
I showed her a third mystery, that's when I punched a crack in her head.

---

4) This means Adakas, not Mandā dHaijē. According to this verse, one could suppose that by Adakas here we mean the soul at all, which was described by Mandā dHaijē in the height is brought, then ankh Uthra refer to Mandā dHaije, but siche p. 112, 36 ff. The passage is quite unclear due to poor processing of the sources, and the editor it seems that he himself threw Adakas and Mandā dHaije.

3) The Mandā dHaijē. 8) Siche p. 16, 7; 34, 21.

4) And see Joh. II, p. 1076, 136". is also prevented from emptying the Excrement, and NTD can be found at least in the Talmud in the sense of dry Excrement; perhaps these conditions are alluded to.

8) Sorry. did it before , and he cried". °) Sorry, has ND'ND.

When they saw me, they all got scared and explained themselves
the seven declared themselves guilty. [for guilty;
They declared themselves guilty, fell down and fell on her face. They fell down and fell on their faces; they put their hands on her face.
They spoke:
,Our Lord! We have sinned and missed.
but forgive us all our sins."

When the wicked spoke thus,
i made a breach in their phalanx'). I summoned you at the great mystery,
that they should not sin against the soul (3). I hid from the seven, I forced myself, i took on body shape.
I took body shape
and told me I didn't want to scare the soul.
I don't want to scare the soul, and she is not afraid in her garb. I appeared to her in body shape
and sat down with her in splendor.
I spread splendor from the great Mānā over them, from the ers) had been created. I sat down with him and taught him about the, what life told me to do. I preached to him in a holy voice, which was more noble and luminous than all the world. I preached ilm with a gentle voice [104] and roused his heart from sleep. I spoke to him in the speech of the Uthras
and taught him my wisdom.
From my wisdom I taught ilm and said ilm, that he may exalt himself and worship and glorify the mighty. He praises the high place,
the place where the good live.
He praises Adakas-Zīwā,
the father he came from.

How I sat there and taught him.
he stood up, worshiped and praised the mighty.

---

1) Here is the Greek word branched, maybe just a pun on himsorts. *) Sorry. hat דלאתיהטובה.

*) From here on Adam is the subject, not the soul.

He praised his father Adakas-Zīwī, the Mānā by whom he had been created. When he worshipped and praised his father, the Uthra,
he appeared to him from the hidden place.
When he saw his father, the Uthra,
he was full of praise beyond measure.
He sang hymns in a loud voice
and overturned the planets.
He overturned the planets,
rushed around the lords of the world. He denied the sons of the house') and all the works that they had created.
He begat for the name of life and the Uthra, who had made him hear his voice.
He denied the works of Tibil
and raised his eyes to the place of light.

When he did this,
became") the Uthra of life") full of kindness towards him.
He became full of kindness towards him and he had a building built for him.
He had a building built for him
and made him plant a planting.
He let ilm create a Jordan,
so that when his measure is full,
lift him up (Adam) and raise him up in his burrow; raise him up at the place of light with his father Adakas-Zīwa
and make him a uthra in the place of light.

When Ruha and the planets heard about this,
they all sat there in lamentation.
They all sat there in lamentation,
then they began to make (evil) plans.
They began to make plans and talked:
,,We want to capture and grab Adam. Let's catch and grab Adam and keep him with us in the world."
[105] They spoke:
When he speaks in a gentle tone,
let's talk in a rebellious tone.

---

1) i.e. this world.

2) In the text, the plural is incorrectly written as a result of an incorrect relationship הייא.

3) This is Mandā dHaijē.

4) prys is influenced by Nnys. Sorry, pen has.

When he eats and drinks,
let's capture the world. We want to capture the world
and create different shapes in it').
We want to take ...2)
and practice hugging in the world.
Let's practice hug in the world and establish a church in the world. We want to establish a church in the world, he") and introduce him into our church. We want to welcome him into our church,
catch and grab his heart.
We want to capture him by horns and flutes,
so that he does not get rid of us.
We want to create seven figures in it (in the world)*),
different species and genus."

When the wicked plotted in their wickedness,
did I follow good plans,
to do good in the world.
I called the Uthras, my brothers, the men who strengthen the tribe"). I called the Uthras, my brothers,
gentle, firm uthras.
I went and spoke to the Uthras, my brothers,
which are inserted over the stem °):
,Do you Uthras, my brothers, not know,
what are the planets planning?'
The planets are standing there, planning and talking: ,We want to seduce the tribe of life.
We want to seduce the tribe of life
and cut him off from us in the world."

When the Uthras heard this,
the gentle, solid uthras,
did they speak:
Grant us that we may plant a plantation for Adam
and make his tribe numerous.

---

3) Their images, corresponding to their own essence, see further and p. 99, 22.

2) See about the word Joh. II, p. 2195.

a) Probably from here on in relation to Adam.

4) Sorry. does This stands for AeyN2, see text, z. 3.

") i.e. the tribe, the community of the shining ones, see further.

°) Also here is probably NN27112 to read.

We want to create Adam a ...')
and plant it firmly.
We want to plant it firmly and make him a wedding. We want to make a wedding for Adam, teach him and let him take a wife"). We want to give Adam a wife and make him a companion.
We want to create a companion for him
and make his tribe numerous.
Hymns and orders of prayer [106] let us read aloud, and let life perform prayer"). We want the planets ... .[4])
so that they may come to our assembly.
Let them come to our assembly
and be with us.
You should be with us,
and Adam shall triumph over them all.

Me and the Uthras, my brothers,
donated all the best.
We donated good things
and they arranged a wedding for Adam in the world. We arranged a wedding for Adam and gave him a wife.
We gave him Hawwa as a wife"),
how they had been planted in their place.
We are standing there and looking forward,
we are very happy about him.

But soon it hurt Rūhā,
and the planets, they all grieved it.
Ruha took incense)
and pronounces a word of falsehood about him.
The sun brought a robe,
the moon brought a skirt.
Nbū brought gold,
Kewan boots and shoes.

---

1) Namy is wrong. There is hardly any "wealth" in the sense of offspring.

2) Sorry. does The reading seem to me preferable to see also p. 117, 21.

a) Probably read 8m13, see p. 664.

4) Despite text 104, 10, I would rather accept ppy here, "we want to invite you".

3) Sorry. hat בזאוה.

") He is here an image of the Christian cult.

Bel brought bread and wine, Nerig brought ...").
All twelve stars
in all genera and species:
some of them were carpenters,
some of her demons wove wreaths,
their Dews were obedient servants,
give some of your Ekurs*),
their hmurthas were dancers,
your goblin jugglers.
Myrtles brought them in loads, fragrant flowers in heaps. They brought the big jasmine, who came from the škīnā of life. They brought the big jasmine and they created a lack and a failure in him.
They brought Maru aštargān 9),
who came from the Škinā of the Uthras.
They brought Maru aštargān
and they did all evil to him.
They brought water mint and ocimum basilicum, whose fragrance came from the Škinā of the two pure mountains').
They brought water mint and ocimum basilicum [107]1
and did all the ugly things about it.
They brought Narcisse, myrtle and Marmahüz*)
and they did the wrong thing.
They brought all the fragrant flowers of any kind and type and they did all the evil to them.

Their goblins turned them into cooks,
their demons become bakers,
their stammerers turned them into butchers,
your schrate to bakers,
to bestow all their fiends.
All of them were obedient servants
and they obeyed Adam and all his tribe.

---

1) The word NPIDnn (NPENIN) is found only in this place. The condition is unknown. It doesn't seem to be Babylonian.

2) Originally means "temple", then "Temple spirit"", cf. Utlıra, p. 541.

a) A ferula species, see Löw, Aramaic plant names, p. 37.

4) To the idea of the two mountains, which one can imagine as the birthplace of the Sun i thought, see Joh. II, p. 1894.

8) Sielte LÖw, p. 252.

Me and the Uthras, my brothers,
they destroyed their wickedness. We destroyed their wickedness and created good things for Adam. We created good things for Adam
and they lifted him up beyond measure.
We arranged a big wedding for him
with excellent hymns and prayer orders.
We shamed the speech of rest, destroy their rebellious reputation.
We eliminated the wickedness of the planets.
and oppressed all the fiends.
We straightened the root of life; she won and brought victory to her whole tribe.

We stayed with Adam,
until Hawwa got her contractions').
Until Hawwā went into labor,
we stayed with them.
We stayed with them,
and I was to him a ... of women").
I taught Adam to marry a woman,
how men marry a woman ").
I taught Adam to marry a woman
and he said to me, let the tribe of life multiply. It multiplies the tribe of life, and from them the world will be awakened.
The world will be awakened by you*), and life will be grateful to
you. Life will be grateful to you, it will redeem them and lift them up
from this world of evil.

At the head of the first sex
stand Adakas-Zīwā.
There was Adakas-Zīwā,
and there was the cloud of light").

---

1) Brandt, Rel., p. 37m. incorrectly translates this phrase: ‚We were the honor of the Âdâm, until the Hawâ [es?] spoil." This is also his remark , 'Here you will find the the only passage that seems to presuppose the fall of the first man" is incorrect.

2) What D)END of women is, follows from the following with some certainty. It is a man who initiates the prospective spouse into the secrets of marriage. But I can not derive the word D)ND.

") Read dennis mint כד דגובריא.

4) Sorry. got here מינאיון.

b) The first couple mentioned here is not Adam and Hawwā, but Adakas, who hidden, transcendent, pre-existent Adam, who is referred to above as the Father of Adam, and

The light cloud was there.
When [108] her first pregnancy was,
Hibil and Anath-Haije were born.
When she had a second pregnancy,
Anan-Nşab and Anhar-Zīwa were born.
Anan-Nşab and Anhar-Zīwā were born, whose name") is pleasant to the worlds:
Anan-Nsab-Zīwā-Šitil
and Anhar-Zīwā-Hawwa, who was born of Hawwa,
to whom") the worlds and generations ,"existed",
whose name*) persists in the worlds.
At the third pregnancy bar-Haije and Dmūth-Haije were born"):
Bar-Anoš-Adam"), which strengthens its tribe;
Dmuth-Haije, from which the world was evoked. Hibil,
the lord of the earth,
whom the worlds saw and feared before him.
Šitil, the excellent planting,
the Uthra who consolidates the perfected.
Anoš, the gentle Uthra,
who strengthens his tribe.
Adam, the king of the Uthras,
whom all the worlds adore").
I judged Adam the same as the Great at the top of the building. I made Hawwa equal to the light cloud the mistress of the whole world.

---

as the progenitor of the "clouds", with which the Mandaeans generally named the women (see Utbra, p. 539), the "light cloud". Behind the following half-verse is a A gap in which Adam and Hawwä may have been mentioned. Also the following is from-cunning and convoluted. But the listed pairs can also be distinguished from Adaltas and the light- cloud, not derived from Adam and Hawwā. Perhaps this is where the original SIOuFFi, p. 1f., 62, that both in the Jen- on the other hand, as in the earthly world, there were first couples whose children interacted with each other- and from which both worlds were populated, see also Brandt, Rel., p. 37.

1)must be deleted. It got here from the following line.

*) Should probably mean "whose name".

3) Here, too, the singular is written in the text.

4), "Soln of Life", see Joh. II, p. 963, and "Image of Life", see Lit., p. 84"...

b) Here, apparently, Anõš is identified with Adam, on the other hand also with life-fiziert.

°) Without connection with the foregoing, the three Uthras Hibil, Šitil and called Anõš. The mention of Adam at the end is also quite unmotivated. Paris Manuscripts have all the DUCKS, just as sorry. The writing seems to be an oversight Petermann's, so that one may not read at an 2. Auberdem this is probably in the same sense as a few lines before.

When I used Adam,
I placed three uthras over him.
The Uthras I used about Adam and Hawwa,
I took the lead myself.
I stood up and taught her ") miraculous hymns.
I taught them prayer orders,
so that they may perform the Massaqthäs (after the manner of the Uthras)*).
I taught them prayers,
so that they may be strengthened by the prayers to life. I spoke to you:
,You are lifted up and strengthened
in the place where the good ones are consolidated.
Between the Mānās of Light
shall you be established there" (4).
I sat down and taught her, how a teacher treats his students6).
I pronounced a blessing on her:
the Blessings of Good rest on you.
Adam and his children and his tribe 1
let us look at the place of light.

[109] When Ruha saw her,
she called the fiends.
The fiends called her and gave them a worthless advice °). She gave them a worthless piece of advice, unfavorable for the place of light.
She speaks to you:
'What do we gain from being in the house')
and shine in the world?
What do we gain from the fact that we shine, where we have no share in it?

---

1) I.E. Mandā dHaijē.

2) According to the following, it is Adam and Hawwā.

a) Sorry. hat upon). The Massaqtha, "the ascent", i.e. of the soul, is the cult-action and liturgy, which is practiced during the separation of the soul, cf. Lit., pp. 62ff.

4) This prayer is included in an extended form in the baptismal as well as in the death liturgy-well done, siele Lit., pp. 45, XXIX; 95, LXV.

8) The word we, "disciples", especially the angling priest, of which i Lit., p. 62, is of Babylonian origin, cf. Zimmern, Akkadian foreign-words, p. 16.

0) Sorry. has the plural here and in the following verse ,,uichtswürdige Give advice".

7) See above, p. 15".

We have no share in it,
and the whole house is not ours.
Up! We want to tell the stranger '), that he will grant us a share in the world.
If he does not grant us a share,
we will stir up strife against him. If he does not grant us a share"), we will leave the world immediately.
We will leave the world immediately,
who, then, will shine in her?
Shine will be who in her
and enlighten the world?"

When Ruha and the planets spoke like this, the children of the empty apartment, i turned and spoke among the worthless fiends: If you want to move away, move away from the house; I will then enlighten it alone. [ch wants to light up this house
and keep it in perfect order."

All the fiends declared themselves against him and they went there to make secret plans. All senses on evil
and speak:
,,On! We want to organize a celebration"),
come on, we want to have a drinking party.
We want to drive mysteries of love
and seduce the whole world.
We want to create mysteries of magic
and put an end to our world4).
We want to ...) donate
and eliminate the call of life.

---

1) i.e. the man coming from the Hereafter, see above, p. 5 °. Here it is Mandā dHaijē.

") Sorry. here, too, has The following Aby (also sorry.) is the one before- i have a line here.

8) This is probably the point of ND. Although it is now close in meaning- as it stands, the two words do not seem identical to me. Rather, I identify רא In accordance with p. 123,4, the Jewish will, i.e. rest. 9, 19, 22. That the author had about the Jewish Purim in mind and to present this as a celebration of the wicked is unlikely. He would then have the Plural is taken over, besides, there seems to be a fixed connection.

4) One expects cher: her world.

") The meaning of is uncertain. At this point, one could

We want to eliminate the call of life;
who will call ... .[1])?
Let's throw a quarrel into the house, which will not be settled in all eternity. Let's throw a quarrel into the house
and kill the stranger.
We want to kill the stranger and [110] eliminate his whole tribe. We want to make Adam our attachment and see who will then become his liberator."

Ruha and the planets then broke up and climbed Mount Carmel*). [On Mount Carmel] they climbed they are the mysteries of love. The fiends are sitting there making plans, they reach for the mysteries of all of them.
They resort to the mystery of the Rūhā;
they sit there and do magic.
They sit there, pondering in their cleverness
and speak:
,On! We want to organize a celebration
and make offerings to her ").
We want to gather the twelve stars,
and we all want to do secret things.
We all want to take oaths,
and we do not want to betray the mysteries of love.
We want to commit the mystery of love with myrtle and capture the whole world.
We want to celebrate the mystery of love with wine and capture the world in our frenzy. We want to commit the mystery of love with water') and stir up the whole world.
We want to stir up all the world
and capture them
through the great mystery of love, that no one would know anything about us.

מארגוש,"Rebellion" or "anger". But the word seems identiscl to be with R 223, 7, which stands there together with "blood" and "defilement".

1) ND may contain ND2, our sign".

2) The knowledge of Carmel, which is otherwise called in the Mandaean Scriptures is probably from the story of Elijah and the priests of Baal to the Mandaeans arrived, cf. Joh. II, p. 944.

a) The word is found only in this place; it is the Bahylonic nindabu.

4) Suffering has NNDD.

Let no one know the secret of our oaths,
and we don't want to announce our speech.
We do not want to announce our oaths and what we have invented in our world. No'), we do not want to reveal all the mysteries,
. and we want to confuse his party, the party
that the stranger founded, so that he has no share in the world.
He has no share in the world,
the whole house belongs to us.
It's all ours,
and there is no one else in this world.
What did the stranger do in the house, that he could found a party in it? The gentlemen of the house*) do not know, that the whole house belongs to us.
The house is ours,
and they have no share in it.

They rose up, confused their works
and they were lacking and lacking.
Lack and failure they did to you, [111] because the house is not yours").
The house was not yours
and was not created for her sake.
In the house that created the Uthras,
have you sent me, me and the Uthras*), my brothers, so that I may come and put good things in it. So that I can create good things in it,
that the good may see it and receive good.
Let the good see it and receive good, let them go up and see the place of light. Let the wicked see it and be ashamed; let them sink into the furnaces of fire.
Let them sink into the heated stoves,
in the place from which they were created.
In the place from which they were created,
that's where her mind should stop.
That's where your mind should stop, because they didn't do anything nice.

---

1) Sorry. has the same as B ND5.

2) The Uthras who consider themselves to be such, so it is used here differently than p. 106, 8.

3) Sorry. has N5.

4) Sorry. hat ולעותריא.

Since you have not done anything nice,
let them come to an end on the day of the end.

They rose, held a celebration and distributed portions among themselves'). Portions they distributed among themselves, they who are unworthy of the place of light. They twisted the good,
what the Lord of the world created*).
They twisted the right mysteries,
what was the first").
They twisted the speeches of truth
and they lied about it.
Speeches of lies they kept,
because they are unworthy of the place of light.
They turned the head into a tail,
they turned the tail into the head.
They twisted their works
and did evil in the world.
They brought all the fruits
and they did all the evil to them.
They brought the herbs
and they were lacking and lacking.
They brought the living water
and poured turbidity into it.
They brought the head of the tribe') and practiced on him the mystery of love and lust, that all the worlds (beings) are engulfed in embers.
They practiced seduction on him,
through which all worlds are beguiled.
They practiced on him the mystery of drunkenness,
by which all the worlds become drunk.
[112] They gave them") to drink from the cup of drunkenness, so that they may turn their faces to the great southern sea.
They brought gold and silver,
as well as the pearls of this world.
They brought gold and silver, the world will become drunk. ").

---

1) See above, p. 120[3].
2) Here it means the good supreme being.
4) Sorry. has a relationship with הייא.
4) This can only mean Adam. For the use of NIND, see Joh. II, p. 44.
8) This generally refers to the people or the "worlds".
9) Sorry. here, too, has "all the worlds".

The worlds get drunk as a result
and set their faces towards the South Sea.
They brought money and good
and did everything evil with it.

They assigned the lust to the rūha,
who see the worlds and get into embers.
Nbū they assigned the (false) wisdom to and made him the Lord of love. They gave him the timpani and flutes, as a result of which all worlds are captured.
Kēwän they attributed the wickedness to;
start from the lack and failure.
Šamiš (the Sun) they assigned the lie to,
by which all worlds are beguiled'). Sin
(the moon) they attributed the deficiency,
from which all the shortcomings began.
Bel they assigned the mystery of water to, with which he stirs up all the worlds.
He stirs up all the worlds
and mix the good with the bad. Nerig they assigned the weapon to,
To wage war in the world.
They called the twelve stars and assigned them the zodiac. They distributed among them the individual houses
and threw them back into wickedness.
Again they threw her into malice:
Hatred, jealousy and discord.
They divided the days and months,
they distributed the hours and sauce.
The hours and sauce they distributed, distributed the minutes and seconds"). They distributed all the defectiveness, distributed all the lack and failure. They distributed the whole world among themselves, without remembering the name of the First").
They made their covenant and threw ... .[4]).

---

4) Read מישתאבשיא. a) See above, p. 1065.

*) There is also suffering here. so.

4) The two words here are disfigured. NeNp CD is also suspicious despite text 113, 5. Sorry. has N3n3. In is perhaps a form of "swear" contain.

They reaffirmed their oaths,
all of you who are lying. They reaffirmed the oaths,
which they [113] had sworn on Mount Carmel.
At the celebration that the Seven celebrated,
all the Aons and demons spoke.
The timpani and chants spoke in it,
the head of all sorcery,
the head of the great capture,
with which all worlds are captured.
The horns and bilures spoke in it. '),
the head of all sacrificial slaughter,
the head of all battles,
with which all worlds are captured.
The zither of lust spoke in it, through which the lust spread over them. They talked in it with tambourines, with which all Ruhās speak.
With this, all the ruhas speak
and make a catch in the world.
They spoke in it with horns,
talked to everyone in it . . . . 2).
They talked in it with the flutes ") of the liar, from which all the lies emanated.
They spoke in it with a strong roar, that a noise arose in the world. A roar arose in the world, that they shook the whole world.
They shook the whole world,
shook the earth from scratch.
They shook the anvil of the earth,
shook the whole firmament.
The whole firmament they shook and brought captivity everywhere. The sound of her and the sound of her noise
a mānā rose up out of the sea').
A Mānā rose from the sea, and all the vines and trees were planted°).

---

1) A musical instrument, see Joh. II, p. 631.
2) is probably distorted from the name of an instrument.
3) Read N3)3DN3.
4) Here there seems to be a reminiscence of the mytlns of Ea-Oannes.
b) Sorry. has 2rny.

When the vines and trees were planted,
fell loudly into Adam's ear.
When she fell loudly in Adam's ear,
Adam woke up from sleep.
Adam woke up from sleep and lifted up his face to the place of light.
He called his helpers,
called the gentle, fortified Uthras.
He spoke to Hibil-Uthra,
to the man who had made him hear his voice'):
,What happened in the house,
what in this [114] world?
What happened in the house,
that the sound of the thunder rises up to the sky?
The whole earth shook,
the whole firmament was crushed*).
The heart of all worlds has been grasped and moved away from his place."

When Adam spoke like this,
a tear contracted in his eye*).
When Adam spoke like this,
I shone in my robe.
I shone in the robe of living fire,
that my father gave
me. I shone in the pure robe,
which is far and endless.
I approached Adam, grasped him by the surface of his right hand. -and let his heart rest on its support again.
I calmed him down and told him,
how the Seven acted.
I also told him how it had happened in his place and how they plot. It is the voice of the planets,
who advised an evil counsel.
They advised an evil council,
by saying, 'We want to stir up strife."

---

1) Here Hibil-Uthra appears as the Redeemer in place of Mandā dHaijē. Also otherwise the two are often interchanged with each other. It is also possible to do this before here and there the Uthra Hibil is meant, see e.g. p. 113, 14. The author sees in a different being to him than in the son of Adam, who was and continues to be in high spirits.

2) I suspect DNTndny, or aNDNDny s. v. w. Syrian after that ,stretched look." ") See Joh. II, p. 1101.

They said, "We want to stir up a quarrel.",
they said, 'We want the world ... . 1).“
They said, 'We want the world ... ...
and create a shortage and error in it." I spoke to him:
,,Be calm and composed, Adam,
and have no sorrow for her.
Have no sorrow for the planets and about Namrus, the mother of the world.
I will grant you a spectacle to your persecutors and humiliate your persecutors.
Calm Hawwa, your wife,
and do not be lacking and lacking in yourself."

After I talked like that to Adam,
I also spoke to all his sons.
Hibil rejoices in its splendor,
and Šitil calls loudly*) for his helper.
Šitil because of its brilliance and Anoš because of the speech that his brothers, the Uthras, had.
given him rejoice, bounce and rejoice, [to be heard,
and they don't care about the whole world.

When Adam ate and made amends,
he called his wife Hawwa and inspired her with hope.", trusting that Hibil-Uthra wrapped up in his place and lay down").
[115] But one of Adam's sons
lack came to mind.
a lack came to mind, Sleep
did not come over his eyes.
In his heart it shook,
and his body stood there, trembling.
He made evil plans
and left his father Adam.
He left his mother Hawwā, left his brothers when they were sleeping.
He left all his brothers and rose ...") on the wall.

---

1) See above, p. 105 [2]. e) Suffering. hat מקארילה.

a) is probably to be understood here in this sense. The ordinary meaning of N3ON is ,,teaching." It is probably a paraphrase for "Begatten".

4) See above, p. 1261. The verse seems to me to belong to the Previous zn, but cine connection with the following is not excluded.

5) The application of is unsafe. "Castles", of course, it does not heal here.

. . . . . he climbed up on the wall and went to their meeting').

When Ruha saw him,
she laughed, was happy and was happy.
Ruha was happy and was comfortable,
and it pleased sicl all the planets.
Ruha brought fire,
and Šamiš fetched incense.
Roha knelt down in adoration,
she stretched out her body and praised him.
Ruha threw incense (into the fire)*),
and Šamiš bowed to him.
Bel boastfully took myrtle
and went to meet him.
They step down, bless him and speak to him:
"May our blessings be upon you").s Kēwän [blessed him] within, he put wine blossoms in his hand. He handed him a wreath in his hand,
bowed, tasted and kissed him.
Sin blessed him in the heart,
and Rüha blessed him with her palate').
She blessed him with Bilūren
and introduced him to the assembly under lock and key.

When the planets surrounded him,
he threw his hands on his robe.
He threw his hands on his robe and shook his robe.
He spat and threw out bile,
he shook his ... . ..")
He remembered the Uthras, his brothers, remembering the speech that the Uthras, his brothers, had given him For a long time he listened to the speech of the Uthras, [let him hear.
until they put him at their head,
until they put him at their top
and until they put the cup in his hand,

---

1) Or in your church. 3) See Lit., pp. 64, 14; 116, 11.

a) This verse probably belongs behind the following three.

4) That's what it says, but maybe it's "in your bosom" to read."

6) The word Np may also refer to a garment; it can only be found on this place. Nöldeke refers to Gram. pp. 128, 6 on talm. Npp, which does not fit here- makes sense.

until they gave him the cup to drink,
until they did it for the second and third time.
When they did it for the second and third time, his heart was at odds.
[His heart fell into discord],
and his body demanded dance from him.

When Adam, the Son of Adam, did this, [116] the Uthras wiped out his name from the sheet'). When he got into the drunkenness of the planets,
he jumped up and danced in the drunkenness.
When he subsided and sat down,
he got up and wanted to return to his place.
Then Rūhā took the form of Hawwā, his wife, who was his [Sister is*), an
and approached him halfway along the way").
She made a bed*) of the litter,
created a place of iniquity.
She messed up the times,
she got up and took him by the hand.
When she took him by the hand"),
did he desire for fornication:
to address you with your mouth,
to surround them with the body.
In the lust that had seized his mind,
he spoke to Ruha as follows:
,Since you are my sister Hawwā,
where your clothes are white,
why do you dress in a skirt of different color and type? Your stature is (like) a tall cedar, why do you wash yourself with water?") Your thighs are vines of ather, why are you investing in gold? Your wings (arms) are sleeves') from Ãther, why are you putting silver on?

---

1) See Joh. II, p. 104 n.

2) The words AnNnn ynF, which make the verse too long, are probably just a Glosse.

3) Sorry. has nitndt instead of Aby.

4) I suspect instead of R 147, 23; 148, 6 f.

5) Sorry, Kanye has 53.

6) Washing is otherwise required, see Joh. II, p. 99, 18 here is only the washing in the ı Services of cleaning addiction meant, siche continues.

?) This does not fit; perhaps NINoND ,"stems, stems".

Your head is a cloud of light,
why do you wash and comb yourself?
Your eyes are shining eyes,
why do you put makeup on it? “

Then she answered and spoke to the prophet of lies, for the deficient, complete lack and failure:
,,Be silent, Adam!
If there were no unevenness,
if there were no unevenness,
so we would have only one nature.
We would have only one nature
and as one Mānā, we would both have been created.
Now that there is ungradness,
they have made you a man and me a woman.
They made me a woman,
brought me and put micl in front of you.
They told me that you are burning with love for me
and we should do something with you.
That we should do something with you and that the world is to be awakened by us."

When he touched and kissed her
and wanted to do something with her,
i appeared to him in a cloud of glory and made him [117] hear a miraculous call. A miraculous call I let him hear and threw his heart down from the support. I let the magic arts of the Rūbā slip away and showed him that she was not Hawwā.
I showed him that she was not Hawwā,
he looked at himself and was ashamed of himself.
[He was ashamed], and [his inner]*) felt ashamed,
and he felt guilty.
He felt guilty,
because there was every ugly way about
ilm. I did not give him Kuštā, because he had departed from the call of life.
He had departed from the call of life
and from what life commanded him.
He had left the company of the Uthras, his brothers, he went there and loved the company of the planets.

---

1) Sorry. hat ומינאיאן.
2) Before, probably, dabinter Azdn) failed.

He had left the company of his wife Hawwa, he went and fell into the blazing fire.
He saw the fiery furnace:
anyone who looks at him dies,
whoever embraces him burns himself.
Who undresses and sleeps with her,
falls into the doomsday.
In the end of the world he falls,
and his eyes do not look at the light.

I took body shape,
went and went up to their meeting').
All of you, when you saw me,
rushed down and fell on her face.
They fell down and fell on their faces,
then they got up and submitted to me.
They submitted, blessed me and spoke:
,Be our head and the head of our whole world.
You be our head,
and we want to be your entourage.
The glory of the Rüha assign a place among the women*).
Among the women, assign her a place,
and you are our head in this world.

When the planets spoke to me like this,
the seducers of this world,
when the planets spoke to me like this,
i defied them and laughed at them all.
I spoke to the seven,
who had condemned themselves:
If [118] you want me to be your head, if you want me to have a place among the women then [instructed,
open up, tear up your festive community,
up, leave your assembly.
Share your secrets with me,
reveal to me all your speeches."

When I was sitting among them,
i took their secrets away from them
and shone in my robe.
I shone in my pure robe,
which is far and endless.

---

1) The assembly is on Mount Carmel. 2) i.e. your fringe.

I revealed their secrets
and belied their speech.
I belied your speech, they lie with their oaths, which they took on Mount Carmel-they swore.
I threw Ruha down from her throne
and put a camel bridle on her').
I threw her down, hit her with my club
and hit her a crack in the head.
I entwined her with her curls
and tied them to the heart of heaven*).
I grabbed Šamiš by the secret things") and made him like a woman. I made Jorabba like a woman, because he had slept with Rūhā.
Sin I hit with the whip,
took off his robe and took it away.
I took his robe away from him and left him in worthless garb.
I left him in the garb of consuming fire,
for anger was upon him.
There was anger over him,
and he sat in leprosy") in his place.
Which . .") of the Nbū I broke and broke in his hand . . . .7)
I uncovered his nakedness
and showed his shame") in the world.
I summoned the ... .9),
that his image would not be seen in the world.
I grabbed the evil star10),
i rushed him down and threw him down from his throne.

---

1) Sorry. has Nndionn.

2) Apparently an allusion to a usual ordeal, siche weiter, p. 137, 6.

a) i.e. on his genitals.

4) Who is identified with Šamiš, see Jol. II, p. 182.

6) The lesnng is correct, not C ,,in the North". Over the moon as For lepers (because of its color and fleeken) see Joh. II, p. 183°. °) The word seems to mean a musical instrument, cf. Nöld., pp. 151, 18 and Lit. , p. 2211.

7) The meaning of this word, which only occurs at this point, is also not certain. It is hardly S. v. A. ND ,hatchet".

8) To im Sime ,"Blöle" see R 242, 10. Sorry, did Aingnu Anyn, see zu Levy, Neuhebr. Wörterb, IV, p. 354b.

°) See Joh. II, p. 1085.

10) Note, daf N33)3 in the jiidisehen literature par excellence referred to Mercury.

I broke his backbone
and made him an object of contempt') in the world.
I broke it, stretched it out and put him in hiding. I threw down the evil star*),
so that there is no anger in the world. - [119] I beat Bel with the whip
and took the crown from his head.
I took the crown from his head and brought him a disease in the body. - Nerig I hit with the club and dismembered his limbs").
I dismembered his limbs
and gave them to his priests.
I gave them to his priests and worshippers,
so that they move around the world in the desert egg').
So that they may wander in the desert egg in the world")
and show their follies to the world.
I went against the planets,
who rise above the tribe of life, i went
against the planets,
that I threw robbery °) among them.
Robbery I threw under her and showed their follies') to the world.
What I did to the planet,
will they do to their priests and worshipers, so that they disappear from the world.

When I came to Adam,
I said to ibm: 'I gave you a spectacle at your [Pursuer.
To your persecutors I granted you a spectacle,
the evil family, that they were murdered.

---

1) I suspected I, which occurred repeatedly under the influence of themenden was changed. -

2) it seems to me that after the foregoing, it suits me better than suffering. and the other anf.,sclwören" indicative variants.

a) Naay is to be understood here in this sense, like the Jewish name, because 1 in The following is alluded to the cult of relics. ,Wing" or , arm" pact is bad.

4) Read 7, continue, p. 137, 15.

5) Sorry. hat pund) בצאויא.

6) N can only mean "robbery". However, one does not expect this, but ,ver- attention" od. similarly. But in Aramaic, NB is not found for NBR. The noun for this is in the Mandaean NINDa, and a modification of this word is difficult to- take it. Connecting to 118.2 (text) will not lead to anything.

7) Or "nakedness", see p. 132, 26.

All your priests and worshippers
let them be slaves to you.
They should be slaves and obey you in every way. Leniency will not be given to all planets, nor the men they worship. For everyone who practices their works, is unworthy of the place of light.
When I go to the house of life,
I will prepare and organize the world in an excellent way. I will lift up the root of life and raise up his tribe in an excellent way. When the Seven distributed the zodiac, death was imposed on the world as a punishment. Death was imposed on the world as a punishment, but the souls of the true and believing men, as well as the perfect women
they will rise up and look at the place of light.
On the other hand, the souls of the planets be tied up in their guardhouses.
They will be tied up in their guardhouses,
until your mind stops.
Until your mind stops
[120] and they die and go out as if they had never been there."[1]

The Gates"), which Ruhā created,
the seductress of lies,
the gates that Ruha created,
all will be slain by the sword.
The gates that Rūhā created, sitting
there fasting every day.
Every day they sit fasting,
every day they sit there grieving.
They sit there grieving every day,
until your mind stops.
When your measure is full,
they will turn their faces to the place of darkness.

The gates that Christ created, they all accuse each other of lying. They all accuse each other of lying and do not stand there in a speech.

---

1) Read or נישמאתא.

°) The religious parties, see p. 206.

Do not stand there in a speech,
because they came out of the creation of the lie.
He twists the speeches,
what the first one') created.
He twists the speeches
and brings folly into the world.
The folly that Christ creates,
will come to an end at the very day of the end.

From the gate that Šamiš created,
whom all the world calls Adonai,
from the gate that Adonai created,
all the people of the house of Israel have come forth.
From the House of Israel,
they hit each other with their hands.",
who beat each other with their hands,
they do what they shouldn't*);
what not to do, they do,
therefore, they are to come to an end on the day of the end.

From the people of the Jews ι
all the wickets have come out.
The people of the Jazuqaeans have emerged*),
the scorners who worship the fire,
the scornful who worship the fire, who emerged from the image of the robe of Christ. The Jazuqaeans will come to an end,
who listen to their call.

From the gate that Agzēl created,
which all the world calls Sin,
Sin calls him all the world, [121] because his figure is ugly everywhere"),
from the gate that Sin created,
all the pains and plagues have come out.

---

1) D and suffering. have siche p. 123, 10.

2) Who fought each other. 8) An anacoluth.

4) According to the following and R 223, 23 ff. it seems a Persian sect with Christ- to be a light impact. The spelling NiNpin läfte a form jazöqaja and jazzūqājā to. Remarkable is the similarity of the form with Natwpaios as with Zassoukaios, and perhaps she is influenced by these forms. That the name has something to do with 'leğai, the ι The name of the brother of Elxai (Brandt, Rel., p. 127; Elchasai, p. 130), faith i don't. According to Andreas, the word is Persian and can be attributed to the nominative case yazvā of an Old Iranian tribe yazvan , "worshipper" with Middle Iranian k-suffix.

b) In Mandaean, a pun.

They sit over magic and witch haunts,
they twist the hearts,
they trap people in the world.
Anyone who listens to your speech,
falls into the doomsday.

The gate that Kewān created,
fear the days and hours').
They fear the days and the hours
and sit there fasting every day.
Every day they sit there fasting
and bring forth false prophets.
They became Faster and Faster,
they are sitting on a lie.
You are sitting on a lie
and bring forth (false) wisdom from their understanding.
You and the unmarried and holy ones") in total
they will come to an end on the day of the end.
Anyone who listens to your speech,
will not look at the place of light.

From the gate that Angel created,
whom all the world calls Bel,
from the gate that Bel created,
are all Vögte and . . . . . .") emanate.
From it are the Vögte and ... . emanate,
who are used to anger in the tibil.
Daily, everyday
sit on the throne of indignation.

---

1) i.e. their constellations. One does not have here in the sense of "worship" ongrab it.

2) The Mandaeans do not use the word N2TNp for their own religious, butdern use it only ironically for the Christian "saints", see also above, p. 50, 2.

3) The words N and N denote rulers whose closer Cha- rakter is insecure. Zimmern remarks on the two words: Cf. for this event. the rēdū, in the Hammurabi period, for example, "follower", but later apparently also a name for a higher degree, for example, 'officer'. Everything about it is safe with A. WaLther, The old Babylonian court system, 1917 (Lpz. Sem. Stud. VI 4/6), pp. 173ff., especially since- even Anm. 3 on page 173. Walther also refers to the position at Thureau-Dangin, Huitième Campagne de Sargon, Paris 1912, p. 8/9, z. 33, where unindirectly mentioned next to each other are šakkanakki u rēdē muma'irūt māti-šu ,,les préfets et officiers qui administrent son pays." Similar to ibid., pp. 56/57, Z. 367 (amel) šūt- rešē-ja u (amel) rēdī-ja ,,nes fonctionnaires (eig. my et mes officiers." You could come up with the idea of the NaID, if it is not otherwise satisfactory the explanation is [cfr. Nöld. MG. 76 on NoRBERG's compilation with pD], as an entpresented borrowing from šakanakku to consider.

They tie up, beat, whip, throw down and ask out the one who acts for your love, but it is not completely [run.
They hit him with leather whips;
for this they are to be whipped with fire whips.
Gagging, tying and hanging, will not look at the place of light.
Who drives their follies,
will fall down without getting up again.
He will fall down without getting up again,
he will come to an end on the day of the end.

The gate that Nerig created,
it was created entirely in lies.
She was created entirely in a lie, and they are wandering [122] in the desert egg in the world. In the desert egg they roam around the world and show their follies to the world.
The Hmurtbās who emerge from it,
are used over the anger in the tibil.
They commit murder
and shed blood.
He who called them together'),
advances at the head of the war platoon.
At the head of the war train he strides,
to shed blood in the world.
On the day he commits a murder,
he is more than happy about the murder alş about a benefit.
On the day he commits a murder, er2) and laughs in his mind. On the day when he does not commit murder,
his body is stained with bitter herb.
The gate that Nerig created,
will come to an end on the day of the end.

I taught you about the planets
and about the gates that they created in the world.
I have taught you about their works:
all of them were created incorrectly.
All of them") were created incorrectly:
Hatred, jealousy and discord.

---

1) Again ambiguously, sielie p. 324.

*) This is written there, but is hardly original.

") Sorry. have a party.

I have taught you the secrets of the Seven and I have taught you about the twelve stars, who made this division.
When they made the division,
they shared among themselves').
When they gave the Ram his share,
assign him a number of years.
They shared it as a share
twelve thousand years too.
They shared years with the Bull,
eleven thousand years in number.
The twins shared years as a share, ten thousand years in number. They shared years with the cancer as a share,
nine thousand years in number.
To the lion they divided as a share years,
eight thousand years in number.
The Ãhre they divided as a share of years,
seven thousand years in number.
The dare they shared as a share of years,
six thousand years in number.
They shared years with Scorpio as a share, [123] five thousand years in number. To the Sagittarius they divided as a share years,
four thousand years in number.
To Capricorn, they shared as a share years,
three thousand years in number.
To Aquarius they divided as a share years,
two thousand years in number.
They divided the fish as a share of years,
a thousand years in number.

When she distributed her years
and had made their likeness in the worlds*),
did you say: ,,We want ... . each . . . .
one individually will find the whole world").
We want to send out twelve calls,
from which twelve images are to emanate. --
From the call that the Ram called,
should all animals arise.

---

1) See also R 379.
") See p. 99°.
") is probably disfigured. Instead, you might have to read.
Sorry. has subscription notn5.

All animals should arise,
whose call became the evil call.
He cried out for evil, he said, Let me have a share in the world. - –
From the call that the bull called,
every kind of evil beast arose.
The evil animals are created by him, who spew from their mouths'),
spew the sputum from her mouth,
those who chew with their mouths,
because you have your inner glow*)
out of your stomach").
The creatures of these two stars correspond to each other. -–
From the call that the twins called,
all the demons have come out.
The demons have come out of him,
they all have altars.
They hold the altars,
you have the banks*). - –
From the call that cancer called,
all the toothed animals have come out"). From it the toothed beast has emerged, that was created for evil for the world. - From –
the call that the lion called,
all wild animals have come out.
From him the wild beast has emerged,
which is sent out against the living beings").
It is sent out against the living beings°),
and they cause horror in the world. - –
From the call that the Ähre
called, all the fruits have come out.
From it [124] the fruits, grapes and trees have come forth,
which are emblazoned in the world. -–

---

1) This is probably the meaning of the word, which can only be found at this point. To ND 3, "sipping" does not belong to woll. 2) Or: poison.

°) Nnu ,,Stomach", also R 204, 9 and Asfar Malwvaše 112, 3 (NaND ,,stomach-pain"), belongs to pers. gwārīden ,,digest".

4) Sorry. in the sense of "shore", ONE certainly occurs R 184, 15, see Nöld., p. 115, 9. Hüufiger finds NT9 for this. Of demons that sit on shores, is in the old lead tablets, the speech is more often, see, for example, the quotation Joh. II, p. 1528.

b) The biting and stinging animals.

o) It stands there, so actually, "souls". More often the Mandaeans, and it is possible that the author here also refers only to the Mandaeans 1 in the See also p. 140, 26.

From the call that the dare called,
all water fruits have come out').
From him the bad fruits have come forth,
the worlds (beings) are carried to the grave. From the call that the scorpion called, all the evil creepers have come out. From it the evil creepers have emerged, who kill the living beings with their anger. - From the call that the shooter shouted,
all anger has come out.
From him the great, evil anger has come forth,
by which all beings are prostrated. From the call that the Capricorn called,
all livestock has come out.
From him the beast of cattle has come forth,
whose wings are weaker than those of the birds*).-
- From the call that Aquarius called,
the wrongness has emerged.
There is wrongness out of him,
from him came lack and failure. - From the call that the fish called,
all the fish have come out.
From it the fish and dolphins have emerged,
everything has become evil from him.

All these things have come out of the twelve stars,
they say, 'We want to pick up the trunk of life."
The seven stars came and divided them into parts").
They divided them into parts and created the vehicles at the heart of the sky. Whatever they all like to do, they say: ,,We want to pick up the trunk of life, let us lift up the trunk of life.",
who rise daily to quarrel:
the planets don't know,
the children of the empty apartment,
that, they may also have made the division,
i have divided their own tribes.

---

1) Siche p. 377. In sorrow. missing N2. Is it even possible to tell why the fruits of the water, so NV̄ is probably still original here, because of the bad fruits cannot be said to be "all fruits" without further ado.

2) In the last sentence, the domestic poultry is meant.

a) See above, p. 134, 13.

I have divided their tribes.
Some of them are to be used for plowing,
others are to be used for slaughter,
others for riding, others for eating.
All the calls you have called out,
they called Adams.
Because they all
they got their smell from the sacrifices').
They who have called out,
they should wander there*), [125] they are to obey Adam,
obey his whole tribe.

When I was so against the planets,
they no longer had a language.
When I showed it to Adam,
he rejoiced and was pleased beyond measure.
I went with the Uthras, my brothers and taught Adam and all his tribe.
I spoke to you:
,,Practice good works
and provide you with travel food.
Let the call of life be heard, so that your name may be established in the house of the mighty [be.
Speak in pure speeches,
so that you may be established in salvation") as pure.
Speak in kindness
and don't say a damn thing. Worship and praise the great (life)
and the great light that has gone here.
Worship and praise the Uthras,
so that they may be your helpers,
A helper and a support
from the place of darkness to the place of light*). ‘

Blessed be life, blessed be Manda dHaije, blessed be your name, Šilmai and Nidbai, Hibil, Šitil and Anoš. Life is victory-rich in all works. The victory was won by Jawar-Zīwā and his helpers.

This is the book of the living, first doctrine.

---

1) The word is relieved only at this point. I see in it the Babylonian niqu. The variant would be participle ...Sacrificial."

e) See above, p. 244.

3) About the writing siele Johi. II, p. 46°.

4) Siche anch Lit... p. 212 ob,

Fourth book.

Bine's unclear and fragmentary description of Hibil-Zīwā's descent into the world of Darkness, which often touches with the following tractate. The great life will but the supreme being appears to be the Lord of Greatness, who is also the King of Light is called. Before the descent, Hibil-Zīwā is worshipped by the Lord of Greatness and Mandā dHaijē done in the Jordan. In the representation are inserted pieces from the liturgies. Therefore the treatise is also used liturgically, according to the in Anm. 3 of the above mentioned the Tanfe of the aspiring priests.

In the name of the great life, may a remission of sins be granted to me NN, my wife NN and my children NN, NN, and their name will be erected in the treasure house of Jāwar-Zīwā.

In the name of the great life.

Whether Kušṭā is good [126] for the good')

and Manda dHaije for the sons of salvation??)

This is the mystery, the book, the teaching, and the first, life- this is the teaching that has always been").

When the first life pondered and Manda created dHaije and Manda dHaije Hibil-Zīwā created this one thousand times a thousand years ago the Lord of greatness, and was hidden in their midst*). Hibil-Uthra one day he will go to Krūn, the great mountain of flesh, and to the three Worlds of darkness"), the ancient ones, which the sword does not take away, the Fire is not consumed, which do not sink in the floods of water°). Those Krun, the great Meat Mountain, and the 366 Dews who live with him: from to those Dews, that being named Ur, the Lord of darkness, is distinguished-

---

1) Sorry. "for the good ones".

2) Payment to L 118, 3. See also Lit., p. 81 l. ult.

a) In the margin it says: This lecture and the teaching is for the Jordan (for baptism) student.

4) Among the aforementioned beings.

") According to the description in the following book, there are more worlds of darkness.

") Here the three world catastrophes are alluded to, see above, p. 27f.

go. His father has the name Gaf and other numerous names. From his first-born son, namely that great One, the five go'), if the seven go out, the twelve come out, which together are twenty-four Dews are. Out of the outpouring and confusion, when he came to his mother went, Karkum arose. When he is in the Tibil, the worlds call him 5 and generations of Bar-Sfag2).

But we"), with our power, as well as the life and Uthras, with the power of the King of Light, rejoice of the gentle Uthra*), of the consolidated Firstborn, whom we conceived and created with our splendor, with with which we clothe him, with the light with which we cover him, with the Strength and the firmness that we grant him. We send it against all the evildoers who think evil against us [127], and against Ur, the Lord the darkness that rises above us. This Uthra grabs him, squeezes tie him down, tie him up and bind him, hand him over to the lower copper earth, and surround it with seven iron walls. Until Ptahil comes, Greek artfully seals the earth"), stretches out the firmament, builds the house") and all the evil ones who are thinking of evil are eliminated, so long as the bondage remains, tied with the Hibil-Zīwā Ur, pass.

Then Hibil-Zīwā goes to all the worlds of darkness, he go to Krūn, the great mountain of flesh, and do all evil to him. Krūn, the great meat mountain, Hibil-Ziwa lets look fear, dread and horror, but Hibil-Zīwā is not afraid of him, and Krūn is-throw.

Then Zihrūn-Uthra'), whose name is Jösmīr-Kannā, speaks to Jadatan, the man who gives this enlightenment, who from the little finger the Lord of greatness has come forth. In the name of that Uthra were two other Uthras, Adatan and Jadatan, which on the day of whom the first Jordan baptized Hibil-Zīwā, as his helpers called forth be. Then six others were evoked: Šitil and Anoš, Šilmai and Nidbai, Adakas-Mānā and the great mystery, whose name is Jofin-Uthra is.

It went with him*) the great, first shine that came out of the robe of the The Lord of Greatness came out. All the worlds of light and darkness he created a boundary. He closed the gates, climbed on the bolts"), and

---

1) See above, p. 134.

2) as a subject at Abvanp anch text 120, 24; 121, 13.

") Mandā dHaijē speaks.

4) This is Hibil. °) See above, p. 89.

6) The earthly world.

7) An inserted Brnehstück, which stands without any connection with the previous one.

8) With Hibil-Zīwā.

") This is probably the meaning of the R145, 13. Zimmern writes to me: ,, N is probably the borrowed gamiru, gameru, synon. gišru ,,part of the door- lock or key" at Delitzsch, Handwürt. 201a. The word comes as a rare Only at the two vocabulary points mentioned by Delitzsch. because it the passport (passport) and the great mystery that we gave him with-were given: [128] every warlike Dew, who saw that passport, pressed his seal on it. He created peace in all worlds of light, which is unlimited and are endless.

When I told all these things, the secret and revealed and said'), I worshiped, praised and glorified the Lord of Greatness according to the wisdom and knowledge and what else life has given me informed. Those thousand years I was before the Lord of Greatness, by i lay stretched out on my face. Then the Lord called me He took hold of me by the surface of my right hand, and directed me from my situation. Then the Lord spread the greatness of his Shine on me, gave me of his light and put me around the Head a wreath of victories from light-filled arbor. Was created also shine and light to all Uthras, created all Uthras vestments, he made a robe for the Lord of greatness.

Then the Lord of greatness arose and created at his right hand 444 Škinās and to his left 366 Škīnās. From each individual Škinā he then created 1800000 myriads of Uthras that are worth and miraculous, whose radiance is wondrous, whose light is bright and luminous, through whose Shine the lights flicker*) and shine the lights that shine in front of you. In each individual Škinā has two bodyguards, and two Lights shine in front of it.

What is the name of the Chief Guardian of the 444 Skinās? How is the Whose name is the 366 Škīnās?

[129] The head of the 444 Škinas bears the name Barbag-Uthra, also Azazēl by name. That of the 366 Škīnās is called Anan-Nşab, also Taurel-Uthra by name. With the name Taurel-Uthra") he created himself at the beginning of the first creation, whenthen he created all uthras.

Manda dHaije and the Lord of Greatness arose and ascended down to the Jordan, and (the Lord of greatness) prepared*) baptism. As he wanted to baptize the sprightly Uthra, the tall, well-equipped Uthra, the great Jordan turned to the Lord of Greatness, spoke and spoke with him: 'Who is this Uthra whom you want to baptize in me, who you and your image") was baptized in me? Then, as the living water the brightness and light of Hibil-Ziwā, the brightness, the light and the

---

in the second place it is just called together with medilu ,"bars". probably the the latter do not mean, say, keys".

1) Again, follow the previous one, the speaker is Hibil-Ziwā.

4) Read narn.

8) Again, the ambiguity of wap is disturbing, since it is ,call, call", like ,,her- you can ask for it, you can ask for it.

4) So here, too, "called forth".

5) The "image" of the deity appears by name in the following piece as her feminine Paredros. One is entitled to the designation of the Tanit, the Carthaginian Caelestis, as the "face of Baal" pointed out, siche Brandt, Schr., p. 137.

The glory of Manda dHaije and the olive rod of living water- who had been created from Jokašar-Kannā, joked about it and did not keep still, hopped and turned back and forth, equal to the waves in Sindiriawis, the great Jordan of life.

Then the Lord of greatness said to the great Jordan: 'You, great Jordan of life, remain calm and firm in your place, for Hibil-Zīwä shall be baptized in you." Then the great Jordan of life turned did not depart from the words of the Lord of Greatness and departed from his speech not off. The Jordan of living water stopped, and Hibil-Zīwä was baptized in him. Hibil-Ziva was baptized, were baptized with him his two brothers'), baptized four others, who are called Great. He baptized the three Uthras, who [130] are his brothers and his helpers*).

When he baptized all those who were with him, when he stood in the Jordan with to his Creator, the Lord of greatness, he spoke, sang a song about the And Jordan spoke:

,,At the top") of the water I pulled out,
at the head of the fizz of life I went here. I founded three Škinās
and appointed guardians over them.
The guardians I used over them,
are wondrous, blessed and enduring". Then*) Manda dHaije consolidated the baptism. He then got out of the Jordan and closed Kuštā with the Great ones. And the Lord of greatness, as Manda dHaije got out of the Jordan and his brothers who made his atonement "), he, the Lord of greatness, responded to Manda dHaije and spoke to him:

,,Your shine is bright,
and your light shines.
The disciples shine through your splendor,
and her figure shines more than all the world."
He called to Hibil and spoke to him: ,,I hear the voice of Hibil-Zīwā, who speaks and lectures at the place of light, the voice of his speech, which is lovely.
My heart was awakened to me, became full of praise.
My heart was awakened to me, and my soul rejoiced,
my mind rejoices and flaunts,
and my heart rejoices beyond measure.

---

1) Šitil and Anoš.

2) Three Uthras next to Hibil anch above, p. 26, 25.

8) See Lit., p. 149, LXXXII.

1) Siche Lit., p. XXIII f.

5) The higher beings are more often called brothers and sons of others at the same time, this is to express their complete similarity.

I jump and am happy about the works,
the Hibil-Zīwā,
and those who come through his hand excellently."

He protected him, strengthened him, equipped him, blessed him and spread 5 of his mercy upon him. He gave shine to Hibil-Zīwā, then called Šitil, strengthened him and spoke to him:

,,Keep, keep, Šitil-Uthra,
that your speech is that of the demons.
Let your speech be our speech, be connected with us and don't get cut off." He gave Šitil light, then called Anoš, strengthened him and spoke to him: ,,You were blessed [131] by the four Uthras who sit in mutual splendor"). They baptized you with their baptism and clothed you with garments of yours." He gave Anoš brightness and gave him rich splendor, just like his two brothers.

Then the great lamp that shines over all the worlds spoke, she spoke and he spoke to the Lord of greatness. The name of this lamp is Jattir-Jathrūn; she has 360 names. She spoke to him:

,,Whose is this shine?2)
Whose is this light?
Whose is this brightness?debit

To this he replied to her:

,,This gloss belongs to Hibil,
this light belongs to Šitil,
this brightness belongs to Anoš-Uthra"),
which is vast and endless."

The King of Light sealed them'), he sealed them in a perfect way. He called Šilmai and Nidbai, laid his rights on them, blessed them with his Blessing and spoke to him"): "We are pleased with this picture, which created turned 30." They then called R'ham-Rāzā and Adakas-Mānā and his helpers. They created a cloud for them, so that the Uthras could take their form did not look, and said to them: ,,The Uthras sang hymns in their Glory, and you great ones rejoice in your enlightenment. The light Cloud rejoices and flaunts. '

As a man . . .. ")came, he sat down. light- the king sealed his helpers, his brothers, who are his sons. He sealed Sindiriawis, the great Jordan of life in which no one will be baptized

---

1) Cf. also R 335, 4. a) Cf. Lit., p. 245, XXIIf.

3) Sorry. has name (for child): the great Uthra.

4) Hibil, Šitil and Anōš.

8) Hardly only one of the two geniuses is meant here; one probably has ואמארלון,,and spoke to them" to read.

°) A word of cosmic significance, the meaning of which cannot be determined with certainty wait, see Joli. II, p. 662.

cant. He said to them: 'We have been blessed by the goodness of the great (life) and they put your mercy in order. We created the the Great Jordan of Life and the 360 Jordans in which Hibil-Ziwa lived-was baptized."

Then Manda dHaije spoke to the great (life), [132] that made him ge- he said, 'May we have this first-born Son, whom I- create, send to the world of evil." Then his image said") to him: ,Do not take (too early) an end!") How can you, my son" name it!" To which he replied to her: "If I don't, my son" who shall call him "my son"?" He then spoke to Hibil-Zīwa, the head of the whole family: 'How we created you so create the Uthras, your brothers, so that they may go to the treasure be careful of life. When you go to the darkness, take the power the swift dove."

Then Hibil-Zīwā arose, went and subdued the Ver- common ones. He did something to the mighty fiends that they hated was. He saw Rüha dQudšā pregnant with the lapsed fiend was. She was pregnant with the King of darkness, and they say: ,,We want the lords of all worlds, the upper, middle and lower be." I saw the king of darkness, as my parents told me. [I submitted] Rūhā, Hewath*) the wife, the mother of the invalid and-hold. I submitted to the King of darkness, whose mother says:,,We they want to be the masters of all worlds." I created a great Compaction and set up ....") above him, where I see the world straighten. I cursed Hewath the wife, the mother of the lapsed And said to her: 'Your curse and your blessing be yours only a fraction of°). Your sons and Ptahil-Uthra shall enter this world-straighten. It was only as a result of the plan of Jošamīn') that I came to you. I came to you and did something hateful to the darkness. Because without I have done what my parents ordered me to do. Because [133] a son who does not listen to the speech of his parents*) will be here at held you back. However, I obeyed and accepted and did not hit in the wind, what my parents ordered me. Yes, I listened to your speech, i accepted them and went and judged them in the treasure of the Uthras, who Keeper of the treasure, the pillars of the whole palace. Kuštā I took

---

1) Cf. Lit., pp. 51, 6.

3) i.e. scine woman, see p. 1445.

3) The wendnng is only found at this point. It is probably related to לאתימיתאי מותא בישא ,"do not die a terrible death" R 161, 6.

4) See above, p. 711.

5) See to NINEYND above, p. 89°. ,,Drain pipe, gutter" do not palt here.

d) Let anf fall back on you.

7) On the plan of the Jõšamīn and its illumination against the world of light, see Joh. II, p. 16 et seq., 28 and here is the third book.

8) Sorry. has Annanenä nnwa.

in my rights and went to the world of darkness. Able firm in faith, the others kept themselves in the world of darkness back. Those who have stood firm in the faith, rise up and look at the Place of light. Those who did not stand firm in the faith will be on the day of Finally put an end to it."

Manda dHaije spoke and said: 'This battle that took place took place Because of Jošamīns. For everyone who builds a house and before that a The mosque  [1]).“

Anyone who prays this treatise and does not The hearts and the lips of believers will be turned away from the way before him."- will be cut. Anyone who has a sincere heart and by reciting the lips of believers, one will become a forgiver of sins and offenses get.

Praise be to Manda dHaije and his helpers Hibil, Šitil and Anoš and Silmai and Nidbai. And life is victorious for all eternity.

---

1) The rest is probably deleted out of consideration for the Muslims.

2) Who rises to the light before him.

Fifth book.

In the name of the great, strange life from the worlds of light, which he- the one who is above all works will be healed and victorious, Strength and firmness, speech and hearing, and a remission of sins me and my wife ... And her name will be raised in the house of life.

First piece.

The most important piece of Mandaean scripture about the descent of the Savior in underworld. Whereas in the main part of the third book it is Mandā dHaijē, which is for Battles with the subterranean ones, it is in this piece Hibil-Zīwā that in it he appears as the son of Mandā dHaijē. In the characterization of the sinister forces, the description of their activities and their behavior to the unearthly, strange man against- iber, the representation shows a height that otherwise does not reach in the Mandaean literature shall. Despite the enormity of the fiends and the awareness of their power, they feel yet standing deep beneath the being of Light, and this comes in her submissive, servant- to express eagerness to him enthrallingly. The treatise is also rich like no other on mythical trains. Nevertheless, it is also not introductory, and the presentation will disturbed by contradictions and rows of parallel trains. The narrative is also not completely; the beginning is torn off and without a head. The revision of the The beginning is also shown by the fact that Hibil-Zīwā is told in the third person, while Hibil speaks of himself in the first person as the play progresses. As supreme beings appear to the Mānā and his image as his female comrade (see p. 1446). But besides them, life is called, and as a female being, the nituftā. life, the nituftā are also combined in places with the Mānā and its image, so that a trinity is formed. Probably originally in a version Mānā was in addition to his image, called life in another, and which belonged to Nituftā, probably also secondary to this. The purpose of the Descensus also stands out from the current presentation not sharp enough, it can only be opened up: the Mānās learn that in the underworld a being is to be born who will take up a struggle with the world of light; the let the Redeemer oppose. The birth of evil seems to have been fixed and the- sin is inevitable; the Savior can only be entrusted with the task of doing me as little harm as possible- to lich. He descends into the underworld with an army helper and leaves to draw on the birth of evil as far as possible, then to give it its power take and put him in shackles. How the power of Hibil in the "great mystery" bestelit, the the strength of the subterranean is also given to him from the world of light, so is the strength of the subterranean, which is hidden in the underworld and which Hibil is supposed to rob. In the Ver- in the course of the narrative, various objects are named, probably according to the different- the sources. First of all, it is a mrārā and gimrā, the meaning of which is not determined leaves (still only Gimrā), then a magic mirror, then a crown, finally a pearl. Hibil robs these items, and ilm manages to put Ur in shackles. Here p. 173, 31 as well as above, p. 143, 15, it is only briefly indicated that the bondage of Urs should last until the the earthly world is created. On this occasion, with the help of the Seven and twelve, who give birth to Rüha from him in spite of his bondage, free themselves and become äpxwv toi kóoyov toútov upswing. But this will not be completed, but will be briefly narrated that Abathur receives his image and his son in Ptahil and that the latter Abathur's invitation creates the earth in spite of Hibil's warning. Rühā gives birth to the Seven and Twelve, Hibil comes to terms with this and assigns the planets their position in the world. With Ilrer's help, Hibil also creates the first human couple.

The content of this section is in PeterMann, Reisen im Orient II, p. 450 ff. reproduced. Siouffr's Gewährsmann also narrates the main features of the play with strangers Trains mixed in (p. 48 ff.). Based on Brandt's translation Schr., p. 137 ff. addiction Bousset, Hauptprobleme, p. 244 et seq., to analyze the content, see also Brandt, Rel., pp. 29, 213 ff.

In the name [134] of the strange life from the worlds of light, which he- it is above all works.

This is the mystery, the Book and the secret prayer'). Because life hid the speech of the Mandā dHaije when he spoke before the Mānā and his image and expressed the revelation before life, that a dew from Siniavis, the lower earth of darkness, aspired to ascend*). When Manda dHaije said this, life and the Mānā and his An image of him: "Why are you sitting there, you treasurer") and our eldest Son? Get up, get down, go and do what you wish.

When Manda dHaije heard this from them, Manda Dhaije bowed, stretched out before them and said to them: 'I want to get up

---

1) Instead of I would rather assume: the secret Lelire, see e.g. text 126, 3. 2) Sorry. Anny did.

a) This name is attached to him as the keeper of secrets and mysteries. Probably for the same reason, the word also serves as a designation for the high priest the Mandaean.

and the treasurer'), your son, the plant that you planted, the The image that you have formed from your hiding place, your egg*), from that Jordan, whom you attracted and ……….,from the Tannā") and the vein call your place."

When Manda dHaije spoke like this, his voice was heard in all worlds gelisten carefully. He got up, baptized and brought his son to those*) and his likeness. ‚Father, where are we going?" asked this iln. On this ant- he said to him: "Come on, come on, I want to give you the image of Manā") and Manā and show his great, hidden image, which was revealed to all Uthras in 365 hidden, vast worlds and eggs of light is hidden." Then his son, who is his brother, said to Manda dHaije: "Where i am afraid, this first image, that image of the Mānā and the Manā and his hidden image, which [135] is hidden from all the world, to look!" To which his father, who is his brother, replied to him: 'Me have sent them with a swift step, and I have come to you; why are you sitting now, beloved son, there, to the man ,the splendor of life acted and had success and 'passed' as a name? Now up! Let us go and see the face of those honored manas look."

When his father said this, that gentle, steady son liked it. He took hold of his father by the right hand and went with him until he reached the Hiding and laying eggs of beings, tremendous glory came. When he the first life and Mānā and his image said to him: 'What do you Jāwar-Kbar, son of Manda dHaije"), who opens our foreheads the Haupte flicht 8)?“

To this he replied to them: "Well, you searched") and found; search again and again. I got up and brought your son." Since they said to him: 'Open up, lead him in and bring him so that we may and he sees us."

---

1) Here it is a designation for Hibil-Zīwā.

2) In general, protein" is often found by name as a source and source of-the place of standing of spiritual beings, see Joh. II, p. 2087.

a) A word of uncertain origin. There is a lot of talk about this, since the NINN melt, it is also otherwise associated with heat, so it may be from תאנורא 'Furnace' shortened.

4) Sorry. hat וציבה ואתיה.

b) It is unclear who this image is supposed to be, maybe life, continue to be secure.

9) See above, p. 1456.

7) Brandt correctly notes that the address is addressed to Mandā dHaijē himself, who also answers afterwards. For Kbar, see also above, p. 67, 19, who is there with Mandā dHaijē is identified. Jāwar means "helper".

8) Actually, the horns. The curls of the forehead are placed around the head like a wreath-braided and form an ornament of the head; also stands on wreaths. expression: found more often: R 178, 10; 257, 14; 373, 5; L 42, 15; Joh. 51, 5. Here's the point, dal he is their adornment, and he is their adornment.

") Lies ביתון.

And he arose, and went, and brought him in, and brought him before those venerable Mānās. When Hibil, the future Mānā'), entered them, he was afraid of them, because their splendor was miraculous, their light bright- and no one is able to see her figure, because her shine 5, and their light is great.

When the two expensive Mānās*) and the first image caught sight of me"), they put me in front of them, kissed and tasted me. However, I stretched i went before them, worshipped and praised that image. A thousand years ago i stretched out in front of it until that man with his right hand reached out to me- 10 he took hold of me, lifted me up from my position, and said, 'Get up, Mānā Hibil-Zīwā, whom we have called. Don't be afraid." Also the Ab- image of the great Mānā put his hand on me, Hibil-Zīwā.

Then they opened their mouths and said: [136] ,,Why sit you there? Get up, we want to baptize you in 360000 Jordans and with 360') Wear 15 garments." They covered him with covers, one of which each was more miraculous than the other. They got up, baptized him in 360,000 Jordanians and spoke secret names about him, one of which each was more miraculous than the other. They guarded me a thousand My- riads endless years. I stayed with them in that hidden egg until 20 i grew up and became like them.

Then my father laid his hand on me, Hibil-Jāwar - he had his name Jawar") - and created a world for me, extended and endlessly. In that world he created ten thousand times a thousand light for me- and created for me 360°) huge, inner') Jordans. In each individual 25 He created 360,000 Uthras for me, in each individual škīnā he created 360,000 uthras for me 360000 Škinās. Each world was different (from the other), and her brilliance, her enlightenment and her praise were miraculous).

My father gave me his robe with which he was created the robe in which he had received baptism was also a ver- 30 he gave me a borrowed mystery, which is guarded by the great ones, and they languages"): "Go, go, our Son and our image, whose splendor is miraculoussamer is greater than that of all Uthras. The place you go to: heavy 10) wait for you in those worlds of darkness. Generations over

---

1) For the use of Nnny in Mandaean, see Lit., p. 2511. It says ,ready (to enter into the appearance), in the future". For the time being, the beings are still otherworldly, and so the meaning of the word roughly coincides with that of "NIN2 or נוכראיא.

2) Life and the great Mānā.

a) From here on Hibil-Zīwā speaks in the first person, but the narrative falls more often back to the third person.

4) Sorry. has 360000.

6) See above, p. 1517. °) Sorry. has 360000.

7) Belonging to the overworld, not emerging from it.

8) See above, p. 552.

") According to the following, the parents are intended as a subject.

10) Cf. Nöld., pp. 40, 5.

You will stay there for generations until we forget you. Your figure will stay there until we read you the Funeral mass."

When he heard this from his parents, he bowed and stretched [137] stood before them and said to them: 'Well done! With your, my Parents, strength and the great mystery that is kept by you, with thanks to the strength of my father Manda dHaije, well, I want to open up and go to the place where you send me.'

So Hibil-Manā-Jāwar spoke. His father goes and comes with him, and his two brothers') go with him. They read hymns, prayers and Orders of prayer, her heart hopped before her father, and her father hopped his inner self, and he said: 'There is no one like me to whom his parents, the great Mānās, such hidden sprouts evoked and created have." '

Her father leaves and wanders with them until he reaches the place of the two There is a boundary between light and darkness. His father is then he said to him, 'Go, my son Hibil and your two brothers, who accompany you. They should come with the gmade that your father prepare for you"). To this Hibil replied to his father, the pure Mānā: ,,Someone whom his Father arms, seals, baptizes and strengthens, needs the Not to be afraid of bad guys." His father did not hug him and kissed him not. Then he said to his father: "If you hugged me, come very sorry about me*)." When his father heard this from Hibil, he bowed he strengthened and strengthened him. His father then set off°) and went to the Mānā and his image.

I Jawar-Hibil now said: 'Well done! With your, my parents, strength and with the power of the great mystery and the helpers who help me-sliding, I want to descend to the darkness."'

As I now descend and put my feet in the black water and on the walls that separate darkness and light, (put) they retreated a thousand miles in front of me, and I managed to get into the first world of darkness, [138] in which Ruhā dwelt. In that world I lived for a thousand and a thousand years, and no one knew about me that I there was. In this world I was hidden from their eyes.

Then the great mystery that had been given to me said: 'We

---

1) Šitil and Anōš.

2) Light and darkness each have their own boundary. pon could be also, "between the two borders" can be translated, but ,"border place" is gerade in this pieces frequently.

8) Well read. is influenced by the following and after that, too, abounded.

4) NDy can hardly be understood here in a different sense than above, p. 152, 33. The Meaning of the sentence is obscure.

") Actually: looked out for his way. The expression has solidified and become-also draws the departure. He can only be found a few times in this treatise, except here still text 158, 17; 164, 8, 23.

want to go down." Then I got under this world and came in the world of the great Zartai-Zartanai; to which things his form resembles, I don't know. Then I said to them, 'You see, Uthras, my brothers, what things does the form of this zartai-Zartanai resemble?t I spoke then to him: 'Let this form of yours be bound and held down, tender-Zartanai, and that of your wife Amamit."'

Years after years and generations after generations I was there, and they did not know about me that I lived there in their world. Light being were with me, and we carried orders of prayer, prayers and masses for the dead 10 ago. Her heart leaped at her enlightenment and her praise. Day day by day, this rises to life and mana and its great, first The image that created life. I told myself that when I Life, my father, and therefore do not sit in front of these figures I need to be afraid.

Then I left Zartai-Zartanai, left and went to other Worlds, those of the Hag and the Mag, the two Mānās of darkness, whose magic is greater than that of all beings of darkness. From the World of the Zartai-Zartanai to the world of the Hag and the Mag are a thousand Miles without number. I spoke:

,,Who brought me here,
and you, my foot, who let you climb up here?")c

I went and found these two mighty manas of darkness, Hag the man and like [139] the woman. In that world I was sixty- a thousand myriad years. In that world I saw her and knew what was in went before her heart.

I then left her, broke up and came to another world, the of Gaf and of Gafau, the mighty giants of darkness who Source of the black, hissing, bubbling water emerged which boils like boiling cauldrons, bubbles and rises to a height. Of 30 from the world of the Hag and the Mag to the world of the Gaf and the Gafan are a hundred thousand myriad miles without number and account.

When I saw Gaf and Gafan, - their shape is inverted shapes; they are like dragons, and their wives are like salamanders, - said i say to them, 'you are bound and fettered, giants of darkness, and 35 let your body be bound with the great fetter with which the smithy is bound." the fiends captivate. Be bound by your sorcery and your deceit, which you drive. Tied up are your wives, the liliths, the salamanders, the ver- they are ugly, twisted and twisted, whose- and whose chatter no one can bear."

---

1) Probably a quotation from another context, as well as R 263, 1. Therefore, "ascending" is not appropriate here, while "descending" is expected. Free- there is still talk of climbing in some places, where Hibil is still descends lower. 2) instead of a conjecture Nöldeke's, but it doesn't seem safe to me.

I said to the Uthras, my brothers: 'Have you seen which Things these decrepit giants like?" That's what my brothers said, the Uthras: 'How far are the limits of these worlds of darkness and how numerous these giants!" I've been in front of your eyes a thousand times a thousand myriads of years without end and number hidden.

Then he spoke to me') the great mystery that was given to me: Why are we sitting in this place? Let's go up, let's go up") and see what we want to do." We then set out [140] from the world of the Gaf and the Gafan, we wander and go to the world of the Anatan, the And his wife Qin, the Queen, the mistress of the 10 Darkness, which was called "Mother of Darkness", which came from the black "the water is turbid, bubbling, perishable, consuming one another."- who created all the worlds of darkness. From the day when we went to the dark world of the warlike giant Anatan, the they had created, it was a thousand by a thousand miles, a wide, endloose way.

I spoke to the great mystery that had been given to me: ,,Siel Qin and Anatan, the giants of darkness, tell you exactly which Things they like." We sat with them for years and generations without Number and calculation. All the beings that were attached to me, the Uthras and the skinās: (they were there) with hymns, orders of prayer, prayers and Mass for the dead. Her heart rejoiced sicl in them and hopped with joy. Also i was delighted with their joy and the helpers that my parents created for me and from their court they had joined me. I spoke as follows: ,I am sitting by the Manā and his image. Our heart is bouncing and throbbing. That my enlightenment and praise is increasing day by day, hour by hour for Before the hidden Mānā and his image, and before the great, hidden, first Niṭufta"), which existed before the worlds of light."

When I looked and examined these worlds, I said: ,,It will be give me a day when I rise to my father, sit down and with him, I and the Uthras, my brothers who are with have come to me, since I will receive instruction [141] through knowledge and knowledge, enlightenment and praise"), which my parents then they searched and found out about it."

Alš I spoke thus, my brothers and the great mystery spoke, that was added to me: "Now we want to go up"). Why are we sitting in this place without knowing how many years without number we sitting here? We want to open the gate of the three Kings, the fire

---

1) Sorry. has NanDN. 2) See above, p. 1541.

a) In Aramaic, "water" is a plural.

4) Actually, "drop", serves as a designation for female higher beings, see Uthra, p. 538 f., Joh. II, p. 227 and here, p. 149 unt. ")

Read the suffix of the 1st person is indicated by the in דאבאהאתאי affected. a) See above, p. 1541.

do not consume the place where the dust water is, the place where that water is '), the place where the generation of darkness will come to an end and under which there is no one left."

When we had gained clarity and knowledge about this and that, we opened the gates. We opened the first gate and saw and looked at the great Šdūm, the grandson of darkness. We saw that his They were not like the Dews, the giants of darkness.

I, Hibil, now assumed a tall and beautiful form, sat down before him and said: 'Well, in your name, great mystery, in the Names of the hidden, first life, hidden in the hidden place is, in the name of the Mānā and his image, in the name of my Father Manda dHaije and with this enlightenment of the Uthras who are with me, the they are given to me as helpers, they who are given to me in these worlds of darkness Where my parents sent me, well, will i speak to the warlike Sdum, the king of the dark world."

In the joy I felt, I spoke and said to him: ,,Peace with you, warlike Šdum, king of the world." He didn't see me (at first) to. But when I greeted him, he turned around, [142] saw me, raised his eyes, lifted up the waves of his countenance") and spoke: Dec ,,Peace be with you, you man of beautiful figure." I then spoke to him: ,,Just one word I want to talk to you." To this he replied: 'Say, handsome man, whose figure is beautiful and bright."

Then I said to him, 'A Son who comes forth from you, who from your tribe and your root, I want to start a fight and Create turmoil in your world °). What do you say about him?" On this he- that Šdum was disgusted and said, 'I don't know anything. Get down under me; there's someone older than me."

From the day I came to him until the time, since I descended to the great Gew, it was a hundred thousand years.

Then I made myself a man who is more beautiful than her, and he placed me in front of Gew, without him knowing that I was approaching him have. Then I greeted him, to which he replied: 'Peace with you, you Man of beautiful [figure]. What do you want from me?" I spoke to to him: A Son who comes from you, your tribe and your root-, he wants to fight against the worlds of light. What do you say about him?r' To this he replied: 'Get down under me, for I know nothing. From the day I left him and set out to the Days, since I arrived at Karkum*), the great meat mountain, I was sixty thousand myriads of years in that way; how vast and endless! I

---

1) This is there, but does not fit.

2) That is, the prominent places of the face. The turn is also common otherwise, see Lit., p. 151.

a) Means "in our world".

*) See above, p. 143, 5; here incorrectly stands for Krün.

beheld that Krūn, the great mountain of flesh where there are no bones. His appearance is like dust, and the water that is [143] under him is Dust and resembles the dark cloud.

I then approached him, saw him, but remained hidden from his eyes-borrowing - how many years! I told myself: what should I do and what should 5 am I talking to the man, this giant Krun, the great mountain of meat? Then I began to speak and said to him: 'Peace be with you, First-borener, king of darkness, Krūn, great meat mountain."

He did not raise his face, but said: 'Who is this man, who has revealed my name and understood my sign?u On it 10 I told him, 'I'm Hibil. Life has sent me here, and i came to you. A thousand times a thousand years, endless and numerous-loose generations, years after years, I have come to you." He spoke then to himself: ,,It is life that does not pass, and the shine and the light that is not cut off." ,What did it command you?" 15 he asked. To this I replied to him: 'Life gave me the task and said to me: 'Go and say to him: A son who is of you, your The root of your tribe and your consort, want to stir up in throwing the worlds of light against us. What do you say about him?u

Then he said"): 'Go, or I'll devour you." When he was so 20 I was sitting, Hibil-Ziva, in a trough of swords, sabers, Steel skewers, knives and blades and told him: ,,Devour me." Since he said, "Now I'll devour you" and devoured me halfway. Then he spit me out and threw me out. He spewed drool from his mouth, because the intestines, the liver and the kidneys were cut up for him"). ,,Which is 25 shall I," he cried, "do with the man who has come to me, whom the Sent life?" Then he turned to me and said, 'You be strong, [144] we are weaklings, you are gods, we are menschen, you are big, we are small."

I then said to him, 'Come on, give me a pab." He stood at 30 and swore to me on the day he was created: 'I will do not deceive yourself, but I will go to my treasure house and tell you bring a passport from my treasure house."

Then he got up and brought me a passport. Then he brought the The signet ring that was hidden in his treasure house, on which the name 35 the great darkness was written and depicted, which was hidden, whom he had not seen from the day he was created and said, 'Well, I grant you that all beings who have see, if you show them this passport, seal it."

---

1) Who could pronounce my name openly.

*) Here it still says "to yourself", which mistakenly got here from Z. 14.

8) An old and widespread motif, which here perhaps refers to the myth of the struggle Marduks with which Tiāmat goes back, see Hans Schmidt, Jona, 1907, p. 26 and Bousset, Main Problems, p. 246.

When he gave it to me, I took it and hid it in seven- - walls. Then I climbed up and came to his brother, the great Desired. I showed him, and he sealed it. When he confirmed that pass salı he put on it the seal of his brother.

I then took him and ascended to the great Šdum, the giant, who lies there in his world and fidgets. He's sitting on ...') by fire, and the fire serves him. I showed it to him and spoke to him: ,,See the passport that I brought to you from your parents." I got he showed it to him, and he sealed it. ,,See ," I said to him, Oct ,,what your parents sent you. Then he said, "Blessed be the day you came."

I then left him and ascended to those upper worlds. I sealed the gate in front of Šdum. In that world I had a thousand times a thousand Sat for years.

Then I approached the world of Anatan and Qin and stayed there. I have been in that world for years. ,,What should I do?" i wondered. Then I approached the Qin by taking the shape of [145] Anatan accepted her husband, and said to her: 'On, show me, from what we emerged, from what we were formed and emerged*).

Then she arose and showed me the great fountain from which she had had risen. When I saw that spring of black water, there was a mrara and gimra in it"), which lay and fidgeted in that spring. Then the great mystery that had been given to me said: 'This Mrara and Gimra is the firmness of the worlds of darkness."

When it spoke to me like that, I blinded her eyes, made her Ears deafened and remained hidden from their eyes. That's when I grabbed the Gimra and Mrara, and she didn't see me that I had packed it. She was lying down- stretched and looked for me. ,,Where did you go?it asked her at me. She calls to me and says: ,,Come, I tell you!t

But I left them, I came and sealed the gate of that world and rose up over the latches") and keys that were different from all the keys. Then we are happy, me and the worlds and äons who are with me we sing hymns and rejoice, our heart rejoices in light- and praise for what we have brought from Qin, who Sumqaq is called the Great one that arose from its root, Qin, the grandmother of Ur, in front of all the worlds of darkness.

---

1) The word nnr is found at this point. I have no explanation for this. One easily thinks of NDIND, .,Brazier", but it is unlikely that this be- he knew a word about the unknown.

2) He speaks as one of ilmen.

d) The connection can only be found here and is unexplained until now. According to the following illustration, it seems to mean an insect, see also text 158, 22; 159, 17f. is otherwise found in the sense of "bitterness", also "bitter herb"; too נימרא see Lit., p. 238

4) See above, p. 1430.

When I had locked the gates and moved the bolts, I spoke i found out about that gate three secret names that no one from their place ¹), the names Ham-Zīwā, Nhūr-Zīwā and Lufafan-Nhūrā-Rabbah, these secret names, well kept with me, so that these gates they cannot be separated and no one can open them.

Then I ascended to that world which is above the worlds of Sumqaq, the great pearl. From [146] the day I ascended  to the great Gaf and Gafan, the father of all worlds of the Fin- they sit there together, laughing and joking with each other. Your mother Qin is sitting with you and says to you:,,On, we want to look at our beauty and our charm, we want to see what we haven't seen it yet."

******

When she spoke to them in this way, they became restless and sad, they kicked and they said to her, 'Show us what we should do." Da she said to her daughter Rūha²): "Come, we want you to your brother Gaf (to the woman)."

When she spoke to her like that, she and he liked it, both of them. They stood they came to one another, he took them before them, then took his bachelors^a) and kissed her. He said to her: 'Like you, Ruha, my sister, there is none." From that day on, when you were with Ur, the Lord and Giant [of the worlds of darkness], became pregnant, ****.

Then they said to each other, 'Come on, we want our mother To call Qin and our father Gaf that we are communicating with each other." As he thus spoke to her, she got up, went with him and spoke to Qin and Gaf: ,,See what we did." Thereupon Qin said to them: 'Heil for you to do this as we have done."

I, Jawar, was hidden from their eyes, and they did not see me, that I was sitting with them, me and the great, hidden mystery, the- if it was hidden from them.

I then took the form of one of them, but I was more beautiful as all of you, more glorious than all of you. I then went there, approached Qin and he said to her: 'Peace be with you, great Mother, Mother of all worlds!"

She turned around, caught sight of me, and I kindled love and Fire in her heart. Then she said, 'Peace be with you, our great one, expensive companion."

[147] I then took her by the hand and said to her: 'How many You have daughters so that you can make me your son-in-law and am I in this world with you for a while ?'

---

[1] The expression refers to the names, not to the bars, cf. also R 159, 15. Dic idea of the concrete property of the names is sharply expressed here.

[2] The text says: Rūhā spoke to her.

[a] The Hoclzeitsburschen, the friends and companions of the groom, who otherwise w322, NEND27112, see Joh. II, p. 1134.

When I thus spoke to her, she rejoiced, and her heart rejoiced in that I should become her son-in-law. She grabbed me with the Right and went to Gaf. ,,Peace with you"t, I said to him,,,you mountain and giant over all of us, you king of this world."'

He did not understand what I was saying to him, so siè said to him: greeted the man who is more beautiful than all of us."

Then he jumped up from his throne, embraced .and spoke to me blessed be thy coming, O King, our Lord! What do you want?u However, I did not speak to him, but she said to him: 'A woman he wants from you. Come on, let's give it to him." So he asked her: ,Who do we want to give him?" To which she replied to him: 'We want to give him the Great One, who is more beautiful than he is."

When they both spoke like that, I took off the ring and threw it at her"). She saw the ring I threw at her, and was about the ring he-, which I threw to her. ,"Who is there," she says, "who is like me? The man who wooed me threw me a ring, a A ring like no other in our world. Woe, in our there is no such thing as a whole sweetheart."

Then her mother said to her, 'Hide yourself from him until you Wedding celebrations")." Gaf, in turn, said to him: "On, do what the men do. We want to marry Zahrel with the beautiful man, the beautiful when we all is."Heil dir," she said to him (Gaf), "that this man has arrived at your place. "

They then got up and went to the egg, the place from which they came out. She then spoke to him (Gaf): ,,On, we want prepare the wedding for her and marry her." He, Gaf, set up for this Bed down and hit the pegs for the wedding tent. She invited everyone [148] and called together the angels and giants of that place. These then came to her with gold, silver, perien and wreaths and brought golden cups for them. They came by saying: ,,We want to go- go and see that groom who celebrates wedding with Zahrel."

Around me they put a silk robe, wrapped me in blankets of all kinds of colors"), lifted me and them up and put micl on the golden bed. They stretched a veil over the bed, lifted me in the height, sat me down on the bed and said to me: 'Rejoice, Lord, our wife, the wife we have given you."

---

1) denotes their high position. You can also buy it with "Princess" she is the daughter of the princes of the dark world. See also p. 158, 35; 159, 33.

2) The Zalırēl.

a) (777) actually, "walking around, moving around in the wedding procession" has the meaning of ,,Wedding celebrations".

4) This is emphasized, in contrast to the white robes of the celestials and the believers.

They stir in a porridge, bring it in front of me, hold it down and say: ,,Lord, eat and drink wine. "

However, when they talked to me like that, I laughed at them and talked: „What do the sons of darkness do, to whom it is not revealed, and it is clear that I do not eat any food and do not drink any drinks! All that 5 they drift, only happens to reveal their secret, so that they themselves do not overpower us')." I said to them, 'Indeed, I have ate and drank."

They then left me, went there and wrapped themselves in huge Cloud of darkness.

I taste Zahrel, for I said to myself inwardly: From you shall the Secrets of darkness will be revealed. However, she remains in front of me veiled.

Then came the time to visit me. You, Qin, came to me, kicked and he bowed down with a deep bow, and said,What have you done, 15 our Son and Lord?" - ,What should I do?" I replied to her. You then he went to her daughter and said to her: 'Does he have you (as a wife) taken?"I am not a woman," he said to her.

Then her mother Qin said to her: 'Is he missing [149] the Manhood?" Her daughter replied to her: 'He has the manhood." 20

She got up from her daughter, came to me and said: ,Why did you not "take" your wife, to which I replied to her: "In in our world, a man takes his wife when they get married, only after seven years." - 'Do whatever you want,' she said.

Then I ponder with the great mystery and speak: ,,The 25 seven years, of which I have spoken to the Qin, 'make seven- a thousand myriad years. Confuse her heart and her insides and get loststere their eyes." What I told him, it did.

We stayed there for years and generations about genesrations.

I said to Qin, 'What have you become? What did you become created?" To this she replied to me: 'We were taken out of the Tannā and the planting of darkness, and from all areas of the black Water."Well done," I said to her, "show me what you are made of be." Then she showed me the strength and firmness of darkness, and 35 the hidden mystery of those mighty fiends, the giants the darkness is preserved. She showed me a source. Among them was no one knew the extent of that source. Just me the extent and depth of that source was revealed and known.

In that spring there was a mirror in which they looked at their faces and 40 after that, they knew what to do. I hid this one from her eyes,

---

1) I let them do all this, in the expectation that I will succeed will reveal ilr secret.

took him and kept him. She looked for him and did not find him. Da said you: ,,What should I start with, where our firmness and our strength go is?" - ,,What are you looking for?" I asked Qin. But she became her inner and her thoughts closed, [150] and she did not speak to me.

Then I left her and came to Zahrel. ,,Where have you been, my Lord?: she asked me. I tasted her and said to her: 'I was with your parents I." - "Nice," she said, "that you went to them."

I then went to rest, took the form of her brother Gaf and said to her: 'Come on, we want to go to your parents." - ,,Where are you?" she asked me. Then I said to her, 'Beyond, in that world which is over it's up to us."

On the day that Gaf had gone to her, she became pregnant. I said to her, 'I want to go and be your sister Zahrel- looking for a man who has come to a man." I then went to that Zahrel, then a figure was formed between me and her, and became like me.

Then I said to the great mystery that was with me: "Enter into the Treasure chamber of the heart') enter the Zahrel and leave a ...") with her back. I then took her to her sister.

We go there, we and the Mānās of my company, and Ruha knew not that 360 myriads of thousands of beings of light were with me. Rūhā with me, and I said to her: 'You are with the first-born son pregnant." Ruha was delighted with what I told her.

We aim and go to that upper world, a wide, end- loose away. She said, 'I am in pain." So I said to her, 'You'll be here soon you go there."

When I got to the world of Zartai-Zartanai, I closed the gate of the Gaf and Gafan and shifted the locks and keys. Beschwö- I threw rings into them and spoke about those gates hidden names: the Names Hananel, Hannel and Smir, these hidden names of those verborgenen Mānās.

[151] I said to her, "Go, rest," and we went into that world the Zartai-Zartanai. Years without end we were there until we entered his world succeeded. She exclaimed: 'What are we doing that we are not yet at our Have parents arrived?and I said to her, 'Now we're getting there."

With a quick step, we moved there and climbed up to their world"), which is located above Zartai-Zartanai. When we left him, I closed the Gates, moved all the locks and keys and talked about those gates other hidden names, the name Akšar, Akšar u-abad and Kšar Jāwar- Zīwā, these hidden names that are with me.

Then I said, 'Blessed be the man who brought me out of that place

---

1) See Snaaupôs tūs kapšias Luc. 6, 45.

") Here is the word NPINg, which has three different meanings (jewelry - Society - Out loud); it is uncertain what sense is present here.

a) The world of the Rūhā, see above, p. 153f.

from the vein of darkness, from the depths of the fin- sternis. And to Ruha I said, 'What do you want?" That's when she said: What I want from you? Where are my parents?" He replied i tell her: ,,Now I will take you there and show you where they are."

Then I said to the great mystery: "Blind their eyes, deafen their ears and confuse their insides." What I told the man, who stayed with me, said, he carried out and did not change anything about it. He ver- confused their insides, blinded their eyes, deafened their ears, and it was as if she didn't exist.

I surrounded your world with walls that no one from your place to he can move. She was lying there in that world looking for herbs, to eat them, you who wore Ur').

[152] I now speak to the worlds and Ãons"), which have been added to me were: 'Rejoice, be well-tempered and firm and submit to your Parents. What we did is fine. Now, well, we want to ascend and go to our parents, we want the expensive Mānās look, we want to look at the mana and its likeness and the great Niṭufta, from which we emerged.

We move there and wander. We carry with a pure voice and Enlightenment secret hymns and prayer orders. Our Inner hops with great joy, and our voice rises to life and Manā and his image. When we reached the border towns, we opened we entered the gates of light and ascended in front of my Father. He, the Mānā and his image came to meet us, called to me and spoke to me: ,,Yes, here comes Hibil-Mānā, whose splendor is richer than that of all Uthras." My father embraced me, the great Mānā and his image cost and they kissed me and said, 'Blessed be your coming, Hibil, purer Mānā, Šar-Zīwā, Abad-u-kšar." My father made a Jordan flow"), and the Mānā and his image introduced me to Nituftā. When I saw her he- my heart and my inner self rejoiced in pride.

The Nitufta introduced me to her own custody and showed me, what I have not watched yet. She baptized me in seven mighty, inner Jordans flowing under their throne. No one can take Jordan and to look at the pure signs that she spoke about me. And the Nitufta said: 'Rejoice and be well-pleased about (this) of your pure signs*), the one I talked about you."

I rejoice before her and stretch out adoring. [153] Da she said to me, 'Go out to your Father who is standing in the Jordan and waiting for you." I then left Niṭufta and went to my father. I descended to that first Jordan of the Mānā and his-

---

1) This is supposed to be said here, but the words are distorted.

°) Read - poaendn.

3) Doubtful, see above, p. 195.

4) It is to be read and NIN' dnddei, maybe also to cross out poNn.

down the picture. My father baptized me and spoke secret signs about at me. He baptized me into three hundred and sixty thousand myriads of mighty Jordane of white water, he baptized all the Uthras who were with me and at then he led her up and placed her on the bank of the Jordan live water.

My father asked me and said to me: 'How did you, my son, have you seen her figure in those worlds that you visitést?t I reported then he taught him about them, as I had seen them. His heart hopped, his insides flaunted in joy, over what I communicated to him, and he was full of kindness. ,'Who is', he said, 'to the great mystery who lives with you, who gave life, your Father, to you hatpu

I bowed to my Father and said to him: 'You, my Father, be blessed and praised as You grant me this enlightenment you have. I had gone down to the darkness and now I have come to the light- worlds ascended. I have come to you and am sitting in your Society. The secrets that I watched, I want to reveal to you and teach you all about them. From every world in which I I closed the gates and got their strength and their strength."

When I told my father Manda dHaije, he laughed at her and exclaimed: 'What form do these things have in which the darkness consists of- it's spread!') Then I said to him: 'Otherwise there is no such thing in the worlds of darkness and black water. I want to get on- and [154] go to Ruha, whom I left behind in her world where there is no one to speak to her. It hurts Ruha for what i did it to her. I have put seven walls around her, an iron wall in her world, which no one can move away from her place."

When I said this to my father, he said: 'Break up, go quickly Step down and do what you want."

When [my father] had said this, I got up, went and came the border of darkness. I put my foot down on the Walls*) and the walls of darkness. They moved in front of me by a thousand Miles back. If all my strength were still on me, how could you the first time I was there, the whole world would not have stood in front of me.

I looked and saw Ruha sitting there and said: 'Who he took me into captivity and brought me into this world where I don't know where my parents are?" I heard her, laughed at her and said: ,,What does Ruha say ?"

I appeared to her as her husband Gaf, who is her brother, and spoke to you: 'Why are you sitting there, Rūha?e

Then she came up, hugged me, cried in my face and said:

---

1) See Lit., p. 1782

2) Cf. Joh. II, p. 102".

,Why did you leave me behind and go away that you have spent these (many) years stayed there?u

To this I replied to her: 'I was with my father and my Mother. Receive a greeting from them. Then she said, "Hail to thee, that you saw my father and mother." - ,,I got them ge- see," I said to her. ,,How do they look?"" she asked me. Since I said to her: 'You are sitting in the dark cloud and in hiding, that you created yourself." Then she said, 'Come on, let's go- go to see them." But I said to her, 'My Parents chased away and said: Beware of coming here. Up, go into your own world. Then she cursed them and said, 'Fire eat them because they are fighting with you [155]. Now I don't like going there anymore- go to see her."

When she said this, I laughed at her. She is now thinking and searching in her soul and in her heart for another mystery and says: 'I want to open up to my Parents go, enter them and see them."

I knew what Ruha was thinking in her heart, but I told her nothing, but left her and ascended to my Father, life, who sent me out. A thousand years I was with him and stood before he. It hid me and placed me in its egg, in its own Society, for a thousand years.

Then I said to him, 'Well, the time is coming when I will go into those The world you know about." My father replied that Life: ,,On, go, our first-born son, who put all the worlds in order considers. ‘

When I left and went there, I found peace again, how she cried. She didn't know who I was. I looked and looked all the way. Then she said, 'I want to get up and look to find out where the gates of darkness are, and will enter in with my parents."

She then got up, went there, entered the black water and she was looking for the gate, but she couldn't find it to enter her parents' house. Since she got up, came, sat down and said,When will the day be when I shall bear the Son, that he may keep me company, that he and I may sit together, that he may be my father, that he may be my mother, that he is my partner, my husband and my brother, that he may be a support to me, who supports me? When he is there, he will know the gates and under- get divorced and know where my parents are. Then we want to go and they look.“

When she said this, I stayed with her without her knowing it. Da said I: 'There will come a day, [156] when you, Ruha, will give birth. Your son will be Ur, the giant of darkness."

From the day that Ruha said this, until the day that I told her when her brother Gaf appeared, she staggered and said: 'What should I do with that[1]

The man who took me away from my parents and made me a prisoner who takes me away from the place from which I came-holt hatou

When Ruha said this, I said to her: 'How many years have it been, 5 that you are pregnant with Ur?4 Then she said, 'Oh, two thousand Year." Then I said to her, 'You still have a lot of suffering ahead of you." You he asked,How many years are there left for me to wear? Then he replied i tell her: ,,Seventy thousand myriads of jalıre and eleven days you are soilst in your And then give birth to Ur, the great, warlike giant. 10 If you see him at his birth, you will no longer see me want. "

When I told her this, she was cramped in her heart') and said: 'Oh, how long should I carry and carry loads in my body?" Then I spoke to when I am no longer with you, the years will pass quickly." 15 Then she said, 'Come on, go, you are right. When you're not with me, my heart will find a support, and I will not ask for you."

When she said that, I went up to my parents. My father-he hugged me, and his robe hopped towards me. The Mānā, he and his And they said, 'What have you, beloved?' 20 A son, whose splendour is wondrous, whose form is luminous, and whose The miracle of enlightenment that we have created and whose form is it set up by us? It supports our sense and knowledge."

When my parents spoke to me like this, [157] I stretched out in front of them in adoration, in enlightenment, insight and praise, as they show me he taught 25. They let me take in abundance: my glory was their glory, your shine is my shine. Then they said: 'By your life, Hibil-Jāwar, you messenger, tell us how you fared in that world in which you were so for a long time we almost forgot about you. Every day we thought and painted before us your form, your splendor and your face 30. Your father read a Mass for you every day and said: May you Hibil, Šitil and Anoš, my three brothers, my sons and friends") go up and come here."

I talked to them in peace and talked about life and to Mānā and his image: "Where my power is great"), at your 35 A splendor that is extraordinary and great, by the power that you have given me- borrowed from the helpers you created for me - what should I be afraid of fear? In the concealment in which you have sheltered me, I fear I am not afraid of them, and fear does not enter my mind. No, in the Trust in you (I lived) until the day when I came to- 40, and one of them spoke to them. Everyone called me ,,our Lord" and ,,our King". I took away all your mysteries

---

1) I suspect instead of Nnn, that does not fit.

2) See above, p. 1456.

a) Maybe it is worth reading.

and took them away from them. They gave me a passport with consideration the man from whom the plan came to us, that when he is there, he Will have a dispute with us. You have the power of enlightenment, of knowledge and the revelation that is revealed in your sense, created me. You spoke to me, taught me, and planted me. You sent me in that darkness, before the mother and Father of Ur were there, even before their Parents were. I closed [158] all the gates and moved all the locks, that they cannot go to each other. No one goes into the world of others, and no gate will be opened to them."

Then life, my Father, said to me: 'O Hibil-Jawar, ver- the messenger of Borgen, on whom his father's hand was laid, and whom we made us equal. If we haven't done this and you haven't done it in Ord- we would not have been able to cope with Ur and his mother."'

When they spoke to me like this, I said to them: 'I want to- and go to Ruha, who is close to giving birth to Ur." - ,"Well done," they said, "go and fix it like you used to in You brought order.

So I went there, arrived, and found Ruhā, as she was restless and grieved, how she got to the birth pains. The day should come, on which she was to give birth to her son Ur. She stood there and wrapped Win-deln. Three hundred and sixty diapers she wrapped by talking: ,,I wrap diapers, so that on the day I give birth, I take him from a You can put one diaper in the other."

When she was wrapping the diapers, I said to her: ,,Prepare for it let your month come." However, she did not speak to me. He said i say to her, 'Your works are worth nothing."

Then I left her, set off and left me at the Down at the border. I said (to myself): ,,Now the great plan is being realized des Jošamin. He was created, he arose and created sons." I maintained silence and did not speak.

Then Ruha went into labor and was supposed to marry Ur, the Lord of the Fin- sternis, give birth. When she gave birth to him, I saw him, and he resembled a little Gimra. I saw him'). After a thousand years, Ruha took her son and laid get him out of the first diaper. In each diaper [159] he lay for a thousand years. She put him out of one diaper in the other. Until the last diaper when he had succeeded, he had not lost the garment of his mother's womb (belly)- let"). When he came out of the garment of his mother's womb, fell he's in the black water. He lay there fidgeting.

Then I said, 'Now Ur was born." His mother saw him, and he was still very*) small and seemed grayish to her. She didn't know that

---

1) This is to be deleted, or there is a gap behind it.

2) Rūhā kept him in the robe that was around her lower body for so long.

a) For this branch of N2DN) see also R 189, 11; 195, 24; 196, 6. Others adverbial use of N2DN): R 160, 6; 161, 9 (where the text is opposed to Nöld., p. 3731 in And 224, 3.

he will become a greater giant than the mighty Giants, his parents.

I looked at him, then I left him and climbed on those iron Wall. I stood on them and spoke in my enlightenment and praise-songs that life, my Father, gave me, and the great mystery, that stayed with me. I created seven golden walls and surrounded (with them) that whole wörld. About every single wall I spoke secret names and secret names, the name Hamamēl, Hathmel, Natrel, Zarzel, Pašrel and Halşel'), which no one is able to move from their place.

When I had built those walls and put them in order, came i went there and found him like a worm in the black water lay there and fidgeted. I measured it, because its length was a span and its width is one span. Then I said, 'Now I want to go up, go and put me at the border place until he grows up and becomes, as it was said about him, when his mother gave him to the great Power of darkness, called."

When it happened that he became great and strong and grew mighty I said, 'Why am I sitting there? I want to open up, will i want to descend [160] and under this black Water create and seal a copper earth, the thickness of which is eight- a hundred and eighty thousand miles, so that Ur may lean on them." When this out of my mouth, which had come out of Jāwar-Hibil, she arose by itself, and straightened out.

Then I got up and came to the black water and saw that he was very, then I said to myself, 'I want to put my hand over his So that his strength would be shaken and he would no longer grow. Because if he grows even more, the whole world will burst from his power and its growth. "

Then I let the shine and the light from me and drove with the Hand over his side. Then he plunged into the black water a thousand Myriad miles, until he reached it and leaned on the copper earth. From its heaviness and fall, a crack appeared in the copper- earth, which was twelve thousand miles long and wide, and a quake went through all the worlds of darkness. Then his parents said: ,,Now falls the copper earth enters and crushes us on the spot."

Ur hid himself in that crevice because of the fear he had, and the fear he felt. I waited until he was out of the column and the black water came out. I hid my shine from his eyes. Then he said to his mother, 'What have you done to me? I if it grows, you will pass over me with your hand, but I will not I guessed, and I got scared."

---

1) The names are from the words related in the Mandaean defensive texts חתם,seal", 103 ,,protect", ,equip", 7WD ,,dissolve", ybn ,,oppress" formed. See these words in the glossary on Pognon, Inscriptions mandaites des coupes de Khouabir.

Then his mother rose up and swore to him by her parents: not given a day, since I would have run my hand over your side." However, he fell into evil bitterness and, in his anger, wanted his own Mother eat. , Where are your parents?t he asked her. Then she replied to him: ,,On, we want to go to them."

Further [161] she said to him: 'Come on, I will show you a crown, put them on your head, and you shall be king. From that day on, when you were born, I made it for you." - ,,Show them to me that I may see her,' he said to her. Then she said to him, 'Come on, I want to show it to you, it is hidden by the walls."

He cast his eye on the crown, he took the crown and put it focus on the head. Ruha then said to him: 'Rejoice in your crown, for this crown is your strength." But he spoke to his mother: ,,Mother! Don't die a horrible death! I don't want them from me Take heads; yes, I will take care of them." And he said to her, 15 ,,Come on, show me the gate so we can go to our parents." But you replied to him: "Before you were born, I was looking for a lot in the world i walked around and didn't find the gate."'

Then he wanted to eat his mother until she ran away from him. You cried and cried: 'Woe, woe to a son who despises his mother." 20

He ran around the world moaning and could not find the gate, to enter. Then he called to his mother and said to her: 'Fear don't you, come on, show me." But she said to him, 'You believe not my oaths?4 Then he said to her, 'Is there a world that has no Tor has? Is there anyone to whom the parents close the gate in front of their noses 25 and lock it? Is there a gate through which someone goes out and it does not recognize again? Is there anyone his parents can turn away from- lock it?" To which she replied to him: 'Am I such a one? I am researching and ponder over everything." Then he asked her: "Is there nothing we do could?" Then she said to him, 'I know high and powerful spells- proverbs, before which, when I say them, the earth melts." Then 30 spoke him to her: ,,Say your spells here and share some of them with me with." Then she said to him, 'If I give it to you, you will learn it." - "Tell me," he said to her. Then she said to him: 'Come on, we want to go to those [162] walls by which your crown lay."

He left and went with her, they went and came, and she 35 spoke a thousand times a thousand endless and ten thousand times ten thousand number- loose (sayings), without the walls melting. Then he spoke to his Mother: ,, Didn't you say: I know big and powerful spells?is To which she replied to him: ,,(What should I do), where I do not know what about. when he came to me, he said to her: 'Well, do as you would 40 know.'

Then she rose and created with her spells and mysteries warlike demons. When he saw her with his eyes, he knew that his mother knew great, powerful and powerful spells. ,,They Demons," he said to her, "are to be my helpers." He caressed his Mother and said to her: 'Since you understand these works, why did you did you not create a comrade? To this she replied to him: 'My son! I told myself that I wanted no one but you." When she gave him this[1] said, he caressed and kissed her.

I, Jāwar, did not know when I brought them from their place that he understood these works. When she did this, I was un- visible, and they did not notice me. Rather, I stood before them and was hidden from their eyes, and saw what they were doing.

She said to her son: ' Well, I want to show you a mirror, which I own." - ,, Show him to me," he said to her. Then she spoke to to him: 'There, behold, my king and hero.“

She showed it to him, and he looked at his face in that mirror, he he looked at the worlds of darkness, he looked at his parents, and he looked at the Worlds of Light.

When he looked like that, he curved, pulled himself together and stretched not yourself. His stature curved, and he spoke to his mother: ,,Why have you not given me (the mirror) to this day? I have i saw my face in him. “

[163] To this she replied to him: 'My son! This mirror and the Crown -- from the moment I came to the heights and my hero brought me up to this place, was your crown, your mirror and this one gimra is with me, and I told myself that when you were born they should be yours." She asked him: "What did you see, my son ?“

,"I looked," he said to her, "the worlds of my parents; I looked each individual in their own world. I looked at the worlds of light and he said to me, What shall I do, that I should see my parents, that I the light with my eyes'), which is not ours? “

Then she said to him: 'Show me the mirror, that I may enter into it-glimpses." He gave it to her, and she saw in it what her son had seen. ,,What should we do now?" he asked her. Then she stood there and was enraged because she said, 'Now I don't know anything." But her heart fell from, because she understood everything. ,,My son!" she spoke to he. ,,On your place of origin and on your own parents direct your Eyes, but do not make a fight against those worlds of light."

When she spoke to him like that, he grabbed her by the hair, pulled her to him he came up and trampled them underfoot. Then she uttered three hundred and sixty cries with a cry, and said to him, 'Woe, woe, my son, all, what you wish to do, do. Then he said to her, "I want to go against this Light fights, not darkness."

---

1) I read instead באיינא.

When Ur spoke thus, he cried out against the black water. The black Water swirled in front of him in a vortex until it crashed against the walls and Walls that separate darkness from light, and against the walls knocked out. He raised his voice and let out a cry until all the walls waver.

[164] Then life spoke to me, Jāwar: 'Why are you sitting now there, Jawar-Hibil, you messenger? Get up, go to Ur, the haughty') Lord of the Darkness."

I, Jāwar, did not deviate from my father's speech, but left and arrived at Ur, me and the Uthras of my escort and my 10 Helpers that my father created for me.

When Ur, the Lord of darkness, saw me and my form, he buried he got into the black water. I took the crown from his head, put them in seven vestments and struck my way.

Ur came out of the black water and spoke to his Mother:Who was it that went against me?t Da replied to him: 'This one who has gone against you has gone to kill you subject. Then he asked his mother, "Is there anyone who is he able to subdue me?to which his mother replied: 'When you have grown up to this man, whose strength is his splendor*), why can't you take your crown from him?u

When his mother spoke thus to him, he threw his hands on his head and cried: 'Woe, woe mirlu He bent and did not stretch and he said to his mother: 'He grabbed me so that the vertebra of my back break. "

When he spoke thus to his mother, she wept and moaned over him. Then he jumped up from his throne and said to her: 'What about let me come, may come."

Then he got up and came in anger and rage with a thousand myriads Dews approached his companion. But when they saw me, they died and passed and became as if they had never been there.

Then he jumped up angrily and struck his way. He entered the black water came in and called") countless Dews. He called a Dew, [165] who was as tall as he was, and met me again. But when the Dews caught sight of me, they died, even those who were otherwise with him.

He looks behind him and in front of him') and says: 'What should I do do? Then his mother said to him: 'You are the power of this light not grown." - "It's not me," he said to her, "where is my strength is it big?" - ,,If you can," she said to him, ,,get up, we want

---

1) Var. ,,dem krieglichen".

2) According to Var. in B ,"this man of power and splendor".

") Again ambiguous, whether "called out" or "ricf evoked, created."

1) Lics Aonpat Amnyt).

go to the walls, and shake them away from their place." Then he spoke he said to his mother, 'Come on, let's go."

They went there. When he wanted to move the walls, they were and he was ashamed in front of his mother. Then she spoke to him: ,There is no one to move these walls away from their place can. For many years I have mumbled a magic murmur, without that the walls melted together."

Then he said to his mother, 'What shall I do?" He replied she told him: 'A certain pearl belongs to you, put it on your head, then it will be your strength will increase."

When she brought the pearl and put it on his head, he shouted that black water. Then the water swirled and ran away from him. Then he said: 'I want to go to the light and to the great spring of water rise up."

But I, Jāwar, appeared to him in that robe, and he shrank together and fell down in front of me. I grabbed that pearl that his mother he gave it to him, with which he flaunted, and lifted it up. Then I left him and went to my parents, who lived with me').

Then he said to his mother: 'Woe, woe, mother! Alas, our Strength and our strength have been taken from us." .Then she spoke to him: ,My son, you can't do anything against this man." Furthermore she said to him: 'Well, we want to enter the black water and look for the gimrā that is within me. When it comes to the Water falls, the black water boils. Then we'll see what we should do. "

He and his mother [166] then entered the black water, and I Jāwar-Zīwā entered behind them. Rūhā then fetched that Gimrā out of its interior, and it fell into the black water. The black Water boiled and swirled until that gap became visible, which was formed by the severity of the Ur had arisen. Then he spoke to his mother: ,,Mother! Look at this gap that was created when I fell down when you were with the Hand over me." She saw that gap and was over it."- calm down.

I, Jāwar, blinded and confused Ruhā, and took before her that Gimra way. She looked for it, but could not find it. He complained she, hitting her hands against her head, shouted:,,Woe, woe, our Sorcery and witchcraft are lost, and speech and hearing2) became ours speaking." She cried and he cried, and they uprooted the earth by your excitement"). He rose out of the black water and spoke to his mother: 'I will rise up and make war."

---

1) The expression is striking, but you have to use it, like so much in the Mandaean Writings, accept.

2) That we would have something to say and be heard.

3) An otherwise occurring turn, cf. p. 176, 5. For N72 see Joh. II, p. 20".

Then he called for the last time, raised his voice, heated up in excitement and shouted at the black water. Da fijel the black Water on the walls, the walls were beaten and sounded equal to a basin. Whether this sound the Uthras sat in clouds, and the Lord of greatness') sat down in his own hiding place.

I now, Jāwar-Zīwa, the messenger, the chief of all messengers, spoke: ,,In the power of the great mystery that dwells with me, and in the power of my father's life." I opened the gate, took the high staff and showed him. Then his eye contracted with a tear, and he cried over himself. I tied him up and threw him in front of me, 10 Jawar, son of Jawar, hin. Then I brought a chain that is heavier [167] as all his worlds, which are ten thousand times as heavy as himself and put them around Ur, the chief of the whole army of darkness. I shook his bones, and he screamed and cried, 'Woe, woe, my Lord!" Even his mother screamed and cried over her son Ur. Da 15 I said to her, 'O Ruhā, go and sit still. life sent me against him in anger."

I appointed four guardians over him. I threw him on the face and wrapped him in four cloths*). I made four corners on them: one to the west, one to the east, one to the north, one to the south. 20 In the west I placed Azazel, Azaziel, Taqfel and Margazel over him A great one who is angry with his comrades; they take care of him. In To the east I placed four others over him: Urpel, Marpēl, Taqfel and Hannel. who will soon have mercy on you, will soon threaten you. In the north I sat over him Kanfan and Kafan, Gubran and Guban a who is strong and sprightly about you 25 they are paying attention to him. In the south I put four others over him: Hailel, whose power is great, Qarbel, Nurel, and Nuriel, the fire against he and the angels, his companions, let go; they take care of him.

When I had used them, it was achieved that Ur do nothing and taught me about this world of black water, 30 which was to be the abode of Ur, until Abathur is created." i went up to the house of life and said to my father: you and be well-tempered, for Ur is vanquished and prostrated."

It (life) kissed me with its pure mouth, it caressed and kissed me, revealed to me [168] and said to me: 'Hibil, pure Mānā! 35 Jošamīn has created three sons. One of them guards the nest one of his parents, one lives with his father, one, that Abathur, goes to the world you've been in. He sees*) his face in black Water, and his image*) and his son will come to him out of the black water literate."

---

1) See above, p. 4. He is not mentioned otherwise in this piece.

2) See also p. 84, 20. a) Rather Ptahil, see p. 150, 15. 4) Better NNT.

8) Here, as can be seen from the following, with "image" not the woman, but the Son, see also above, p. 151, 2.

When life, my Father, spoke thus, Abathur arose, opened the Tor, looked into the black water, and in the same hour his Image formed in black water. Ptahil was formed and rose to the A border town. Abathur looked inquiringly at Ptahil and spoke to his Son Ptahil: ,,Come, come, Ptahil, it's you I'm in the black I watched water."

When he saw him in his own form, as he was wearing seven garments he was dressed in all kinds and colors, he took them off and took her away from him. He clothed him with his splendor and covered him with his light. But he (Ptahil) did not ascend to the worlds of light, because he was afraid of his parents. Abathur put him on the border and he said to him, 'Stay, Ptahil, sitting in this place of yours until life is asking for you to get to know you."

When Abathur spoke thus, I, Jāwar-Hibil, addressed Abathur and spoke to him: 'Rejoice in the Son whom you have created. He will give you a Be partners and helpers."

When I spoke to him like this, Abathur stood up in front of me, bowed in reverence to me, Hibil-Uthra, and said, 'Yes, by your power is the son of Ptahil arose and was given (to me)." Then I spoke to him: [169] ,Examine what you expect from this world, that such a Plan ') could arise! Take care that you commission Ptahil, foolish one- wise to do something that he does not understand." But he didn't listen to that, vas I told him. I went up to my parents. Abathur now gave him the order and said to him: 'On, Ptahil, my son, create a compaction in the black water!"

He set about compacting, but it did not come to pass. Since he stood there thoughtfully and said to his father: 'Father! I took of those seven vestments in which I was created, and he entered the water, but there was no compaction of the earth."

Then his father said to him, 'You fool! Take care of yourself, take care of me to put it the same*). Take thou from the seven garments of splendor, of Of the light and glory with which I have clothed you "), and throw into the black water, so that now a compaction is formed."

When he heard this from his father Abathur, he got up, took from those seven garments of splendor, light, and glory, when he threw himself on the black water, the earth condensed into a Compaction of twelve thousand miles, and the whole world stood there. That black waters formed a perimeter around the world.

Then I raised my voice against Ptahil. He was afraid of my Voice, he was afraid of my speech, he stretched himself on the compaction

---

1) Creating this world.

°) By believing that your garments can have the same effect as the share mine.

3) See Z. 9.

and he cried out, 'Woe to me, that this Hibil is his He raised his voice against me."

When I saw him in such fear, I was kind to him, cost him and he said to him, 'Do and do right, and complete your works from your father and from the life that is far from you'). '

[170] When I had told him this, I surrounded the compaction, which he formed, with seven walls.

There he was in thought. Now Ruha devised a plot against him, and said to him: 'From what did you come into being, Ptahil, that your figure is so beautiful? To which he replied to Ruha: "Out of this I was created, I came into being and I was educated."

When Ruha heard this from Ptahil, her heart strengthened, and she spoke to him: ,,You come from me." She then got up, stepped in front of her son (Ur) and said to him: 'Why are you crouching there, my hero, and why are you lying down you? Well, sleep with me, then someone will become like you to me, and he will free you from your bondage."

When he heard this from his mother, he tried to climb up, but he did not approach her. She saw him and cried over because the burden weighed heavily on him. She now made herself a Fessel*) immediately and slept at ihni. She became pregnant by him and gave birth to seven sons9). When she saw them, she spat them out in front of them and said: 'I was looking, but I didn't see it'). What should I do now?" Since she said, 'I will go back and lie down with him."

She went there again, lay down with him and got into another Pregnancy of twelve sons. When she saw her, she cried over her and he said to them, 'What do you look like, my sons? You have no And do not be like your Father. Now I know in my soul that I cannot have confidence in this world. '

When they heard this from their mother, they became bitter. They grasped they took each other by the hand and sat down in the bosom of clouds of mist, they were created by themselves. She then spoke to them: ,,Where are you going? [171] Now comes the man who tied up your father and arrested him. '

Then each of them wept over himself, and they spoke: ,,Woe, why were we born ?"

I, Jāwar Hibil, the pure Manā, stood by them and wanted them make them look like they've never been there. I thought and said:,,What should I start with these fiends who are not like those giants who i have looked in the lower worlds? No, I will let you that

---

1) Here is another sentence that does not belong here: ,,And I surrounded myself with manners this condensation, which, when it sees that my robe, struts, runs away and becomes absorbed in the black water is stored and not on it."

2) See p. 934. 3) See p. 99.

4) I did not achieve what I was looking for.

you run the course of this world and walk the course of this world')."

When I said this, life showed itself in its fullness, without shortage.

I called to them and spoke to them, and their hearts fell from down the support. Ruha wept over them and said to them: 'This The man who called you is the murderer of your father. Da enteach and every one of them rooted the earth by his excitement.

Ptahil exclaimed: ,,Woe! The compaction that I created became uprooted me. What do you want me to do?" Then I said to Ptalil: ' I am afraid not you. Now I have to deal with those who act like that ").«

Then I called to them and said to them: 'Do not be afraid! I will take you and give you a residence."

When I spoke to them like that, they did nothing. So I asked her:,,What are your works? Then they said, 'Lord! Do everything you wish, just be kind to us, strange man."'

Then I called Šamiš (Sun) by his name, then Sin (moon), Kēwan (Saturn), Bel (Jupiter), Dlibat (Venus), Nbu (Mercury) and Nerig (Mars). I gave each of them (a name) and spoke to them: ,I lend you carriages in which you should sit down. I'll dress you with a wondrous garment [172] and give you splendor, that you may shines in this world."

Then they all took Šamiš, their eldest brother, and spoke to to him:,,You shall be our king and Dlibat shall be our queen in the world be. We all want to be subordinate to you.'

When I heard this from ilmen, I brought them a boat*), then called i told Sarwan and Sarwan, 'Take care of the boat and be Assistant to Šamiš, the head of the phalanx, the oldest among his Brother."

The two Uthras did not deviate from what I told them. I put them") now in the vehicle, and they lit up the world three-hundred and sixty thousand years in their desert state.

Then I, Jāwar, reflected and said, 'I will create Adam." Then I called°) the planets and said to them: ,,Forms the physical Take shape." So they formed them, as I had told them. Then I brought the soul out of the treasure of the mighty life, which was hidden in the house of the Niṭuftā, which (the soul) was great in the tannā- and threw them into the body of Adam. Then I created him his wife Hawwā, that this world might be awakened and strengthened. I will be the transmitter') of the souls that are born here

---

1) See above, p. 241.

3) This is not entirely true, he just tied him up.

8) Uncertain. Maybe: Now I want to do this to those who act like this, [dab *****].

4) is also found in this sense (felūka) Joh. 79, 12; 80, 3.

5) The planets. 6) Read pmp.

7) Actually, "the merchant"; the fixṭounós is also hiér an éunodatos.

and beyond them are called Uthras, who ascend and enter the outer Ether and the place from which they were created, look.

Until the measure of this world is full and they ascend and their primal-father, life is recognizable to Manda dHaije and his Son Hibil, who arranges the ranks of life, of the mighty in glory').

Live our knowing, live our understanding, live the Men who teach us. Life is fixed [173] in its Škinā, life is victorious over all works, and Jāwar-Zīwā is victorious, and his helpers and disciples.

Second piece.

In the first part of the treatise it is described how, as a result of the appearance of Mandā dHaije's the idols of this world to break and overthrow. After that, the treatise after the final note called "The overthrow of the whole divinity of the house", see p. 15°. Furthermore, it is a sermon with incoherent exhortations of all kinds. The The play, like no other, contains borrowings from the Old Testament. P. 178f. from Ps. 114. 29; 15 as Milverständungen show, an Aramaic translation was exploited. A little from- the soft setting is provided by Lit. 126. The utilization of the Psalm passages probably depends with eschatological interpretations of the exodus of the children of Israel from Egypt, see Joh., p. XXI. In the verses is Jes. 5, 11 f., 20 f. used. See the pieces Brandt, Rel., pp. 132 ff.

In the name of the great, first life.

The radiance and light of life has risen, and Manda dHaije has revealed himself to shame all worlds*). He crashed the all the gods of the house perished and brought discord among all the lords this world. When they saw the splendor and light of Manda dHaije, [and the splendor and brightness] "), with which the men of proven The thrones of their gods were bent under together with you. Their ranks were about to rush towards the face, and they stood there ashamed.

All the worlds that saw him fell down and fell on their faces. They do not open their eyes and are not able to see the sign and the Look at the image of the great life.

---

1) The one who looks after the right here below. In the previous paragraph, the- there was talk of the rise of individual souls, here of the rise of the totality of souls at the end of the world.

2) Here and further wool is used in the sense of Aonen (see also p. 464), but stelit text 175, 22 for Ran7.

3) After 175, 3 f. (text) supplemented.

But when the men of proven righteousness saw him, they were they were raised up by life and filled with it, and life was lived in to your senses.

The lords of the house'), and they speak to their God, You are our image, and we are your image; when strength is in you so change your shape, otherwise we want to go and join the The light of life. To which he replies to them: "My form is it is, and it will not change in all eternity." There you are talking: ,'Woe to us that the works of our hands were without fault, but we are guilty."

Why do you weep, peoples and generations? Your heart is attached something that is not yours. Your kingdom will be turned and turned, and the splendor of your glory fell upon you*).

They rebel against their God, curse him and speak to to him, 'Cursed be you, O God, and the Spirit that rests on Ruha." [174] Their strength went, they were ashamed in their škīnās, lying and deceit; was in the gates of their palaces. Darkness went over the works of their Hands up, desolate darkness") is in their firmament. Their gods bent ashamed of their way together. [About their temples] came abundantly Shame*).

They set themselves to deception and (false) wisdom, driving And cast them over the face of the earth. The God rose from down from the height, took the form of angels, and the angels disguised themselves- they act as demons. Every day, every day they twist the heart of the Children of men, they settle on the necks of priests, priests and oracle men, to eat of their flesh for satiety, and to To drink from their blood. They speak°) in (false) wisdom and deception, and change the times.

Life revealed itself to the Tibil, shine and light of life went up.

When the sea saw it, it turned around,
and the Jordan turned backwards.
The mountains bounce like deer, and the Hindins in the steppe throw out their young. The heights speak like daughters of the clouds in honor").

---

1) Probably even here the planets, see p. 106, 8 and 179, 28, but it is unclear who your God is.

2) This paragraph breaks the connection.

3) See R 278, 14; 282, 1. Because of these passages I do not read with A NNy whether- it is close to the meaning, see Joh. II, p. 764.

4) See Lit., pp. 128, 10.

b) Read מאמליליא.

°) PS. 114, 4 is misunderstood, especially = "lambs", which ,"Cloud daughters".

The mountains open their mouths and grant praise, and the cedars on Lebanon are collapsing. When the earth saw me, it trembled and trembled, and when the king of the sea saw me, he turned back.
Sea, whom did you see and turn back,
Jordan, who did you see and turn backwards?
Mountains, whom did you see, hopping like deer,
Hindinnen in the steppe, before whom do you throw out your cubs?
To whom do you speak in honor, like daughters of the clouds?
Mountains, before whom do you open your mouth in praise, Cedars in Lebanon, before whom did you break up?
Earth, whom [175] did you see and tremble?
King of the sea, whom did you see and turn back? Islands of the sea, before whom did you get confused, Islands of the sea, who are you afraid of?

Before the splendor and light of Manda dHaije, the splendor and the brightness with which you praise the men of tried righteousness-you dressed. Life poured out over the water, and the islands of the They opened their mouths, gave praise to the mighty, strange And they said, 'Your name, life, we did not name, and the We did not know fear of you."

This is the light of life that revealed itself, and the men it was praised by proven justice. Then Manda dHaijē spoke to them: ,,I have come to stay with you and to show you in the light of life sit up. I have separated you from the peoples and generations-dert, I will raise you up in the love of truth, and you shall Be truthful before me in the light of life.

That ...") of life is not given to the masters of the house") be. The wheels of their chariots became confused, and they raised their voices her voice is on high. Like the voice of the man Himun*) the worlds loudly raise their voices in height.

El-Šiddai uprooted the earth through his miraculous actions in House of the ...") and created his works in the house of the man. Depend- their strength was thrown away, their rule departed from them, the kingship fell off their heads. They sat there on their thrones, frozen, and said: 'Woe, woe, that staring fell on all worlds. Her time was approaching and they are about to come to an end at the end of the worlds°).

---

1),"The King of the Sea" was also based only on a misunderstood ND 5D.

2) The text here is disfigured and still incomplete. Maybe at the תיאבותא דהויא לאתיהויא'beginning ,,and the indulgence of life will not be granted".

d) i.e. the planet, see p. 1781.

4) There is probably a misunderstood j127 51p (Isa. 13, 4; 33, 3 and other), a lot-slightly under the influence of the name See also Geiger, ZDMG. XXI (1867), p. 491.

5) The text says "shine", which does not fit. d) See p. 464.

The great life will be on high, while the gates') and Planets will descend to the depths of the Earth. The Ãons, who surrounding lower Šeol, their rule has departed from the height"). Your evil thoughts were piling up on her head.

It is the voice of life [176] from the fruits, the voice of the Out of the light, the voice of men of tried smell- from the lower Škīnās, who praise in the name of life- judge and speak: 'We knew death in the Tibil. From the day since we grasped love for life and hated death, we trusted because of you, life, and because of your name, life, we were born in the Tibil followed."

Fear and praise, ye men of tried righteousness, that Live, and life will rest on you. You, men of proven Righteousness, you will be established; stand upright before me. Shine and be enlightened; let my light shine upon you. Then light and enlighten the faces of men of proven righteousness more than the sons of Sam, the white fruit*). The shape of the Men of proven righteousness will shine like life, in which is not a mixture.

O those who are wise in their own opinion, and before whose your own face, your prudence stands')!

O they say: we belong to life and life is with us"), while life is not with them! You have left your heart, cut off, robbed.

O those who turn sweet into bitter and bitter into sweet")! O those who call good evil and present evil as good ')! O turn darkness into light and light into darkness")! O those who drink wine young in the morning and old in the evening, and be captured by singing, zither and flute ')!

O those who smear themselves with fine oils and The smell of flowers that grow soft in the courtyard and in the name of the of the great life and of Manda dHaije, who [177] was with them, no testimony who did not listen and heard, who did not live life in their sense who set up the adornment in their courtyard, and who set their faces turned to the great Suf Sea.

---

1) Maybe stelit here in the sense of "yy ,,angel". With "wickets" are not here the false religions are meant, since otherwise NEN3 stands for it, see p. 20 °.

2) The translation is uncertain; the passage may be incomplete.

a) The "white fruit" as a designation of Sems also Lit. 5, 7. Joh. 206, 5 she appears as a repository of souls.

4) According to Isa. 5, 21. The last words are disfigured. In prn)s there סוכלתון is or Älınliches.

8) In the text stelit ,"bei euch" under the influence of text Z. 7.

a) According to Isa. 5, 20.

7) According to Isa. 5, 11, 12.

'Worship and praise, ye men of tried righteousness, the Those whom your eyes see'), the strangers from the light- the world, which does not have pictorial works and portraits, which the makers of The works of deception did not fall into his hands, and his name and he did not name his figure to the children of men*).

This is the light of life that is cast down. The bad children of men, their strength stopped, and the speech became it is difficult for them to speak like stammerers").

This is the ancient splendor and light that has been from time immemorial. He shone 'and with the light from the worlds of victories he illumined the figure, the sign, the voice, the call, the enlightenment and the miracles the Manda dHaije. This one appeared in all the worlds, and all the gods heschraken. They stagger over each other and say: ,How can we enough to praise Manda dHaije, whose splendor is more extensive than that we praise him, and his light is richer than that which we glorify. can. His first light became constant, beautiful and victorious are 'his Words of the Kuštā, and his glory rested on his friends."

Trust in Manda dHaije. Like a good shepherd who [his Sheep] beware, he keeps away from you any spirit of apostasy. As a good shepherd, who leads his sheep to their hurdle, he will sit you down and plant yourself in front of him*).

Rejoice and praise (him), ye men of tried righteousness. Calm your heart, humble your mind and stay away from the Baddies.

'O ye [men?] the Kušta"), whose soul is truthful! A Call of [178] resounded over all the earth, the splendor of every city went under. Manda dHaije revealed himself in Judea, a vine appeared in Jerusalem, before which there is no outrage. Königstrotz he had not in mind, and he did not have the appearance of an idol. Life is it, which was from time immemorial, and the Kušṭā, which from earlier was at the beginning.

'Open your mind and praise sincerely. Why do you want sleep and with the Strauchenden straucheln, just like the first Strauchler, who stumbled and did not put their hands in front of me to the Kuštā")?

Hail, ye men of tried righteousness, whose foreheadscurls are wound on the head. Your merits are miraclessamer than all the worlds, and your face shines with joy. O you who clothe yourselves with cloaks of various kinds"), which you wear in

---

1) I suspect: that your eyes do not look.

2) Read לבנאת אנאשיא. 3) Cf. p. 85, 5.

4) See Joli. II, p. 42 f.

6) A word has fallen out before or after ND210, either: o ye men of the Kušṭā, or: the Kušṭā profess od, similarly.

°) See also further, p. 182, 33.

7) To see Nöld., p. 127, 20. The meaning of the sentence is probably that the Tibil will be persecuted, but [not the faith?] leave; you will i will clothe your persecutors with shame and disgrace.

We trusted in life, we had confidence in life, and Kušṭa was in our escort. We were made great by the size of your Knowledge').

Life has risen to have mercy on you. For the love of Truth and justice, I clothed and covered you like a great armor of the earth of the Athers with jüstice*). With love, with who loved Manda dHaije, there is on your head [a wreath of] victories") is set up.

Well, make my name great') in the Tibil and my praise-praise in all worlds.

Then the light of life that revealed itself will be  reward- and alms donations *. Then your souls, you men of tested righteousness, in the light of life , and you will become two shine in each other's splendor. Your name [becomes more miraculous] his [other names], your splendor will be more wondrous than the other splendors, [179] and your light will be more wondrous than the son- stigen lights, each according to his works and his reward.

My name is in your mouth. Bless and praise you as you walk, your coming and your sitting, your eating and your drinking, when you rest and lie on your bed, the name of the The life you remember"). To praise, to honor, to glorify, to to bless, to consolidate (he is)").

Furthermore, magnify my name in the Tibil and my praise-sung in all works.

A cry resounded over the whole earth, the splendor went down in jeglicher Stadt. Manda dHaije revealed herself to all the children of men and deliver them from darkness to light, from darkness to light of life.

Leave the desolate desert and stay away and away from the Deception and the deception of this world.

Do not be carried away because of your evil deeds and stumble not away from life like the first Strauchler, who stumbled and their hands were not stretched out before me.

---

in the time of persecution, they dress in foreign clothes, outwardly from the man-renounce the Danish faith, but profess it inwardly.

1) Maybe poenanyi is to be read. NND can only be found at this point in in an appellative sense, see Joh., p. XVII, 15.

2) The translation is very uncertain. For RIN, otherwise in the Aramaic sense ,'Tanks' quite usually, this sense cannot be proven in Mandaean. It has otherwise, here is the meaning "vein", see Joh. II, p. 99°.

8) Cf. Joh. II, p. 2.

1) Read ND12 or MD12), continue reading.

6) See above, p. 19, 122.

°) A common form in the eulogies, see Lit., pp. 141 f.

'Well, great ones of proven justice, stay away and away from the predatory wolves and the pernicious lions, the which people of yours make you stumble.

O about those who go about in the markets of the Tibil, and their Body bent and bent while leaving your heart, sections, robbed'[1]).

Do not associate with the wrongdoers whose hands are stained with blood, who sit daily, every day on the thrones of rebellion and Keep track of the name of life. Fire will burn out of their faces, it will destroy the place between your shoulders and save you for your 10th birthday [180] Punish haughtiness. You will be beaten with your own punch without my blow having to hit them.

Life is victorious, victorious Manda dHaije and his helpers.

This is "the overthrow of the whole divinity of the house".

Third piece.

The play describes the wandering of the soul past the Mattarāthā, who ,,Watches-houses", sites between the earthly world and the hereafter, which are intended for the purification of the sin- serving their souls. At the head of the guardhouses are demons or as demons imaginary beings, here also from the Christian world. Other descriptions of the matta- rāthā can be found in the pieces R 204 et seq., L 26 et seq. The pieces are treated in detail by Brandt, Jahrbücher für protest. Theologie XVIII (1892), p. 408 ff., see also Reitzen-StONe, The Mandaean Book of the Lord of Greatness, p. 80ff. and my remarks Zeitschr. f. Semitistik II (1924), p. 181 ff.

In the name of the great life.

My measure in the world became full of me,
and my bills dissolved in the ages*).
I left the world of darkness,
the mixing jug of death*).

I went there and came to the guardhouse of the greedy, rabid Dogs whose eyes are blinded so that they cannot see, whose ears ver- they are so full that they cannot hear. I gave them the name they did not understand the name of life. I called them they did not understand the name of death, the name of death. In

---

[1]) See above, p. 180, 23.

*) The plural after L 19, 7.

a) The vessel from which death originates. Elsewhere, NE'ND is together more often with the "treasures of splendor" called: L 26, 24; 27, 5; 28, 15; Lit. 85, 7.

I was afraid and afraid of that watchhouse, I was afraid, and my whole body was shaking in my robe. That's when I get a call Man from the place ...") to the world and says: "O man who you call for life and to which life answers. To live have firm confidence. You are like a man at the age of 120, a man holding a staff and a rattle in his hand, and behind the cattle comes with it*). But suddenly they seize him, clothe him with reverence, cover him with reverence, tie a diadem around him, put him on a And make him king in the cities. Furthermore, you also a man who lives in a space of 160 miles in a dry flat4) stands, thirsts for water, and then smells the smell of life. Seine Soul is then equal to the good Enoš in his glory*).

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that I was afraid, Fear and terror [181] are no longer there before me. I went there and came to the guardhouse of the Virgin, the daughter of her father°) who have 67 daughters. Their breasts are bared to them for shame, and their side slashed at them') for misdeeds. They take the The hearts of the gods and the minds of the children of men. You they said to him"): "You man, give us your name and your sign, out of the waves of the water, out of the treasures of splendor, and from the great baptism of Light."

I called her10) my name and my sign. Da fright

---

1) The word is found only in this place; the meaning is unknown to me. "Drops", what one thinks about at first, does not palt.

2) An old, contemptible shepherd.

8) It is alluded to the exaltation of the soul of the pious at their departure (see, for example, Lit., p. 98), but perhaps the author was floating the fairy tale motif of the suddenly the poor man was raised to the king.

4) Siche Nöld., pp. 140, 5. b) See also p. 191, 12.

6) According to the following, Rūhā is meant, but that is how it is called only here. As A similar expression is not found in the Babylonian. Should is there a client of Athena, the napdévos, who was born by her father?

7) The ordinary meaning of D in Aramaic is , page", and this sense this is probably also here. Babli Gittin, f. 90b, L. 1 is given as the reason for divorce, when a woman slits on both sides goes out However can also mean "hem", then here, whose hem is slit open to you", and in the canons of Ebed-Jesus of Söbä, the clergy will be forbidden to wear skirts with a slit hem (NDy in the priestly functions ver- messengers (Maii Scriptorum Veterum Nova collectio X, Roma 1838, p. 277). Skirts of this type should Arabic be called Nya, probably Durrãa, see Dozy, Dictionnaire détaillé of the noms des vêtements, p. 177ff., Supplèment I, p. 434 b. But the other view is closer. 8) Actually ,,puff, steam."

9) Although a fluctuation in the person is not rare in these texts (see p. 144), it is probably here, as in the parallel passages, N) ,, and they spoke to me "too read.

10) At this point and further, the singular stands with reference to the main-person, here Rūhā, while one expects the plural.

they were afraid and frightened, they rose up before me and spoke to me: ,, You man, no one should come on your path, and your No one should take steps." To this I replied to them: 'On my Paths shall the elect come, my steps shall the faithful go'). To you, Ruha, splinters will sit in your eyes, and your 5 Eyes get dark in your head. The Naşöreans will then ascend-go up and look at the great place of light and the light abode."

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that I was afraid, Fear and terror of me are no longer there. I went there and came after another guardhouse, that of Zan-Hazazban, the harlot, brave, the king of great wrath and destruction. I asked and said: 'Whose guardhouse is this, whom is it guarding, and who is in it tied down?u

I asked, and they said to me: ,,In this guardhouse are those who shed blood and destroy their likenesses." I also asked and said: 'What things do those souls resemble with the ugly things they do in the world?" I asked, and you said to me: 'Those souls are like devices of clay, of blackness and the devices [182] made of copper, which produce dirt and rust- brings it forward. You throw them in a device, in the foot block, in oppression and enclosure, and you kick them down. They are destroyed, but they they don't get sweet, you fry them, but they don't even get"). Those souls desire for a second death in the world of darkness, but the second death does not come over your mind. Zan and Hazazban languages to me"): "You man, give us your name and your sign, which you from the waves of the water, from the treasures of splendor and from the you have received the great baptism of Light." I told him my name and my sign, thereupon Zan-Hazazban bowed to me in deep Bowing,

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that fear, Fear and terror of me are no longer there. I went and came according to the watchhouse of Jūr, Jahūr and Arhum. I asked and spoke: ,Whose guardhouse is this, whom is it guarding, and who is stuck in it-bonds?u

I asked, and they said to me,In this guardhouse is fixed-everyone who fought and stole, who swore and lied." I then he asked, and said,To what things are those souls like the ugly things they do in the world?" I asked, and you said to me: 'Those souls are like: they are thinner than a stick and blacker than the hair on the head. You throw them into a device in the

---

1) Read according to the previous sentence נאסגון.

2) Siche Nöldeke, Zeitschr. for Assyriology XXX (1916), p. 149.

3) Continue in this pieces and otherwise will be related beings soon as several beings, soon regarded as one.

A block of feet, in oppression, confinement, and punishment, and you kick them settle. You crush them, but they don't get sweet, you fry them, but they do not become tender. Those souls long for a second death, but the second death does not come upon them. Jūr, Jahur and Arhum languages to me: ,, O man, give us your name and your sign, which you from the waves of the water, from the treasures of splendor and from the you have received the great baptism of Light." [183] I told him my name and my sign, whereupon Jūr, Jahür and Arhum bowed down before me in deep bowing.

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that I was afraid, Fear and terror of me are no longer there. I went and came according[1] to another watchhouse, according to that of the pilpin-pipin, the Ruha dQudša has been enveloped in dark clouds of fog. I asked and spoke: ,Whose guardhouse is this, whom is it guarding, and who is stuck in it-bundles?e

I asked, and they said to me: 'In this watchhouse are the Vögte, judges and rulers who push the boundaries and move the boundary stones. (There are) the women who ver their milk-who kill their children and keep the children of their comrades alive, who beg for a fat bite and for sweetened cups. That Crying, whining and complaining of their children rises before the big, first Life on high. The women who sell their milk, you hang on their breasts until the day, the day of judgment, until the hour, the Hours of salvation, because they kill their children and the children of their-raising female ferries."

I asked and said: 'To what things do those souls resemble with the ugly works that you practice in the world?" I asked, and they talked to me:Those souls are like the fat bucks you suddenly grab and throwing it on coals. You throw them in a device, in the foot block, in Oppression, confinement, and punishment, and they are put down. You crush them, but they will not be sweet, they will be roasted, but they will be not at all. Those guilty souls long for a second death in the world of darkness, but the second death does not come upon them." [184] Pilpin-Pipin spoke') to me: 'You man, give us your name and your sign, which you took from the waves of the water, from the treasures and from the great baptism of light." I called to him my name and my sign, on which Pilpin-Pipin bowed in front of me in deep bowing.

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that I was afraid, The fear and terror of me are no more. I went and came according to another watchhouse, that of the vain Jesus Christ. I asked and said, 'Whose guardhouse is this, and who is bound in it?t

---

1) See above.

I asked, and they said to me, 'In this watchhouse there is a anyone who denies life and confesses Christ." I then he asked and said, 'To what things are those souls like with the ugly works that you practice in the world?" I asked, and they talked to me: Those souls are like a large and numerous flock of sheep before Christ. Christ leads them to the sea') and places them by the sea on. They ask him for water, but the shore of the sea is high and the water of the sea deep. You want to drink water, but you have no"). Then the souls say to Christ: 'Christ, our Lord! As we were still in that world, we (others) clothed with clothes and wrapped up with envelopes, obtained ransoms and alms and benefits granted; why do we now wish to drink water and have none?"

Then Christ says to the souls: 'In whose name have you dressed in clothes and wrapped in covers, makes lots of purchases and Alms and benefits granted?the souls of Christ respond to this: ,,On [185] the name of the upper being and the name of the lower In the name of Jesus Christ, in the name of the Holy Spirit, in the name of the god of the Nazarenes") and in the name of the Youngwife, her father's daughter." Then Christ says to the souls: 'That the upper being is heaven, the lower being is earth, Jesus Christ I am, the Holy Spirit is here."

The man of proven justice*) passed by him and brought the whole tribe of souls that was with ilm past him. Christ then said to the man of tried righteousness: 'You Man, give us your name and your sign, which you have received from the waves of water, from the treasures of splendor and from the great baptism of the You brought light." I told him my name and my sign, then Christ bowed to me four times in deep bowing.

The souls then said to Christ: 'Christ, our Lord! Say you did not, when we were in that world: there is no greater and strongerkeren than I am; I am the god of gods, the Lord of lords, I am I the king of all worlds, am I the head of all works? There is now the man who passed by you, and you bowed four times in deep reverence to him. Who is he?u

To which Christ replied to the souls: 'This man who is attached to me and before which I bowed four times in deep reverence

---

1) Read ליאמא.

2) Sea water is actually not drinking water. Jn. II, p. 45 ob. the good shepherd his sheep away from the sea, but brings them water to drink, apparently from Our seas. Of course, in many cases the sea and the great river are not separated by the Semites- it was held, probably, precisely with regard to the Euphrates Lucian, De dea Syria, cap. 13.

3) The text says, "the Nāşöräer".

4) The representation is extended here by a foreign piece, in which the soul is not, but Mandā dHaije passes by the guardhouses with the souls of the believers.

bowed, did not mention the name of the superior being, the name of the lower being, he did not name the name of the Holy Spirit he did not mention the name of Christ, he did not mention the name of he did not mention the name of the god of the Nazarenes, the name of the Virgin, of her father's daughter, he did not name.they spoke [186] Souls to Christ: ,,Christ, our Lord, throw us again on three days in our body, then we want to sell all our belongings, to the Jordan come down and tell us the name of this man who passed by you- he left, got baptized." But Christ replied to the souls: 'O ye to those who have stumbled, you have stumbled! Did you, when you were still in that The world has seen that a child who has lost the body of his mother- i would have introduced you back to his mother, that I would have put you back on throw three days into your body, that you may sell all your possessions, for Go down to the Jordan and call on the name of this man who is on me has passed, let them be baptized')? Christ also spoke to the souls: ,Don't you know, you who have stumbled, you who have stumbled? I am the vain Messiah, rubbed for tribulation, wise to evil, the the gates of sleep changed, the works of the spirit twisted, the the men of God, and they are in the mighty clouds of the Finsternis throws. When I showed you pegs and keys"), I beguiled you and made you greedy. I gave you gold and silver so that you could give me in the darkness, in the place where we stand, keep company.

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that I was afraid, Fear and terror of me are no longer there. I went and came according to another watchhouse, that of Jorabba. I asked and spoke: ,Whose guardhouse is this and who is tied up in it?e

I asked, and they said to me: 'In this guardhouse are all The great and the great are bound"); those who are bound with great bushels (Ardebs) take [187] and give with small bushels the interest and interest-interest, percentages and percentages, which the poor can only take after his And look at the king only according to his royal dignity*), which To push the poor and needy away from their gates, and not to give alms give."

I asked and said: 'What things do these souls resemble with the ugly things they do in the world?" I asked, and you they said to me: 'Those souls are like fat goats that you suddenly from her mother and fry on coals. As you have done, does tell them"), as they ate, you eat them. The One thing you increase

---

1) About this post and its relationship with Ev. Jn. 3, 4 see Jn. II, p. 122 f.

a) Maybe there was a picture of Christ with keys floating in front of him, as it was based on an Apokal. 1, 18; 3, 7, or an image of Peter, who stood for Christ was held.

a) A reference to the name Jõrabbā, i.e. the great Jõ (Jao).

4) I read with deletion of NS.

5) Read אבדילון.

to them sevenfold, and wrath comes upon them. Those guilty souls wun- a second death in the world of darkness, but it does not come about them."

Jorabbā said to me'): 'You man, give us your name and your sign, which you took from the waves of the water, from the treasures of the 5 And from the great baptism of Light." I called to him my name and my sign, whereupon Jõrabba bowed four- in front of me in a deep bow.

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that I was afraid, Fear and terror of me are no longer there. I went there and came according to another guardhouse, that of the Rūha dQudša"), which is on the mouth the devourer") Karafiun is sitting. The harp of lust is on her Shoulder, and she complains with her six hundred and sixty offspring*). Either of Viper is around you. She speaks with zithers and calls the twelve men who Traders"), who have committed to her. These speak to her: ,,Our Mistress, why did you call us and why do you want us?i would like to she replies to them: 'I have called you and you have been saved by me.'- wish for the same oil and bad luck on the mouth of the devourer Karafiun." She holds a rattle in her hand") and sits on her mouth the devourer Karafiun. She rattles after [188] the twelve wickets, the believe in them, and throw them into it. She says to them: ,Go, go, my children, I will close the gate and follow you." You walking around in the mouth of the Karafiun and can not get along grope and grope to go and lean on them.

The man of proven righteousness') passed by him and brought with him the whole tribe of souls. Then woke up the devouring Karafiun said to Ruha dQudša: 'Where have you been? Why didn't you hand over to me the man who passed by me- is it happening?and she said to him, 'At that time and in that hour your mouth resembled an ant's slit, which, when a wind comes and a leaf falls out, becomes clogged."

---

1) Read pobanDN.

°) She is identical with the "Juugfrau, the daughter of her father", the owner of the the second guardhouse. So you don't expect a special guardhouse from her here. Muchleicht is originally the actual owner Karafiun and Rūhā dQudšā has only one side-played a role.

3) NDND, according to the Mandaean, should have this meaning, siche Nöldeke, time- shear. for Assyriology XXX (1916), p. 150, but perhaps the שָׂרָף Hebrüisch basically, see the description below.

4) Pers. farzend, cf. die 67 Töchter oben, p. 184, 16. But it is at least safe. ,'It is filled with 660 cores' (syr. talm, does not fit.

5) The 12 apostles who roam like traders.

6) Perhaps the description is based on a picture of Isis with the sistrum. For Isis pictures with the snake, see RoscheR, Lexikon der griech. and rom. Mythologie II, 1, col. 533.

7) See above, p. 1874.

The man of proven justice climbed up and looked at the outer Ãther and the light residence. Then life spoke to him Man of proven justice: 'To what things does the world equalize?' the one you came for? Who likes Ruha, Christ and the planets in your guardhouses?" The man of proven experience replied to him." Justice: ,,Ruha, Christ and the planets are like flies that fly on sitting on the edge of a pot. Their wings are hit by the steam, who comes up to them, so that they fall into the pot."

Life rejoiced and clothed the man of tried and tested-righteousness with splendor. It brought light and covered him with it. It provided in the place of safety, in the place from which one searches and finds, you ask and it is granted.

Life is victorious over all works, victorious is') the tribe the Naşorean who stuck to the name of Jawar, and victorious is Manda dHaije and those who love his name.

This is the book ,My measure in the world became full to me."

Fourth piece.

Baptize Mandā dHaijē's through John the Baptist and John's death and ascension. See also Siouffi, p. 11 et seq., Brandt, Rel., p. 137ff., 218ff. and above, p. 51, 153, where Hibil-Zīwā represents Mandā dHaijē's position.

In the name of the great life.

These are the sayings [189] of Jõhana the Baptist, when he crossed the Jordan the living water"), baptized with the living baptism and gave the name life talked about it.

Manda dHaije went to Johanā the Baptist and said to him:, Johanā, baptize me with your baptism, with which you baptize, and talk about tell me something about the name you used to pronounce.

Then Johānā said to Mandā dHaijē: 'My stomach is hungry for food and my body thirsty for drink. I collect herbs and true silences. I long for peace, but the souls are pressing at me"). Now the morning should break, come, then I will baptize you." As Manda dHaije stood there, he raised his eyes to the place where all shine, according to the great place that is all light, and spoke a

---

1) The text says ,you were victorious."

2) i.e. used it, see Brandt, Rel., p. 100f.

3) The faithful (see p. 139°) who want to be baptized.

Prayer, which was very big, not small. He said: 'To you I address a request, to the first life, the second life, the third life, to Jofin-Jofafin, to Sām, the well-kept Mānā, to the vine, the the great tree, which is completely healed, at Oṣar-Hai and Pta-hai, who create the creation of life and the planting of the Light planting'), I am making a very big, not a small request to you. About this hour in which I stand, I ask, about the twelve hours of the Day and the twelve hours of the night, over the twenty-four hours, that they should be equal to one hour. The wheels (2) of the day are the the wheels of the night are those of the day. Sleep and Slumber may come upon the eyes of Johanā. He slumbered and lay there, and let his soul be equal to the good Enoš [190] in his glory"). Immediately I want to ask him and talk to him about baptism, with whom he baptizes, in this hour in which we stand."

Manda dHaije goes and comes from the place of all splendor, from the place that is completely light, from the place where he is over the twelve Hours of the day and the twelve hours of the night were granted: they will be like an hour. The wheels of the day were taken away; they became those of the night. The wheels of the night were gone- they became those of the day. It was evening, it was Tomorrow, it became night, it became day. Sleep and slumber came over the eyes of Johanā. He slumbered and slept, then he woke up, sneeze'), put his right hand over his eyes and rubbed his sleep out of sight. Then Manda dHaije said: 'Greetings to you, Master Johanā, greiser Father, great honor." Then Johanā said to Manda dHaije: 'Come in peace, little boy, whom I already ordered to Jordan yesterday have. Today I will not deceive you." That's when Manda dHaije spoke to Johanā: "Well, let the Jordan flow freely"), spread out your arms, accept me, baptize me with your living baptism, with which you will and speak about me something of the name that you pronounce- and take care of it."

Johanā replied to Mandā dHaijē: 'Forty-two years I took the Jordan, I baptized people in the water, and still got me no one called to the Jordan. Now I want to be with you, little boy of Three years and a day, go to the Jordan."

---

1) An ancient formula of prayer, which also recurs variously in the liturgies, see Lit. 141, 2; 15, 5; 84, 3, also further down, p. 196, 11.

2) The wheels on which the celestial bodies rotate, thus forming the time, they Lit. p. 1298. 3) See above, p. 184, 12.

4) The word is found only in this place. It is also used in the Targūm to 2. Könn. 4, 35 used by the boy who was revived by Elisha (heb. 77) Of course it stands R 241, 18; Lit. 55, 1 for "sneeze" non. Should papnony have the sense "yawn" here, what is more expected here?

6) Cf. p. 196.

Then Manda dHaije asked Johanā: 'What is the baptism with which you are baptized?' christening?" [191] Then Johanā said to Manda dHaijē: 'I throw the People in the Jordan like sheep before the shepherd. I'm moving with my Pour water over them and speak the name of life over them." Then Manda dHaije Johanā asked the Baptist, 'Whose name do you speak about them at the baptism you baptize ')Pu

Then all the disciples opened their mouths like one and spoke to Johānā: 'For forty-two years you have been performing baptism, and you have never- mand called you to the Jordan, except for this little boy. Ver- do not pay attention to the words that he spoke."

The disciples urged Johana, and Johanā got up and went into the Jordan, let the Jordan flow freely, spread his arms, received Manda dHaije and he said to him, 'Come, come, little boy of three years, and one day, the smallest among his brothers and the oldest among his Fathers, who is small, but whose speeches are significant."

Then Manda dHaije went to Johānā on the Jordan. When the Jordan when Manda dHaije saw him, he jumped and hopped towards him and hopped over its banks. Johanā stood above the first mouth in the water and under the last mouth between the waters"). He swims and has does not have the strength to stand. Manda dHaije saw Johanā and was grieved about him"). The radiance of Manda dHaije pressed on the Jordan, and when the Jordan saw the splendor of Manda dHaije, he turned backwärts*), and Johanā stood in the drying.

Mandā dHaije then approached Johānā and said to him: 'Baptism baptize me with your pure baptism, and say something of the name about me, which you used to pronounce. '

Then Johana said to Manda dHaije: 'A thousand times a thousand men- I have let it descend into the Jordan, and ten thousand times I baptized ten thousand souls [192] in the water. A man who, has not yet passed through my hands. Now it's here What shall I baptize you in? '

Then Manda dHaije said to Johānā: 'As far as the water goes, go you too, and I want to go with you. Baptize me with your pure baptism, with whom you used to baptize, and say about me something of the name, which you used to pronounce." As far as the Jordan receded and the When the water was dry, Johana went there, and Manda dHaije went with him. The splendor of the Manda dHaije spread over the Jordan and its banks. The fish opened their mouths from the sea, the birds from the two

---

1) The question does not fit, since Jōhānā has already told him before, that in the name of baptism of life. She is also without an answer.

2) Above the anus and below the actual mouth.

8) The assumed meaning of FN-nany, which is found only in this place, is unsafe. See zu -pboyny5 L 90, 26: Nöld., pp. 366 unt.

4) See above, p. 178, 32, also Brandt, Schr., p. 2001.

Shores of the World Ocean. They praised Manda dHaije and spoke to him: ,,Blessed be you, Manda dHaije, blessed be the place from which you came- be praised and strengthened be the great place to which you are going.'

As the voice of the fish from the sea and the voice of the birds having penetrated from the two shores of the world Ocean into the ear of Johānā, he- he knew that it was Manda dHaije who went with him. Then Johanā spoke to Manda dHaijē: ,,You are the man in whose name I am the living Baptism baptised." - ,,In whose name do you baptize?"" he asked him. On it Johana replied to Manda dHaijē: 'In the name of the one who is open to me- barte, in the name of the future one who is to come, as well as the well-being- Mānā, who is to reveal himself. Now you put your hand to the Kuštā and your great right of healing to me") and talk about me, your planting that you planted, [your name off]. In let the first and the last be confirmed to your name."

Then Manda dHaije said to Johānā: 'When I put my hand on if you lie down, you will be eliminated from your body." Then Johanā spoke to Mandā dHaije: ,,I saw you, now I don't want to be here anymore. I i have seen you and reached you*), now I ask you for Kuštā. [193] Ver- do not dam me away from you, from the place from which you came be. Arm me and give me orders for the great place to which you shouldest. Be gracious to me and reveal to me about the mysteries of the kings"), about the great fruit of the light, about the anvils and fruits of the Earth, (knowing) what they are pressed on, over the anvils of water, from which the living fire spreads*), in which the life dwells, (to know) who is earlier and greater than the other."

When [Manda dHaije] heard this, the Johanā .). ......He took off his dress to him in the Jordan, he took off his dress to him from flesh and blood"), he clothed him with a robe of And covered him with a good, pure turban of light.

⟨Manda dHaije continued on his way to the place of all splendor, after the place, which is quite light, and Johanā went with him.> fish from the sea and the birds from the two shores of the World Ocean they gathered over the body of the Jöhānā and covered it. As Jö- when hanā saw his body, he was grieved over it. Then Manda spoke dHaijē to Johanā: ,,Why are you grieved over the flesh and blood that

---

1) Cf. Lit., p. 5. 5.

*) Cf. Joh. II, p. 1484. a) See above, p. 6°.

*) The anvils of the earth, on which it rules, are called more often. Also the fruit the light, as its primordial container, is understandable. The fruits are less understandable the earth is filled with anvils and anvils of water. probably refers to NDntnD, not on NNd.

9) The words are hardly in order. The writing and reading is perhaps influenced by the place name (R 330, 14).

c) He stripped the body from the soul.

i undressed you? If you want, I want you back in the same introduce."

Then Johana said to Manda dHaijē: 'Blessed and blessed be the man who stripped me of the robe of flesh and blood, made me has redeemed and freed them. Praised, glorified, consolidated and honored be the chosen man who dresses me with the robe of splendor and covered with the good, pure turban of light, (in which I was>'). No, I grieved for my children, who are full of zeal, which I had to leave behind without anyone to instruct them may."

Then Manda dHaijē replied to him: 'Who in your mind and in your Your heart will also dwell in the mind and in the heart of your children. My son, I know why you grieved." Then Johanā spoke to Mandā dHaije: 'You too know the hearts and see through the senses. Hearts, [194] Liver and kidneys are spread out before you like the sun. You split a hair and see what's in it. You realize what's in Light and what is in the darkness." So his mouth spoke in Glorious-from the foam") of the water and from the ophans of the water"). Then (Manda dHaije) took sand from the sea and from the two shores of the world ocean, stood down and threw it over the body of Johanā. Of on that day the covering of the bodies happened.

Manda dHaije continued on his way to the place that was completely shining, after the place, which is quite light, and Jōhānā went with him. He went and came after the watchhouse of the saint") Ptahil, the bar of splendor, is cut off from the light, which life is cut off from, he left his community. It set him apart in a And let him sit there alone.

When Ptahil beheld Manda dHaije, his throne bowed down under him. He rose from him, praised and blessed Manda dHaije and spoke to him: 'Blessed be you, Manda dHaije, blessed be the place from which you have come, and blessed, glorified and strengthened be the great The place you are going to. Be merciful to me before the mighty life in the Height, which has fallen over me and tied me up") and has not let him ascend to see life on high."

---

1) These words do not belong here. Maybe you were originally behind ,,Ge-wall of flesh and blood".

2) At d you could go here to hebr. F)n ,shore" thinking. But this comes otherwise not in Mandaean. In contrast, ND DN R 210, 1 (also code Sab. Paris. 25, f. 15 b, 1. 8) the meaning "foam" certainly, and this meaning may also be present here.)

[3] NINDy puts olne right sense here again, see p. 44 unt. and Lit., p. 1295. There is no need to think about bucket wheels here.

4) N27NP, see also p. 801.

5) For NDN'OND, which is found only at this point, stands R 195, 9 NNdNtd. Which Identity is secured by NNDd R 306, 19f. It is probably something like ,,about- fallen shell" (Nöld., pp. 103, 5). For NsBp there is otherwise the meaning "fetter"

Then Mandā dHaije said to Johānā: 'Tell this noble, that the forgiveness of life was granted to him. Even you, the men- i have made him like one of the kings"), like the great Uthras from the House of Glory. Go, deliver the words to him."

Then Johanā said to Ptahil: 'The forgiveness of life has been granted 5 you and your father"), the Uthra, the man who equipped you- and sent him here."

Manda dHaije continued on his way to the place that was completely shining, according to the place, which is quite light. He left and came after the wake-house of the high Abathur. A thousand times a thousand (standing there), [195] around the 10 Raise your eyes to him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stand before to him (at his service). They hold high*) his throne, which is high and on which he sits.

When Abathur saw Manda dHaije, he got up from his throne. Then Manda dHaije said to Abathur: 'Stay, stay, Abathur, on your 15th birthday The throne, which is high, magnificent and preserved, which the mighty life the amount he has given you." Then Abathur spoke to Manda dHaijē: When you go, remember me before life." That's when Manda spoke dHaije to Abathur: ,,When I go, speak and tell, so will they will come and take your throne among the men, the sons of salvation, 20 lift up. If I go and speak and be well heard, so two angels will come from above. You will meet the high-hang high between the top of your Škinā and the mighty life-lift"). They will make you hear and speak to you, and they will let them hear the mighty life and say that Manda dHaije has gone 25 Abathur Kuštā.

Manda dHaije continued on his way to the place that was completely shining, after the place, which is quite light, and Johanā went with him. They went and came to the four men, the sons of salvation: In-Hai (life- source), Šum-hai (life name), Zīw-hai (life gloss), Nhūr-Hai (life- 30 light)"). The man of tried righteousness") took him (Johanā) and put him in the place of safety. He took Johanā by the hand and put him in the place of safety. The Uthras showered him with

---

(Jn. II, p. 992; but NölDEKe, Zeitschr. for Assyriology XXX, 1916, p. 154), and this sense seems to be present here too, since we find R 340, 8 NNDITD together with mobile. Much- easy to read.

1) Maybe to read.

2) See above, p. 62.

8) i.e. the Abathur.

4) could at best mean, "you establish him" his throne. Maybe it's Abs(1)AND read.

°) I suspect, or rather. MD(1)nD.

4) See Lit. 83, 3.

7) i.e. Mandā dHaijē, see p. 187, 22; furthermore, this means Jōhānā. Hardlich is an object here, with relation to Jöhānā, otherwise it stands.

Orders of Prayer, Prayers, Masses and Hymns and languages: ',,Come, let's go and see the man who came from the Tibil the man of proven righteousness, who is truly and firmly of faith has remained in the midst of the evil plots and under the throne of the ancient Abathur." Each individual clothes him with a part of his Shine, each one covers him with a part of his light. You they sprang up and clothed him with garments of living fire, which were without The end and number are.

Johanā now stood there in the place of all splendor, in the place of all is light. He stood there in a faith that was very big, not small. And [196] Johana said: 'To you I make a request, to the first Life, the second life, the third life, to Jofin-Jofafin, 'to Sam, the well-kept Mānā, to the vine that lives entirely, to the great Oşar-Hai and Pta-Hai, who created the of life, plant the planting of the light, and the first- in the house of life'), to you I address a very large, not a small request: according to this hour in which I am standing, ent- speaking of this ascension with which I ascended, may all be true- and the people of faith, who, with the sign of the, baptized with pure baptism, and over which the name the great, first life is spoken of."

Blessed be life, life is victorious, and victorious is the Man who went here.

Fifth piece.

The play is called ,the Book of Šilmai, the lord of the house". The name- nung ,Lord of the house" probably has the same meaning here as in the Mandaean script- tum; it is the Lord of the earthly world2). This designation leads otherwise the evil, and also Šilmai seems to be one of the subterranean ones. He belongs to the circle of the Rūhā and is maybe even thought of as her son. But his father Jathrūn will be par excellence the, and has its seat at the gate of the house of life. On the advice of Rühä Šilmai goes to his father, who, however, is not edified by his appearance. He 'he wants to kill him, but his entourage advises him to put him to the test- pull and, depending on the failure, take it with you or descend into the depths again- send. Jatlrün does so, and the long series of questions and answers about the different- the things of nature are probably the real purpose of the composition. Šilmai beant-

---

1) See p. 191.

2) On the use of the expression in Semitic paganism see Ephemeris III, p. 88.

answers all questions to Jathrün's satisfaction, only about the end of the world can he tell him do not give any information. Then Hibil-Zīwā appears and instructs him about it. He give the information to the Father, and he asks him from whom he received it. Which The answer that it comes from Hibil-Zīwā does not please the Father, and he rejects him.

The book seems to be of foreign origin. Šilmai can only be found elsewhere- together with Nidbai; they are keepers of the Jordan. Only L 8, 9 is Šilmai alone as In- he was called the keeper of a guard louse and the key keeper of the light. Likewise, his father Jathrün otherwise unknown'), and the expression can also be found except for R 276, 23 only in this book.

In the name of the great life.

The Lord of greatness

and shone through the Uthras, his sons. This is the mystery and book of Šilmai, the lord of the house. In the name of the one who came, in the name of the one who comes, and in the name of him who shall arise. In the name of that strange man, who penetrated through the worlds, came, split the firmament and opened- beard"). He enlightened and came to the škīnās of all the planets, directed his He 'sat on the throne and sat on it. The Good One pondered, recognized and he taught himself about the past, present and future, and about that mountain, Mount Carmel*).

He came and found the seven and the twelve heroes in their hands and over the months, years, sauce'), days, Seconds, hours of birth °) and times.

Ewath, the lying Rūhā, came calling every single man at the Shei commissioned every single man with works, [197] she called she commissioned them and sent them into this world. She also called Šilmai, the Lord of the house, and said to him: 'Šilmai, Lord of the house, get up early get up early in the morning, go to the bank of the Jordan and to the good Containers of remedies. Wash your hands in Kuštā and clean your Fingers in the light, powerful (water?) Jordan. Climb up and go before your Father Jathrun, the perfect man. When your father when he sees you, he will show you the kingship, the goodness and the victory of these 'Let the world go."

Like Ewath, the lying Ruha, to Šilmai, the lord of the house, spraclı, so he did. He got up early in the morning, went to the shore of the Jordan and of the large, good container of remedies. He washed his hands in Kušta and cleaned his fingers in the light, powerful

---

1) A lamp Jattīr-Jathrün" see p. 146, 17. *)

See Lit. 11, 11; 77, 3; 128, 2; 142, 11.

a) On which the wicked hold their meetings, see p. 121.

4) Siche oben, p. 132°.

d) See above, p. 106*.

c) The word is found only in this place. It does not belong to yévos, but like the Jewish NNDa for yevédios, for example yevédios õpa.

(Water) of the Jordan. He rose before his father Jathrün, the-menen man, rising to the height, bent his body and bowed down his father.

When his father saw him, the good man, who had never seen him before, was angry- the good man, who had never been angry, was angry. He wanted to tamping the earth Tibil'), corrupting him, bringing him to the great spheres of the Firmness*) and they hang on their face to the face of the earth-plunge.

Before him stood three hundred and sixty-two disciples. Then they spoke to her Father, the perfect Man: 'You have, O Jathrun, in your And at your baptism you will be told that at the gate there is no anger or anger in the house, in life. When you are at Šilmai, to the Lord of the house, to search for the ordinances-9) and words, the depths of Naşaism and the interpretations of this world, if he gives it to you, let him have a throne among men, his fathers, build it. Are you looking for him and he will grant it to you not so, he may [198] go back to that world from which he came.

The good man calmed down and said to him: 'Šilmai, Master of the house! A word is to me from the house of life about the orders, Characteristics and words, about the depths of Nazareth and the Deu- this world: where did this earth come from, where did the The anvil is placed to whom*) the great Huš°) was given*)."

To this he replied: 'My father! This earth has been fixed-forges'). The anvil is supported on the black water. The great Huš is given to the liar."

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit on your great throne of honor, which is yours between the men, your Fathers, it is built.

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his Student, asked him and said to him: ,,0 Šilmai, Master of the house! A Word is to me from the house of life about the orders, Peculiar to-works and words, about the depths of Naşaerism and the interpretations

---

1) The turn also Joh. 276, 6.

2) Although the spheres move, they still have their solidity. NNw stelit not in the sense of ,,firmament, firmament."

a) NEND probably also has this sense here, see p. 7 °.

4) After the following is to read.

5) The word is found only here and R 273, 10. There it is a designation for the "great sea"; this should probably also be the case here.

d) It is not a direct question. He is informed about this; the question to Šilmai is add.

7) I suspect that here stands for 527. Over the past 7, often around-see Nöld., p. 66.

about this world: where did these firmaments come from, where did they come from they know what they are hanging on to and how they are enlightened."

To this he replied: 'My father! These firmaments exist out of seven heavy ') water mists that Ptahil by the power that will be Father Abathur gave it to him, stretched it out and lifted it up. Between every single one of them has lights of brilliance, and they will be illuminated by the By the power of Kings*)."

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit get up. your great throne of honor, which was given to you between the men, your Fathers, it is built."

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his And said to him: ' Šilmai, Master of the house! [199] A word is to me from my father's house about the orders, characteristics and words, about the depths of Naşaism and the interpretations about this world comes from: whence the sun, whence its nature"), whence its Heat, where its cold comes from, where its shine is from."

To this he replied: 'My father! The sun is out of the earth their nature is derived from the nature of the Seven, their heat and cold are from the heat and cold of the Ptahil, their splendor is from the splendor of the 20th century the mighty, strange life, the sublime, which stands above all works.«

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit on your great throne of honor, which is yours between the men, your Fathers, it is built.«

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his And said to him: 'Šilmai, Master of the house! One word is too from the house of life about the orders, characteristics and Words, about the depths of Nāşaraerism and the interpretations about these Where the Moon comes from, where its nature comes from, where its brightness comes from- where its convenience *) is."

To this he replied to him: 'My father! The moon is out of the earth its nature is derived from the nature of the planets, its brightness and pleasantness is of the brightness and pleasantness of the great, beloved, the first Sām-Zīwā, of the man whose škīnā was born over the hundred of and seven and sixty mighty, upper worlds of light rests. Every world measures for himself a thousand times a thousand miles, and ten thousand times ten thousand Škīnās rest in it"), living in each individual škīnā a thousand times

---

4) is probably to be understood here in this way; not in the sense of ,, expensive, precious."

2) i.e. the heavenly beings. Have a CD ,the Angel."

3) NINDD stands for NIND here as well as more often for NIND.

1) The pleasant coolness that he spreads.

5) Perhaps AEy127 is repeated only by mistake from the following, so that it is called would "camp a thousand times a thousand miles and ten thousand times a thousand skīnās".

a thousand uthras, and from each individual uthra a skina is inhabited."

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit to your great throne of honor, [200] which is yours among men, your fathers, it is established."

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his Student, asked him and said to him: ,,Šilmai, Master of the house! A Word has come to me from my Father's house about the ordinances, Peculiar to- and words, about the depths of Nazarism and the interpretations where the water comes from, where its nature comes from, where his good taste, where his strength is from."

To this he replied to him: 'My father! The water is from the earth his nature is of the nature of the Seven, his power is of the The power of darkness and its good taste from the good taste of the live water."

Then he said to him: ' Beautiful is what you have told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit on your great throne of honor, which is yours between the men, your Fathers, it is built."

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his Student, asked him and said to him:,,Silmai, Master of the house! A Word has come to me from my Father's house about the ordinances, Peculiar to-works and words, about the depths of Naşaerism and the interpretations from this world: whence the fire, from what its nature, from where to be Look where his smoke is from."

To this he replied: 'My father! The fire is from the earth his nature is of the nature of the Seven, his power is of the By the power of darkness and [its smoke] from the house of Satan Ismaël').

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit on your great throne of honor, which is yours between the men, your Fathers, it is built.

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his Student, asked him and said to him:,,Silmai, Master of the house! A Word is to me from the house of life about the orders, Peculiar to- writings and words, about the depths of Naşaerism and the interpretations about [201] this world comes: from where the wind, from what its nature, from where its power, whence its convenience is.

To this he replied: 'My father! The wind is out of the earth his nature is of the nature of the Seven, his power is of the The power of darkness and its comfort from the comfort of Airwaves."

---

1) From Samaël, which, incidentally, is otherwise known as the name for the devil among the Mandaeans not found, Ishmael was made, with allusion to the hated Arabs.

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit on your great throne of honor, which is yours between the men, your Fathers, it is built.«

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his Student, asked him and said to him: ,Šilmai, Master of the house! 'A Word is to me from the house of life about the orders, Peculiar to-works and words, about the depths of Naşaerism and the interpretations they come across this world." And he said to him, 'What are the superiors, 'as for the lower things?u

To this he replied to him: 'The upper things are the firmament, the lower the earth."

Then he asked him: 'Will the firmament become pregnant before the earth, or will the earth become pregnant before the firmament?"

To this he replied: 'My father! The firmament brings rain and dew, and the earth opens its mouth and absorbs it. Then bring they produce fruits, seeds and fruits of which the children of Adam eat and drink without thanking their Lord."

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, set on your great throne of honor, which is yours between the men, your Fathers, it is built.

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his Student, asked him and said to him: ,,Šilmai, Master of the house! A 'Word has come to me from the house of life about the ordinances, Eigen-works and words, about the depths of Naşaerism and the interpretations they come across this world. Then he said to him, 'Who are the outer ones, who are the inner things?e

To this he replied to him: 'The external things are the man who inside the woman').

Then he asked him: "Does the man receive before the woman, or does he receive the woman in front of [202] the man ?t

To this he replied to him: 'The seed forms in the body of the man through forty-two days. Then he gives the seed to the woman, the The stem, the root and the copulation, and from them the marrow, the Bones and tendons."

Then he asked him, 'What does the woman give to the child?u To this he replied to him: "She gives him the blood, the skin, the pictures2) and the hair."

Then he asked him: 'What is the origin of the child in the mother and what makes it grow?e

---

1) Probably related to the genitals and the type of mating.

2) It is uncertain what is meant by this, perhaps the other forms.

To this he replied to him: 'The child grows through the Seven mysteries his father and mother1)"

Then he asked him: "Where does the food for the child come from before

To this he replied to him: 'The food for the child comes from the 5 Inside the mother."

Then he asked him: 'When the measure is full for the child and it is- should be born, how is it born?4

To this he replied: 'My father! When the measure for the child when it is full, you throw contractions to the mother") in the inner hips, it beats 10 Children with ....huge ... "). Then the head turns down and the lower legs up. Then the child is born."

Then he said to him, 'Beautiful is what you told me, beautiful are the secret words that come out of your mouth. Go, sit on your great throne of honor, which is yours between the men, your 15 Fathers, is established."

When he wanted to go and sit down, the master called his Student, asked him and said to him: ,,Šilmai, Master of the house! A Word is to me from the house of life about the orders, Peculiar to- works and words, about the depths of Naşaerism and the interpretations 20 is in this world." And he said to him, 'When the measure of the world is full, in what way will it be full of Pu

All the information that his father wanted from him, he knew in his To give it to him; he did not know this information in his Use your senses to give it to him. He felt humiliated and sat down 25 [203] below the three hundred and sixty-two disciples.

There went and came the treasure of light, the great rest and support of the Life*), found him and said to him: , Why are you sitting there, Šilmai, Lord the house of Pu

To which he replied: 'My father wanted information from 30 to me, whom I did not know in my mind, to give them to him."

Then he said to him: 'The information that your Father wanted from you, I know in my mind. When your father invites you in front of him and he says to you: 'Did you know this information in your mind and gave it not to me, or did one of the Uthras, the Sons of Light, have you did 35 teach you that?ts), so say to him: ,I knew her in my sense,

---

1) There is also other mention of seven mysteries (R 314, 7; Lit. 148, 1; Morg. 183, 6); of the "seven mysteries that sit in the body" Lit. 36, 5. Here are probably the inner Body parts (such as the heart, lungs, liver, bile, spleen, stomach, kidneys) and their activity- assume. 2) See Lit., p. 36".

a) Npp is only found at this point; the meaning is uncertain. That otherwise frequent means,overturning." it's not all right. Maybe there is a there was a great deal of corruption before and originally there was a "brain".

4) See also Lit. 25, 12; 75, 4; 80, 4; 125, 4; 129, 4. Here it is with it, as from p. 204, 1 to erselen is meant, Hibil-Zīwā. ") and yet I did not give them to you, because my foot was not safe from you and not on my sole'). Then say to him, 'If this The measure of the world is full, the earth falls into ...), and the sky wraps together like mats. The sun aims its shine, the moon draws its brightness is off, the stars and celestial images fall off like droughts Leaves. The fire goes into its shell, the water into its shells"). The four winds of the house cling to the wings and do not blow*)."

See for the interpretation of the words p. 203, 33ff.

Then he asked him: 'Where are Ruha, Christ, the planets and the Souls of the wicked who have confessed to you? Where are you going, where do you come from and where do you get your apartment?t

To this he replied to him: ,,Rūha, Christ, the planets and the souls the wicked who have confessed to them, call one after another, seize each other by the hand, are tied up, go there and collapse like a Pomegranate of lead") in Ur, the Lord of darkness, in his own big body. It smokes "), the fire is kindled and consumes Ur, the Lord of Darkness, Ewath, the lying Ruhā, the planets and the Souls of the wicked who have confessed to them."

Then Šilmai, the master of the house, arose and went before Jathrūn, the perfect man, and spoke.to him: ,,My father! The information, which thou desirest of me, [204] I will give thee. When the measure of the The world is full, the earth falls into ... ..., and the sky is winding down-together like mats. The sun draws its shine, the moon draws its Brightness out, the stars and celestial images fall off like dry leaves. The fire goes into its shell, the water into its shells. Which four winds of the house grasp at the wings and do not blow. Ruha, Christ, the planets and the souls of the wicked who confessed themselves to them have, call one after another, go to each other, grab each other by the hand, get tied up, go there and rush in like a pomegranate of lead The Lord of darkness, in his own great body. Smoke rises in his stomach, the fire is kindled and consumes Ur, the Lord the darkness, Ewath, the lying Ruha, the planets and the souls the evil ones who have confessed to you."

Then his father said to Shilmai, the lord of the house: you gave this information in your own sense and did not give it to me, or did someone of the Uthras, the Sons of Light, told you?u

---

1) is Persian ustuwär ,"firm, firmness". It has concrete features in Mandaean Has assumed meaning and is associated with foot or heel; on their "Nimby stand firm (R 264, 8; 266, 8, 11; 272, 19; 294, 10). Maybe it means downright Sole of the foot.

2) in addition to this, there is also L 17, 12. The meaning is uncertain, see Nöld., p. 123, 11. It would seem,rubble" od. ühnl. mean.

a) Lics כינינאיון.

4) Anch Joh. 79, 8.

6) You have probably read: Abbot point nine nine imdb 5o).

°) See Z. 29f.

To this he replied: 'Hibil-Zīwa gave me this information-hold on.

Then he said to him: 'Go, go, you who bar the shine, from the The light that life has cut off from itself, and the Uthras have left behind ')."

Life is victorious over all works, and Jawar is victorious-Zīwā and his helpers.

---

1) See above, p. 194, 24.

Sixth book.

Even more peculiar than the book of Šilmai is ,,the book of Dīnānūkht." Dīnānūkht. according to Andreas Iranian Denüzt , "the one who speaks according to religion" (with reference on Yt. 5, 18 and Y. 8, 7, as well as Bartholomae, Altiran. Wörterb., col. 127 S. v. anuy- tayae), is a middle thing between man and book. He is "the ink book of the gods", a book written in ink, here probably still in contrast to inscribed clay tablets. He is constantly sitting over his old and new books and is looking for the secret- to explore the nits of the world. The little Dişai appears in front of him, he too is half human half Book. The name shows the same form qitlai, according to which the Mandaeans usually have names 'be transformed from the religious world, cf. Joli., p. XX. The stem is uncertain. yy to it is found as a designation for the ancient Hebrew script, see my Nordsem. Epigr., p. 190 Anm. however, it is questionable whether the name is related to this. Dişai, small but big-mouthed, comes with big words that do not give Dīnānūkht enlightenment. Dīnānükht throws him into the fire, then into the water, finally he leaves ilm from morning to .The evening is ahead. It seems that Dinänükht is falling asleep and that in Tranme Ewath- It appears to him, who identifies with the higher and lower things of the world. Then a Uthra Dīn-Mlikh comes to him, takes his soul to the body and fills it past the guardhouses. There are supposed to be eight (p. 210, 16), but not all of them are listed. In them Dīnānūkht sees only the wicked and the wicked, but last of all, in the vigilance of the Aba- thur, he chastised the pious for their good deeds. The Uthra also promises him Reward and bliss, but he should only return to the lower world, his books into the Throwing fire and water, and sixty years and sixty months the true faith verkiinden. Dīnānūkht returns to the world, finds the people who kept him filr dead, to complain to him, and cause her to desist from it. He follows the advice of Uthra, throws his books into the fire and into the water, preaching the true faith and rising after the 25th time to get to the house of life.

The story has ancient origins. The wise scribe Diuänükht reminiscent of NDDN N0D 12), "the wise scribe Nbü" in the Aranüische Inscripture from Cappadocia Ephemeris I, p. 325, where one has to read the beginning like this, and here L 29, 6. With the sage sitting between the waters, one thinks of the one on the 30th Ut-Napištim, the great Babylonian flood heroes, who were sitting at the mouth of the streams, in order to more than Dīnānūklit's wife Nūraitā fills the same name as Noalı's wife, see above, p. 46, 4. The language also has old turns, see p. 2061 on aNDDN and p. 2084 to by.

The scripture is quoted by Bar Khōnī in describing the religion of the Doesteans, see Theodorus Bar Koni, Liber Scholiorum ed. Addai Scher II (Corpus Scriptorum Christianorum Orientalium, Scriptores Syri, Textus, Ser. II, tom. 66), p. 347, 6 and Pognon, Inscr. Mandaites, p. 227. Instead of aDD there is to read aDD. Siouffi p. 31 et seq. tells a legend of Dananoukh, who is only slightly concerned with this story- has rungs. Dananoukh receives letters there from the evil spirits, whom he saw in the fire- burns, and his soul is transported from the angel of death through the Matarotho and then through the Olmi-Danhouro led and showed her the punishments of the wicked and the reward of the pious.

In the name of the great life, a remission of sins will be granted to me NN and my wife NN.

Between the waters I sit. I am Dīnānūkht, the wise Scripture-scholars, the ink book of the gods, the powerful, proud, haughty, in whose house there is no master of the house, [205] in whose building, in whose upper Palaces and lower houses there is no aging. These are my books lie on my hands, and my memorial book ') on my two arms. I study in my new books and seek instruction in the old ones. I sense, recognize and teach myself about the past, present and 2).

Then little Dişai came and fell in front of me. I opened it and studied in it. He is small, but his speeches are great), and violent break out the words to him'). He searched in the upper abaddons") and said: ,,There is a life that has been from time immemorial, and there is a kušta, which was at the beginning earlier. There is shine, there is light. There are Death, there is life; there is darkness, there is light°). There is a mistake, it gives truth. There is destruction, there is construction. There is a blow, there gives healing. There is a sublime man who is older and used to he was the builder of heaven and earth."

Dinānukht says: 'I was looking for instruction from the little Dişai and said: 'Where is the life that has been from time immemorial, where is the Kuštā, who has already was earlier at the beginning? Where is the shine, where is the light? Where is the Error, where is the truth? Where is the destruction, where is the construction? Where is the blow, where is the cure? Where is this sublime man, who is older and was there earlier than the builder of heaven and earth?"

---

1) An old expression, cf. Malachi 3, 16; Esther 6, 1; Ezra 4, 15.

a) See also above, p. 197, 18. 3) See above, p. 192, 15.

1) in addition to this, L 59.8 is also found in the case of fire. In Syria- we know them in the sense of "violent", especially from the rain. In Arabic, it is zrf is used by an abundance of words.

8) The Abaddōns (bibl. pABN) actually belong to the underworld, see p. 208, 7 and Lit., pp. 67, 4; 117, 1.

e) This sentence falls in A. The omission must be old, because the corresponding Words in the following paragraphs are missing in all manuscripts.

Then I grabbed little Dişai and burned him in the fire.

Between the waters I sit. I am Dīnānukht, the wise Scripture-scholars, the ink book of the gods, the powerful, proud, haughty, in whose house there is no master of the house, in whose building, in whose upper palaces and lower houses there is no older one. These books are 5 on my hands and my memorial book on my two arms. I study in my new books and seek instruction in the old ones. I sense, know and teach me about [206] past, present and the future.

Then little Dişai came and fell in front of me. I opened it and studied in it. He is small, but his speeches are big, and break violently the words come out to him. He searched in the upper abaddons and spoke: ,,There is a life that has been from time immemorial, there is a kušta that has been in the beginning it was. There is shine, there is light. There is death, there is life. There is darkness, there is light. There is error, there is truth. Es there is destruction, there is construction. There is a sublime man who is older he was the creator of the heavens and the earth."

Dinānukht says: 'I was looking for instruction from the little Dişai and said: 'Where is the life that has always been, where is the Kušta, which has already was it earlier in the beginning? Where is the shine, where is the light? Where is the Death, where is life? Where is the darkness, where is the light? Where is the error, where is the truth? Where is the destruction, where is the-construction? Where is the blow, where is the cure? Where is this sublime A man who is older and was there earlier than the builder of heaven, and the earth?u

Then I grabbed the little Disai and sank him into the water. Between the waters I sit ... (repeat) in the upper Abaddons [207] and spoke: .... as the builder of heaven, and the earth?i

Then I grabbed little Dişai and left him in front of me from the shadow of the morning until the great dawn1) of the evening.

Then Ewath, the Holy Spirit, came to me in my Škinā and he said to me, 'Why are you lying there, Dīnānukht? Why did you like sleep? I am the life that has always been, I am the Kušta, the it was earlier in the beginning. I am the shine, I am the light. I am i am death, I am life. I am the darkness, I am the light. I am the error, I am the truth. I am destruction, I am build. I am the blow, I am the cure. I am the Exalted A man who is older and was there earlier than the builder of heaven, and earth. I have no comrade among kings, and there are otherwise no crown in my kingdom. There is not a single person who could give me a message in the clouds of darkness."

---

3) See Nöld., pp. 127, 22.

Then came Din-Mlikh-Uthra, throwing blows') against the body of Dinā- nukht and brought him out of the body. [208] Winds, take winds Dinānükht hin, storms, storms") drive him away, carrying ladders, ladders let him rise up and let him climb up on rungs. They brought him they lifted him up and placed him in the guardhouse of the Nbaz-Haila of the Lord the darkness, the great anvil of the earth. His throne is on the The tibil is set, its feet rest on the lower abaddöns, and over all the seas the hem of his robe is dragged. A thousand times a thousand [stand before him], and serve ten thousand times ten thousand idols him. Then he said, 'When I saw him, I said to myself that I would bow and bow before him, stretch out my body and give him rates." Doclı Din-Mlikh-Uthra, who accompanied me, did not let me and said to me: 'To whom do you want to bow, Dīnānūkht, and to whom do you want to 'bow to whom do you want to stretch your body and praise it, where the great The life and house of the great first Father are before you Winds, winds take Dinanükht, storms, storms drive him go away, ladders, ladders carry him up and leave him on rungs rise up. They lifted him up and placed him in the guard- house of Zan-Hazazban, the hurtful, the brave, the king of wrath, the Strength and spoilage. His throne is hung at the gate of heaven- composed. To the thief he says: steal, and to the master of the house he says: stay firm stand. To the thief because of the killing and to the master of the house because of the That damage"). A thousand times a thousand stand before him, and ten thousand times ten thousand idols serve him. When I saw him, I wanted to bow and bow before him, stretch out my body, and rates. But Din-Mlikh-Uthra, who accompanied me, did not let me and said to me: 'To whom do you want to bow, Dīnānukht, and to whom do you want to bow

---

1) To DD7, in fact, "kicking with your feet" see Johi. II, p. 694. means here, probably, "kicks, bumps", and the phrase has the meaning indicated in the translation. That ND2 here, as in other places, means "moment" and the sentence roughly means the meaning habe: he threw Dinānūkht into the body for a few moments, is not likely. since Dīnānūkht is in the body. Also Pognon's assumption that N is 'magic look' bedente („Il jeta des sortilèges dans le corps de Dinanouklit", Inscriptions mandaites, p. 240), is not likely.

2) The meaning of the word NDNTy, which is also related in the same context L 7, 5; 8, 7, is just errateu.

a) The word is found only in this place. I take the meaning according to the reason- meaning of 557. „Basket, Beehive" (Levy, Neuhebr. Wörterb. II, p. 54b) does not fit, rather fits Syrian hellthä „Scheide." We have the widespread idea here from the cleft of the earth, which connects the upper surfaces of the earth with the primordial groundwater. Otherwise if the Mandaean expression RPT2 is found for this, see Joh. II, p. 71; Lit. 215, 1.

4) Here is the Canaanite 127 Sy, which is translated into the Aramaic official language of the Achaean-menid times is invaded, siche Sachau, Aramaic Papyrus and Ostraca, p. 282 pp. 727.

5) So that the thief would die and the owner of the house would suffer damage.

to whom do you want to stretch your body and praise it, where the great, are the first lives and the house of the great, first Father before you?"

Winds, winds take Dinānukht, storms, storms drive him away, ladders, ladders carry him up [209] and leave him on rungs rise up. They lifted him up and placed him in the guard- house of Ewath-Ruha, the mother of the unmarried, Qananit, the mother of the "Saints", the inner scorpion poison of darkness. Seven noble women there are those who are not noble women, and seven virgins who are not They can be called virgins. Their breasts are exposed to them, and their Side slotted them. The wreath of fornication and fornication is on main. They take the hearts of the gods, they take the minds of the Caught human children. They take the men by the proud looks"), the women caught by the lustful heart. A thousand times a thousand before her, and ten thousand times ten thousand idols serve her. He spoke: ,When I saw her, I told myself that I would bow down to her and bow down, stretch out my body and praise her. But Din-Mlikh- Uthra, who accompanied me, did not let me and said: ,,In front of whom will you, Dinānukht, bow down and to whom do you want to put your body- and praise him, where the great, first life and the house of the are you a great, first father before you?u Winds, winds take Dinānukht, storms, storms drive him away, ladders, ladders carry him up and leave him on rungs rise up. They lifted him up and placed him in the guard- house of the man Himun"). A thousand times a thousand stand before him, and ten- a thousand times ten thousand idols serve him. When I saw him, I said i myself, I would bow and bow to him, my body reach out and praise him. But Dīn-Mlikh-Uthra, who accompanied me, did not leave me and said: ' To whom do you want to bow, Dīnānūkht and in front of whom do you want to stretch your body and praise it, where the great, first lives and the house of the first, great Father are before you?"

Winds, winds take Dinānukht, storms, storms drive him away, ladders, ladders carry him up and leave him on rungs rise up. They lifted him up and placed him in the guard- the house of Ptahil, the bar of splendor, cut off from the light, the has cut off life behind him, [210] whose head is whiter than the foam of water, whose beard looks like flakes of white wool. He speaks: ,,By my strength I built the house, by my miracles I founded the palace. I gave up the moon for the account of the worlds, I gave up the sun to serve the children of men*).

---

1) See p. 184, 16.

2) The expression is also R 215, 19. Perhaps it can still be read, see Targūm zu Prov. 21, 4.

8) See p. 179, 30.

1) A pun between 2DN27 and N2WoN2.

The wreath is from the vine, which does not wither and does not fade, and whose leaves do not fall off from him')."

Further, Din-Mlikh-Uthra said to Dinānukht: 'Go into the world of Evil, to the place that consists entirely of kingdoms. Go, burn your books in the fire and sink your memorial book into the water. Draw 5 go out into the world, call the call of life and teach sixty disciples Years and sixty months. When your measure is full, you will come, dress yourself with your") robe of splendor and with your great Cover the turban of light, and they will give you your resplendent wreath rearrangement. You will sit on your throne of tranquility and secret 10 Orders of prayer, Masses and prayers between your brothers, the Uthras, to the sons of Light, recite."

Whereupon Dīnānūkht said to Din-Mlikh-Uthra: 'I would rather The threshold of the house of life will not eat dust and will not enter the world of To return to the great place, which consists entirely of kingdoms- 15 return."

Then Dīn-Mlikh-Uthra said to Dīnānūkht: 'O Dīnānukht, you Fool, who is not wise, [212] thou more deficient, who is not perfect. At the On the threshold of the house of life, one does not eat dust. Eat only good things you are looking for comfort. Return to the world of the wicked and celebrate the 20th A place made up entirely of kingdoms. Burn your books in the fire and sink your memorial book into the water. Move into the world call out the call of life and teach disciples sixty years and sixty months. When your measure is full, come, clothe yourself with your Robes of splendor, cover yourself with your great turban of light 25 and put your beautiful wreath around your head."

Dinānukht said, 'I opened my eyes and lifted my brows high. I looked and saw a thousand times a thousand noble people who were in the The sun stood and wept over me, and ten thousand times ten thousand Noble women who stood in the heat") of the day and complained about me 30 (and cried). And I said to them, 'Go, ye nobles, who have weep over me, go, weep over yourselves, and you Noble women, who complain about me (and weep), go, complain (and cry) about yourself. You didn't see what my eyes were- look"), you have not heard what my ear heard"). 35

Then Dīnānūkht got up, called his wife Nūraitā and said to you:,,Bring me these my books and burn them in the fire and my Memorial book sink into the water."

Then his wife Nūraitā screamed, whined°), shrieked and spoke: ,'Dinānükht has gone mad, Dinānükht is mad'), this king- 40 son speaks without mind."

---

1) See Joh. II, p. 2141, also Lit. 108, 1; 243, 10.

2) Sorry. did "ntoeny. 3) See Nöld., pp. 63, 3. 4) Sorry. has ANini.

") Sorry. has FNDN2. ") Sorry, has NNDD , cried". 7) Read NDW and NDNW.

And Dinānukht arose, and burned his books in the fire, and he threw his memorial book into the water. He moved out to this world, called the call of life and taught disciples sixty years, sixty Months and sixty days. When the measure of the Dinānukht was full and he when they left his body, they led him to the gate of the house of life upwards. Then Dīnānūkht said: 'Öpen to me the gate of the house of Life." And they opened the gate of the house of life to him, and drew before him the a large curtain of security in height. They jumped up, dressed with a robe of splendor, covered him with a large The turban of light, they brought him a wreath from the vine, and put it around his head. Dīnanukht now stood at the gate of life, at the Places that are all splendour, places that are all light. He stood there in great Praise the mighty life and the (man) whose name is dear and he is raised up [213] like himself'). And Dinanukht said: ,Ent- speaking of this ascension with which I ascended, let all be true- the faithful and the excellent Naşöreans ascend and reach it. They are to be set up and consolidated in the great, first place of light ")." Life is fixed in the light, Manda dHaije is raised up in Life is victorious over all works.

---

1) Well read. Lit. 267.2 is entitled to other- hang together.

") This is Mandā dHaijē. His name is equated to himself.

8) See above, p. 196, 17.

◆

Seventh book.

A collection of wisdom sayings that John put in the dancer's mouth have. For John, the Arabic form Jahjä is used here (see Joh. II, p. 73), in Ginzā only at this point. After that, the treatise was written down only in Islamic times, but of course it is not completely excluded that the Arabic Form was only later used for the older Jõhänä. The heaped compilation related concepts (Z. 24; p. 216, 17) and the sharp juxtaposition of opposites he- in the same way in the description of the light and the dark world in the two p. 3f. the discussed tracts. But these moments are not enough to bring the piece to the same- not even the mention of the King of Light (p. 214, 3).

In the name of the great life, shine upon them') their sense, their knowledge and your knowledge, as well as me and my wife.

This is the wisdom and teachings that Yahya, the Son of Zakhria, made known to the true and believing Naşöreans, revealed and notify. He said: 'If you have the strength to do this, be a man of justice, which is tested in all his works, the same to a king whose crown is set on his head, the war the world of the wicked and liars, and the darkness and its helpers prostrate. Have you no strength to be a man of tried righteousness, so be a true Naşöräer, like the orderly countryman who has the The earth and the seeds in it, the one who cultivates the Perfect a helper who gives strength to men of proven righteousness and participates in their merits.

The weapon of men of proven justice is truthfulness, Faith, straightness, knowledge, understanding, wisdom, customer, Teaching, Truth, Prayer, Praise, reward(granting), alms, gentleness, kindness, humility, justice, Truthfulness, popularity*), caution, correctness, purity, guiltlessness, Modesty"), mercy, compassion, reflection and reflection about life and true love.

---

1) The believer. ") Probably so, not , kindness", which p. 214, 27 does not fit.
a) See Nöld., p. XXVIII unt.

The first thing about your truthfulness is: do not falsify your word and love does not lie and deceit.

The first thing about your faith is: believe in the King of Light, that he there is and stands in all the virtues.

The first thing about your straightness is: judge yourself.

The first thing about your knowledge is: don't be mixed¹).

The first thing about your insight*) be: don't throw yourself into dirt. The first thing about your wisdom is: don't joke and laugh not [214] about the perfect ones.

The first thing about your teaching is: teach and explain the words of your Lord.

The first thing about your teaching is: don't focus on virtues- from the side of the good teachers"). The first thing about your truth is: don't change your word something that is not yours.

The first thing about your prayers and praises is: do not love sleep. The first thing about your piety and goodness is: give alms and Water for the hungry and thirsty.

The first thing about your mildness is: do not accept arrogance, do not be angry and do not rebel.

Let the first thing in your humility be: the name of your Lord do not turn away out of your mouth.

The first thing about your justice is: keep yourself just*) and take the words of the wise.

The first thing about your truthfulness is: don't say anything that you don't know.

The first thing about your popularity is: be honored by everyone.

The first thing about your caution is: know your bill and then other word.

The first thing about your rightness is: desire and do not take anything that not yours.

The first thing about your purity is: don't throw yourself into dirt.

The first thing about your guiltlessness is: keep yourself guiltless and love nothing hateful.

The first thing about your modesty is: don't overdo yourself someone bigger than you.

---

1) Strive for integrity. 2) Sieves on top, p. 64.

3) That is, do not make them ineffective. The first of the two sentences apparently contains a A reminder to the teacher, the second to the learner. But NMD is not called the But the knowledge, the knowledge, the insight, as it is then together with Nndidine (R 128, 5), Nnnyind (R 305, 9). However, it belongs to Nindsnd and denotes the position and activity of the teacher. One might assume that the both words are wrongly interchanged, if not a support in and מאלפאנותא would have a prop in NoNdsnd.

4) One expects poN.

The first thing about your mercy is: be merciful to the Souls of the poor and persecuted.

The first thing about your praise is: praise the place from which you came-you're coming.

The first thing to think about is the day on which you receive your 5th The body is reliable.

Let the first thing about your love be: embrace faithful love for the good brothers, who walk in the love of your Lord.

The truthful one is like a chariot, which is directed straight and at the there is no shame.

The degree is like the true judge, in whose speech no It's a lie.

The believer is like the farmer who sows and gives good, beautiful It brings forth fruit.

The knower is like the efficient builder who builds the building in all Beauty builds and divides.

The Excellent ') resembles the painter who paints pictures in all their beauty malt.

The wise man is like the skilled craftsman who does every thing goes.

The efficient creative, efficient excellent') resembles the luminous lamp that glows from left to right.

The true one is like a high mountain, which the storms do not can move from the spot.

The one who is tried in prayer and praise is like a merchant who has 25 double and doubled the profit by thousands.

The good one who gives alms, [215] is like the rich table that it is placed in front of the hungry.

The gentle one resembles the sweet, tasty fruit.

The humble one is like the water that falls and turns over 30 scattered everywhere.

The ordinary") resembles the vaunted ... ."), who works, crowned and well-ordered is4).

The friendly one resembles a mountain with lovely flowers, trees and fragrant plants.

The cautious one is like the faithful keeper of the tower, who through all- stabbing is not bribed.

---

1) Here it is identical to Fapiaaos, see Joh., p. XXII.

2) The previous words ,which does not change the will of his Lord" are much-it was originally a gloss on NTID, which got into the text.

3) The N3712 standing there can only mean "price", which does not fit. By text 216, 12f. there seems to be a tree named here, about N71127, N712N the female cedar, see R 265, 12, but PENt does not fit this.

4) Uncertain, see also Zeitschrift für Semitistik I (1922), p. 2.

The right one is like the right food, the taste of which is- hand made fruits are right.

The pure is like the bright, pure source, which has no mixture of any kind taking shape.

The innocent is like the polished mirror in which all the faces are clearly recognizable.

The compassionate one, who feels compassion, is like the sun shining over Good and evil lights up.

The Merciful is like the pleasant wind that blows in all the doors and windows are blowing.

The thoughtful one who ponders over what is in store for him and ponders- think, like the knight who sits tied up in prison, but thinks and think: when will I be released from my bondage?

Everyone who is filled with true love') is like the good A father who increases his possessions for his children and offspring.

Chosen and perfect! Be on your guard and keep far from cunning, injustice, deceit, lies, falsehood, deceit, slyness, bos- falsehood, falsehood, error, confusion, obscuration, unbelief, bribery- falsehood, folly, song, filth, fornication, depravity, exaltation*), Haughtiness, proud look, drunkenness, dance, captivity, lust, Embers, through which the children of men are caught, envy, jealousy, Tightness, hatred, impudence, anger, bitterness, rebellion, fornication, robbery, with which to rob, oppress, with which to oppress, rob and plunder the wicked, from filth, defilement of bodies, recalcitrance, and ver- beware with which the wicked rebel and despise themselves against the Show perfection.

Understand the commands of your Lord.

[216] The cunning one is like a pit hidden in cunning. The unjust one is like a pomegranate, which is flaunted from the outside- , but there is mold inside.").

The forger is like the bird, the bird animal, which his comrades in the yarn, throws all his friends to their death4).

The liar is like the enemy who pretends to be a friend, * the he knows every right") and who lowers his voice.

The deceiver is like the predatory seas that the ships, the they are on him, robbing.

The evil one is like the bitter tree, the fruit with deadly poison there is no good fruit in it.

---

1) Read דמליא.

°) Cf. Zeitscurift für Semitistik II (1924), p. 180.

a) See also Lit. 218, 2f...

⁴) Lies דמארדיא האברה בקולאליא וראמיא כולהון ראחמה במותא.

5*) These words may need to be deleted.

The sinner is like a well that produces stinking water- he is the one who brings forth poison and bitterness.

The muddled one is like the vomit brick thrown into water. The more you look for him, the stronger the turbidity becomes. The hard one is like the pebble, which is not affected by all the moisture becomes soft.

The fool is like pieces of rock. Likes it on you, likes it under you falling, it sins on you.

The haughty one resembles the magnificent plane tree, which with its arbor but does not bear fruit and does not bestow it on their Lord. The indigner is like the heated stove, which neither ... nor . . . . . hat ¹).

The bitter one) resembles the aloë, which falls into honey and spoils it. The Wüterich is like the blazing fire that the wind carries away.

The wise man who is untidy is like a house without a roof. The wise man who is without order is like a noble lady without a dress.

The wise man who is immodest is like a mirror that does not reflect- is smoothed.

The sage who is untidy is like a horse without a saddle.

The wise man who is unkind is like a dish without taste. The wise man who cannot be silent is like an army without a king.

The wise man who is imperfect is like a tablet that is not- it is decorated.

The wise man, whose words are incorrect, is like a house without a door. The wise man who is not right is like a river without an outlet. The wise man who is not afraid is like a piece of land that is not will be provided.

The wise man who is not careful is like a ship without a skipper.

If the wise man is excessive"), his voice is held down, [217] his words serene, his gait calm, and his greeting comes before.

If the gate is excessive, his voice is too loud, his When he leaves, he goes along rebelliously, and at the Greetings he greets with his fingertips.

If the sage is excessive, his speech is correct, and he is a helper in all beautiful things.

If the goal is excessive, his speech is mendacious, and he is a helper in all evil things.

If the sage is perfect, his speech is just in all

---

1) See Joh. II, p. 1626.

2) The text has Nnd. Nöldeke reads Gram. p. 374, 6 No2, perhaps by mistake.

a) This is the meaning of the words 4B here and in the following sentences, not when he lives in abundance," see also Nöld., p. 463m.

Agreements that he makes, and his signet ring is present'). When The dwelling is prepared for all the perfect ones, and the table prepares.

If the gate is excessive, he reckons with the mouth a Account of the transgression, and reach out with your hands and half-drachmas dar*).

If you have a dispute with the Wise man, he will let you grant yourself the right and leave your works in peace and quiet go there.

If you have a dispute with the fool, then his speech is piercing, his voice harsh, and he puts his neck to the sword come.

The wise man does not come to joy because he is interested in his own and others' thinks. The gate has the noose around its neck and dances with it.

If you talk to a good sage, he sows in you good, virtuehafte works. If you turn to a fool, you will become tougher as a stone.

The words of the wise man at the gates are like a stone passing through Oil does not soften.

The words of the wise man at the gates are like a mirror for the Blind person.

The words of the wise man at the gates are like rain on bad Floor.

The words of the wise man at the gates are like white garments for the Glass Blowers 3).

The words of the sage at the gates are like shoes for the walker.

The words of the sage at the gates are like balm oil for the fisher4). The words of the wise man at the gates are like a magnificent garment for Tanner.

The words of the wise man at the gates are like pearls for a sow. The words of the wise man at the gates are like a virgin for the Cut off.

The words of the wise man at the gates are like coals of fire in water. The words of the wise man at the gates are like messengers of joy for the [218] Stick pigeons.

If you leave the fool hungry, he will curse you with all the foolsheiten. If you satisfy the fool, then take and receive from him that which is wrong Grumble.

---

1) He is ready to confirm his agreements by the seal imprint.

2) Gives low-quality money.

3) Who immediately pollutes them.

4) The fishermen have a foul smell, see Joh. II, p. 146. Fraenkel's Onversion of the words Journal of Assyriology XX (1906-1907), p. 448 ob. seems to me not right.

The wise man who says: I do not need to go far from the gates- is the first among all the fools and quite unwise. The gate that be silent, be counted among the wise.

Whoever is not your friend, do not initiate him into your actions. Whose heart is not gentle and not humble'), do not regard him as a noble one. Anyone who does not do injustice to others does not need to go to the trial.

He who cries out") and does not act himself is like the hose and the A bucket that fills another person with water and gives them something to drink.

He who cries out and does not act himself is like a man who he is an ugly figure and paints paintings, while he himself is not beautiful can do it.

Anyone who exclaims and does not act himself is like the Walker who The king's dress has been bleached and then it is taken away from him.

Whoever calls out and does not act himself is like the deaf, who all Does not hear chants and songs.

Whoever calls out and does not act himself is like the builder who he does not build himself.

He who exclaims and does not act himself is like the sleeper who sleeps and in a dream kills his enemy. When he wakes up from sleep, he has he did nothing.

He who calls out and does not act himself is like the gardener who I don't make a wreath myself.

Whoever calls out and does not act himself is like the judge who does not they speak for themselves, but only for others.

Woe to those who cry out and do not act themselves, who speak differently and act differently. From the outside they show the badges of faith, and inside they are completely spoiled. Because they don't know, what they do.

Whoever does not do the will of his Lord, death is nearer to him than life.

The perfect ones are those who exclaimed, listened and acted, those who do not lie punish what their mouth speaks.

This is the speech about the sages, the Jahja, the son of Zakhria, in Jerusalem, the city of the Jews, taught and revealed. Jāwar-Zīwā, he [219] and all his helpers, made him victorious.

Life is victorious over all works.

---

1) Sorry. has pounds in tons.

2) He who calls admonishingly, preaches, does not ,reads," like Nöld., p. 368 ob. Nanp translates.

Eighth book.

Attempts of the Rühā to seduce the believers; warnings and admonitions Mandā dHaijē's.

In the name of the great, strange life, let a sin-forgiver become- share it with me, my wife, my father, my mother).

In the name of the great, strange life.

Hear me, my Father, hear me,
lift me up, Great One, Son of the mighty (life),
our Father, Son of life*).

This is the mystery, the Scripture and the teaching with which Manda dHaije the men of tried righteousness and all the tribes of Adam disabuse.

When Adam and his wife Hawwā were there, Rūhā dQudša went to lower earth Sufath *) and descend to the lower abaddons of darkness. Ruha brought dirt and menstrual blood from the Dew Zāmūr and bound it Hawwa on the hips. She said: 'Days, months, hours, moments and times shall come when the men of proven righteous- they will be killed and (here) inhibited, so that none of them will be able to Light rises. Only Hibil-Zīwā will ascend to enlightenment and Bring praise from the light."

This mystery exclaimed*) and conceived Ruha. But then came Hibil- Zīwā, raising the white olive stick, struck the water and spoke: ,A time, but also an interruption for what Ruha proclaimed and invented it. On the tenth day, on the fifteenth day, on the twentieth Days, in the (full) month, in the half-month") the men of heprobter justice will not be killed and inhibited."

---

1) In AC there are still the words: who has done this good deed. "NEN is probably singular and refers to the man who had the writing copied.

2) Beginning of the poem Lit., p. 147, LXXX. See also the beginning of the second A part of the following book.

8) See Joh. II, p. 24". 4) See p. 324.

B) It seems to me that the counts are to be interpreted in this way. About this type of counting for days of the month, especially known from Phoenician, see CoOKE, A Text-Book: of

Then Jorabba said to Ruha: ' For all that you have created, Manda dHaije") starts an interruption." Then Ruha spoke to Jorabbā: ,,There is something I want to create that will make all the worlds trapped- and the disciples shall turn away."

Then Rüha went and created the timpani, vocals, guest mahler and Abfall, she created [220] horns and bilure, thereby capturing all the worlds be. Then she went and stood before Manda dHaije and spoke to him: 'I will eat seven parts, and you will eat one part, and in the parts that you eat, I also want to have a share."

Then Manda dHaije replied to her: 'O you blind, blind in heart, lack- those whose eyes do not see the light. How do you want to eat seven parts and I have a part, and why should you have a share in the part, the one I eat?u

To this she replied to him: " They belong to me ") the Naşoreans, who owned take pride in money and good, which can be achieved by singing, playing the harp and Drinking flute wine, sitting at guest feasts, while the floor is in front of they will be shaken by you "), who fall into my captivity, your name, Manda dHaije, do not name, do not give alms and do not practice charity. I will bring you to fall already in this world and plunge you into the torture this world."

Then Mandā dHaije said to her: 'Those who act in this way may Škinā will be accommodated. If I want to create Uthras, I will create you from the great, white Jordan of life."

Manda dHaije calls (to the Uthras and) to the disciples and speaks to to them: 'I call to you, you sons whom I have raised. You I call to you, plants that I plant from among the peoples, borders and I created tongues. My sons! Let you through my speech so that you are not held back in the howling darkness be ye. For I encourage you and make you steadfast in this World. For I know in my mind that the more the age of ab- the more the evil oppresses you*). But you remain in Grace before me, that I may save you from the persecution of the seven planets selling prices. Prayer alms, call the call of life, clothed with clothes and sheathed with sheaths. If there is a Naşöräer who does not if he can give whole alms, he will give half the alms. Route his hands [221] in Kušṭa in front of me, and I will give it to him on the Take full account of Lichterde."

I also teach you, men of proven righteousness, about all that is with Jorabba, and about the Uthras that are with him: Z'hir and

---

North-Semitic Inscriptions, p. 55. When considering ,in zelu days, in fortieth days" etc. does not make sense.

1) Mandā dHaijē is identified here with Hibil-Zīwā as well as otherwise.

a) Read ntny.

3) When dancing; we would say,among ilmen*.

4) See also R 229, 18; 284, 19.

Zihrūn, B'hir and Bihrūn, Tar and Tarwān, Sar and Sarwān, Nşab and Anan-Nşab, about the young boy who was in front of him in his car and over the two bundles of light that are placed around his head; the name of one is Zihan, the name of the other Z'ha-Zihan. Jorabba he says to them, 'Who can answer the call of life that has been sounding from time immemorial, to overcome?And to Ruhā Jorabbā says: 'The call is still sounding life in the Tibil. The call of life still rings in my ear. As long as the call of life sounds in the Tibil, I hear the murmur of the Hibil-Zīwā.u But I say, 'Hibil-Zīwa is still from his age not divorced."

Further, I declare to you, you men of tried righteousness: ,,Every time there is a fight on the light earth and the air") in the The world lights up, understand it well in your sense: fight for your sake Darkness and light with each other and shows him3) Characteristics and signs on the Firmament. Do not be afraid of him."

Further, I declare to you, you men of tried righteousness: ,Secure yourselves, your sons, your wives, your descendants, your Bread and your water, and you need not fear him. Because still the great Jordan of life and Šilmai and Nidbai are here. Because if these guardians were not here, ...[4]) the earth Tibil, so it would succeed Jorabba, to overturn them and the firmament on top of each other, like a ship, that rides on the water°). Yes, three times a day he makes a call the sun from the house of Abathur. Once during the prayers of the morning- at the prayer of the seventh hour, once at the prayer of the ° in the evening). [222] Be instructed and do not fear him.

If you want to get up from sleep and perform prayer, then do it when a glimmer of shine becomes visible. Then pray in the seventh hour. Then, when you want to perform the evening prayer, ver- judge it as long as the rays are still there. The man who made the rays, also receive your prayers and keep them in the treasure-home of the mighty life.

Live our knowing, live our understanding, live the Men who teach us. Life is fixed in its škīnā, which Life is victorious.

---

1) See the preface to the second part of the ninth book.

") See above, p. 157.

8) I.E. Jōrabbā.

4) Instead of (see text 180,15) there must have been something else.

b) Read ND Sy7.

") Without having any success with it.

Ninth book.

In the name of the great life, may a remission of sins be granted to me NN and my wife NN.

First piece.

The scripture is called "The Overturning of the Seven Stars". It contains a sharp Polemics against foreign religions, which are described in the most gloomy colors. You it contains all the treasures and filth that from time immemorial have been the different religions blame each other. The false religions are derived from the seven planets (cf. anch p. 134 et seq.), hence the naming of the Scripture. With special hatred is thought of the Christian sects. Anf Nerig, the Bloody Mars, will Abdallah, as Mohammed, Abdallah's son, is called here, and the warlike Muslims are repatriated, see Joh. II, p. 504. The information about these do not provide safe There are indications for a more precise determination of the drafting time, but they point to anf a Time of lively struggles in 'Irāq, perhaps also due to ongoing battles between the Byzantines and Muslims (cf. pp. 231, 14). This fits for the Omayad period and the older Abbassid-time. The writing may belong to the eighth century.

This is the mystery, and the Scripture, and 'the overthrow') of the seven Stars", which Manda dHaije revealed and taught on Earth Tibil. He gave them to Ȟibil, Šitil and Anoš, and Hǐbil, Šitil and Anoš gave them to, who love their name. Er4) revealed to them about the mysteries and The passing of the seven planets and the first appendix, which Kēwan to all the stars of wrath among the sons of the great tribe of life won"). He created a shell") and reversed the sign. He

---

1) Read ,from the overthrow"? hezichinet the Inlalt bezw. the title of the writing.

2) It refers to anf Mandā dHaijē or anf Hibil, Šitil and Anõš, which are more often referred to as a-be viewed.

a) Kēwān-Saturn is otherwise often referred to as the god of the Jews; here the ascetic Christianity traced back to him, see also p. 29, 10; 47, 11.

4) This probably means the rough coat of the monks and anchorites.

sent out false prophets, he put the cross of darkness on them the left shoulder and took them captive from their homes. He appeared in the form of the Messenger, and called himself the Lord of Lords, the God who shows miracles in the sky and on earth. He let himself on the fasters and fasters, he makes the men monks and the women become nuns and settle down on them. Demons, Dews and Liliths lie down with them, out of the females come male dews, out of the Men come with female liliths. They grab the bodies, kill them and get thus the souls from the body [223] at the inopportune time. They teach you a wisdom the lie, they take on a form of light, the speech of the stranger is suitable They make lying speeches and build a mystery house, in where they celebrate their cults. They lay down to each other, take the seed, mixing water from the Jordan with [water from?] the ocean, fresh and altes'), take ...") of all the children of men, make it equal to the Pihta of the strange man and thus inhibit their souls. Each of the to them who die, they do blood, dirt and ....") of black water and put oil in your mouth. Like my disciples, they organize for themselves a Funeral Mass and memorial service. They call themselves prophets of lies. You impose on them a fast of four days, eight days, twenty days with Remain silent. He (Kevan) imposes on them a fast of fifty and one- and sixty days.

The men of proven righteousness are protected from the fact that the Hand of the Kēwān, the Ruhā, the Christ and the seven planets- walt gets over it.

You, too, my disciples, do not offer the "prophets" a greeting and don't shake hands with them. Because while you are still in your body their soul dries up, and their seed is removed from the house of life truncated. Every disciple who offers them a greeting comes the wrath of life.

Well, I spoke to you about Kēwān and the attachment he among the sons of the great tribe of life has won*). You suffer hunger more than a snake and thirst for water more than ant. When your spirit dies, it goes out like ashes, and your soul dies like coals of fire.

Well, I was talking to you about Kevin and the attachment he has

---

1) It is doubtful whether the addition and interpretation of the words given here that's right. It presupposes that npnn pl. m. with a relationship. However, most manuscripts have (also sorry.). This is fem. sing., and after that, NN would also sing as fem. to understand how it is also Nöld., pp. 154, 11 tut. Which the two words must then be attributes. This would then be the substance, with that they mix the Jordan water, but it could not be explained. In a To see the vessel in which you make the mixture prohibits the designation ,new and old".

2) Instead, there was a word that called a substance from which you prepare the pihtā.

3) See above, p. 1205.

4) The sentence stelit again afterwards; at this point it is probably to be deleted.

won. He and the appendage he gained are coming to an end on the day of the end. Now I want to tell you about Šamiš and thehange, which he won.

The Jazuqaeans came from him. You make yourself to me, the stranger man, same. They tie their bursums*) like crosses on the Shoulder. They call the name [224] of Jesus. Like me, the stranger Manna, Pihta and Mambūga take the wasga; equal to the Mass for the dead set up the drona"). They are very fond of water and fire. You eat from the dead and say that God killed him. They sleep at their mothers and daughters. They impose silence on themselves. They take Dresses of menstruating women, dress and cover themselves with it and say: we do not defile ourselves. They know their own follies not. When their wives abort their embryos from the womb, they pull they skin them off, set them up at seven wells, blow up animal-urinate over them and wash them off with a swab4).

The gate of the Jews starts from the gate of the Jazuqaeans. They rise on top of each other, circumcise each other and spread their hands (on the Face"). They take the blood of circumcision and water and splash it's in your face. The prepared thing, from which they eat, they sprinkle with that blood. They call themselves Jews because they have sinned, and Clever, because they failed"). When your mind dies away'), ver- burn them in a blazing fire.

Of the circumcised, worthless Jews, all the peoples and The gates of darkness. They stain and stain themselves with your own dirt and menstrual blood. Whoever practices their works is for the house of life is unsuitable. Whoever eats of their food, whose eyes

---

1) See above, p. 1354.

2) It is the baresma, the sacred rods of the Parsis.

a) Wasqa as a cultic food of the Parsis is also mentioned in the vita of the holy Gīwargī by Hoffmann, excerpts from Syrian files of Persian martyrs, p. 96 called. Which The passage should be translated: ,,he gave him Wasgā at the time of the meal." The word is safe persian, but AndReas could not give me an explanation for it; Hoffmann's explanation was impossible. In addition, the Syrian is called N17, i.e. draona, drön, the consecrated Brot der Parsen (see Haug, Essays on the Parsis, 2, p. 407, also Brandt, Rel., p. 203), and here it is safe to change NJnty to NJ7. Of course, this corresponds more to the Pihtā.

4) See NölDEKe, Archiv für Religionswissenschaft VII (1904), p. 341f. Nöldeke considers the reading instead of N to be questionable, but has overlooked the fact that Codd. AD actually provide this reading. Also sorry. she did. Nöldeke reminds of the Cattle urine (Gaomaeza) in the Zoroastrian ritual. NENI is probably NDJ ,"wings", although the Mandaean otherwise has NoTNI for this, see Nöld., pp. 774.

b) See above, p. 25,

6) מאסכילאניא 12. but in Mandaean it means, foolish, acting sinfully". One of them is already in the AT. the speech, cf. especially Dan. 11, 33, 35, but the word is especially in recent times as a designation for the enlightened common among Jews.

7) Read 53.

do not look at the light. Whoever shows them friendship dies of a second Hallows.

I speak to you, my disciples, and teach you about all things Thing. Everything you bring home from the markets and streets, wash with water, and then eat it. Whoever does not wash it off and eat it, will get up Ice machines are being tortured.

Well, I have taught you about the gate of the Jews; now I will i tell you from the gate of the star Libat (Venus), which is different than all other stars are. From her came adultery, fornication and fornication. Three hundred and sixty chants and disgraces') came from her- before, [225] evil spirits arise. They host guest gatherings and chants and cast captivity over every place. They make timpani and Harping and giving voluptuousness, captivity and singing to the "chosen ones"*) the Rūhā. These hang timpani around their shoulders, take singing and They make flutes in their mouths and speak with them in great anger. Women and Men, big and small, get into embers and heat and rub open up. Voluptuousness envelops them, and they plunge into dance. The Hmurthās the Nerig sit on their shoulders in the form of monkeys, let they bounce in dance and throw them into crevices of fire"). They surround you with Sorcery and lust, they are caught by the mystery of drunkenness and do not know what they are doing.

Then another gate came out, which is called Mnunaeans'). They dress with roses, cover themselves with roses and lie down Wreaths of fornication and fornication around the head. Your chest is exposed to them for transgressions, their side is cut open to them for shame. You take the children of men caught and bring them to trap. You will be the Block of Heroic men and the Muddy Lump"). The beings are killed and inhibited by them. They cast spells with the whole tribe of souls. By magic and ugly works they take the men captive from their houses, take them from their The women leave and throw them into severe torment. They will be "the chosen ones"

---

1) is to be understood here in this sense, not in the sense of 'slings', which it can also mean, see Joh. II, p. 502.

2) With NEN, a cultic food of the Gentiles (see above, p. 211), this can be ניביא have nothing to do. It is perhaps disfigured from Syrian "the elect". See also Z. 31.

a) The expression can only be found at this point; it is not clear what to do with it- i mean.

4) Or Minunaean (NyNd, It might be disfigured from Manichaean but we will talk about them later. The Jews are not allowed to think. But I would like to refer to the sect of Maljõnājē (8p) at Hoffmann, excerpts, p. 125f. reference.

") NDN27D can only be found at this point. It belongs to N ,"mud", see Joh. II, p. 524. The expression NDN27D NPD may be understood by the Mandaeans as but this is probably a foreign cult name satirized.

called the Ruha and Christi. They lead prisoners away, dragging booty and pronounce the name of death'). You bring home and ver- buy, and you acquire a lot of money and good. When your spirit dies, come they do not get out of the slings, ties") and chains, and they die a second death. They cast out lust and song of falsehood, and the worlds and generations are trapped with them. They sink into down the throat of the stallion").

Well, I told you about the gate of Libat, about the deeds, which she accomplished in the world, and of the sacraments, the seven [226] first Sacraments'). They kill a Jewish boy, take from his blood, bake it in bread and pass it to them as food. She is dreaming- pour the menstrual blood of a whoring nun into wine and give it to them to drink from a mug. The gaze of the children of men must not fall on them, and they will not let you watch. They twist the works the strange man. They dig a basin in the earth, steal Water from the Jordan, boil it with fire, pour it into the basin and let men and women descend stark naked. They baptize them in the And give them water to drink of that water. They talk about the name of death, the name of the Father, the Son and the holy spirit. They baptize them, speaking the name of Christ in the process. about them.

Then comes another mystery, which is the Sacrament of the A donkey with four legs is called. In the place where it was sent out will, see it with your eyes"). It becomes the dirty sacrament by which the whole tribe of souls is inhibited. To you are the unmarried and "saints" to whom the seed descends over the legs- and who kill their children in the womb. They become single and "Saints", who must stand tied up in the guardhouses. From they are the monks and nuns who come out into the great Suf Sea sink. They call themselves blessed men and blessed women because their Soul sinks into the howling darkness°).

Then there's another wicket that's scraping its head off, from make a god for a log and worship him. They paint the gods in their homes, and they, their sons and daughters worship them. They beat

---

1) In place of the "life" of the Mandaeans, see also Z. 19. Hardly, of the dead" (i.e. Christ) in spite of p. 229, 8. 2) See above, p. 1048.

a) According to Joh. 180, 10 (II, 178) ,,the unwirled women approach the mouth of the Stallions". Furthermore, it is said that the name of this stallion is Ur, Lord of Darkness. From the same stallion there is perhaps also in an unclear context R 338, 17 speech.

4) Here are still the words that can be meaningless. Maybe it's אמארנאלון and the words are falsely taken from the text Z. 24 got here.

d) It is not practiced in secret? See above, Z. 13.

a) In Mandaean, a pun.

those who rattle and perform works of sorcery, (After)wisdom and contemptuousity. They lie with the woman during menstruation and call it the Hope of the house of the Deity of our Lord Jesus Christ. Ruha says to them: 'Do not consider them unclean, for there is (about them) there is no prohibition for you." Furthermore, Ruha says to them, 'Every one to whom Father and mother, or the first-born son, dear to him, dies: put them in your house and [227] do not get him away from you."

She also tells them another mystery: 'Every Philo- sophen, Catholicos, metropolitans, bishop, presbyter and deacon who served under when you die, be buried in the church, venerate it and pray for it') and do not take them out of your house of prayer. Also every visitor, Scho- laren(?), Vigil priest, who divorces you, who performs miracles Christ is taught, sit in the altar room and do not consider him unclean."

I want to tell you about another gate, about the sacrament of the temple*), which burns in the hearts of people and in their minds glows: Seven "blessed ones" come together, sleep with a woman, throw Seeds into her, and she gets pregnant from them. Then after seven They beat you for months and let you be deported"). Then take the fetus with the afterbirth, blood, feces and menstruation and prepare from the marrow the oil of Benediction. That mystery boil them in water and from the bones set them . . .[4]the Sacramentes here. That [sacrament] they bake with flour and butter6), do Magic and lust, and the sacrament of the Host will be performed-, which burns in the hearts and senses°). Everyone who eats it, cannot lift up his face to the house of life, and remains hidden from the worlds and generations.

I will tell you about another gate that is under the the souls of the wicked. From it are the monks and nuns emerged. On the mountains, heights and fields they wander, and with their shape they resemble the demons. They walk around nakedhere, and with their hair they resemble the stinking goats. Your The shape is uglier than the night and more terrible than the howling Darkness.

They are called anchorites. They graze off green cabbage'), and from the

---

1) It says, don't, "worship her".

2) Here is the expression nD, which stands for the temple in Jerusalemwill be needed.

a) See to Joli. II, p. 136°.

4) The word is only in this place. It seems to apply to "tarnish".

6) So here is perhaps NNINS13, arab. hulāşa, according to its main sense in Arabic to grasp.

°) Here we refer to the dual sense of the Syrian gmurtā, that "coal" and "host" arehints, alluded to.

3) 'you eat' is probably just a gloss.

good, beautiful food, the Ptahil, the builder of heaven and earth, created, they are not allowed to eat. They know no joy; Ruhā and Christ will not let you feel joy in this world. demon whisper with them, and then they say: ,,God whispers with us; we turn do not turn away from God." They call my disciples ,"interpreters of the Word" [228] and "Sellers of buckets of water" ') and say to my disciples: "You have no right faith in the world." You also put your mouth Fasting*) so that the name of the killed man is not out of their midst disappear. They take dust from a dead man and put it in all their Preparations and meals.

Furthermore, Manda dHaijē spoke and explained: 'Every Naşorean who the food of Christ is eaten on the day when they keep a fast, it is put on fire- devices are cleaned. Furthermore, every Naşorean who is on the first day of the New Year washes himself with water from the Jordan, drinks from it and the face is smeared with it"), being a part of Ruha and Christ and to the seven as a share."

Further, I declare to you, my disciples, that there is another gate it is the one that came from Christ. They will be Zandīqe and Mard-called mane. They sow seeds in secret and in ways of darkness-get your share. Women and men lie next to each other, take the Seeds, put it in wine, give it to the souls') to drink and say he be pure. They call on the wind, fire and water and praise the sun and Moon. When your spirit dies, you resemble the flies that fly on a pot sit. The steam rises up and gets to you, you lose your Wings, get hit and fall into it '). You will be selecting the ge- the name chosen by Mār-Mānī. Every Naşorean who comes from their If you eat food, it will fall into the great Suf Sea °).

I have told you of Ruha, Christ and the seven sacraments-counts that you have created in the world, the tribe of souls to hold on to it. Now I will tell you about another gate,

---

1) The robber sense of words is safe. See also Tar- go to Eccl. 8,1. But the allusion is not transparent.

2) It seems that here it means silence, otherwise p. 50, 6. See also pp. 224, 19 and R 356.

3) The author apparently has a Christian custom in mind here, probably the The baptism of the river, the consecration of the water and the use of the consecrated water, as they were on the Epiphany- the "Big New Year" days are practiced. The oldest news about the Epiphany celebration see at Holl, session reports of the Berl. Akademie 1917, p. 403ff. See also Brandt, Rel., p. 90 below.

4) The Mandaeans. b) See above, p. 190, 6.

6) In this whole paragraph we are talking about the Manichaeans. Zandīq is the-this is the term for "heretics". According to ANDREAs, Mardmāne is Persian mardmän ,,Men- schen", a term that is otherwise not suitable for the Manichaeans or a part of them evidence is running. The aforementioned wind, fire and water are three of the five manichaeis-elements, see BouSSET, Hauptprobleme, p. 231, also above, p. 34, 5ff. With the ,, From- election" refers to the Manichaean elect.

which Bel created. You take the crown and practice the Royalty. From it the Book of Ruha has emerged. Whole Tibil dies and is killed. Gold and silver for killing them and shed blood. The disciples are killed in the process, and the Nasoräer was taken into captivity. They learn the Book of Ruha, drink the murky waters and are captured by haughtiness. You love pictorial works and colored stuff, love the lust of the Tibil and say: We do not want to leave her, the tibil does not pass. Everyone [229] The chosen and perfect one, who blames them, meets persecution and Is unfair.

I now declare to you, my disciples: Every Naşoer, the reward and alms of the Jawar[1] for colored stuff, dyed white robes, her appearance changed, his wife dressed with it and put it in front of her- will receive blow after blow, - there is nothing that would be endless, -- [2] be cut off from the expensive light, into the guardhouses of the seven Planets fall and do not come close to the house of Abathur.

Furthermore, anyone who sits on colored stuff or his head on this, one will judge with lawless rights. Yes, you my disciples, have no desire for the pictorial works and the colored stuff of these So that you may not be cut off from the hidden Jawar: for every woman who was baptized in the Jordan and with the sign of life is drawn and wears colored robes, is tormented on fire appliances be. Your soul will grow thin as a hair on the head, testing and Anger hits her in the black water, and she dies without then Heifind lungs.

I tell you about the call, the Bel called, through which all The great and proud are killed. You can't hold them by the hands, that they will be freed from them"). (They cry, howl and melt into Back tears. Every day they wage war and shed blood, and persecute the whole tribe of souls, and the great generation of life. Again and again they oppress her and say: we want her out of this world exterminate. They eat bread with the sword. The more the age decreases, the more you are depressed by the bosheit[4]. All peoples, borders and tongues pray. Even among the children of the great tribe of life there are many souls who go and join them. You fall away from the name of life and worship it. They tell themselves about Mandā dHaije and profess allegiance to Abdallah the Arab and the holy Spirit, who revealed to them the mystery of death. They go and curse the name of life. All dirt and scolding goes from them, and they swear at the name of life. Everyone, [230] who is of the great tribe of life and worships Abdallah, will find no relief. Because he twisted and changed the sign, let him be killed on an ice device. Also all Hmurthas who are from they came out to him (from Nerig), and they settled on the slaves, and Slaves of Abdallah). They raise a call, pray false prayer and let it ascend to the firmament. You are initiating- and revile the seven planets*). Nerig speaks to you: ,,It there is no God who is more noble and stronger than I am." He brings ainterrupted sword, saber, war, murder, hunger, torment, struggle and Verfollowing up against his brothers. In the whole Tibil, in its four corners, he brings war to them every day. All souls belonging to Abdallah [counter?]"), fight with sword, fire and flame. Day- every day Ruha") goes out to fight and makes war with Nerig. She speaks to him: 'I have given you the book and the speech, and the Mystery death is revealed to you. I have scourge and ruling power for you, speak and granted a hearing. I told you that all the light will rise for you be. You explain to your worshippers: ,Well, I will make you a para- lift them up to the place where your eyes are full of hope- look', while you plunge them into the lower seol. You beguile her by Scourge and ruling power, gold and silver, then you plunge them into the lower seol and oppress her with device, foot block, torture, torment, bondage and torture. I said to you: Did you not say: I am the powerful God, I want to show you the light?")") Also for everyone who belongs to the Children of the great tribe of life, and from their teaching, and when he learns of her book, he plunges down into that great place of darkness.

---

[1] Whose donation Jāwar ordered.

°) See above, p. 75°.

d) Or is prynty's ndensns to be understood in the same sense as pontye nondns at the parallel passage Text 232, 5: "you are not able to free yourself from them"?

[4] See above, p. 221, 30.

Furthermore: Those who go hunting and meat hunting and killing food, whose soul will be slain by sword and sword. Everybody Women, [231] who wear drag dresses°) and brocade fabrics of gold and Silver clothes'), will be held captive under cauldrons. You

---

1) should be deleted at this point. It is from text Z. 13 or 231, 25 got here. See also p. 232, 11.

°) That probably means: you determine your own fate and discard the planets as a guide of skill, cf. pp. 13, 28.

a) The text is not in order, see the parallel passage 233, 1, where the text also ent- it is. By "souls" only Mandaeans can be meant.

4) Probably denotes the Christian Byzantium.

5) The clamped stick is repeated afterwards and stands there in the right place.

c) The meaning of the word occurring only at this point is only according to the meaning- "pull out, pull out, pull out". For some of its meanings probably borrowed from the Aramaic Arabic simt means, among other things: the lower one about the coat is a prominent and visible part of the skirt; which descends to the shoulder and chest-hanging part of the turban; a protective armor hanging over the rear of the horse, then also an unlined robe and a robe made of cotton.

7) Sorry, has N2enS.

will die a second death and not become the house of life rise up.

Well, I have taught you about the gate of Bel and about the Works that he practiced in the world. Now I want to tell you about Sin (the moon) and teach about the call that he has called. From him go the Jews, the abortus and departures from the leper men and women. He verpractice evil in the whole Tibil velvet and special. He increases and increases he raises and humiliates, he raises and plunges into the depths'). He cuts off measure and number"). He spoils the years and does evil days, months and years. He seduces the whole tribe of Soul. Whorish, smelly Hmurthas come out and let themselves down on women and men. They are called Baiwāzīgh") and wash yourself with water'). They put a priest") at their head, sleep with him, put seeds in him, take that mystery, bake it in a cake, take it at a border point"), swear to each other and do not reveal it to each other. You will also find abortions and departuresnannt. How they act, you act on them. Men and women who of that mystery, find no relief and healing, and their Eyes do not look at the light.

Well, I have taught you about the gate that Sin created, about the works that he does in the world, and about the transgressions, to whom he has seduced the tribe of souls'). They seduced this and divided him into different parties.

I have taught you about this gate, my disciples, as well as about the sins he has committed in the world. Now I want you to teach about the gate that Nerig founded, the Abdallah of the Arabs from which the seven forms of wrath came forth have. The tribe of souls is killed by him, and the whole Tibil will be bent under his throne. From him came the scourge, they eat They rule and exercise the kingdom. They draw sword and saber [232] and shed the blood of the sons of Adam. They bring home loot

---

1) It acts according to its own increase and decrease.

2) He shortens the established age of life.

a) Andreas writes to me: ,,The word is Iranian by name because of the The final syllable, which is the Middle Iranian adjective suffix 7y, older ey, but the meaning can bedo not determine the meaning of the word with certainty. The two initial syllables are a compositum, whose forelimb bai, be the southwestern Iranian younger form of the older bay , God" shall. The hind limb would allow for various interpretations. It can be a "word", then would baiwäziy be one related to the word of God, or wväz is considered the Iranian Equivalent of the Ancient Indian vāja ,force" taken, daun is baiwväziy one to whom Godforce is attributed as a property. But it would also be possible that baiwäz is a personname, then a baiwvāziy would be the follower of a man named Baiwäz."

4) It is uncertain whether to read with CD AND). FD) does not fit.

") Also above, p. 224, 8, there is talk of men giving birth unnaturally.

c) Which is particularly suitable for magic landings.

7) Sorry. see also above, p. 24, 28.

and carry away captives, [they sell,][1]) what they have with their gold not bought, not traded with your silver and not traded with your goods have acquired. They rob the son from the mother, the husband from the Wife, the father of the Son and take away their strength and steel*). Which People are not able to save themselves from them, they cry, howl and melt into tears. Every day they wage war and shed blood, and persecution strikes the whole tribe of souls, and the greatbad of life. They constantly oppress them and say: we want to destroy them from this world. They eat bread with the sword. The more the age decreases, the more malice oppresses you. All peoples, Borders and tongues worship them. The souls of the great tribe of Life joins them. They fall from the name of life and worship her. They renounce Manda dHaije and confess Abdallah the Arab and the holy Spirit who gave them the mystery death was revealed. They go and curse the name of life. All the scolding and dirt has gone out from them, and they scold the name of life. Everyone who comes from the great tribe of life if he goes and worships the Arab, there will be no relief. Because if they have twisted the sign, they shall be killed on an ice implement. Also, all the Hmurthas that have come out of him can be attributed to the Slaves and slaves of Abdallah. These raise a reputation, pray a false prayer and let it ascend to the firmament. You guide each other and revile the seven planets. Nerig speaks to you: 'There is no God more noble and greater than I am." He brings sword, saber, war, murder, hunger, torment, battle, and Persecution against his brothers. Throughout the Tibil he brings daily War among them. All [233] souls who belong to the Arab Abdallah- kicking(?)[2]), fight with sword, fire and flame. Day- every day Ruha goes out to fight and makes war with Nerig. She speaks to him: 'I have given you the book and the speech, and the Mystery death is revealed to you. I have scourge and ruling power for you, speak and granted a hearing. I told you that all the light will rise for you be. You explain to your worshippers: ‚Well, I will make you a paralift them up to the place where your eyes are full of hope- look', while you plunge it into the lower Šeol. You beguile her by Scourge and ruling power, gold and silver, then you plunge them into the lower seol and oppress her with device, foot block, torture, torment, fesselung and torture. I said to you: Didn't you say,I am the power- full God. I will show you the light, I will give you oil and honey i will give you food, I will clothe you with magnificent garments, I will be give you every comfort, and you will find good. It there is no God stronger than me. I want you beautiful women give'? Why are you oppressing her now with device, foot block, torture, torment, Shackling and torturing and judging them by a lawless rights? Which Servants of the strange man against whom we have drawn the sword, have now ascended to the upper worlds of light, while we are here in the darkness and the black water are cut off and neither Find relief yet bliss."

---

[1]) See R 256, 4.

[2]) Also in Mandaean, an alliteration. it's probably Syrian hellthä ,,Scheide", also R 256, 9 and Lit., p. 1821.

a) See above, p. 231, 13.

The Arab Abdallah speaks to his servants and all the gates that have made themselves known to him: 'When I came to you with the great- the whole Tibil subjugated you, scourge and ruler power ver- the whole deity is bent among you and all peoples, borders and I have plundered your tongues, since I and my mother have given you rest- beguiled by meinsam. I said to myself, 'This is how it will be on the last day for me, the great Qadoš'), my father, by whom I was begotten, and my father Leviathan will have a meal ready"). [234] Well, see how all Pla- they had no power like you, and the servants of the planets, my Brothers who were no match for you and no ruling power equal to you have. Now, on the big court day, you won't find any out with me- kunft"). Because I will feed you with ...") and honey, you will feed yourself with fragrant wreaths, flowers and spices, I will introduce you to between heaven and earth in anger- let the chariots go around, make you fat rams, let no one now free from my hands and redeem and ascend to the light- bring."

I have told you about all the gates of the planets and all the follies- teacheth. Do not eat their food. Your hands shall not be covered with blood taint. Do not kiss an unbaptized mouth.

Praise be to life and to Mandā dHaije. Life is victorious over all the works, and the community of the Nuşoreans is victorious.

And life is victorious.

Second piece,

At the command of the great, mighty Mānā, the sons of the first life will be") out of the Piriawis-Jordan a youthful being was created, the "youthful boy",

---

1) To the God of the Jews, see above, p. 25,

8. ") The author of the piece has probably heard about it once, daf on the last day the Leviathan is supposed to be used for a meal, and has verdrelit it in this way.

a) I can't help you.

4) The word is found only in this place. Above it says , "Oil and honey"'. There is also N2D: Cod. Sab. Paris. 15, f. 45b, 19; Oxf. Roll F, Z. 1238, 1262.

5) Or of life itself, siele p. 2364.

"the just, the great, the only one". - Enjoyed as a divine child in the dying
,Antiquity Harpocrates enjoyed special popularity and became widely known beyond his Egyptian homeland out of reverence. Semitic is the idea of the morning star, which is accompanied by the Sun-ZDMG XXXII (1878), for a smaller star than boys, the puer Phosphorus,
p. 565; Roscher's Lexikon I, 1, col. 743 and Ditlef Nielsen, The Triune God I, p. 122f., 232f. Notice now, as above p. 222, 2 the youthful boy before Jõrabbā, who is identified with Šamiš, the Sun, on whose chariot sits, so one would like to be in the In fact, this boy was traced back to the puer phosphorus. The "young boy" leads Lit., p. 229, 2; 264, 4 the name JNDDIN, which cannot be explained. On the other hand, the R 242, 10f. Hibil so called, see also Lit. 248, 9. That Mandā dHaijē, when he received baptism 1c when John appeared as a little boy, we saw him upstairs. Lit. 24, 2 we find an 8758 with the curious name Dispandy and R 374.
18 a "cloud" nsnd.

The naming of the boy and his father "the Only one" is probably as much as the Native. The designation of a god as Unique or native is also found at 1 to the Phoenicians: "Go to Philo Byblius, see Baudissin, Adonis and Esmun, p. 89. The Öeds povoyevýs plays a role especially among the orphics and is from iluen to the Gno- Wobbermin, see Wobbermin, Religionsgeschicktstudies, p. 114ff. The great, single gereclite and his equally named Soln we also find it at the beginning of the eleventh book. Siourfi names 2c among the higher beings
pp. 40, 46 a Lahdoyo-Rabbo-Zadiko. -- See the play auchı Brandt, Rel., pp. 29f.

In the name of the great life.

Hear me, my Father, hear me,
lift me up, Great One, Son of the mighty (life),
our Father, Son of life').

This is the mystery and the book of splendour, which in the Mānā lo- from which the rays of brilliance emanated, from which the inner Jordane came. Of them, those") Jordanians, came the Jordan, the greatest among all the Jordanians. From that Jordan stood out and went here- in front of the great, hidden, first Niṭubta"), (from the Lord of Greatness, 3c the greatest of all Uthras, the Father of all the learned, 4) from the great, righteous Only, out of which arose the outstanding") sons of the in the first life, who stand there and praise those great, great- valigen Mānā worship and praise. He said to them: 'Get up, pull out to the Jordan of Piriavis and to the waves of the water, remember 3 [235] and call forth a Son whose form does not pass away, in whom

---

1) See also p. 220.

2) Read instead ומן.

8) Another form for Niṭuftā, see above, p. 1554.

4) This, incidentally incomplete sentence is probably inserted. From the Lord of the Size is not mentioned in this piece otherwise. The great, just One is identical with the great, mighty Mānā.

f) NyN21B, see above, p. 2151.

there is no (evil) mind that is rather gentle, modest'), silent and he is like the Uthras, the Sons of Light."

As soon as I spoke the word to them"), they rose in praise-praise, bowed, praised, glorified, blessed him and spoke to him: ,,What you say comes into force."

They rose up and went to the Jordan of Piriavis and to the waves of the Out of the water, they invented and called forth the only Son whose The form does not pass away, in which there is no (evil) sense, the great, righteous The only one who emerged from the great, righteous one, whom the Created life by His Word. Now it was clear why it was created").

The first life*) then rose, bowed and praised that great, mighty Mānā and said to him"): 'I have a single, he conceived and produced a great, righteous son, who came out of the great, the only righteous one."

Then he said to him (for life): 'Go, clothe him with a And cover it with good, pure turbans of the Transmittance."

Then it came, clothed him with garments of splendor, covered him with good, pure turbans of light and said to him: ,,Get on, get on look up and see your Father enthroned in his place." Then he spoke he said to him: 'There is one who is greater than you and on whose right and there are numerous beings of light on the left."Come on," she said to him, ,see the škīnā in the škīnā". - "There is the Škīnā," he replied to him, ,of which you spoke to me".

Then a messenger came out, whose name is Adakas-Malala, from the great, the mighty Manā came and said to him, 'What is your name?" But he maintain silence. For the second time he asked him and spoke to him: ,What is your name?But he kept silence. For the third time he asked him and said to him, 'What is your name?u replied to this he said to him, 'I am the youthful boy, the just, the great, the only One.u

Then he took him, caressed him, introduced him, showed him the škinā in the Škinā and showed him the enormous eggs') of concealment. He the brightness, whose splendour is wondrous, whose light is precious and

---

1) Actually, "needy", see also Nöld., p. 150°.

2) See Nöld., p. 454, 8, also here, p. 144.

8) There is probably a gap here. Maybe DN'apry will listen; nor to the previous Sentences: ,,and he was strengthened."

4) The following is only about life, not about the sons of life. It is it possible that even before that only life was called, and the sons of life were only was introduced to a man who was interested in the role that life plays in relation to Mānā assigned, took offense.

8) nbandn Z. 9 and Atanon in Z. 11 are to be interchanged.

o) Originally, it probably stood here as before, "vestments".

") The writing Noatyn is also found L 26, 1; 27, 8, nevertheless it is probably הילבוניא to read, see above, p. 1512.

whose figure is brilliant and sublime. When he saw this, he was afraid he trembled and shuddered, fell on his face, worshipped and praised.

Then the messenger, whose name is Adakas-Zīwa, said to him, 'A anyone [236] who reveals this figure to people who are unworthy, - there is nothing that would be endless, ') - the light will not look. Who but this form leaves and preserves in secret, day after day climb up, look at the place of light, and a part of my splendor becomes rest on him."

Then the young boy spoke to the messenger, whose name was Adakas- Malala is: ,,[I looked]) the shine that shines above all, the light, 1 that is above all light. Who gave me the glare) from the eyes and the piece of meat taken from the heart? When you're with life, to your father, speak, so do not tell him what I say')." Then he spoke he (Adakas) to him: 'Tell life, your Father, that it is in your own Rejoice and shine for what you have seen."

Then he (the boy) descended, went down and found the first Life as it sat in its own Škinā. Then he said to him, 'Rejoice you and shine in your own sense around what I saw.u The erste Leben asked the young boy, 'What have you been looking at?" Since and he said to him, 'I have seen the splendor that shines above all things, and that 2 The light that is above all light. I looked at the brightness, whose Splendour is wondrous, whose light is precious and whose form is sublime.. In a thousand times a thousand beings of light are at your right hand and ten thousand times ten thousand beings of light on the left."

.Then the first life and its own skīnā") arose and judged 2 Prayer and praise to him°). The voice and reputation rose to the great, the mighty Mānā. As the great, mighty Mānā, that voice and when he heard that call, he got up and created a thousand times a thousand lights- ten thousand times ten thousand beings of light at his right hand his left. The great, mighty Mānā then spoke to that messenger, 3 who is standing in front of him:Where is the young boy? Get him in front at me." Then he said to him, 'If you speak, it will come into effect."

He then departed from the King of Light '), stepped before the first life [237] and said to him, 'Where is the young boy? Where is the righteous, great single gone?" Then the first life answered him: 'He went 3 to the other worlds of light that are evoked; but not well prepared have. They sent him there, and committed him over them, that he might make them well prepare." Then he said to life, 'Get him in a hurry." Since I brought and he took him, and brought him in before him. And I bowed

---

1) See p. 753. e) See further.

8) Cf. Nöld., pp. 147, 6.

1) Read NandnT. b) Cf. Lit., p. 41.

6) The great, mighty Mānā.

?) A more recent use in place of the great, mighty Mānā, see also p. 235, 30.

praise him and said to him: 'Blessed be the place from which you kamest. Blessed, glorified and strengthened be the man who gave you- he sent and sent."

He (the messenger) grasped him by the surface of his right hand, lifted him up 5 and brought him up before the great and mighty Mānā. When this man when he saw him, he caressed and kissed him and said to him: 'Go and speak to the Naşoreans who live in the world of darkness and in the black water left behind are: Every Nāşorean who hands the Kuštā to himself like the great, mighty Mānā, who, at his own baptism, holds the hand of 10 when he had not enjoyed any, there will be no share in the house." of life). About every Naşöräer who sits at the Pihta- will be damnation, blow and plague from the house of life come'). Rather, he stands there for a long, long time and prepares it, and then he sits out abundantly, abundantly and rest."

Life is praised in the light that is endless, life is victorious, and victorious is Jāwar-Zīwā and his friends.

---

1) The young boy speaks.

2) In any case, it is probably not a prescription, but הלאק ומנאק a saying that was addressed to pasn.

3) One should rather call in a priest.

4) You also Lit., pp. 70, 8f.

Tenth book.

This book has the title "The Book of Splendor that Blazes in the Pihtä". Your- again, this is the original creation. In the beginning, the first Mānā lived in the Piltā. The first Life, about whose relations to the Mānā nothing is said, had arisen out of itself. As in the third book, it creates a son, the Second, which in turn gives rise to sons. They want to create worlds. Life asks for Jōzataq Mandā aHaijē, that plane 5 forestall. The further course is interrupted by a gap (p. 242). After Resuming the text, we learn that Ptahil had formed a world, and now we are go to create Adam and Hawwā. He throws into it a kind of ghost (N71), the planets something of their mystery, but they are not able to get them on their feet. That The following is composed of two different representations, in which another Pieces are inserted, and its parts contradict each other in places. According to the one The Source was sent down to Hibil to revive Adam and Hawwā and to provide for them. After the other, Adakas, the hidden Adam, here was his soul, in Adam and Hawwä and had only given them the right life. The compiler looks at some Make the two versions to combine. The deviations in the two sources are particularly evident in the description of the production of the first garment for Adam and Hawwä. The planets oppose Hibil or Adakas, but olme succeeds. In the Stiicke is rejected by Ptahil and his work, but in the end it closes with a right-manufacture Ptahils.

In the name of the great life, healing, victory and a Forgiveness of sins is granted to me, my wife, my father, my Mother NN and my children NN, NN.

Furthermore, a remission of sins will be granted to all priests and Mandaeans, those who seek instruction in these books.

* * *

In the name of the great, strange life from [238] the worlds of light, the the one who is above all works.

This is the mystery and the book of splendor, which is in the Pihta lo- dert'), which shone in its own splendor') and was great in its light was. That first mana dwelt, created and dwelt in it. He believed in the

---

1) See also p. 235, 26.

2) Sorry, You have ,,in its rich luster."

Mānā, who dwelt in it, believed in the splendor and light that was in it was, it believed in the Mānā who dwelt in it, whose name is Šarhabel. Shine came out of the pihta, light lay over the pihta and came out of it. He') called himself sprout, shine and light, whose shine, whose light blazes of its own accord. The tannā glowed, the Tanna melted, in which he was3). As he blazed over the Tanna, the Mambu arosegās8), there arose the communality*), which is uninterrupted. It the community with life arose, life took its abode-life arose in the springs of the water that flowed from it poured out. With its prayers it prayed to itself°), in which°) it was, in which it grew. Through them it was brightened and consolidated, in its splendor took the place of the name of the living doctrine, with which he clothed himself and by which he was strengthened, as well as the name of the splendor and light, that blazes in it. It (life) assumed from itself Kuštā, a kušta, which was from time immemorial, which was created at the beginning of time. Life believed remember, it was in its own baptism, it believed in its own kušṭa, it she took it out of her own hand, kissed the (own) rights and spoke to himself: ,,I am the first baptist who believed in the Kušṭā and this baptism. Everyone who keeps to me believes in my Kuštā and this baptism of mine, will enter into communion with me and take a place in my Škīnā find." There was the Škina of life, which was above the water and the there is a living fire. He said, 'I am the life that comes from it became his own glory. It was formed from his- and stood there with him [239] in secret')." His shine shone out of it, his light was great, that it shone above his splendor and light created abundantly. His own light was beautifully prepared. life it was conceived in his inner being, in his own structure*), life turned out in In order to create a son and make him a companion for himself make. Life knew that the Son whom it meant to create that he would create sons, that the sons whom he would create would advise him, to create other worlds, to give him life from his own heart created as a support, placed as his image and in which Škinā has let him dwell, that in the future he will go to other worlds.

Then he created a son, made him a comrade, and the water that came from life in the Jordan was enough for him

---

1) Or It; it refers to ,,shine" as on,,light".

2) See p. 151s.

3) See p. 197.

4) Among the believers, see Lit. , p. 133.

8) See p. 66*.

e) Probably refers to the sources.

7) PND3 is intransitive here, cf. Joh. II, p. 66°. Of course, then does not fit, for what DNP or is to be read, as well as Text 239, 3. By the way, it is not quite sure, where the speech stops.

s) See Joh. II, p. 66 °, here p. 146 °.

8) Here, as also more often, the singular with relation to NvA is erroneously written.

Kušṭā, clothed him with a part of his lustre, covered him with a part of his light and left it with him in his Škina beyond take a seat in the living fire.

The son who created it, planned to create sons for himself. He created sons, clothed them with some of his garments, covered them 5 with some of his covers, she left in his skinā at his right and take a seat on the left and handed them Kušta.

The sons he created planned to create other worlds, and languages: 'We want to create worlds for ourselves') equal to those of this house life." They then stood before their high Father, the Second"), and 10 they said to him: 'Grant us that we may go to other worlds to create for you a planting equal to that of this house of life, plant a plantation and build worlds") and create, just like the Sons of salvation were created and educated."

Her father granted ilnen from the hidden, and his first- 15 the second, and his brothers gave it to one of the sons of the 4) in the image of the sons they were created for salvation"). He gave him") Water and living fire and said to him: 'Go, create worlds like the sons of salvation, as you have seen it [240] in the house of Life."

Life reflected on itself and thus spoke to Manda dHaije, who Jözataq Manda dHaije is called. And he said to him, Grant that Forming the image of glory') Then Manda replied to him dHaijē: ,,You have created and strengthened me, and I am minded, that Before you make plans about that world *and those 25 Order the world. They called me the Front, the First") that I [previously?] sow in her the seed, create in her sons the sons of the great They are called the tribe of life. I want to get started with my Send the tribes that life grants me. It called me, it spurred and created me [tribes] over them"), so that they may have the call of life 30 who is more wondrous than the world, and who is separated from the world of Keep darkness away." Manda dHaije said, 'I want to come here earlier than that world arises, taking them into communion with life; let your 10) Škinā be in the house of life."

---

1) Read אלמיא. 2) See above, p. 97. 5) Sorry. has p2.

4) Read 137.

6) The place is quite unclear, probably also gap-filled. Your father is the second.

°) Read AbeNpu.

7) That it is like the image of glory? According to p. 242,6, Mandā dHaijē is they themselves emerged from the image of glory. There is a gap behind it. There are then still the words ,which are thrown into the world of F'insternis, who is ready to form come here." Here we were talking about the inhabitants of the dark world, see further.

9*) From Z. 10.

°) Add NON3-12, see text Z. 24.

10) Read שכינתון.

When Manda dHaije said this, she'kissed him'), Kušta handed him and said to him: 'Kušta keep you safe, good one, and keep the Word safe, in which you have expressed yourself*). Yes, I want to bring from my tribes, ... that they may not be condemned in the world of darkness, that they do not commit any wrongdoing."

Life called Jozataq Manda dHaije, who came from the image of the Lord- it was created in secret. It called Manda dHaije ... He ......³). chooses, plants and leads up to the light residence.

These words he spoke*) to Jozaṭaq Manda dHaije, then he went lo and created a world for the sons of salvation°). The formation of the Having formed the second, he gave it to one of the sons of Salvation. He took them and gave it to his son Ptahil. This one then came and threw her into the world darkness. He created creations and formed tribes outside the Those who are unworthy of life. [241] He became ,of the glossiness bar, 15, cut off from the light" "), he who led the tribes in the world of Darkness has cut off, so that they are cut off.

After Ptahil created that world and tribes formed in it and he set up the angels of the house, that they might- adoring lichen Adam and his wife Hawwa in that world of darkness 20 should. He created in it mountains, seas, birds, wild animals, fish in the Seas, as well as fruits, grapes and trees, so that he and his wife Eat Hawwä and rejoice, so that no sorrow may afflict him. Of the animals, as well as the fruits, grapes and trees, Adam and to give Hawwa to his wife, that he might soothe the beautiful body.

After Ptahil created that world, he built his son Adam according to his form, and according to the form of Adam, his wife became Hawwa constructed. Ptahil threw into him (Adam) a kind of spirit of his own Spirits, and from the planets each threw into him some of his their own mystery. Ptahil and the planets that were with him could but Adam and his wife did not raise up Hawwa. Then Ptahil went to his father Abathur, took a hidden Mānā, which was given to them") from the house of life, brought him and threw him into Adam and his wife Hawwā.

Then a progenitor Uthra flew up and approached, to whom life ilim had sent. Adam raised his eyes, Hibil cast a shine on him"),

---

1) The verbs are again in the singular, despite the relationship on Nw7.

2) See above, p. 95, 4.

8) Four words without meaning in this context: 'by Jāwar they shall swear (? Sorry. there also seems to be a bigger gap here.

4) According to the following, it is Abatlur of whom vorler must have been talking.

°) Thus, see, on the other hand, p. 241,13f.

4) See above, p. 194, 24; 209, 34.

7) See above, p. 15°.

8) Abathur and Ptahil, see p. 109f.

9) So. is not to be associated with Hibil. There is no Ny here either.

Adam sneezed and asked about life'). Ptahil and the planets that they were with him, they said to him: 'Live, Adam!") Then answered them Adam: ,,Trusting in the parent-forming Uthra, who came from the house life has come to me." Adam also said, 'I am from the House of Life 3) came, and life was [with me?]. I am Adakas-Zīwa, who came from the hidden place*). * fell inside me and brought me here. Then the good messenger comes to meet me, to lead me out there, according to the place from which I came am."

Then Hibil revealed himself to Ptahil, when his thoughts turned to and all his works were corrupted. [242] Then he spoke Ptahil: ,Woe, woe to my works, over which you receive the power containing." Ptahil then left the world he created and went to his Father Abathur. Abathur was angry with him and put him in the foot block until the end of the worlds. Then Abathur and Ptahil will face each other- forgive each other").

Then Adam rose, bowed, and praised the man who had he opened his eyes and put him on his feet. Adam looked and saw everything he saw. Adam saw his wife Hawwa naked, and his Sinn was ashamed in front of her. Hibil learned this when he came to Adam, while he was ashamed in front of his wife Hawwa. Then he created Adam and his wife Hawwa a garment with which they covered their nakedness ').

A young boy') settled down with Hawwa, while Adam chaste lived with her"). Then Hawwā said, 'Where did the youth come from A boy who was not sown by a man's seed? The body of a Woman has not grown, and there was no fullness for her? His speech is at- well, his voice is bright. Hibil bar Adam is called him, the Son Adams of Hawwa."

Hibil got a son, and his name was Sitil, and Šitil got a son, and his name was Anoš.

Then Adam gave himself up to meditation, he thought about his Father Ptahil, about what his father Abathur commanded him and about what Hibil had in mind for Adam and his wife Hawwa had laid. Adam and his wife Hawwa then rose and laid the garment with which Hibil had clothed Adam and his wife Hawwa, who, in their own image, resembled the treasure of life.

---

3) See Lit., p. 551.

2) Maybe this one , Live!" in general, a turn to the sneezing, prosit, and here the origin of the custom should be explained.

a) Sorry. hat . 1) See p. 109 ff.

6) Read Kanm instead of zn: then you will be forgiven by life.

d) Read instead of ANDn. 7) See p. 1329.

8) Sorry, ntnd has nen-.

") Various reports on the Gebnrt Hibils are listed next to each other in the following originally asked.

When the nine months were full for Hawwa, the Labor pains of childbirth. And the worlds said,Whence came Hibil, whence had Hawwa a son who did not arise from the seed of Adam? Yes, this is to be called a miracle that goes out into all worlds. It is a Sprout, [243] who went out into the Tibil, revealed himself, and into the world the children of men came, Good for the institutions of the children of men') to create and return people there"), to the place from which the one you came to."

Then Adam lay down, joined his wife Hawwā, and she received from him a double fruit, a man and a woman. She was in her womb for nine months, after what Ptahil said about her- plan, as his father Abathur had ordered him to do. Hawwa then gave birth a pair of twins, a man and a woman.

Then Adakas-Mānā spoke, who came out of the hidden place- when Adam and his wife Hawwa had fallen, Adam and his Woman Hawwa stood on her feet, her eyes lit up, that they saw, their feet  that they walked, their mouth opened, that they ate, Adam the power over the animals, over the fruits, grapes and trees, over the Birds and the fish in the sea, which his father Ptahil had bestowed on him as food he had intended for Adam, - Hibil ") spoke to Adam:Well, take the wool of these animals and give it to your wife Hawwā, so that she may make you a robe as an ornament for your body and that of your wife Hawwa, whom your father Ptahil created for you." Then Adam went to it, sheared the wool from the sides of the animals, gave she gave it to his wife Hawwa, and she made him a garment like Hibil in the mind of Adam and his wife Hawwa. She made a robe as a tribute to her body. And he") prepared them Camped and set up a table for them to eat.

Then those seven planets went around, stood up and invented Secret, beckoning, hatred, jealousy and discord about him. A Geheimnis put themselves in their own secret sense, which they then put in Adam and his wife threw Hawwa. They said, 'You shall not speak of the strange man, [244] who has gone hither, and shall have his Do not accept teaching. Since we created Adam, he steps down and obey us and our Father Ptahil. The tribes of Adam shall go- step and worship us and our Father Ptahil. He embraced love for a man whose speech is foreign, alienated from the world. Manda dHaije took a seat in the treasury of the heart°) of Adam and in Adakas-Mānā, who came and penetrated him."

---

1) See below, p. 248". 2) Read sorry. hat והאדריא.

3) is inserted here by the compiler, see above, p. 243,20.

4) Stands for Adakas.

") i.e. Hibil bezw. Adakas. A word from Vienna DON has fallen out behind.

0) See above, p. 162, 17.

Then Adakas-Mānā said to the planets and all the worlds: 'When they i have not yet been brought and thrown into Adam and his wife Hawwa Adam and his wife Hawwa have not given up their mysteries-through the spirit that Ptahil cast into him, which his Father given to him whom his father Abathur had commanded not to open his eyes-opened, did not stand on his feet, did not open his mouth and spoke not. He had no power over the works that his father Ptahil gave him it was created for food. He was not with his wife Hawwa, and the children of men did not awaken in the world: until I, Adakas-Mānā, from which came hidden places. From me, the spread Tribes in the Tibil. It was I who put the semen in the uterus of women sow. From my seed the fetus was formed in the womb of the mother. From me the eyes were formed, from the eyes the marrow was formed, from the marrow the head was formed, from the head the nasal bone arose'). From me came the mouth, from the mouth came the tongue, from out of the tongue arise the ..."), out of me arise the hearts, and it is from the hearts that the urges arise. These are in the hearts partly good, partly bad. All the forms that the child receives in the womb, come to the child in the womb of me (,from the mystery that the Pla-and the spirit that Ptahil threw into it). I became the main for all the mysteries, I built the physique of the children of men, and I ver- spread the tribe of the children of men in this world. [245] I would stand not at the top of the mysteries, if I were not with the child, so would come do not take the child out of the womb. Because it would not be in the Power of mysteries and of the spirit, if I did not build the child to give him the birthday Then he turned away and brought it out of his mother's womb."

Then") Adam lay with his wife Hawwa for the second time, and she gave birth to a husband and a wife. In the case of three births, which she received from Adam there were three men and three women, from whom the world revive. Her name is written down in the Book of Books and published-speak.

, Well, at the beginning I came, then I'm back as He came to the men of proven justice*). Which Planets are standing there") and whispering. Then they forge a secret Plan against the son of the shining beings, who has gone here, whose Shine not from here, whose light was not from this world°). The Planeten could not do anything against my name, so they went there and they made a secret plan against another one."

---

1) Uncertain, see Nöld., pp. 128, 7.

2) NBy is otherwise called "wing, arm"; the palt here is not. Sorry. has See also above, p. 1334.

") The speech of Adaka is interrupted by this paragraph.

4) The passage is corrupted; p is probably repeated incorrectly from Z. 7 in Z. 9.

h) Read וקאימיא.

") This sentence may have been inserted or changed completely.

,My name is: the head of Adaka, the hidden Mānā, the one from he came to his place. Nibṭā (sprout is our name'), the world of Law") they call me, soul they call me, the epithet Mānā if you give me, redeemer of redeemings) you call me, light calls man me, the groan of life 4) is our name, Tannā is our Name, Living fire is our name. I am my hidden name from the house of life, I am Adakas-Zīwa, who comes from the hidden Places have come. My brothers, the Uthras, brought me here, the sons of the Light, my good friends who had set out from there. They were sent to me and brought me there. They imposed over death from the physical apartment in which I grew up. They clothed me with splendor and covered me with light that came to me from he was sent from the house of life. They turned the Curls on my head, put my merits above the schooltern") and led me out to the house of life."

Then the spirits and souls of the men of proven- justice is given to the community (with life), to those who themselves have a- [246] and created insight in those who were in this world, who is full of deception and deception, live. Adam, whom Hibil teaches and having admonished, said: 'Hail to him who, at this admonition of Hibil, Šitil and Anoš. The inspired men who come from the pure And go to the pure places °), where there is no mixture the sins and misdeeds of the Tibil were committed at their own Which has come to you from your own place of residence, which your The Father granted them, raised them up. They had profit, not loss. They did not eat of the consuming fire of this world, did not give themselves up with it did nothing of the works of Ptahil in the world, did not eat of the children of men, but they were at their own Who came to you from your place of residence, which your father granted them, raised up. The deception and wickedness of the Tibil was not with you, no one [from the Tibil?] favored them'), and they had nothing in common with the Tibil. No, the planets may also be against

---

1) The suffix in this enumeration fluctuates between the 1st sing. and pl., probably already in the original version.

2) Uncertain, see below, p. 2483.

3) The expression is found only at this point. The specified meaning (Ablei- and) is not safe.

1) NNd ,"moaning" is common in the Mandaean scriptures (R 87, 23; 88, 3; 91, 1 and otherwise), and NDCAN hardly be translated differently. Dab it out about נישמאת הייא or ANDD be corrupted, I don't think. Of course, it is unclear what here it is gemcint.

8) From the "wreaths of victories" or "merits", see Joh. II, p. 2.

8) See also Lit., pp. 13, 8.

7) For the meaning of N assumed here, see Syriac BOND נסב and heb. .

and the persecutors pursue them with sword, fire and water'), so they remain by virtue of their food, their raiment and the light, that their Father bestowed on them, victorious, while the planets are subject. [So] you stick to these words, stay firm, give alms and your If your heart remains in faith, communion with the house will be given to you 5 by the power of the admonition of the three men, you will their ascent and not cut off from communion with them be."

Hibil said to the corporeal Adam: 'O thou corporeal Adam, who you stand there and admonish your sons and tribes (by giving them 10 sayest) that this world was not created according to the desire of life may they hold fast to your words. Because life was no  to you). This world has been destroyed by the sins of Planets] are created, and the planets stand there, lay down on the treasure 3) and lead the children of men to sin.

When we leave this world, when our foreheads are turned and our merits will come before us, will also come with us the true and believing men go out, even the men of tested justice, formed by flesh and blood, who responded to our call [247] adhered to our name, gave alms and believed 20 standing upright in trust in us: they, too, will ascend. Since we have trodden the path for them, erected the boundary stone and opened the way when there is no fear or tribulation, they will to ascend and look at the great place of light and the luminous abode, to which our eyes look up."

When the planets and Ruha dQudša heard that Hibil was listening to these words Adam and his tribe, when Ruhā dQudša heard it, they broke 4) at her neck, the curls pulled out from the head and he said, 'Let me take over this world." Then they spoke to her Planets and the sons of planets°): , ...people are even turning 30 very big, people are getting huge. As far as it is in our power) let us act, for we are masters of the will."

As they were thus speaking, while Hibil and his brothers passed their lips over Rüha and the planets conceived the plan, the lying Christ so that he may lead all the worlds to sin, the world among the 35 People split into different areas and tongues, and the speech in the Twist the mouths of people.

---

1) An allusion to the three world catastrophes, see p. 27f., 45f.

2) Command given or älml.

3) Is used here as the "Treasure of the heart", see above, p. 162, 17.

4) i.e. the valuable jewelry.

6) there is an erroneous repetition of the previous It לאלמא. is also probably to be deleted. The following might be there is also error, or it is corrupted from NDy: ,, That people do not even very . . . ." 9) Read jntndndt.

When the planets spoke these words, Manda dHaije was there with them in secret, with them, the planet'). In one eye- when he came near, he set up the heart of his sons and opened it rest his support. Manda dHaije came, took the planet her shine and covered him up*), took their heart from them, [removed them out?] the living The fire with which they were clothed, and left them in the consuming fire, to have speech and hearing in it, and to devise good in it. Then it was taken from them. Then Christ, the Son of Ruhā, became-create.

These words of the Nimūsā, when he fell into Adam "), [248] I cried admah-and gave it to the men of tried righteousness: ,Ye men by proven justice! Eat of all the fruits and works that Ptahil created for his son Adam, as well as from the fruit that The grape and the tree, the birds, the livestock and the fish of the And give the gift of mildness. Before Nimūsa fell into Adam, Adam ate nothing. However, after Nimūsā had fallen into Adam, he and the Tribes that were with him, got up and ate.

And all the spices and fruits that the earth produces, as well as the fragrant flowers and spices, whose fragrance is reminiscent of the nimūsa, which Adam fell, and it was pleasant, and Ptahil said that he smelled of them, and Nimūsa, which he placed in Adam, was pleasant. It should be for him and all his tribes in this world do not care about the fruits, grapes and trees, the birds, the fish in the sea and the cattle, male and female, the Ptahil created him to be sorry. He took the fruit, the grape, and the tree, he took little men and little women from them, they let [seed?] fall and bear fruit. Of the birds, the fish in the sea, and the little man climbs on top of the little woman, then they carry and bear.

---

1) Perhaps the second and the following p2 are to be understood in the sense of" and to draw to the following: from them the planet he came. Maybe that's also delete the second one after D zn. 2) See also Lit., pp. 127, 8.

B) There is no connection to the previous one here. ND1D)) R 46, 6 is the Called Torah Mosis, so it is vópos. Also R 243, 2; 245, 15 may it be in the sense of law" but here it can not have this sense, but here at most it can refer to the A law-abiding soul is meant to live according to the law. After that, here is vóuos maybe thrown together with vūs. Also in the Oxford roll G, ND is in ver- the reverse sense is needed. Z. 173 it is said that the demons of the Nbū NC of the NN, and Z. 1004 NDID is at the end of an enumeration of Demon. - The Muslim scholars fables of a Nämūs who lived with the angels Gabriel should be identical. The outsiders go on an alleged utterance of the Waraqa Naufal, the cousin of the Chadiğa. When she came to him and disturbed him by when he told the paroxysms and hallucinations of Muhammad, he recognized in them the exceptions of the And said that the Nämūs who used to come to Moses had come upon him (see Sprenger, ZDMG XIII, 1859. p. 690ff.). Also this nāmūs is undoubtedly longer with võuos together, and even there the word is misunderstood, but a connection with the- there is hardly any mention of NE in the Mandaean writings.

Salvation of this world! The Ptahil-Uthra has a throne built in it, and he is the leader of this world, which he built and created. He did not bring them into the power of the Ruha and the planets and let them not with you. Ruha and the planets did not pursue this world, and there was no gloom in her. Yes, Ptahil-Uthra is intended for the Light earth, while Ruha and the planets are here in this world of darkness- and their eyes do not see the light, they and all their Creature.

Life stands firm in its Škinā, life is victorious over all works. Their father is victorious, they are victorious themselves, and victorious are Hibil, Šitil and Anoš.

And blessed be life.

---

1) After prnen CD I suspect prnen7.

Eiftes Buch.

Das Buch nennt sich ,,Das Mysterium und das Buch des groben An65", war auch wie die ganze Einführung besser zum folgenden Stiicke pa.passen. Ini zweite Teile des Buclies ist zwar von AnбS (Enбs) die Rede, aber hier wird er gerade der kleine EnOS (AnOS) ge- nannt. Es ist also aus, als ob es eine weitere Ausfuhrung zum folgenden Stiicke gibt krieg. Sein Inhalt zeigt einen solclien Mangel an Disposition und Klarheit, wie er selbst in mandtische Schriften sind selten. Ich latte daher dic Absichtdieses Stiick uniibergesetzt zu lassen. Ich entscheide mich schliesslich trotzdem für eine Wiederholung, da es besondere sprache istliche Eigenheiten weisen darauf hin, die zeigen, dass es in einem anderen Kreis als die Sohnstigen mandaischen Schriften entstanden ist. Es sind עלין im Plural des Substantivs zu dem hiufigen Ausdruck גובריא עליוליתא ,diese drei Manner" (nur noch R 286, 22), die Priposition עם ,mit", die Wendung ניהויא ć oder ניהיא ć mit folgendem Partizip, עמאר אשמא statt עמאר אעשתמא (doch auch R 296, 5), die zweite bezw. dritte Person Pl. Imperf. mit ausgeführtem statt , so 12 , 251 איתקרו 257 , 14 אעהו 251 , 5, איתקאימו , das archaische 7 , 262 האנפיקה . Bei der Aufklärung von den Weltkatastrophen konnte der Verfasser eine Darstellung, die uns sonst unbekannt ist.

Am Anfang des Buches ist wie oben, S. 235f., vom Eingeborenen die Rede, der aus sich selbst entstanden ist (uovoyevijs und адтофuijs), der einen gleichen Sohn schafft. In der uno- klarer Darstellung wird von der Geburt weiterer drei Söhne erwartet. Der Einzige wird auf- gefordert, fir die drei Uthras, seine Reiter, zu sorgen. Die drei Uthras sind im Folgenden kahle Hibil, S̈itil und Ans, kahle wird Hibil von ihnen getrennt. An die Stelle des einzigen Sohn wird dann Manda dHaije eingefuhrt. Daran kntipfen sich Ermahnungen Manda dHaijes an die Gliubigen, der die drei Uthras als Vorbilder hinstellt. S. 256, 24 gekntipft wieder an 253 ob. ein. Der Vordere, Erste spricht zu den drei Uthras und schickt sie in diese Welt, um den Seelen der Gliubigen beistehen. Die Planeten treten ihnen entgegen, und sie versuchen besonders Hibil zu umgarnen. Ilire Versuche bleiben oline Erfolg. Sie fassen nun den Plan, den ganzen Stamm zu vernichten. Sie versuchen es erst mit dem Schwert, und ihr Angriff das Hotel befindet sich in einer ruhigen Wohngegend, in der Nähe von Restaurants und Bars. Es scheint, staatsanwalt.6 von den drei Versuchen mit Schwert, Feuer und Wasser (siehe S. 27f., 45f.) der erste gegen Hibil, der zweite ğegen Sitil, der dritte gegen den Krieg, doch ist es jetzt verwisclit. Beim Feuer sehen wir s. 261, wie an die Stelle Sitils tritt. stellt Betrachtungen tiber seine Lage und iiberhaupt iiber die Vorglinge in der Welt an. Von S. 263 an wird er ,der kleine Enos" genannt. Die Bbsen wollen dann die Welt durch Wasser ver- nicht. Dabei ist s. 263 das Bruchstiick eines Sintflutberichtes in die Erziihlung eingegangenadds. Mandā dHaijē comes to Enōš's aid and enlightens him about the secrets this world and the works of Ptahil. From Ptahil are the sky and the stars, fire, Wind and water created the earth with its contents, then in his image Adam, and according to Rūhā's image Hawwā. Mandā dHaijē promises him protection and salvation from this And rises to life.

[249] In the name of the great, strange life from the worlds of light, may the blessed one, who is above all works, be healed, victorious and a remission of sins be given to me, my wife, my children NN, my brothers NN, my father NN and my mother NN.

Life created a Škīnā,
and splendor went up in the noble ether. This is the mystery and book of the great Anoš, the Son the great Šitil, the son of the great Adam, the son of the mighty Uthras of Glory ').

I am a son of the Place of Light*), a son of the place of Light am I, who am completely populated by Uthras, am a son of the city, who quite kindness is. - According to the plan of the two Uthras"), according to the Ge- 4), which they cherish inside, they created the great, first, only°) Uthra, who arose [from] himself. He called himself: 'I am the Only One, Great, Just, who arose from himself." He's created a beloved Uthra so that he would be a discriminator") be for (himself and) his Father, the righteous one, who comes out of himself- so that he might teach about all the works that were to be created, and arrange instruction in front of his father. He called this beloved Uthra, the Only, Great, Just, 'One Uthra') created me" and another Utlra, his son, who was called the "Differentiator"), ,One created me and One called me into life". Of the two Uthras, my brothers who are my parents"), one [250] leads the Names Šarhabel-Zīwā, Šihlūn, the good light, the excellent advice he- shares his brothers who are older than him, and also his brothers who are they are younger than he, who were created together ġ. All three have been created a robe and became a good omen for the other souls who will see that he is 10) truthful, reliable, gentle

---

2) Probably refers to Anõš, not to Adam, see the beginning of the following piece.

2) The speaker, as in the introduction of the following piece, is Anõš.

3) Hibil and sitil.

4) Nnynin, otherwise, "forbearance, mercy" is clearly mentioned here by the author with synany brought together.

6) See above, p. 235.

6) i.e. N27TND, actually, "wise", also see above, p. 5, 21; 31, 17. should probably be here ,.Be an instructor", see further.

7)yis maybe to delete, see further.

8) Note the contradiction to the previous one.

8) Siche p. 145 5.

10) Hardly anyone other than Šarhabēl despite the absurdity.

and excellent. Another one goes by the name Rahziel, the Sprightly, the The smallest among his brothers. Two vestments are ready for him, that and be covered in them from the wicked and the Who send their parents, who created them for me, to them*). He commanded, admonished his Son, and said the Father, that first Glanz, who called himself ,I am the one who acted and succeeded, who he did right and held fast to the nest from which he had emerged")u. He called his son Z'hīr-Smīr-Zīwā, who was from Sām...4) a guardian Mana was. He said to him: 'On, take care of your Uthras, your brothers, who are your sons. Provide them with the sustenance that I grant you have. Cover them with shine, cover them with light and leave them in the- walls of living fire, the three Uthras that go there from the outside to hear the call of life. You will become-together"), their splendor, their speech and their word should be put together-15). They shall be strengthened, their form; they shall become-together they shine. The sword, the fire and the water of that world shall be do not approach. Wickedness, mystery and beckoning, the lords of need'), press on them and on the garment of living fire in which they stand and are preserved"), but they have no restlessness. Also because of the Ge- walls against which they make secret plans and say,We want it "they have no power to take it away from them, and they do not prevent [251] putting it on.

The Great, First, Who became of himself, said: 'To these three Uthras it is imminent that they will go, establish tribes and name the spread the splendor of life and the splendor of life over the world in which one lives He created darkness and death for them. Do not know, did not know all the beings that will be there, the two Uthras, who except me, Manda dHaije, planning to create a world. I clarified myself and the Uthras, my brothers, who are my sons, the three Uthras, who are there for- and are called there, who created light there in the darkness, so that life will arise in death and they will take out the souls of the elect-those who are destined for the house of life") and are coveted, these three Uthras who went from here to that world; they will feast in it

---

1) Read pennoningā.

2) That's what it says.

") See above, p. 151, 16; 162, 38.

4) aNDNeny, which could only be called ., was sawn to pieces", does not fit. It is also hardly an epithet of the DND. Modifications zn or "NDNNDy do not help much.

5) Probably read, but maybe continue as well.

") There may be a form of "2 in the meaningless, such as Nyanzy5 or panvys.

7) It is unlikely that the npn nand apposition to the three previous Nomina sei; perhaps it is to be read.

b) The text falsely states in which I stand and am preserved".

") D has Nanya ,who are called*, which also fits.

And participate in the community with the House of Life you will get a permanent seat in the Škinā of life.

Manda dHaije also calls, speaks and teaches") all his friends. He says: 'Well, I taught all beings that will be, and all souls the children of men who will be there: Death is there with you in 'that The world you live in. Well, of life, and*) of these three Uthras, who have come there from the outside, to hear the call of life and to create light so that the souls may be given relief, let them be strengthened by the call of life, let them testify and praise; in that world°) of darkness they shall find relief, when they leave the garment of darkness in which they dwelt, and live."

Further, Manda dHaije said: 'I taught you about life: That Life has sent death and darkness to you, who sit and dwell [252] there with you in the world; with you they dwell. Death and Darkness have no light. Find the souls there when they see the hull of darkness, in which they dwell, leave, no relief and do not see the light. They leave the darkness and become in the darkness that is beneath them it is housed."

Manda dHaije spoke thus to all beings that will be. He spoke: ,All you souls who are cast there into darkness and death, why do you want, when that last day is with you °), the well-being of the souls men of proven justice, who responded to the call of the Le- they heard Manda dHaije calling to them and then they believed in him and were they strengthened by him and believed in the speech of the three men? Manda dHaije gave them splendor, clothed them with splendor and covered them with light. You will find happiness in abundance and bliss in abundance, and their hearts rejoice at the comfort they found. You will be- '), while the men of tried righteousness, with splendour- clothed and covered with light, pass by you and go to the great light- climb up the place. You will have to watch it while you are in the You are in the darkness of this world and have compassion on yourselves. You will say: Why did we not listen to the speech that was given to us- and did not go out on this beautiful path, on which these- moving out the right?" They say, 'We have to put up with it, because they want us to be We called and we didn't want to hear." Further, they say,Who will go and admonish our children that they may not return- do not walk in this way of ours, do not practice the works we practiced? For we are here in the great darkness

---

1) Read ניתקאימובה.　　2) Read AND.

3) הייא ו it is probably to be deleted or to be read for it.

4) Refers to the souls.　　5) Read None.

") One expects poynting Antenna nnanne now.

") Read prndNP).

accommodate. But do you listen to the speech of these three truthful and faithful men, confess life [253] and bear witness to Manda dHaije. These three men, the sons of the great tribe of life, left the To hear the call of life and to know [life]. In that way, as true and believing men walk'), you also walk.

We are not allowed to go and tell our children that we are thrown into the evil darkness, and our eyes do not see the light. They shut the gates of darkness before us and will not let us- going out?]. Every day, every day they leave torment and doom against us lot'). Ask each of us according to the works and Wages(payments) from which we practiced in this world, which they did not create have. The other souls of the children of men are also numerous, who here, like lamps dying away, as if they had never been there, and the no one asks. Then, too, because they find bad and ugly works, there is no questioning taking place with them in the world. Die there these, without being questioned, and are tied up there. What are your works, that you should not die like these, who die and become- why go?u Manda dHaije teaches and talks about those who die and- reasons to go over those who are tied up and questioned: ,,Day by day  these [souls] who are tied up and questioned, those of the merchants who are partners of each other and act dishonestly"), they are brothers of one another, and yet they are robbers (4) and not at peace with- tell each other: it will be the same for you. Every Naşöräer, he who forsakes the speech of life, and another speech of transgressions he who forsakes the way of life and the way of darkness walk: it will be the same for you. Who stand in the darkness and whose soul is burning, speak thus to one another: Until when shall they be PU

Manda dHaije says: 'Every individual is asked according to his own works. The Nazarenes are judged according to their rights [254] and they perform their works accordingly. Then the Naşöreans step down and submit to life, praise Manda dHaije and say to him: 'We have persevered and missed as a result of the wickedness of the angels of this world that worked for us. Now forgive us our sins. You, Manda dHaije, deliver us from the darkness of this world into which we are- are thrown."

---

3) Read prin or aztin.

2) Read PEN2 cf. R 312, 16. is determined by the repeated following arranged.

8) 93, 14 stands alongside other readings in parallel There could be at best, like NöLDEKE Gram., p. 46, 8, "rejoice", but here this one fits No sense. Maybe you have to read, see the Var. C.

4) for Fon also R 215, 22.

Then Manda dHaije speaks to all the souls of the Naşöreans: ',The ') there they are thrown into darkness and call for me, who are with the sign they were drawn to the path of life, but they left the path of life and in the name of the Glory and Christ descended to the Jordan - who shall forgive them their sins? However, the other souls who are in the Ver- the errors of the Rüha and of Christ [and with the sign of the Ruha and the Christ] were not drawn because they donated alms and did good in this world, tolerating according to their works, the they practiced in the world because they were filled with the sign of the glory and the Christ have not been drawn. These souls of these nobles and Nasoreans, and of all the gates marked with the sign of the Rūhā and the Christ and confess the gods of this world - Ruha and Christ speak to all the gates: Yes, I will let you ascend to paradise. If when you leave your body, you will go there and find grace." But Manda dHaije says to them: 'There is the darkness into which you go- throw you*) and now call for me. This is the paradise that you hope. Now there are your houses: the darkness into which you have been cast, without anyone being able to lift you out of it. Day after day, Years by years and months by months your souls are dying and will be held in that darkness in which you stand, until the day, the judgment day, until the hour, the hours of salvation.

And on the day when the heavens and the earth will end, when the earth and The heavens were your houses where the planets [255] walk: they ver- all fall. Ruhā and Christ, the Sun, the Moon and the planets all take end. Even the children of men, Ruha, Christ and God") acquaintances'), come to an end with Ruhā. They are coming to an end at the big Days of the end  and with Ruha, who will tell you the secret of death undisclosed. After death you go there and fall into darkness. I called you to life, where the name of death is not. I called to the light where there is no darkness. I called to you:,,Clothed shine on you and cover you with light and go out on the Ways of life. I will lead you out on the path where the The name of death is not, the name of darkness is not. But you do not listen to me, and the speech of the Uthras did not please you. Also the children of men who came from the tribe of the corporeal Adam and Hawwah those who listened to the call of life, believed in it, and who listened to the call of these three men and who hated death and loved life, the darkness

---

1) Something probably happened before, probably "the souls".

2) Sorry. I have one, but keep looking.

a) Var. ,,God".

1) Sorry. hat ד̄אודובון.

") ,"spread" pact did not; perhaps,,and remained firm' dage-now standing.

they hated and loved the light, clothed themselves with splendor and be filled with light- and they went up in the great way of life; they came and found life'). They also called the call of life in your ear, but you did not listen to it. You now, sons of Adam and Hawwā, why did you not listen to their words, and do not follow the way of Le- bens whom the righteous go? Now you come on the way that you love your God who has led you astray. What did you put your Trust? These other souls (who) die, come to an end, vergo out and go out like a lamp, which in that world [256] the Darkness dwelt, and no inquiry is made with them."

Manda dHaije speaks and explains to the men of proven Gejustice:Those souls who commit a murder and the blood of a Those who have cast the son of Adam into the earth, those who have taken prisoners *) who sell what they did not buy with their gold, not with they have acquired their possessions and have not traded with their trade, which go, destroy the houses of the free and turn them into slaves and the turning free women into maids, the souls of adulterous men and the adulterous women who feed on ruling power and have no Who chastise the Father and absolve the Son, who take away their steel and strength, without their being able to oppose them, so that ilıre soul is grieved over them - all the souls that the ugly Practiced the works of the angels, all will come to an end, all the gods and their hosts take an end."

The first one, which had arisen out of itself, also strengthened the, the three Uthras, blessed them and strengthened them and strengthened the beloved Son, he was the first to speak, and he was the first to speak, and to these three Uthras: ,,I blessed you with a blessing, like the parents (with him) blessed their children. Go into that world, lead your Process and speak purely the souls that have been brought there from here. They were brought into that world of darkness where death reigns. Speak in and get out") those souls of them who called and are sought after who listen to the speech of life, by Manda dHaije be strengthened, listen to your speech, with the splendor and light of the To go forth to Mandā dHaije and be established in the house of life. To you, three Uthras, Hibil, your eldest brother, will judge and judge- [257] in that world. The eldest brother is the Father. He will be the head, he will be the judge over the judges of this world. They call out to him: 'Where did this pebble come from over us'), who- to stand and enrage us in this world of our own?: [He is] the

---

1) Probably pown to read. Nn is hardly a subject.

2) pin27 is to be deleted, see 232 ob for this and the following text.

a) Read spD IN(1)1.

4) The pebble is a picture of special hardness, see above, p. 217, 5. So here are the I mean Dümonen.

Head of our tribe in this world, whose speech, sound and word hebe heard."

The first one says to the three Uthras: ' Go and return to the Škinā, from whom you have emerged, to what life has given you-the palace of Splendor and the Chamber of Light. You will be go forth victorious when your works are finished. Your face will be shine in joy, you will shine in the skinā of the Chief of the shining beings whose light shines more than the whole world, who is the king ') those who have been placed above that world'). Go there now, with Clothed with splendor and covered with light, may your foreheads be on and you will become the head of the tribe of life from whose Škinā you get the souls that come with the call I will ascend to the chamber of life that I have built for you have. All souls who believed in it (life) will be recognized as such by tested justice with you in this great skinā of life and in the room of the great life "), which I created for you, set up be. Manda dHaije will set you up in this Škinā4) and you leading up to the house of life. All the souls of the flesh and Blood-educated people who listen to the voice of life and are believers, will become partakers of communion with the house of Life."

The planets are standing there and are thinking about evil against them in this World. [They say:] ,,They should see us and be afraid of us and submit to us." They also say, 'We want to give you our Dress up, and it's ours." They raised their voice against but they neither trembled nor trembled, and the trembling and fear were not with you. Further, they say: ,,Then we want you by cunning, Flattery and flattery; but they are not entitled to we do not and will not let ourselves be cajoled by us." Furthermore, they speak: ,Let us [258] approach them with gentleness and kindness; perhaps come to us and keep it with us."

Hibil the Righteous said to his brothers and sons"): ,Go get down, step under her. Now you want to make me your master, now do you want to worship me. They say to me: We want a sacrifice for you-prepare cakes. Well, I will not be disturbed by your adoration nor taken by them through their sacrificial cake. I want you to fall down and leave them lying down and throw greed and embers over them all. When I'm out all the worlds are then created by their own greed. will heat up and will glow." So I spoke to my brothers, explained

---

1) B has "Uthras and Kings", but mobile phone is probably to be deleted. For notng see p. 6².

2) Behind it still stands, and made it firm" or,,to shine", but the words don't belong here.

³) Lies וענדרונא דהייא רביא דשאוילכון. 4) Read ניקאימינכון:

8) To his younger brothers, who are his sons, see above, p. 145°.

so do my sons. I went and stepped under them (the planets), as they approach me and say, 'Come, Lord of the Gods, Lord of the whole world." The planets rejoice, Ruha, who are with you it was, I'm glad. They say to me: 'Come, be our head, be the Heads of the whole world."Ruha, you and the great being ') took the Crown down from her head. The planets bow to me and say to me: 'Take from us the worship, take from us the Sacrifice cake." But I responded in this way to peace and all the planets: ,I am not a man who accepts bribes or talks with which his Parents commanded him, and the words with which his parents admonished him in the wind.u

When Rüha heard this, she said to the planets: 'The man belongs to not to us, and his speech is not of your speech. He has no Ver- bond (mix) with you, and he is not a child of your speech. Seine Speech comes from outside. I have him, the stranger"), now to be- he was looking for a fool, but he did not let himself be beguiled. Now we want a Ge- we will try to make a home plan against him, maybe we will get him through the Ge- capture the home plan."

They speak falsely to me, but I am more false than they are. You speak in cunning, but I am more cunning than all of them. All of them sit down again and know that I will escape from you. You speak to us with your pure speech and sing to us of your wonderful songs)." Then I spoke with my pure voice and sang of [259] my wonderful chant. I sing miracles- barer than all the world. I speak with my lovely speech, the lovelier when all the world is at which there is no mixture with falsehood. I sang and fell she threw shame on them all. I spoke and shamed her; my singing did not resemble their singing, my speech did not resemble their speech. I rose up from among them and cast reproach upon them all. You their eyes were closed"), and they were all afraid and grieved"). I she laughed and shamed them °) and let out a laugh at them all. I got up, left her and moved out of her midst, out of the robe, there is food on the table and a bad smell emanates from it. I went there, pulled the pure robe), which my parents gave me, the pure robe, in we dwell in a place where there is neither food nor evil smell. Its fragrance is wonderful, and the splendor of my brothers is lovely on me*).

---

1) As above, p. 187, 16; 188, 1 here it says n, actually, "Be". It is the God of the Jews, that is, as much as Jōrabbā, the rough Jō.

2) Probably read Atvab. 3) Cf. Joh. II, p. 165.

4) in the case of eyes, also R 294, 13 (CD, sorry.); it is probably 'encircling, enclosing'.

8) Instead of reading. is hanging next דוי, to see R 146, 5; 158, 10; 353, 19; L 21, 17.

6) Var. ,,made her cry". 7) Well read. *) Probably not to be understood in this way: and the company of my brothers is pleasant to me.

They stand there and forge a secret plan against my robe, they catch a ...') against me and say: 'What can we do with this Seize the tribe and make it disappear from the world?" - ,,With which Sword?" say to each other, 'the sword does not reach you. Rather, we want to seize them with fire and eliminate this tribe. 'If the fire does not reach them, we want to grab them with water and eliminate this trunk."

Ruha says: 'Well, let's wait a little." Speak there the angels, and the planets consult each other:When sword, fire and Water takes over the world") [and?] the head of this tribe, 'so the The world is like him." Then they say, 'We want this Take sourdough, which is stored in our treasure house"). Then of the leaven of the world, which is in their treasure house')- it is preserved so that a world may arise out of it [260]. They left the sword go and took against us ******.

Life knew what was going on there, that they were plotting against us forge. In an instant Manda dHaije came, brought splendor, brought living, primordial fire and light from the house of life. He be- clothed Hibil with splendor, covered him with light and determined the ver- "hanging in front of the sword°). Those souls who answer the call of the three Men testified and believed in Manda dHaije, [divorced] before the Sword.

Hibil went out without the planets knowing that he was from here had gone away. He laid a path and set up a waystone for the sake of his brothers, whom he left here in the garb of life among whom he had dwelt. The spirits and souls of the meeting-men were given comfort in this world, and they became the We are in communion with the House of Life. Manda dHaije created Good for those who believe in the name and words of these three men hold.

Then the sword fell into the world. Then Manda dHaije ordered the Šitil:,,Turn your eyes to your son Anoš, who is your younger brother and on the garment of living fire in which you stand. I want to go-

---

1) The meaning of here, where it stands in parallel NiN, and text is 269, 23 insecure. The other meanings in the Mandaean texts ,,celebration" and ,,matte" fit not. On the magic bowls, it apparently occurs in the sense of "incantation", see MontGomeRy, Aramaic Incantation Texts, p. 162 (not "shell", as M. assumes); perhaps the same sense is also present here.

2) Perhaps it is necessary to read: if we grab with sword, etc.

3) Read on; is influenced by text Z. 19. Which the following words pnsnondns noyrn do not belong here, sielie text, z. 18. From The leaven of the world, from which things are to be created, is only in this piece the Speech.

4) Read pr.

a) That they should depart before the destruction of men by the sword, see L 20, 23 ff.

go, assign Hibil a place in the new room and then come hurry to you. Do not be afraid of the sword of the planets, and Fear and anxiety do not be with you. After that, well, I'll come to you'). The eye of life is upon you. I covered you with the garment of life that it has bestowed upon you. Indeed, I i'm with you. Every time you look for me, you will find me, every time you call me, [261] I will answer you. I am not far from you.«

Manda dHaije addressed these words to Šitil. Šitil was also enough for them*) Kuštā. Then Hibil said to Šitil: 'Come soon after me, and Anoš come after you. Even all the souls of men of proven righteous- let those who have known life and are going out come before you and come after you in the way in which we went out, which Manda dHaije built for us."

Ruha and the planets did not know. They went out and threw the sword of the world. But these men did not reach the sword, because Manda dHaije was with them. Having turned on rest in this world- the angels, who are appointed over the anger, saw that these Men in their splendor lit up and stand there in this world, because they went and said to the great El and to Ruha, 'Truly these Men stand there in their own glory, and the sword was handed to don't approach her." Then the planets took from the leaven of the world, who was in their treasure house and was kept with them,  Rām and Rud, from the children of Adam), from whom the people- children should be raised. These men stand in their glory in the world is there, and you *) can do nothing against it. Then they took from two of each from the world * Ruha and the great El became angry and spoke to the angels, who are used to anger. They spoke to the angel Daniel, who °): ,,Throw fire into the whole world, maybe we will come to you with fire°).and they threw fire into the World. Then Manda dHaije came and joined these men, and the fire didn't get close to her. After rest had come in this world, [do the angels see, ] that these three men [262] are there in this world-, and they can do nothing against them. There went these angels, who and spoke to their gods'): 'These

---

3) The following words until povnnit in z. 22 are an erroneous repetition.

2) The pious of his race.

3) Read DNTNA (or DNT) DNT7. Maybe before DNT ge- see Text 262, 5. Before that, even more is missing.

4) The planets, respectively. angel.

8) He is mentioned only at this point. The Daniel of the Furnace became a Angel of Fire. The form of the name will have contributed to this. °) After D is to be added for example. 7) Rūhā and El,

Men are in their glory in this world, and we are able to nothing against them ').4

So they took of the leaven of this world, which was with them in their The treasure house was kept,  and her name was Šurbai and Šarhabel of the tribe of Adam, from whom the world was raised. 5 Then Manda dHaije came, took out the excellent Šitil, the good advice-gave him blows, clothed him with a fine garment of splendor, and and covered him with a garment of light, so that his brightness may be reflected in the whole world showed. He led him out by the way where Hibil had gone, and let him live in the room"), in which Hibil ic and where for the souls the communion with the house of the Life is prepared for those for whom there is no separation. He let Anoš in this great robe in which his brothers had lived, which was his The brothers had entrusted Anoš to him and his parents had equipped him with it"). Manda dHaije said to Anoš: 'Do not be afraid and do not be afraid and say is no: they left me alone in this world of the wicked. Because soon I'll come to you."I*) stand there and rub myself in my face-go away, but my heart is not oppressed by me"), and my conscience I'm not bothered. Inside I make reflections, alone I stand [in] this [world] and say,Who will make the wicked-2c take away from this world? All my brothers were here with me, and I grew up with them, like a son raised by his parents and his older brothers ...). I grew up among them, while they speak and hear in this world of evil and corrupters. What shall I now begin alone in this world of the wicked?u I made 25 Parable words, I formed a parable about myself and spoke:

[263] ,,Who brought you, my feet, here,
'who brought me up to the dwelling of the wicked??)" I am standing there in the garb of my brothers, who have lost their lives-borrow. Then I say, 'Where is this world going, what is it walking towards?" 3c Since my brothers were here, I called my brothers over the world, but I didn't ask her about her*). I raised my eyes and be-

---

1) Read palninty בעראי[א]ן.

2) So according to B. The other Handschrr. have "in that place".

3) In the current form of the text, these words must be referred to N2na5a, but I doubt it was so original. Maybe there is a gap ahead, cf. Text 258, 17.

4) From here Anõš speaks.

8) See also Nöld., p. 40, 14. DDN is found only at this point. It belongs probably to hebr. and Jewish.-Aramaic. DDN.

°) Ab2DNJs, which stands there, there is no sense. A Pael from 2DJ can also be found elsewhere not. It's hard to read "you grieve him".

7) See p. 154, 20.

8) The contradiction would be resolved if you read prontw2, but in the There is no mention of a question to the brothers. Behind it you can also Nsy „rather," read.

the whole world sought: the sky, the stars that rose on it the sun and the moon, the angels that are deployed across the sky the twelve images of animals that are also installed over the earth, through which Sun and moon'), about these angels who walk over water, wind and Fires are set over the earth, on which it is based, over the mountains and the seas, about the fruits, grapes and trees. Who will tell me about you say where they came from, what they are based on and what they stand for? About this detachment (of the stars)*), which rises at dawn, and about the four angels who draw you. About the other detachment, which is at Night rises; angels drag them there; they are not like one another'). About this detachment, which rises by day, and shines to the children of men and brings light. This does not bring its light at all to the house of the Life, but is only for the benefit of the children of men-made and created. There are some who are happy about it, some, those who are grieved about this and say: 'Why did the day rise and why did the morning come?" And this other detachment, which at night on- there are some who are happy about it, some who are sad about it and cry and talk: ,Why did the night come and why did it go the moon is up?u These stars that stand in the sky, walk by day and at night, they go around and turn in the sky, and have no Stood in one place. [264] They do no good to the children of men. They impoverish the one, they enrich the other; they cause damage every human child. They make the slave free, the free make them slaves. They betray the souls of people here-children and lead them astray. They outwit them and keep some souls of them are back with them until the last day").

When I saw that the world was like this, I trembled and trembled, and my body, which was stretched, buckled. In my heart the urge to groan, the urge to tremble in my heels, and they did not stop are fixed to their racks. I made such observations and spoke: ,My older brothers left me in this world of evil, and they won't come and rescue me from here. Manda told me dHaije: I want to come to you myself." I make observations and feel pity for my brothers°) who do not come and take me from

---

1) Either is or is to be deleted. Behind it, for example, by pban see before. It is hardly said here that the angels also walk through them and with they meant the planets, see also p. 265 ob.

2) Cf. Joh. II, p. 2091

a) Probably refers to the detachments, not to the angels.

4) Probably only the replacement of the day is meant, after which it is necessary to read. Those On-the wording of the following words is uncertain.

8) I read with B with reference to the children of men, not with As for the stars, some of them hold souls back.

°) Well, that stands there, pabt not; maybe, "I'm angry".

do not redeem me here, who stand alone in my robe, which means Brothers have left me in this world.

The wicked have settled down and are meditating evil against me. I hear how they call the angels who are appointed over the wrath, (by they say): ,,Life awoke in fullness, and the children of men were in abundance. They speak in the speech of foreign life, speak in the speech of these three men. They join life and under... throw yourself to these three men. They rise up against us and ver-respect us in this world of our own').u They consult with each other against me and ...) in their insides, that they do not harm me 1 can.

How they are making the secret plan against me and against the The garment in which I stand: to whom do my eyes look up and who do I trust? I hope to Manda dHaije that he will come and be a support to me [265] in this world, that he may save me from the wicked save my brothers from the sword and the fire of the wicked he saved this world.

I, little Enoš, have been for years  where my Briider goods. I question you here, when I came into this world after you and don't . . . . You, the wicked, are thinking against me and against the In the robe in which I stand and am preserved, you, the wicked who call the they hated life. Who is to call [the call of life] in this world? They say to each other: 'In our own world we should call the Do not call life, rather, it belongs to us." They then called the angels and commanded them: 'Go down to the earth Tibil and say Noah: Build an ark. Call and sit carpenters, go and cases Cedars from the land of Lebanon and female cedars") from the mountain Jatur4)." Tell him: ' Sit carpenters down and build an ark, take from each (kind of) two, little man and little woman"), and put them in the box, the one you make, because we want to accept the world."

and against°) the head of these three men, against this robe, in which I stand . . . . . Because the planets say, Maybe we'll destroy you are out of this world, so that no one will pronounce your name and your speech and no one will hear your speech."For you, the wicked, the lords of the house '), know that I stand alone, and forge a secret for evil 3

---

1) These sentences probably come from a different context. You are here it is written as the speech of the angels.

°) Maybe NnnN2) is to read: "and they are ashamed".

8) See Joh. II, p. 1574.

4) Is only mentioned at this point, but it is R 380,11. In the name there is perhaps Athür (see Nöldeke bei Löw, Aram. Plant names, p. 60), so that the assy-mountains are meant.

°) See the wording R 380, 14.

d) Belongs to Z. 21.

7) See p. 106, 8.

Plan against me. On the very day that my brothers sent me- they took up arms and fought with me. Daily, everyday I try to escape from them, because I am alone in this world. My Eyes look up to Manda dHaije, who told me: 'I'll be coming soon for you." I am thinking about my brothers, that they will not oppose me to him.") advise [266] and do not submit to him against me. Daily views my eyes go up to the path that my brothers are walking, and to the Paths on which Manda dHaije comes. I look and see that the The gate of heaven opened. A cloud of shine and light, before which all the beings who saw her were terrified. Now when I when I saw the cloud of light in which Manda dHaije came, I pointed, the little Anoš, my lips about the gentlemen of the house. My body, which is too- bent together, stretched out, my heart, entered into the sigh he was leaning on his place, and my heels, which were trembling, stood fixed on your racks. Manda dHaije came, called to me and spoke to me: ,,Little Enoš, why were you afraid, why were you shaking, why were you shaking you? Why did your body buckle, why did your heart return And why did your feet tremble on their racks?u Once I speak, once again I am afraid of Manda dHaije talk about. Then Manda dHaije said to me: 'Little Enoš, be afraid not in front of me. Since terror befell you in this world, I came to you enlighten. Do not be afraid of the evils of this world and of the Floods of water; they shall be taken away over your head. How they brought sword and fire upon your brethren, and sword and Fire could not reach them, so will the waters- don't let the floods get to you. I will bring you shine and light, they will help you and help you. Let your power be upon them come, and let your form be like these two, who go out with you- and with this robe that went to the house of life is by appearing in splendor. Your figure*) same Hibil and Šitil. Let the wicked of the world say, 'These three men are in the world, however, they are not men, but it is shine and light that is his [267] in this world with little Enoš, who alone in this world The world stands there."

Then Mandā dHaije said to him, 'Come, I will tell you about the to reveal the ugly mysteries of this world that you saw and before them over the sky, which is stretched out, and over the stars, who have risen, who shimmer at him. The sky of water , and living fire and consuming fire are attached to it- ignites. [Are lit?] the stars by the consuming fire, they shine through the power of the living fire, from which the sky is lit-

---

1) Read wty.

2) Read ורמותאך.

ignited, and grew'). These twelve animal images, (through which the planets, walking through the sun [and moon]: if Ptahil had not seen these stars- the sun and the moon have no path.

Behold, the darkness that arises when the sun goes down and the Moon rises: Ptahil thought about the fire, which is darkness") that night 5 and the day will become the reckoning and counting of the children of men, the tough- the number of years, months and days.

Behold, I have revealed to you about the wind"), about the water and about the two [angels ]. I tell you that he was created out of it, from the power of water and living fire, and the two angels, 10 the leaders of this world, who were handed over over water and rain they are used over hail, hardship") and hunger and satiety, which are under acting on the orders of their gods.

About the fire I want to tell you, from whose enveloping it was-come on") and what man created it. Ptahil created it, however, 15 from') fruit, grape and tree it was made, from the root of fruit, Grape and tree it became, from them it was created to make them verzehren s).

About the water I will tell you where it poured out and where it came from. .. and there was a living fire. From the 20th century They were created in the House of life, and they were brought here (10). Then the living fire changed, [268] and the water became turbid without shining through the hand of Ptahil the man whom his father- to build heaven and earth. He did what his father told him- and the works and creations that he created with his hand, 25 will endure.

This secret from heaven I revealed to you, now I want you reveal about the mystery of the earth. Behold, the earth is black Water. It (the water) was created here after this secret was discovered-standing was(?). I reveal to You: Ptahil came, he and the angels of his Be- 30 gliding, he went to the black water and said,I want the earth

---

1) The reproduction of the last sentences is very unsafe. NDN1 at the end hardly means , they left, " also note the reading 12D) D.

2) The words can not be reproduced in any other way, but fire is expected no one here.

a) npy by is missing in C. But here we are talking about the wind, not the water, the origin of which will only be discussed later.

4) Read ועהיב.

8) See also above, p. 231, 10.

a) This is standing there; as if it had been enveloped in the Creator. I believe not that you have to read "nature" for it.

7) Read instead מינדאם.

5) Again, quite dark. Perhaps the point is that the fire from the wood of the Roots of the trees arises and then it is consumed again.

") Perhaps we were talking about living water here.

10) Read איתונהון.

the earth is forming." Ptahil stood up and thought in what his father ordered him to do. Then Ruha said, she and the Angel accompanied her, and spoke to Ptahil: 'How you made heaven-if you are curious, talk about this water, and the earth will form." Then he spoke he said to the angels, 'This is what my father commanded me to do, but it is good what you told me."

Then he took something from the living fire, then he took one') from the garments with which he was clothed, it threw into the black water, and the earth Tibil sealed itself. Then he cut out the mountains in her, he divided the seas, created fish of every kind in the seas, and on the earth and the mountains") he created fruits, grapes and trees. On the trees 3) they take the fruit, and it becomes the seeds of every Genus. He screamed at the earth, and everything was formed on the earth. It all the seeds were formed, they stand there and flaunt Tibil on the earth. They bear fruit for food and drink. He created animals of every kind, male and female, and created the birds, and they stand there and graze').

Ruha and the angels accompanying her do not know for whom this and who should eat them. Then Ptahil spoke to Ruha and to the angels of her company: 'I want my image as a man and your image as a woman"). The man we want Adam and the woman we want Call Hawwa. I want to create and raise your image." Rūhā knew it is not that Ptahil received from his father Abathur the commandment concerning Adam and his Hawwa's wife.

[269] The earth was now on top, and the black water was under the Earth. Ptahil tried everything, but the water was not tasty. Then Manda dHaije spoke to little Enoš°): , When life brought me here then I knew that the water would not be tasty here. Since i said before the great life: 'In the world to which you send me, let them hear the call of life, that they may hear it, live and ascend to the house of life, the water will not it is delicious that the children of men drink it, receive life, and these Listen to the speech of life. Then the great life spoke to Manda dHaije: ,,Do you get up, go to the top of the water and draw a thin train") of living water. Let it go, into the murky water and the water will become palatable, so that the children of men may drink and become equal to the great life."

---

1) Or: some.

2) Read ובטוריא.

8) One expects rather Nensi 1 ,from the offices".

4) This refers to livestock.

8) Read Wny); the spelling is influenced by text Z. 22.

o) Var. Anōš.

7) Read here and continue NIDNI.

Then he spoke to Taurel-Uthra, who set to work, he drew a thin draught of water, it fell into the Tibil, into the water, the was not tasty, and the water of the Tibil became tasty, that the children of men drink it and taste it to them.

Mandā dHaije spoke to little Enoš") about the mystery of the Rūhā 5 and the angel of this world *).  a fire after which you do not speak and can hear, except the consuming fire, after which they speak and can hear ******.

When Manda dHaije consolidates you here and Manda Dhaije redeems you*) from this world of darkness ******.

,I*) passed between them, took away from them the living fire, with which they are clothed, after which they can not speak and hear, and lifted it up to its place, the light abode. I let her in the fire from which they were created. A I left the dress on them, one of them got the ...) 15 of Ptahil, so that they may stand and shine in the world, so that these don't go down. I left it to him"), because if I did not give him this shine [270] and would have taken it from him, as I have taken it from all his If I had taken brothers, this world would have ended long ago and all would be darkness until the end of the worlds.

This world ocean, which Ptahil created and formed, which the whole Tibil there is a well around which an effusion came and fell into it. If if he had not created this for the Tibil, the whole earth would have ... .[8]). There would be nothing done and nothing done, and she would not have guessed.

Well, you saw, little Enöš, that I told you about the secret of the 25 Revealed the evil of this world, which you saw and were afraid of them, before which you trembled and trembled. I revealed to you about the secret from heaven and earth, I revealed to you about the secret of everything Done and made things that exist in the world, and taught you about them. I grant you splendor and light, that it may be with you in that first garment 30 be the one who was given to you from the house of life and who is now with you it is guarded, for which the wicked fight to take it away, without it they manage to take it away. Behold, I have increased your splendor to splendor, i have increased light to light for you, that it may be with you in the form of these two Men, your brothers, who have departed from you and come to the house of the 35th Life went.

---

1) Var. Anōš.

2) You could add text 268, 6, 23 here and pinn NoSNi to But see Text 270,7. Behind it is first of all the living fire, the Speech, see further.

a) Read ונפאריקלכון.

4) Read NJN.

") Read or Anpyon.

") See above, p. 2591.

?) Read Aby, see further. After that is Nöld., pp. 203, 29.

5) NNSD, which stands there, there is no sense. From NSD can be found in Mandaean such as otherwise, in Aramaic, only formations of aphelion. Maybe MND ,would be rotten to read".

Behold, I have added strength to your strength, I have increased wisdom to you to your wisdom, and enlightenment, and knowledge, behold, I granted that you may speak with them and be heard').

Behold, I am now going to the house of life, then I will come and deliver you from the wicked and sinners of this world. eye life will be directed at you, as well as at the walırhaften, gläu- big and good men who listen to your speech. I want you deliver from the sword, fire and floods of water and ascend on the way- and Šitil and Manda dHaije from this Rise up world of evil."

Manda dHaije addressed these words to his son, little Anoš, [271] and handed him Kušta. Then he went out and went after the House of Life. He sat down in his father's skīnā, and his (life's) eye was on him"). Then Anoš rose full of Joy because of the brightness and light that life has given him, and because the power that his father entrusted to him, and shone onin shine and light.

 who are in this world"), look at the gentlemen of the house, who are intent on evil against these three men and against the garment, in I stand by those who have lit up in this world. The planets are talking thus to one another: 'These men have not shown themselves to us, for they fear- in front of us. Whether they ran away from us, or whether they they hid from us, they showed themselves to us ,not. Now they showed let her join us in her rich splendour and her great light. Now, so, are they lit up and standing there in rich and great (?) Shine and light ...'). His brothers lost their fire and sword- and you couldn't get close to her, now ... ."), that you stand up for yourself."

The planets speak: ,,We can fight against the power of these men nothing to do, because they are more numerous than us. They let you Floods of water, but the floods of water did not reach them. You we want to eliminate them by sword and fire', but succeed it is not for them to eliminate them."

Life stands firm in its Škinā, life is victorious over all works. Hibil, Šitil and Anoš are victorious, and victorious is the The people of the Naşoreans, as well as the priests and Mandaeans, who by their name and signs were drawn on the name of the first life and adhered to the name and speech of Jāwar-Zīwā.

And life is victorious.

---

1) Maybe here, as usual, in this piece, "and listen" has stood.

2) Read Aby by.

a) Before, probably, the three men" confessed, but probably more is missing.

4) It may be possible to read SIND), but of course the place has not yet been established.

6) ,Are you consolidated to read "by PD, or it's 1DDRy, hid yourself".

Twelfth book.

In the name of the great life, let the name of the NN and my Wife NN [272] among the mighty Uthras, the Sons of Light, raised up.

First piece. 5

Anõš, who also here, as in the introduction of the eleventh book, refers to as the son of Šitil makes observations about the natural phenomena and receives explanations, of course very dark, from a shining being over the sky, stars, earth, day and night.

I am the great Anoš, the son of the great Sitil, the son of the great Adam, the son of the mighty kings of glory, the Son of the son of the leaves') of all knowledge. My feet led me up here. I am sitting in a place of rich splendor. I am looking at- i look and see this world, the sky and the earth, the sun, the moon and the stars of the The light in which I stand, and the power to change in 15 who you stand. With whose power are they standing, with whose light are they shining?

I opened my eyes and raised my brows, then I looked and saw a large brazier of splendor, firmly in the hand of angels located. Twelve Angels ziehen.es on the Dark Mountains under the big bridge of brilliance. You carry it up and bring it to the gate 2c of the Jāsānā, to the place where the builder of heaven and earth") The throne is established.

Again I opened my eyes and raised my brows, because I looked and saw a great gate that was open in it (in heaven) ").

---

3) See Nöld., p. 483. This meaning of RONEN2 does not seem safe to me. It might also belong to: ,the praise which is entirely knowledge."

2) Probably also meant Ptahil here.

3) probably refers to N1212, but of course one would rather use the suffix fem. sing. expect.

A thousand times a thousand brilliant beings stood at his right hand, and ten thousand ten thousand on his left. A shining being stepped out of the The House of Life, whose splendor was forty-two times as great as that of Jõrabba. When I saw that shining being, I trembled and my body trembled, and my feet did not stand on my frame fixed. I fell and fell in front of him. There stood an angel of glory standing up in front of him, took hold of me by the area of my right hand, straightened me straight he stood up in front of him and said to me: 'Come, great Anoš, son of the great Šitil, son of the great Adam, son of the mighty kings of the house of glory, son of the place of light, son of the leaves') of all [273] of knowledge, come, I want to reveal to you about the great life. It's down here-written*) and laid down on the great mountain ... .[3]).

Come, I will reveal to you about this heaven that the people-children called heaven, while he is not heaven. Fog clouds are es, the Abathur by the power and the name of the builder of heaven he founded the earth.

Come, I will reveal to you about the stars that shine on him. There are twelve angels. Some of them are about the east of the sky and of the earth, some of them are over the Seol and the Darkness has set in. As you are here, so are you there.

Come, I will reveal to you about this earth, which the children of men It is called the Earth, but it is not the earth. Rather, water from Huš, the the great seas are ... .4). Running year by year and month by month it flows there and creates a path for the children of men.

Come on, I want to reveal to you about this detachment (6), which in the morning- horror rises. Some are happy, some are sad about it. Be Head is pure light, (he is) a unmarried man, a merchant, violent, brave, sprightly and stands up in the big time°). A great mast of splendor it is set up in it, ropes of light are placed in it. Twelve Angels pull and run on the dark mountains under the great bridge of brilliance. They carry them up and bring them to the big Gate of the Jāsānā, to the place where the builder of heaven and earth a throne is established.

Come on, I want to reveal to you about the detachment that took place in the night is up. His head is pure water, (he is) a unmarried man, a merchant,

---

1) See above, p. 2691.

2) Undoubtedly, already in itself, then because of the variants NeNT3, NeNTD).

8) The two words (N7eN707) are dark. Maybe it's דמאדברא "the steppe".

4) In the text it is written ,which gives" (WIN7), which fits badly. Because of the following Words are hardly "drying up" to read for it. But note that Lit. 218,4 There are wine containers.

6) At night and during the day, see p. 262

°) The sentence can hardly refer to"detachment". After the following it is expected that we are talking about a ship here.

forceful, brave, sprightly and standing in the big time. A big mast the light of glory is set up in it, ropes of light are laid down in it. Twelve angels draw them and lead them to the Dark Mountain. You bring them to the great gate of the Jāsānā, the place where the builder of the Heaven and earth have a throne.

Come, I will reveal to you, my brother: [274] These men of those who are here in the Tibil, go if their measure it's full of this world. You search and find. From the prayers and from the treasure of life, from their prayers and praises dress yourself with shine and cover yourself with light. Clothing over They put clothes on, they cover themselves with light over light. They laugh, rejoice, bounce, flaunt and enjoy yourself. And we say: ,,That Life stands firm and upright in its Škinä; life is victorious about all the works."

Second piece.

The first alphabetical Psalm. He is also at the head of the prayer collection in the Parisian manuscripts codes Sabéens 25 and 15 (here E and F).

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. - –
Come in goodness, Kuštā,
Light that you go to the house of your friends.
You are the chosen, Victorious,
which you strengthen your whole tribe in victory.
You are a perfect Gimra'),
The chosen one, without fail.
You are the path of the Perfect,
the path that ascends to the place of light. You are the life of eternity, whom you have devoted yourself to and placed in (every) true heart Woe to him who does not listen to you"), my mistress, [nahmest.
and whose path through the dwellings of indulgence in
You are the weapon of the perfect, [Music goes.
the truth without error.
You are wise and pleasant"),
teach wisdom and praise to all who love your name.

---

1) See above, p. 158. °) EF still ,and listen"; this is excess.
a) EF still here , my mistress".

Hail to him who listens to you, my mistress,
and walk behind you on the paths.
You are the day of joy,
where there is no grief and lamentation.
You are a wreath of victories,
placed around the head of the enlightened.
You are the tongue of praise,
who praise life every day.
You are the first device,
that created life.
You are the light of the Great,
which you went and came into the world.
You are the cure,
that all who love your name, heal').
You are the eye [275] of men of tried righteousness,
that comes to life every day.
You are a sweet fruit,
from a taste that does not bring death"). You are the first comrade, the planting that came from the house of life "). You are the first sound,
which life created from its nature.
You are the chief of the Ganzibrās, to whom life gave dominion over every thing*). The dead heard you and lived on,
the sick heard you and sniffed.
You forgive the chosen and perfect,
in whose heart Kuštā has taken a seat. - – Life is victorious, and victorious is the man who came here left.

Third piece.

Second alphabetical Psalm.

.......1) according to the apartment in which the gentle lived,
and my heart is chosen among the elect.

---

1) EF: You are the remedy that heals the pain, the doctor who treats all who have his Love names, heal.

2) BDEF: in which there is no mistake.

3) EF: which has always been. 4) EF: on which your splendor rests.

d) ,ether" does not fit. Here is probably to assume a form ny, for example איראן "he woke me up".

I am a chosen one, I scream
the smell of the life that surrounds me.
I'm a strange man;
they filled me with longing for the good Naşöräans. May he 〈remember me before life, and may my friend be Our right [will] the Good Father [represent]?], [a helper for me.
who stands victorious before life. I opened the seal of the Tibil and looked into every thing in it. (I watched Uthras, the it is a worthy apartment.>
I am a rose, a son of a chosen one;
I have seen life, and life has seen me. My travel food comes from the strange man, whom life desired and planted').
I will come among the good,
which that strange man loved.
Grace came to the good,
Joy to the true man.
The glory of life was,
when the soul came out of the house of life.
Great was the splendor of life on me,
and the light of life was not lacking.
My heart praises life, so that life will count me among its number.
With the good I did,
what life commanded me.
I shone in his light;
from his light it increased upon me.
It put shine and rich light on me, so that I have a support. The great life showed condescension against all who love his name.
[276] My mouth praises life,
so that it would count me among his number.
I heard the call of the Uthras, my brothers,
i fixed my eyes on her. I rose with great strength,
i walked over and came to them.
With the sign of life drew me
my guides Šilmai and Nidbai.
The Truth of Life
it was turned on my head as a brow curl.

---

1) Or read ,and will wish"? But see also Var. as to R 353, 6.

The great life shows forbearance against anyone who is marked with the sign of life shall. The good, the chosen and the perfect, with whom [Kušta took a seat.
Life is victorious, and victorious is the man who came here left.

Fourth piece.

Third alphabetical Psalm. Can also be found in the prayer collection in codes Sabéens 25, f. 22b and 15, f. 18a.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. -
The pure ') pearl came,
who enlightened the dark hearts.
Shine sought to be,
and light awoke and became.
I laughed at the planets
and about what they invented and
did. I lived in their houses"), but the seven did not notice me.
Grace is given to the elect,
who loved life.
Woe to the planet,
they are plotting evil against my chosen ones.
He") is the first*) shine,
the light without end.
It's the first life,
the life that has always been.
Hail to him who listens to you")")
and walking on the path behind you.
He") was the great shine,
when the soul came from the house of the great life.
He is the pure wreath,
the hibil was placed in its škīnā.

---

1) Only in EF.
2) EF: ,among them".
8) Refers to Mandā dHaijē.
4) EF: "the great one".
5) EF still , and listen, my Lord," siche also p. 271.

My heart longs for life,
so that life may desire me in its Škinā').
From the day Hibil planted me,
my soul confessed the place of light.
You are the first calm;
because of you, the Uthras found peace.
The twelve wickets look out,
but do not climb up to the paths of the Kuštā.
The Depths of Naşaism
are extended and endless.
He is a sweet fruit,
from a taste that does not bring death*).
I heard the call of life
[277] in the great place, the house of completion.
The call of the great) glory,
who speaks and lectures in his Škīnā.
He is the great sign,
with which life is drawn in his Škina.
Who listens to the speech of life,
finds a place in the Škinā of life.
He is the lovely gate,
the light without end. --
And life is victorious.

Fifth piece.

Fourth alphabetical Psalm. Drift and fate of the wicked and sinners.

In the name of the great life.

Naked, the noble left,
the world of the deceased.
His house stands for desolation,
his property for plunder.
The abuse of creatures
it is given to all worlds.
You're like the bad vines,
which bear no fruit.

---

1) EF: "according to his Škīnā".

2) DEF: "in which there is no mistake", see also above, p. 2722.

3) EF: "of the pure".

They are mute and deaf,
who look out for evil for the children of men.
Woe to the bad days,
which is kept for the Jews in the world.
They sow iniquity
and reap a harvest of lies.
Her heart is full of darkness,
and their eyes are blind and do not shine.
Error grabbed her,
and they do not look at the place of light.
You are a day of lamentation,
your soul serious illness.
All twelve wickets
they are a pit that preserves them for eternity. Your heart is ambiguous to you,
and they do not ascend to the light.
They are clothed with sins
and rob the souls.
Your soul is blunted to you,
and they have no desire for their wives.
You are the poison of murderers,
who kill the children of men.
Water depths are they,
Eddies that cause drowning.
Your mouth is full of lies,
and their eyes look evil.
Their fruits are dry, which they sow in the world.
You are standing outside the Kušta and do services outside of grace.
They love the beauty of the body
and the darkened shadows.
Full of sediment and rot
your soul is in the world.
You are the gate of death
and kill the children of men. - -
And life is victorious.

Sixth piece.

Description of the world of darkness and its king, a counterpart to the description the light world uud of the Light King in the first book, see p. 3f. The piece is by Nöldeke translated and explained in Aufsütze on the history of culture and language (Festschrift für Ernst Kuhn), 1916, pp. 131-138.

[278] In the name of the great life.

I call to you, I teach and I say, you true and faithful Men, you who see, separated'): Separate yourselves from the world of For lack of it, which is full of restlessness and error ").

First I taught you about the King of Light, who for all eternity is praised. I spoke to you about the glorified worlds of light that about the Uthras, Jordans and Škinās, who are miraculous and are luminous. Now I want to talk to you about the worlds of darkness and their contents, which are ugly and terrible, and whose shape is not right.

Outside the Earth of light, outside the earth Tibil To the south lies that earth of darkness. It is of a form that is different- the earth of light is kind and deviating from the light earth, because they deviate in every Character and form are different from each other. The darkness exists in their own evil nature, howling darkness, desolate darkness, she knows neither First and last.

But the King of Light knows and understands first and last, Has passed- genes and the future. He knew and recognized that the evil one is there, but did he not want to do him any harm, according to what was said: ,Do do no harm to evil and enemies until he has done evil himself." His evil nature exists from the beginning and for all eternity. world the darkness are extended°) and endless. They said,Far and deep is the abode of the wicked, whose peoples did not show loyalty in the place, where your stay is endless, whose kingdom is of your own accord. Your Earth is black water, its height is dark darkness."

Out of the black water the king of darkness was made by his own evil nature formed and came out. He became great, [279] powerful, and mighty, he called forth and spread a thousand times a thousand evil generations without end, and ten thousand times ten thousand ugly creatures without number. The darkness became great and wide through the demons, Dews, geniuses, spirits, Hmurthās, Liliths, Temple and chapel spirits, idols, archons, angels,

---

1) The reading varies a lot: Ny NanD), nand), and the Munich and London Manuscripts have NyNnD). The latter would mean "Discriminating, insightful" and to fit, but in the following it will obviously be on the condition "to isolate themselves" allude. See also p. 2151.

2) The London manuscripts have NP ,,and hustle and bustle", cf. on the one hand text 7,18, on the other hand, 11, 21; 14, 9.

a) Probably so, not "numerous", which may require 23) also, see the following.

Vampyre, Schrate, Unheilsgeister, Schlagflußdemonen'), fiends, net- and Curlew spirits"), satans, all the ugly figures of the darkness of every Species and genus, male and female from the darkness: dark, black, foolish, unruly, angry, angry, poisonous, rebellious"), foolish, putrid, hideous, dirty and smelly. Some among them are mute, deaf, crammed, dull, stammering, deaf, mute, deaf, confused, without knowledge. Some of them are naughty, hot-tempered, violent, sharp, hot-tempered, voluptuous, Children of blood, kindled lohe and consuming fire. Some of them they are magicians, counterfeiters, liars, scammers, robbers, deceivers, be- swearers, Chaldeans, soothsayers. They are masters in all evils, Instigators*) of distress, they commit murder and shed blood without pity and have mercy. They are artists in all ugly things, know languages without a number and understand what is in front of her face. Of any kind are you. Some of them crawl on the belly, some sneak in the Water, some fly, some have many feet like the worm of the earth, some carry a hundred They have jaws- and cutting edge-teeth in the mouth. The taste of their trees is poison and bile, their juice it's oil and bad luck. That [280] king of darkness took all the forms of the children of the world: the head of the eagle, the body of the dragon, the wings of the eagle, the sides of the tortoise, the hands and feet of the Fiends°). He walks, creeps, creeps, flies, screams, is naughty, threatens, roars, whistles, winks and flutes. He knows all the languages of the world, but is he stupid, confused, his thoughts are inhibited, and he knows neither First and last. But he knows what is going on in all the worlds; he is of many kinds. He is greater") than all his worlds, he is more powerful and more extensive than all of them, he is more powerful than all his creatures, and stronger than you. If he so desires, he hides from them that they not seeing him, but knowing what is going on in the heart of him who is before him steht. When the sexes flee from him, he brings them through his Word back, the Dews he desires, he lets turn back and puts them in front of you'). If he wants, he expands his figure, if he wants, he makes himself small. He pulls in his limbs and stretches them out again, and he has (the body parts) of men as well as women. He takes all Secrets are true. He is angry with voice, word, breath, breath, eye, mouth, Hand, foot, strength, poison, anger, speech, fear, fear, terror, trembling s), Roar, then all the worlds of darkness frighten. His figure is ugly, his body stinking, his face twisted. The thickness of the lip of his

---

1) Uncertain, see Uthra, p. 541, for this catalogue of spirits.

2) Perhaps ghosts that entangle and entice people.

8) Perhaps,'bitter'f, see NölDEkE, loc. cit. on the spot. 4) Read מראמיאניא?

B) A similar description of the devil is given by Mānī, see Brandt, Schr., p. 226.

°) Nöldeke rightly suspects cinen singular here דמראוראב.

7) See Joh. II, p. 159",

6) The London manuscripts still have here ברתיתיא.

Mundes is 144000 miles. From the breath of his mouth boils the Iron, and the rock is heated by its breath. He lifts his eyes, so the mountains shake, from the whisper of his lips the plains become shake.

He pondered within himself, consulted in his foolish heart. and thought in his cunning sense. Then he went up and looked the worlds of darkness, which are vast and endless. He took pride an, rose above all and said, 'Is there anyone greater than me? Is there anyone [281] who is up to me? Is there anyone who is greater than I, more extensive and more excellent than all the worlds? There are someone whose food is mountains, in whose belly there is no blood? If there is someone who is more powerful than me, I want to I will rise up to fight with him, and I will rise up to fight with him, and see where his power came from")."

He hid himself and saw the worlds of light from afar on the borders of darkness and light: like a fire on the Peaks of high mountains, like stars shimmering in the firmament, like the The glory of the sun when it rises and comes from the east, like the Moons in its brightness. He saw the glimmer of that earth of light as burning lamps, which, covered with glass vessels, shine outward.

He pondered within himself, became enraged, raged with great And said: 'If there is this world*), why should this world The dwelling of darkness, whose furnishings") ugly and terrible, whose Food is black water and dirt? Rather, I want to go to this rise up to the shining earth and wage war with your king. I am will take away the crown from him, will put it on my head, will king height and depth. He also said, "If you have a robe *), I want to put it on when it's a dish, you eat when you a drink is to drink it when it's a house, tear it down when she is a construction, destroy it if she is an apartment, live in it, if she is something stronger than me, start arguing with her."

He burned in fire, glowed in his mind, heated himself in Anger and wanted to eat up all the worlds. But his ways are confused, its roads blocked, its paths winding. Nevertheless, he gets into a moment beyond the end to the lower limit of the Darkness. In the walk of one day he lays a path of a hundred Years back.

When he saw that shimmering figure, he wanted to look up [282] and out of the howling, desolate darkness to that luminous

---

1) See also p. 81 unt. I've been considering whether not to lower the mountains- trat", but the given translation fits better to the second half of the sentence.

2) Nöldeke suspects nynn jy instead of paynny.

a) Actually , equipment, jewelry".

4) probably refers to NDsn, the world (of light), not to 'King'.

Rise in shape. But he found no gate to enter through, no To walk on it, not to climb, to climb on it. Because the figure he saw was in the height, while he was in the depth, how the people, the animals and the cattle do not go to the height of the sky can rise. He heated up and glowed, like the greedy lion about the prey, and rested and did not rest in his own apartment. He screamed, neighed and whistled loudly. The light worlds heard the voice and looked at the figure of the dull demon. The fallen army') ver-collected himself. They looked and looked at each other like a body whose The limbs suddenly began to tremble, and sounded like instruments of brass.

Then a voice came from the high King of Light, and he spoke to the worlds of Light and the Škīnās of the Uthras: 'Stay calm, you Uthras, sit in your Škinās. Do not be afraid of the wrath of the a dull, evil demon who has fallen into anger. In his own Containers, he is to be held. He is to be held in his own container, all his plans should come to naught. Come to naught let his plans and his works not come to pass."

Live our knowing, live our understanding. Rates be life; life is victorious.

Seventh piece.

The piece comes from the same author as the previous one and the description the world of light in the first tract, see p. 3. There is a supplementary instruction on the Nature of the North and the World Ocean.

In the name of the great life.

This is the teaching and revelation that is given to the separated Men"), which was revealed by the Tibil and the works of the Seducers have separated.

See what I have told you about the worlds of light and about what there is something in them, sage. I have told you about the world of darkness and its Taught creatures. I have spoken to you of the High King of Light, whose power is vast, vast and endless, from the vaunted earth, from the Uthras and kings in it, who are in the upper height outside the Tibil live in the north, in the place from which the living water comes, through which [283] all the worlds are resplendent, whence shine of the sun, brightness shine to the moon, shine to the stars, shine to the fire, whence comes the

---

2) Cf. p. 82, 22; 103°.

*) also here in connection with ,secrete". see p. 2771.

Northern air and the pleasant wind, the king of all winds, comes; through all beings live it and feel comfortable. When the air is just one day should not hurt, all the souls that are in the Tibil, die and go out.

¹If you say that with the northern air comes hail and wrath ²), then explain I tell you that they do not come from the light earth. Rather, the supreme Earth of the Tibil are cut extensive mountains. Snow and hail comes, falls on them and does not melt in winter and summer. From there when the north wind comes, it blows over it, and the hail comes along with to the wind, as if someone were standing under a decaying corpse and the smell comes at the same time with the wind.

The stars and zodiacal images revolve and do not pass at the gate of the North. Because there is nothing dark there that needs lighting. It is like a king of the earth who sends an army into a territory far from him sends. For the illuminators in this world who are charged with this, to enlighten them do not have their own gloss.

The whole world calls the north "height" and the south "low"³). For the worlds of darkness lie in the lowlands to the south. That great ocean of the world encircles the whole Tibil, except the gate of the North. Because you can not cut off the living water from the places of light.

All the world testifies that the living water below the throne God comes forth, but they do not understand what their mouth is saying.

The other, the hot winds that circle between the walls and breaking out between [284] the gates, blowing over the world ocean. Because the world Ocean is hot and the water is hot. On the lower mountains the breath of the world Ocean comes out and melts your snow. Because the world Ocean is very similar to the worlds of darkness, the black water close, because the black water is very dark and the living There is ¹little water, for in it is the effusion of all the seas, which flows into the same fall. No one drinks from it, as they said:

It's the black water,
    this boils, boils and squirms.
Whoever drinks of it dies,
    everyone who steps on it burns himself.
No one can stand his smell,
    except that he is from it⁴).

These zones are distributed over the Tibil. Who is in the upper zone is light-colored, those living in the lower, are black, and their- seeing is ugly, like demons.

---

1) See above, p. 157.

2) Wrath of the deity, which manifests itself in severe weather and damage.

a) Explainable in Babylonia. Extensive Alps continue to stretch to the north-countries. while the south is lowland.

4) See pp. 71,17; 72,9,27.

Every discerning person knows that the beings of light are here'). See: they are not on the Tibil and not in the firmament. Because, if you were at Firmament, where would your stay be when heaven and earth pass away?

For as for the place of the King of Light, there was nothing, since he did not, and nothing is as he is not; for him there is no offense").

The darkness took over all the ways of the children of men-hand and confused the paths. As they say, You have the world the path is confused, and ilre inhabitants lie there and are between they pushed the water back and forth. The more the age decreases, the the wickedness oppresses (them) more").

See and let yourselves be instructed, my chosen ones, and step up victoriously ascended to the place of light.

And life is victorious.

---

1) Actually, 'worlds of light', see p. 61. According to the following one expects that they niclt are here.

*) See p. 6,1; 31,32.

a) See p. 221,30; 230,32.

Thirteenth book.

Prayer of the priest for the shining and pious in the church, warnings to the unbelievers and the disobedient. A young piece.

In the name of the great life, my name will be NN and that of my The wife is raised up beyond the great place in the house of perfection.

In the name and in the power [285] of the mighty, strange life, of the blessed one, who stands above all works, in the name of the second life, of the pure Jošamīn, in the name of the third life, whose name is Abathur, the Old, High, Hidden, Preserved is, in the name and in the power of the Manda dHaije, the Exalted One in the worlds of Light, in the name of Šilmai and Nidbai, who crossed the Jordan of life and the great baptism of the The light is used and the souls receive witness, names and signs- borrow, in the name of Hibil, Sitil and Anoš, the three sons of the living, shining, shining, bright, flaunting trunk we lay priests this testimony concerning the Mandaeans and their sons, those who already know their inner self and perceive their knowledge'), so on Sunday and on the eve of the day") do not come to the temple, do not approach keep the order, do not listen to their priests and do not get behind the Priests, do not perform prayer, do not bow do not take the pihta, Kuštā not enough, the community with- do not establish each other, do not baptize their sons, their daughters the sign do not let them accept life, in whose hearts the belief in the the first life has no place with the persecuted and needy- sufferers have no compassion, their wives, sons and daughters on the eve of-evening of the day and do not send to the temple on Sunday;

on the other hand, about all Mandaeans baptized in water, the believing men and women, as well as their sons and daughters, who they already know their inner self, who love their Lord, the mighty, the first Life, so nothing was, since this was not, and nothing is, since this who was baptized in the Jordan and marked with the sign of life who come to the temple on the eve of the day and on Sunday,

---

1) Who already have a mature mind.

°) Probably the eve of New Year's Day, see Joh. II, p. 684.

to adhere to the beautiful order, to perform the bows, behind to the priests who take the pihtā, to the kuštā, to the common- [286] and baptizing their sons and daughters, they The signs of life, in whose hearts the faith in the mighty, first life rests, which sympathizes with the needy and Have mercy on their wives, sons and daughters on the eve of the Send them to the temple one day, perform the service in their house the alms do not stay overnight'), rather they bring it to the temple.

The mighty, first life, the sublime, which stands above all works, Jošamīn the Pure, Abathur, the Old, the High, the Hidden, the Preserved, the Rašna uRast*), Šilmai and Nidbai, who are above the great The Jordan of Life and the great Baptism of Light are instituted in this world witnesses about the souls call, Ptahil the messenger, whose name Gabriel is"), who has the power*) of life and the word of his Father the heavens are stretched out without pillars, and the earth without compaction the stars were formed in the sky, the stars were formed in the sky, the stars were formed in the sky, the stars were formed in the sky, the stars Earth gave fruits, grapes and trees, shine of the sun and brightness to the moon, who created Adam with the power of life, gave him Hawwa when a woman planted and spoke the blessing over her, so that until the end of the worlds their root and their tribes do not disappear from this world, they are to assist all believers and all Mandaeans baptized in water, who practice all these good works, perform these benefits, live witness, confess Manda dHaije and praise these three men"), the sons of the living, shining, resplendent, bright, luminous of the tribe testify and believe in him.

This prayer we perform and this request we pronounce, we Priest. Manda dHaije deliver us from the wickedness of this world. [287] May He be our helper, helper, Redeemer and Savior from the guards-houses of the planets, from which the souls are afraid, from which swords, the calamity and the plague of this world, of the evil plans of the wicked, from the third tongue, which is softer than fat and more cutting than that The sword is from the evil cry, from the corrupt wreath, from the second Death and the eyes of harm").

The blessing that is over the earth with its condensation, over the sky with its tent-roof span, over the shining sun, the moon, the at night, the stars shining and shining in the firmament,

---

1) would mean ,"it shines niclt", which makes no sense. I suspect לאבאיית.

°) D. I. the Persian Rašnu razišta ,,Rašnu the Most Righteous", who won the golden In which the souls of the dead are weighed at the judgment, see the outline of Iran. Philology II, p. 643.

3) See above, p. 3,10; 64,2 and Brandt, Rel., p. 55 unt.

4) Read prrw5x737, before that it still says in the text: ,,and with the power of life, as well as of Hibil, Šitil and Anōš, which are Muhur, Ruš and Rast, (i.e. Mithra, Sraoša and Rašnu, see floor plan ibid., p. 642) and with the power of the messenger Ptahil".

*) See above, p. 230. ") i.e. the evil eye, see also Lit., p. 39.

about the air, the living water, the fruit of the earth, about Adam, the first man, his wife Hawwä, his children and tribes, about whom Messengers and Prophets, about the chosen and perfect, about the faithful and perfect of the Light were spoken, will for them, as well as their wives, sons and daughters, their purchase and Their land and water, their animals and their goods, their Seeds and their seeds in the field and in the village.

May Manda dHaije be your helper and support in this world of Baddies. What they seek, they shall find, what they ask, they shall be granted, [as well as] to their friends and the friends of their friends.

Also: the Mandaeans, who only speak with their mouth at the name of Manda dHaije, but without faith in the heart, who are the evil trees those who drink living water but do not produce fruit, who are like the predatory wolf and the prostrating lion, who do not come to the temple, do not perform prayer, do not be behind the Priests who do not take pihtā, do not give Kuštā, [288] who Do not establish communion with each other, do not give alms after the temple do not bring their wives and children to the temple, their Do not send women and children there, on the eve of the day and on Do not baptize your sons on Sunday and do not baptize your daughters the sign of the 20th The men, the women of the twelve gates the disciples'), who enter the twelve gates, which are not teaching, not teaching and can not explain that life is older is older than death, the light is older than darkness, the good are more excellent as the wicked, the sweet is more pleasant than the bitter, the day is older than as the night, the Sunday is older than the Sabbath, the Naşaraerdom is older being older than Judaism, the upper beings are older than the lower, the The waters of the Jordan River are older than the turbid waters of the place of Darkness, to which your priest speaks instructively, without you pointing to him whose heart is not enlightened, that they may turn to the man who taught them and want to enlighten, listen to those who leave the call of life and Loving the call of darkness, hating the cooperative of life, and the Love the cooperative of darkness, hate the splendor and the light, and loving the dwelling of darkness, leaving the Jordan of living water and love the turbid waters, against them we call these as witnesses:

We call the mighty, first life as a witness against them. Jošamīn, the pure one, who is attached to the treasures of the water and to the the great, upper, pure gushing of the light rests, we call as witnesses against them.

Abathur, the Ancient, High, Hidden, Preserved, who lived at the height of enthroned and hidden in the depths of the worlds and generations see through and understand, who sees what they are doing, who is looking over the souls-

---

1) can not mean priestesses, since there are such among the Mandaeans does not exist.

in order to weigh all the works that they do, we call') as witnesses [289] against them.

We call Hibil, Šitil and Anoš as witnesses against them.

The sun and its brightness, the moon and its brightness we call as witnesses against them.

Sunday and Almsgiving ") we call as witnesses against them. The call of life, the Word, the command and the warning, the from the house of Abathur and from the house of the great, first life come on, let's call as witnesses against them.

The priests with their sign, their prayers, supplications, hymns, prayers-orders, speeches, the crosses") of splendor and the olive rods of the Glanzes are called as witnesses against them.

This speech, this command and this warning were given to us from the Light soil is awarded. Anoš-Uthra, the envoy, brought them and gave them to the priests again'), in order to speak of it to the worlds and generations and to make them hear, that they may be believed, that they may speak, to be heard and to find faith and not to turn away from it. If someone is aware of this speech, this command and this warning Anoš-Uthra, the Messenger, after this world of the wicked and to the great place that abounds in evil, so shall the kingdom turning against him"). The sun and its radiance, the moon and its Brightness, water and its power, wind and its convenience, the fire and its glow, the earth and its fruits, the sky and his dew, the world and the believers in it, the temple, the priests, the Sunday, the almsgiving, the Pihtā, Kuštā and Mambūhā, the Jordan, in which they descended, in which they received baptism, and from which they if they have received the sign, there shall be witnesses against them.

Further, we call these true witnesses against all, man and Women, boys and girls who take the name of Manda dHaije-, but not to be baptized in the Jordan, and to be baptized with the name and have not drawn signs of life. [290] They stand apart- half of the Kušta and do services outside of grace°). We priests teach them and awaken them, but they do not want to hear and do not believe, so they will be held accountable for their own sins become. However, if you let yourself be taught by Manda dHaije, who is the the first Messengers are witnesses, according to the will of their Lord and what the priests tell them to act, so they will be granted a remission of sins be. If you do not act and do not listen, this instruction will not

---

1) Read proms, so also in the following.

2) See Joh. II, p. 5.

") The banner of the Mandaeans, see Joh. II, p. 1854.

4) Unsure whether to read instead.

b) The words Fby may be inserted, so daf the following the postscript is.

") Quoted from pp. 276, 29f.

bear witness and do not listen to them if they do not stand firm (in faith) and if they do not believe their priests, there will be no remission of sins for them- become a part.

If you do not do what you are told, do not adhere to the order do not bear witness to the teaching recommended to them by the first Messenger, 5 so they will have a sinner, and because of the works of their hands be held accountable. When you are awake and alert and the Mānā who dwells in them is awakened, so they will be in the The Court of Justice is not accountable to the- and the hand of the planets will have no power over them. 10 And their wives, and their sons, and their daughters, who have come, and there will be a forgiveness of sins. Even the priests and believers who give this instruction to the Mandaeans will a remission of sins is granted.

Life is victorious over all works; life is victorious. 15

But Rüha, her children and her creatures are subject to total for all eternity.

◆

Fourteenth book.

The treatise is called ,The Book of the great Nbat". Nbat will be at the top of the Creation, from which the predestined Yäwar and then in a second creation Jõšamīn ,the Second" go out. This is followed by another piece in which the The Creator is life, and the first created one is Mānā Jāwar. Life worries Jõšamīn, whose creative plans are unclear here as usual Words are pointed out. Jāwar strives to calm life. Jõšamīn is looking for a The creation, however, is prevented from doing so by the guardians appointed over him. However, he creates sons who push him to form a separate world. He gives ilnen, and they create a lower world; B'haq is particularly involved in the work- Abathur. The planets are created by his son Ptahil.

The piece shows contacts with the third book, see p. 63f. In linguistic In this respect, it shares some peculiarities with the eleventh beech, so in the use of Dy .,with" (text 292,19; 293,20) and from NOW1 7NDy, see p. 250.

[291] In the name of the great life.

This is the mystery and book of the great Nbat who came forth, it was lightening up, blossoming and becoming huge. Uthras came forth before him. At the first summoning he spoke and called forth eight hundred Uthras with an evocation. Two Uthras came and ascended. Vor- Jāwar, the Predestined One, was called by the . At the second Evocation came and ascended Jošamīn and Sar-Zīwā. In the case of the third generation came and ascended beloved, chosen, gentle, quiet uthras, whose names are Sar') and Smīr. Their names became two founded in a Škīnā.

Then he spread flourishing, enlightened and taught. You*) they came forth to his right and left, he spread praise over they"), and they shone in their robes. Her radiance mingled together, they shine, shine and shine, because on their clothes there was neither blood nor flesh, there was no ice and no spoilage.

---

1) Lond. AC have DND. There is more often DEATH DND or DEATH CHILD DND (see pp. 67, 21 and Lit., pp. 282 unt.), but not DND and DEATH as two different beings. After "it's probably original here. Also sorry. has "ND.

2) The Uthras.

") See above, p. 552.

At the first evocation that occurred, the Mānā Jāwar-Smīr') cause. Jāwar, the well-preserved Mānā, rose and spoke to the Life, his Father: [292] ,,You, life, my father, you are great, not low. You are huge, not small. Far is the shine on your right, far the shine on your left and great the light above you. This Jordan there is no living water before you. The tannās melted and spread from the first container over the earth of the ether."

When life, his father, heard these words of Jāwar-Zīwā, pleased so much so that it laid the rights on him to give him a wreath of He taught him of his knowledge and taught him, Our He called it "Our Word". He was called the Word of Life.

Thereupon the first life of his own Skinā, the Great prayed and praised his Father"). The word came to him before his father then he said to him"): "You are allowed in your own world everything that you ground in kindness, do, and it is dear to me. But I don't like it when you're making up something ugly. Far be it that there is ugliness with you. Rather come the blessing with which I blessed you, over you, and the beings of light let them multiply on the earth of Ãther. Because I am the Son des Jāwar. With the word of my Father I have called you forth, and by his command all that he contrived came to pass. You, too, do nothing without orders, but act according to my orders. Then become your works will succeed and your figure will shine with the Uthras lights that you created. These will be chosen, gentle and calm. You will shine, and your creatures will shine. What they say, come true. The great ones, their sons, and the creatures that made them created, maintained."

Then the first life of his own Škinā arose, it flourished and created 360 Jordans in front of him*). About each Jordan appointed two guardians. The Uthras who crossed the first Jordan they were called [293] Adatan and Jadatan. On behalf of 30 of those Uthras, 800,000 myriads of Uthras were created. On that day were uthras created without number, and were created in that Jordan of water dubbed. There 800,000 myriads of Uthras were baptized and received the Character. A thousand times a thousand Uthras were baptized and strengthened by life.

Then life blossomed and 360 worlds of light blossomed. It created the gentle, first") Uthra, the head of creation, and made

---

2) Lond. ABCD and Oxf. Jāwar-Smīr was caused by her". °) It is not clear who the author thinks of himself as the father of the first life. The Father continues to refer to himself as the son of Jāwar, while the latter is a creation of the Life is.

") The Father comes to life.

4) Sorry. has prnontip5.

") Stands here in the sense of vou ,,excellent".

make him the head of his own world -- there is nothing that is endless,') --  Myriads of Uthras in that world of life, in the Jordan, in which the Uthras were formed in the Škinā in which they received the sign. There was no hatred, jealousy, or discord in that Jordan; there was there was no restlessness, there was no confusion about him, there was no anger about him. Nbat- Ziwā swung himself on the water, the water burst forth and rose towards his brilliance. Then they both mixed with each other. You blossom, become enormous and shine in their shape like a single Shine. The water is like the shine, and the shine is like the water. The earth of that Jordan") is like a shining tent and a unexplored height. All of them") live in the share of life, they shine, shine and shine. They blossomed and let blossom, and their Gestalt flourished. There was no devastation there, nor did the plan show up the father of Uthras4). The splendor of Jošamīn did not accumulate there, and he did not stand out with the Uthras. There were not great powers, but one was more modest than the other, and her heart was calm and humble. The Lord of Greatness") rejoiced over his sons, the Uthras, and they rejoiced in their Father, the Lord of the Size. Ilr splendor shone on each other, and they extol the splendor of their The Father who gave them this splendor and created this world for them.

Then life called [294] the Jāwar-Zīwā, in whose name it 900,000 Myriads of Uthras. It created an image"), gave it to him and said to him: 'Go, step in front of the second one') with this image, we want to see what he says and what he means." Then he stood before him and said to him, "O Jošamīn, son of Dmūth-Haije")! My father has sent me here. Yes, life, your°) Father, has commanded me this. She said: Jošamīn does not know who you are."

Because of the brilliance of the image that gave life to Jāwar and the whole škīnā of Jošamīn trembled. The throne of Jošamīn succumbed, so that he collapsed (10). The women 1') who stood in front of him, he- schraken. Jošamīn rose and wavered (14), he rose and wavered,

---

1) See p. 75#. 2) On the banks? 3) i.e. the Uthras.

4) The father of the Uthras is Abathur, see p. 97 unt., and to the plane of Abathur see p. 174,20ff. Of course, there is often talk of "plane" Jōšamīns, see p. 147,28; 167, 28, and this would also suit the following better.

6) This appears here unexpectedly, see above, p. 4. °) Or "his (Jāwar's) image". In sorrow. is the final letter long drawn, but stand at the end of the line. The "image" is also intended here as a wife, see p. 1446.

7) i.e. Jōšamīn, the second life.

8) Cf. Joh., p. XXII unt. and here, p. 118,13.

9) D has ",my father".

10) is Inf. for porn, see R 173.8; 362.10.

11) Actually, "Clouds", see Uthra, p. 539 unt.

19) This seems to be the point of Ninby, which only occurs at this point. It can not belong to: "tried to go" od. similar.

for he had no strength to stand before the splendor of the image. Which His feet were not on the rack, and his heart was set before the Images tossed restlessly back and forth.

Jāwar perceived how much the heart of Jošamīn was frightened, because he softened his brightness and dimmed') his light and inhibited") the eyes the second is to look into the light. Jāwar softened his shine, grasped he raised him up by the side of his right hand, raised him high in front of him, and said: to him: 'Hold on, hold on, my son. Behold, the splendor of your Father's is greater than your splendor. Life, my Father, remembered in kindness your. I am life, the Son of life, me, his son, has it is sent to you.«

The heart of Jošamīn immediately assumed haughtiness, and he said: 'What does it mean that life has thought of me? I am a Big one!" But Jošamīn said to himself: "Life does not know me, why should life remember me? It does not bring me up to himself, for my heart is devoid of splendor, cut off from the light."

Then Jāwar brought a praise of Jošamīn to life- and life felt compassion for Jošamīn. It laid the rights upon him, Kuštā handed him, and he handed Kuštā to his sons, the Uthras, those sitting in front of him. For what was to come had not yet come to pass.

Then - there is nothing that would be endless, - [the thought came] to the Heart of Jošamīn. Because when he had this thought, it made him Life [295] does not come close to itself. But because he was his son, he was not angry; he had been created as one from his root.

When this plan came up, it was not yet carried out, - there are nothing that would be endless - both about what is being done and about that which is created, than about what has been. Yes, life knew what would happen to Jošamīn, but kept quiet and asked out(!). He said, 'When will the Second become a son for himself witnesses, as he intends it in the sense?"

Then Jawar spoke the Word"), the beloved first creation, on which life had pleased and sustained him, and: ,While you, my father, are sitting there, asking and talking back and forth, is this word*) came true." The heart of life calmed down not about this, but it said to him: 'You are entitled to everything that you say."

Life gave him robe over robe and spoke to Taurel, the Jawar, whose name is Sam-Smir-Ziwā, is called as follows:

---

2) Read FyonF, actually ,he oppressed," cf. heb. yor and babyl. šuhmuşu. Sorry. hat art See also p. 2616.

2) See p. 2584

*) This is Epitleton Jāwars, not object to plan.

4) Probably pina instead of reading. What is meant is the word just uttered life.

,,Go, throw miraculous, living fire of shine and light in the middle of our worlds. [Our] of the great (life) [worlds] shall be above, and the Worlds of the second are supposed to be below. At the border of that place2) the streams of water flow; there is the limit and the final measure for all worlds".

It piled robe over robe for the Jāwar, it put two Keeper a, Oşar-Hai and Pta-Hai, and granted him gloss over gloss, more abundant than he had.

Thereupon Jawar released the heart of the great life in great gates"). All Uthras exercise excellently what life, my Father, advises them to do"). Jawar spoke to the Uthras and was heard, he whose name was Sam-Zīwā shall. All the Uthras thanked Jawar and thanked 'life as it was from heard him.

Then (Jošamīn) pondered, his thought became pregnant, and the Thought was close to being born in the Second'). [296] He raised and wanted to create a full creation out of the first Jordan of life-pull. But the two Uthras did not let him, the guards who were over whose name is Adatan and Jadatan, who performed the baptism whose signs have accepted life and whose baptism has confirmed it. ,"You are not authorized," they said to him, "for this to make a great Jordan a creation on which life is the sign he is the one about whom he speaks and hears, from whom he creates what he wills."

Then he said to them, 'Where shall I go to bring forth creatures?'- and to create sons, as life created me, and to did he make his son?"

To this they replied to him: 'We are sons, not fathers, we are too nothing authorized. We only have to guard the Jordan of living water, to guard what is in him. You, you have the power to do everything you erdenkest."

So he went and stood at the top of the lower Jordan, under 30 the upper Jordan. He spoke and called forth from him three first-born. They were one, but their image was two, and this one of anger.

Then - there is nothing that would be endless. - The sons of the Second they shouted to him in their father's Škina"), while life was silent and kept his own word with him.

Then the sons of the Second (one thought) became pregnant, a Thought came to them, and they said to their father: ,,This world, which consists of- is stretched, and whose shine is very stretched, is yours and our world. Why is it that we do not live in it?" Then he said to them, 'We

---

1) Between the world of life and the world of the second.

2) The sentence is mutilated.

3) Even this sentence is probably not in order.

*) See above, p. 78°.

") Maybe so, i.e. of life. Sorry. daddy, but the text is not at all okay here.

would rather not live in the world of life, like an inmate, who has no home of his own, whom the master of the house incites to anger and (angry) throws words in the ear. When I live in the world of life "if I had to," he said to them, "I would (of course) stay there." But they said to him: 'In a world that is not yours, we do not want to sit." 5 Then her father scolded her violently'), but they did not care about the They scolded their father and wanted to give him ugly advice. Sometimes her father took her advice, sometimes, in turn, he did not take it.

Then Jošamīn said: 'I will rise up and live [297] so that it may let me carry out what I desire, what comes from 10 let me come out."

Life knew what the Second was thinking, and it said, 'Once upon a time if he acts, and it succeeds, then he acts again, and it does not succeed."

Jošamīn did not know that life has spoken this curse about him. He stood up and listened to what his sons had said. He is 15 gave his sons of his strength, his splendor, his power, his And sent them to him, and he sent them to them, and they said: 'Go, do what you wish and have advised me; do it's good, not bad."

Then they went to the end of all worlds, to the end of all skīnās, 20 they settled down, called out and sealed the seal*) of the white Earth, but they did not succeed in creating a shining earth equal to the Earth of the Athers. They created and founded every thing on the worlds, they created the four sprightly men, created the sons of salvation.

* B'haq-Uthra called forth and created for himself") a world when 25 his two brothers were not with him. For her sense was abhold from him, they did not stand on his side, they did not talk after his speech and did not listen to his hearing.

When B'haq called forth and created, he stepped down and looked at this world: she was not far, nor great, equal to the worlds of the great life. More than 30 he looked at his own world, he called himself ",Father of the Uthras"4). (Like the great life, he called himself Adam the Great; therefore it angered him from the place of light.›

Then arose the son of the father of the Uthras, who became his own father who called Uthras. He named his son Ptahil: The Opening to which I gave 35 his eyes opened, but he did not see."). Then Ptahil rose up,

---

1) It is impossible to understand why he scolds you, since ilire words of those he uttered Correspond to the view. Or is it instead of reading: ,in a world that is not ours we don't want to sit"; you want to build your own world?

2) Cf. Joh. II, p. 67 Note.

3) Sorry. there is still לנאפשיה.

4) B'haq is identified with Abathur, see above, p. 97 unt.

b) The author wants to give an explanation of the name Ptahil (bakND - AbanND). At NANDD, he was only thinking about the meaning ,open* not also about "create", which is also can mean, see Lit., p. XXiF.

the son of the father of the Uthras, who called himself the father of the Uthras, he went and stood by the mixed water and the mixed fire, in which there is living fire and consuming fire, and the water of the Earth, in which there is turbid water and living water, he thought, a [298] and said, 'I will create Uthras and set up before me how my Father created me."

With the first word he spoke and called out, and it came up and before him ascended the seven planets, the corrupters and depraved, there is blood and redness on their robe. Her robe resembles the red color, it does not glow and is not white. They are all good for nothing, because they are the same blood, and her name is in bad taste on the mouth.

The souls that depart from here ascend again to their place. Those who have been taken away from here will return home.don't all souls, those who profess to be pictorial works do not ascend to us, are for us and will not see the world of the Second.

The tribe of souls of the Naşoreans do not thank the planet, but dem Leben and Jāwar . They rise up, because when the life of the Jawar sent to Ptahil and all the evil angels, ********').

Live our knowing, live our understanding, live the Of those who understand and of those who understand.

Life for men, who teach us. Life is fixed in its Škīnā, life is victorious.

---

1) This sentence may belong to the place denoted by +.

°) Sorry. and the helpers".

Fifteenth book.

I summarize the following twenty pieces as one book. At the beginning there is although not the usual introductory formula, but they have a common colophon. Most of the pieces are related in content: a higher being is sent to the To admonish and instruct believers or other geniuses. It speaks partly of itself in the first person, in part, is told about him in the third person. The pieces also show some stylistic touches, such as the frequent use of the Verba Nap, the NW", the number 61. Some may also come from the same author, but it's hard to draw the line.

First piece.

Anõš, the "Word", on the mission of life, goes out into the world to help the faithful to stir them up, to instruct and warn them.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. -
- I am a word, a son of words,
who came here in the name of Jāwar. The great (life) called, commissioned and equipped me'), me Anoš, the great Uthra, the Son of the Mighty. It called, instructed and encouraged me,
it created helpers for me.
The helpers who created it for me, were gentle, firm uthras.
It sent me out to guard the age"),
to rouse the slumbers from their slumber and to- It spoke to me: [straighten.

---

1) here, in conjunction with rand, can also mean "exhort".

2) Every age has its guardian; the expression N7NT "NON),,keeper of time-age" is common, see Joh. II, p. 93°.

,Go, form yourself an appendix from the tibil
like the appendage we have formed.
Choose and get Chosen
out of the world.
Choose true men
and women who are good and faithful.
Choose and get the souls, who are worthy and worthy of the place of light.
Grant them teachings,
by which they are to be instructed.
Grant them secret spells,
so that you can show your miracle powers to the fiends
here. Let them speak to you in their pure voice and to overthrow Namrus from her throne.
Fear infects the planets,
the lords of this world.
Teach the Nasoreans, Mandeans and the elect,
whom you have chosen from the world,
who are persecuted in the name of life in the Tibil."
It speaks to him:
,Choose the Kuštā
and lead them up to the light abode.
Choose them and consolidate them,
so that they would be without defect and lack.
Teach them about the prayers, hymns and prayer orders, so that they may see the content of the light and teach themselves Teach the souls so that they do not die and perish.
do not be inhibited in the dark darkness.
Namrus shall not spoil them,
don't get caught up in music in the apartments of revelry [keep."
It speaks:
When you go to the earth Tibil, don't let the bad guys know about you"),
and the splendor of your garment shall not be darkened.
They should not rush you down from the upper firmament, do not throw yourself into the place of darkness.
Fear and do not be afraid
and don't say: I'm standing there alone.
When fear attacks you,
we will all [300] be with you.
We all will go to you and they will be your helpers.

---

1) Actually,"taste".
2) Here there is hardly N7y in the sense of "pouncing on" as in the Syrian one.

We will be your helpers and rid yourself of all the ugly. Teach the Naşoreans, Mandeans and the elect, whom you have chosen from the world.
Speak to them of prayer and praise,
that they do it in large numbers
and it is without defect and lack.
They should not perform prayer at night and in the dark, at a time when prayer remains hidden'). Who do not perform the prayer in his time, will be tied at the gate of the house of life. You will be tied up at the gate of the house of life, until the gate of the house of Abathur is opened. When the great gate of the house of Abathur is opened,
prayer and praise will ascend to their place.
Prayer and praise will ascend to their place
and be hidden in the place from which they came. Who does not perform prayer and bowing in their time, will be subjected to an examination in the house of Abathur. He will be tested in the house of Abathur, because of the useless things he has practiced in this world.

My chosen ones! I want to tell you about the individual mysteries which Namrus has distributed over this world. [speak,
I want to talk to you about the evil poisons,
which has cast Namrus among the great tribe of life.
She threw among my disciples
Hatred, jealousy and discord.

My chosen ones! I call you and I say, the sins of the Namrus, of the ...2) and you shall not commit the seven planets.
Who commits their sins,
will die in the shackle of black water.
Who practices their works,
will be killed by the sword and the saber of the planets
[be.
He will be slain by the sword and the sabre of the
and be burned in the consuming fire. [Planet
His name will be torn out of the house of the great life,
and he will not find a share in the light.
Who walks in the faith of Ekurs,
will boil in seething cauldrons.

---

1) See p. 222 unt. °) Cf. Joh. II, p. 108°.

Who drinks wine in the tavern'),
you will cut it with saws from ...").
A woman who puts gold and silver on"),
he will die a double death.
Who lies with his wife and does not wash himself with water, will find its place in the body of Leviathan. Every woman who does not wash herself with water,
will be received blow by blow.
The Keeper of the Light will beat you,
[301] and she will be cut off from the place of light.
The pure name will curse you and the vein (of living water), which is endless. If anyone, if his wife, after the uncleanness and [Menstrual washes,
already on that first day she lies with her, so his name will be cut off from the house of the great life; he will be left standing in clouds of darkness.
They will leave him standing in clouds of darkness,
and his eyes will not see the light.
Who eats of the food of the twelve gates,
will disappear from the world. - -
Far from the light,
To wish for a share of turbidity*).

Yes, at the end of the last age there will be among the priests such who are without zeal and dignity, without reason and order, and where the purity of the Jordan has not found a place.

Until the fifteenth year of life, the Father becomes because of sins his children will be held accountable, so he will not warn them with Voice cried out, she did not wake up from sleep, she did not pray and praise, they do not follow the paths of the Kuštā and the faith Let the place of light go.

When the fifteenth year of life approaches, the children become they are held accountable for their own sins.

Who delivers his daughter to the twelve gates,
he will be left in mourning and lamentation.
They will let him sit in mourning and lamentation,
and the wreath of darkness will be placed on his head [be.

---

1) Cf. Joh. II, p. 99.

2) See Joh. II, p. 992 and above, p. 194*.

5) See Joh. II, p. 191.

4) The author preserves the light from using the abominations mentioned somewhat to have something to do. See Joh. II, p. 982. The following pieces in prose are inserted.

On his head will be placed the wreath of darkness,
and he will be whipped with fire whips.
He will be held accountable in the blazing fire, in embers, ice and fire, in which the souls of the ... will be held accountable. Because she (the daughter) has been deprived of wage payment1) and alms donation [renounced by Jāwar
and separated from my Nāṣaraerdom.
She broke up with my Naṣaerism, and he (her father) went and planted them in the turbid water.
When she prepares the Ekurs offerings,
your father will be judged.
When she goes to the soothsayers and Chaldeans, will he be held accountable at the throne of the angry Nerig [will be 2).

I speak to you of firmness and mindfulness, as well as from the Kušta, which came from the great (life).
Everyone who smells the fragrance [of life]"),
and does not pronounce the name of life about it, will be held accountable in the house of Abathur. Anyone who smells the smell of fortune tellers and Chaldeans, will [302] make one smell the smell of putrefaction.
Anyone who prepares offerings for the ekurs and idols,
you will be allowed to climb the dark mountain.
Who is the food of the guests and the feast of the planets
will be tormented on the throne of Nerig. [enjoy, Everyone who enjoys the food of the offerings of the temples, will die as the Hmurthas of the house die*). Who keeps himself free from all these actions,
will rise up and look at the place of light.
The souls of the  will be tied up in the guardhouses of the planets"). You will be tied up in the guardhouses of the planets and die of thirst away from the world. They will give you a handful of water a day to drink and punish them because of the ugly works that they did in the 35th week [The world has committed. —

---

1) Read מן אגרא.

2) Maybe you have to read here how he will continue to be tormented".

3) Lies דנארהא בריהא דהייא ושומא דהייא.

4) One should assume that they do not die as spirits. The "house" is also here we mean the earthly world.

5) Lies נישמאתא  בכאטאראתא דשיביאהיא מיתיאבטא.

Far be it from') that the men of tried righteousness who are true- and believers, far be it from the good and believing women, the alms donated and the call of life called to the Jordan having descended, having received baptism and having accepted the pure sign, know the torment of that place. I observed the commandments that my brothers told me, I accepted them and led them in full-come through wisely.

From the floods of water to the building of Jerusalem, souls rose up to the light2). From the building of Jerusalem to the Age of I stayed among my disciples as an Arab Mahammat."). I chose and let them ascend to the place of light. The Age of the Arab Mahammat until the onset of destruction*) I left the middle of my Disciple. I went away and ascended to Mšunne-Kuštā. I said: ,,Heil and once again, salvation to the one who takes care of himself." Because the badness, the uncleanness and menstruation") took over too much for me"), I went and ascended to Mšunnē-Kuštā. I said, 'How painful is it for me my disciples who are at the end of that age. Because they pay little attention the pearls') and keep them in the apartments of indulgence in music therefore they sink into the great Suf Sea. Woe to my disciples, who do not see the place of light."

From the day of destruction to the fall of the Tibil [303] many souls ascend to the Light. As for wickedness and uncleanness I was too overwhelmed, I could no longer stay in this world. I ascended before life, my Father, and it left me in his own Škīnā housing. I said, 'Hail to him who takes care of himself. A man who takes care of himself has no equal in the world. He will be king in the light and, like the great ones, will be a great One in the Be a place of light."

The Light is victorious in the house of perfection, life is victorious.

---

1) Also the following pieces in prose do not originally belong with the main pieces together. This may date back to pre-Islamic times. That, for example, with the ,,throne "to be alluded to by the Arabs is not likely to me. °)

Cf. p. 28 ob., 46 ob.

3) See Joh. II, pp. 193f.

4) Some political catastrophe is pointed out here, perhaps the end of the Omayad rule, see also L 40,10f. It is not the end of the world, since only from this later the speech is.

5) Here, figuratively for moral impurity. By the way, it is still missing.

°) Read "Nby like text 303,1.

7) The pure, pure souls, see Lit., pp. 102,8.

Second piece.

Hibil, the gentle vine, is endowed by life and endowed with knowledge and sent to Tarwen to instruct the Uthras created by life there. He execute the command and then visit Taurēl-Jōšamīn and Ptahil. The piece is revised and not uniform. Mandā dHaijē and 5 take the place of life then, "the great face of glory". The Lord of greatness is also called, even Kings of Light.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. - -
I am a gentle vine, which I planted out of the place of glorious splendor') [created]
I was planted from the place of magnificent splendor, [be.
and the great (life) was to me the planter (creator). The great thing for me was the planter and it made me shine even more than I already had. Shine to the one I already had, put it over me, a well-preserved figure that was kept hidden from me. It created me, strengthened me and gave me orders,
it equipped me through His Word and created helpers for me.
It granted me speech and hearing,
large and unlimited.
It taught me about the great splendor
and about the light that looms in the hidden place.
It equipped me by His word
and created helpers for me.
The helpers who created it for me,
are miraculous and without number.
The big one called me2) and gave me orders
and strengthened me in the hidden place.
It awarded me secret speeches
and taught me about every thing.
It taught me about the first and about the Great One"), which was from time immemorial.
It taught me with enlightenment
and strengthened me by his miraculous reputation.
My father blessed me with his blessing and put some of his planting over me.

---

1) See Lit., p. 38*. In addition to what has been said there, it should be noted that the expression עקאר גיוא can hardly be separated from, in which only "glory", not "Root" can mean.

2) From here on, the verbs are in the singular. This is also done with Bezichuug on Nor, see above, p. 240°. But perhaps Mandā dHaijē was already floating here as an order-donors. 3) The great, first Mānā.

He gave me praise,
extended and unlimited.
He gave me enlightenment,
which is without defect and lack.
He kissed me with his pure mouth
and covered me with [304] inner') garments.
He put me in a cloud, a cloud of light,
and sent me to the pure Tarwān.
He spoke:
,Go after the pure Tarwān
and teach the Uthras who have settled there.
Give them shine and light,
so that they sit in mutual enlightenment.
Grant them of your praise,
so that they can maintain their status in the house of life.
Take them into the big community, so that they will be counted among your number.
Let them be counted among your number,
and there is neither lack nor lack of them.
Teach them about the Uthras of the pure Tarwan")
and about all beings of light.
Teach them about the great light of life and about the uthras and škinas created in it. Teach them about the hidden vines and the pure trees that shine over the Jordan. Teach them about the worlds of the Lord of Greatness and about the shine and the light that dwells there.
Speak to them of the pure Hauraran,
in which this miraculous voice was called.
Speak to them of the Ãther Earth, they built and founded it in such an excellent way. So she built and founded Jāwar,
and so he was their builder.
Their builder he was so,
then he called in her a miraculous call.
So he founded Škīnās in it and spread gloss over them to a great extent. Then they made him king over the light and they set Uthras to his right and left, to keep him company.

---

1) From the hidden, originating beyond the world, see Lit. p. 2621.

2) Despite verse 11 and although wonyy by can stand for Nonyb, the words are like this to understand, see also the following verse. The Uthras are supposed to be about themselves and the others Uthras are taught.

You should keep him company
and raise him up in his škinā.
Teach them about the big, upper fruit
and the Škīnās they founded in the hidden place.
Teach them about the great, first Mānā
and the great Jordan, in which he was baptized."

I, Hibil, departed from my father Jawar Manda dHaije and go to the pure Tarwān. I came there, created seven worlds of light and he set up in them seven kings of a perfect kind. I created seven chambers for them out of water and new palaces that do not pass.
With my splendor, my light and my praise, which [305] my Father (life) created for me in a perfect form, with my enlightenment, which the great (life) grants me,
with the tremendous speeches I brought with me,
with the hidden, mighty, exalted, consolidated and guarded [which]
I brought from the great, first father's house'), [sayings, with shiny crosses"), which created it for me, and prayers that my Father, the Lord of greatness, performed, 20 which have been preserved with me 3).
The great face of glory called me and gave me orders,
this and his image that sits with him.
It spoke:
When you go to the pure Tarwan, do not address your speech to the evil Uthras.
Do not submit them to the creation of the second life,
from which all evil has arisen. Error and deficiency arose due to the same
and the league was seeded in the world.
Do not share with the enlightenment, the knowledge, the knowledge and the [Praise, as well as the hidden speech that has come from the hereafter.
Do not take the tremendous speech and throw them into the murky water.

---

1) The phrase can also be found in the book of the Dīnānüklit, p. 208ff. It is now it is more likely that the epithets NN27Np N27 refer to the gauzen expression 1An בית refer. In)I see him against Nöld., p. 1828 an abstract, but the whole expression goes maybe on babyl. bīt abūti returned.

2) Between ,,speeches, sayings" and ,,Prayers" can NWEN77 despite here, how otherwise, often, for NVN77,,Hynmen" stand, see Brandt, Schr., pp. 494.

3) An anacoluth that lacks verbum. I don't think it's behind קאדמאיא and that you have to read "kam ich" for this, not even that the whole to move on to the following.

Do not recite them to the evil Uthras,
the Uthras that Jošamīn created.
Do not recite them to the Uthras,
those who are not peculiar to concealment, calmness and silence. Grant them only to the Uthras of the pure Tarwān, who came from the creation of life.
Give it to one of a thousand,
grant them two out of ten thousand.
Give it to one of a thousand,
so that they can teach each other.
Teach each other and take oaths of allegiance to one another. Oaths of loyalty should they take from each other and do not deny your speech."

As life, my Father, commanded me,
I went to the pure Tarwen and left a call there In the pure Tarwān I could hear a call, [sound
off. and the pure tarwān shone and shone beyond measure. I granted my enlightenment and praise the Uthras who love my name.
I taught the hidden Uthras
and the light kings I created.
I taught the King of pure Tarwan about
the shine and light that are stored there.
I taught him about the world of the Lord of Greatness, whose name ,Ãther, is "great light of life". I taught him about the great face of glory and about the Nitufta that sits with him.
I taught him about the Uthras, about the pure vines and trees, [306] which shine over the Jordanes.
I taught him about the knowledge and gave him eternal enlightenment. I enlightened his form like mine and gave him dominion over all beings of light, who dwell on the earth of the pure Tarwān.

Then he rose from his throne
and bowed and bowed before me.
He bowed and bowed to me and blessed me with great, endless blessings.
He spoke:

---

2) The King of Tarwān.

There is no lack of you,
and your creations shall not be darkened.
Your works shall not pass away,
for you are a great one, a son of mighty ones.
You are the Master of the Uthras,
the Father of all perfections.
The power of your pure name will we climb up on the paths of the Kušta behind you,
on the paths of the great life,
which has brought you out of the hidden.
From the hidden it has brought you forth and made the great chosen
one. It made you the great chosen one and as a ruler over us. It has appointed you as ruler over us, so that there would be neither lack nor lack of us."

I then broke up from him and came to the world of Taurel').
I enlightened the Uthras and Škinās
who were in the world of Taurel.
I spoke in my enlightenment, and my radiance went up over Jošamīn.
The Uthras shone, the great rejoiced, all the lights were up. Jošamīn was delighted with his brilliance
and enlightened all Uthras.
He enlightened the evil Abathur,
he created, but did not create anything completely.
Nothing shone and became right under his hand,
because he did not give his father the rights.

Under the call, enlightenment and praise of the Uthras my shine went up over the curtain *) of the Ptahil. Over the curtain of Ptahil my radiance rose, and Ptahil's heart was filled with weeping.
His heart was filled with weeping, and a tear squeezed in his eye. He spoke:
,,The beloved Son of the mighty, first life has come, who enlightened all Uthras to a great extent?

---

1) Is identified here with Jōšamīn, but see p. 291, 37f.

2) Who separated him from his father Abathur, see R 340,8f. and above, p. 1946.

What is my day among the days?')
The day when all the Uthras stood with their praises.
The Uthras stood there with their praise,
and the Škinās rejoiced and flaunted beyond measure."

Then the Uthras spoke to him,
who sat with him:
,,My day among all days is
[the day on which] the splendor of Hibil-Zīwā rose.
The splendour of Hibil-Zīwā rose [307] and enlightened us in our škinās.
He will bless us in His goodness,
and we will ascend to the place of light.
We will ascend to the light;
our sin and guilt will be forgiven.
Your name is established in the house of the great (life), and your Father will not condemn us in darkness."

When Ptahil heard this,
he rose from his throne and bowed to me in
He spoke: [deep bowing.
When my father Manda dHaije likes it,
he will soon destroy the house2).
He will destroy the house soon,
and all their") works are to be destroyed and destroyed.
The right part of the men of proven justice rise up,
he dwells in the place of truth.
From the whole Tibil
ascend that part to the light.
Let the Hebrew speech ascend"),
it is thrown into the collapsing ruin"). Then the whole Tibil will be destroyed,
and the works in it shall corrupt.
Out of a thousand, one rises,
out of ten thousand two.
Let the souls of the Naşöreans ascend,
who did not enjoy the food of the children of Tibil.

---

1) Cf. Lit., p. 186, XV. 2) The world created by him.

3) Of those who participated in the creation. ANRTEy would be better with relationship on NN3.

4) Or "Faithful". The place is identical with the place Mšunnē Kušṭā, the residence the blessed One in the Hereafter, see Joh. II, p. 1116.

b) This exclusion would at least be possible in Ptahil's mouth, but p5D also allows ,,vanish," see Joh. II, p. 59"; 87,12 and R 61, 8.

o) i.e. into the earthly world, see p. 103°.

They have not been contaminated by dirt and did not accept perversity and filth.
They did not accept perversity and dirt and were not restrained in the turbidity of the tibil, were not restrained by the works of Tibil').
On the other hand, the works of Tibil
and their tribes and souls,
as well as Rūha, Christ and the twelve Gates walking into the blazing fire.
But the true and believing men will ascend and look at the light residence. - -
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Third piece.

The living water is attracted to the earthly world, and Šilmai and Nidbai turn appointed as guardian over it. Before these, the living water complains that after the evil, the lower world was created. The guardians comfort it by saying that it is for the baptism of the Mandaeans should serve. The living water then expresses the fear that because of its and the Nāşōra sins will be held accountable. Silmai and Nidbai point out, that the earthly world will one day come to an end; even its creators will Find grace.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. - -
At the beginning of creation*) of living water and at the end of all Jordanes,
at the beginning of the drawing of living water, which was pulled from its place and came here, when the plan came into being"
and the water from his place was formed, when [308] the firmament stretched out and the earth was sealed,
when the physical Adam arose and guardians were appointed to him,

---

1) Instead, I suppose, but maybe there is a gap before, or it is an erroneous repetition from the following.

2) See Joh. II, p. 67, note.

") To create this world.

when the man was formed from his original container'),
limped and fell into the body,
then they thought to bring in living water and throw it into the murky water, Add live water runs and to order keepers from it. The guardians who would be appointed over it, should spread gloss over it, should be with the voice of the. Speaking of life and pull the root up here. They created the train of living water
and bestowed it on the two first-born.
To the two first-born, they awarded him, the first creation that had come from the first life.
They created Šilmai and Nidbai
and they made them helpers.
They gave them enlightenment
and blessed them with good blessings.
They gave you knowledge,
which is more miraculous than all the world.
They gave them a noble reputation,
to rouse the sleeping ones and make them get up.
They should awaken the souls,
who have stumbled away from the light.
You should wake her up and shake her up,
so that they raise their faces to the place of light. They drew the living water, and it arrived in the world.
When the living water arrived from the house of Life,
he was in pain and groaning. In sorrow it was and in moaning,
and his strength diminished.
It reduced his strength,
and it spoke to Šilmai and Nidbai: ,,By whose power I was drawn") and cut off from my place? Who cut me off from knowledge, that more miraculous than all the world is a)?

---

1) The Mānā is the individual soul here.

") ND, the water, speaks of sish in the plural as a grammatical plural, like Nv7.

3) For "knowledge" here stands NNFVIND, not N7IND, see Joh., p. XVII. From the However, a notion of "knowledge", which also explains the emergence of the figure of the Mandā dHaijē makes explainable.

Who cut me off from the Kuštā and the primordial
container and the community,
which is linked to your place and ascends to it?
Who cut me off from the figure, who wear
the Uthras at the place of light?
Who cut me off from the hidden speech,
in which the two mountains') are talking? Who cut me off from the hidden speech, where the big guys talk? When will I see the shape of the two faces*), who worship each other?
Because the place I'm going to, it is of a dark form that does not shine.
Taken away [309] will my strength,
and I'm cut off in the murky water.
There is badness in me,
i am lacking and lacking. The planets are doing the wrong thing to me, and my mind and my root will be taken away. The creatures receive power over me
the worthless fiend.
The bodies are murdered inside me,
and blood is poured out on me.
The evil takes over in the tibil, and my impulses become numerous.
The planets oppress me with floods of water, and so the souls in me perish."

When this speech was delivered the living water at Šilmai and Nidbai, Šilmai and Nidbai replied
and they came forward from their place.
They spoke with their tremendous speech
about living water as follows:
,,Be calm, living water, and calm down,
we want to talk to you about this and that.
We want to talk to you about the lack, the suffering and the badness who started from the second life, [speak, about the wickedness that emanated from Ptahil-Uthra,
who rose up out of the black water.
Ptahil rose from the black water,
and all the ugly, pernicious works went up with him.

---

1) See above, p. 116, 22.

") These are not mentioned otherwise. It may be the same as the two mountains.

With him, the shortage soared,
with him was the sighing.
But because Abathur raised his pure rights [?],
that his works shall not perish, because he is the soul ... .,
that they do not die in the muddy water,
should they not die in the murky water,
and the Seven shall have no authority over them').
You, living water,
go to the falling ruin,
call the call of life
and wide gloss over the house.
Be a helper to the souls,
who are persecuted for Jāwar's sake.
In you they shall receive the living
baptism and be drawn in you with the pure sign.
Through you, the pains and infirmities are to be healed, which emanate from the planets."

Then the living water spoke about Šilmai and Nidbai as follows:
When I fall [310] into the burning water2),
I will not win over Jawar.
The trial will be made for me,
and the men of proven righteousness will take me
on When my root is taken away [blame sinister places.
and my brightness rises to its place,
I also climb up from the Tibil
and will be held accountable before the expensive light
because of my sins and because of my transgressions,
with whom I have sinned in the dark places.
When I, the living water,
held accountable for this tribe of the Naşoreans what will you say to that?" [be,

Šilmai and Nidbai replied
following the living water:
One rises out of a thousand,
two out of ten thousand.
Zur") Škinā of the mighty, first life
the souls of the mixture and the lie do not ascend.

---

1) These verses are greatly corrupted, and it is uncertain whether my view is correct shall. Sorry. added in text Z. 16 and in Z. 17 Hannover.

2) See p. 135. 3) Well read.

Anyone who has a mistake,
it is not considered suitable for the great, first life.
You free yourself and lift yourself up of the pains and infirmities caused by the Seven.
Does not equal Ptahil-Uthra,
'who rose up out of the black water.
He did not receive the sign from Jordan
and was not baptized in living water.
He was not baptized in living water, he did not accept the expensive Kušta. Forever the Tibil will perish, and the works of the house will be destroyed. The (heaven's) wheels will be thrown into confusion, broken the chains of the murky, lightless earth').
Because her parents") did not take advice, they did not take advice, they did not instruct them, and to them because they took pride, [not talking about this and that,
sit there in your own shackle.
When the house is destroyed
and the spirit of the Seven ends,
will the shape of the twelve stars spoil, who persecuted this tribe of life. The works of the whole Tibil will fall into confusion,
and the whole firmament will be shaken.
Then come Jošamīn, Abathur and Ptahil
and look at this world.
There comes a shock in her heart,
and they beat on the atria of their chest").
[311] You see how the tribe of souls
overall, it sinks into the turbidity*).
On that great day of judgment
will the verdict be pronounced on Jošamīn, Abathur and Ptahil After that comes Hibil-Zīwā [be.
and lift them up out of this world.
Jošamīn and Abathur
they are baptized in the Jordan of the mighty, first life.
Then they get Ptahil-Uthra from the clouds of fog with the rot in which he sits. He is baptized in the Jordan of the mighty, first Life; in that Jordan, the rot is scraped off him.

---

1) With which it is attached to the firmament?
2) The creators of the Seven and the Twelve.
3) See p. 106, 4.
4) Better ,"has sunk down".

He will embrace the first life
and tell about the foot block and the shackle that he has in the world
He will tell about the suffering, [had to endure.
what happened to him from his father.
He will be called King of the Uthras
and maintain dominion over the whole tribe of souls.
He will be called King of the Naşöreans,
and prayer and praise will ascend to him." —
And life is victorious.

Fourth piece.

About Sin, the Moon, its fates and its effect on the world and people. The piece stands with slight deviations due to Joh. 192ff., there together with a Pieces about the sun.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. -
When the brightness[1] was created from their place, [the man] went and was born.
He came to the world of failure,
and it was given to Sin in abundance.
The man who gave him the brightness,
called him, armed him and gave him insistent orders.
He spoke to him:
,,The garment of brightness I give you,
so that with it you will brighten up the darkness of the decrepit ") house ").
When the glare of the sun is obscured,
your brightness will rise.
When the man lies with his wife
under your horoscope,
will the seed be established under your testimony
in the shiny root.
You lit up her face
and delivered them from pain and infirmity
and of all the creatures that are of no use.
You freed them from wickedness
and the suffering") of the decrepit house.

---

1) For the use of NpIn with reference to the Moon, cf. Jn. II, P. 27°.

2) According to the Book of John.

*) Lies ד̄תאנהארבה̄.

For the root of the living seed has been entrusted to your hands.
Enlighten you and brighten
and strengthen their tribe to a great extent."

Then Sin spoke to the man who had clothed him with brightness: [312] ,One day a month I remain hidden,
and my rays are veiled.
My rays are hidden,
and the two guardians take care of it').
When I'm not there
and the men then lie with their wives,
so the woman on that day receives,
become dumb and deaf and ugly figures out of them
When she receives on that day, [emerge.
become deaf and lepers, Handless and footless emerge from them").
The planets confuse the seed
and do all evil to him."

Then the man spoke to him,
who had clothed him with brightness:
,Which come about on those days, are unfit for our tribes "). They are not counted among us and not counting to our root for all time. He is a son of the root of darkness, he will return to the nest from which he came." Then he called to him, commanded him, warned and admonished him
and let him have firmness*) and mindfulness.
He spoke to him:
,,Pay attention to the tribe of souls,
the one you left in the world."

He bowed and moved away from him and he went to the house of Abathur.
He arose and went to the house of Abathur and descended to the guardhouses.

---

1) Cf. L 56, 3ff., also Brandt, Rel., p. 62 and note. 2. °)
According to the Book of St. John.

") In the text this and the continuation are written in the singular.

4) Because of the following word I summarize here in this sense, not in the sense ,, Helligkcit", see also p. 299, 15 and Joh. 191, 3.

He got up and descended to the guardhouses, to make the bill complete in all respects'). On the day when he*) is deprived of the tibil,
in the hours when he is hidden from the world,
because of the impulses he hurls against the disciples, Torment, torture and oppression against him. Fear, fear and horror he shows him, until he dies, passes away and darkens
and his figure looks like you have never been*).
When he comes out of the guardhouses,
his color is taken away from him.
His color is taken away from him,
and his figure looks like it has never been.
Then he sits down in his car
and attracts bright rays.
They stretch the strong brightness over him,
and he begins his journey through the world.
On the first day he appears,
the top of the firmament opens. He emerges from the upper firmament
and go to rest in the lower sky.
Until the second day
does not shine its brightness over all the worlds.
Until the seventh day of the month
He speaks in the voice of life.
In the voice of life he speaks,
because he has the fear and the fear of life in mind).
When he is beyond the seventh day,
has he already forgotten the fear and anxiety [313].
He has forgotten fear and anxiety and hurls evil into the whole world").

I tell and explain to you,
you men who bear witness to life:
Be firm and endure the persecution
in the decrepit house").
Because soon the Tibil will go down and the two mountains') sink together.

---

1) These three verses refer to Sin after the last words; they seem to be inserted.

2) The moon.

") husband.

4) Cf. Joh. II, P. 180°.

°) In Ginzā before that: in this world.

6) According to the Book of John.

7) See above, p. 1164.

The two mountains will sink together,
and the power of light will be taken from them.
All the strength is taken away,
which they had to a great extent.
Her figure becomes dark and contemptuous,
and her figure looks like it has never looked before.
The souls who have confessed to you,
howling and screaming and crying from their place.
They say to you:
When we were in that world,
your glory shone over all the worlds.
We begat for you
and worshipped you and praised you beyond measure.
Why did your figure now become contemptible and became dark and sinister, as they never have been?"
The planets had no enlightenment, which you could give to your admirers about how it went The planets and their souls and their worshippers [was.
...') and all their creations, but also the souls of the children of the great tribe of life, the will descend into the lower Seol. [believed in them,
You will fall into the big snake,
whose name is Ur, Lord of Darkness.
But from that day on will your souls be redeemed and saved,
the souls of our excellent
brothers and our faithful sisters.
The souls of true and believing men will ascend and look at the great place of light.
- Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Fifth piece.

Life equips Säm-Zīwā, secures iln and appoints iln as protector of believers; Warnings to the unbelievers.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light.

---

4) Instead of poen, Joh. ponwat pn25. Both readings do not fit into the And it's hard to make the point.

The call of the pure Sam-Ziwā is,
whom the great (life) has brought forth from his mouth.
The great one called him out of his mouth
and created helpers for him.
It created him pure Perfect,
that they keep him company in his škīnā.
It clothed him with seven garments
of splendor, light and glory
and [314] bestowed upon him the dominion of his treasury.
It gave him dominion over the Uthras and the luminaries,
as well as about the Jordans and Škīnās of any place. It gave him dominion over the zealous manas and the splendor that looms in its place.
It taught him about S'haq, the great splendor of life, and about the place it chooses for itself to be the perfect seat
It spoke to him of that world, [hat.
which is hidden from all light worlds.
It created Hamgai-Zīwā, the son of Hamgagai-Zīwā,
and gave him (other) helpers.
It granted him the seven hidden, pure, preserved mysteries, by which he will be preserved in a perfect manner.
It gave him power over the party of Jõrabba
and said to him: "Go, guard the age").
Take care of the tribe of souls;
keep him in order and lead him up to his place.
When Jõrabbā zirnt,
he will be held down by your speech. Be without anxiety, fear and anxiety,
and the Mānā in you do not worry.
Don't scare the cloud,
in which you are completely hidden. Be without fear and anxiety
and don't say: I'm standing there alone.
I gave you faithful helpers at,
that they may protect you.
I want them to protect you
and deliver from all the ugly.
May they redeem you from the witchcraft of rest, of the Christ, and
and the destruction of the twelve stars. [the seven planets, Let them deliver you from the sword and the ice,
as well as the fire and the conflagration of the five Wüteriche, let loose the fires against the Tibil.

---

1) See Z. 34.
2) See p. 2952

When malice oppresses you,
our voice will reach you. When the wicked make plans against the tribe of souls and stir up fear and anxiety in them, so do not tremble and tremble in your place, and the seven shall know nothing of your raiment.'), nor of the cloud in which you are sheltered.
When you get into great anger,
a letter from the Kuštā will come to us from
you. Then we want to send you a messenger, and we want to be a guardian to you.
We will send you extended power"),
extended [315] and endless.
We will send you extended power
and great, mighty confidence from his place.
We will send you help,
before which the Seven shall tremble.
We will grant you hidden prayers and
nitubtas that do not pass.
We will grant you hidden prayers, by which the outrages are kept down. Let your disciples find firmness,
who live in the empty apartment.
They should cherish trust by virtue of your trust
and be redeemed by the Seven.
Of the seven, they shall be redeemed
and for this we and you know thanks.
The Nāşöreans who are zealous,
be a witness.
Be their witness,
and by your power they shall ascend to the place of light.
They are to be enveloped in the northern air"),
the vine that came out of the abode of the mighty, first [Life has been raised. They shall be clothed with the garments of the great (life and be established in the light abode. They shall be established in the light abode
and be added to the city of Uthras.
The Naşoreans who are not zealous, will sit over pride and anger*).

---

1) See p. 296, 2.
2) So, not so ,Heer".
*) See p. 281 ob.
4) Better,who ... sit", (5y7), see also continue.

The Naşoreans who are not zealous,
strength, firmness and speech will be taken.
They will be deprived of strength, firmness and speech, and they will be beaten with a blow, for which [there is no cure.
You will be beaten without finding a cure, because they were first and foremost'). You were the first and foremost') and looked fear, fear and horror"). Every stroke of darkness took place with them through the Word. Every stroke of light took place with them through the Word.
They did not stand, did not let themselves be warned
and did not know fear and anxiety.
Fear and anxiety they did not know and they did not see that they would separate from the world. Since they did not ponder and did not see, let them be erased from your name).
Let them burn in the fires of the Seven and become a part of the seven.
- And life is victorious.

Sixth piece.

Jõkabar-Kuštā goes from the house of life to the devout believers in order to to equip them to fight against the wicked. He will bring you teachings and admonitions, as well as revelations about the past and the future.

[316] In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. -
I am Jokabar-Kuštā,
who left my father's house and came here.
I came with a hidden glow
and with light without end.
I came to the men of proven justice,
in which there is neither shortage nor lige.

---

1) see p. 2151.
2) One expects,"let schanen" (mrn) or, "did not look" (mrx5), see further. °) Read , "from your sheet", cf. p. 129, 8.

I brought youReđe and Erhörung,
as the great (life) commanded me.
I brought you secret speeches,
so that they show their miraculous powers to the fiends.
When Hibil was the guardian of the age,
I was the messenger before him. I established the throne for him in his cloud, and I enlightened him in his garb.
Then Hibil set me in His Majesty about those who love his name. I brought you') great powerful speech, which is miraculous and unlimited.
I created them wagons"),
i have granted them witnesses (of any shape)"). I granted them hidden prayers, by which the planets and their tribes are captivated. I granted them steel skewers of living water, by which the hmurthas of the house are buckled.
I gave them swords of (living) water, from which the giants of darkness are frightened.
I gave them huge presses,
through which the whole root of darkness and blackness [Water is compressed.
It is good for the men of proven justice,
how they sit in their cars.
As you sit in your carriage
and the fiends of this world rush down.

When Hibil was the guardian of the age,
he called me Jokabar-Kuštā.
He called me and made me a messenger
and set me as ruler over the men of tried and tested [Justice. As
ruler over the men of tried righteousness, he set and I became her guardian. [me a,
I showed myself*) the planet and the twelve stars,
then they fell down from their cars.

---

2) One probably has to read on with relationship as with the the following verbs.

2) Chariots for fighting against the wicked, cf. Verse 25, specifically against the in carriages seated seven and twelve.

3) Hardly in order. Maybe something has gone wrong behind 127: by the way of … . .

1) Maybe ptrmany(=ptakany) is reading zn and the y is different from the previous one pury to move here.

I became her helper,
and by my, Jokabar-Kuštā's, power the poison of the spoilers became ineffective.
Her figure became sinister, [317] and the power of their chariots became paralyzed. They stood before the men of proven justice, and these obtained from them all that they sought in full- [coming soon.
When Šitil was the guardian of the age,
Nazareth') came into the world.
Everything made and created came into being at that time. The separated men arose"), who separated themselves from the world.
The separated men arose, they didn't eat anything that the planets hid in. They did nothing of their works and were not cut off in the world of Šiqlün. Her figure did not become sinister and her name is not cut off from the place of light.

Then I, Jokabar-Kuštā, taught you,
the sprouts that have emerged from them. I spoke to you*): ,,Do not perform ungracious prayer and praise.
If the pihtā is not prepared for you,
do not give [alms].
Who donates the alms and does not prepare
a pihtā, will be beaten with sixty sticks of ice.
With a scourge of fire [he is beaten]
and be tormented in the black water.
When persecution afflicts you
and the lapsed mysteries') worry you,
when persecution afflicts you,
speak and call with the voice of life. If you perform the prayer and do not prepare a pihta and enjoy physical food,
if you understand this mystery **********,
then stand on your feet.
Then stand on your feet
and perform the prayer sixty-one times.

---

1) Also sorry. has NO1nSN).
") See p. 280°.
3) Read p5tanon, but a change in the person is not excluded.
4) This means the false religions.

When you perform this prayer,
your sins and transgressions will be forgiven.
You will be healed from the sixty-one blows and
you will not sink into the fire appliances.
You will not sink into the fire appliances
and not tormented in the sixty-one boiling kettles [be."

When the men of proven justice left their bodies,
the light went up from here').
The light went up from here,
the shining, miraculous root rose to a height. The goodness, the straightness and the knowledge increased, and the brightness of the light was brought out of the decrepit house- [He was] taken from a [318] dash of the tibil, [nommen.
went and settled down in the place of verity (2).
The keepers who were here went and they settled at the Jordan of the place of the truthful. More and more, stronger and stronger took (there) the voice of life too").
The mixture of brightness that remained in the tibil, it was hidden from the dull people in every place"). The shine rose from her to the height, and the bright murmur") remained.

From that day on will the disciples not be lifted up to the light from that land- 25
They are tested and tormented, [rise.
until they wipe the dirt from themselves.
Anyone who takes the dirt off himself,
go up to the house of Abathur and be raised up there.
Who does not wipe the dirt from himself,
goes out and perishes, as if he had never been there.

---

1) Also see p. 306".

2) See p. 3064.

a) The meaning of NDD is assured; it is always in contrast to 732: R 324, 11; L 50, 18; 90, 23. Therefore, the verse can only refer to the afterlife.

4) NONNN actually: rigid with amazement (NDN), then in general: accepted, dull Sinnes, cf. also R 279, 10; 282, 8, 13; L 57, 12. What remained of the light here below, stayed with the people of disturbed mind. This corresponds to the common view in the Orient, that the spirit of the erring and half-erring is closer to the hereafter than the sense of the accustomed- people.

b) For the meaning of ND7, see Joh. II, p. 416. Perhaps the unclear speech the "stupid people" meant. The epithet paft to the previous pimple, it is still not in place at NJD7.

I call you and I explain,
you true, believing men.
Sprouts, sprouts will be from the last generation
rise up through my Word and my blessing.
You will ascend by my blessing and will be strengthened in an excellent way. I enlightened them and enlightened them, so that you do not stumble in the world. He who stumbles will die and perish.
Again[1] I have enlightened and enlightened you.
Who shines and is clear,
I will be a helper to him,
a helper and a support
from the place of darkness to the place of light.
- And life is victorious.

Seventh piece.

A revelation being, Mandā dHaijē or Jāwar, is brought into this world by life sent to instruct and admonish the Nāşōra people. He proclaims the reward of the pious Believers and the punishment of the unworthy.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light.
From the škīnā of the mighty (life), the Great called me,
it called me, gave me orders and strengthened me.
The Big one called me and gave me orders,
it equipped me and sent me out into the ages:
to call the call of life
and to put gloss over the house.
To call the call of life, and to plant the planting of the great,
the planting of the Great plant
and bring in Jordane in a perfect way, right to plant plants
and to soak them with living, resplendent water, to teach you wisdom, knowledge and praise,
extended and unlimited,
to grant them [319] the pure reputation,
by which they are to be consolidated in this world.

---

[1] Cf. Nöld., p. 204.

They are to speak in the enlightenment of life
and wake up the sleeping ones and make them get up.
You should choose a way and throw up
and set up a boundary stone.
Let them ascend with the knowledge,
that from the house of the great Bihrām, (the Son) of life,
They are to be taught about the souls, [has come.
who are worthy of the light abode.
Let them shake up, let them be taught '),
and they are to be created luminaries of a wondrous kind.
Let them show you the great root of blessing,
from which the mighty, first life has emerged.

The true and believing Nasurais
they will rise up and look at the place of light. The true and faithful Nasoreans and excellent ones") will not be held back in this world.
You will not be held back [in this world]
and will not be held accountable in the great courts.
They will not be judged,
which is spoken about all beings. They will be found not guilty in the court and do not fall into the great Suf Sea,
in which Ruhā and Christ end,
the twelve stars end. That's where the seven planets end,
and they will be judged.
That's where the seven planets end, the sons of lack"),
the masters of the empty apartment,
the lords of the decrepit house.

The Naşoreans who are not worthy of the House of Life, have committed grave sin.
Her body was in error,
and there was a shortage and a lack of them.
If you also highly appreciate the treasure (the ginza) of the Tibil
it is of no use to them. [understand her, When you arrive at the great gate of the house of Abathur, they will be driven back from the gate of the house of Abathur.

---

1) On sicl, better pDN), "they shall teach", but see p. 345, 9ff.

2) see p. 2151, 280°.

3) Read N()n7DNA,'of the deficient', i.e. the Rūbā, see p. 81, 14?

4) already seems to mean a collection of religious writings here, incidentally, it is the translation of the sentence is uncertain. see also continue.

From the gate of the house of Abathur they will be chased back
and do not look at the place of light,
You will not look at the knowledge,
which was created from the škīnā of the first, mighty life. It will be taken from you, and they will descend to the nature of the place of darkness. They will be deprived of the hidden prayers, [320] which they understand from the world.
They will be deprived of the hidden orders of prayer,
the well-equipped ships').
They will be deprived of the Mass for the dead and baptism, and these will ascend to the place from which they came- The hidden treasure will be taken from them, [men were. and it will be set up by the great Jūrā"), the treasurer Era) will be torn out of the light [be.
and blazing in the lowest gehenna.
He will fall into the boiling cauldrons and burn in the fire while it burns. He will look at the suffering of the planets and die a double death.

Every one who chooses in a perfect way, devoutly, truly and will not be cut off from his place. [the feast of faith is, He will not be cut off from his place,
but be included in the expensive community.
You will let him see the brightness of the root and set it up in the hidden light in an excellent way'). He will be clothed with a robe of splendor, which is miraculous and unlimited.
He will be covered with a turban of light,
which shines and shines beyond measure.
They will give him a belt, a belt of (living) water around-
in which there is no pain and suffering"). [bind,
They will put an ether wreath on him, which was taken from the vine Rwaz.
When he leaves his body,
will a guide go to meet him, leading him up to the Škina of the great (life), which is miraculous and unlimited,

---

1) Which they are to take to the Hereafter. Basically, you expect a different word here.
2) Means "shine", see p. 66, 15, but it appears in these pieces as a proper name.
") The bad Mandaean.
4) Read (so sorry too.) נאהזונה לתוקנא דשירשא.
") See Joh. II, p. 206, 21.

to the place where the great (life) is enthroned; no one came down from the — height). And life is victorious.

Eighth piece.

At the beginning it is said that Yäwar is from higher beings - it does not stand there from whom; perhaps the plural refers to "life" - equipped and about the secret Things are taught. Furthermore, it is Hibil-Zīwā who teaches from the great Mānā and goes to the Näşōräern is sent to instruct them. He should especially emphasize the importance of of the oil used for "sealing". Whoever is sealed with it will all looking at hidden things.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
With the power of shine and sandarak tree*)
they created the jawar" and placed it over every thing.
They taught him about the knowledge,
which is miraculous and unlimited.
They set him over the great mountain, whose splendor is wondrous and whose light shines and looses beyond measure.
They created enlightenment for him,
through which he is enlightened.
They bestowed upon him hidden speeches,
which are wondrous [321] and foreign to the world.
They taught him about the great Jūrā
and about his image, the miraculous that is with him.
They taught him about the great Nşab
and the Škinās, which he founded at the Place of Light.
They taught him about Zarzēl-Ziwā,
the gentle, firm Mānā.
They taught him about Josmir-Uthra
and the Škīnās he founded ...*).

Hibil-Zīwā spoke to his Creator as follows. He praised the great, mighty Mānā,
who had established his knowledge °) in a perfect way.

') The meaning and conception of the sentence is quite uncertain, see Joh. II, p. 473.

2) See Lit., p. XXI. a) Here, probably so, not "to call, to call", see p. 324.

4) Instead of 53, there must have been something else, cf. verse 26. For the following Namy is hard to pull. There may be a bigger problem here.

5) I suspect instead of מדינתא.

He had taught, instructed and enlightened him about the hidden things. He had taught him about the living baptism
and the pure oil of this world.
He had taught him about the Naşoreans,
when you leave your body. He spoke to him:
,Go to the Naşöreans,
who are left behind in the world.
Tell them:
When you leave your body,
you will ascend with the pure oil. Because pure oil is important and expensive'), that came from the house of the great life. Who does not ascend with the pure oil, will be at the guardhouses (so! the Ptahil must wait, until he rises with sixty-one letters;
then he will be raised up in the worlds of light. He will look at the vine Taurel, who rests
in the Jordan of the pure Tarwān.
He will look at the tree Tatagmur, who rests at the Jordan of the Lord of greatness. He will look at the vine Rwaz, from which comes the blessing of life.
From him comes the blessing,
and all uthras smell through its fragrance.
He will look at the vine Jōsmīr, who rests on the earth of Sam-Zīwā.
He will look at the vine Šarhabel, who rests on the earth of Hibil-Zīwā.
He will look at the seven tent roofs
of splendor, of light and of glory, who are curious about the miraculous vines. He will look at the two pure mountains,
who sit quietly in their place.
He will look at Jāwar, the great splendor of life,
the first vine, [322] the one on the earth of the mighty,
He will look at the vine Šar, [first life rests.
who is established on the earth of the first life.
He will look at the vine Pirūn, the one who rests on the earth who "made it firm and accomplished it" *).

---

1) Read instead מימרא.
2) A feminine counterpart to Jāwar, see p. 151, 17; 162,38.

He will look at the great vine,
who rests over the fruits of the predestined Jāwar.
He will look at the great vine,
the educator of the souls of the infants raised by him [will be').
They drink from seïnen buds and rejoice,
and their souls blossom.
Their souls are blooming
and maintain existence in the world of light.
He will watch the great Jūrā,
will see the concealment that he has created for himself.
He will watch Adatan and Jadatan,
who sit at the gate of the house of Life.
He will watch Šilmai and Nidbai,
who dwell in the great, hidden, first cloud.
You live in that cloud
and are employed over all the Jordanes.
He will look at Jošamīn, the Pure One,
who rests under the streams of water.
He will see the four men, the sons of salvation,
who are an aid to the Naşõra People,
a helper and a support
from the place of darkness to the place of — light. And life is victorious.

Ninth piece.

The soul - it is, although it is referred to as Uthra in the play -- comes as a fragrant fragrance descends to the world and takes its place in the heart of the body (see also Lit., pp. 102, 10). She wistfully contemplates why she was sent into the world be. Life hears the lament and sends ilr a helper who enlivens and comforts her.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. - I - am the fragrance of the Uthras,
who I went to and took a place in every faithful heart.
The heart in which I took a seat,
I enlightened and enlightened beyond measure.
I enlightened and illuminated it beyond measure,
brought prosperity and let it dwell in it.

---

1) It is uncertain whether the second N27 is to be interpreted in this way. It is rather with CD too so that the sentence in which the souls of the singers are raised is simply called ".

I took the sigh out of it,
that the Seven brought to the bodies.
The Seven brought it to the bodies and let it dwell in the dark hearts. Who can be enlightened by enlightenment, will be placed at the place of light. Who does not let himself be enlightened by enlightenment,
will be cut off from the place of light.

Icl, in my sense, make considerations about it,
how it happened.
Who has caught me away from my place and my place-
from the circle of my parents who raised me? [nommen,
Who brought me to the guilty,
[323] the sons of the void dwelling?
Who brought me to the rebels,
who wage war every day?
Who showed me the bitterness,
where there is no candy?
Who showed me the darkness,
where there is no light beam?
Who showed me the stinky water,
that turns on wheels[1].
It turns on wheels,
and his stench rises and reaches the firmament. When I was standing in my place,
I scared myself and scared my soul.
I told myself that I have no high helper,
no man as a nurse.

How I still stand in my place,
the great one heard me and did not condemn
me. It sent me a high helper, sent me a man as a nurse.
It sent me a gentle assist, he came and saved me from everything.
He spoke to me in vivid speech and saved me from the world. He called in a gentle voice
and let my heart rest on his support.
He taught me about praise, that I forgot the persecution of Tibil.

---

[1] This probably means on the bucket wheels of artificial irrigation in contrast to the free flowing living water.

He spoke:
,,O gentle Uthra!
Not by the will of the great (life) did you come here. Did not come here according to the will of the Great,
not according to dēm will of the Uthras who are there.
Rather, according to the will of the two Uthras1) it happened,
that they sent you and sent you here.
They sent you out, sent you here and left you in the world. You stayed in her for so long and grew up in her,
when your father liked
it. If your father likes it, he will tell you how it went."

I then spoke to my father,
to the man who was appointed over me:
,Who are the two Uthras,
which were used over me?
Who are the two Uthras,
who sent me out and sent me here?
They sent me out, sent me here
and left me in the world."

That helper then spoke to me,
the man who was used over me:
,Where is there a son who despised his father"),
that he sent you here and sent you?
He sent and sent you here
and left you in [324] the world.
You stayed in her for so long,
when your father liked it,
when it pleased your father
and he sent you helpers.
He sent you helpers,
and they spoke to you [in vivid speech *******.
Now o gentle Uthra,
get up, ascend to the house of your family and curse the place of your carer's house. As long as you stayed and lived in it, the Seven were your opponents.

---

1) See below.
2) or. there is no sense. Perhaps here, too, is a form of 822 garble. see p. 242.

.The seven were your opponents,
the Twelve are your persecutors').
The Twelve were your persecutors and they said, 'Let us despise his works, maybe we'll cut him off at our place. Maybe we'll cut him off at our place
and he takes part in [our] world."

I talked to myself, researched in my mind
and answered my Father, the gentle helper,
the man who was appointed over me:
, When you know that there is a lack of me,
cut me off in the abode of sinners."
Then he spoke:
,Ó gentle Uthra!
There was a surplus of you, not a shortage." [To this I replied]:
,,My father! When you know that there is no lack of me, why did you do such harm to me?"

When he heard this from him,
he took it out of his body. He clothed him with a robe of splendor and put a precious wreath on him. He broke their guardhouses
and led him out of the world with pomp.
With pomp he led him out of the world and supported him on the earth of the great (life). He supported him on the earth,
the Great Throne.
Up went the Uthra,
then they built him a throne, and he took a seat on it.

I want to tell you, you big,
I want to tell you, you mighty ones, how it happened:
If you do this to me,
should there be no shortage of your grape harvest in the sinking Tibil
The age decreased, [enter 2)?
and the persecution really depressed her."

,Sit there, Uthra,
orderly, well-ordered Uthra.

---

1) See Lit. , p. 160.
2) The point is: shouldn't the souls who make up your share suffer from it?

We know well,
that there is a shortage of our grape harvest in the sinking Tibil [admission[1]).
The age decreased,
and persecution was very much unleashed against them.
You were redeemed and ascended, Uthra, and whoever is able to do it, let him ascend after you." — [325] Life is upheld and is victorious, and victorious is the man who went here.

Tenth piece.

The Mānā converses with his image, i.e. with the female who is associated with him Being, see p. 1445. He expresses the desire to create uthras who will stand by his side should. His image discourages him. He follows your advice, but probably was in a now there are pieces of it that have fallen away, that he nevertheless creates a companionship, because the following assumes this. He justifies the creation by the fact that the created He is the one who helps the righteous. He sends a messenger to the pious in to continue to ascend the height, life and the messenger take the place of the Mānā is Mandā dHaijē. He descends into the depths and fights the bad guys.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light.
- I am talking to my image: ,,Come on, you and I want to build (create). We want to build with hidden reputation,
build in the miraculous fruit.
Until we produce fruits, until we produce helpers, praise me, and I will praise you. We want to be kept in rich splendor and keep each other in order in an excellent way.
Maybe uthras will be created by us and then praise us mighty ones."

When he said this,
he thought of a companion.
On a companion he thought
in the miraculous fruit.
He spoke and sang:

---

[1] The text here is incorrectly reconciled with pp. 330, 34. You can expect here דמן גוטופתאן בתיביל אודא תיבצאר.

I want to create a companionship to my right, will create lights to my left.
I want to create messengers
of life, those who are hidden from me.

He replied and spoke
the image of the expensive Mānā:
When you create messengers,
will the wickedness of the tribe of your planting become apparent- Your planting wickedness will expand [stretch ').
because of the lack of the world.
There will be a lie in her, There is shock in the world."

Then I replied and spoke to my exceedingly wondrous image:
,We thought, and now we do not want to plant a planting, from
it comes lack and failure.
Lack and failure come from it,
and shock arises in the world."

I bowed, bowed to my companion and accepted from her expensive kuštā. We entered devices and hid"),
and she agreed to be my companion.
When the first ones were there,
think about the second.
When the second ones were there,
think about third parties.
When the third came,
think about the fourth.
From the fourth
there was a shortage and a failure.
Lack and failure came from you, and [326] shock arose in the world.

He replied and spoke
the image of the expensive Manā:
,Didn't I tell you,
that we do not want to plant a planting?

---

1) , "Haupt" does not fit; I guessp1wa, Maybe NP37127 is also to be deleted.

") could in itself also mean "vestments", but then 5x fits badly. There are probably devices here, intended as containers of numina, as well as in the sense of ,"Spirit" goes back to this meaning, see above, p. 651.

We do not want to plant a planting,
because out of it comes lack and failure.
Lack and failure come from
it, and shock arises in the world."

Then he answered and said for his most miraculous image: ,How should we create the world that is supposed to,
left to destruction?
In it, men of proven justice will spread and let the call of life rise up here').
Some of them will rise with the root, some of them are held back in the world"). Who has the strength to do so and sets himself free,
will rise up and look at the place of light.
Who has the strength to do so and (still) does not set himself free, will be left behind in the world.
In the world he will be left behind,
and his place of residence will be of the world.
We want to call the messenger,
the messenger, the planting of the mighty (life). We want to commission him and send him there:
what is there, he should bring up here.
He redeems the gentle Manās, redeem the dear Mānā").
He redeems the expensive Mānā,
and let this one be a good one in the house of perfection.

I called and commissioned the Great") and put his wisdom over
me. [It lay over me] the well-preserved
figure, which is kept hidden for me.
It put love over me,
which should be sent to my friends.
It put gentle speech over me"), where I should talk to my friends.

---

1) Probably read N55 instead of N55. ") Maybe you can also read here. To fluctuate between "Nonono and see R 307, 14f. with Varr.

a) The place is incomprehensible. With the gentle Mänās, the individual souls of the Meant for the pious. But the "dear Mānā" would have to be the supreme being here. How should will he redeem this? Is it by his help to the pious? It seems that instead of Ap-D" there was another verb.

4) The great life takes the place of the Mānā here.

a) Read NF1W, cf. Text 327, 12.

I'm supposed to talk to my friends and deliver them from the ephemeral. I'm supposed to redeem you from the faulty, which they created by themselves. It warns me and commands me,
like a father who commands his sons.
It feeds me and kisses me,
like a father kissing his son. It warns me and protects me,
and it stays firmly with his speech[1]).
It speaks:
,We will send you treasurer,
come quickly with the messengers.
Come quickly with the messengers
and bring us the planting of the mighty.
Why do you want to stay in the Tibil, why [327] beat you back and forth in the ephemeral?
Why do you leave the pure robe
and are you dressing in the rebellious garb? Why do you leave the gentle secrets and step into the ephemeral secrets? Do not leave the beloved cooperative and love the co-operative of the ephemeral.
Do not leave the living speech
and love the talk of the ephemeral."

When the Great [so] spoke to me,
i bowed and bowed in a perfect manner:
,Why are you talking to me like that,
where did my heart fall into discord?
My heart has fallen into discord, and my eyes squeezed together with a tear. With a tear my eyes squeezed together, until I whined and cried in my place. Is there anyone who stayed in the house of the great (life) and then loved the talk of the ephemeral? Is there anyone who would leave the pure garment and dressed in the rebellious garb? Is there anyone who would leave the beloved cooperative and the co-operative of the ephemeral loved? Is there anyone who would leave the speech of gentleness and loved the speech of the ephemeral?"

---

1) Maybe p ,,and it fortified me with his speech."

Then it spoke to me:
, We told and explained to you:
Don't drag yourself back and forth in the ephemeral').
Because from the second, who was the eldest"),
there was a shortage and a failure.
Deficiency and malformation formed from it,
and the shock came into the world through him."

Then Manda dHaije called it (life) and spoke to it:
,,Come quickly and protect your sons.
Come on, take care of your sons
and bless them with your blessing.
[With] that [your blessing] bless them,
with which you have blessed your sons, the Uthras."

It blessed me") with its blessing
and spread his glory over me,
spread over me from his planting.
I bowed and bowed to life and came into the world").
I bowed and bowed to life and spoke in my wondrous voice.
I went to the Škīnās
and the good Uthras [who] created them.
When the Uthras saw me,
they bowed down and praised me") beyond measure.
They praised the Uthra of glory,
from which all truth has come.
[328] They spoke to him:
Where are you going, son of the shining beings, where has life sent you (here)?"

I replied to them:
,I'm going to the deep "), which is quite stinky,
and among the works that are not (properly) created,
the works that the Uthras created,
which are hidden in their place."
So they spoke to him:
,Go, set up
and bring up your planting victoriously.

---

1) See Nöld., p. 249e °) NwwND; the third, Abathur, is called xpN.
") It probably also refers here to life despite the singular, see p. 240 °.
) Sorry, hat אתיתילה̄. ") Lies ומשאביליא. ") Read Npmy.

Come with us and let us plant you, so that we may be associated with you as helpers.
Walk with the power of life,
and be a perfect guide to you. The King of the ether blessed you, and you went to the tibil of impermanence."

When the wicked saw me,
they fell down and fell on their faces.
They fell down, fell on their faces
and went to the great Suf Sea:
,We've been watching you, man,
your form is not of ours."

So I turned and spoke to the wicked and liars who dwell in this world:
Where did you get the robe,
that enlightens your figure?
Where did you get this smell,
which makes the smell of your stench pleasant?
Life has sent me;
i came here to conquer the tribe
Life was grateful to the Uthras, [bring.
who have risen from the Tibil." —
And life is victorious.

Eleventh piece.

Anõš-Uthra goes to Earth to stir up the Mandaeans. Rūhā finds out and conspires with her sons, the Seven, to counteract the strange man. They are attacking Jerusalem. After a parallel piece, you will only arrive on your journey after Bethlehem. They want to build there, but with a voice on the cloud of Anõš, that from 365 disciples would emerge from this city, they give up the plan. They move on to Bēt-Mtallalē. They feel the same way, the same in Kraklı-Nşab. Only then come go to the area of Jerusalem and build a city there. In it, the Jews let themselves settle. Anõš goes to Jerusalem and gains an annex there. Killing the Jews his followers, he then destroys the city. See also Brandt, Rel., p. 128; Reitzenstein, The Book of the Lord of Greatness, p. 33.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. - -

When I, Anõš-Uthra, came,
in this world,
there I came, calling the call of life
and set up the planting of life.
I spoke and performed with my voice
and awakened the elect in the world.
I called with a noble voice,
i roused the sleeping ones and made them get up.
I grew younger among them,
some of them are worthy of the Place of Light.

Who said the Rūhā,
who taught the defective and faulty,
who told the liar,
that the strange man has gone here')?
Who told the Rüha,
[329] that she struck her head with her hands")?
With her hands she hit the head
and pulled out the curls on the head.
She pulled out the curls on her head and cried ,,Woe to me, woe to me!"
Rūhā spoke in anger,
and in Liige her word came out.
Ruha spoke in anger
and called together their first-born sons.
She spoke to them:
,,Come, come, my first-born sons,
listen to what I tell you").
Come on, sinnet on evil,
and we want to create a party in the world.
We want to create a party in the world under the trunk of the strange man who went here."

On it the seven stars gathered and went to Rūhā dQudšā.
They spoke to her:
,With what should we start a party
within this world?u
Then she replied to them:
,,Come on, we want to lie together
and all of our secrets*).

---

1) Cf. Joh. II, p. 117, 6.) See p. 87, 4; 102, 23. 3) See Lit., pp. 200, 6.

4) Read NIN) after the suffix in the verbum and the following. secret" is their secret knowledge.

Our secret of all') we want to take and form an entity with it. We want to form a structure with it and build the place of Jerusalem."

Then the seven stars went at it and they lay down with their mother.
They lay down with their mother
and took away from their common secret.
From their common secret they took and they built the place of Jerusalem.
They built the city of Jerusalem
and left fornication, corruption and fornication in it.
They spoke:
,,Every one who has his seat in the place of Jerusalem, will not mention the name of God")."

Then the seven stars rose and Namrus, the mother of the world.
The seven stars rose
and they came on their seven chariots.
They arrived on their seven wagons and descended from the firmament to the earth. They left this world") and they came to Bethlehem.
Ruhā then spoke to her sons,
spoke to the worthless fiends:
,,My sons! Leave your cars down, we want to build it (Jerusalem) in this place."

There came a voice from the cloud of Anoš-Uthra
[330] and spoke to Rūhā dQudšā:
,From the site where this place is being built, there will be 365 disciples."
Then she cried out in a shrieking voice and screamed, she spoke to her seven sons: ,On, on, my seven sons,
don't build it in this place.
An evil, unclean curse
got over your cars.

---

2) See p. 3374.

2) Here this stands for the supreme being of the Mandaeans is rarely used, see p. 4.

") One expects "that world".

Get in your cars
and go away from that place."

They left that place
and arrived at Bet-Mtallale').
Rüha then spoke to her sons,
spoke to the worthless fiends:
,,My sons! Leave your cars down,
we want to build it on this site."

There came a voice from the cloud of Anoš-Uthra
and spoke to Rūhā dQudšā:
,,From the site where this place is being built,
there will be 365 disciples."
That's when Rūha dQudša spoke
and spoke to the planets:
,On, on, my seven sons,
a letter of anger has come to us.
Come on, get in your cars
and go away from that place."

They left that place
and went to the town of Krakh-Nşab. Then Rūhā dQudšā spoke
and spoke to the planets:
,,My sons! Leave your cars down,
we want to build on this site."

There came a voice from the cloud of Anoš-Uthra
and spoke to Rūhā dQudšā:
,From the site where this place is being built,
there will be 365 disciples."

Then Rūha spoke in anger
and spoke to the planets:

---

1) N2, House of the covered sites or huts, as the name of a place that in the history of Judaism or Christianity would have played a role is not known. The word mṭalle ,"huts" is found in a geographical name, as far as I can see, only in the name of a monastery Dairā daMtalle im Haurān (see NöLdEKe, ZDMG XXIX, 1875, p. 438), but the place was without meaning. You also get no further if you are in Bēt-Mtallalē assumes the rendering of a Hebrew N3D. Likewise, this continues to be named 2N3) 7N73 unknown. It sounds like Nşībin-Nisibis, but the identity is doubtful. Halévy believed that it was Nazareth and DN3) ניצבאה 77D on a prescription fr) see Brand, Schr., p.9 this is not impossible. In 3N3) 7873 R 193, 6, see above, p. 1936.

,,On, on, my seven sons,
listen to what I am telling you.
On, we want to go,
before the big life comes here."

Then the seven planets rose and they departed from that place. They got up'), sat down in their wagons and continued their journey in the world. They continued [B31] their journey in the world, until the wings of their carriages fell out ").
Then Namrus spoke to them,
the mother of the world:
,My sons, put down your wagons,
we want to build on this site. At this site we want to build, because the path has come to an end."

To this the planets responded and spoke to Namrus, the mother of the world:
,,Yes, our strength is inhibited,
and the wings of our wagons have failed.
Yes, we want to talk after your speech")
and build on this site."

The seven stars gathered and practiced sorcery and witchcraft.
Sorcery and witchcraft drove them
and did not call the name of God.
They went at it, kneaded the first brick and they built the place of Jerusalem.
There came a voice from the cloud of Anoš-Uthra
and spoke to Rūhā dQudšā:
,,From the support on which this place is built, there will be 365 disciples."
Then Rūhā dQudšā spoke
and spoke to the planets:
,,Come, come, my seven sons; Save him to whom God is a helper."

---

1) Sorry. has Dxp.

2) DNOW seems to be intransitive here, especially after Z. 20: were-torn, fell out. Maybe even Joh. 133, 13, there are birds.

3) Well read.

They built Jerusalem,
. in it the Jews settled'). They bestowed upon them the works of darkness,
and the Seven said a blessing over them.
They called forth protective angels,
Fish of the sea and feathered birds
and summoned them with oaths.
They summoned her with oaths
and they gave it to the Jews in Jerusalem.
They spoke a blessing over her,
and they found everything they were looking for, to a great extent.
The seven pillars emerged,
from which all falsehood and falsehood emanated.
The Jews multiplied
in the desert wasteland.
The Jews multiplied,
then came the time to form an appendix.
I took physical shape
and he brought me to Jerusalem.
I spoke with my voice and performed [332]
and became a physician of the Mirjai.
I became a doctor of the Mirjai
and healed them from scratch.
I was called a doctor of the Kuštā,
he heals without taking wages.
I led Mirjai down and baptized her in the Jordan, i drew them with the pure sign*).

By Mirjai, the Perfect,
Jaqif and Beni-Amin") went out.
By Jaqif and Beni-Amin
have gone out 365 younger.
365 Jiingers have emerged in the city of Jerusalem.
*The Jews got angry
and killed my disciples who pronounced the name of life.
When I saw her,
I was filled with anger and evil anger at them.
I became angry and angry with them
and ascended to the great life.

---

1) The text says "in what the Jews were".

2) The text alludes to the legend of Mirjai, a Jewish princess who She became a Mandaean and was celebrated as a representative of Mandaerism, see Joh. II, p. 123; Lit., p. 210.

") Jacob and Benjamin, cf. Joh. II, p. 71.

I told my father,
how it happened in his place.
I also told him,
how the Seven acted in this world.
When he heard this from me,
he gave me a letter in anger.
He gave me a letter in anger
against the place of Jerusalem.

Who told the Ruha,
who taught the error and deficient,
who told the liar,
that the white Aar") has ascended to the place of Jerusalem?
She calls her crowds together
and gather together all their Hmurthās.
She calls the seven stars together, sit down and make a complaint. She speaks:
,Woe to you, place of Jerusalem,
that the Aar has ascended to you.
Woe to the Jews,
who should be killed in anger and rage."
Ruha dQudša then steps down and bows to Anoš-Uthra.
She speaks to him:
,,By your life, Anoš-Uthra,
do not destroy this place of Jerusalem that I have built."
To this he replied
Namrus, the mother of the world:
Who is an adversary [333] of the Light,
dies a second death."
The Jews in their fear
they hid in the different quarters.

Then he spoke to him 1
Namrus, the mother of the world:
,, Just let me,
i want to blow up the gates of the wall above them,
that they will be killed on the spot.
The Jews are to be killed, who have sinned against your disciples."

---

1) Is more often found as a designation for higher beings of the Mandaeans. Here it is Anõš-Uthra; Joh. II, p. 235 it is Hibil-Zīwā, see also there, p. 131.

Then I hit her with the club of brilliance
and spoke to her:
,,Get away from me;
I came in anger.
[In anger] have I come,
in anger, life sent me here. Life sent me here in anger, to devastate the place of Jerusalem. Column after column1) I threw down and brought them down from their place.
I destroyed the pillar of Usrael "),
which was a persecution for my disciples. I destroyed the pillar Jaqif, who stood at the gate of Jerusalem").
I threw down the pillar of Adonai,
which rose up in the center of Jerusalem.
I destroyed the column Zatan, which stood on the outer wall.
I threw down the pillar of Sihmai,
which stood on the inner wall.
I threw down the pillar Karkūm,
where all the angels lived.
I tied up*) the big tower,
in which the guardians of the place of Jerusalem dwelt.
I devastated the place of Jerusalem,
in which the blood of my disciples was shed.
I killed the Jews,
who were a persecution to the tribe of life,
all feathered birds
and ugly animals that have come out of them,
the monkeys and wolves"),
who came out of the Jews,
all evil animals,
against which anger was.

---

1) See Joh. II, p. 115°.

°) This is Israel. The following two names are also Jewish. Zatan is also Joh. 118, 2; 136, 7 as a Jewish name, but it is not, see Joh. II, a. a. O. "NO'y is from DNY (NDS) ,"shine" is formed according to the popular form qitlai. Karkūm is found as a name of a demon, see p. 143, 5.a) The text has , "stands", the only verb here in the present tense.

4) 227 stands there, which can not mean anything else. But one expects to "destroy" or, "prostrate"; maybe something similar has stood there.

b) The NENI, a priestly class, discussed above, p. 295, cannot be. Perhaps here is the word for "Wolf" (N2NT, older N2NI). In this, the zain could be preserved have, cf. Nöld., p. 43. The fact that the river name Zāb was translated by Aúkos shows that the word for "wolf" was similar.

Anger was against her,
and they shall come to an end on the great day of the end.
But my disciples were given security, who endured the persecution in Jerusalem.
I destroyed the house
those who were without goodness. —
And life is victorious.

Twelfth piece.

Life sends a uthra to the lower world, to the pious and faithful to assist as a helper and instructor. The play runs out into an abrupt, arguably different- an account of the fate of the soul, "the gentle Mānā", on earth and during their ascent.

[334] In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
At the top of the pure wreath'), which the great (life) sent,
it created a gentle uthra.
It created the gentle Uthra
and lifted him up to the Škīnā of the Great.
It spoke to the gentle, firm Uthra:
,,Gentle, firm Uthra!
Take strength in abundance
from the life enthroned in his Škīnā.
A crown equal to the pure crown
are you on our head").
Take rich shine with you and light without
end. Take a light in your right hand"), and two Uthras shall come with you.
Sit in a salvaging cloud with gentle, firm speeches').
Take away from the prayers,
which we do.
Take our enlightenment with you,
which is neither lacking nor lacking.

---

1) Sorry. has only N5:555 ,,As a pure wreath". The beginning seems to be under Bintlul to be disfigured by text Z. 6. The words N27 7N7NW7 should perhaps be deleted.

2) Well read. *) Sorry. got ND157ND wrong.

4) Read sorry. it looks like D במאלאלאי.

Go there in the gathering cloud,
and let the two Uthras come with you.
Go') to the men of proven justice, which lack and lie is not. Bring them the speech of life, which
is far and endless.
Go to the men of proven justice,
the true, believing men.
Let you hear the call of life,
so that they wake the sleeping ones*).
Give them hidden speeches,
by which they are to be instructed.
Teach them about the great life,
as he says in his book,
what life inspired the Nāşõra people with,
who are in the world.
So shall they clothe themselves with garments of splendor,
so that they will ascend on the paths after you.
Grant them speech and hearing,
that they may be delivered from the wrath of the wicked.
Grant them of mercy,
who gave up the great life to you in his skinā.
Grant them the wisdom of Ãther, so that they may rise up and approach the mighty with supplications.
Teach them about the beings of Light and the hidden škīnās, [335] in which they sit.
Teach them about the great life,
teach them about the Mānās who are there.
Teach them about the Ãtherkranz,
who is attached to the great life in his skīnā.
Teach them about the great life
and*) the Uthras who sit in mutual enlightenment. Teach them about the gentle Mānā
and the three Uthras*),
who captured him.
[They took] the Mānā [captive]
and brought him to the abode of sinners.

---

1) The imperatives fluctuate between singular and plural in the following, by sometimes referring to the "gentle Uthra" alone, sometimes to him and his two companions.

2) It is expected, in itself and according to the following verse, that the men themselves be awakened. But there is just as little a strict sequence of thoughts here as in the related pieces p. 323 ob. ") Read Ny by.

4) According to the following, it is expected that it will be the Seven. The three Uthras are maybe taken to p. 347, 34.

The Seven spoke of him:
,,He should be counted among us.
He should be counted among us
and stay with us in the world.
We want to keep him in the Tibil, so that he does not look at his Creator.
He does not look at the great vine the men who are standing here.
He does not look at the one whose glory
lohet, and what things his Škinā equates to.
He does not look at his parents
and do not flaunt in his garb.
He does not look at the big life, he does not look at the Mānās who are here."

The gentle Manā spoke and taught his whole tribe: ,I'm a lonely vine,
who stands in the world.
I do not have a high level of support, do not have a breadwinner,
do not have a gentle helper,
he will come and teach me about every thing."

When the great (life) heard the Manā,
created it and sent him a helper.
It covered him with rich luster
and with endless light.
In my right I brought a wreath, in my left I brought a robe*). In my heart I brought the sign, with the joy that the great gave me.
With the joy that the great gave me,
*******.
The Mānā departed from his body.
The seven did not notice,
after he was divorced from his body.
To the house of the Second the splendor of the Mānā did not disappear from the house;
then it completely darkened.
Then the seven realized it; now
they are all sitting there in mourning.

---

1) Well read.
2) See also Lit. , pp. 98, 8.

Everyone is sitting there in mourning,
and Rüha is sitting there in confusion.
The sun left its shine,
the moon [336] left its brightness.
Nbū left his book,
Libat threw her bilur away.
Kewan threw away his loin(s)
and cut off his neck from the neck').
Bel left his gun
and sprinkled dust on the head of Ruha.
The gods and rulers
rushed down and fell on her face.
They fell down, fell on their faces
and went to the great Suf Sea.

They wander around the Tibil,
they seek the Mānā and do not find it.
You go to your father,
they look for the man and do not find him.
The Mānā ascended to the house of the great (life).
When the gods saw him"),
they fell down and fell on their faces.
The mana spoke to life,
which is enthroned in its Škīnā:
,In what have I sinned against you, that I was sent to the abode of sinners?
They took me under their vintage*)
away from the big life in his Škīnā,
from the middle of the Mānās,
who come from the treasure of the mighty.

When the Great saw the mana,
about whom it had issued orders"),
it took him up with high gloss
and set him up in his Škinā.
It created him three uthras,
who should keep him company.

---

1) Or the neck from the neck; N7NW5 (Tišādu) like N7INS mean both. Sorry. hat and AS. The meaning of the words is that Kewen committed suicide. This seems to be alluding to a myth. Zimmern maintains a relationship (by letter) to Babylonian myths, but the question is too involved, as dali it would be discussed in a footnote.

2) Which he passed by at his Aufsticge.

") Uncertain, see above, p. 330, 34.

4) Probably incomplete.

You should keep him company
and enlighten his Škīnā.
It created him rich light,
which should illuminate his figure.
It gave him grace,
rich and big in the place of light.
It created him glow of brilliance,
who are to enlighten the Mānā in his Škīnā.
He bowed and praised the great life in his Škīnā. - Manda dHaije won the victory
and helped his friends to victory.

Thirteenth piece.

A brief account of creation. Ptahil is sent down by his father Abathur, to create the lower world and its creatures. He gets into the black water and he tries to compact an earth out of it, but he does not succeed. He shares the failure with his father. This one ascends to life, and at his request Hibil-Zīwā sends it ,to the stallion's side", from where he fetches compaction material. He gives it to Abathur, and this one gives it to Ptalil. He thus forms the world of the blessed, that of the Mšunnē-Kuštā, then the Tibil, but then also the world of darkness with Rūhā and the planets. He promises if they would do good (cf. pp. 105, 9), to use them as the folder of the world. He will therefore punished and put in shackles. Hibil is sent down to the world in To bring order. The piece shows touches with the third beech.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
When I was formed and created Ptahil, I arose from the source of great splendor. When my father conceived the plan and created me, he created me from the source of splendor. He clothed me with a robe of splendor and covered me with a shell of light. [337]
He bestowed on me a great crown,
through whose brilliance the worlds shine.
He spoke:
,,My son! Get up, go, go to earth Tibil and create a compaction in the black water.
Seal the earth Tibil
and divide the Jordan and channels into it.

Create') and form the physical Adam,
from which the elect shall arise.
From him shall the elect arise
and climb up and look at the place of light.
Go to Earth Tibil
and send out three shouts.
With the first call, the earth becomes denser;
with the second call, divide into her Jordans and channels;
with the third call, create the fish in the sea, the feathered birds [in the firmament and form all the herbs and seeds.
Form the herbs and seeds,
each of which is different from the other."

I break up and succeed to the limits of the earth Tibil. My eyes were full on the black water'). Up to my knees I was standing in the water,
and the water did not condense.
Up to the thighs") I stood in the water, and
the water did not condense. Until
the first mouth *) I stood in the water,
and the water did not condense.
Until the last mouth I stood in the water,
and the water did not condense.
I spoke the name of life and Manda dHaije about the
and the water did not condense. [Water,
Of the seven garments of splendor, light and glory,
which my father bestowed on me, I threw (some) on the water,
and the water did not condense.
The rod of speech and hearing") I hit the water,
and the water did not condense.

What should I do with the waters that consume each other"),
since you do not want to take the name of life?
What have I done against my father Abathur, that he guided me here and sent to the depth that is quite stinky, where no one can live,
the waters that consume each other,
who do not want to take the name of life?

---

1) Sorry. hat בונייה. °) He saw it as far as he could see, see also p. 101".
3) See p. 291. 4) The anus, see also p. 192, 18.
5) The staff that gave him the power to speak and to be heard.
") See p. 15".

I rose from the black water
and he came to me before Abathur.
[I went] before my father Abathur,
to tell him about [338] the secrets of this world.
When Abathur saw me,
he asked me out.
He spoke:
,What kind of things is the world that you created,
and how do you have your works in it in a perfect way [dressed up?"
Then I answered my father Abathur and spoke to him:
,,You sent me to the world that is all stink, where there is no light beam,
the waters that consume each other,
who do not want to take the name of life. Up to my knees I was standing in the water, and the water did not condense.
Up to the thighs I stood in the water, and
the water did not condense. Until
the first mouth I stood in the water,
and the water did not condense.
Until the last mouth I stood in the water,
and the water did not condense.
Of the seven garments of splendor, of light, and of the Lord-
[i threw (some) on the water,
and the water did not condense.
I struck the rod of speech and hearing on the water,
and the water did not condense."

When I spoke thus to my father
Abathur, he was praying and praising.
To prayer and praise he stood up,
he bowed and praised life to a great extent.
He ascended to life, to his father,
to tell him about the works of this world.
I cried') Hibil-Zīwā, and it sent him to the stallion's side"); from
him he took compaction.
Compaction he took from him,
and he came, gave them to Abathur. Abathur wrapped her in his pure turban, brought them to his son Ptahil and gave them to him").

---

1) It falsely stands for "it cried" (Abrp).

") See above, p. 227". *) See p. 109, 10ff., also below.

He spoke to him:
,,Go, compact the earth Tibil
and stretch out the firmament in a perfect way."
I rose from my father Abathur and reached the borders of the earth Tibil').
I threw the compaction that my father gave me on the water,
and the water condensed.

The first compaction measured 12000 miles,
and they made her wing [339] like a cloud.
Wings like a cloud you created her,
and she flies and circles around the world.
It is called Mšunnē-Kuštā,
in which the men are raised by tried and tested justice.
The men are raised by proven justice in it, and they rise up and look at the place of light.

The second compression measured 12000 miles,
which earth is called Tibil.
With my first call I sealed the earth and stretched the company- [in a perfect way.
With my second call, I divided the Jordan and channels in it. With my third call I created the fish in the sea and the- [feathered birds of every genus and species.
I created the fish in the sea
as food for Adam and all his sons.
They are also food for souls,
who live in the empty apartment").
With my fourth call [I created] all the herbs and seeds, each [one is different from the other.
By my fifth call, all evil worm arose. Through my sixth call, the whole formation of darkness came into being. Through my seventh call, Rüha and her seven sons came into being.
Rüha and her seven sons were born,
and they came, lined up in front of me.
When I saw her,
my heart fell off the support. I turned to the seven and spoke to them:
,Where did you come from, Seven,
where your name wasn't in my father's house?
Where did you come from, seven,
where I had no intention of creating you")?"a

---

1) Which was formed only later! 2) They are also allowed as food to the Mandeans.
3) Cf. p. 104, 23. Also for the following, cf. p. 104f.

When the Seven heard me,
they came together and buried themselves in each other.
When Ruha heard it,
she came and stood in front of him.
She spoke to him:
,We come to be your servants
and to obey you in every way.
My sons and my tribes,
we stand before you as slaves.
Set up your kingdom;
we want to stand behind you as your slaves."

To this Ptahil replied and spoke to them:
, When you do good deeds,
I will count you among my party and take care of you.
If you do not do good deeds, [340] will you be included in the place of origin, from When you do good deeds, [the one you came to.
will you be called my sons in this world
and arrange the works,
which my father used me for."

When Ptahil said this,
the house was taken away from him.
The house was taken from him, and they put him in heavy bonds. He was tied up with gangs, until the tibia passes. For he departed from the speech of his fathers he did not listen to the words of his fathers. He did what his father did not command him, therefore, he was put in heavy bonds.

A curtain fell down between him and his father Abathur¹).
They hear each other's voice, but can not look at her face. They took the house from him
and put him in heavy bonds.
They sent Hibil-Zīwā,
to prepare this world,
preparing the works,
the Ptahil had caused, but not carried out,

---

1) See p. 1946

To protect Adam and his wife Hawwā')
and to keep you company,
To protect Adam,
from which the elect should proceed.
From him shall the elect go forth,
act with wage donation and alms and the Volikommenheit Prayer and praise guard them, [gain.
lift up and set up in the house of perfection. -
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Fourteenth piece.

The emissary of the great life comes into the world to instruct the Jinger. Namrus tries to seduce and attract him, but he defies her.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
The disciples question the man,
who came from the great (life).
The disciples") speak to the Uthra,
whose glory they saw:
,Tell us, you son of the great (life),
how you came here from the Big one.
[From the Great] you came and went into this world."

And the Uthra answered them,
whose glory they saw.
He spoke:
From the Great One") I came here,
from the chosen one I went here.
The Great One desired me and sent me out; [341] I have come to instruct His own.

---

1) Their creation was not told before.

2) But probably here, also at the end of the piece instead of reading. Dak the disciples or priests are referred to as Uthras is unlikely.

a) You have to read here as before. Also N, sorry about that too. it is not right. -- N'2 with reference to life anch R 351, 21; 353,10. After that it is also R 78, 19 (above, p. 77, 11) not objectionable.

I went and taught
all sons of the good'),
those who had to endure and bear2). From him") this house was created and the works prepared in him. Heaven and earth was given strength by him4),
the sun and the Moon,
who shine through it,
the wind, the fire and the water,
the leaders of this world.
So the water poured out and the connection of this world was established").
This is how the wind was created and the planets got their course.
I went and taught them,
and the disciples were given the truth.
He shone in his enlightenment
and became powerful over all the worlds.
When the worlds saw him, they were terrified,
and the deity in it (the world) was frightened.
It speaks to him and speaks to him
Namrus, the mother of the world:
,,You fall down")
the lords of this world.
Be our head,
and we want to stand behind you."
To this he replied and spoke to Namrus, the mother of the world:
When I came here,
then he wanted the big one and sent me here.
The great One wished and sent me here,
and I came to teach His people.
To the elect I came here,
why should I wake the sleeping ones?
To the good guys I came here, why should I wake up the sinners?
For brightness I came here,
why should I accept turbidity?

---

1) The singular stands instead of the plural despite the relation on see above, p. 240°.

2) Read 583D. Here stands for X77 as often in the left part.

") Refers to life.

') Lies מן דילון.

4) With the upper world.

6) I think there is a word missing here.

To the gentle I came here,
I have no desire for the unruly. I came to wake up the vigilant'), who are worthy of the light abode."

When Namrus heard it,
she raised her voice and cried:
,,I told myself that the Uthra would not come, but then he revealed himself and came and cast down the lords of this world.
He came, instructed his disciples
and set up for them a way to the place of light.".

The disciples") rejoiced and praised
the Uthra, whose glory they beheld.
He taught [the disciples]
and established (with them) communion with the Place of Light
[342]. - 15 Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Fifteenth piece.

Hibil-Zīwā is sent by life to Jõšamīn to instruct and reassure him. From Jõšamīn Hibil goes to Abatlur and then to Ptahil. This one is rebelling. Hibil 20 tell it to Abathur, the Jõšamīn. Jõšamīn rushes to chastise Ptahil. However, the Ptahil is forgiven by life, and he is accepted into graces.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
As the chosen one, Pure hinging3):
Life created me out of its midst.
From his midst, life created me,
and from his gentleness it put something in my mind.
It clothed me with splendor,
it brought a lot of light and covered me with it.

---

1) A futility; it is supposed to be an antithesis to p. 354, 35.

2) See above, p. 3532.

") This half-verse is a quote. In the Paris manuscripts Cod. Sab. 15 and 25 this liturgical collection contains fol. 8b and 38a (resp. fol. 12a and 46a) a Kinzellied and fol. 24aff. (or fol. 29aff.) a group of songs that begin with the verse begin (Var. When the chosen one, Reine went to the place where the perfect sit."

It armed me with its coat of arms and spoke:
,Go, be a force to the second.
Teach him so that his heart may shine,
strengthen him so that his mind shines.
Enlighten him about the quiet mysteries,
who were before the recalcitrant mysteries.
Teach him about the candy,
where there is no bitterness.
Teach him about the sons of the tribe of life, who is older than the sons of the void dwelling.
Teach him about the great Jordan of life,
from which he gained victory').
Enlighten him about the great crown,
which is placed on the head of the Uthras. Teach him about the sons of the great tribe of life they stand, bow and praise."

I bow down and go, until I reach the house of Jošamīn. When Jošamīn saw me,
he jumped up from his throne
and he spoke to me, Hibil-Zīwā.
He spoke:
,,You are the Kuštā of the Great,
who went and came into the world. You went there, came into the world
and opened a gate to the world.
You opened a gate of the world and set up a path for the believers. You are the master of the Ganzibrās*), on which your splendor rests.

I") taught Jošamīn so that his heart would shine, i strengthened him so that his mind shines.
I taught him about the quiet mysteries,
who were before the recalcitrant mysteries. I taught him about the candy, where there is no bitterness.
I taught him about all the works of life, who are wondrous and strange about everything.

---

1) 2D) refers to Jōšamīn, not to life, see p. 357, 5.

2) Here, as usual, the chief priests, see also R 368, 24. but cf. also pp. 305, 5 and 1503.

") It is probably fnoron to read.

[343] I seized Jošamīn by the area of his right, and the question of the beings of light') I addressed to him. I spoke to him:
,I gave you power power of the high voice of life,
from which you received victory.
I gave you the power of Pihta, Kuštā and Mambūgā,
you head of the whole tribe.
At the first creation
which man arose?
Which man has arisen, and who was it that was lacking and missing2)?"

When Jošamīn heard this,
his heart dropped from the stitch.
He spoke:
,At the first creation
nothing defective and faulty has arisen.
In the second creation
nothing bad has arisen.
The third creation
splendor was increased over all uthras.
The fourth creation."
i was born Jošamīn.
It was with her that I was born Jošamīn,
and there was a lack and lack of me.«
Then I said to myself: 'How should I address Jošamīn now, that he is not say: Hibil-Zīwā is now proud of me-taken?" So I spoke to him:
,"You, our Father, your splendor is rich and luminous"),
for all the lights are set up for you.
You sit there and enlighten the whole tribe.
Good one, come and enlighten us with your rich splendor and with your endless light that I give you from the house of the great Brought life."

I'm going and I'm going,
until I reach the house of Abathur.
When Abathur saw me,
he jumped up from his throne.

---

1) How these ask each other.

2) Read ומאנו ד̄הואבה̄.

") So not at the first.

4) This piece contains a freer verse style, like the Lieder Lit., pp. 241 ff. See also there, p. XIV.

.He jumped up from his throne
and he spoke to me, Hibil-Zīwā.
He spoke:
,,Yes, did not come to me?
Yes, well, Hibil-Ziwā has come to me!
.The great life blessed you, and the custodians of Manā strengthened you." That's
.when I said to myself:
,,I want to address Abathur-Uthra,
so that he would sit quietly on his throne."
Then I spoke to him:
,,Kuštā keep you safe, Good,
and receive the Word in which you have spoken."

I'm going and I'm going,
until I reach the house [344] of Ptahil.
When Ptahil saw me,
he jumped up from his throne.
He jumped up from his throne
and he spoke to me, Hibil-Zīwā.
He spoke:
,'O you sprout who grew up in Äther'),
who created you, who commissioned you?"
To this I replied to him:
,The great life created me,
the great thing has strengthened me
here." I also spoke to Ptahil-Uthra:
Why is your prayer not up in the house of the great life-
and does your figure not shine in the place [drawn of light? Why hasn't the great life blessed you and gave you the treasure that will not be taken away?"
.To this he replied:
„Why should I step down, bow down and live the great life
when I don't know any thanks for it?u [rates,

When Ptahil spoke thus,
he whined about himself and cried.
He whined and cried over himself,
sat down and wrote a note to the planets.
Ptahil gathered the demons,
gathered the decrepit army.
He gathered the fallen army together,
and they are waiting to start a fight.

---

1) R 351, 19 is better, see also Lit... p. 220, 5.

When Hibil-Zīwa saw this,
he sat down and wrote a letter to Abathur.
Abathur went and went,
he and the four hundred thousand myriad Uthras who are with him, Abathur-Uthra sat down [came there.
and wrote a letter to Jošamīn, the king's son.
Jošamīn, the king's son, then went and went,
by holding the club of living water in his hand.
The club he held in his hand,
it was such that the demons see and frighten them.
He took the great sword,
by which the demons are killed.
Jošamīn, the King's son, went and went, until he came to Hibil-Zīwā.
,,Let me strike Ptahil with the great swords,
destroy him and fall from the throne.
I want to hit him with my club
and split his head.
I want to hit her with my big club and extinguish their blazing fire."

Whereupon Hibil-Zīwā spoke to him:
,Be calm, Jošamīn, you son of the King, for the great life has settled down in goodness [345]."

When the first life heard this, knew it to be a folly of Hibil-Zīwā. Thereupon it wrote a letter from the Kuštā
and sent him to the decrepit house.
Ptahil opened it and read it and saw that the first life had forgiven him.
He then yelled at the demons
and scattered the decrepit army.
He spoke to him: ,,Beware now, Hibil-Zīwā,
it is entirely your folly."
Thereupon Hibil-Zīwā and Abathur arose,
as well as Jošamīn and all uthras. They put Ptahil in his own Škīnā and spoke to him:
,,Pleasant is the fragrance of the mānā,
how your fragrance is pleasant, dear Manā.

---

4) N otherwise ,Faust" seems to be a weapon here, maybe a club with fist-like pommel. See Z. 17.

Pleasant is the splendor of the great life
and the illumination of the mighty life."
To which Ptahil replied')-Uthra
and spoke to her:
'How has the splendor risen over the courtyards of your face '), and how wondrous is your splendor! [Uthras, my brothers, Miraculous is the place where the Great Enthroned, his praise is unlimited." --
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Sixteenth piece.

Uthras go to Mandā dHaijē to go with him to Jōšamīn. They reproach him for letting Jōšamīn do his work. Mandā dHaijē ask Hibil-Zīwā to go to Jōšamīn. At the request of the King of Light 15 he finally went there himself. He succeeds in reconciling Jōšamīn, but not Ptahil. He calls again Hibil-Zīwā, who also achieves the reconciliation of Ptahil. From Ptahil he goes to Abathur and then to Jōšamīn. Peaceful greetings are held on both sides. Hibil then ascends again to the celestials and is addressed by them with receive. - In some places the King of Light is called, p. 370, 11 also the Lord of the Size 20, but he steps back in the piece as a whole.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. -
When the chosen one, Reine went: Life created me from the height.
The Uthras sought enlightenment in their sense; they are enlightened by the wisdom of the great (life).
They sit in their škinās
and guard the shining treasure.
They speak:
,,Come on, let's go, let's go to Mandā dHaije and speak to him of the works that are in him (in the treasure?) We want to enlighten him about the living teaching, [have.
through which the men of proven justice are enlightened
We want to talk to him about the gentle Mānās [be. and from the baptism of life, by which they were (newly) formed. We want to summon him to the King of Light, whose names the Uthras have not revealed.

---

1) Probably so instead of Hibil. 2) Siele Joh. II, p. 37" and above, p. 106, 4,

We want to summon him by the old myrtle,
the fragrant plant from which you wind the wreath.
[346] We want to talk to him:
Let's go to the edge of the house of Jošamīn and among the works that the deficient created.
We want to lighten it over the shimmer,
which he scatters at the feet of the mighty')."

When the great ones spoke like this,
the call to the house of the mighty (life) ascended").
The Jordan River
550,000 Uthras went to Manda dHaije.
From the white, pure earth of Ãther 444000 Uthras went to Manda dHaije. From below the throne of the King of the Uthras 660,000 Uthras went to Manda dHaije.
They spoke to him:
,Why did the King of Light create you
and made king in Ãther,
where you do not go to the house of Jošamīn
and does he not perform his works in a perfect manner?
Jošamīn should know, that the power of life is greater than its vain power. The Uthras of Light are more numerous as the sons of the decrepit fiend.
The cooperative of life is greater as the cooperative of the vanishing wicked. Now you have taken the brightness
and thrown at the feet of the mighty,
have taken the gentle mānās
and thrown into the void bodies,
did you take the fragrant flowers
and scatter them in heaps over the decrepit house").
The myrtle you sent in loads and he made them weak and weak. You sent the high jasmine
and do all evil to him.

---

1) As to the meaning of the ambiguous here, it should be noted that it is safe elsewhere ,Schein, Schimmer, Glanz", see Joh, II, p. 1853. Since it stands here parallel to NiPIn (Z. 27), it will also have this meaning here. Instead (also sorry, so) maybe דשאריא to read, because it is happening in parallel, but there are still doubts- detention is also the meaning of the expression N3, which can only be found at this point. Does he mean, on big feet, cocky"? For gender, see Nöld., pp. 157, 17.

2) Perhaps, the mighty one," i.e., the Uthras.

a) Cf. p. 116.

You sent Maru aštargān there
and do all evil to him.
You sent the narcissus, the myrtle and the maru, who came from the pure land of Tarwan. You sent the narcissus, the myrtle and the maru; now they practiced wrong things on them.
You sent the pure juniper,
whose fragrance from beneath the throne of the king of the Uthras [has come.
You sent the pure juniper,
and they were deficient and deficient in him [347]. They despised the fragrant flowers
of any kind and genus.
They despised the fragrant flowers
and do all evil to souls.
You took the treasure of life
and cast him into the void earth.
You took the speech of life
and threw them into the talk of transience.
You took the pure pearl
and you gave them to men made of flesh and blood. You were given dominion over the wisdom of the great (life) and about the voice that came from above. You have been given dominion over the works of light and about the speech of the light treasure.
And now that you have been given dominion over all works,
why is lack and lack practiced on them?
You took the call of life
and cast him into the void.
You took the speech of life
and threw them into the talk of transience.
You sent the prayers
and cast them into the void.
You took the pure pearl
and cast them among the perishable.
Now I have taken away the reputation of life,
so that the perishable do not receive power over him. Let the perishable have no power over him and no woman will step on it in menstruation."

When Manda dHaije heard this,
he jumped up from his throne.
He jumped up from his throne
and called Hibil-Zīwā.
He spoke to him:

,Jump up from your throne
and call Jošamīn.
Talk to him:
,,Take the pure pearl,
raise them up and raise them up in their place.
Men of proven justice should not know, that the power was taken away from the house in this way.
You should not receive any power
*, and the trunk of life should not be cut off from the world He [be.
(Jošamīn) speaks:
,Why should I have a body without a soul,
like a vessel that has no shine?
Why should I have flaunting vines,
where your fragrance is not pleasant?«

There came a voice from the high King of Light [348] and called to Manda dHaije.
He spoke to him:
,,Why should Jošamīn know,
that the call of life was taken away in this way?
Why should Hibil-Zīwā know,
that the treasure of life was hidden in this way?"

When Mandā dHaije heard this,
he jumped up from his throne.
He jumped up from his throne
and he put on sixty-one garments of splendor, of light, and [of glory.
He sought enlightenment in the wisdom of the Great,
in the treasure that life, his father, bestowed upon him.
He sought instruction in the wisdom of the Great and he went and came to Jošamīn.
He stood at the edge of the house of Jošamīn
and covered gloss over its shimmer').
'Over his shimmer') he covered,
and there was a shock in his house.
There was a shock in his house, and the planets fell on her face.
The earth shrank together,
and the firmament rolled like mats.
Under the throne of Abathur
black water appeared and filled up.

---

1) It is doubtful whether it has the same meaning here as p. 361,6. Sorry, Nn-.

When they[1] saw the splendor of Manda dHaije,
they fell down and fell on their faces.
The planets called with their voice
Ptahil and languages:
,Why should we guard the house,
where is the glimmer taken from us?" To this Ptahil-Uthra replied to the planet: ,Who took the glimmer from you,
where I have not seen its splendor,
i have not seen his form, the miraculous, alien to the worlds?"

When Ptahil spoke thus,
he fell down and fell on his face.
He spoke:
Since I'm sitting in the shackle,
they made Jošamīn the keeper of the house.
They appointed him over the works, which I lack and mis-practiced.
Abathur became the daredevil,
who brings out the bright from the dull."

When Ptahil spoke thus,
Jošamīn rose from his throne.
From his throne, Jošamīn stood up and
he called forth sixty-one fetters around Ptahil.
Ptahil was angry in the shackle
and called [349] his father Abathur.
He spoke:
" What did Jošamīn want from me,
that he created the shackles around me?
Where Manda dHaije let go of fear
in this world,
what do you want from me,
that you have caused me to fall from my throne?
You have brought me down from my throne
and my heart fell down from the support."

When Ptahil spoke thus,
his voice went up to the house of the mighty.
The Great stood up from his throne"[°]
and spoke to Mandā dHaijē:

---

[1] The planets.

[°] For ,Throne*, the plural LANDING-ND stands with relation to (N"7), as we find it regularly at.

,Why did you actually grow up in your splendor within this world? You let go of fear against the Seven and warfest confusion among the Uthras.
Where you now stand out with your brilliance
Jošamīn, put your rights in his rights
and summon him by the wreath of the mighty.
Summon him by the one great name, where the King of Light has summoned you.
By him Hibil-Ziwā swore
and then descended to the place of darkness.
He built the works,
that's why I sent him into this world'). Tell him3): It should not be that the Sun (does not) know"),
how she wears the glow of splendor.
It should not be that the moon knows,
that I have placed the sign on its brightness.
It should not be that Ptahil knows,
how the soul falls,
how the soul falls into the body
and how the blood speaks in him*)."
It said"): ,Jošamīn, my son, ...") Ptahil and let him hear
and support his heart on his support.
Release his shackles,
so that there is no lack and error in his sense."

When Jošamīn heard this,
he bowed down and praised the mighty life.
He praised the great life,
went and untied the fetter of Ptahil.
He loosened the fetter of Ptahil
and spoke to Ptahil.
He spoke to him:

---

1) The interpretation of this verse is uncertain to me. Dal it a salutation and prinE Being an imperative is unlikely. The relative in refers to היביל זיוא.

2) The Jōšamin.

3) In the following, x5 is missing at x7N5, and this is indicated by the parallel passage Text 1.02, gestiitzt, therefore, is probably to be deleted here as well.

4) See also p. 109 unt.

5) According to the following, this must be an address of life to Jōšamīn. Here it should not be regarded as an imperative.

°) The distorted and sometimes misunderstood 871 73 (see Lit., p. 136") not here before. N71) seems to me to contain an imperative with a suffix, that is, 77. but neither 7noch 77bzw. 7er 7eten a suitable sense.

'We believed in you'),
Good; we watched your shine and will not forget you.
Every day and even just an hour
we will not let you out of our heart.
For our heart shall not go blind
and our soul") will not be included in this world."

When Ptahil heard this,
his heart [350] was supported on his support.
He replied in a clear voice
and spoke to Jošamīn:
,Where Manda dHaije let go of fear
in this world,
what did you want from me,
that you left the shackles around me)pu

When Ptahil spoke thus,
did Mandā dHaije know,
that there are shortcomings between Ptahil and Jošamīn- [forms hat.
He called Hibil-Zīwā,
armed him and sent him out into the ages.
He spoke to him:
,,Go, preach to Jošamīn and let him hear
and support the heart of Ptahil on his support."

I'm going and I'm going,
until I get to the house of Jošamīn.
When I arrived at the house of Jošamīn,
I spoke to Jošamīn:
Why have you not been guided by the wisdom of the great (life)
why did you leave the shackle around Ptahil?" [let them teach;
When Jošamīn heard this,
he realized that I had uncovered the Gé secret that he had hidden in himself [habe4).
I'm going and I'm going,
until I get to the house of Ptahil.
When Ptahil saw me,
he jumped up from his throne.
He jumped up from his throne
and Hibil-Zīwā addressed me.

---

1) In the following salutation, the text fluctuates between the 1st sing. and 1. pl. You i think they have the 1st pl everywhere. to manufacture. The verses are a quotation, see p. 60.

2) Sorry. has ntrens, see also p. 603.

3) Sorry. hPNEW has continued as before.

') hardly contains the 3rd pers.: dak he has uncovered.

He spoke:
,Come, come the shine
and went up in the house.
In the house he went up'),
and the whole house was illuminated.
The house lit up,
it lit up in its corners.
The Naşora people who heard the voice of life,
rejoiced and talked:
How sweet is this voice of life,
who came here by calling us from the place of Light [be."
When I heard this from him,
i blessed him with the great blessing,
with which the dear Mānās blessed.
I spoke to him:
,,Behave calmly and quietly, Ptahil, with your mystery
within this world.
Now keep your name in your Škinā
and call him out loud only to the shining treasures").
I want to teach them about every thing"). I want to teach the men of proven justice, the men who are made of flesh and blood. I want to teach you about every thing. I want to teach the disciples,
who commemorate the speech of life:
,When [351] wickedness oppresses you
and anger (against you) will be released,
so beware of swearing and falling
and to overthrow the Mānā from his throne.
Beware of cursing Ptahil-Uthra, because when he asked for a share of life, he did not It did not grant him a share in the house, [hereby granted.
did not grant him dominion over any thing. About anyone who escapes Ptahil-Uthra,
there will be great anger.
About anyone who brings him down from his throne,
the verdict will be made."

---

1) after suffering.

2) The reproduction of the half-verse is uncertain. It sets the reading p5rp instead קארילון ahead; the words may be otherwise disfigured. With the 'treasures' are higher Meaning of the essence, cf. Niy.

3) The verse is probably erroneously placed here from the following. He refers to hardly start the "guess".

I bound and guarded his works and neither lacked nor failed in them. I put the heart of Ptahil on his support, so that his sense is neither lacking nor lacking.

I'm going and I'm going,
until I come to the house of Abathur.
When Abathur saw my glory,
he jumped up from his throne.
He jumped up from his throne
and Hibil-Zīwā addressed me.
He spoke:
Where did life get this voice,
the one that's so sweet, the one that's so lovely?
The Uthras of the Light speak to her."

I'm going and I'm going,
until I get to the house of Jošamīn.
When Jošamīn saw my brilliance,
he jumped up from his throne.
He jumped up from his throne,
sought instruction in the wisdom of the great (life) and in the enlightenment that life gave him. He took') fragrant flowers, dipped them in water from the Jordan
and went to meet me.
He took the fragrant flowers, put a wreath of the most perfect kind on me and he spoke to me, Hibil-Zīwā.
He spoke:
, O you sprout who have sprouted up in the Ãtler,
who created you, who strengthened you")?

So I speak to him:
,,The great life created me,
the chosen one strengthened me here.
To the right of Manda dHaije
did it establish a throne for Jošamīn
at the mouth of the Fraš-Zīwā").
Manda dHaije has set up this world,
he raised up living water in her, which is extended and unlimited.

---

1) Again, as continues, pound) can be read here, as well as powNON.
°) See above, p. 358, 21. ") Of the Euphrates, see Joh. II, pp. 452; 245.

It is not deficient- nor faulty,
in him there is neither [352] lack nor lack." I delivered a speech in a perfect manner
and spoke:
,,I make a request to the great life,
i beg you, mighty life,
i make a request to the great life:
direct your praise to me').
Teach me about the great,
so that I may support the heart of Jošamīn on his support.
Jošamīn do not say:
Hibil-Zivä has risen above me."

When the great life heard this,
it sent me strength in abundance.
It spoke:
,Go, preach to Jošamīn and let him hear
and support his heart on his support.
Jošamīn do not say:
Hibil-Ziwā has risen above me."

When I heard this from life, my father,
I got the authority to say how it was.
I spoke with my pure voice
and addressed Jošamīn.
I spoke to him:
,The mountains of glory blessed you,
and the heights of light strengthened you.
The earth of Light blessed you, the light abode strengthened you:
the most skillful among the Uthras, his brothers,
the folder of all light worlds."

This is how I addressed Jõšamīn,
then I left and went to my father2).
When Mandā dHaije saw my brilliance,
he called to the Uthras.
He spoke to me in an excellent way
and spoke:
,The Coming of Hibil-Uthras
is like the sitils who goes to the house of his friends.

---

2) See Lit., p. 189, XIX.

2) i.e. for life, see further, p. 370, 14. But perhaps "MEN here in the To grasp the meaning of "my guardians", i.e.: I went back to my homeland.

When the disciples heard the voice
the Anoš, the great Uthra,
did they bow down to the mighty life and glorified the great life beyond measure").«
The Uthras rose from their throne, baptized
me with their baptism and strengthened me with their miracles-Šitil-Uthra approached [seed Voice.
and he spoke to me, Hibil-Zīwā.
He spoke:
,Let your robe shine and let your form be highly honored by your Father, the Lord of greatness."
He made me a pure wreath,
who keeps me from everything
ugly. It (life) made me take a seat in his Škinā, [353] where it had been itself before.
He (Šitil) enlightened me through the voice of life
and pronounced my name at the place
of light. - Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Seventeenth piece.

Life sends Mandā dHaijē down to the world in order , the sons of salvation," according to p. 375, 10 to free the angels who have descended to earth from the lack that attaches itself to themheft. Rühä and her circle try in vain to keep him away. To bring their sons before him [1] to protect her, she tries to hide her in the earth, then in the sea, then in the mountain; finally, she hides them in the cisterns of the firmament. Mandā dHaijē gets them too down from there. He reproaches them for the seduction they have in the world practice, and reclaim his robe from them. He curses her for telling her father They should be the same. The play ends in a polemic against asceticism.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. - -
I was planted and came
in this world.
Life desired me and planted me (to go) to this world").

?) See Lit., p. 205, XXXVII.
2) See also p. 273, 14.

It spoke:
,On, on, Good,
descend to the (present) generation,
go to your brothers, the sons of salvation,
those who are deficient (1).
There was a shortage of them,
there was a lack and a failure attached to them.
Lack and failure clung to her,
and shock arose in the world." Manda dHaije then speaks to him:
,,The chosen one (life), who has chosen himself! Give me a club of shine, so that I destroy the house and its builders; that I put down the lack
2) and lead him up to the place of light victoriously."

When Manda dHaije spoke like this,
his voice descended to all worlds.
The angels who built the house weep, and the inhabitants who are in it"), frighten. The residents beat themselves and howl and weep like women.
Ruha dQudša stands up,
she leaves and goes there, like a parturient.
The sons of angels strike in the hand and they are complaining') about their father. They cry for the head of the ages"), who resembles
them. The sons speak to evil,
to the corrupter who did not look at life:
,Woe, you are afraid and afraid of him,
the one you sent here. How do you want us, who you created us, protect from him ")pu
They also spoke:
,, *  the stranger,
whom life has sent in its wrath.

---

2) here probably has the meaning ,with", and the sense is not from which lack create".

°) It is difficult to see the lack; one has considered oneself as an object, for example, the tribe of souls* think.

") Here you may have to read 735.

4) I suspect NDDND), or NTDDND), instead of NaDDND).

*) This is as much as the Lord of this world here, i.e. evil, see also, p.375, 5.

°) Read patnaanxDD? see pp. 372, 35ff.

Now the house is destroyed,
and his sons') are dissolved and fall down.
The treasure house is distributed,
and you condemn us to stay in this world."

Then the evil one spoke to his sons,
the treasurers of the worthless house:
,, Go away and disappear from me,
you dead who did not watch your life").
[354] When you are demons,
lives in the wastelands.
If you are Dews,
hide yourselves and do not let yourselves be seen.
When you are angels of wonderful powers,
take the gun and go to meet him.
Don't let the stranger
go into this world."

The sons responded to the evil, the destroyer who did not see life: ,,You whom they have clothed with their splendor, are you not up to the power of the strange man;
how shall we who possess no strength,
start a fight with him?"

How the bad guys sit there and think,
he heard the voice of the eaters of splendor'). He banged against her firmament
and split a gap in it.
He split a gap
and pushed a path into their firmament.
The cisterns of the firmament melted
and fell down from the firmament as rain.
Rüha took her sons in her bosom
and walks around from one place to another:
,,I want to hide you here and let the killers escape. In the earth I want to hide you,
but the splendor of Manda dHaije rests there."

---

1) Well, "your sons".

*) Read N2.

") Siche Joh. II, p. 1660.

4) is hardly okay; suffering is no better. reading is replaced by the otherwise common Np15 in which N5DN means "club" (see Joh. II, p. 1667), affected.

He struck a cleft in the earth of the wicked there,
and she drove out everything that was inside her.

Ruha took her sons in her bosom
and walks around from one place to another: ,My sons, I want to hide you
here and let the killers escape.
In the sea I will hide you,
but the light of Manda dHaije rests there.
That's where Manda dHaije will kill you and sink into the great Suf Sea."

Ruha took her in the bosom
and walks around from one place to
another: ,My sons, I want to hide you here and let the killers escape. I will hide you in the mountain,
but the power of Manda dHaije rests there."
Then Ruha took her sons
and hid them in the cisterns of the firmament.

How the bad guys sit there and think,
the strange man came flying up.
The strange man came flying up,
the messenger whom life sent.
He struck a crack in the earth of the wicked,
and everything [355] that was inside her drove and threw her out.
The cisterns of the firmament turned'),
and the sons of Rüha fell down like a thunderbolt.
Like a flash, the sons of Ruha fell down and fell into the hands of her murderer.
Ruha swears and lies,
that they will not turn his sons (of Manda dHaije) into slaves- have power*).
Manda dHaije knew,
that Rūhā swore uud lied.
Manda dHaije spoke
to the wicked and liars who dwell in the world:
"Where did you come from,
that you live in this world?
By whose authority were you created,
who are you turning generations and worlds away?"

') I guess -Dnwy ,poured out". Sorry. has pDNy.

*) Sorry. there is no point in what if you does not read: 'that I did not take the sons of Mandā dHaijē by the arm."

To which the evil Manda dHaije replied,
the messenger of all lights.
,,Living at deinėm, Mandā dHaije, we don't know where we are from').
Our place is the place of darkness,
where there is no light.
Our place is the place of turmoil,
where there is no rest.
Our place is the place of confusion,
where there is no order.
Our place is the place of evil,
where there are no good ones."

Then Manda dHaije spoke
to the wicked and liars who dwell in the world:
,,You bad guys and liars! All (things) I want to let go,
only I will not let go of my robe.
I will not let go of my robe,
which was brought and thrown among you." So they took off their clothes and let it go,
rushed down and fell on her face.
[1] Now they are the same ...),
who do not come out of darkness to the light.
They are like the monks,
whose hair falls down to their knees.
Your hair falls down on your knees,
and they do not come up from the field to the city.
They are like the heretics of deception,
who sit on pillars of the support").
They sit on pillars of the support
and cut off their seed from the world.
They are like the fasters,
whose mouth is imposed fasting.

Manda dHaije spoke to the wicked and liars,
who live in the world:
,,Go, be like your forefather,
he is killed in the darkness").
Killed, he lies there in the darkness,
[356] and darkness comes and presses on him.

---

1) Sorry. has pa nont prntynts.
2) Siele Nöld., p. 1394, where I, 355, 16 is to be read. Sorry. has Nmtet.
a) Here we are referring to some Christian pillar saints, who are hardly NPINI ge- can be named, cf. p. 229. I would rather assume, anchorites".
4) This is Ur, see above, p. 176, 5.

Go, be like the king of darkness,
who raised the gun against Manda dHaije.
He raised the gun against Manda dHaije,
but Manda dHaije overcame him and threw him into the darkness.

Go, be like the head of the ages,
on which  the head rested')
and the anvil of the earth immediately pressed on his side.

Go, be like the Lord, the giant, which reaches from the earth to the sky.
The sons of Salvation stood up against him in rank and file,
10 the angels who don't take bribes.
They killed him with sword and iron,
because he caused all his admirers to apostatize.
All his admirers he brought to waste and
he imposed fasting on her mouth.
He imposed fasting on her mouth,
so that his name does not disappear from among them").
He imposed on them the fasting of the seventh in the month,
when he was killed at the beginning of the fighting.
He imposed on them the fast of the Fourteenth,
when Manda dHaije consulted and came against him. He imposed on them the fast of the twenty-eighth, when her hero fell down killed.
He imposed on them the fast of silence,
when his spirit left his body. He imposed on them the fast of the Fifteenth,
when they eat the bread of shame."

Manda dHaije calls with a noble voice and let his wondrous call be heard: ,,Some heard and became believers and held fast to the treasure") and to the speech. He held on to the treasure and to the speech, so he climbed up and looked at the place of light. The wicked who wrapped themselves up and lay down,
still sitting there fasting
and do not look at the place of light.
The Fasters and Fasterinnen
they will fall into the fires of fire." —
And life is victorious.

---

1) The last words are disfigured. Also sorry for the reading. דרישה סמיך דדארא Fby is not right. 2) A mythical figure. One thinks of Ur, but it is from talk to him before. See also p. 229, 7f., where Christ is meant. ")
Probably also here the holy book, see above, p. 3234.

Eighteenth piece.

Admonition. The stick also stands Joh. 170.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. –
- A noble voice of life calls,
a noble voice of mighty life.
A noble voice of life calls: Let everyone take care of themselves. Hail to the one who takes care of himself, and his heart [357] is a builder to him.
Save the Truthful;
they climb up and look at the place of light.
Woe to the counselor,
who has not given himself any advice.
Woe to the road builder,
who has not paved the way for himself.
He has not paved the way for himself, if he walks on it, shall he not slip ')?
Woe to the builder,
who has not built a building in front of him.
Woe to you, displeasure,
that the wicked will not be satisfied with this world. Woe to the wide belly, no matter how much he eats, he doesn't get full.
Woe of the double tongue,
which makes two different judgments on the same case.
Woe to the learners,
they are taught without wanting to learn.
Woe to the simple-minded fools,
who are stuck in their foolishness.
Woe to the wise,
who has not taught his wisdom.
Woe to the rulers,
who rule over the abandoned
and do not do beautiful works;
they fall into the blazing fire.
They stoke the coals with their hands,
with your lips you are fanning the fire").
Woe to the evil
heart, evil dominates.

---

1) Better 73 Joh. as 737. At this reading it would mean ,so that he, when he walks on it, does not slip out". ") See p. 19".

Wickedness dominates it,
therefore, it will end with the end of the world.
It will end with the end of the world and
do not look at the place of light.
Hail to the one who has done good;
woe to him who has done evil.
Hail to the one who does
good, Woe, woe calls the one who does evil.
Woe to him who had
and he did not do any good from his goodness.
He committed sins for himself and heaped insults in front of him.
Hail to the man who had and has done good by his good'). He has prepared a reward for himself,
his works go before him.
His works go before him
and form a support before him on the way.
May your hands practice righteousness and keep your heart firm in faith.
Let this be your food,
be the breadwinner on your way.
Let this be your food,
and climb up, look at the place of light.

Life is victorious, and victorious is Manda dHaije and his 25th Love names.

Nineteenth piece.

Also Joh. 173. A wonderful song of the descent of the soul.

[358] In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
From the place of light I emerged,
out of you, lights of residence.
From the place of light I emerged,
and a Uthra from the house of Life gave me guidance.
The Uthra who led me out of the house of the great life,
held a stick of living water in his hand.

---

2) The last two verses are in the Ginzā.

The staff he held in his hand,
was full of leaves of an exquisite kind.
He handed me his foliage,
of these, prayer orders and prayers became full. Again he handed it to me, that's when my sick heart found recovery.
Recovery found my sick heart, and my (world)strange soul found relief. For the third time he handed it to me,
then he raised his eyes in my head.
He raised his eyes in my head,
that I saw my father and recognized him. I saw my father and recognized him and made three requests to him.
I asked him for gentleness,
where there is no rebellion.
I asked him for a strong heart,
with which large and small can be carried.
I asked him to pave the way,
to climb up and look at the place of light. Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Twentieth piece.

A brief overview of creation. Then a reminder to the believers, their 25 of otherworldly origin.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
Who' wants to come, who will tell me'),
who wants to tell me who will teach me,
who wants to come, who will tell me,
who was on the light earth?
Who was on the light earth,
who is older than who,
and who was in front of whom?

Life knows it well),
life knows it and needs [not] to ask,

---

1) See Lit., p. 204. a) See also above, p. 73, 1.

life probably knows,
that life was on the light earth.
On the light earth was life, and from life the water arose. Water arose from life, and from the water the shine arose: From the splendor [359] the light arose, and from the light the Uthras arose.
From the light arose the Uthras,
who stand there and praise life.

The good in his rich power,
in the splendor that life bestowed on him'), teach and teach the perfect
within this world").
He speaks:
,,The man who brought me here,
will tell me what he brought me here for.
The house I live in,
will tell me who built it.
The seven who dwell in it,
they'll tell me where they came from."

I tell you and I explain,
for anyone who is truthful and believing within himself:
You weren't from here,
and your root was not of the world.
The house where you lived,
this house did not build life.
The seven who dwell in it,
do not ascend to the earth of Light.
You, adores and prizes
the place you came from.
Praise the man of proven justice, who has raised up the speech in your mouth. You, kick low) and overturn the seven and throw shame on the world4). -
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) Read עהאבלה.
2) Read pi8n7 instead of Fagy7. This is influenced by Fagy's text Z. 7.
#) Sorry. has 2135.
4) Sorry. it's like D.

* * *

Sixteenth book.

The first piece of this book corresponds in content to the pieces of the fifteenth book, especially the second piece, close and should actually be inserted into this book. It short hymns and prayers follow, as they are also in the Book of John and in the Qolastā, which are in part of unusual beauty.

First piece.

The son of the great Nbat, the keeper of the land of Tarwān, is armed and instructed and goes to the earth of the Second, where he, in turn, acts admonishing and instructing. Rühä and the Seven conspire to seduce the believers and lead them to apostasy. Nbat, the son of Jōhānā, -- the author has forgotten that he was previously informed by his son sprach --- goes to the guardhouse of the Rūhā and powerfully confronts the evil ones. Rühā seeks to establish a conversation with him; strengthened by the appearance of a Helpers - after the following Hibil-Zīwā - he finishes them briefly. She then speaks, in not fitting their mouths, curses against the unfromm Mandaeans. helper chastise them, Nbat will be received among the celestials.

I am the guardian of the pure Tarwen,
the son of the great Nbat.
I am the son of the great Nbat,
I came from the two pure mountains.
They clothed me with pure garments,
which were created from the 360 upper Jordanes of the Lichterde. My form is the form of Jāwar-Zīwā, which was created from the hidden places.
The cloud they created for me,
did not come out of the darkness.
She did not come out of the darkness,
there was no lack or lack of
it. There was no lack of it, who came from the house of the second.

---

1) i.e. his wife, see p. 29011.

They created me, strengthened me and armed me, they gave me instructions and created helpers for me.
They created messengers for me'),
Uthras who are full of insight.
They gave me dominion over the pure Tarwān
and all the secret speech that is in it.
They spoke to me and taught me about the pure Tarwān,
which originated from the earth of Jošamīn.
They taught me about the earth of the Äther and about the expensive king of Ãthër, who was created out of him")
They taught me about the Ãther's earth, [be.
which existed before the earth of pure Tarwen.
They taught me about the earth of the great Nşab and over the pure place of glorious splendor"), which came out of the Jordan River about the Škinās in which he (Nşab) settled, [was created, and about the Uthras who are sitting there in a light robe.
They taught me about the mighty mysteries of light, which rest beneath the throne of the King of the earth of Ãthër.
They armed me with a coat of arms,
so that the rebels do not sin against me. I came to the world that created the Second'), it is based on the lack and error. I sent out the call of life, and planted the planting of the great (life).
The planting of the great I planted and chose the chosen ones.
I chose every single one of them, [361] brightened them up") and enlightened them about the good.
I made her eyes light about") the place where the Great enthroned. I taught them through hidden hymns and prayer orders about prayer and praise that have come to us. I built them into the construction of life and brought them into the community of life. I enlightened her with an enlightenment,
an enlightenment, wondrous and endless.
I enlightened her with an enlightenment and showed them an image that came from the hidden place.

---

1) See Lit., p. 17°.

2) Or: from her, the earth. In any case, it is worth reading.

") See p. 3011.

4) I suspect instead of NP585. [So also sorry.].

8) here is a Mikhildung of p2, perhaps under the action of text Z. 3.
see also text 367, 20. ") Probably by reading.

When the elect saw it,
he healed her sick heart.
I called with a noble voice
and made the worthless fiends get up.
I called with a noble voice
and won me an appendix of the most excellent kind.
I called with a noble voice,
which roused the sleeping ones and made them get up.
****
 the truth of the faith was revealed to them.
She set up  in the house,
and they beat each other with their sides2).
With their sides against each other they beat,
armed themselves and stood up in the world. With their sides they beat each other and did nothing of the works of the Seven.
Of the works of the Seven they did nothing,
and their figure was not degraded.

When Rūhā saw her,
hit her head with her hands.
She hits her head with her hands and the curls on the head are pulling out").
Rest in malice
calling for their firstborn sons:
,Come, come, my first-born sons,
listen to what I tell you.
Some of you are supposed to put slings*), some of you knit").
We want to let go of lust and fire
in this world.
We want to stir up wickedness among them
and fire and ...) let go.
We want to create weapons,
and Christ is to make the whole world stumble.

---

1) It is uncertain whether this is the meaning of N7X7W here and whether one is about ,,the men true faith". The next sense of is "firmness".

2) The meaning of these words is unclear to me. Did you bump into each other when you got up?

#) See p. 87 ob.

4) Read with BCD The word x5y for slings can only be found at this point, it is good Aramaic.

8) See p. 104". The manuscripts here fluctuate between N and (also Sorry. has N37"D). N37"D means "passion, fornication", of which the plural fits badly here.

6) is niclt okay here; like, "Quülerei"?

We want to grab the tribe of souls
and split it into separate parts.
We want to call the disciples with a noble
voice and grant them of our teaching.
From our teaching we want to grant you and spread our works over them. We want to throw lust and chains into the world, inhibiting the call of life
and disappear from the world.
We want to eradicate the sign of life [362] and the baptism with which they were baptized in the Jordan. We want to raise up baptism') of shame and that of the vain Christ.
We want to eliminate Pihtā, Kuštā and Mambūhā
and establish the sacrament in the world.
We want to pack the whole Tibil
and plunge into the blazing fire.
We want to pursue the sons of the great tribe of life,
who rise above us.
All Naşöreans should be made our adherents; we want to give you the kannā of almsgiving in an excellent way Those who blame us, [place").
we will bring persecution to the world."

How the Seven stand and make plans, Nbat, son of Johanā, left his body. The chosen one left his body and strode hurriedly through the ather.
The Uthra strode hastily thither,
until he came to the guardhouse of the Ruha.
When Rüha saw him,
the throne bowed down under
her. When the guards saw him,
the scourge fell out of their hands.
The scourge fell out of the hands of the watchmen,
the bell ringers") the bell fell down.
The sorceries of the Rūhā were bound,
and their works dispersed into different parts.

---

2) Read NotionD5. There the word stands for the Mandaean, here the for the christian baptism.

") Read sorry. has pxteriy. The sentence fits badly on the whole.

a) See also Lit., p. 164, 4. The idea of the hunchbacks is probably familiar to the military Taken from guard duty. They may have had their place in the wall towers and should sound the alarm in case of imminent danger. Zimmern writes to me that she is in the bahy- there is no evidence of Lonic literature.

Rūhā dQudšā spoke
and turned to the man of proven justice'):
,,How did you get here from the Tibil,
and where is your gait directed?
Who was a guardian to you,
who took you out of the world?
Who do you trust,
and who was a savior to you?
Where did you live in the house, and where was your Šking founded in the world, that you have not practiced any of our works
and you didn't submit to us?
How did you escape our snares,
how did our fornication arise")?
How did you spring from our greed and ardor,
how did our blazing fire originate? Who freed you from the darkness and brought you out,
the ones we let into the world?
Who was a Lord to you,
who will help you?
Where is your pure helper,
the man who was a nurse to you?"

How Ruha stands there and speaks like this,
[363] the helper came flying up.
The pure helper came,
who shouted in a loud voice and made me hear.
He screamed in a loud voice and let me hear and let my heart rest on his support. It turned to him and spoke") Namrus,
the mother of the world:
Who was your creator now,
and how will you ascend to the light?"
I replied to her: ,I was created from the light, and after the worlds of light my course is directed."

Then she screamed in a loud voice and shrieked,
and the scourge fell out of her hand.
She called:
,Except you, Uthra,
let no one ascend to the light.

---

[1]) Lies לבהיר זידקא דתימארלה.
2) Here all manuscripts have see p. 3826.
") Read About.

Let no one rise from this world to the light, do not let them climb up and look at the place of light.
Do not let the Naşoreans ascend,
who wear an inverted robe.
Do not let the Nazarenes ascend,
who give a testimony for money and good.
To get money and good, they give a testimony
and do not remember the name of Jawars.
Do not remember the name Jāwars
and give neither reward nor alms.
They do not give any reward or alms
and do not heal their (the suffering) blows.
Don't cure your strokes,
but give up (their possessions) for fornication, adultery, corruption They give them up for corruption and fornication, [and fornication.
so they will be beaten with seven blows.
With seven strokes you will be beaten
and fall into the guardhouses of the seven stars.
All souls who do evil,
will become thin, like a hair on the head.
Who denies the name of life,
will die a second death.
He will die a second death,
and his form will become dark and not light up."

When Rūhā spoke thus,
the glory of the pure helper went up.
The pure helper's shine went on,
and Rüha fell down from her throne.
From her throne Ruha fell down,
and he threw her down, struck her with the club of splendor.
He threw her down, beat her with the club of splendor,
he threw Rüha into her own snares.
Ruha [364] he threw into their own snares,
and she turned her face to the great Suf Sea.
[After the great Suf Sea] she set her face
and the speech was not powerful.

He seized me with seven secret words,
he lifted me up and set me up in front of my father.
He baptized me with his baptism
and strengthened me by his Word.
By his word he strengthened me
and drew me with the pure sign.

He clothed me with a robe of splendor,
wondrous and endless.
He put a pure wreath on me,
whose leaves shine.
He covered me with a turban,
which was created from the earth of Ãther.
From the earth of Ãther he was created and shines to a great extent more than the shine of the sun. They let me take a seat in their secret škīnās, which were founded by my father Johanā[1],
when he left the world.
I saw the figure of the great (life), which is miraculous and outstanding in Ãther.
i looked at the big light,
looked at the expensive lamp.
I watched Hibil-Zīwā,
the man who saved me from the world, he was saved from the ugly. He redeemed me from the guardhouses, who created the Seven in this world.
He showed me the figure of the great (life) and taught me about the miraculous vine.
He taught me about Sar, the great vine, the life in the škīnā of the great Jūrā, the treasurer, He created a world of light for me [use.
and founded a škīnā like his for me.
He spoke:
,,All the souls that depart from here
and are worthy and worthy of the place of light,
all the souls that depart,
should find a place in your škīnā."
... And life is victorious.

Second piece.

Admonitions of a Uthra to Adam. The first part of the piece (until p. 387, 36) is also Joh. 245f.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light.

---

[1] Or, "for my father Jõhānā"?

A Uthra calls from outside and teach Adam, the man.
Ev speaks to Adam:
'Do not slumber') and do not sleep and do not forget what your Lord has commanded
you. Do not be a son of the (earthly) house and do not be called a transgressor in the Tibil [365].
Love non-fragrant wreaths
and do not take a liking to a lovely woman.
Love does not smell good
and do not neglect the prayer of the night.
Love is not a deceptive shadow,
not having intercourse with lovely women.
Don't love the lust,
still lying shadows.
Do not drink and do not be inordinate and do not forget your Lord from the mind. Upon your entry and your exit') see that you do not forget your Lord.
When you go and when you come
see that you do not forget your Lord.
In your sitting and your standing
see that you do not forget your Lord.
When you rest and when you lie down see that you do not forget your Lord.
Don't say I'm a firstborn son,
that I, whatever I may do, remain without folly.
Adam, look at the world,
which is quite a thing without being there).
A thing without a being, she is,
in which you must not have confidence.
The carriage is sitting upright,
and out of a thousand, she chooses one.
She chooses one out of a thousand,
and she chooses two out of ten thousand.
The fragrant wreaths pass,
and women's beauty becomes as if she had never been there.
The smells are passing away,
and the lust of the night stops*).

') See Joh. II, p. 225 and Nöldeke, Zeitschr. for Assyriology XXX (1916), p. 139.
°) See also above, p. 19, 19; 36, 33; 182, 20 and Deut. 6,7; 11, 19.
") The expression anch R. 300, 11; L 106, 23f.; Paris divan, 869f., 1708.
4) Read nobnw.

All works pass away,
take an end and become as if you have never been there."

When Adam heard this,
he cried and cried about himself.
He spoke to the Uthra of life
steps:
, If you know that this is so,
why did you take me away from my place to captivity and thrown into the smelly body? [bring In the stinking body you threw me, i was thrown into the consuming fire.
You threw me into the consuming fire,
that the stench rises every day."

To this he replied to him:
'Shut up, shut up'), Adam,
you head of the whole sex.
The world that should be,
we cannot suppress [2].
Up"), [366] up, worship the great and submit, so that life may become your Savior.
Let life be a savior to you,
and you climb up and look at the place of light." ... -
And life is victorious.

Third piece.

Mandā dHaijē's exhortations to his friends.

The voice of Manda dHaijē is, he calls and teaches all his friends.
He speaks to you:
,,My chosen ones! Make your heart submissive;
facilitates, cleans and washes,
calm your mind with Kušta.
Don't love the money, that the worlds saw and loved.

---

1) 5p can seiu inner object, but is maybe to be deleted.

2) The turn also stands L 62, 1 and disfigures Parisian divan, 1086f.

a) For cf. Nöld ... p. 204, but it is probably also to be read here.

The worlds saw it and loved it, then they went and ran in the drought').

My chosen ones! Liebet Kušta and alms donation, so that a passage may be laid for you over the sea*).
There is a passage for you over the sea,
on the shore of which stand a thousand times a thousand.
On the shore of which there are a thousand times a thousand, and out of a hundred he counts
one and leads him over. Who is humble of heart, truly and faithfully.
Woe to the wicked and liigners, who forgot the alms and did not give it. Have you forgotten the alms and not given it,
now stay the night and ...") at the crossing.
You will spend the night at the crossing and ...;
the wicked do not ascend to the place —
of light." Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Fourth piece.

Proclamation of the Messenger of Light to the believers.

From the place of light I emerged,
out of you, lights of residence. I come to feel the hearts,
to measure and test all the senses,
to see in whose heart I dwell,
in whose mind I rest.
Whoever thinks of me, I think of him,
whoever calls my name, I call his name.
Who prays my prayer from the Tibil,
I pray his prayer from the place of light. Who prays my prayer and my praise, for him I pray (a prayer) rich and great.

---

1) The reading is woolly right, see the Varr, and Nöld., pp. בשידקא 107, 11. Sorry. it is an aggravation.

2) Probably pot to read from.

a) The sense of "repeat" or "tan again" pafit not. Maybe it's off ...and ומיתאנין they sigh" (to vinny, A NiNny) disfigured.

I came and found
the true and believing hearts.
When I was not among them,
my name was on [367] her mouth.
I took her and led her up to the Uthras, the Jokabar was created.
I spoke to you:
,,Perfect! Your scent is pleasant, and shine rests among you." ...
Blessed be you, my Lord,
who do not condemn the perfect.
And life is victorious.

Fifth piece.

Since the believer has come to love life, he has no confidence in anything else. Since he has found his soul again, he has not asked for anything else. Through the He is enlightened by the gifts of the Kuštā and finds the way to the place of light.

From the day I loved life,
from the day when my heart loved the Kuštā,
from the day I loved life, I don't have any more confidence in the world.
Father and mother
I have no confidence in the world.
About brothers and sisters
I have no confidence in the world.
Wife and child
I have no confidence in the world.
Scourge and ruling power
I have no confidence in the world.
Castles and buildings .
I have no confidence in the world.
To magnificent vestments and beautiful covers I have no confidence in the world. What is made and created
I have no confidence in the world.
The whole world and its works I have no confidence in the world.
Only for my soul I go (searching) around, which is worth generations and worlds to me.

I went there and found my soul;
why should all the worlds be mine? I climbed up to the high mountains and descended to the deep[1]) valleys. I went there and found Kušta, [was he happy?] my heart.
I went and found her,
as it stands on the outer edge of the worlds. She's standing there, and three ... .[2])
holding it in his hand.
One thing ... I took from her, then my eyes became full of light.
I took the second,
that's when I made my soul bright and clear.
I took the third,
then I climbed up and looked at the place of light. ...-
Blessed be you, King of Light,
who you have been full of compassion for us. --
And blessed be life.

Sixth piece.

Instruction of the Chosen One, the Messenger of Life, to the sons of Adam: Only pious works, not earthly goods lead to salvation.

The chosen one preaches from beyond
and enlighten the sons of Adam.
[368] He enlightens the sons of Adam,
those simple-minded people who did not recognize anything.
He speaks to you: ,,O
you simple-minded people,
what are you building your trust on?
When you arrive at the Suf Sea,
with what do you want to cross the Suf Sea?
When you arrive at the Dark Mountains,
with what do you want to cross the Dark Mountain?
When the time of your departure is here and the parting from the body comes,

---

1) The text says wrong,"high"; you have to use NFNPION for this.

2) A word of uncertain meaning, perhaps a weapon, see Joh. II, p. 193. Sorry. hat שאמימיא.

what will be your food,
what will be your food?"

To this they reply to him:
,,Well, our gold and our silver
is our way of eating.
Well, our estate and our money
is a salvation for us').
Well, our scourge and our ruling power
he is our helper.
Well, the made and the created it is a support for us on our way."

The chosen one preaches from beyond
and enlighten the sons of Adam.
He enlightens the sons of Adam,
those simple-minded people who did not recognize anything.
He speaks to you:
,,Not your gold, not your silver
it is a way of life for you.
Not your good, not your money
it is a salvation for you.
Not your scourge, not your ruling power
he is your helper.
Not the made, not the created
it is a support for you."

The worlds and generations gathered then and they went before the Messengers of life.
You speak to him:
,By your life, by your life, Messenger of life, reveal to us the secrets of the way." Then he speaks to them:
,Let your hands give alms
and your heart is in true faith.
Submit and worship the King of Light, so that he may have mercy on you.
Let this be your food,
this is your path." —
And blessed be life.

---

2) y most manuscripts still have here is an erroneous repick up from the previous line.

Seventh piece.

The Uthra regrets having thrown the soul into the body, and promises that the hour of salvation will come for those cramped on earth.

At the gate of the House of Life
the Uthra bowed, sat down and preached.
He spoke:
,Since I was the supreme among the teachers,
I was a right leader to the scribes.
[369] Since icl was the supreme among the wise,
who deceived me so that I became a fool?
Who deceived me so that I became a fool
and threw the soul into the body?u
He also spoke:
When will the measure and number of the world
be full and will it be far for those who are cramped, narrow? It will be far from the noble,
who used to own and have nothing left.
It will be far from the noble,
endure the tribulation in the tibil.
They endure tribulation in the tibil,
then they will be redeemed from the power of the Seven.
It will be far for those who are cramped, because
the world has outwitted them, outwit the deity within her." —
Blessed be you, my Lord,
who do not condemn the perfect.

Eighth piece.

The wicked seek to destroy the Redeemer who has come down, and to but olne succeeded.

Who, whose son is this, whose kind is so beautiful?
So beautiful is his manner,
and he foresees himself in the world.
The wicked speak of him:
,,Let us let go of desire against him.
We want to let go of desire against him and keep him with us in the world.

He becomes an apostate, his heart is afraid,
and he forgets what his Lord has commanded him. He forgets the rest, and rebellion is upon him.
He forgets the gentle path')
and come with the sinners") behind us."

I stand with the power of my Lord, with the praise of the Man, my Creator"). I held on, my heart was not afraid, and I did not forget what my Lord commanded me.
I did not forget about rest,
and rebellion was not on me.
I did not forget the hymns and prayer orders and did not sing a vain chant. I did not forget the gentle paths
and did not go after them with the sinners.
No, I sang hymns
and brought down the wicked of this world.
I spoke to you: ‚Don't
you know, you bad guys,
that I am not condemned in the world?
I worshiped and praised my Lord,
who will be a helper to — me." [370] And blessed be life.

Ninth piece.

Prayer to the Kuštā for help here and on the way to the hereafter. Note anf the transience of all earthly things. There is also Joh. 178.

Kuštā, I testify to you
as a man who is looking for knowledge.
My eyes look up to you *),
The chosen one of life, who went here.
Well, tell my heart that it is resting, tell my inner self that it is genesis.

---

1) after suffering.
2) How to continue correctly.
*) Siche Joh. II, p. 824.
4) According to Joh.: I let my eyes look up to you.

Tell my thoughts,
so that they remain firm in their place.
Tell the one who bridges rivers,
that he would build me a bridge over the rivers.
Tell the Guardian of the seas, that he may preserve for me a passage in the sea. Tell the one who paves the mountains,
that he may pave a way for me on the mountains.
Tell the creator of the pictures and pictorial works: desire strikes at your own head.
Tell the physical builder: set up your construction in a hurry.
Quickly list your construction,
because soon you have to leave him.
The world is passing away,
and their works will be abandoned.
The beloved gold is lost,
and the silver is searched and not found.
The hearts of joy go blind'), and her singing goes there and becomes a niece.
The king leaves his crown,
and the noble people go into captivity.
The perfect ones ascend to the Light,
but the wrongdoers are held back here. —
And life is victorious.

Tenth piece.

Praise of life. Ask for life to grant you strength to live on earth to withstand and get to the place of light. The request is granted.

Of all the voices I heard,
answered me") your voice, you son of the mighty (life)*).
Lovely is the voice of his*) call,
sweet the voice of his speech.

---

1) Siche p. 60, 24; 366, 5. Joh, hat ,be torn out". ") Read py.

") Siche Lit. , pp. 147f.

4) i.e. of life. One should expect that the following verses also refer to the Son of life, but this relationship is not possible.

Miraculous is the place where it is enthroned,
his praise is unlimited ').
Luminous and large, it is in its orders
and do everything that it wiinschet.

How I stand in my place,
I made a big request.
I spoke:
Who may grant me of his high power,
that she would be a support for me in the ages? Who may grant me of his gentle ruling power and serve me (in a wonderful way) in all ages")?
Who likes my mouth like the mouth [371] of the Fraš-Zīwā
and make my lips equal to its two banks? [open
Like the water that runs in it, fill me with prayers, hymns and prayer orders. Who can take me up to the place where it (life) is enthroned, who is wondrous, bright, luminous and enlightened beyond measure?
Who would like to clothe me with his (life's) splendor,
who will cover me with his light?
Who can bring me up to him,
who will let my soul dwell in his skinā?4

How I stand in my place,
granted it to me the request I uttered.
It granted me of its high power,
that it will be a support for me in the ages. It granted me of its ruling power, that you give me. in all ages (miraculously> served").
It opened my mouth right at the mouth of the Fraš-Ziwi
and made my lips equal to his two shores.
Like the water that runs in ibm,
it filled me with hymns and prayer orders.
It brought me up to and let my soul dwell in the skinā of life. It showed her the place where it is enthroned, who is wondrous, bright and enlightened beyond measure.
It clothed me with its splendor and covered me with his light. The place where the great (life) is enthroned,
it is a place where the good rest.

---

1) See above, p. 552.
2) "N is to be deleted, even if it still stands.
3) Instead of reading.

Die Statte, an der das groBe (Leben) thronet,
ist ohne Mangel und Fehl.
Es ist ein Ort, dessen Sonne nicht untergeht
. und dessen Lichtlampen nicht dunkel werden '). . —
Und das Leben ist siegreich.

Eiftes Stiick.

Das Stick fehlt in den Pariser Handschriften; es ist hier mach Cod. Leid. gegeben. —

[illegible]

Der Ruf Manda dHaije's ist es,
der am AuBenrande der Welten steht").
Am AuBenrande der Welten steht er . und ruft nach seinen Auserwahlten.
Nach seinen Auserwahlten ruft er
und nimmt3) Zeugen gegen sie.
Er spricht:
,Leben, sei mir Zeuge

Der Ruf Manda dHaije's ist es,
der am AuBenrande der Welten steht").
Am AuBenrande der Welten steht er .
und ruft nach seinen Auserwahlten.
Nach seinen Auserwahlten ruft er
und nimmt3) Zeugen gegen sie.
Er spricht:
,Leben, sei mir Zeuge

gegen die Gerufenen'), die ich aus der Tibil rief. . Ich rief sie, befahl ihnen und wollte sie herausholen, . doch

sie tun nicht, [was ich ihnen befohlen]9). . Sie verlassen die Werke des Lebens . und iiben die Werke der Tibil.
Sie verlassen den Willen des Lebens
und iiben den Willen der Korper.
Sie verlassen Lohnzahlung und Almosenspende .
und straucheln tiber die AnstoBe der B6sen.

---

¹) Siehe Joh. II, p. 51 ob.

²) Siehe oben, p. 391, 8.

") Vieleicht ist Vlans lesen. .

') On krai zu lesen? Unsiclier.

") Hinterland ist wohl rapheidreinen zu lesen. Dieses steckt vielleicht im vorher- . gehenden and appethinone

I called them and ordered them:
Do as your Lord commands you.
Perform the prayer and prepare the pihta and worship and glorify the mighty life. The mighty life worships and praises, so that you can climb on the path of the Kušta and look at the place, the unlimited one." —
And blessed be life.

---

1) Read .7E8.

Seventeenth book.

First piece.

A piece of colorful content. A higher being speaks of the position that it is jen- and of the instruction and enlightenment that it receives among the Šǩīnās and Uthras exercise. Glittering plants and vines are created, and from these they are separated- the chosen ones who will be enlightened about the light earth. After a now not at the right The righteous among the sons of Adam will also be taught. Life asks Hibil-Zīwā, the elect on earth, about the hidden things to teach, especially about the clouds, which serve as a seat for the noble beings. It follows an enumeration of the prayers coming from above, which were left here, i.e. the 10th Believers were not deprived. In the play, the highest being is predominantly the great, mighty Mānā, but next to it the great life and the Lord of greatness.

In the name of the great life.

Beyond, beyond I stand there
in the words of the great, mighty Mānā,
out of the seven lights emerged.

Beyond, beyond I stand there,
me and the helpers who came up with
me. I shine in the garb of the great (life),
I shine in the power of the mighty (life)').

Beyond, beyond I stand there,
me and the cloud*), which arose with me.

Beyond, beyond I stand there,
in the hidden pillar that is being prepared") Ãther
I shine through secret speeches, [shall.
I speak") in excellent prayer orders.

---

1) Sorry. has Ne7177. 2) D. li. his wife.

a) i.e. noble, otherworldly, see p. 132'.

*) Or,,I shine" in parallel to ,,I lenchte"? See Joh. II, p. 11f.

I shine through the secret speech,
which I brought with me from the place of light.

I created great shine,
drew seven Jordans and set up škīnās in them. i taught them about community and the Kuštā, which was from time immemorial.
I taught them about the way,
on which the great, mighty Mānā has ascended.
With my enlightenment and my praise
worship and praise the Uthras in a perfect way.
I enlightened them in their škinās
and placed before them miraculous lights.

When Adam was created,
the head of the age for his whole tribe,
when Adam, the head of the age, was created,
a companion was formed for
him. His tribe spread from him, and the community of life became powerful.
The power of the community of life,
which is wondrous, shiny and luminous in every place. The men of proven justice were created, in which there is no mixture or lie') [373].
Was not mixing or lying to you,
there was no form of darkness about them,
there was no hatred, jealousy or discord about them. They were called quiet perfects, who have emerged from quiet ones"). They became powerful through their secret speeches, and guardians were created before them. They lived there, flourished and became powerful, and the foreheads were turned on their heads.
They were enlightened about the great splendor
and about the light that looms in the hidden place.
They were about strength and firmness and about enlightenment
the Jawar Manda dHaije who went here"). [enlighten

---

1) B has been able to", To see text 259, 3, to 310,9. ") Probably read zn. The sense of "suddenly" that usually has, palit not here.

") This piece by the pious among the sons of Adam interrupts the- slope. Here, first of all, the heavenly beings are spoken of, and the following verse follow up on verse 12. It originally had its place behind p. 401, 12 and had its sequel in the plays that followed there.

Well, the Uthras were pleased with their speech, the perfections of her shining treasure. At the gate of the House of Life a throne was set up for the chief of the brilliant beings'). In front of the calm shining beings
a Jordan was drawn in a perfect way.
Three Škīnās were founded
and seven vines were created.
Seven vines were created, who came from Jokabar-Zīwā.
They shine in their robes
and shine in the splendor that came from beyond.
Radiance, light and luminosity came from the great, first Mānā,
and he gave strength to all the worlds. The chosen ones who come out of all the fragrant vines-they stood apart from them. [have gone,
They ascended before the mighty life,
and this made them live in their Škinās.
How to sit in your Škinās,
they were enlightened about the earth of Light.
They were about strength and firmness and about enlightenment
the Jāwar Manda dHaijē who went here. [enlighten

The great life hub
and he spoke to Hibil-Zīwā.
It spoke to him:
,,Go, teach the elect,
who dwell in the desert wasteland.
Teach them about the hidden clouds
and about the splendor that was attracted to every place.
Teach them about the tent roofs and about the Škinās and Jordans who created every place Teach them about the big, inner, hidden eggs"), [were.
which arose before the Lord of greatness.
They [374] arose before the Lord of greatness
and as Uthras") went here.
Teach them*) about Nhūr-Haije-Anānā (the cloud),
in which the Lord of greatness sits hidden.
Teach them about Kimşath-Anānā,
in which the little Pirūn sits hidden.

---

1) See above, p. 94, 23.
2) Sorry. has ND'57.
*) 75 is expected).
4) pN can also be read here and below.

Teach them about the cloud Virgin,
where Hibil-Zīwā lives.
They are supposed to be over Šahrath')-Ebdath-Ukišrath-Anānā (the Cloud Was Watching, [Made and Accomplished] will be taught,
in which the great, mighty Manā and his Nitufta are seated.
They are to be taught about Jasmus-anānā, in the Šarrath, the great, hidden, first vine, is hidden. They are to pray over Sidar-Kasiā-Anānā (the cloud, the hidden prayer-[order] be taught,
in which the great Jūrā, the treasurer, is hidden.
They are to be taught about Tatagmūr-Anānā, which was given to the first-born son of Jošamīn. They shall pass over Pihtath-Unihrath (she opened and lit up) and Nifqath-men-gau-maija (she went out of the water) will be taught, the two clouds they gave Nṣab and Anan-Nṣab. They are said about Barath (she shone) and Ethrauribath (she became [outstanding), the two clouds, are taught,
in which Sar and Sarwān reside.
They shall be over Nhar (he shone) and Kbar (he became great),
the [both clouds, be taught,
where Šilmai and Nidbai live.
They are to be taught about Kbar-Ananā,
which was given to his pure rights.
They should be taught about the cloud, "the little boy" 2),
whose name is Šaškel-Anānā.
They are to be taught about Mašqlel-Anānā,
which was created and given to Ptahil.
They should be taught about the quantities, quantities of prayers, those who are in the spirit of men of tried righteousness [rest]."
From this world*) Strength, firmness and speech ascends to their place,
and in the tibil, only turbidity remains.

Of the prayers') of the house of Rām-Zīwā, they have returned eleven- complacent. Of the prayers of Anan, the man Anan, they have fourand- twenty [375] left behind. From the prayers of the House of Jāwar-Zīwa 35 they left forty-four behind. From the prayers of Jāwar-Zīwā they left thirty-six behind. Of the prayers ,,The main of power and knowledge" *. They lifted up their secret") and the power of the whole earth, all the murmurs that the Uthras in this The world murmured.

---

1) Sorry. has AN7A2, Šihrath; R 322, 3 has An, siche also p. 326, 41.
2) Well, "the little boy", see above, p. 235. ") It is possible that the words wobx Awo are the rest of a fancy sentence.
4) The prose stick probably follows Z. 29.
5) Also sorry. has NuPDN, see also text, z. 9.

Of the prayers, When the mighty, first life in his Skinā "they left thirty behind. Of the prayers ,The great My- sterium and the proverb that rest by the bubbling of water", they have (some) hide. Of the prayers "When Hibil-Zīwā wanted", "When he went and came to the house of Abathur" have they (some) ascended from the world- lift. Of the prayers ,"On top of the Ãther" 1) you have two leave behind. Of the prayers of the House of the Bihrām, they have (some) separated and left to the helpers. Of the prayers ,About the Tannās" a) they left seven behind.

For they knew that among the men of tried righteousness
there will be lies in the world").
Of these dim scions of darkness
the figure is blind and does not shine.
These Naşoreans, who have a wisdom of the Liige from within- and send out gloomy speeches into the world, [get those Naşöräans of the lie
will come to an end on the great day of the end.
Your name will be eradicated from the house of life,
and your eyes will not see the light.
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Second piece.

A "being" of life comes into the world with rich splendor and brings the believer using secret knowledge and teaching. In a loose connection to the mention of Adam, a Adam's speech about the temptations that Rühã and the planets under the Believers, and about the punishments to which the apostates are subject. Painting on the Believers, on the day when they will be questioned and called to account be. Strong warning against the use of colored stuff. The reward of the pious.

In the name of the great life.
The essence of life has come and set up for us the lamp of life.

---

1) Siche Lit. , p. 228, LIX.

°) by perhaps only introduces the object, so "The Tannās".

a) One has probably read zn, and the verse is to be understood in this way. It is difficult to read, so this subject would be too pik-y. בהיריא זידקא it stands for parallel I and aut it refers to האלין שיתליא תאהמיא.

")Nny, Nny can be found in some places as a designation for higher beings: Lit., pp. 134,7; 138, 3; Cod. Par. 15, fol. 28a (Cod. 25, f. 34b, NDN7 NTy). It should probably be called the real being, in contrast to the ephemeral, earthly. See also Zeitschr. for Semitic Studies I (1922), p. 1.

It came with rich luster,
wondrous and endless.
It brought us') secret sayings,
so that we') will be enlightened by them in this world. We are to be enlightened by them in this world and praise the Man, our Creator").
We should praise the great life,
because life planted a planting for us.
It planted us a planting of life [376]
and granted us helpers.
It granted us hidden perfections,
who free us from all ugliness. It taught us about the prayers,
what Adam did in this world.
It taught us about the Ãther vine, about the speech of the Light, from which he took knowledge, and about grace*), the Hibil-Zīwā
who brought Adam into this world.

Adam, the head of the whole tribe, spoke:
,I'm Adam,
Hibil-Zīwā was a helper to me*).
Hibil was a helper to me
and saved me from the world, the fear of the seven stars,
who let them go against the souls,
the pursuit of the twelve stars,
from which every ugly shape has emerged,
from the rage°) and the embers,
which they release against their bodies.
They haunt the souls,
who are worthy and worthy of the place of light.
They bring suffering
about the true, believing men.
They bring persecution and sigh
about the souls who bear witness to life.
They make the Naşöreans stumble,
so that they are unworthy of the place of light.

---

1) Read patom and pawntonnus.

2) Read NSYN); Sorry. did "NISSAN).

3) Probably to be interpreted that way. ,"Spice" is hardly called here, although this is in the apocryphal Adam's stories, see especially the Syrian "Treasure Cave".

4) See Joh. II, p. 60°.

") N715 seems to have this meaning here, cf. Nöld., p. 105, 9. See also above, p. 2591.

The darkness oppresses you,
and they stumble away from the light.
They stumble away from the light,
and Ruha rests on them.
On them rests Rüha
and keeps them trapped in the residences of indulgence in music.
About those who mine and sing at drinking parties,
there will be severe anger.
They will die a second death,
and your eyes will not see the light.
Won't your eyes look at the light,
your feet will not find firmness. About the one who steps on a stock of upholstery'), will be more severe Zorna).
Woe to the Naşoreans, which have caused the Seven to stumble in this world. They fell into the drunkenness of the planets,
r let them fall into the consuming sea').
[Into consuming sea] shall they fall
and be whipped with a fire whip."

I call you and I explain,
you souls who witness to life [377]:
Stay firm in this world,
until your measure4) is full.
I tell and explain to you,
you souls who dwell in the decrepit house:
When you leave your body,
what message will you give to the great life? What will you tell the messenger,
who redeems you from the world?
What will you tell the guards
and the prison warden) who live there?
What will you say to Anoš-Uthra,
when will you be held accountable to him?
What will you say Abathur-Uthra about the garment of darkness that you wear in this world,

---

1) Sorry. has the same as D N7107.

") Sorry, Nov.

a) See p. 38. 4.

4) Read powtes.

b) A genius of the underworld, who was also worshiped in Palmyra and whose temple in the introduction to the customs tariff found there is mentioned, see Meeting reports der Berliner Akademie 1916, p. 1218.

about the seven ...'),
who came out of the nose of Ur, the Lord of darkness
about the twelve colored witnesses, [have,
who came out of the lower darkness?

My chosen ones! I'll tell you about the white robes.
Who is baptized in that colored stuff").
Anyone who is baptized in it and clothed with it,
will descend to the nature of the sinister placea).
Who wraps himself in it and sleeps in it,
will blaze in the lower gehenna.
When he leaves the body,
he will be hidden in the clouds of darkness. In the misty clouds of darkness he will be obscured
and will fall to the seven as a share.
Anyone who frees himself from them and beware of them all, will be freed from their swords, their snares, their bonds ') [and their chains,
as well as the sword and the wickedness that Christ wields
in this Anyone who frees himself from them, [sowed. will ascend and see the mighty life in his Škinā.
He will look at Sam, the pure vine
and the tree Astarwan"), from which he emerged.
He will look at Sar, the vine,
he will find a place in its branches, sprouts and leaves.
He will wear a robe like the robe of the Bihrām-Uthra and climb up and look at the place of light.
He will see the place of light,
will look [378] the light abode.
He will search and find
for the souls that dwell in the decrepit house. —
You were victorious Manda dHaije
and led all your friends to victory.

---

1) See above, p. 935 2) The verses are sketchy.

a) Sorry. has NPDN), read N7D" cf. Text 80, 10.

4) See above, p. 1043, 3826. Sorry. has pap-ND), which the reading is against [137151 BD supports.

8) A tree that is otherwise unknown to me. According to AndrEaS, it is probably Persian ,Sternbaum".

Eighteenth book.

A world history, of course, a Mandaean one. Ptahil creates heaven and earth, everything on Earth, even the first human couple. As a world Dane, 480000 years are determined. Time is distributed among the planets and the zodiacal images. Numerical data on the The duration of the world periods until the Flood; Noah and the Flood. After the Age of Sems Jerusalem is founded by Adõnai-Jõrabbā. Abraham moves to Ãgypten, later left the Jews under Jõrabbā's leadership of Egypt, pass through the sea, then through the desert and settle in Jerusalem. Four hundred years later, Jesus is born. On-count of the Ancient Iranian and Sasanian kings. The events in the world of the year 791 to the year 803 of Pisces and then over the year 850. On the reign of the Persian follows the evil time of the Arabs. This is followed by apocalyptic-about the end time.

This treatise is the only one whose writing time can be more narrowly limited Page 414, the duration of the Arab rule is set at 71 years, which according to the first It cannot be said about the 8th century. The adoption of such a short duration of the Arab empire, for which the number 71, popular in addition to the numbers 70 and 72, is assumed but is more likely for the first years of Islam, so that the treatise is about it was probably redacted in the middle of the 7th century. The author has older material recycled. The "Kings of the Arabs" will be killed before the fall of the Sasanian rule on- placed. It is probably the Arab kings of Hīra, on whose territory a part of the Mandaeans live. In addition to the Islamic rulers, there are also kings of Babylon, with whom only the Persian kings may be meant, no place. The way in which the It shows that material of pagan origin is also is processed. The treatise requires a detailed examination for the details (1).

In the name of the great life.

On the first day, at the first place, in the first hour, when (Abathur and)") Ptahil came, stretched out the sky, sealed the earth, the firmament the seas split, the mountains cut out, the fish in the Seas, which formed feathered birds and livestock of any kind, fruit,

---

1) I have the manuscript of the treatise because of the astrological and apocalyptic Franz Boll with the request to see him thereupon, whether he knew contain. The manuscript arrived in Heidelberg on the day of BOLL's death.

") This is inserted; the verbs are still here and still in the singular.

Grape and tree as food for Adam and as a drink for Adam, Hawwä and formed his whole tribe, fragrant plants, seeds, Created flowers, leaves and medicinal herbs, then considered (Abathur and) Ptahil, looking at himself, saw his figure, created Adam the Man, and created Hawwa, the woman of whom the family is divided in the world- then spread.

Then the measure and number of this world were given. From the day, since Adam was created, there are 480000 years until the end of the worlds.

Then measure and number [379] were given to the seven planets and the 10 were awarded to twelve stewards. The measure was equal to each other in seven So that no one has too much, no one has too little. For each Man fell as a proportion to 68571 years, 5 months, 4 days, 6'/an hour, 4 Sauces and 1'/s moments. The 12 zodiacal signs last in addition to the seven planets, and the seven planets last alongside the twelve zodiacal-characters. The twelve zodiacal signs are taken from the size of the bel when the There are still 9,000 years left. Receiving the Twelve Zodiacal signs from him, then they last 9000 years together with Bel and 69[000 years] together with Nerig. Of these 78000 years, the twelve zodiacal-signs last, they assigned 12000 years as a share to the Ram'), which Taurus 11000 Years, the Twins 10000 years, the Cancer 9000 years, the The lion 8000 years, the ear 7000 years, the chariot 6000 years, the Scorpio 5000 years, Sagittarius 4000 years, Capricorn 3000 years, Aquarius is 2000 years old, Pisces is 1000 years old.

Then, from the day Adam was created until the world 5 was destroyed by the sword and plague*), it is 216,000 years. In the Years of the star Sin (of the Moon) passed 10000 years from the years until the world was destroyed by the sword and the plague. From them two people were brought to life"), a man named Rām and a woman named Rūd, from whom the world comes to life became 0.

Until the world was destroyed by fire, [380] it is 1560004) Years. When 29000 years had passed from the share of the Bel, the world was destroyed by fire. It consumed the whole world, it consumed twelve ...) dust on the earth.

Then two people were brought to life by them." A man named Surbai and a woman Named Sarhabel, of whom the world brought to life. From the day when the world was destroyed by fire until it was swallowed up by water, it was 100000 Years.

---

1) See p. 138.

2) See above, p. 27.

*) One expects ,"there were left", see pp. 27, 23, 80.

4) So it must be called; the text has incorrectly 150000.

8) See above, p. 835.

Then, when there were still 8000 years left of the years [of the Nerig]'), a call was made to Noah the Ark and he said to him: 'Build an ark." Then Noah, according to the command, brought carpenters, felled Cedars of Amanus") and female cedars) from Lebanon and built for three hundred years. He put the ark together in a length of 5 300 Cubits, in the width of 50 cubits, in the height of 30 cubits. Then Noah took two of each kind, male and female, and brought they go up into the ark. Then through 42 days and 42 nights the upper water sources from the sky and the lower water sources from the Earth, flooded the mountains and flooded the heights. Da the whole world was destroyed by water.

The ark floated on the water for eleven months. According to the For eleven months there was rest, and the ark sank down and remained on the mountain Qardün'). Then Noah realized in his soul that there was peace in the world was. Noah then sent out the raven and said to him: 'Go, see if there was peace in the world." The raven went and found a Corpse. He ate of him and forgot what Noah [381] commanded him. As- then Noah sent the dove after him and said to her: ,,Go, see if there was peace in the world. Where is the raven that I made before you- have sent?"

---

1) This is to be paid for. An order of the planets is assumed here, as given above, p. 28, 192; 46, 126, from which the pp. 113, 124ff., 176, 347 ab- plush. For the planetary sequences among the Babylonians, see ZiMMERN in wedge inscriptions and Old Testament", p. 622f. The account here is the following: The first period, from which Creation of the world until the catastrophe caused by the sword and the plague, the time of the sun lasted, Venus, Mercury and 10000 years from the time of the Moon, so 3 >< 68571 + 10000, these are 215713 Years. For the second period then still remain from the time of the moon 58571 Jalre, in addition, there is the time of Saturn with 68571 years and 29000 years from the time of Jupiter, that's 156142 years. For the third period, 39571 years of Jupiter remain, plus coming 60571 years of Mars, that makes 100142 years. So the numbers are rounded. The duration of the periods given above, p. 27f., 45f. according to human ages is much shorter.

2) Instead of jn7n7 I read jnon7. The knowledge of the cedars of Amanus is well known when also indirectly, back to Babylonian or Assyrian sources, in which more often from ilmen the Speech is. Likewise, the motive continues to be that the raven sent by Noah has a corpse and therefore did not return, which is not found in the Old Testament, ultimately, its source in the Gilgameš epic. Here it is called Taf. XI, 155, that the emissary Raven ,ate ... did not turn back". The subject lived orally or literarily in Babylonia and was further embellished. So it is also in the present narrative as well as in the Syrian, Jewish and Arabic literature (siche M. GrünbaUM, Neue Beiträge zur semitischen Sagenkunde, p. 82f.). According to the Arabic Targüm at LAGaRDE, Materialien zur Kritik und Geschichte des Pentateuchs II, p. 79 can be found the train is already at Ephrem. In the Bee Book of Solomon of Başra (ed. BudgE, p. 32) in this context, reference is made to a proverb in which Noah's ravens the speech is; the more easily the motive could be preserved.

*) Siche Joh. II, p. 1574.

4) The mountain range of the Kordyaeans (Áebel Čūdī) according to Berossus (JosepHus, Arch. I, 93), then adopted by Jews, Christians and Muslims (Onkelos and Pšīttā to Gen. 8, 4; Tabari, Annales I, p. 197).

Then the dove went and found the raven, as he had been above a The corpse sat and ate from it. She saw the olive tree that was on the mountain Qardün stood and its leaves protruded from the water. pigeon picked it from him and brought it to Noah, so that he might know in his soul that There was silence. Then he cursed the raven and blessed the dove').

Then the age came to Sum (Shem), son of Noah, and his wife Nhüraita"), from whom the world was awakened again. Then 6000 years passed, and 2000 years remained. Over there- Jõrabba, whom the Jews call Adonai, he, his comrade Rūhā, and the seven planets. They planned to create a party. At the command of the Adonai they built a city, which is called the place of Jerusalem. Sixty miles measure them in width. A thousand years she should be in bloom, a thousand years in Desolation, and the whole Tibil should then be devastated.

Then Abraham, the father of the Jews, was created. He and all his tribe went") to the land of the Ágyptians, whose king The name of King Pharaoh. The Jews had to suffer much evil from the Ãgypters and King Pharaoh endured'). Then she led Jõrabba, Ruha and the God, whom they worship, from the land of Ãgypter. Jew when their God brought them out, they hurried, and one day they by the sea"). He divided them [the sea], and the waters of the sea rose up to two ramparts, two mountains alike, so that all the Jews passed through-retreated. [382] They then wandered through the desert wasteland. Then moved they entered Jerusalem and settled there"). Then came King Pharaoh behind them, he and all his army. Seventy Myriads'), 770000 The Egyptians were with King Pharaoh. He sees the sea without a ship, raft and ford. Then Pharaoh sees a path on the bottom of the sea, while the waters of the sea contracted into two mountains hat. Then the whole phalanx of King Pharaoh climbed up behind the Jews and the sea came down around the phalanx of King Pharaoh. Only the King Pharaoh escaped with his friends and helpers in the transgressions.

Then, until four hundred years passed in Jerusalem, Jesus became, Son of Miriam, not born in Jerusalem. Then Jesus became the

---

1) Cf. Grünbaum, loc. cit., p. 82.

2) The words are to be interpreted as follows, as can be seen from the following relative sentence, not "Solmn of Noah and his wife Nhūraitā", although above, p. 46, 4 Nūraitā is the wife Noals is, see also Joh. II, p. 58.

") Instead there must have been a verb of this or similar meaning.

4) Instead of (also sorry. so) can be read with CD NMW and pWN has the in the usual sense ,"they found". Nöldeke's view of Gram., p. 104' is mir unwalır-probably. A verb "DWN in the sense of ,,lament" is not found in Mandaean.

6) The text here is greatly spoiled. Already xax5x) in addition to x27r is on-due. Sorry. has abtan-sAnd maxin, which is niclt better.

") The last two sentences belong to the end of this paragraph.

7) Is probably to be deleted, because it coincides with Noenw in the following.

") I'm reading with D NON'. Londd. and sorry. have NON") ND, Oxf. ND NON".

Head of the Ghrists, born. He created a church for himself and chose municipality.

Now I say that for the kings who have been from the floods of water until now and until the years of the kings are completed, (live) the years that each king rules, are pronounced.

The King') Arudan Gaimurat was at the beginning of all kings. He ruled (lasted) 900 years. After him was King Zardanaiata Tahmuraṭ. He ruled for 600 years. After him was King Lifriuš-Zişag. He ruled 750 Years. For a hundred years after that king there was no king in the World. After that, Asdahag, son of Asfag, was King Bahraen 10 call. He ruled for 300 years. After him was King Faridūn, son of Tibian. He ruled for 450 years. According to him, Pašm Nariman, the man the fetter of the Karkūm. He ruled for 500 years. After him was Fraarase [383] of Turān. He ruled for 60 years. After him was king Kaikobas. He ruled for 503 years. After him was Kai-Kosrau, son of the 15th Seiawišan. He ruled for 60 years. After him was King Egab*), son of King's Burzin. He ruled for 300 years. After him was King Lohrasp. He ruled for 365 years. After him was King Guštāsp, son of Lohrasp. He ruled for 14 years. After him was Ardšīr, son of Asfindiar. He ruled 112 Years. After him was Nuraitaš Horizdān, who is called King Šamidai, 20 He ruled for 80 years. After him was King Ašgan. He ruled for 470 years. After him was King Dšamšid, who was called King Solomon, son of David, call. He reigned 1000 years; 900 years on earth and 100 in heaven"). According to him, King Bruq ... was the man Sandar (Alexander) to the Greeks call. He ruled for 14 years. After him was Ašaq, son of Ašqan. He is 25 reigned 465 years. After him, Alzur and Listar were Kosrau and Abaš (Wabaš?) Jasdis Tibian, who is called King Ardban. He ruled for 14 years. After him were Persian kings*). They ruled for 382 years. At the The head of the Persian kings was Ardšīr Pabugan. He ruled for 14 years. After him was King Sabūr, son of King Ardšīr. He ruled for 62 years. 30 After him was King Balaš Ghurnig"), son of King Šabūr. He ruled 50 Years. After him was King Bahrūn, [384] son of King Šabūr. He ruled for 12 years. After him was Jazdigar, son of King Bahrān. He ruled for 12 years. After him was King Sābūr, son of Jazdigar. He

---

1) is probably disfigured; it hardly belongs to the name. Also "N2ND D does not give Sense. For the following enumeration of the ancient Iranian kings, the most ancient, which is available, see Louis H. Gray, Zeitschr. for Assyriology XIX (1906), p. 272ff.

2) Sorry. did INay.

3) So according to BCD and sorry. (here NT52), while A has "on the world Ocean". Perhaps the legend is reflected here that Solomon was temporarily killed by a demon from In the meantime, nnd was wandering in a miserable state in the distance see GRünbaum, loc. cit., p. 221.ff., also here p. 28, 21; 46, 16. The demon ירי should DWN (Asmodaeus, Tobit); the name may have been in the preceding Šamidai (INTON1).

4) The Sasanian kings are listed below.

5) Sorry. hat הורמיג.

ruled for 10 years. After him was King Peröz, son of Jazdigar. He ruled for 40 years. After him was King Bihdad. He ruled for 3 years. After he was King Kabad, son of King Pēroz, He reigned for 41 years. After he was Kosrau, son of Kabzd. He ruled for 48 years. After him was King Hormiş, son of Kosrau. He ruled for 12 years. After him was the King of Kings Kosrau, son of Kosrau, son of Hormiş. He ruled 38 Years. In the 38th year, the Sun showed signs. There went Kosrau, and Šeroe') entered the reign').

From the day Jerusalem was destroyed until the King Jazdigar, son of Bahran, who took over from the Persians, will pass away from this last thousand 594 years"). Of this last thousand of the Pisces, when the world is in the 701st year of Pisces, it divides. 89 more She will be happy for years and unhappy for 210 years"). About the(se) years is said: when the world is in the 790th year, the water will from now on, the whole world will be hit by drought. Which Gods and kings") in (all) years and months under the Humanity shows all kinds of signs. This place") to zúr all over the world will hit dryness.

Furthermore, it is indicated: if the fish are in the 791st year, [385] will the water will not be there, and God will destroy it with every and every wind North(wind) let go.

When the fish are in the 792nd year, it is indicated that the Arabs will rise from every rural district, a black cloud and the cattle will come up and flee from the king of Babylon.

When the fish are in the 793rd year, it is indicated that the The king of the Arabs will die, the Arabs will fall on each other and in the In the land of Babylon there will be destruction among cattle and men.

If the fish are in the 794th year, it is indicated that the Earth quakes three times a day, at night once in the middle sleep time a light will appear in the whole world, the star Bel (Jupiter) more when the sun will shine, shine in the sky.

When the world is in the 795th year, it is indicated that the wolf rise up from the land and come") and devastation among the people

---

2) Londd. and sorry. have 17W.

°) The term of government of the Sērōē is not specified, and his successors will be not named. The list therefore seems to date from the time of the Šērōē (628).

3) Jezdegerd II entered the government in 438. Jerusalem should be at the beginning of the last 28, 15), after which the calculation is not correct.

4) Insecure. Maybe it's worth reading. It's hard to sum up: ,,89 more years she will sit there in happiness and misfortune. About the (abiding) 210 Jalre is said:"

o) Of course, this does not mean earthly kings, but heavenly beings, see p. 62 in this sense, but probably originally מאלאכיא ,,Angel" stood there.

o) Probably so; in the text it says "those".

7) Sorry, did bad דארבאיא מן ארקא ניתיא.

various kings will die, the Arabs in the years of that Wolves become the masters of the whole world. The falsehood will Straightness ...'). In the month of February, in the Aquarius of the Mesenians"), on Wednesday, the falsity will be the sun ... Further it is indicated about it, that the king of Babylon shall come to Babylon, and the cattle of Babylon he will come to Babylon, and in Turan(? the barbarians rule will arrive.

When the world is in the 796th year, it is indicated that every Places") landmarks appear among the horses and men of the world and in the cities there are shortages, the grain is quite lacking, impiety, Drowning(? and hail will come, among the four-footed animals and among . . . . . . the lightning will cause damage*).

When the world is in the 797th year, [386] it is indicated that two rulers will mock each other; with horses and men will they (each other) ridicule.

When the world is in the 798th year, it is indicated that one of the rulers will die, and only one will be in the whole world.

When the world is in the 799th year, it is indicated that a The voice will come to the people, ...) will come to them.

When the world turns 800. Years, it is indicated that horses are and men all over the world, from big to small, on the field and on a place [will come] that in the whole world ...). Then look for them very much, and white fight') will be. In the month of June, the Twins of the Mesenians, on the first day of the month, in the 2'/a. hour it will be a white fight. Out of every 1700 men who move out, will three remain.

When the world is in the 802nd year, it is indicated that few Men will be there for the women* one thing will be a lot. It is indicated that seven women are in progress") sitting and saying we are waiting for a man to pass by in the streets. You will stand at the gate, go out and look for a man without him find. They will fall on the man's neck and kill him a thousand times kiss. For there will be few men to be found in the world. Further, it is indicated about this: when that time comes, there will be a lot of strife give, and few men will get away. Seven, eight women

---

1) TN) otherwise has the meaning ,,reach" od. ühnl., see Joh. II, p. 148*, docli don't pal this one. One rather expects something like "suppress".

2) The inhabitant of the landscape Maišān, Mesene in southern Babylonia, see on this Schaeder, Islam XIV (1924), pp. 11 et seq. 3) Sorry. has 7NNN37.

4) NJNI here is like R 389, 16 pers. zijān.

") is found only here and is of uncertain mind, hardly "born of a traffic jam".

°) NNWN is probably "shell". There was a shell ... so . . . and so much will it cost? Behind it is a gap in which the year 801 was named.

7) It is unclear to me what the expression is supposed to mean.

*) Uncertain, but hardly ever "at the mosque".

they will be given to a man as a share, and the man will wishing evil to women.

It is indicated: when the world starts from the 803rd year of Pisces, so do not ask about the plagues of the world, (which) from that time on (be 5). It is said that when Kewān (Saturn) is in Scorpio and then he steps out of the Scorpion and enters the Lion, the great Euphrates will pour over the Tigris [387], the land Babel fifty years before the land of Gaukai and in the land of Gaukai a Kafiz seed is sought for five staters 10 and will not be found. It is indicated that a lie- messiah will come, become lord over the whole world, on a great Will sit on thrones and judge on him, while he will judge the other judges from the hotel. From east to west he will come in a day, until that the brick from the wall bears witness for him*).

When the world is in the 850th year of Pisces, great plague will be a-occur ").

Then, after the Persian kings, there will be Arab kings. They will rule for 71 years. In the years of those Arab kings the world is lying. The horses of the earth, the camels, the free, 20 the servants and maids, the little boys and girls, the women and the free will not find solidity and tranquility. In the years of those The father becomes king over the Son, the mother over the daughter The Lord will not have authority over the servant. Jene Kings skin people like gazelles and wild donkeys. 30 In the years of those kings, he who had many sons will have all but one Son [lose?]. Then they wish: salvation to the one who would have a son"). Gold and silver, horses and camels, bulls, donkeys and sheep will be in there is a (limited) number. The fish will fly up from the sea. Which

---

1) A very fertile area east of Tigris in the area of Seleukia. Pognon faft properly DxTip in a local sense (Inscr. mandaites,

p. 9). °) Until even the stones cry out for him, see Pognon, loc. cit., p. 10 and Brandt, The Mandaeans (1915), p. 12.

a) The flooding is probably the serious flooding of the Euphrates and the fall of the Tigris, which occurred shortly before the collapse of the Persian Empire in the winter of 627-628 and through which a large part of Babylonia was devastated and swamped for the duration was, cf. Mas'ūdī, Les prairies dor I, p. 225; Jacut I, p. 668f. The same goes for this- early appearance of a false Messiah, i.e. the Prophet Molammed. Of course it fits the statement does not indicate that this year Saturn will be out of Cancer (so it must be instead of Scorpio heifen) entered the lion. How Herr Geheimrat MEYERmaNN von der Göttingen Observatory informs me, this constellation took place in the course of the 7th century in March 622, then held in the years 651 and 681. But with the Sternkunde of the author it was on-apparently, as the confusion shows, not far off. Then, of course, for a later year, the so-called plague is perhaps the "plague of the Sērōē" of the year 628, which of those Flooding followed and was no less disastrous, cf. Tabarī, Annales I, pp. 1061, 9; Jacut II, pp. 143, 14f.

4) Sorry. i guess fir,who had no son overbaupt".

Wild donkeys will come to him on the mountains ...'). Everything created, anything at all will be wrong. The rich become poor, the The poor will be rich. The houses become level fields, the levels Fields become houses. The excellent ones") become deaf-mutes, the deaf and dumb become excellent. The Lord [388] becomes the A servant who becomes a noble servant. .....*), Deceit and deception they will rule among the people. The temples are destroyed, the Houses of worship are destroyed. The sky [will darken?]'), the righteous will become possessors and greedy for possessions. Either of Deception will emanate from the earth, one from heaven. Both will be mingle with each other and lie down over the people. From The sky will not rain, and the earth will not bear fruit on the right Creating time. Nothing will happen at the right time, and iniquity will descend to Earth. Then there will be a time of death, of- tums and illness. Fire will break out at any time, and Snow will fall in excess. From one city to another, from one Two or three cannot go together"). The Son fights his father and drives him out of the house during his lifetime. The mother drives her daughter out ahead of time and demands from her daily fee. The magicians and scribes twist by oaths the Nask") and the book. At night the thieves go out, make the Ways are unsafe and bring out the possessions. The fish walk in the ocean and the seas. From time to time the sea comes and the waters abound, do much mischief, and destroy fruit, Grape and tree. The distance becomes the proximity, the proximity becomes the distance. No one keeps it up with his own people, but with strangers you are wrong according to the law. Well-ordered people stand up to the stretcher and a false testimony. Oaths are demanded from people, as a A dog asking for bread. The boyfriend does not keep it nice with his Friends, but they go after each other in jealousy. Fraudulent Men give empty words as a woman's gift, and the Virgin will ilınen to the comrade. [389] The women send out for adultery after men, the women leave their spouses and demand them to the court. Which People become deceitful and evil and fight ilren father and her mother. The brother is cheating with his brother, the son is

---

1) The dark word is found only in this place.

2) i.e. the spiritually outstanding ones; here again the word is see above, p. 2151.

8) The word is found only in this place. It seems to be Persian and muf something like "List" bedcuten.

4) It may also be necessary to delete N with D; it may be possible under the influence of the following The line came here.

") N5 same as text 391, 23.

6) Londd. and Oxf. have NPDN). According to AndrEAs, this could be the Persian nask D.h.,.Collection of sacred Writings", see Bartholomae, Altiran, Wrtb., col. 1060.

with his father, the servant with his master, the maid with her mistress '), the wife murders her husband and joins another one. So there will be falsehood and wickedness among men. Which Demons, fiends, ekurs and altar spirits make people dull, so that the people of the world are without understanding and are being tortured. The gods are bitter against people and deprive them of them share of the future "). Soon you will be showing signs of age weakness ") and a failing body, and you will be given a short measure. Deception and deceit spread. To the face they say beautiful words to each other, and they say ugly words to themselves behind their backs. Because of this wrong- barley, wine yield and everything else can be found in the- wrestling crowd. They sow abundantly and achieve little. They acquire rich They own and are not satisfied. When you eat, you don't get full. To at all times it is afflicted with mischief and evil. On grasses and barley, the Earth without growth. Fruit, grape and tree dry up. A lie- neric impurity *****.

After that, the tongues rise up and fight with each other. Which People who live in the Wiisten move against the people who live in the Wiisten They live in houses and occupy the cities. The Persians, Parthians, Rhomäer, Siğistanier and the other tongues fight with each other. Then the inhabitants of the deserts prevail and bring misery to those who live in houses live. In the 71 years they reign * and bring good, and good The sons gather together with their Parents, [390] the wives together with their husbands, the brothers together with their brothers, according to one place. With his own hand, then one kills the other one.

Then the shore land of Gaukai will remain in bloom for fifty years. Ago- after the destruction of the land of Babel, the desolation of that land from Babel, change"). The Arabian Kings of Kardus") are outraged. The four winds are coming out. The Burdean King and the Simraean King9) come, rebel against each other and plün- this shore country of Babel from west to east. From this shore- lands of Gaukai are plundered 12000'). Then 50 years remain,

---

1) The derivation of the words and is uncertain, but your Sim yields out of context. It could be AndrEAs from mittelpers. (h)ašākert ineupers. šāgird),"apprentice", then ,"servant" be Aramaized. maybe it's over ראבאה or NADX7 spoils.

2) Siche zu Np5n Joh. II, p. 1176. 3) Read קאשישותא?

4) well = If it means "sign", then there would have to be a gap here be like R 391, 24.

5) Iliermit means literally the Kurds, Kap80ūxoi.

") A Burdean king is unknown to soust. The Simräer will L 17, 5 together with the Turanians, see Brandt, Schr., p. 218; Marquart, Erānšahr, p. 261.

7) Not what one easily thinks of: being robbed, being taken away as prisoners. Cf. R 225, 20, wo 37) stands next to NEW.

that the shore of Gaukai is in bloom. When 25 years of the 50 Years pass, a gold mountain rises in Dašt-Misaq '), seven lands- dashes and seven kings come together on it and hold a ver- collection. The kings rise up and appoint a king of the Magi. They say to the King of kings: We want the appointment that the great man should be no more honored than the slave.

After they made the appointment, a king came from the firmament down and whispered to the King of kings. The King of Kings don't see him while all the people see him. Then they speak to the king the King:What did this man who descended from the firmament do and whispered in your ear, told you?" Then he speaks to you: ,You lie." Then the kings say to the King of kings, 'Then is the date we made, lug." Then the kings speak to the King of Kings: "Up, let's look each other in the face" "). You then jump up and fall over each other. Here comes the King, lets go of his horse, and the latter strides [391] over her to the saddle in Blood, and the vortex of blood gets to the wings of his nose. One ... the other, and every single one that is left is running behind one here, whom he kills, he says to him: "I kill, but why stay me back?" This is what the women grasp at the hem of their garment, look for the ... and form a man and find none. Since take your gold and silver and throw it on the dung heap.

After that comes the King Mzarz"). He ruled for 12 years. He creates Trust in the gods, and God is his helper. Those in the Deserts sit, he repels, and those who sit in their place come up. The city is given good things, and people go along with happiness.

After that, the water rises from the ocean and brings a lot of mischief. After that, something heavy 4) enters the world. The outstanding Men, as well as the deaf and dumb") go into battle, and stay away from them only a few people are saved from the struggle.

After this, another king rises, whose name is Sarqid, son of des Warzigar, ist. He ruled for seven years. Then another one rises King, whose name is Šerāsp. He reigns for seven and twenty years.

In the years of those kings, no malice will be attached to people. They will not cause a quarrel, will not look for possessions and will not over- eat moderately. Each individual will sit in his own house, and Quarrel, torment and struggle will not be among them. No one will Can carry out deception and fraud against his neighbor. When he

---

1) Or Emisag. The location is otherwise unknown. belongs to the name; the Appellative ,level" is דישתא.

2) Cf. II Kön. 14, 8.

") Or Mzaraz. This means ,Equipped".

4) In the text behind it is N3NTP ,fight", which seems to me to be a gloss, see the following. ") See above, p. 415, 4.

If he exercises deception, he will be torn to pieces. When this ....[1]) speech ... and signs . [392] A shining star lights up, it rises down to the earth and stays seven days and seven nights.

After him, the king Wazan rises. He rules for five years. In 5 all will be well in the years of that king. The gods are honored be"). All cities and houses of worship will be in bloom, the degrees- and people will not be greedy for Be money. At that time there will be so much wine in a measure that thirty people drink themselves full of it, and in an ardeb of barley- 10 grains will be so much that fifty people will be satisfied with them. Jeg- a good thing will stand well, and there will be no measure for people ").

Then this sign will occur that a star will come down from the sky- falls and falls into the ocean. In the seven seas') becomes red water flowing. A woman who drinks of that water becomes infertile and loses his mind. She sends out for men and speaks to to them: 'There you are, lie down with me."

Then other signs enter. A storm wind ") rises, with dust comes to him and covers the gates of the people. On this ver- when the king arranges a meeting, he asks the people and speaks to them: ,Have you ever seen or heard anything as it has occurred now?" But people don't know what to say to him"). According to them, be- King Wazan asks the spirits of the dead if it is written down that this event should occur at the end of the world, which was never a- '). Then the spirits of the dead speak to him: 'You know it is not that when a shining star falls from the sky, a Storm wind rises, dust comes with it, and people's houses you must know [393] that the Word that is about the end of the The world is written down*), has come to fulfillment. But you, O king, you have acted beautifully against God, that's why you need this word 30 not to worry. Yes, when you die, your spirits of the dead will become feed as well as you are alive."

After that, King Parašai Sifa, son of King Burzan, rises (Burzin). His reign lasts until the end of the worlds. In the In the years of that king there will be much prosperity and justice. It will not give a winter.

---

1) ,Is formed", as Nöld., p. 252, 9, fits poorly.

2) C has a good naryu.

8) You will not need one, because of the overabundance.

4) Which, according to popular belief, exist, cf. ZDMG XLVIII (1894), p. 667 unt. *) There is no sense. You should read NAND and go to heb. belong?

°) Read the CD.

7) I guess I should read dak: king דהאזין מינדא בדינבא דאלמא קדים להאכא לאהואת see further.

8) You probably have to supplement.

Then the living water will be cut off, it will not come and do not ascend. Green water will come from the ocean, and the souls that inhale the fragrance of that water depart from their Body.

Then pick up the star Bel from among his brothers, clothe 5 cover him with the robe of Ptahil and cover him with the cloak of Ptahil, put the crown of Ptahil on his head and put him on the throne des Ptahil. Forty-two years (he sits) in the desolate wasteland. Then say to him, 'Open up, put off your garment, your covering, and your Wreath. They belong to the Ptahil, and we want to lift them up') to the Shine of the sun, to the brightness of the moon, to the shimmer of the stars, for the power of the water, for the power of the wind, for the glow of the fire and for the tightness of the earth."

Then Bel says to them: 'Only last night I sat down on this throne, and (already) now you say: ,, Up, put down!" Then raise 15 the robe, the covering and the wreath of the Ptahil ascend to their place.

Then the great old Leviathan is freed from his bonds. The thickness of the lip of his mouth is 144000 miles. He opens the Mouth, devours the Earth Tibil and devours the seven planets with their twelve kings and five rulers "), [394] as well as all the Hmurthās, Ekurs 20 and altar spirits, the demons, Dews, Liliths and all the souls that live in the- those who denied the first life; they are cut off in the darkness. Then he presses his mouth shut- whereupon all die in his womb, and his stench from the Tibil rises in height").

Then all the Uthras of the Light earth come, stand at the edge in this world and say: "So rise on the stench of everyone"), who think of creating a world equal to this world that Ptahil created. All the way- against this world °) is said to last a thousand times a thousand myriads of years. They The world is called shine and light. All the souls of fine men, 30 who have known the first life "), will not be guilty in the Court and do not die a second death. Their souls live here in life."

Live our knowing, live our understanding '), live the Men who teach us. Life is victorious over all works 35 for all eternity.

---

1) To be understood in this way, see further, not ",because we want to lift Ptahil up".

2) Cf. pp. 13, 27. ") See p. 189.

4) Read pao h57. d) i.e. the world of light.

o) Probably read p787, see text Z. 2. 7) Read no3nd5, siche p. 177, 6.

* * *

Left part.

First book.

While the right part of the Ginză has a predominantly instructive character, the dealing with cosmogonic and cosmological things, the relationship between the good and the to show evil forces to the world and to man, and to inform the believer about his duties the left part deals almost exclusively with the fate of the soul, especially their departure. This part was rightly called the Book of the Dead of the Mandaeans. Reflections on the left part offers Reitzenstein, the Iranian Mystery of Salvation, p. 43ff. -- The first book, like the right-hand part for the most part, is in prose; it tells and admonished. The first two pieces describe Adam's behavior when leaving, his Hanging on to the world and alive, the third Hawwäs lament for the departed Spouse. The believer should be shown the nullity and reprobability of this action be. The fourth piece offers a new description of the guardhouses.

Blessed be my Lord with a pure heart.

In the name of the great, strange life, the sublime, which is above all Shine on your garment and be honored for your figure at your father there, the Lord of Greatness').

First piece.

The price of life, of the pious and of the brothers Hibil, Šitil and Anõš. - life decides to impose death on Adam, who is a thousand years old. It sends the Angel of death Şaurēl to him to get his soul. Adam cries and whines and begs, that instead of his Sitils soul would be fetched: first the grain of green and then the ears eat. Şaurēl communicates it to the first life, which agrees that Šitils And sends Şaurēl to him. Sitil sends the angel of death to Adam first he returns, but then lets himself be persuaded by him and strips off the body. He looks at the The world of light, and on his prayer Adam's eyes and other senses are also opened. Now Adam also wants to go to that world, but is rejected by Sitil. Šitil will then lifted up and welcomed by life and the Uthras.

---

1) Otherwise these benedictions are held in the first person. This is probably talking the paid copyist to the principal.

Who are the mountains that do not shake,
and the water heights'), which do not change, those who did not tremble, did not tremble,
and whose body did not tremble in his garment?

The great life is mountains that do not waver,
and water heights that do not change, that did not shake, did not raise,
and whose body did not tremble in its garment.

It is our brothers who provide abundant wage donation and alms-, who illuminated the building"), who were on the earth Tibil, who were rich in And there is a constant shortage, accompanied by, not trembling, not and their bodies were not in their robes before the storms, Lightning and clouds that did not tremble before the evil and angry the tibil trembled and trembled.

It is our brothers Hibil, Šitil and Anoš, the Naşöreans, who are full of- those who come from tested justice, the donation of wages and alms they did not forget"), who enlightened the construction, the Tibil on earth, the rich there is a lack of impulses and a consistent lack of them, but they did not shake, and their bodies were not in their robes before the storms, Lightning and clouds that did not tremble before the evil and angry creatures of the Tibil trembled and trembled').

Life pondered and cleared up. Life sat in his and he said, Well, we want the punishment of the Death over that world of the wicked and that dwelling which abounds in and there is a shortage throughout, impose it. Because Adam is now a thousand years old"). Now you should call him out of the body and get him before he gets old- before he [2] becomes decrepit, before his young children- raise and practice a lot of follies on him."

Then he called, instructed, equipped") and sent the great, first life the redeemer Saurel-Qmamir-Zīwa'), who brought the spirits and souls from the

---

1) "Water" means living water. How there are olive rods and other things there is living water (see p. 79,9; Lit., p. 211), so there are also heights of this kind.

2) i.e. the world. ") Either or to read.

4) For Hibil, Sitil and Anõš, neither the designation "our brothers" nor Näşõräer fits. They may be mentioned next to the great life, but in this paragraph, probably, as in the the previous one is about the pious, although then it is a disturbing repetition. It seems that the list was originally grouped differently.

5) See above, p. 27, 26. 6) See p. 295¹.

7) Saurēl is the angel of death, the redeemer of the soul from the body, and thus the Redeemer, see Joh. II, p. 1195. Qmamir-Zīwā is probably secondary to him as the second Beings attached. In the text it says ,the solver Saurēl and Qmamir-Ziwā"". This will be except in a poorly fitting context, Joh. II, p. 214, 13 mentioned only here. Which Pronouns and verba, which refer to saurel, were probably all originally in the singular, now they partially sting in the plural.

The body dissolves and continues. "Death" he is called in the world, but Kušṭa of those who know about him. Anyone who commits the offense, cursing to death accumulates sixty-six insults in front of you. Because he he is called, he is commissioned, he is sent out. He does not take a bribe no one receives a gift and no one exchanges it for another.

Then the great life spoke to the solver Saurel-Qmamir-Ziwa: ,Rise go down to that world of the wicked and to that dwelling which abounds in- if there is a shortage and there is a shortage all the time, Adam calls out a call and teaches him with excellent knowledge. Talk to him: ,0 Adam, first man, Mute, foolish, deaf, veiled')! Up, leave the Tibil, the empire there is a lack of impulses and a complete lack of them - because you are a thousand years old -, before you grow old, before you become decrepit, before your little ones Children rise up and practice many follies on you."

Then the redeemer Saurel-Qmamir-Zīwā descended and came to that The world of the wicked and of that dwelling which abounds in impulses and throughout Lack is. They called Adam a call and taught him with excellent Know. They said to him: 'O Adam, first man, Mute, foolish, Deaf, veiled! Up, leave the earth Tibil, which abounds with impulses and there is always a shortage - because you are a thousand years old - before you old age, [3] before you become decrepit, before your young children are rise up and practice many follies on you."

Then Adam was angry, he clothed himself in anger, clothed himself with anger and wrapped himself in anger. (Sweet, not)) bitter saliva splashed and he threw it to the ground. He curled up and did not stretch"), and his heart filled with woe. A tear fell in his eye, he screamed and whined, howled and cried. He threw himself down and stretched get on the floor. He clenched his fists, beat them against the atria of his Breast) and cried:,,O you voice that you call to me, O you excellent knowledge, that I was taught! I am now a thousand years old. In this world, in i live, only the panicles of flowers are eaten before the dates, and then the dates are eaten. First, the green grain is placed in front of the Ähren are eaten, and then the Ähren are eaten. Furthermore, in in this world in which I live, only the tender vegetables before the strong vegetables- eat, and then the strong ones will be eaten." Then he spoke to them: ,,Let us go to the mouth of the Fraš-Zīwā, to the bank of the great Jordan of the 35th And to the great edifice of our fathers, and into the habitation of- sit down to see if there are tender vegetables for eating or strong ones."

Thereupon the solver Saurel-Qmamir-Ziwā ascended, stepped in front of the great, first life and said to the great, first life: ,,You know and you are

---

2) Whose mind is veiled and unclear.

e) The words x53 N5xa are to be deleted. That the sense was ,he swallowed the sweet saliva and splashed out bitter" (N01), is unlikely. ") Dernyxt) is to be deleted.

4) See p. 106 ob.

apparently, my Father; the secret things are revealed before you. You are- no instruction and no need to ask. As for Adam, so we talked to him, but he loves the company and lust that world and does not want to leave it."

Then the great first life called and commissioned the solver Şaurel–Qmamir-Zīwā and said to him: 'Go down, go [4] to that world the evil one, and that dwelling which abounds in impulses and consistently lacks shall. Call upon Adam and instruct him with excellent knowledge. Say to him, 'O Adam! Should there be no one wiser than you, sit there, teach you good lessons, and say to you, No! Get up, ver- leave the earth Tibil, which is rich in impulses and consistently lacking, before you get old before you get old, before your little children rise up and practice many follies on you?' Say to him, 'O Adam, up, die as if you never been, and pass as if you never created would be. For your soul will be for the original container (of souls), for the the first father's house) and for the place where she used to stay."

Then they descended and came to the solver Saurel-Qmamir-Zīwā this world of the wicked, this dwelling, which abounds in- there is a lack. They called Adam a call and instructed him with treff- years of knowledge. They said to him, 'O Adam! Should no one be there, who, wiser than you, sits there, teaches you good lessons and speaks to you: No! Get up, leave the earth Tibil, which abounds in nudges and through- before you grow old, before you become decrepit, be- rise up in front of your little children and practice many follies on you?" Then they said to him, 'O Adam, come on, die as if you had never been, and pass away as if you were never created. Because your soul will be for the original container, for the great, first father's house and for the place where you in the past, he demanded.«

Then he said to them: 'O you caller, who called to me, O you excellent knowledge that was taught to me")! [5] I am a thousand years old and I want to live another thousand years. But go to my Son Sitil and call him; it is he who is needed for that world. He is younger than me, more tender than me. He is eighty years old in this world"). He has not yet stepped on the hem of a woman*), and he was there are no great fruits yet. He has not yet drawn a sword and no blood has yet been shed in the residences. It is He who is responsible for that world is needed."

Then the solver Saurēl-Qmamir-Zīwā came before the great, first life and said to him: 'Life, my Father! You know and it is obvious to you; the things that are revealed and the things that are secret are revealed before you. You need

---

1) Cf. p. 3031. 2) I read according to text 3, מאפראשליא.

8 *) For the reading and relationship of PINA ND5N2, see text Z. 15 and p. 6,12,15.

4) Nw also means the female shame, and 777 ,kicking" also has soust in Aramaic means "begatten".

no instruction. As for Adam, we talked to him, and he sent us to his son Šitil, saying,I am a thousand years old and want to live another thousand years. Go', he said, ,too my son Šitil, who is younger than me, more tender than me. He is in this World eighty years old. He has not yet got on the hem of a woman- 5 and no great fruits have yet been given to him. He still has no sword drawn and no blood shed in the Tibil yet. He is it is needed for that world."

Then the great, first life called, equipped and sent the redeemer aurel-Qmamir-Zīwā and said to him: 'Go down, go to that 1o The world of the wicked, and of that dwelling which abounds in Lack is. Call Šitil, the Son of Adam, and instruct him with- light knowledge. Say to ilım: ,O Šitil, son of Adam, rise, die as if you never have been, and pass away as if you were never created. [6] Because your soul will be saved for the original container, [for the great, first father's house] and 15 for the place where she used to stay."

Then the solver Şaurel-Qmamir-Zīwa descended and followed thisér world of the wicked, this dwelling that abounds in- there is a lack. They called out to Šitil, the Son of Adam, and- they taught him with excellent knowledge. They said to him, 'O Sitil, son 20 Adams! Up, die as if you've never been, and pass as if you've never been- it would be possible. For your soul will be for the primordial container, for the great, first father's house and for the place where she used to stay."

Thereupon Šitil, the Son of Adam, said: 'O you caller, whorufest, O thou excellent knowledge that has been revealed to me! I am in this 25 World eighty years old. I have not yet got to the hem of a woman and no great fruits have yet been given to me. I still have no sword drawn and no blood shed in the Tibil yet. Go to my father Adam. He is a thousand years old in this world. (He die) before he is old, before he becomes decrepit and before his 30 little children rise up and practice many follies on him."

Then they said to him, 'O Šitil, son of Adam! Before we get this reputation we called him to Adam and spoke to him, but your father Adam 1) sent us to you."

Then Sitil, the Son of Adam, said to himself in his mind: 'I am afraid 55 to say that I do not want to leave my body, otherwise I am still angry the big life in your own big place."

Then Sitil, the son of Adam, arose and did a great, not a small prayer. Then he laid off the trunk of flesh and blood and put on a robe [7] of splendor and an exquisite, pure turban 40 from light on. 990000 Myriad times his light shone more than that Light of the Sun, and 990000 myriad times its brightness was brighter than the brightness of the moon. A thousand times a thousand and ten thousand times ten- a thousand led him by the right and by the left. Winds, winds brought Šitil, the son of Adam, storms, storms led him, lifted they lifted him up and placed him in a great cloud of light'). He performed a Prayer, which was very big, not small. Šitil, the son of Adam, said: I make a request to you, to the first life, the second life, the third Life, to Jöfin-Jofafin, to Sam, the well-preserved Manā, to the wine- a stick that is completely alive, and a big tree that is completely healed."), that you can") my father Adam the glare from the eyes, the plugs take the piece of meat from the ears and the piece of meat from the heart*) so that he Look at the world I'm going to."

---

1) Read DNTN).

Then the weeping, the lamentation, and the submissiveness of Šitil, the Son of Adam, before the great, first life arose, and it took (Adam) the Glare from the eyes, the plugs from the ears and the piece of meat from the heart. He looked at the world that Šitil saw and spoke to him: ,,My son! Come on, come on! I want to go to that world, to the i am demanded. To this he replied to him: "Go, old man, who is without Wisdom, and great Mariba"), who is devoid of reason. Is there anyone who Spit saliva out of his mouth and swallowed it again? Out there someone who would have stepped out of his mother's womb and would have been introduced to the former place")? No! How I came out of this world years, the fetus had to come out of the mother's womb, looking like an egg yolk, the little ones') Little children come there, choosing- when your mouth is still full of milk, the sealed letters come, the virgins go, [8] the brides go, while the oil is still dripping from the wreath, the boys come through ... and the maids, by using her mouth.......... . in this world"). The landlord"), on the other hand will desire death, and the latter will not approach him until she '0) and are ashamed (of him). Anyone who says this boy

---

') See above, p. 208ff. °) See p. 191 ob.; 196, 11.

") Or "you". A change in the person, as is not uncommon, see p. 144.

4) See p. 237, 11.

") The word is also called Joh. 120, 12 used contemptuously by an old man. It is apparently disfigured, see Joh. II, p. 1176. °) Cf. Joh. II, p. 122f.

7) This must be, for example, the meaning of, which can only be found in L 17, 19.

8) The difficulty lies in the nip, which occurs twice. This means ,"Chance (who meets someone), misfortune", then "rebellion, quarrel" and finds sicl especially in the Jōšamīn pieces of the Book of John (21, 6; 26,11; 29, 11; 34, 6), see also Nöld., p. 195 unt. I don't know what to do with these considerations here. Maybe it's 72 pNDD got here under the influence of text 7,23.

o) The wealthy landowner.

10) Nöldeke takes for 522, which is found only in GL (here; text 44, 4; 62,15; 63, 9), the meaning of "throw down" at after 50 (Gram., pp. 55, 2). In 44, 4 it could be this It makes sense, but it doesn't fit in the other places. Since it seems,"despise" or ,"to make contemptible". However, this meaning could be derived from the condition "throw away".

stay here and this old man will go to the great place, in the house of the Great, be held accountable." Winds, winds brought Šitil, the son of Adam, hin, storms, storms they led him there, lifted him up, and placed him at the guardhouse- maize, the treasurer, who holds the stakes of splendor in his hand, and 5 the keys of the Kušta carries on both arms. They opened the gate for him of the treasure house, raised before him the great curtain of security in the They introduced him and showed him that vine whose interior Shine, whose sides light, whose heels water, whose branches Uthras, whose leaves shine with light'), whose seed is the great container of the 10 Souls are. They eat what is not reprehensible, and drink what is not wine shall"). Ajar-Zīwā, the son of the great, first life *They eat, and the bliss of life comes and lays over you. They squirm Wreaths of bliss and lie down on your head. They laugh, bounce, rejoice and rejoice at the magnificent splendor. They flaunted in the Lord- 15 the power that rests on you.

Šitil, the Son of Adam, said: 'On this way, path and ascent, on whom I have ascended, the true believers should also, excellent and perfect men ascend and come when they get rid of your body."

Thereupon life, the Uthras and kings of the light earth and of the light residence of the Kušta, they extended [9] the hand of the Kušta Šitil, the son of Adam.

Life supported life,
life found its own.
His own found life,
and my soul found what it hoped for"). Live our knowing, live our understanding, live the Men who teach us. Saget: Life is fixed in his skina, life is victorious.

Second piece.

The great life sends a messenger to fetch Adam(s soul) from the body zn and to get rid of the earthly shackle. The messenger comes to Adam and calls him. to strip the body. Adam cries and howls and points out in a long speech his Unent- be honest in this world. The Messenger emphasizes the wickedness of this world, and 35 ask Adam again to leave this world. Adam hurts his body

---

1) See Lit., pp. 72 unt.
") See Joh. II, p. 130. 4.
3) Cf. Lit., p. 1143.

leaving him unguarded and unattended, and he wishes to take him with him. How this is rejected he wants his wife and child to accompany him on the way. The messenger points to the The worthlessness of all earthly possessions and the difficulty of the way out. Adam complains again, having to leave the body, which, in addition to its shortcomings, also has its merits. A cloud led by four Uthras comes to meet him, and he is led by the Uthras asked to get into it. He still resists and asks again, Hawwa to be allowed to participate. He is taught that Hawwä will ascend after him, then over- his entire tribe. The sufferings of the end times are described; after that it should be ilm it would be nice to leave the world. Adam begs life to save the world from desolation to bewalıren. Life promises him and his tribe eternal salvation.

In the name of life.

When the plan started from the House of the great life, it sent the They offered to Adam to release him (him) and get him out of the body, from this world, from the foot block, the shackle, the knitting and the loops, to take him away from the earth, the Ptahil and the seven planets built in who then brought him in and let him live in it and let him sit to redeem and get out of the dirty, smelly, consuming, perishable body, the raging lion, the blazing, perishable The fire, the flowing (body), the sea, the , and the cleft '), which cannot be blocked, the Dragon, circling the world, the power of which no one has grown.

Then the soul in Adam's body thought, thought and felt too short"), by an inch she feels too short in the body. soul sitting there and talking to the ghost and the smelly body"): ,,Why if we are sitting there, why are we lying there where we are not dealing with travel expenses have you provided for our way? Soon the solver may come to us come and get us out of this world."

Once the soul spoke to the spirit and the smelly body, but the spirit and the stinking body gave her no answer. While the soul stands there and talks to the spirit and the stinking body, the Savior came near. [10] The Redeemer approached, and the messenger arrived. He came up, stepped on the feel of Adam, stepped on the feel of Adam and woke him from sleep. He said to him: ,Get up, get up, Adam, put down your stinky body, the clay skirt you were in. Put away the bodily skirt, the decaying body, in which you have been. Put off the physical garment in which you were, and beat it to the Seven and twelve, the men who created it, around the head. Lass the body immediately returns to the world, because your time has come, your measure is full of divorcing from this world'). Life has me too

---

') Which leads from the large groundwater to the surface of the earth, see also p. 208".

2) She feels cramped in the body. ") Man consists of soul, mind and body, see Lit., p. 121.

4) Lies וכעלאך שלים למינפאק מינה.

sent to you, because it demands you. Let your walk be according to the place of Life, according to the place where you used to be, according to the apartment, in the one your father is sitting on."

When Adam heard this, he whined about himself and cried. He whined and cried, and in his eye a tear came off. Adam opened the 5 And he spoke to the messenger who had come to him: 'Father! If I come with you, who will be the guardian in this so wide Tibil? Who will my wife Hawwa keep him company? Who will Plants that I planted in the ages') be a support? Who will you be a support? Who will live in this house where 10 i'm used to; who should be in it ...)? When the palm bears fruit, if the Christmas thorn bears flowers, who will be its keeper? When the The Euphrates and the Tigris, who shall approach ....") with his hand he- grab and direct the water to the plants? When the mother gives birth- bieret, who should help you")? Who shall put the cattle before the plough") 15 and who will lead the seed into the earth? Who should put the rattles in take the hand and follow the sheep for their hurdle and the antelopes following your herd? Who should keep the orphans together, who will fill the widow's pockets [11]? Who shall clothe the naked, and put a robe around his neck? Who shall release the prisoner, 20 who will settle the dispute in the village?"

To this the messenger of life, who had come to Adam, replied: ,O Adam! Get up, climb up to your place, to the good cloud, in who you used to be, to a place whose sun does not set and whose Light lamps do not become dark. Take the robe of splendor and clothe 25 you with it and help yourself in expensive light. Set yourself the wreath, the wreath the victory through which the worlds shine. Tie your belt, the (Living) water°), in order to be able to live without pain and suffering remain. Sit down on your throne of splendor, which life has given you in full- of a coming kind. Forget your carer's house, where 30 you had to endure daily, everyday persecution. Don't be sorry, Adam, about this place where you were staying, because this place is desolate, and the the whole apartment is in the desert. The works are completely- leave and do not get back together. The evil is great in you and the anger spread in every city. The sons deny 35 her father, the daughters deny their mother. The brothers kill each other,

---

1) Especially in the left part it is often uncertain whether too ,age" דארתא or too "Residence". However, the former sense generally fits better. ") pINT is spoiled, but it hardly stands for ,who should look at it?"

5) Apparently a device for watering. The origin of the word is unknown, see Jn. II, p. 48s.

4) ,Finen" probably just out of volatility instead of you" (FbnxF), or it refers to Mother and child. 5) Read NINTND3 or NTN5 ,,clamping the yoke cattle*.

o) See p. 4241.

and the sisters eat each other's flesh. Every man leaves his A married woman, and every woman leaves her husband. So that no badlet anger be released over the ages, so that no one Orphans, widowers and widows and prisoners be there, arise, Adam, and leave this world and the stinking body."

Then Adam opened his mouth and said to the messenger: 'Father! If you knew that this is so, why did you beguile me and put me in the stinky body inside? When I leave my body now, who will be his guardian? If he sleeps, who will wake him, who shake him out of his sleep? Who will give him to eat, who to drink, [12] and who will keep him company in the ages? When thunder and lightning will strike him, who will give him a palace and a building who will make him a roof? Do not come convulsions "), come don't the sun fall on him? The winds catch dust and throw Earth on him. Do not gather the birds and eat of my Bodies? From my body they eat, nest in my hair and carry from my flesh to her nest. They take off my robe, tear it [and throw it] on the dung heaps. Who shall give me a sight") be? Father! If you want me to come with you, my body will come with me as escort. My body come with me and keep me company on my way. I don't have a father and mother who accompany me as should come. Gold and silver are not worn and guided by me that I carry with me as a travel allowance, and that with me as a The escort should come."

The messenger who had come to Adam answered and said:: How does it hurt and does it grab you, Adam, around the smelly body, where you were staying! Is there a body [in the house] of life? A The body does not ascend to the house of life."

Then Adam answered the messenger who had come to him, and said: ,,Messenger of Life! If you like it and like it, come to my Wife Hawwa with me as escort and keep me company on the way. May my sons and daughters come with me and follow me on the way Keeping company."

When his wife Hawwa heard this statement from Adam, she screamed loudly and shouted. She screamed and shouted loudly, and a tear came off in her eye. She said to him: 'I want to come with you as a companion, Adam, and you keep company on your way."

Then the messenger of life who came to Adam spoke to him in the house of life there is no body; a body rises to the The house of life is not exalted. To the father and [13] mother, to brothers and Sisters, on gold and silver you can not ver in the house of life-

---

1) The sunstroke is probably meant here, see p. 852.

2) Who am I looking at? Very insecure.

dare. Each individual is paid only according to his actions, according to-payment and alms donation, the sign and baptism, and the works, which he practiced, tested. When you leave the body, you will be attached to the Security guards checked. Adam! Why should you have false brothers who are and false sisters who are good for nothing? Your Brothers are uthras of the Kuštā, and your sisters are faithful Škinās. Daily, every day they stand in the house of life and take care of you rich, long prayer. Adam! Why should you have gold in this world, the ver- go, why do you need silver, which is darkening? The way') that we have to go it is far and endless. There are no miles measured on it, no Milestones set according to the measure. Birds are left on him, and watchmen and tax collectors sit by him. The weapon is forged and the iron is ready, polished and ready. The boilers are boiling, who will save the souls of the wicked. On the way there is a sea that is without- gear is. No, each individual will bring only payment of wages and alms- make a donation and bring it over. Only his works go as a guide in front of him. The way we have to go is full of thistles and Thorn. Seven walls surround it, mountains into which there is no breach- hitting is. The chariot sits erect there, and out of a thousand it chooses a soul that is good and enlightened."

.When Adam heard this, he wailed and wept over himself, and his Back .... tears flowed down. Adam then left his body. He when he turned and saw him, he trembled. It took him, the The body, and he could not part with it. Then joined he started his hike through the Äther. Adam wanders and moves there like a bird that has not yet built a nest, has not hatched and has not yet He received boys. [14] Adam wanders and moves like a bird, which has (just) formed wings'). He flies and pulls through the And resembles an animal that is separated from its herd-is cut. He is like the four winds, and the storms drove him Fort"). He is like a lion that has escaped from the cage. He like a wild boar') that escaped from the ...). Adam went there and said: 'Woe, woe, that my brothers beguiled me, °) and forcibly into the stinking body they threw in, the pernicious lion, the fierce, fierce lion. They threw me into the dragon that circles the whole world. You they brought me and threw me among the evil planets, which daily-

---

1) See Joh. II, p. 180f.

°) This is probably the meaning of the sentence. "NS stands several times straight at wings: R 339, 1; L 88, 4; 104, 4; 111, 26, but see also R 244, 15 et seq.

3) Very insecure. There is probably a gap here, and may be disfigured.

4) Read instead בארקא.

5) Apparently also a word for cage or container. It may be spoiled under Impact of "Turban". °) Read open.

excite calm. Every day they forge weapons against me. They built for idol shrines made of clay, mirages, and daily, everyday battles they are in front of you and [play] on timpani and flutes to put me in their midst to bring it to waste. Through the power of the great life I came to you he took a seat in their midst, but I was not their companion, and did not make communion with them. I knew I was going to divorce, that I alone will divorce, alone will settle my dispute. As my Brothers, the Uthras, beguiled me, removed me from my place, and in brought the smelly body in, ugh! - since I did not enter it and I did not dwell in him for an hour, but I laid my feet on him and gave it to the seven and twelve, the men who created it-smoothed and lifted up, hurled at the head. But how beautiful my body was (after all) my body, (how ugly, on the other hand, the men who how wise and beautiful were the sculptors who formed him, and the goldsmiths who forged it!') [I5] Have a nice they formed his head, smoothed his hair and created him. You smoothed and created his hair, put his mind in his head and poured wisdom into the heart. They created him two eyes, which by day and light up the night. They created a great gate for him, which Lives. They created him two hands that work daily, without to soften*). They created two feet for him, which ran from east to Hiking west. Now the figure that was so beautiful goes there and becomes to dust and worms in the cemetery. His eyes went as a star-pictures are around, now they are darkness. The two windows are blocked, who heard the speech of life every day "). The big gate is clogged, who praised life every day"). While the hands are otherwise day and night "), without softening, now the birds are not afraid in front of my body. While the feet used to walk miles away"), now the birds are not running away. It takes me to leave him, and I cannot support him. I told myself we could go there, when- I carry my body, but then its walls burst, and he fell apart. Then I hit my body and threw it away, because he went there and became dust and worms. He went there, became Dust and worms, he divided and fell into every city." At the gate of the cemetery') brothers do not buy each other. When brothers bought each other out, no body would come to the cemetery.

No body would come to the cemetery,
the soul did not put down the body.

---

1) In apar, perhaps, Persian zer ‚gold" is included.

2) Can only belong to "be sweet, gentle". Arabic halä ‚"to be empty, to be idle" would fit, but does not come into consideration. ")

The present tense is in the text. 4) An inserted piece in verse.

When the father redeemed his son, there would be no childless') in the Tibil. When the sons redeemed their father, there would be no orphans in the Tibil.
When the husband bought his wife, there would be no widowers in the Tibil.
When the wife bought her husband, would not be called a widow in the markets*). And the messenger of life answered and spoke to him, who Adam had come: ,,O Adam! [16] How does it hurt and grab you by the stinky body you were in! Lift up your eyes and look at the cloud of light coming towards you, Adam, the four men, Sons of Light, lead. A thousand by a thousand miles the cloud draws the one who came to meet you. Wrapped up in it lie- walls of brilliance and pure turbans of light. There are prangenden in it Wreaths that are wide and endless."

The four Uthras, the sons of Light, who had come to him, they spoke to him and said to him, 'Why are you weeping, Adam, and falling a tear from your eye?"

To this he replied to them: 'I am a servant without a Master, to whom the king is bitter." Then they said to him, 'You, Adam, are the Son of the great life, the servant of the mighty life. You are the Servants of the great life, so come in peace, Chosen one, Pure, Sinless, whom life has made sinless. Come on, climb up and take a seat in the big light cloud. Your memory of the light Your parents thought of you, because you were their ...), and they lifted you up from the world of Ptahil, the world that is without value."

Then Adam opened his mouth and spoke to the Uthras, who If it pleases you, Uthras, my brothers, wait me') an hour, just an hour is waiting for me, so that after my Send Woman Hawwa that she may come with me as a companion."

To this the Uthras replied, and spoke to Adam, the chief of the whole tribe: 'Be quiet and be silent, Adam, and the peace of the Good embrace you. You go and ascend to your place, and your Woman Hawwa will ascend after you. Your whole tribe will rise- follow you up. Then all generations come to an end, and all creatures perish. All wells and seas dry up, and the rivers and streams dry up. [17] The mountains and hills will

---

1) Noniani, must have this meaning, but to me the origin of the word is unknown.

2) Of men who want to communicate with you? Again, the unfortunate Two-interpretation of 8ap.

a) Hardly, "with them"; also, "leaves", of course, does not fit.

4) Cf. Nöld., p. 851.

destroyed, falling and sinking in. Babel and Borsip are deserted and abandoned-go and become as if they never existed. The land of the Persians and the land of the Rhomaeans will be destroyed and will be as if they never exi- they would have bullied. And the Indian are falling over each other, and the Ge- the land of Simra, the land of Ture) and the Iron Mountain kill each other. They pronounce the verdict on their murderers, and the earth pronounces the verdict about the one who shed on her the blood of an Adam's Son, and images destroyed his kind. The Vögte, Häscher, Adulterers, thieves, Counterfeiters, informers, border shifters, border stone maniacs, magicians, Witches, priests, oracles, revilers, draftsmen"), fortune tellers and Chaldeans wander into the conflagration. When the earth is in ruins disintegrates"), the sky stands without stars, sun and moon in their place go back, the lights go back to their place, the four winds of the To go back to their place, all the wicked into the depths of darkness then save yourself, Adam, that you have been chosen and removed from the world the angel") and the suffering of this world. Don't do it to you sorry, Adam, for this world you left. After you leave them the little children, when they have not yet come to their senses. It leave the young men and girls, the boys and maids, when they have not yet celebrated an engagement. It will leave you the grooms and brides, and dust falls on your touch"). The nails of your bride-made jump out, and they leave the world empty. Married Men and women acquire houses and then leave them, they leave thither and end in the realm of the Seol. The elderly and householders demand [18] after death, and he does not come to them, then they leave and-voluntarily") the world. The king abandons his crown, leaving the noble let down their splendor. To the women their beauty goes, to the noble women their Charm lost, and they stride barefoot to the cemetery. You, Adam, get on and carry your case (to the King of Light and) to the great, first lives, the case concerning the world in which you were staying.

---

1) Is the area of the Indus, for the other names see p. 416 unt.

2) For magical purposes. 3) See p. 203, 3. 4) See p. 4, 20.

6) This should be approximately the meaning of N5type. In a Wedding Song Cod. Paris. 25, f.15b; Cod. 15, f.11b it says:

פוריא מכיכלה̄ להידויא ואנאניא האמרא מזיגלה̄
בית קילבא ד̄הידויא סאדאן ארקא הוא ביסארא ד̄הידויא גוביא רקיהא הוא

,Cushions are laid out for the groom,
Basins mixed with wine for him.
The feeling of the Bräntigam
was the anvil of the earth.
The groom's pillow
they were the cisterns of heaven."

The song is based on cosmological ideas (cf. R 354, 9, 21; 355, 1), but nonsense comes out. See also Lit., p. XI. °)

Actually: without your decision.

Say to the great life: ,Why did you create this world, why have you ordered the tribes away from your midst, why have you the Tibil dispute thrown? Why are you asking for me and my the whole tribe? Why did you bring the whole world to the wasteland, while no guardian was there for them, while the seven and Twelve were in their 5 to exercise dominion over the people and my tribes are you constantly under persecution? Well, if it's you, great (Life), is dear and it pleases you, do not let that world be devastated, (son- my trunks are not cut off from it, and your name, huge, first life, do not deviate from there. These Škinās, the Hibil-10 Zīwā, shall not be destroyed, the Jordan shall not go away from there- and the planets, Ruha and Christ are not the Lord-exercise a shaft over them."

Then the great first life spoke to Adam, the head of the the whole tribe: ,,O Adam! Stay calm in your enlightenment, and the 15 Rest of the good ones embrace you. Hibil-Zīwā is here, your brothers, who Uthras, are here, the whole Jordan is here. You, Adam, shall live here, your wife Hawwa will come here, and your whole tribe will follow climb up to you. This is the Škina, the one for you, Adam, and your wife Hawwa was founded before the [19] mighty, first life, until the day, 20 the judgment day, until the hour, the hours of salvation, until the great Days of Resurrection. Then you stand, Adam, and all your tribes rise up and go after your own earth'). So calm your mind and let your heart sit on its support."

And life is victorious.

This book ,When the measure of Adam was full and his bills were in the ages before him," Manda recites dHaije and explains*). He says: 'Everyone who, when he has his body, falls into condemnation and leaves the world in which he was, longing for company, gold and Silver loves, says what he does not see, and tells what he does not hear, brothers 30 and separates sons from parents, borrows and takes interest, little one ..."), pushing boundaries, boundary stones crazy and otherwise Manda dHaije will curse this Manda dHaije, he will the way that Adam, the head of the age, has gone, do not go,

---

1) This sentence is meaningless according to the preceding exceptions; they should be in the oheren Škīnā receive their permanent seat.

°) It is cin afterword to the second pieces. The introductory words correspond to the beginning of the third piece, but the quotation is based on an error, or the verse has originally also stood at the head of the second piece, see also p. 183, 25. The Note contains a warning against hanging on to the world and its possessions, which for the second, not for the third pieces of pact. A corresponding anf the third Stiick be- a curious remark is at the end of this piece.

3) Neither (see p. 1046, 382") fits.

he will not ascend and look at the place of light when the good souls to ascend to the house of life, but he will come from the great place of light and must return from the light abode."

Live our knowing, live our understanding, live the 5 Men who teach us. Life is fixed in his skinā, which Life is victorious over all works.

Third piece.

The play turns against the lamentation for the dead and ties in with Hawwā's behavior Adam's death. At Rūhā's persuasion, Hawwā makes a complaint about Adam. Hibil-Zīwā becomes 10 sent by life to comfort her and to cause her to abstain from lamentation. Hawwā follows his persuasion. This is what Rūhā and the planets conspire to do, they again to return to the lamentation for the dead. Hibil-Zīwā communicates to life the success of his step and that Hawwā yearns for the place of light, the seat of Mandā dHaijē. Because the planets oppressing her, she turns to Mandā AHaijē for help. He comes to get you out of the body get i5 zn. Rūhā seeks to restrain them on Earth. Then Hibil-Zīwā appears and holt get them out of the body. We have a change here between Hibil-Zīwā and Mandā dHaijē, as usual often. Hibil admonishes the children of Adam, where their guardians are divorced from them, to take care of yourself, and also promises you salvation. He gets the little one Šitil in the cave. The play concludes with a warning by Mandā dHaijē against the lamentation for the dead.

In the name of the great life.

This is the mystery, the book, the teachings, the persuasion and the Enlightenment'), which Manda dHaije taught and taught to the men of er- probter announced justice.

When the measure of Adam was full and he left his body [20], and his wife has given herself up to lamentation, lamentation, and pain- when she gave herself up to the long, precious day, Rūhā came, sat down before her and said to Hawwa: ,,Why do the pains of the Widows?" She brings her the lamentation of the dead") about Adam (manifold) Complaints"). She strikes her hands against each other, so that she- the earth is shaken, and he says, 'My companion! Who has leave you, so that you sit quietly and do not get angry?" Then be- gann Rūhā and all the Liliths who were with her to bring suit, and she said to Hawwā: 'Well, let us devote ourselves eagerly to the lamentation. Either of The noble ones, who do not complain about [their spouse], despise their comrades." Hawwā obeyed the Rūhā, and Hawwā accepted everything Ruha told her.

---

1) otherwise formed by p2 =22, belongs to pa here.

°) See Joh. II, p. 1151.

3) See Nöld., p. 2661. Not, for example, "with plaintiffs", see p. 441. 7.

I, Hibil-Ziwā, knew that Hawws had many sins. She stood there in thought and sorrow, and her heart was ambivalent. She stood in And he did not approach Adam.

Then life called, armed, commissioned and sent me, my father, and said to me: 'You, Creator of the tribes, to whom you belong the tribes of Adam spread! You led Adam into the wedding chamber, and you Hawwā founded a house of booing. You go, talk to Hawwā and let her heart rest on his support. Say to her: 'The soul that comes from you are divorced, the face shines in joy, she finds plenty ofhagen and leads the souls from there to himself. For the secluded, who is divorced from you, it is an imposition before the sword*). All people who bear witness to the call of life and in the otherworldly Speak, [21] depart according to the imposition before the sword and walk there on the path of life and the path on which the Men, the sons of salvation, who then turned to life and the skĭnas of the beings greatly supported in glory and salvation find. You too will, if you dry your eyes from the tear, take your arms away from your head, anger and grief from your mind remove sorrow and lamentation from your heart, soon it will be loud to follow the imposition before the sword, in the way of life go there and go out in the path of the men, the sons of salvationpull."

These words his father addressed to Hibil-Ziva, then the latter went and came before Hawwa. He turned over and smoothed his turban"), sat down sat down and spoke to Hawwa in friendly speech. Hawwā showed up and cried before him. She said to him: ,,Did you*) have you seen the soul that is divorced from me?"

.To this he replied to her: "The soul that is divorced from you is in her face shines in the comfort that she is found, she is raised up in great joy of the Light." Further he said to her: 'You are driving the follies of the planets, devoting yourself to the Grieving and lamenting, crying, scaring you and grieving you and bringing you Anger and grief in the mind ). Their alienated sense became

---

1) Whose body was still there?

2) Death is decreed over Adam before the age of the sword comes, see above, p. 259, 19.

3) As the words stand there, they do not give meaning. I suspect dab FD'nw AND) לטארטבונה be read. 4) Lies8ture.

5) The speech of Hibil-Zīwā is broken off, and in the gap there are remnants of one or more- various speeches by Rūhā and the Seven to Hawwā and a narrative by Rūhāadd. Maybe the words belong,and your eyes pressed' to gather together with a tear" still to the speech of Hibil-Zīwā. The words ,,[spoke to her] in kind speech and spoke to her in Hebrew speech" refer to Rūhā, see continue. The shape AstattA does not bother much. The following is talk of Hibil-Zīwā again.

you brought people back to the strangers'). He directed her heart after going to the house of life, her grief and lamentation took from her- sift, took the tear from her eyes and said to Hawwā: 'See, you drive their follies, but they will forgive you your sins. [22] Because the planets have seduced you. Now let your eyes shine, stand there in the joy of magnificent splendor, praise the soul, who is divorced from you, and send to her in joy prayer and praise."

Hawwa then rose, let go of the grief, the lamentation and the Woe, from the great, heavy lamentation, stood in praise2) and said, 'My sins will be forgiven to me, for Ruha and the planets they seduced me. I was sitting there complaining, making a big, heavy complaint." Hawwa then said to Hibil-Zīwā: 'Why didn't you take me with you, but did you sit down with me? You don't have my bitter sense- calm down, do not remove grief, lamentation and woe from my heart"). You did not speak to me in a strange speech, you did not talk to me in pleasant conversation and did not talk to me with pleasant Voice."

To this I replied to her: 'To the chosen one who divorced you i was a messenger. I led him past the guardhouses, to the shock and wrath of this world. I led him to Ptahil the one who created it. I showed him the house of Abathur, and Abathur held out his hand. I took him to the second'), and this one increased his splendor from his own. I brought him across the waters- streams and showed him the shining ones"), Well preserved in their škinās. I made him dwell in the chambers of the new palaces, which were not- fall. I created him a škinā of splendor, then I went and came to you."

Then she said to him: 'Why was Anoš not with me, forging not with me secret, seditious attacks")?" To this he replied you: 'He did not settle in the house of an adversary, was not fit for the The house of an enemy." Then she said to him, 'Was I his opponent when Did Adam hate him?"You weren't his opponent," he said to her,

---

1) i.e., those who are beyond, see p. 52.

2) Read ובתושביהתא.

a) Read pp. The text has ,,from my gate *.

4) See p. 78*.

5) As it is often doubtful whether a shape is too "shine" or too עור ,"be awake" (see Nöld., p. 62 °), so with this Nny, whether it is "the Shiny" or ,"the watchful ones" means. The latter sense is R 341, 19 (here p. 355, 3), probably also L 130, 9f. With the meaning "watchful"', xay could Dan with the payy. 4, 10ff. tohanging together, see also above, p. 1801. Nay BCD is only used for the rare Nay.

°) Against Adam. An enmity between Anōš and Adam is alluded to here; perhaps it is the process of which p. 127 is told. That NI WN ,,secret Making plans", not "stepping down", is certain, see e.g. R 114, 11; 258, 22; 259, 14; L 24, 6, 8.

and Adam didn't hate him. The Seven were his opponents, and the Twelve and Rüha were his persecutors'). All the planets are in anger Evil against him."

Then Rüha and the planets rose, she turned in a circle, went and said to them: 'Hawwa is unfaithful, she is through the 5 a strange voice leads to infidelity. [23] She testifies in the lovely speech*), does not take the name of Adam into his mouth with complaints and raises no lamentation and grief. She saw the strange man and won him dear, while she does not put our name in her mouth. What have because we were sitting with her, and she was grieving and lamenting greatly. let them rise up"), that Hawwa then stood up to praise, grief, Lamentation and woe left her, that she stood up and was replaced by the stranger The call lit up, spoke in the sweet speech, in the face of the stranger The man came out of the light and said to him: 'Enlighten, enlighten me, my Creator, you man who brightened me more than all uthras4), you man who took my arms away from my head, my eyes from the tear dried, grief, lamentation and grief removed from me, so- like the foolishness and nonchalance that the planets threw at me"). You she bent her ear to the strange voice and spoke in the lovely Speech."

So I left Hawwa and went to my father. I told him what the planets were and what Rūhā did to Hawwa, (Adam and the Women have done it. How I freed you from the lawsuit, your eyes from the tear dried and put it down in praise. She then forgot Grief, lamentation, and woe, and the shaking that the planets produce- have called. She stood up, raised her eyes to the house of life and to the path where Manda dHaije came from. Everyday, everyday, everyday you: , When will he be inclined to come here, who will give me the will take me out of my body and lead me the way of the sons of the And let the path of pious men go")? I want to go- divorce according to the imposition before the sword and see that man, to which my eyes look up, the place where Manda dHaije is staying, the new palaces and the chambers of the new palaces, [24] which are not-fall."

Then the planets turned against Hawwi, pursued them, and left severe persecution against them. But Hawwā turned to praise and called to Mandā dHaije, addressing the words to him: ,,You,

---

1) See Joh. 60, 9; Lit., pp. 160, 10.

°) Of the celestials. Not "for the ... speech", which it could also mean in itself. see further.

a) Read ואננידנאלה?

4) Lies נאברא דאפרישאן מן כולהון עותריא.

5) Read N5y.

*) Lies ונעיאסניאנבה.

Manda dHaije, become my savior soon and redeem me from this world, in which the ugly, pernicious fiends daily point out evil against me and to plot a secret plot against me. Because of the And because I do not listen to their speech, advise they are angry with us, and they are plotting hideous and secret plots against us against us, saying: We want the sons of Adam through the Take the sword."

Thereupon Manda dHaije set out, came there, fetched Hawwä before the- hanging of the sword and removed from her grief and lamentation. As When Hawwā saw Manda dHaije, she stretched out and fell before him and said to him: 'You have come to good, my Lord'), be- voice the imposition on me and take me away." - , Well, that Life has sent and equipped me, it has sent me here to you. To lead you over to your Father's treasure")."

Then Hawwä fell into sickness and stings"), one day and one half'). Then Ruhā came and sat down before Hawwā and spoke to her: ,"Why are you leaving life"), you noble one, and leaving the houses without Gentlemen, back to where I ask for you? Where should we go and what to trust in?"

Then Hibil-Zīwa came and taught Hawwa and took her out of the body. And Hibil-Ziwā said to the planets: 'Arise, carry the works of your Hands off and pay attention to them." Then Ruhā said to Hibil-Zīwā: 'Everything what is desirable, you get from us and what is of no value, you leave us back." Then Mandā dHaije said to Rūhā: 'You [and] the works your hands have found their place together, but the mana that in it, [25] shall ascend to the light abode." He admonished the And said to them: 'All of you admonish one another, because the keepers let you go back. I'm going to leave Hawwa in new Living in chambers that do not disintegrate, then I will come to you again, deliver you, keep you, and save you, in the place of the house of life take care, go and establish Škīnās with your Father."

Then came a fool who acted foolishly"), and said to him: "Your Forbearance will be granted to me, may I be guided, ascend, at my father and be raised up in his new skinā." Then I said to him, 'Every one of you who has fallen away will be here be raised up with you."The sons of Adam are afraid."

---

1) Probably formulaic greeting of an arrival.

2) Well read.

3) See Nöld., pp. 41, 7.

4) Read ופאלגא.

b) In the mouth of Rühā is not offensive, otherwise one would or מן פאגריך expect.

") NOW also means "to commit transgressions, sins". The one who is a fool and a sinner in general, the bad believers are exemplified.

7) Read prrnW.

crying, and a tear squeezes in her eyes. They speak to him: 'You ascend and depart from it; what are you leaving us behind?" To which he replies to them: 'I'm going there, I want a place for your mother then I want to leave and come here."

Then I went there, showed Hawwa a place there in her Skina and spoke to the great life of the tribe of Adam. Then the great Life: ,,You are sent to them as a messenger."

That's when I came, sent here to the ages and worlds. I redeemed the little Šitil, and kept him from any thing. I sat him down a wreath of splendor, redeemed him from the world and gave him a Take a seat in his Škinā. I gave him rich splendor, redeemed the sons And he lifted them up to the light abode. This living tribe and the Seven who pursued them, *********.

This is the persuasion and enlightenment that Manda dHaije taught and the men of tried righteousness, formed of flesh and blood, who say that they are aware of the grief and lamentation of the planets He spoke'): 'To anyone who clings to this persuasion- a place will be built in joy, as Adam built it [26] and his face will shine like Haww, deni wife of Adam, whose face shone in the enormous eggs of concealment2)."

This is the persuasion that Manda dHaije gave to Adam and all The tribes of Adam. He said: 'Every one of whom has a soul divorce"), give yourself to the joy of her. He does not devote himself to great, severe grief and lamentation over them, but in true joy seek he, and he will find, like Adam, who sought in the house of life, and found, spoke and was heard."

Blessed be life, life is victorious, and victorious is Manda dHaije, as well as those who love his name.

Fourth piece.

A new account of the wandering of the soul through the guardhouses, see p. 183. The rulers of the guardhouses are here: Nbaz, Nbū, the seven created by Ptahil Gestalten, [Jōrabbā?], Christ, Ewath the Holy Spirit, [Ptahil], Abathur.

In the name of life and in the name of Manda dHaijē, the Blessed One among the worlds (beings).

---

1) Read "NOT").

°) See above, p. 131°, 2367.

3) Read P1D').

This is the splendor and light of life. As the mind and soul leave the body, from the skirt of blood and meat, from the boiling cauldron, from the heated ovens, from the Ditches, ...') and pits parted, then this soul went and came across a guardhouse in which the device, foot block, torment and torment are held together they are where the guilty souls are judged with lawless rights. With a scourge of fire whips the [sorcerers and]*) witches, like worms throw them into the opening of the ovens.

As this soul stands in its place, it trembles and trembles, and its your whole form trembles in its garment. She's calling for the big one, where is the life that I loved, where is the Kuštā, which has taken its place in my heart, where is the alms that I in my pocket?"

To this they reply: 'O soul! You ascend to the place of light, why do you call for the great, noble life? Give your name and from the waves of the water, from the treasures of splendor, from the great, noble crater"), [27] from the great Jordan they have received healing and from the great sources of light."

As this soul stands in its place, it opens (the mouth), calls, shows and give her her name, her sign, her blessing, and her baptism, and what else can you get from the waves of water, from the treasures of splendor, from the great, noble crater, from the great Jordan of healings, from from the mighty sources of light and from the great, noble life hat. Then the cursed ones fell on her face and said to her: 'Go, Soul, run and get there, escape, climb up, conduct your case and if you win, speak and be heard, remember us before the great, noble life."

To which she replies to them: 'Who shall save your life from the great- thinking? You are pretenders, we are weaklings, you are gods, we are People, your own deeds and works will remember you."

I ascend, and the Uthras, my brothers, ascend before me. I ask the Uthras, my brothers, and I say to them: 'Whose is watching- this is the house, and who is tied up in it?" They reply to me Uthras, my brothers: ,,This guardhouse is that of the Nbaz, the power of the Of heaven, the great anvil of the earth. At the gates of the worlds there is a The throne is placed, and its train stretches over all the seas. Be His head is hit on the ...'), and his feet rest on the lower abaddons of darkness." Further, they said, 'In this watch- at home, the priests, priests and oracle men are tied up, giggling,

---

1) Hardly, "Nails", Nöld., p. 612. ")
According to the following pieces.

") See p. 183":

4) The meaning of here is uncertain. That it is as elsewhere הילבוניא for ,"Eggs", see p. 2367, is unlikely.

..... and ...'), the separated ones") and outstanding ones, the the men, their wives, and the women, who leave their spouses, who push the boundaries and set the boundary stones move it. You tie her up in this watchhouse and brew her") with Sword, fire [28] and fire until the day of judgment, until the 5th day of judgment The hour, the hour of salvation."

I passed that guardhouse, and I said to myself that now Fear, fear, horror and trembling in front of me are no longer there. They Soul then went there and came across another guardhouse, in which device, Foot block, torment, oppression and torment are held together, where at the souls of bad people are judged by lawless rights. With a You whip the wizards and witches, like worms you throw put them in the opening of the boiler.

As this soul stands in its place, it trembles and trembles, and its her whole figure trembles in her robe. She calls for the big one, and says, Where is the life that I loved, where is the Kušta, who has taken a place in my heart, where is the alms that I in my pocket?"

To which she is replied: 'O soul! You climb to the big place of light why do you call for the great, noble life? Give your Name and your sign, your blessing and your baptism, which you received from the Waves of water, from the treasures of splendor, from the great, noble Craters, from the vast sources of light and from the great, noble You brought life."

How this soul stands in its place, opens it (the mouth), calls, shows and gives her her name and her sign, her blessing and her baptism, and what else can this soul get from the waves of water, from the treasures of the From the great, noble crater, from the mighty springs of the He brought light and great, noble life. Then the cursed ones fell and they said to her, 'O soul, run and get there, escape, climb up, lead your case and win, remember our before the great, noble life."

To this she replies to them: 'Who shall honor yours before the great one?' Remember life? You are [29] Stretching, we are weaklings, you are Gods, we are human, your own deeds and works will become your memory."

I ascend, and the Uthras, my brothers, ascend before me. I ask the Uthras, my brothers, and I say to them: 'Whose is watching- this is the house, and who is tied up in it?" Reply to my question

---

1) and NDNTN3 probably also denote vegetabilia, but are unknown. That Throw down the scarf probably for magical purposes.

") NNWD, see p. 277', 280°.

") Read p5p582) despite "sword". I also thought about p3D, but this one finds in the sense of "tormenting" only in paël.

to me: 'This guardhouse is that of the wise scripturalist Nbu'), before to whom these books of his have been laid down, and whose memorial book is on his Hands are2). At the top of his book, woe is cast down for him, at the end of his book he cries woe, woe!" They also spoke to me: ,,In this watchhouse are the outstanding and secreted Scribes who see with their eyes, hear with their ears, with to call out to their mouths, to know in their hearts, and yet to do no good. You tie her up in this guardhouse and brew her with sword, brand and fire until the day, the day of judgment, until the hour, the hours of Salvation"

I passed that guardhouse, and I said to myself that now Fear, fear and horror of me are no longer there. This soul then went there and came across a guardhouse in which the device, foot block, torment, Oppression and torment are held together, where one is left with lawless rights judge the souls of the wicked. Whipping with a fire whip man the sorcerers and witches, like worms you throw them into the opening oven.

As this soul stands in its place, it trembles and trembles, and its her whole figure trembles in her robe. She's calling for the big one, and he says, 'Where is the life that I love, where is the Kuštā, which has taken its place in my heart, where is the alms that I in my pocket?"

To which she is replied: 'O soul! You climb to the big place of light why do you call for the great, noble life? [30] Give your Your name and your sign, which you took from the waves of the water, from the And from the great, noble crater."

As this soul stands in its place, it opens (the mouth), calls, shows and gives her her name and her sign, her blessing and her baptism, and what else is there about her, she who came from the waves of the water, from the treasures of splendor, from the mighty fountains of light, and from the great, he brought a great life. Then the cursed ones fell on their faces and they said to her, 'O soul, run and get there, escape, climb up, lead your cause and win, remember us before the great, noble life."

To this I reply to them: 'Who shall honor yours before the great one Remember life? You are extroverts, we are weaklings, you are gods, we are human beings, your own deeds and works will remember you."

I ascend, and the Uthras, my brothers, the sons of Light, rise up in front of me. I speak to the Uthras, my brothers: ,,Whose This is the guardhouse, and who is bound in it?" You reply to that me: ,This guardhouse is that of the seven figures that Ptahil-

---

1) See p. 205 unt.

2) See p. 206, 15.

he called. They are clothed with roses, covered with roses. wreath fornication and fornication is laid on their heads. Fornication and shame is placed in your bosom. Their breasts are exposed to shame, their side slashed them to misdeeds. The dispute is over for you- they are cast out, strife is spread for them, and their heads are hidden from them." 5

I also ask and say: 'Who is in this watchhouse, the Ptahil evoked, tied up?" To this the Uthras reply to me, my Brothers: ,,In this watchhouse those are tied up who go to the house go to the Tammūz, sit there for 28 days, slaughter sheep, mix basins, Throw down the cake and sit in mourning in the house of the Dilbat'). The True-10 sages and fortune tellers, the magicians and witches, the boogers and boohle- thieves and thieves, those who are at the gates of their Comrades stand and listen to the words, open the gates, [31] who do not close their hands, who vomit what their hands do not sealed, release the shackles that your hands did not close, which is something 15 take what their hands have not laid down, who sell their milk, their kill their own children and feed the children of their comrades by begging for bites and cups that kill their own children and the children to feed their comrades, they are tied up in this watchhouse and brewed with sword, brand and fire, until the day of judgment, until 20 at the hour, the hour of salvation."

I passed that guardhouse, and I said to myself that now Fear, fear and horror of me are no longer there. This soul then went there and came across another guardhouse, in which device, foot- block, torment, oppression and torment are held together, where at 25 the souls of bad people are judged by lawless rights. With a You whip the wizards and witches, like worms you throw put them in the opening of the boiler.

As this soul stands in its place, it trembles and trembles, and its her whole figure trembles in her robe. She calls for the big one, 30 where is the life that I loved, where is the Kuštā, which has taken its place in my heart, where is the alms that I in my pocket?"

To which she is replied: 'O soul! You climb to the big place of light why do you call for the great, noble life? Give your 35 Your name and your sign, your blessing and your baptism, and what else from the waves of the water, from the treasures of the final glory, from the great, noble crater, from the great Jordan of healings, from the mighty sources of light and from the great, noble life you got it." 40

As this soul stands in its place, it opens (the mouth), calls and show their name and their sign, their blessing and their baptism, and

---

1) Or Dlibat. See p. 176, 16ff.

what else is there about her, she who came from the waves of the water, from the treasures of splendor, from the mighty sources [32] of light, and from the great, he brought a great life. Then the cursed ones fell on their faces and they said to her: 'Run, soul, escape, get there and climb up, conduct your case and be victorious, remember us before the great, noble life."

To this I reply to them: 'Who shall honor yours before the great one Remember life? You are extroverts, we are weaklings, you are gods, we are human beings, your own deeds and works will remember you."

I ascend, and the Uthras, my brothers, the sons of Light, rise up in front of me. I ask the Uthras, my brothers, and speak to to them: 'Whose guardhouse is this, and who is tied up in it?" On it answer me: 'In this watchhouse, the great ones who live with great Take bushels and give them with small bushels, the interest and interest-take interest. She ties you up in this watchhouse and brews you with Sword, brand, and fire until the day, the day of judgment, until the hour, the hours of salvation."

I passed that guardhouse, and I said to myself that now I was afraid, Fear, terror and trembling in front of me are no longer there. This soul then he went and came across another guardhouse, in which the device, foot- block, torment and torment are held together, where you are left with lawless rights the souls of bad people. With fire whips you whip the Wizards and witches, like worms, you throw them into the opening of the cauldrons.

As this soul stands in its place, it trembles and trembles, and its your whole form trembles in your garment. She's calling for the big one, and says (to him): 'Where is the life that I loved, where is the Kušta that took place in my heart, where is the Althe moses I carried in my bag?"

To which she is replied: 'O soul! You climb to the big place of light why do you call for the mighty, noble life? Give [33] your Your name and your sign, your blessing and your baptism, and what else from the waves of the water, from the treasures of splendor, from the the mighty sources of light, from the great, noble crater, from the you have brought the great Jordan of healings and of the great, noble life."

As this soul stands in its place, it opens (the mouth), calls, shows and gives her her name and her sign, her blessing and her baptism and what else can this soul get from the waves of water, from the treasures of splendor, from the mighty sources of light and from the great Brought life. Then the cursed ones fell on their faces and spoke to her: ,,Run, soul, and escape, lead your case and win whether, remember us before the great, noble life."

To this I reply to them: 'Who shall honor yours before the great one?' Remember life? You are extroverts, we are weaklings, you are gods, we are human beings, your own deeds and works will remember you."

I am ascending, and the Uthras, the sons of Light, are ascending open up to me. I ask the Uthras, my brothers, and speak to them: Whose guardhouse is this, who guards it, and who is tied up in it?« To my question, they reply to me: 'This guardhouse is that of the magician Christ, the Son of the Spirit of Lies, who claims to be the God of the Naşoreans has thrown up')." Further, they say to me: 'In this watchhouse are tied up the "holy") men and women, the virgin men and women, the unmarried men and women, the men who are after no Women, and the women who do not desire men, the children so that they have none to destroy the children in their bodies*), who cut off their living seed, which was brought to them from the house of life has come. You tie her up in this watchhouse and brew her [34] with Sword, brand, and fire until the day, the day of judgment, until the hour, the hours of salvation."

I was walking past that guardhouse when I told myself that now I was afraid, There are no more horrors and tremors in front of me. I went and poked on another guardhouse, in which the device, foot block, torment, oppression, Bondage and torment are held together, where one is left with lawless rights the souls of bad people. Whips with fire whips man the sorcerers and witches, like worms you throw them into the opening oven.

As this soul stands in its place, it trembles and trembles, and its her whole figure trembles in her robe. She's calling for the big one, where is the life that I loved, where is the Kušta, who has taken a place in my heart, where is the alms that I have in my pocket?"

To which she is replied: 'O soul! You climb to the big place of light why do you call for the great, noble life? Give your name and your sign, your blessing and your baptism, which you received from the waves of water, from the treasures of splendor, from the great Jordan of the Healings, from the mighty sources of Light and from the great, noble You brought life."

As this soul stands in its place, it opens (the mouth), calls, shows and gives her her name and her sign, her blessing and her baptism and what else is there about her that she brought from the waves of the water, from the Treasures of splendor, from the great Jordan of healings, from the it has brought great sources of light and great, noble life. Then the cursed ones fell on her face and said to her: 'O soul, run and get there, escape and climb up, lead your case and if you win, speak and be heard, remember us before the great one, noble life.«

---

1) See pp. 25, 27.

2) See p. 1363.

") I read prino) with BD instead of pro) AC.

To this I reply to them: 'Who shall honor yours before the great one?' Remember life? [35] You are extroverts, we are weaklings, you are Gods, we are human, your own deeds and works will become your memory."

I ascend, and the Uthras, my brothers, the sons of Light, rise up in front of me. I ask the Uthras, my brothers, and speak to to them: 'Whose guardhouse is this, and who is tied up in it?" On it the Uthras reply: 'This watch-house is that of the Ewath, the holy One Spirit." Further, they say to me: 'In this guardhouse they are tied up the fasters and the fasters, who fast a fast of iniquity and a prayer those who hunger for bread and do not eat, for water thirsty and not drinking, sitting there in sorrow and sorrow, your head just stretch') and do not offer a greeting. She ties you up in this Keep watch and brew them with sword, brand and fire until the day, the day of judgment, until the hour, the hour of redemption."

I passed that guardhouse, and I said to myself that now Fear, fear, horror and trembling in front of me are no longer there. They Soul then went there and came across another guardhouse, in which device, Foot block, torment, oppression and torment are held together, where you can the righteous judge the souls of the wicked. With a You whip the wizards and witches, like worms you throw in the opening of the furnaces.

As this soul stands in its place, it trembles and trembles, and its her whole figure trembles in her robe. She's calling for the big one, hehren Leben, saying, 'Where is the life that I loved, where is the Kuštā, who has taken a place in my heart, where is the alms, the i carried in my pocket?"

To which she is replied: 'You soul ascend to the great place of light why do you call for the great, noble life? Give your Names [36] and your sign, your blessing and your baptism, and what or else it is on you who have come from the waves of the water, from the treasures of the From the great, noble crater, from the great Jordan of the Healings, from the mighty sources of Light and from the great, noble You brought life."

As this soul stands in its place, it opens (the mouth), calls, shows and gives her her name and her sign, her blessing and her baptism and what else is there about her, this soul from the waves of water, from the treasures of splendor, from the mighty sources of light and from the great, noble life. Then the cursed ones fell on her And they said to her, 'Soul, run and get there, escape

---

1) Who keep the head stiff, without inclining it to salute. Inmerically uncertain. נגר is found in this piece in the sense of "torturing, tormenting", but it seems to me this will fit less zn.

and rise up, conduct your case and win, speak and become hearken, remember us before the great, noble life."

To this I reply to them: 'Who shall honor yours before the great one?' Remember life? You are extroverts, we are weaklings, you are gods, we are human beings, your own deeds and works will remember you."

I ascend, and the Uthras, my brothers, the sons of Light, rise up in front of me. I ask the Uthras, my brothers, and speak to to them: 'Whose guardhouse is this, and who is tied up in it?" On it the Uthras, my brothers, say to me: 'In this watchhouse are the Evil, which provoked Ptahil. In it are the great powers-haber') and rulers who sit on the thrones of rebellion, to carry out their actions with the scourge and shed blood in the tibil. They acquit the guilty and condemn the innocent. You accept bribes and receive gifts. They twist the right, bend the right. They go out into the streets of the Tibil and say, what they do not see, tell what they do not hear, swear oaths [37] the And witness a testimony of iniquity. She ties you up in this overwatch- and brew it with sword, and with fire, and with fire, until the day when Days of judgment, until the hour, the hours of salvation."

I passed that guardhouse, and I said to myself that now I'm afraid, Fear and horror of me will no longer be there. I went there and came to the guardhouse of the old, high, hidden and guarded Abathur. I ask the Uthras, my brothers, and I say to them: 'Whose Guardhouse is this one, and who is tied up in it?" I will reply to that the Uthras, my brothers: ,,This is the guardhouse of the old, high, verborrowed and stored Abathur. The carriage is raised in front of him. He weigh works and wages. He weighs and unites the mind with the soul. Anyone who proves to be of great importance during weighing is lifted up and grant him a Stiitze in life. Who is not full when weighing-as it turns out, the litigation is already being settled there."

I ask and speak: , Who is all in this watchhouse of Abathur tied up?" To this they reply to me: 'In this the Naşoreans are tied up, who were not Näşoreans, who did not know the eve of the day") and did not go to the temple on Sunday, who did not bow their heads, did not they taught") and did no service*) who did not give alms to the poor and did not open their gates to the poor, who had wronged themselves They settled their names by calling themselves Näşoreans."

As this soul stands in its place, she looked and saw the Ajar-gufnā (ether-vine), the son of Piriawis-Gufnā, whose

---

1) Siche p. 136".

2) See p. 283, 17.

") Since "NEDN5 can be both "NED N5 and "NEDN N5, it is doubtful whether it ,,not learned" or ,,not taught" means.

4) Not just worship, but general activity in the service of the faith.

Heels of water, whose root is the trunk of souls, whose branches Uthras, whose leaves are lights of light'). A leaf took this soul from him and put it on his eyes. Then she was blinded by and she looked at the outer Ãther and the light 5 Residence. They lifted up the fold of life's clothes for this soul and it was introduced, it was based on the image of life").

Life supported life,
[38] life found its own.
His own found life,
and my soul found what it hoped for.

Live our knowing, live our understanding, live the Men who teach us. Life is firmly established in his Škina, which Life is victorious over all works").

---

1) Siche Lit. , pp. 72 unt.

2) See also Lit., p. 84, 4f., where the words are incorrectly reproduced. ND)Nכ heißit next to ,,arm, side, lap" anch,,Kleiderfolde, Tasche", and this meaning is here, see also text 131, 16. It is uncertain what is meant by the "image of life" here.

3) Cod. Sorry, there is still: niind anon האכא לתית סידריא דבימאניא הינון ס--א pint this is the book that Mandā dHaije taught and taught to the souls of the Watchers: from here down the books are the Mānās."

Second book.

The second book hestelt ans 28 Stiicken with a uniform entry, in which the The soul introduces itself as the Mānā of life. Most of the topics are also related to the content near. The man complains that ilm is being removed from his original home and returned to the- the earth was thrown into the body of the wicked. On his call comes a Helpers, usually alone, but also with other bullies, as in Stiick 8, see also Piece 27. The helper enlightens him and comforts him, he admonishes him to persevere and ver- tell him the reward of this world and the salvation of this world. The helper will be in these Usually NEYN), which can also be required by the creator. The former Sin 1 it shows that it is needed next to it. Some pieces deviate from the main form ab, and even otherwise contradictions show up. The collection does not come from the same Author, and cinige Stiicke probably only got the matching from the compiler Get introduction. The piece above, p. 327f', also has a related content anderc introduction. In piece 1, the NP3YiND is sent by Mandā dHaije. In piece 10 only the forefather to whom the Mānā turns is named. He is apparently not the 470, 17f. The Father then sends a helper to him. In piece 15, the the Mānā was first invited by the great ones to enter the hull and go to the planets. He tnt it. the planets are trying to pull ilm into their nets, but he thwarts their attempts. The Mānā then calls for his helper and asks iln. to bring iln up again. In accordance with the fief, the helper does it. Also in pieces 16, 19, the male is first asked to enter the body. In pieces 14, 19, 21, 24, 25 the Mānā is called Adam, in piece 18,,the hidden Adam* in In contrast to the physical torso, while in Stiick 8 just this Adam is called. On the whole, the Sermon is a book of consolation to read for those who know the Scriptures to speak to those you don't know. The number 28 came up.Reitzenstein together with the lunar stations. By the number of lunar stations, the number became 28 popular, and it may be that the compiler deliberately chose them. but to the moon- he hardly thought about the stations himself.

In the name of the great life, may the community and the Blessed- and a remission of sins granted to me, the NN soul, the The soul of my wife, (the souls of) my children, my Father NN, my mother NN, as well as the souls of our fathers, our Masters, our brothers and our sisters, who have left their bodies they are divorced and still in their bodies.

O gentle Mānā,
o orderly, well-ordered Mānā, o
gentle Manā,
may helpers come with you,
until the scales weigh
Works and wages.

First piece.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. --
I am a mana of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I
am a Manā of the great life.
Who let me live in the Tibil?
In the Tibil, who let me live,
who threw me into the physical hull?
Who threw me into the physical hull,
who is without hands and feet?
He has neither hands nor feet
and I don't know how to lie.
He lies there and crawls
and is without power.
Why did they call me [39] away from my place, took me there and threw me in the hull? My feet are feet of shine, now you need to serve the trunk for walking.
My mouth is a pure mouth,
now he became a mouth for the trunk.
My eyes that were opened from the place of light,
now belong to the hull.
My heart that selnet after life, came
there and was given to the hull.
My meaning, in which life dwells,
have you cast in (physical) casings here.
My feet have planted chosen planters, now
they are on the path of the trunk.

The path of the trunk is,
don't leave me the Seven on my') paths.
How must I obey, how must I tolerate,
how must I calm my mind!
How must igh hear of the seven and twelve mysteries,
how must I moan *)!
How must the speech of my mild Father
dwell among the dark beings!

When the Mānā said this,
his reputation rose to the place of light.
Manda dHaije heard my call
and sent his messenger to me:
,Go, my pure messenger,
show yourself to the Mānā that he shines.
If you don't show yourself to the Mānā,
the ephemeral ones despise him."
In a hidden glow there stood the messenger who came to him.
He stood there in splendor
and revealed himself to Manā, the Son of the mighty (life).
He screamed and let him hear his voice
and set his heart on his support:
,,Light and enlighten, Manā!
I have come to you and I will not leave you.
When they call you,
climb up to the place of light.
They created me
and sent to you.
Up, leave, Mānā,
the hull you're thrown into,
the trunk in which you grew up, who is without hands and feet.
Rise, rise to your ancestral homeland,
to your good seats of the Uthras.
Dwell among the Uthras, your brothers,
sit there as you are used to.
Find your home location
and curse the world of deception in which you were").
Your shine will remain on you,
stand up in your hidden light.

---

1) Read לְדירכאי.

2) Read ON nba.

a) Siebe Lit., p. 160.

[40] Let your splendor come before you,
and let your light be fixed behind you.
May your throne be established as it was established,
and the seven will be without well-being." —
And life is victorious.

Second piece.

I am a mana of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life,
I am a Mānā of the great life.
Who threw me into secrets and beckons? In secrets and beckons, who threw me, who cast me in deficiency and in error')?
In defectiveness and defectiveness, who cast me, who showed me the picture of ...2)?
Who made me dwell on the earth of destruction"), where all
the mountains will soon be destroyed?
All the exalted ones that are on it will be destroyed, their power will be cut off among them.

How the mana stands and thinks,
here comes the man, his helper.
His great helper is coming,
who provided for him, who provided for him well:
,According to the house in which you live,
why do you ask?
You didn't know, Mānā,
that it will happen as you said")?
We submit ourselves") in secret,
that you leave her quickly.
Soon you will leave her
and climb up to us.

---

1) 72N ,casting" is supported by text 39, 5. Of course, it would be better to have i fell down", cf. the previous jND7 and D.

°) Again, the sense of N71D is dark, see p. 2591. ,Matte" or .,Celebration of" paft not here either.

a) Here is probably to read after suffering.

4) But probably to be taken as a question.

8) Actually, "we undervalue ourselves", but originally maybe another The word stood.

To us you shall ascend
and stay in our Škīnā."

When the helper spoke thus to the Mānā,
he locked the door and calmed down. The Manā closed and calmed down and no longer asked about the ephemeral.
He no longer asked about the ephemeral,
who built the dilapidated house.
He tolerated himself for a short while and lived in it'), but soon he flew up and got to his place.
Soon he got to his place,
the place from which he was created,
the place from which he was created
and in which his form was illuminated.
The mana rejoices in his heart [41] and clears up in his trunk:
,How wonderful is what you told me, Father*),
how wonderful that the great (life) abandoned
me. Go, go, your planet,
go, become a share of your houses.
Go, become a share of your houses,
and your houses may become a part of you.
I and the root") of my father rise up,
the house will leave around you." —
And blessed be life.

Third piece.

I am a Manā of the great life,
I am a man of tremendous life,
I am a mana of the great life. Who threw me into the suffering of the world')?
In the suffering of the world*) who threw me,
who put me in the evil darkness?

---

1) In this book, skin and 787 are together. The original version- binding is 530 ."endure and tolerate," and so it stands at L 79, 20 (Lit., pp. 158, 1). but from this it was made unmistakably 77) 530 , "endure and dwell (in ...)".

e) BCD (also sorry.) after that, "what my father told me".

") Sorry. has NW.

Sorry, "of the worlds".

Who put me in the evil darkness,
who showed me the blazing fire?
Who showed me the fire,
and who threw me into the murky water,
from which the spoilers are formed.
From this the spoilers are formed,
and therefore they become cloudy. Maybe I'll be held back and my shape is clouding like their shape.
Maybe my shape is clouding
and my speech gets lost away from my parents.

How the Mānā stands and seeks to clarify himself,
here comes the man, his helper.
,,You are not a part of the suffering that you ponder over,
you are not a part of the darkness that will put an end to
you. You are not a part of the fire, that you may see the blazing fire.
You are not a part of the turbidity,
that your form may become cloudy like them.
You are a part of the brightness,
which is without turbidity.
You are a part of the light earth,
where there is no darkness that will put an end to you.
You will win, Mānā,
and your own figure will enlighten you. Your mind will firmly support you,
and your heart will be a helper and builder for
you. Stay in the world and live in it, until we ask for you.
[42] When we ask for you,
we will come here and come to you.
We will go here and come to you,
then we will take you out') and to your treasure house [lift up."
How his father supported the Manā,
he spoke and sang miraculous hymns.
He spoke and sang miraculous hymns
and in his mind he searched about the ephemeral things
,Why don't I submit, [lighten.
where the strength of my father supported micl to a great extent?
For a long time I endured it and longed for the world,
for a long time I lived among the works of my hands.

---

1) Sorry. has prn.

For a long time I lived in it,
until my number became full.
Where my number is full,
i remembered the meaning of my native house.
I was thinking of the first tannā'),
from which all uthras were created.
My great helper came to me,
the man who supported me to a great extent,
the man whose power stayed with me
and [my heart?] in the world calmed down.
He grabbed me with his right hand, lift me up to my treasure house and hide me there.
When I saw my treasure house,
I forgot about the empty apartments.
I spoke with the speech [of the Uthras?]") and lit up,
and my foreheads were put on me by his blessing on the [Heads turned."
Blessed be the great life, life is victorious.

Fourth piece.

I am a mana of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I
am a Manā of the great life.
Who took me out of my treasure house? Who took me out of my treasure house, who threw me into the house of the Fourth")? Who threw me into the Fourth House,
that the bad guys are breeding on me?
The wicked are angry with me and they think evil of me every day. They are sinning against me in (evil) senses
and speak:
,We want to cut him off with us, we want him back with us-
and shut off from its places of origin. [let
We want to block him [43] from his places of origin, and he will be a part of us."

---

1) See above, p. 151".

2) A word has come up behind; perhaps Nary 7 is to be found, cf. Text 43, 7f.

*) i.e. Ptahils.

The Mānā ponders and speaks:
.,Maybe they cut me from my father's place of origin
How the Mānā stands and thinks, here [starting.« comes the man, his helper.
His great helper is coming,
who brought him here: ,,Mānā!
Do not ponder and do not consume yourself
and do not grieve for the perishable.
The disgraceful Ephemeral fortunes do not cut you off and leave you with him. They will not be able to leave you with them and shut
you off from your father's place of origin. The power of your Father is with you,
and the speech of the Uthras rests on you."

When the Mana heard this,
he no longer brooded in evil and made the plans of the ephemeral to nullify. He cried') with a loud voice
and witnessed the light shoot.
He cried") with noble, otherworldly praise, then
the great helper came to him.
[The great helper came to him]
and took him out of the world:
,Get up, Manā, come with me,
go with me to your place.
Put on your hidden robe, to the destruction") and not to cling to anger.
Corruption and anger are not attached to him; the Uthras put it on and flaunted."
The treasure that he bestowed on him, life took on"), the messenger who came to him was victorious.
Life set up the Mānā, and
the messengers set him up in his place.
- And life is victorious.

---

2) Read קראבה.
") This sense fits hesser than here."Pass away, eat", see p. 9,4.
*) Not quite sure.

Fifth piece.

I am a man of great life,
I am a man of tremendous life,
I am a Mānā of the great life,
a son of rich splendor, a son of bright glory. Why did they expose me to my splendor, did they take me there and throw me into the physical garment?
In the physical garment they threw me,
which he') put on and took off.
Welı and suffering are in my physical garb,
in which they brought me and threw me.
How often do I have to take it off, how often to put it on.
should always settle my dispute
and do not look at life in its skīnā.

How the Mānā stands and seeks to clarify himself,
[44] here comes the man, his helper:
,,You shall live with me,
and in your heart we will take a seat.
We will take a seat in your heart
and lift you up to your noble skinā.
Quickly passing, I want to make and pull together the months, same . . . . .2).
Let your measure be like nothing,
I want to make the whole world contemptible").
You belonged to me here*), now I want to take you out of the world and lift you up. I want to take you away from her and lift you up i want to leave everyone quickly.
I want to leave everyone,
let them all die and perish.
You are my image,
I will lift you up and keep you in my robe. In my robe, which the great (life) grants me,
in the pure fragrance that it entrusts to me.
That robe you were in, I want to beat the head of the one who created it.

---

1) A change in the person, see p. 144.

2) here, apparently, denotes a concretum formed by. Chew n „Splinters". Something like pr% will have been behind it.

3) See above, p. 428^{10}

4) Sorry. hat painy. What is there does not fit the following; perhaps it הועתליא is or to read jtnyin.

Because they fall and pass away
the men who made it. The men of the order pass away')." He became a helper to the Mānā.
He tasted and caressed him and put his blessing on him. From his blessing he laid on him and consolidated him in the Škinā of his fathers. - Life is victorious over all works.

Sixth piece.

I am a mana of the great life,
I am a mana of tremendous life,
I am a mana of the great life. I am strengthened by the grace of my Father. I am strengthened by my Father's grace,
i shine in the splendor about which she enlightens me. Still I could not rejoice at the mercy of my Father, do not yet understand the splendor about which she enlightens me. Insidious3) they put me in the tibil, they drove me out of my place and my place. They drove me out and took me out of my place, drive me out of my father's house. The maker of bodies shall be smitten and put to death,
he created the world with his plans.
The planets are to be beaten and cursed, who were at the forefront of his creation.
I want to escape (from) under your hand,
will go and accept the grace of my Father, will accept [45] the splendor about which she enlightens
me. I want to rejoice all his treasure, be perfected by all his wisdom").

How the Mānā stands and ponders,
is the man, his helper, approaching,
the great helper comes near:

---

1) Who have been commissioned with the production?
2) Insecure. Sorry. has FNDy and FNDyl, which palt worse.
a) Cf. Joh. II, p. 1164.

If') you want to accept the grace of your Father,
accept the splendor about which she enlightens
you, when you accept all your treasure and rejoice in it, if you want to be perfected by all your wisdom, if you want to set yourself up right,
stay and live in the world.
Stay and live in the world,
until your measure becomes full of you, until your measure becomes full and quite will be the number that they awarded you. Then I want to come to you with rich splendor
and with light without end."

For a long time I waited and lived in the world,
until my measure was full.
My measure was full, and my number was gauz,
then my helper came and came to me.
He took me away from their midst, lifted me up and set me up in the house of perfection. I understood the grace of my Father,
i understood the brilliance about which she enlightened me.
I was delighted with the treasure that (my father) created,
and was perfected by his wisdom"). - -
And life is victorious.

Seventh piece.

A Manā am icl of the great life,
I am a man of tremendous life,
I am a Mānā of the great life.
Who threw me into the misery of angels?
Who threw me into the misery of angels,
who are ugly, whose scent smells bad
and whose shape is ugly and misshapen?
Even ugly is her figure;
who threw me under them?
How should I grow up among them,
where their residences are not suitable for me?

---

1) Read Y.
2) Feel good and read.

How should I dress her robe
    and live in your apartment?

How the Mānā stands and seeks to clarify himself,
    his helper came to him.
His helper came to him
    and made him hear a bright call.
[A bright call] he made him hear
    and spoke to him in brilliant speech:
‚Abominable is the smell of angels,
    but [do not care]') about their smell, [46] since it is on you [does not stick.
When their shape is misshapen,
    why are you asking about them?
You heard our voice,
    our imperishable speech was heard by you.
We spoke to you with our brilliant speech"),
    so stay and live in the house of misery.
The angels are hideous,
    her own darkness made her hideous. Look at us and keep yourself pure and turn your gaze to your place.
Turn your gaze to your place,
    we are yours.
We are with you,
    and your form shines through us."

When he spoke thus to the Mānā, he prayed a righteous prayer. He performed a proper prayer and prayed in firm
words: ‚I heard my helper"),
    now I will endure and dwell in the world.
I want to endure in the world and live in it, as long as my helper likes
it. If my helper likes it, let him go and come to me.
He will go and come to me
    and get me out of the misery of the angels.
Out of the misery of the angels he'll get me, their shape is ugly and misshapen."

Soon my helper came,
    he brightened me up and enlightened me.

---

1) This or similar is to be supplemented. 2) Read מאמלאלאן 3) Read roww.

He took me out of my body and led me away under his escort. He brought me') according to the treasure to which he went, and strengthened me in the place where he was strengthened.
He strengthened me and made fellowship
with me and counted me on his own account.
.- Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Eighth piece.

A Manā") I am of the great life, I am a Mānā of mighty life, I am a Manā of the great life,
who I left to come into the world. To get into the world I broke up, their inhabitants do not notice it at all.
Don't your residents notice me altogether,
not all worlds perceive me.
For a long time the Ãons did not notice me,
until I was thrown into the hull.
Until I was thrown into the hull
and Adam stood on his feet.
‹Adam stood on his feet,
while sleep [47] overwhelmed him.)
When Adam stood on his feet, he cursed the man, his Creator"). He cursed the maker of bodies*),
in whose hands his works did not become right.
Then his works were justified in his hands.",
until he created Adam?
Until he created Adam,
until this one resembled his image,

---

2) Read godmother.

°) See for this Stiicke Reitzenstein, The Mandaean book of the Lord of the Size, p. 92.

3) According to the following, NESN) is to be understood here in this sense.

4) Siele Lit., p. 102 ob.

") Read ppryoy with BC and sorry., i.e. ppn wypy, see Nöld., pp. 434 unt.

until he was full of living fire, how his father had filled him with it. He created and did not make it right,
until he created the wrong hull.
He created the wrong hull
and the empty hostel.
They drive me away from my place and drove me out of the midst of my brethren.
They drove me out of the midst of my good brothers, from the midst of the well-armed,
well-equipped. When will I leave the hull, will entrust him to destruction and destruction,
will leave his works,
will the rebellious ruin close?
I will ascend to my place, the planets will then fall down without getting up.

How the manā stands and enlightens himself
suclt, and his helper came to him, as well as his own protectors
and the great, good ...[1]) who accompanied him:
,,On, Mānā, leave this world!
The perversity that pained you will become their own masters [take over.
The sleep you woke up from,
will turn and press on you.
Up, dress with the rich luster and cover yourself with the expensive light. Tie the belt of open eyes around you, he is all eyes, all eyes."

The Mānā ascended from them, and the planets surrender to the suit. Every day they surrender to the lawsuit, every day they eat around me ...2).
They lie on mats,
the bad guys are sitting there like prisoners.
The Manā ascended to the house of life and did not brood in grief and lamentation.
In grief and lamentation he did not ponder, there was nothing wrong with him. There was nothing wrong with him, he took nothing from them.

---

1) In the text stelit which gives no sense.

2) See p. 21 1.

manā ****** * *****
 in secret they set me up and based me on the image of the great life. —
And blessed be the great life.

Ninth piece.

[48] I am a Manā of the great life,
I am a mana of tremendous life,
I am a Mānā of the great life,
who seeks to clarify himself in his sense:
,,Why has my figure changed?
Where are you taking me?
To which place still do you want to remove my Škinā?
They want to take me away
their brilliant speeches.
They want me out of their prayers ....[1]),
which they do in the house of perfection.
They want to take me away [from the] pure glimmer of light2) and let them live in a smelly robe. When I see that robe, who will come and take me over")?
Who will be a caller to me,
who will be a great helper for me?
Who will sit down with me and caress me, that I do not forget from here, from my place, what I have [applied istau
How the Manā stands and ponders,
his helper held him tightly.
His helper gripped him tightly
and became a caller to him:
,Your radiance coming from life is extended and great,
why do you call him a glimmer of light?
To take away the shine')
and cut off the light from the robe!
The good ones are missing,
although they have not yet seen what is ugly.

---

1) There was probably a form of אויל.
") Sorry. has NEsy, see also continue. ") Maybe ,and wake me up". 4) Read 2NDJ12.

Where you haven't seen what's ugly,
why are they missing and passing away?"

Then the man with his loud mouth he answered
the helper who had strengthened him:
,,I was full of lack,
now you have supported me, and the Light has become abundant.
You have supported me now, the light has become abundant, and strength and firmness came in abundance by the power of my great helper,
through the strength of the man who strengthened me. He gripped me tightly with his right hand and transferred his essence to me.
Through his rays [placed] over me') iclı lit up,
I lived in the stinking body and did not ponder. The hours dragged on, the gravy pulled together.
and the course of the world was divided.
The seven stars were distributed,
and the shortage pressed on her.
My great helper came
and made me take off the body [49] of death.
The body of death he let me undress and clothed me in the splendor of his rays. He taught me about the Mass for the dead,
which they kept from any place."

He and his great helper
light up in a škīnā.
In a Škinā they shine
and live in praise.
A victory has been created for them,
and they take half the share of the grace.
You are looking to lighten up in a Škinā,
and how to try to lighten up, you will be enlightened. —
And blessed be life.

Tenth piece.

I am a mana of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life,
I am a Manā of the great life,
who enlighten himself through the enlightenment of his father suclit:

---

1) That xw3N77 has this meaning here, not "talking" can be seen from Z. 22.

,From you, my Father, I receive instruction,
you became an assistant to me.
You became a helper for me,
tell me where you're sending me."

To this the forefather replied
and spoke to Mānā, the Son of the Mighty.'):
,We will send you here to your place,
which the Uthras, the sons of Salvation, created." ... – „If you send me there,
tell me who of the Uthras created the place.
Tell me who created him from the Uthras,
so that I can bear the misery that is on him,
when I, my forefather, am thrown into it,
************.“

The Mānā descended to the world.
To the world the Mānā descended,
came there and fell into misery.
He came there, fell into misery,
and sighing received him. The Mānā complains") and sighs,
that he was cut off from his place: ,,My gentle father did not protect me, he didn't teach me about every single thing and did not enlighten me about the world.
Now that I have descended") and reached her, they were all filled with wickedness. How much should I hear from her'),
how much of their suffering endure!
I'm hurt and sorry,
that my father would not let me hear anything of his speech.
Nothing made my father hear me from his speech, he did not give me any advice from the believers.
When my gentle father likes it,
send me a man, [50] a helper.
He sends me a helper, a first helper, in whose Škīnā everything he says is heard."

,,You know, Manā,
who created the world,

---

1) Thus according to text 30, 16f.

") 73) is probably to be understood in the same way (see also text 53, 13), as is often the case with words for ,,lawsuit* is connected.

") Lies דניהתית.

*) Read NOwy.

who created the world,
and you have been advised what is right."

When the Manā heard this,
he pondered over the world:
,I want according to the word of my good father living in a void body. I want to stay and live in it for so long,
as my father liked it.
When my father likes it,
he will come and take me out of your midst. Because I'm hurt and sorry
in your foul smell.
I feel hurt and sorry for the wrong talk and listen, which is peculiar to
you. You speak and listen in falsehood, do vain works."

I spoke [in the speech] of life; that was sweet and pleasant to my father.
It was sweet and pleasant to my father,
and he sent his helper to me.
He sent his helper,
who speaks and is heard in his skina.
I opened my eyes,
then they were filled with light.
I opened my mouth and praised him;
he did not find me lacking and lacking: If you know that I have missed against your speech, leave me in my body in my place."

*Then my first helper replied')
and spoke to Mānā, the Son of Mighty:
,Be silent and be calm, Mānā,
Son of the Mighty, be silent and be calm.
Mānā, you have not missed,
no, you did the rest."
If I have done the rest and did not miss, now, what is it that you have done to me?"

When he heard this from him,
he took ilın out of his body.

---

1) One expects "the first helper", but such a change is in the A person, as has been pointed out here several times, not infrequently.

He took it out of his body and performed hymns,
he calmed him, redeemed him and raised him up. He lifted him up and showed him the great Lord of perfection and set him up in expensive splendor. —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Eleventh piece.

I am a Mānā of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I am a Mānā of the great life. Who made me want to wear a physical garment?
[51] As long as I lived in him,
there was no lack of him.
I did not miss and did not pass me by and did not accept any mistake.
I made no mistake
and did not create any offense in front of me. There was no mixture on me,
I did not turn my speech away from my father's speech.
I shine by the power of my Father,
by the man who has made me live in physical garb
He let me live in a physical garment, [let. so I waited and dwelt in it and did not make a mistake for my father.
Do not say that the Mānā has forgotten what he was told,
the man was missing what he owed to his homeland. With the power and speech of Manā
he asks and reaches out to his Father2).
He asks and reaches;
he got rid of me and took me out of the world.
He took me out and didn't leave me there,
and there was no lack or lack of me.
My gentle father knew,
that lack and lack was not about me").
(I said:) ,,If you like it,
I will come and see your form."

---

1) On the body, docl is probably,"it was not on me" to read. ") Again, a weclısel in the person. a) It is also possible to read here.

My father sent me a messenger
and freed me from the world.
He freed me from the criminals and all the counterfeiters.
Of all who are full of sword(battle),
they talk about violence and deceit.
He lifted me up to the house of life and set me up under the lights. Every single one praises and exalts me:
Blessed and blessed be you, Mānā,
who held up the glory of your Father, and have kept it.
You got rid of them; [you
you came and set up with us.
You came to us and straightened up,
came and spoke with our speech as it was." —
And blessed be the great life in the light.

Twelfth piece.

I am a Mānā of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I
am a Manā of the great life.
They went and took me to the Tibil.
They went and took me to the Tibil,
the house that the liars built.
The house was built by Liigners,
Counterfeiters live in it.
There was no knower who knew me, no [52]
knowledgeable person who would have knowledge of me.
There was no righteous,
whose speech resembled that of the Uthras. How should I live in the house that Ligner built?
Counterfeiters live in it,
they are full of greed.
If you, King of the Great, like it,
set up a waystone for me.
Set up a waystone for me
and in front of the waystone a large dam.
Create me a caller,
create a caller for me.

When I sleep, he wakes me up,
if I stumble, he lifts me up').
When the seven hit me,
heal me and lift me up.

How the man stands there and seeks to clarify himself,
his helper came to him. His great helper approached,
he went there and set up a waystone for him.
He went and set up a waystone for him
and in front of the Wegstein a dam.
He was a helper to him,
he was a caller to him.
When he slept, his prayer woke him up,
when he stumbled, his praise lifted him up*).
When the Seven beat him,
his hidden power made him a healer.
He became his healer,
he lifted him up and straightened him
up, he made a straight path for him.
He showed him") and set up a path for him
and a bridge so that he may ascend to his place:
,Come, come, Mānā,
come on, climb up on your path.
Come on, climb up on your path,
come on, step on your way of life.
Come on, step on your way of life,
because I became your helper.
I took you out of the world of darkness,
set up your throne high. I set up Your throne high, because you endured persecution in the world.
Because you endured the persecution,
we will forgive you all the sins."
Be gracious, be gracious,
Lord of Noble Bliss,
Lord of Noble Bliss,
who sits there and keeps the Uthras right'). --
And blessed be the great life.

---

1) Probably read pa), see further. 2) See the previous note.

a) For which One would also be inclined, or N to NNW ,he created but see Text 71, 17; 72, 14.

4) The last two verses are probably a final prayer addressed to the supreme being is directed.

Thirteenth piece.

I am a Mānā of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I am
a Manā of the great life. Who brought me here? Who brought me here [53] among the sinister outrages?
How shall my heart bear it '), .
how should I endure the persecution of the world?
How should I live with lions,
with devouring dragons?
How am I supposed to live with the bad guys"), who let go of evil every day?
Every day they let go of evil,
every day they let go of horrors.
Every day they let go of horrors
and say: 'We want to frighten the Manā.
Yes, we want to scare him,
so he will be humiliated with us.
So he will be humiliated with us,
and then we stand over him.
Yes, we want to scare him,
then he will be able to dwell among the works of our hands."

The Mānā with his loud mouth
then spoke to the planets:
,,By the power of my high") Father
your terror will not come upon me. By the power of my father's sayings
your fear does not strike me.
By the power of my great Helper')
I will stand over you.
I'm better than you,
and my speech is more miraculous than yours.
The proverbs are miraculous,
who came from my father's treasure.

Everyone whines
and sprinkled dust on ilr main.

---

1) Read or N77).

") See Joh. II, p. 1061.

*) Sorry. has NDN7.

4) Here, in parallel with 2N, can also mean ,,my Creator:.

Dust they scattered on their heads and tore the garments of their lust. They glowed in their evil ') embers
and they were angry with themselves:
,How could we say,
that we would destroy the Manā among us?"

When the planets spoke like this,
a voice came from the house of the great life.
A voice came from the house of the great life, called the Mānā and woke him up.
She called and woke the Mānā,
he got up and stood over her.
He stood up, rose above her and pronounced a rebuke against them: ,, Go away and disappear from me, you wicked, cut-off, perishing ones. The light is not counted to the darkness, no firmness is granted to sinners. Would firmness be granted to sinners, so
the pursuit would have no ...).
The pursuit would not have ... .,
she would not have been left here."
You ... .) and did not accept [54] anything from him, to distribute it in different parts.

The Mānā in securing his eyes
he stood up and took his place.
Then my helper came, he came to me, he reached me") and made me a protector.
He rebuked the angels —
if only you did not come to me with passing words.

He knew the great (life),
he knew the Great,
he knew the Great,
that the Mānā endured many things admirably,
that much of the Mānā endured,
therefore, his protector came and came to him.
His helper redeemed him,
he hugged him") and lifted him up").

---

1) Read בישתא. a) See Joh. II, p. 67n.
") is probably not okay; "despise" does not fit.
4) Uncertain, see Joh. II, p. 1484. 5) Sorry, hat נאצבה ועתכאראכבה.
") Read nPDN.

He held tight and endured for a long time,
like that one1) had stayed here:
,,Come, come, Mānā,
we want to bring you to the house of the great (life).
In the Big House we want to bring you;
come on, tell the mighty one.
Come on, tell the big one,
what the Seven did to you:
that they wanted to cut you off from themselves,
to stand over you."

Yes, the Mānā broke up with his Uthra
and he came before the mighty (life).
He stood before the mighty
and told him what the Seven did to him:
"Don't you know, big,
don't you know, huge,
don't you know, big,
that I rebuked the Seven? Despite her strength, I rebuked her,
and the seven sank down under me.
Down below me the seven sank,
and I stood over them.
Above them I stood,
then my helper came and came to me.
[My helper] came to me and reached me,
it came to me and reached me my guide. It arrived and my guide appeared to me, my protector, helper and guide. He hugged me, and I came to you,
tell you what the Seven did to me."

Then the Great One blesses me
and preserve me the mighty:
,,How did you endure and persevere,
until the order to you was fulfilled!
Until your divorce came and you were freed from the hands of the tax collectors."
The Great One looked at him and loved him,
the Uthras of Light honored him. —
And blessed be life.

---

1) The Savior (Hibil)?

Fourteenth piece.

I am a mana of the great life, I am a Mānā of mighty life, [55] I am a mana of the great life. They drove him away from the house of his brothers')
and sent him into this world.
Into this world they sent him,
to come and live in the desolate wasteland,
to come and guard the wasteland; the planets peered out and caught sight of him.
The planets peered out and caught sight of him,
they are wrong and twisted.
Her mouth is open;
it is like the Suf Sea.
Their lips are like the consuming (fire?)").
Their smell is ugly and disgusting.
How wicked and rejected they are! When I saw her, I was afraid, and fear came over me at me.
I fell into fear, and fear came over me,
because my helper is not with me.
My helper is not with me, he is not there; if only I didn't get cut off!

But the great (life) knew,
that fear had come over the man. Then came the call of the great helper, who cried out to the Mānā in the world.
He spoke to him:
,What did you see, Adam, that you were afraid,
why did fear and anxiety come over dicl? When you saw the ugly angels, so I will grant you their prostration. Because of the ugly Dews that scared you, I want to tell you"), with which they will be tied up.
Over her mouth, which is like the (sea)
suf, their own darkness will come. Over their lips, the devouring (fire?) equal,
will come great bonding."

The voice of the gentle Manā is,
who calls his helper.
He speaks to him:

---

1) Sorry. hat Ank.

") Or "a club"? See Joh. II, p. 1667.

") Lies אמארנאלאך.

,My father! When right order prevailed,
why did Ptahil come out of his place?
Why did Ptahil emerge from his place,
why did he sow evil seeds and created worthless tongues?"

Then came the voice of the great helper,
who cried to the Mānā in the world:
,Be calm and be silent, Adam,
and the rest of the good ones embrace
you. Watch when it hurts and worries you, see to it that you do not curse Ptahil'[1]).
Do not curse Ptahil-Uthra,
the Uthra who has separated himself from our midst,
the Uthra who has separated himself from our midst and then created the worthless tongues.
He is Abathur's son,
whose parents [56] do not condemn him to darkness.
When this world passes away
and the firmament of angels is rolled up,
when rolled up the angel's firmament
and the sun and moon pass away,
when the sun and moon pass away
and [shine and] brightness will be taken from them, if shine and brightness are taken from them, the keepers take care of it and the stars as a whole are no longer a glimmer,
when these works pass away,
Ptahil's robe will be adjusted.
The Ptahil will have his robe adjusted,
and they will baptize him here in the Jordan.
Here in the Jordan they will baptize him,
and he will forget all the persecution he has endured.
Then Ptahil and you, Mānā,
in a skīnă lohen,
then he will become your king,
o Mānā, be called."

So the helper spoke,
and the Mānā relied on him.
When he had to endure persecution and malice.
didn't he curse Ptahil after all,
but he forgave him his sins and transgressions.

---

[1] See also p. 367 unt.; 311f.

He spoke:
,,Look at me, Helper, look at me,
reach me, come to me and redeem me,
show me my way,
which all my brothers go."

When the helper heard his call,
he heard him') from the fruits of splendor.
He seized him by the right side of the
and led him past the guardhouses.
He led him past the guardhouses
and let him pass the carriage.
The dare he let him pass and brought him near the sons of Salvation. He brought him close to the sons of Salvation")
and led him over the streams of water.
He led him over the streams of water,
and he ascended with him to the house of life.
When life saw him, it loved him,
wrapped him up and put him on his throne. -
- And blessed be life.

Fifteenth piece.

I am a man of great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life,
I am a man of great life.
,Up, go to the House of Seven!
Up, go to the House of Seven,
the vain rebels of darkness. The vain rebels of darkness") are sinister, and there is no light among them."

When you send me to the house [57] of the Seven, teach me about the works you practice. They practice [void] works,
and the outflow of life is not with them.

---

1) Perhaps it is worth reading: he came.

2) Leid. hat ולואת בניא שלאמא קארבה̈ קארבה̈ לואת בניא שלאם.

*) Sorry, did not know about wtone ntone מארדיא דהשוכא.

Are they about beautiful,
and is the outflow of life with you?
Are they about beautiful,
then I will send you among them." —
,,For this we send you there,
so that your works become beautiful.
Go, fall into the hull,
and they will be without reason."

The man did not change anything about it,
what the big ones') told him.
He left their midst,
went and came to the House of the Planets. He went there, came to the house of the planets and he saw that their works were of no avail. Their works are not good for anything,
and the outflow of life is not with them.
He came and fell into the hull
and shone more than all.
They opened their mouths,
but they all stayed on their way.
They all [stayed seated] on their way,
and the cursed ones do not know what to say to him.
Then the Mānā opened his mouth
and spoke to the dull cursed:
,,O you stupid cursed ones,
do you have a Manā like me?
Do you have a Mānā,
do you have a form like my form?
Are you good,
is your figure right?
Was among you the outflow of life,
was there a man like me among you")?"

The Seven bowed their heads
and chatted with each other:
,,Let's grab the Mānā"),
we want to tie him up and throw him into our net.

---

1) Again, the meaning of is uncertain. Although continuing from life it seems to me, after the way in which the order was given in the previous paragraph, that-it is spoken of the outpouring of life, that here the Great, the upper beings are meant. The expression pp pND) is not authoritative. see text 18, 8; 58, 18; 61, 19; 64, 3; 91, 8.

2) Read N. ") Sorry. hat נילינטיא.

We want to include him in our throwing net'),
in our lead') and put our darkness *)."

Then the Mānā opened his mouth
and spoke to the planets:
,,I will take you, planets, there,
that your hand may not fall on
me. I will not get into your network, don't get caught by your casting net.
Your darkness will not devour me and your lead will not put me down.
All of you, as much as you are,
you will be entangled in your meshes and nets. I set my purpose after life, and my mind was based on strength and enlightenment, who gave me the great (life) from my place.
While [58] your figure is ugly,
my figure is miraculous.
I was victorious because the great (life) commissioned me, and they are victorious to a great extent (3). You are contemptible and disgraceful, where did you get the root and the victory, so that you would be victorious with it? I rise to my place, you will descend without ascending."

The Manā dressed in white,
rose up and sat on the height.
At the height the man sits
and calls the man, the helper:
,,Come, my helper, lift me up,
they couldn't hold me back in their apartment.
I escaped their nets
and their lead, in which they wanted to put
me. You spoke to me, and I held out,
now come quickly to me and lift me up."

The helper consulted with life,
to bring him light shine:
,Grant me shine,
I will go and clothe the Mānā in it.
I want to lift up the Mānā,
bring him to you.

---

1) Cf. Joh. II, p. 1485. 9) Sorry. has Aaeown) pownd1. 3) Read וזאכין.

I want to bring him to you, and rejoice in his,
for he has escaped from their nets,
for he has escaped from their nets
and did not remain in their lead.
The man jumps and is happy,
he jumped up and dressed in white.
He jumped up and dressed in white,
he climbed up and sat on the height. The moon is sitting on the height,
he speaks and calls me and speaks to me:
,,I stayed firm and persevered,
now come quickly to me and lift me up." —
,,Up, go there, bring the mana here,
bring him here so that he may be raised up with us. He dwells in our praise, he will be raised up among us, let us rejoice in him, and He will love us and bless us [with our praise." —
For you, the life of life became full'), and the Mānā found what he was looking for. --
And blessed be life.

Sixteenth piece.

I am a Manā of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I am a Mānā of the great life, who sits in the shining treasure. In the shining treasure he sits and speaks with the speech of the Uthras. He speaks [59] with the praise of the Mighty, and they speak to him with words,
whose one is more miraculous than the other.

How the Mānā stands and seeks to clarify himself, 3) and lifted him up It
spoke to him:
,,Come on, I want to talk to you, mana,
come to me, I want to teach you." … -

---

1) So according to D. Sorry. did tony, even here without nown.
°) From here on, I guess to take it that way.

,,I appeared before you,
say what you wish."

Then it spoke to him:
,,The world is created by Blendwerk,
get up, get down and go to her.
If you don't go down, who should be her helper,
who shall cast splendour over them?
Who shall shine upon them
and not to allow the trunk to be cut off?
The consuming fire became fierce') and kindled the fire")." ... –
,I want to leave and descend to the world;
what kind of works are you putting on me?a

,,Break up, descend to the world,
go there and grow up in the body.
Go there, grow up in the body,
in the garb that you are commanded to wear. Go and grow up among the mysteries, and let the mysteries shine through you.
.Through you let the mysteries shine,
let your tribe be strengthened. Let your tribe ascend to its place, and the measure of the world is fulfilled. Let the measure of the world be fulfilled,
and two lights are to guard them.
Let them guard two luminaries
and shine to a great extent.
.Through your splendor the house will be guarded,
and through you the world will be established.
.You shall be guarded by louder guards,
your root will rise up and rise up.
Rise up the victory,
which I have distributed in your place."

---

1) See above, p. 2064.

2) The meaning is unclear. Deni Feuer seems to mean the total fire, it is difficult to supplement "living things". CHANGE looks like an aphelion of ans, the ge- usually the meaning of "flying" has (17D), but this does not fit. Since we have R 376.9 N715 it is possible that there is an aphelion from the tribe "D, so, for example, "kindle", and so perhaps the above, p. 105" discussed FDN) can also be explained: "we want you to-stir'.

The man did not change anything about it,
what the great (life) commanded him.
He entered the body,
in the garb that befohłen it to him.
He lived in the trunk,
and the mysteries shone through him. He bowed to the Great and yor bowed to the mighty
One. He bowed to the Great,
that will show itself to you and me').
It will show itself to you and me,
for [60] there was no lie between you and me. --
And blessed be life.

Seventeenth piece.

I am a Mānā of the great life,
I am a Manā of mighty life, i am a mana of the great life,
there is no such thing as infidelity") and treachery. There is no infidelity and treachery in me, no talk of rape.
I waved and did not wink and did not dwell among the guilty as the guilty. In what have I sinned against life, against the great one that is enthroned there?
In what have I sinned against the hidden,
that it threw me into captivity and exile, into the captivity into which the Ãons brought me, in the robbery that the worlds committed on me? If only they had not sent me in your garb to in the robbery committed by the Ãons! [live,

,We did not say that you, Mānā,
in the captivity of the Ãons"),
that you should get") into the captivity of the Ãons"),
not that the worlds should rob you.

---

1) In the first person the Mānā probably speaks again, the second probably refers to on the "helper".
°) See Joh. II, p. 424.
*) Sorry. hat ד̄דאריא.
4) Sorry. did twice when.

Rather, it is dear to us,
that you may remain firm and endure and not be caught.
Listen to the call we are calling you,
i have confidence in him.
Trusting in us')
you will ascend with us to your place.
You will be raised up behind us*),
and we will bless you."

,According to what you, great (life), told me,
a voice comes to me every day.
Call me a voice every day, which wakes me up so that I don't stumble.
When you call me,
do not catch me the evil worlds.
The evil worlds don't catch me, and I do not get into the robbery of the Äons."

The great (life) liked,
what I talked to him.
Daily voice, strength and speech
created and sent it to me.
It created and sent me
Voice, power and speech,
and what the great sent me,
i woke up my heart so that I would not stumble.
As long as he heard the call of life,
he did not change what the mighty commanded him.
I endured so long, I endured so long,
when the big one wanted
it. When the big one wants me,
it will keep me in its treasure.
[61] It will say to me: ,,Come, Mānā, who let you be taught, and from the world (many things)
he- We will support you [tolerate.
and forgive you sin and guilt.
Sin and guilt we will forgive you, because you listened to us and from the world (many things) he-
And life is victorious. tolerate." —

---

1) Sorry. hat וברוהצאנא דילא. 2) Read ,,at our place*?

Eighteenth piece.

I am a mana of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I am
a Manā of the great life. Who brought me out of the house of life?
From the house of life who brought me,
who sent me to the Tibil and let me live in it?
Who let me live in the Tibil,
who made me sit in the house of my enemies?
Who made me sit in the house of my enemies,
that my treasurers') know nothing of me? My treasurers don't know about me, that I may be placed in the house of my enemies.

The Uthra went and came,
until he got to the physical trunk.
He got to the physical trunk,
then he spoke to the hidden Adam.":
,O hidden Adam,
who brought you here from the house of life? Who brought you here from the house of life, who sent you to the Tibil and let you live there? Who sent you and let you live in the Tibil, who made you sit in the house of your enemies? Who made you sit in the house of your enemies,
that your treasurers know nothing of you?
Don't your treasurers know about you,
that you may be placed in the house of your enemies. If the great knew of you, if the mighty knew of you, if the great knew of you,
if only it hadn't forced you out of its midst. It would not have called you away from its midst, do not let yourself live in this tibil. It would not have let you live in this Tibil, do not enter into the house of your enemies."

Then the hidden Adam spoke 1
and answered the man who asked him:

---

1) His keepers in the treasure house in which he was formerly kept, see the conclusion.

-) The inner Adam, the soul, hidden in the physical Adam (cf. pp. 242, 18). From NDnD is abridged, see p. 239, 13.

,,My father, the great knows about me,
the mighty knowledge of me,
the great white of me:
the world, [62] which is to become, we cannot suppress ')."

When he heard this from him,
he rejoiced in it beyond measure.
He, yes he") had brought him here,
then he became his guide to the Hereafter. [Vestments"),
He stripped him [his robe] and clothed him with his own he led him
there, lifted him up, and set him up in the house of the 10th
He caught him by the right [life is great.
and handed him over to his own treasurers.
His treasurers were pleased with his;
they became his guardian.
They became his guardian,
they brought him into their treasure house and hid him in-
it. - And life is victorious.

Nineteenth piece.

I am a Manā of the great life,
I am a mana of tremendous life,
I am a Manā of the great life.
From the treasure of life, something rests on me. I shine through my father's speech, by praising the Man, my Creator.
When some of his (life's) treasures rested on me,
he asked me for it [from his treasure].
When he wanted me out of his treasure,
it sent me to this world.
When I came out of his treasure house, I looked and saw the world. I looked and saw the world;
she is ugly and her figure is misshapen.
I scolded and rejected*),
i despised the men who created them.
I'm talking to you:

---

1) See p. 388, 17. Sorry. see also Nöld., pp. 216 unt. °) Sorry. same as B 17 has 17. 1) Sorry, has Awabs. 4) See p. 4281".

,How should I leave the quiet mysteries and enter into the seditious mysteries?
How shall I leave the praise of my fathers and fall into the sorrows of the vain garment? How should I leave the truth of the great and live in a decrepit trunk?"

How Adam stands there and seeks to clarify himself,
the man came, his helper.
The high helper came to him,
who carried him into a piece of rich luster.
He spoke to him:
,,Put your robe on,
so that you stand firm in your own splendor.
Do not forget what the great (life) commands
you, and do not be called a culprit with him.
Enter and live') in this trunk, from which the tribe should emerge.
[From it] shall the tribe [63] come forth
and maintain inventory."

Then Adam opened his mouth and spoke to his helper: What strength do you give me in abundance,
that I put on this robe?
With what support do you support me in the tibil, that I should live in a dilapidated house?" Then they respond to him."):
,,Your power is the power of the great (life),
your enlightenment is created from their place.
The men who created your garment,
serve you until you leave."

That's what I came to and lived in and do not deviate from what my helpers commanded me. I washed my hands and worshiped life, I went there and came into the world.
They stopped and blessed me
the wicked, the cut-off, the perishing. But I scolded and rejected them, i despised them, each one individually.

---

1) The text says: 'I will enter and dwell in him."

2) The plural generally refers to the upper beings.

I'm talking to you:
,Who is blessed with the blessings of the Great,
do not need the blessing of the ephemeral."

When you heard this from me,
they saw themselves as inferior.
As inferior, they looked at each other,
and everyone fell into thought.
Everyone fell into evil thoughts
and make evil plans against me, Adam.
They speak:
,Well, we want to work on it, we want to inhibit it
and make him equal to us.
We want to make him like us,
because now he is away from us."

Adam sings hymns
and seeks to enlighten himself in his sense.
He speaks:
What do you want to do to me shameful,
where do my eyes look up to my place? My eyes look up to my place, and I shine through the praise of my Creator. As long as I am among you,
what do you say about me in your plans?
'Soon the great Uthra comes to me'),
here comes the man, my helper.
He speaks to me:
,,Get up, get up with me, Adam,
that they may not cut you off with the passing mysteries.
Don't let the mysteries of the blazing fire capture you '),
it burns and burns.
Get up, put on the robe of the living fire,
which is like glory. Get up, climb up to your treasure house, [64] do not fall at their instigations and indebtedness."

Adam then got up and ascended to the house of Life,
he left the mysteries of this world.
Adam spoke to the great (life):
,,I was outside of you.

---

1) CHILD Nmy, see Lit., p. 279 p. 2iJN, here p. 146s, 370. 2 and L 94, 24.
°) Read The reading is influenced by pap New Text 64, 2.

[Outside] of you [was I] '), then I was redeemed and ascended;
blessed be the man who saved me and lifted me up.
Blessed be you, great life,
because you sent me this helper." ... -
,Beautiful you have ascended,
and whoever comes after you will ascend beautifully.
The age became deficient,
and persecution is abundantly unleashed against them").
You are beautiful, Adam, ascended,
and whoever is able will ascend after you." — Life is held high and is victorious, and victorious is Manda dHaije and his helpers.

Twentieth piece.

I am a man of great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I am a Mānā of the great life. I was among hidden nurses. Among the hidden nurses I stayed, who are wondrous, blessed and established. Who will be blessed with their blessings,
does not perish,
anyone who hears your speech will not fall into a trap. Who enlightens himself through their praise, do not fall on the leaders of the Ãons"). mana . speaks to the seven: ,I do not live among
you. [Among you] I do not live and do not stumble through your impulses. I will not get into your captivity and do not take anything from you.
Nothing made me wise of your prudence, and your dazzling work is not preserved with me.

---

1) It is questionable whether it should be supplemented in this way.

9) Against the believers.

") I suspect they are probably ladders on which the soul ascends should, see also above, p. 208f. Sorry. maybe here has the twist דסאבליא ריא87) (see p. 4571). Furthermore, there is suffering. instead of N), which does not fit here, the even worse fitting N31y.

I'm not learning anything from your ugly teaching and do not practice any of your works altogether;
for I am not of you.
I pointed my lips at you and despised all your works").
I spring from you,
the trappings that you cast into the world,
all your knitting and your hoops
and all your chains.
I'm going to my place and hear [65] the speech of my nurses.
I hear the speech of my hidden nurses, who are wondrous, blessed and established.
I shine through your robe
and I am wise by their wisdom.
I'm learning what you have in your heart,
and do everything they — do." And life is victorious.

Twenty-first piece.

I am a man of great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life, I am a Mānā of the great life,
I shine through the praise of my Creator.
When they took me into captivity,
sent me into this world and brought me,
that's when they sent me to the world of criminals, who are all cut off and doomed, in the world whose shape is ugly and theirs . . .2) does not light up.
Your servants have no gear,
all her creatures have no luster.
They are not gentle, not calm,
and there is no commonality among them.
Their shape is dark."),
and their appearance is dark.

---

1) You probably have to read pornaty and ponkteyt.
2) The text has been inappropriate , Plleger". ") Read prnrins.

Their houses have sunk, and they are all sitting in the wasteland.
They turned black and took on blackness,
all are ugly and black'). In a whisper they all stand there, evil criminals who are full *******").
What is it good for me to vouch for you") and to be counted among you? I am to be cut off by your wickedness and sink down among you?
What does it please me to see your haze,
where does everyone who sees him fall?
What is it good for me that I saw your works,
who do not have a pure name?
I'm going to the house of life, why should I love your apartment?

The planets are there,
are tied up with shackles and talk:
When Adam escaped from us,
broke our guardhouses.
When Adam ascended from us,
our glory was quickly taken away from us.
Our splendor was quickly taken away from us,
and ours ..4) it was as if he had never been there."

He rose and ascended to the house of life, they washed him in the Jordan and kept him safe.
They washed him and kept him in the Jordan, they laid their rights on him. They baptized him with their baptism and strengthened him [66] by their pure words. - Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) p53N ,,do not eat" past; it probably has a form of DDN ,,be black" dagenow standing.

2) Instead, perhaps NW27 is to read "Criminals who are full of evil". ")
See Nöld., pp. 242, 4, but the explanation does not seem to me quite certain.

4) See Joh. II, p. 66°

Twenty-second piece.

I am a mana of the great life, I
am a Mānā of mighty life, I am a Manā of the great life. I was in the hidden treasure house. In the hidden treasure house I was among the expensive treasurers.
I hadn't seen the treasure yet, which my Creator opened and which he marveled at.
I hadn't seen the treasure yet,
not yet proclaimed in my enlightenment').
I hadn't seen the treasure yet,
so they took me there and sent me to this world.
How beautiful is what I looked,
how ugly what you then showed me!
I had seen enlightenment in abundance*),
so they took me there and showed me the darkness.
When should I escape
the darkness you showed me?
When should I escape her,
that I may go and see what I have seen beyond?

So the Mānā spoke,
and his voice went up to the house of life.
His voice rose to the house of life, his submission ascended to the house of the mighty (life). It spoke to ilım: ,,You
endure many things,
then you will soon look at your sweetheart.
Soon you will look at your treasure,
which your father opened and stared
at. Direct your thoughts away from the tibil, and we will direct our thoughts to you from here.
Do you pray from the Tibil,
and we will pray for you (a prayer) rich and great").
You Mānā who watched life,
see to it that you do not love death.
See to it that you do not love death
and witness wrong speech.

---

1) A call of surprise.

e) Note the contradiction.

") See p. 389 below.

Don't love things of lust and do not let down the light shine. Don't forget the big ones,
do not forget what you wanted to look and did not look."

When the Mānā heard this,
he pursed his lips over the worlds.
He despised Jorabbā
and the seven figures that dwell with him.
He despised the planets,
how they sit in their carriages [67].
He despised the booger'),
from which all ugly things emanate.
He left her full of contempt,
he went away and went to his place,
while all his guards sat there in amazement.
He spoke:
,,I want to go and see what the great (life) is for me
see the treasure of the mighty (life). [applied, I want to go and see the treasure"), which my father opened and stared at."

Soon the pure messenger came,
he took me away from here, freed me from here
and lifted me up to his treasure house.
He spoke:
,,Come, come, Mānā,
come, look at the preciousness.
Come on, look at the preciousness,
which you wanted to look and did not look.
You have endured well, Mānā,
you freed yourself well and ascended."

The Mānā rejoices in preciousness
and bless the mighty (life).
He speaks to him: When I have ascended"), I will tell you,
what will become of your living fire. will
When yours is . . . . . be left behind in the judgment of the worlds, part of your harvest") will fall into the hands of the planets." —

---

1) Rūhā, see p. 804.
2) This seems to be the point of Nly here.
") A question does not fit here, one expects or yy.
*) Siche p. 330, 34.

,,You have spoken and realized, Mānā,
go, sit on your throne.
We know well,
that this starts from the second." —
And blessed be life.

Twenty-third piece.

I am a man of great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life,
i am a mana of the great life,
which I shine in expensive gloss. Who planted me, sent me and brought into the deception of this world?
Who threw me in the skirt, the physical skirt,
that I can not get out of the pain and infirmity')?
Who showed me their deception,
who puts me in their glare?
Who removed me from the faith,
who threw me under the wrong tongues?
Who threw me under the wrong tongues,
where there is no shadow of straightness?
Who threw me under the angry,
who are all full of anger, [68] lie and deception? If only I don't go and then don't look my place, the place of light.
If only I did not forget them (the upper ones)
and do evil deeds.
If only I don't forget the gentleness,
which life has called and taught me.
The pernicious secrets pressed on me,
and the secrets of the place of light can not see me.

The voice of my pure Redeemer is,
the voice of the man, my helper,
the voice of my pure Redeemer,
he taught with his voice and let me hear.
He loaded a pure load on me,
at the sight of which the worlds shake.

---

1) Probably read noponins.

He speaks:
,,I have provided you, probably
provided, if you want, climb up here.
When they see you,
you submit to them.
When they are angry and angry,
be thou, Mānā, full of rest.
Do not heat up, do not be angry and do not sin (Manā,)
and do not take a mistake on your robe.
Crouch under your pure load
and seek rest in the enlightenment that is granted to you. Behold your hidden glory and escape from the faulty rocke.
Confess the right believers,
who all stop before you').
When you act like this,
your garment will be set up in its place. In his place-your robe will be erected, and you will be strengthened with us."

When the Manā heard this,
life made sense to him.
It spoke to him:
,,Be faithful and steadfast,
then you will ascend and see the mighty ones."
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Twenty-fourth piece.

I am a man of great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life,
i am a mana of the great life,
which they brought [from the house of the great (life)].
They brought me out of the house of the Great; i have come to the tribe too .),

---

2) One can think right in the verse niclts. Maybe in the end there will be a there is another verb.

2) Something like "reasons" must have stood there. PND"D,,climb up" does not make sense.

the trunk too ... . i came and to keep away') the faulty that was there.

When Adam came out of the house of life, [69] looked at the planets and saw him. They looked and saw the planets,
they are wrong and twisted.
When the planets saw him,
Adam did not know what to say to them').
As he stands in his place, he frightened her, then he passed by (? and spoke to them:
,O you twisted eyes,
why do you rise to the pure")?
O you wicked mouth,
what do you want to say to the right tongue')?
O you who take an end,
what do you want to learn from the true lips? O you defective, cut-off, what do you want to learn from the shining figure? It's not for your sake that I came here, life has sent me here. It's not for your sake that I came here, those who have not been given any advice from life. The second reason I came,
so that his works do not perish.
His works shall not perish, because his rights are pure."

When they heard this from him,
they became his carers.
One created water,
another created wind.
One created wind
and added a crown together for everyone").
Every single one of them") gave him shine,
and they raised him with food.
He, in turn, enlightened her without stopping').

---

1), "filling" fits badly; perhaps to yee, see Joh. 46, 13f.
2) Well read.
3) Read sorry. hat לאראכיאתא.
4) Read The contrast to the text 67.25.
5) For all winds? o) Sorry. has N77.
7) Probably something is missing behind.

They were his carers, but from time to time they let go of fear against him. Then the Manā prays in enlightenment,
and the fear will not be let go against him.
Praising, Adam prayed for the great life:
Send me this helper.
Only for a short time he stayed among them,
soon he escaped from her hands.
[He escaped] the lack,
he rose away from the attacks.
You see its rich luster,
how bright light surrounds him').
He climbed up and looked at the pure Volikommenheit,
who came to him.
He spoke to her:
.,Come, come, gentle helper,
for for your sake [70] I dwelt") in the world.
.Because of your brilliance and your speech no fear was let loose against me."

She caught Adam by the right,
ascended and raised him up in her Šǩinā,
in the place where the great (life) dwells
and their shine and shape are bright:
,*The Adam you handed over to me,
he is with you again").«
Life blessed him with his pure mouth
and spoke kindly to him:
,Blessed be you and your Creator who created you,
this one, Mānā"), I brought to you")." ....
And blessed be life.

Twenty-fifth piece.

I am a Manā of the great life'),
I am a mana of tremendous life,

---

¹) Lies ומיתכאראכבה. ²) Lies אמינטול לדילאך דארית.
3*) These words after suffering.: "nondny (read Ntingnny7) הו אראם דעהאבתולה po15.
4) The words are spoken of the Adam-guiding ,perfection".
b) Here the Mānā is separated from Adam as a soul.
*) Sorry, hat -xtowx. 7) See also the beginning of the fourth piece.

I am a Mānā of the great life.
Who took me away from my place?
From my place brachie who took me away,
who let me live in the House of the Planets?
In the house of the planets, who let me live, that the wicked are angry with me? The wicked are angry with me,
and every day they think evil against me.
They think in malice against me and speak:
,,We want to cut him off and leave him with us.
We want to cut him off and leave him with us and shut off from its places of origin.
We want to block him from his place of origin,
and he shall be called our share."

Adam thinks and talks:
,,Maybe they condemn me.
Maybe they condemn me here
and cut me off from my father's place of origin."
How Adam stands and thinks,
his helper comes to him.
His helper comes to him,
the Uthra who brought him here.
He speaks to him:
,,According to the house in which you live,
why do you ask?
You don't know, Adam,
that it happens as you said')?
In secret, we know,
that you will soon leave it
and he ascended to us.
You climb up to us
and live in our Škinā."

When Adam heard this,
he no longer asked about the ephemeral.
He no longer asked about those who built the dilapidated house;
he waited and lived in it.
But soon [71] he flew up and got to his place, the place from which he was created, the place from which he created
and in which his form was illuminated.

---

1) See above, p. 456, 25f.

Adam is happy in his sense,
clarifies himself in his sense:
How wonderful is what my father said to me,
how wonderful what the great (life) taught me.
Go, go, your planet,
be a part of your own homes.
Go, be a share of your houses,
and let your houses be your portion.
I ascend with the root of my Father,
while the house is left to you." ...

Blessed is life, victorious is the life that the friends don't damn his name.

Twenty-sixth piece.

I am a man of great life, I am a Mänā of the mighty life, I am a Mānā of the great life. Here among the Aons I stayed.
Here I stayed among the Aons,
and Hibil was a nurse to me.
A nurse was Hibil to me,
and he was my pure helper.
The son of the rich gloss, and his strength') was a support for me. He was a support for me, he strengthened me,
and he delivered me from the world.
He saved me from the hand and the works of the Seven. He always showed me the way and created a path for me to the place of light.
He lifted me up with him
and did not leave me in the empty apartment.
He clothed me with a robe of splendor and
got me out of the world with swagger.
- And life is victorious.

---

1) Sorry. has Foxa, this view is also supported by text 72, 12, 17.

Twenty-seventh piece.

I am a mana of the great life,
I am a Mānā of mighty life,
I am a Manā of the great life.
Who took me away from my place?
From my place who took me away,
who threw me between the mountains')?
Who rushed me between the mountains,
and who threw me into the place of death?
In the place of death who threw me,
who separated me from life?
Who separated me from life,
that is abundant, without shortage?

[72] As the Mānā ponders,
his helper came to him. His helper approached him,
showed him the wreath that is entrusted to him,
showed him the louder treasure,
who was founded and created in his place*):
,When you let go of life, if it hadn't given you these wreaths.
It would not have granted you these wreaths,
this treasure was created for you.
To you, Manā, it is certain,
that you may endure and dwell in the world.
The works are to become a niece,
which your father, the Second, created.
Every time it gets hard for you,
our call will come to you.
He will get to you;
don't change what we told you."

The three Uthras supported the Manā"),
and he, the Manā, found rest in his enlightenment.
He, the Mānā, found rest in his enlightenment,
he firmly received and set his mind.

---

1) With their mnlevels. difficult ways?

°) Probably (AnD17) read zn. The appended p may be replaced by the following הרין influenced.

*) Three Uthras as shipper and guardian of the soul above, p. 92,8f.; 96,23f. and otherwise, see anch Brandt, Rel., p. 122.

He received his meaning firmly,
he lived and lived in the world,
the world whose disgust has no end.
They grabbed the man with all their strength and held him with both hands.
They took him out of the body
and set him up in his place.
They opened the gate of light for him
and showed him the ways of safety.
He goes there while his strength is always growing'),
and praise the men who taught him. He praises the turban she shows him,
the garments of splendor she put on him.
He praises his helper,
by whose power he has been able to dwell in the world. Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Twenty-eighth piece.

I am a Manā of the great life,
I am a man of tremendous life,
I am a Manā of the great life.
Who took me away from my place?
From my place who took me away,
in the House of the planets, who let me live?
Who let me live in the house of the planets,
who threw me into the defectiveness? Who threw me to the place that is full of disgraces, where all are full of deception and deceit?
Who included me in their mysteries,
who tied up me with their chains?
Who put me in her big foot block,
who [73] showed them to me")?
Who threw me into her walls,
who closed their gate before me?

---

1) Read nidnD?

2) p57 is hardly original. Perhaps the Assyrian mēdilu,bar* in it stuck?

Who put me together with their customs officers
and led me past their guardhouses?
When I saw her, I was startled, and fear came over me. I was frightened, I was overcome with fear, and I said to myself that I forget what the mighty (life) [ordered me.

How the Mānā stands and ponders,
his helper came to him:
,I came to you,
so that you may dwell among the works of your hands. If you are among them, beware of spoiling your soul.
Be careful to commit their sins, that you will be counted with their end.
If you stay away from them,
they won't be able to harm
you. They will not hold you with their clasps, they will not lead you on the way. I will quickly deliver you from them
and of the vain Waclıthäuslers,
and from the dark walls,
who are a part of the
. . . . . ephemeral. the life
of your works; in true love I will lift you up.
I will reveal to you Sām, the hidden one'),
as well as his good name, in which you stayed.
I will show you the three pure (things),
which are wondrous and otherworldly.
Your heart that hurts you will find rest, and you will forget about the persecution of the world."

The Mānā blesses
and praise his great helper:
If you show me these things,
why should I live with the ephemeral?"

His measure became full, and his time came,
then the Mānā ascended to his place.
The Manā ascended to his place,
and the gentle Uthras went to meet him.

---

1) NDND CND can only be found at this point, but the epithet stands for the frequent
The names ond and nind ond are close.

The Uthras went to meet him,
they brought him shine, light and shine.
They clothed him with splendor of that with which they clothe themselves in their place. They covered him with a turban of light, from the way they are covered in their places,
they opened the door with their praise.
,Yes, so') we loved and honored you, because you freed yourself and ascended from the world! You freed yourself, ascended from them and you were raised up among us [74] in glory." ... Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

2) usually means,how", but this fits badly here. It's probably here the meaning ,"so" as above, p. 62,1. could stand for, which has B, see also R 239, L. ult. with Varr.

Third book.

The book contains a colorful collection of gediclites, all dealing with fate dealing with the soul. Some are also found in the Qolastā. The soul becomes predominantly NOW") instead of NDDW), see Lit., p. 121. The longer poems are usually followed by short. which one has to think of as responses of the community. The Liturgical Ver- 5 the turn of the collection in the event of a death trap results from the marginal glossiness at the beginning a: If you want to read the book after the (death of a) departed, if a man or a woman, or a priest, is a man or a woman, he
First of all, a prayer for oneself and the whole generation1)." In front of piece 14 is written in C am Edge: "When you arrive at ",When the darkness made plans", then you put the 10th If he is a priest or ganzibrā (see p. 1503)."

In the name of the great life, may the community and the Blessed- and a remission of sins is granted to me, my wife And my children, as well as the souls of our fathers, our Masters, our brothers and our sisters who have left their bodies- 15 they are divorced and they are still in their bodies.

O gentle Mānā,
o orderly, well-ordered Mānā,
o gentle Mānā,
may helpers come with you,
until the scales weigh
Works and wages.

First piece.

In the name of the great life
be glorified by the noble light. —
After the firmament stretched out,
after the earth is sealed,

---

1) For "prayer" then"stands", which can also mean "prayers". Maybe it's just this is the short prayer at the top of the book.

after the sun came,
after the moon reveals itself,
after the seven came and these twelve had gone here, they formed the body of Adam, but they did not put a soul in him.
Because of Adam's body
the soul came from the house of the great life.
From the house of the great life came the soul, and the three Uthras came with her.
With her came the three Uthras
and put them outside the body.
Outside the body, they put them;
they want to introduce it into the body, but it does not enter.
They want to introduce it into the body, but it does not enter,
she cries, whines and pours out (in tears):
,,To you I speak, you Uthras, my brothers,
just let me wait an hour a day.
Only one hour a day [75] let me wait,
so that I can let my voice rise to the place of light.
I want to speak to the Uthras, my brothers:
What have I sinned among you?
What have I sinned among you,
that you beguiled me and took me away from your midst? you brought me out of my home and into captivity,
i was beguiled and taken away from my father's house.'
I want to talk to Mandā dHaije:
,Send a good one to me quickly.
Quickly send a good one to me, that he may deliver me from the world.
He destroyed the building
and deliver the body to its Lord.
He lifts me up to the place of life, where my root stood before, so that the wicked do not blind me,
sinners do not make me deaf.
So that the bad guys don't blind me and do not know where I came from. So that you don't make me deaf by your Ekurs and I do not hear what they say about me.
Now the peoples, borders and tongues oppress me and throw me into the sea of bile.

Now idolatry oppresses me,
and I surrender to every city').
Now the evil bilures are tying together,
and cursed shawms speak through my mouth.
They teach me the voice of apostasy, and I forget my Lord from my mind.
They throw me into a deep well,
into which the wicked fall without rising.
The dragons devour me,
and they take me to the residences of revelry in [Music caught."

Everyone is talking to her:
,Life's guiltless soul!"
Everyone is talking to her:
,Messenger of all lights!"
Everyone is talking to her,
the life of a guiltless soul:
,,O soul, get up, go there,
enters the body
and let yourself be imprisoned in the palace. The grim lion will be captured by you,
the grim, grim lion").
The dragon will be captured by you, the evil one will be killed in his place.
Through you the king of darkness will be bound,
whose strength no one has grown." —
⟨A jeđer speaks to her:
,,Innocent of life [76] Soul!"
Everyone is talking to her,
the messenger of all lights!⟩
,,Good one, if you wish me to go, entering the body
and be trapped in the palace,
give me a high weapon,
that I may turn away my persecutors from me."

Everyone is talking to her:
,Messenger of all lights!"
Everyone is talking to her:
,Life's guiltless soul!

---

1) I muk go where I am ordered?
1) See p. 433 unt.

'What high weapon do you wish, soul, that we grant them to you from the treasure of life?
Your weapon is Naşaerism,
the true words that have come to you from the place of Light."
They also spoke to her:
,for your sake, soul,
this firmament has been stretched out'),
this firmament has been stretched out and stars were formed in it.
For your sake, soul,
did this mainland arise,
did this mainland come into being,
the compaction formed and fell into the water.
For your sake, soul, the sun came,
for your sake, soul, the moon revealed itself,
for your sake, the Seven came
and these twelve went here,
the four winds were created and the Ãther that blows on you, wisdom
was poured into your heart,
that you may remember your Lord and praise him.
Now comes the time and the date,
the date and time will come.
Years fade away like shadows,
and months fly by like the dawn. Years, days, months, times, hours and sauce sink down and pass away as if they had never been there). The vines of joy are torn out, and her singing goes there and gets lost.
The gold is lost,
and the silver is searched and not found.
The nobles and gentlemen
divorced from the world in her heartache.
You acquire and leave it to your children,
they go there and simmer in the fire.
The children of the wretched and persecuted
leaving the world in mourning.
The tibial passes and comes to an end in the depths of the stench of darkness."

In the name of my Lord Manda [77] dHaije,
on his strength, I went and entered the body.

---

1) See Lit., p. 223,
2) See Joh. II, p. 180.

I went there and entered the body and had me imprisoned in the palace. From the day I entered the body,
I was his painter in the ages.
His wife in the ages I was,
and the wicked were angry with me from the depths.
From the depths the wicked were angry with me,
and they want the soul of life to go among them.
When I saw her,
I held her away from the world.
When Manda dHaije saw me,
he gave me strength.
He made me dress with splendor
and cover with expensive light.
He laid a wreath of victories on me,
whose leaves shine.
He spoke:
,,O soul, be careful with your speech, that they may not bind you in the house of the tax —
collectors." Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

My meaning loved life,
and my soul recognized the place of light.

Second piece[1].

By mistake, I am,
the Uthras of Light have provided me.
I am mistaken, life has mistaken me,
I am well aware that the Uthras of the Light have mistaken me.
They provided me with the travel food of the Kuštā,
they equipped me with all their wisdom.

Why was Ptahil,
why did he create the world?
Why did the plan come about
and did they take me away from my place?

---

1) Is also Lit. , p. 161.

They sent me to the world of impulses,
which is full of knots and seals.
She's full of fire,
seeded with thorns and thistles. She is full of dazzle,
full of lies and lies.
The planets that live in it, they think evil of me every day. They are thinking [against me] in malice
and say: we want to make his meaning ambiguous. From my heart filled with Kušta, say: we want to let it stumble from us [78].
From my eyes that look up to the liclt,
say: they shall wave (unchaste).
From my mouth that praises
life, tell him to tell a lie.
From my hands that give alms (and present Kušṭā),
tell them to kill.
From my knees, bowing to life, tell them to bow down to the Seven.
From my feet walking the paths of Kuštā (and faith),
tell them to go barefoot.

I raised my eyes to the heights,
with my soul I looked towards the house of life[1]).
When life heard my call,
he sent a messenger to me.
The guide who came to meet me,
brought me a magnificent robe.
He revealed shine and showed it to me, and I put the smelly body down.
He grabbed me by the area of my right
and led me over the streams of water.
Over the streams of water he led me,
he guided me and based me on the image of life[2]).
Life supported life,
life found its own.
His own found life,
and my soul, that of the NN of this ascension, found what [hope. —
it- Life is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

[1]) Var. AND "my soul looked towards the house of life".

[2]) See p. 452*.

The soul speaks to the Uthras:
,My brothers, you Uthras who are sitting there,
by your lives, you Uthras, my brothers,
tell me where') Hibil-Zīwa's residence is. He beguiled me and introduced me to the body, then he left me and ascended to his place."

Third piece").

Heal you, Heal you, soul,
that you have left the world.
You left the rot
and the stinky body you were in,
the apartment, the dwelling of the wicked,
the place that is a pure sinner,
the world of darkness,
of hatred, jealousy and discord,
the apartment where the planets reside,
which bring pain and infirmity.
Pain will bring you and infirmity,
and every day they cause unrest.

Get up, get up, soul,
climb up to your original home.
Climb up to your original home,
*to the place from which you were planted,
to the place from which you were planted"), to your good dwelling of the Uthras.
Get excited, put on your robe of splendor
and lay [79] on your flaunting wreath.
Sit on your throne of splendor,
which life has set up in the place of light.
Climb up*), live in the Škīnās
between the Uthras, your brothers.
As you are used to, bless your original home
and curse this place
the house of your carers.

---

2) One rather expects "where".
) This only after the Qolastā.

2) Is also Lit. , p. 159.
4 This according to the Qolastā.

Because the years you've been in this,
the Seven were your opponents.
Your opponents were the Seven,
and the twelve were your persecutors.-
- Life is held high and is victorious, and
victorious is the man who went here.

Sunday, Kuštā and alms,
you are witnesses of the soul,
you are your witnesses
and take them past the customs officers' house.

Fourth piece[1]).

Go in peace, chosen one, Pure,
Sinless without fail.
You have chosen your place from the Tibil, and your lot has jumped out of the ages[2]).
Jumped out of the ages is your lot, you are above all the world.
You said, chosen, pure:
I am a seer, a discriminator.
I am a seer, a discriminator, and the worlds gather for judgment. The worlds gather for judgment, and they are spoken rightly.
Justice is spoken to you,
who have not practiced the works of a true man.
You alone, chosen, Pure,
you bright shining
Mānā, you will not go to the court,
you will not be spoken to right.
You will not be spoken right,
since you have practiced the works of a true man.
What they endure and tolerate, you,
chosen one, will not find it before you.
Escape the violence
the planet, the ruler of this world.

---

1) Is also Lit. , p. 157.

2) It is no longer bound to the times of this world, see also Joh. II, p. 117".

Take, put on your robe of splendor
and put on your flaunting wreath.
Bend your body, bow and stretch down
and praise the mighty life.
Praise the place of life,
to which your fathers draw [80].
You, chosen one, did not come from here,
and not from here your planting is planted.
Your place is the place of life,
your residence is the light residence. A throne of peace has been established for you,
there is no anger or anger.
You have a belt,
at which ... ') and there is no mistake.
Good ones, climb up to the house of life,
go to the light residence.
Between the lamps of light
let your lamps be lifted up and shine.
Rise to your time and date and look at the place of light. - –
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

My enlightenment*) and my praise lead me over.
Who led you through the guard, lead me over, the cloud of light, and it will rise victorious to the place of light.

Fifth piece").

Peace and quiet
in the way that Adam built right,
Peace and quiet
on the path that the soul walks.
Go, soul, victorious
according to the place from which you were planted,
after the place of joy,
where the face flaunts.

---

1) The word NIDN is apparently disfigured, see Lit., p. 158'.
2) Also Lit., p. 156. 3) With deviations, Lit., p. 101.

The soul untied the chain,
you. blew up the gang.
She took off the physical skirt,
then she turned around, saw him and shuddered. The voice of the soul of life is, which [separates] from the body of garbage')"). The redeemer who redeems the soul weeps, that they will not let him, that he will solve them").
The soul flies and moves there,
until she came to the gate of the house of Life.
When she came to the gate of the house of Life,
do Uthras go to meet her and bless her*):
,,Come in peace, you noble-born,
who was a maid in the home of the wicked.
Come in peace, you fragrant,
which you made the smelly body fragrant.
Come in peace, you pure pearl,
which you were taken from the treasure of life").
Come [81] in peace, Chosen, Pure,
which you illuminated the dark house."

The soul flies and moves there,
until she came to the gate of the house of Life.
When she came to the gate of the house of Life,
the guide comes to meet you.
He carries a magnificent wreath in his hand,
a robe on both arms:
,,Get excited, soul, put on your robe
and put on your flaunting wreath.
Climb up, go to the Škīnā,
the place where the Uthras sit.
The place where the Uthras sit
and your brothers are housed in their Škinās."
Life held out its hand to her, it concluded communion with her, how the elect close them at the place
of light. - Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) See Nöld., p. 544. The sense is not certain, see above, p. 843.
2) So according to text 132, 18, or NDNE is to be repeated after 97, 9, then,"weinet".
3) Sorry for the first one. The sentence fits badly here.
4) The phini or the one behind it is to be deleted. ") So better according to a manuscript of the Qolastā than "you were planted".

Sixth piece.

Peace and quiet
in the way that Adam built right.
Peace and quiet
on the path that the soul walks:
,Go, soul, victorious
according to the apartment from which you were planted,
after the place of joy,
where the face flaunts.
The face flaunts on him,
the figure becomes luminous and does not darken."

The soul untied the chain,
she blew up the gang.
She took off the physical skirt,
then she turned around, saw him and shuddered.
The providers call her,
the men who supply the soul.
The providers call her,
they provide for them and bless them '): ,,Come in peace, you light-giver, which you enlightened the decrepit house. Come in peace, you fragrant,
which you made the smelly body fragrant.
Come in peace, you pearl,
which you were taken from the treasure of life").
Come in peace, you noble-born,
who is called a maid in the dwelling of the wicked.
Come on, get excited, put on your robe
and put on your flaunting wreath.
Tie your belt around,
in which there is no pain and infirmity.
Come live in the Škinās
among the Uthras, your brothers, as they sit there." Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

[82] Sing hymns
and let this soul be heard,
that their measure is full
and their course is directed to the place of life.

---

1) Perhaps so; p5ini does not fit here either, see p. 514, 12. 2) See p. 514, 17.

Seventh piece[1]).

On the day when the soul goes out,
on the day when the Completed ascent,
on the day when the soul goes out
away from under the wheels of death,
. . . . is dispute thrown
in the tibil of impermanence.
Ruha sits in mourning,
the seven sit there in a stupor.
The skirt of the stars is tattered,
Dust is thrown on the head of the ruha.
The bells are crying,
the vigilantes are terrified.
The man who brought me here,
brought me a magnificent robe. He clothed me with a robe of splendor and covered me with a turban of light.
He put a wreath of ather on me
and what else the great (life) granted to the Uthras.
He lifted me up to the house of life, to the Wolnung, the olne border is.
He raised me up among the Uthras,
he placed me among the perfected. - -
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

You of proven justice,
i'll come with you and guide you,
until the scales weigh
Works and wages.

Eighth piece.

On the day when the soul goes out,
on the day when the completed ascends,
on the day when the soul goes out,
a quarrel is thrown into the tibil.

---

[1]) Is also Lit., p. 163.

A quarrel is thrown into the tibil,
Turmoil is thrown into them, and unrest.
They gathered and ...')
the treasurers of this world.
They speak:
.,Who brought out the pearl,
who lit up the decrepit house?
[83] In the house she left,
the walls burst and collapsed.
Its walls cracked and collapsed,
and the posts of his gate fell to the earth. His windows were closed, and his lamps went out and did not shine.
My eyes don't see melr,
what to do in the ages.
My ears no longer hear,
what to say in the ages.
My feet no longer stride
in the ages of and . not")."
The soul speaks and goes there,
with her, too, who is worthy of the light abode: ,,
They brought me naked") into the world,
and they took me empty") out of her.
You took me empty *) out of her,
like a bird that nothing accompanies").
My salary payment precedes me,
my charity donation follows me.
The water waves") I hold in my hand
and raise me up in the light abode."

When the Seven saw the soul, they put them back in the cut-off place, in the house of the They crush her, but she won't be sweet'), [Customs officer, up. they push her and try to throw her down, but she does not fall.
They tear the robe at her neck,
but she is clothed with the splendor of life.

---

1) tnoxiny ,"were murdered" paft not. One is most likely to expect axinony here. but it is graphically far from 5xoiny zn ah.

°),"Repeat" package for NNn as well as for pix n R.366, 14, see above, p. 3895.

*) Probably read zn, although text also has 97.9.

4) Sorry. has pP DN. ") Lies לאלוא.

6) That of the Jordan in which she received the aunt.

7) Badly attached quotation to p. 186, 2, 30.

They ask you out,
the dead who did not watch life:
,With whose strength did you go out,
and whose name is pronounced about you?" —
,I went out with the power of life, and the name of the chief of the brilliant beings is over me-
I hold the water balance in my hand [spoken.
and raise me up in the light abode." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

The soul stands on the paths
and speaks to the Uthras:
,Don't you know, you Uthras, my brothers,
that I have lived among you?"

Ninth piece.

Between the hidden and the shining'),
between the revealed and the hidden places there are the experts from the father's house.
The great ones, the wise ones,
stand there and ask the soul
out, who left the world.
You speak to her:
[84] ,,The good ones go there;
who shall endure the splendor of the good?
Who shall endure the splendor of the good,
who dampen their appearance")?"

To this the soul responded and spoke
among the great, the wise:
,,The great ones who are of proven righteousness, are not held back by the deception of this world. The poor and the young
are not held back by the deception of this world.

---

1) See also piece 20.

°) The meaning of here is uncertain. ,,Society" paft bad, see also p. 529, 15

The children of the poor and the disciples are not held back by the deception of this world. But the Vögte and Häscher
they are held back by the deception of this world.
The nobles and the gentlemen
leaving the world in your heartache.
You acquire and leave it to your children,
they go there and simmer in the fire." —
,Soul, arm yourself
with your wage donation, your works and your alms.
Because the way you have to go,
is far and endless.
There are no miles measured on it,
no waystones placed on it according to the measure. Watchdogs are left on it, and Vögte and Zöllner stand by him."

,What things did you look like yesterday, soul,
what things are you like today?« —
,,Yesterday I resembled a tall building, which the builder artfully today he collapsed and collapsed')." - [listed, 20 What things did you look like yesterday, soul,
what things are you like today?" —
,Yesterday, and I drank,
today my thoughts are full.
Yesterday I swept and watered,
today I climbed up to the sweepstakes.
Yesterday I washed and combed myself,
today is . ..... my combed together (3).
Yesterday I resembled a rose on its stem,
today it has dried up in its place."

If you're sorry, soul,
re-enter your hull.
Re-enter your hull,
the physical body you were in." —
,My brothers, don't tell me:
,Re-enter your hull.
Re-enter your hull,
the physical body you were in.

---

1) The text contains some erroneous repetitions here.

*) and are probably to be swapped. For the latter, see,,Unrat" Levy, Neuhebr. Wrth. IV, p. 145a. Instead of NINE) is suffering. NrE). There is a Noun N13') (Lit., p. 76, 7; 77, 12) and a proper name 1NE) (R 208, 3; L 27, 13), but a Verb 13) only here. The Sim is insecure; maybe it means "disperse".

My body [85] is a predatory sea,
the lamb robs and devours.
He's an evil dragon'),
he has seven heads.
He has seven heads,
he is without mind and sense')."

⟨If you feel sorry for him, soul,
re-enter your hull.
Re-enter your hull,
the physical body you were in. Because life remembered you in kindness.
In kindness I remembered the life of your,
and the Uthras of the Light asked about you."⟩

,They drove me out and closed the doors in front of me
and blocked them ... ").
They blocked the two windows for me'), who record the speech of life.
They put out the two lamps for me"),
the day and night glow.
The great Gate") was blocked,
that praises life every day.
The two wag(scarf)en') were broken, who give wages and alms. They donate wages and alms and reach Kušta in a perfect way. The two pillars") toppled") and fell down,
the solidity of the whole palace.
The body has outwitted its master,
and the whole house is filled with darkness."

The soul flies and moves there
only through the Ä̃ther, without fear.
When the wicked heard of it,
they placed them again in the cut-off place, in the house of the
You speak to her: [Customs officer, hin-
.,With whose strength did you go out, soul,
and whose name is pronounced about you?"

') is probably to be deleted. 2) I suspect noN27.

") (Var. that can only be found here, mub also something like ,door" mean. Sorry. has Ne), which makes no sense here.

4) The ears. a) The eyes. °) mouth. 7) The hands.

*) leg. ") Nanwy belongs to yaw.

She responds to them:
,I went out with the power of life,
and the name of Manda dHaije is pronounced over me."
Then you speak to her:
, O soul, you ascend to the house of life,
you stand in court and win.
When you go to the house of life,
remember us before life."

She responds to them:
When I ascend to the Hausé of life
and move towards the light residence,
when the great (life) asks me,
when the mighty (life) asks me, when the great (life) asks me, there will be witnesses and witnesses.
True witnesses are,
everything you say is true').
Icl will do to you, you planets,
that your eyes [86] will not see light.
Your eyes will not see light
and your feet will not find firmness.
Me and the Uthras, my brothers,
will ascend and look at the place of light,
the place whose sun does not set
and whose light lanıpen do not become dark.
In that place
your souls are called and charged (2)." ...
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

O gentle Mānā,
o orderly, well-ordered mana,
o gentle Mānā,
may helpers come with you,
until the scales weigh Works and wages.

---

3) See Lit., p. 34.
2) See Lit., p. 101, 227. The last verse is addressed to the shining ones.

Tenth piece.

I am the head of the knowledgeable among the elect,
I am the head of the believers.
From the very beginning I was drawn by the sign,
and I went to the bank of the Jordan.
From the very beginning I was drawn with the sign. The demons are on the streets.
As soon as the seven saw me,
the seven stood up and armed themselves.
They speak:
,,You're going out, man,
give us your head and then go out.
Man, give us your head,
maybe then you will come back to us." —
,,I give you my head niclt,
the sign is set up on my head."

,,You're going out, man,
give us your eyes and then go out.
Man, give us your eyes,
maybe then you will come back to us." —
,I won't give you my eyes,
my eyes are full of light."

From the very beginning I was drawn by the sign,
and I went to the bank of the Jordan.
The seven saw me and armed themselves,
all my enemies take the streets:
,,You're going out, man,
give us your ears and then go out.
Man, give us your ears,
maybe then you will come back to us." —
,I won't give you my ears,
my ears hear hymns."

,,You're going out, man,
give us your mouth and then go out.
Man, give us your mouth,
maybe then you will come back to us." ... -
,My mouth [87] I will not give you, my mouth is full of Kušta."

,,You're going out, man,
give us your hands and then go out.

Man, give us your hands,
maybe then you will come back to us." —
,I will not give you my hands,
my hands give alms.
Giving alms to my hands,
and they are enough for Kuštā.

,,You're going out, man,
give us your heart and then go out.
Man, give us your heart,
maybe then you will come back to us." —
,I won't give you my heart,
in my heart dwells the knowledge')."

,,You're going out, man,
give us your knees and then go out.
Man, give us your knees,
maybe then you will come back to us." —
,I won't give you my knees,
my knees bend before life."

,,You're going out, man,
give us your feet and then go out.
Man, give us your feet,
maybe then you will come back to — us." ,I won't give you my feet,
my feet walk the paths of the Kuštā.
The paths of the Kuštā walk my feet
from the place of darkness to the place of light."

On the paths of Kuštā and faith you will ascend and see the place of light. —
You were victorious, Manda
dHaijē, and help all your friends to victory. - —
And life is victorious.

The Mānā") rejoices in the treasures
and the illumination of life that rests on him.
I acknowledge you, (man) of tried righteousness,
for you have freed my soul from sinners.

---

1) Here is N7IND. 2) Is also Lit., p. 159.

Eleventh piece.

Be remembered in kindness of the great (life)'),
in kindness let the thought of the mighty (life) be remembered, be remembered in kindness of the great (life), that saved me and took me out of the world, from the world of lack
and from the vain works.
It created me and clothed me [88] with splendor,
how the chosen men dress with it.
With this, the chosen men dress,
the true believers.
I stuck my head in,
then I became equal to the fullness of the world. leh opened my eyes in it, then my eyes became full of light. I swung my wings*) in it, then they formed wings of splendor for me. Fliigel of brilliance was formed for me and the other structures are good and luminous.

i sing hymns and go
to all souls.
When they saw me,
they gathered and went to meet me").
They gathered and went to meet me, and everyone greeted me.
They speak:
,Son of good! Talk to your father:
When will the prisoners be released? When will the prisoners be released and will it be far for those who are confined to narrowness?"

Before I speak to my father,
i want to tell you: All
those who did ugly works,
stay sitting here in blocks of feet,
until the Euphrates dries up at the mouth and the Tigris misplaced its course (?),

---

2) An old blessing formula, see my Northern Semiiische Epigraphik, p. 167.

") D. li. my arms.

5) This passage is quoted in Theodor bar Khōnī's scholia book, siche Pognon, Inscr. Mandaites, pp. 233 ff.

until all the seas dry up and all the rivers, streams and springs pour out.
Then the one who is thrown into the well will ascend, and he who is bound with the shackle will become free.
It will be far from the souls,
who live here in the house of suffering.
It will be far from the noble,
who used to own and now have nothing').
It will be far for the widows,
endure the tribulation in the tibil.
They endure tribulation in the tibil,
then they shall be redeemed from the hand of the Seven.
From the hand of the seven they shall be redeemed;
it will be wide for those who are cramped." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

,I wish to go with the two Uthras, who came to me. I'm afraid I'll have to go with the guards, who camp
by the wayside." —
Why are you afraid, soul,
where uthras accompany you?"

Twelfth piece.

[89] How happy I am,
how happy my heart is,
how very pleased I am
on the day when my dispute will be settled,
on the day when my dispute will be settled
and my walk to the place of life is!
I fly and move there,
until I get to the watchhouse of the sun.
I'm calling:
, Who will lead me past the watchhouse of the Sun?" —
,Your wage donation and your works, your alms and your charity verden lead you past the watchhouse of the sun."

') See p. 393.

How very pleased I am,
how happy my heart is,
how very pleased I am
on the day when my dispute will be settled,
on the day when my dispute will be settled
and my walk to the place of life is!
I fly and move there,
until I get to the watchhouse of the moon. I'm calling:
,Who will lead me past the watchhouse of the moon?"
,Your wage donation and your works, your alms and your charity they will lead you past the watchhouse of the moon."

How very pleased I am,
how happy my heart is, how very pleased I am
on the day when my dispute will be settled,
on the day when my dispute will be settled
and my walk to the place of life is!
I fly and move there,
until I get to the watchhouse of the fire.
I'm calling:
,,Who will lead me past the watchhouse of the fire?"
,,Your wage donation and your works, your alms and your charity they will lead you past the watchhouse of the fire."

How very pleased I am.
how happy my heart is,
how very pleased I am
on the day when my dispute will be settled,
on the day when my dispute will be settled
and my walk to the place of life is!
I fly and move there,
until I get to the watchhouse of the Seven.
I'm calling:
,Who will lead me past the Watchhouse of the Seven?" ...
,,Your wage donation and your works, your alms and your charity
they will lead you past the Watchhouse of the Seven."

How very pleased I am,
how happy my heart is,
how very pleased I am
on the day when my dispute will be settled,

on the day when my dispute will be settled
and my walk to the place of life is!
I fly and move there,
[90] until I come to the guardhouse of the Rühā.
I'm calling:
,,Who will lead me past the guardhouse of the Ruha?" —
,,Your wage donation and your works, your alms and your charity
they will lead you past the guardhouse of the Ruha."

How very pleased I am,
how happy my heart is,
how very pleased I am
on the day when my dispute will be settled,
on the day when my dispute will be settled
and my walk to the place of life is!
I fly and move there,
until I get to the water streams.
When I arrived at the streams of water,
the outflow of gloss came to meet me. He grabbed me by the area of my right and led me over the streams of water.
They brought shine and clothed me with it,
brought light and covered me with it.

Life supported life,
life found its own.
His own found life,
and my soul, that of the NN of this ascension, found [hope. —
what it- Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Son of Good,
show me the way you came,
and the ascent on which your father ascended
the place of light.

Thirteenth piece.

The hope of good came to me, for they say, Thou shalt go out.

Then the hope came to me again,
for they say, Thou shalt go there.
Send to my brothers and tell them,
that they come and pray for me.
How good are my brothers,
that they came of their own accord!
,My brothers, in your life, o
good ones, by all your souls!
When you see something ugly,
do not let go of your burden.
If you see something ugly again,
do not let up, but do the rest. For
he who is loaded ascends,
those who are empty are cut off here.
I'm loaded and I'm climbing up,
my works and my wage donation precede me,
and I rely on my well-being." My soul, why does it grieve you,
that you're leaving the house?
[91] [The house] falls to destruction,
and the legal dispute of the prisoners is to be settled.
DThe House of the Planets [is to be forfeited],
and the works of their hands shall pass away.
I fly and move there,
until I get to the planets").
At the gates of the planets
stand there and whisper.
,,Why are you whispering, you seven?
I'm not one of you."

I fly and move there,
until I get to the house of life.
How to get to the house of Life,
life is coming to me.
It brought out shine and clothed me with it, it
brought light and covered me with it.
It included me in its bill,
and the good placed me in its midst.
My light prepared the pihta,
and my mind stood up and praised life.
Will you find a good,
so approach him,

---

1) Maybe to read, see further.

do you find a bad,
so stay away from him.
Between the lamps of light
your lamps will be lifted up and shine ').

You have been raised and strengthened
through the Word of Truth that has come to you.
The Word of truth has come to the good,
the true word to the believers.
To the place that is all life,
are your souls called and charged"). —
And life is victorious.

The good guys go there,
the dispute of the elect is settled.
The good guys go there;
who shall endure the splendor of the good")?

Fourteenth piece.

When the darkness made plans,
Adam left his body.
Adam left his body,
in splendor and light, the soul was recovered.
The soul was recovered in splendor and light,
and the heart of the Rūha darkened.
Ruha speaks:
,The soul has ascended to the house of life." As long as the soul was in the world of the wicked,
all the darkness sat in distress.
In distress sat the whole darkness,
and Rüha covered her head.
[92] She spoke:
,Woe to me that I knew nothing of their treasures "), which I coveted.
I want to do (to the soul),
that I will plunge them into the tortures of the earth.

---

1) See p. 513, 17; Lit., pp. 104, 7; 214, 3. ") See Lit., p. 214.
3) See above, p. 518, 25. 4) Of the superior beings, see also p. 530, 28.

Into the tortures of the earth I will plunge
them and stand back at the gates of darkness.
I will restrain them at the gates of darkness and shackles in the guardhouses.
We want to make the whole tribe contemptible with us,
towards darkness ******' . . . .
her voice penetrated to the house of the great life.
When the great (life) heard this,
he sent a messenger of light.
The Great spoke to Hibil-Zīwā'):
,Good Uthra of lovely name!
Deliver Adam from the darkness
and lift him up here."

I dressed myself with splendor from my place
and came out of my place.
I took Adam out of the world of evil and led him past every ugly structure.
I darkened the light of the wicked
and broke all their guardhouses.
Rūhā dQudšā comes and finds the body of Adam, as it is without a soul. Rüha complains and beats herself
and call the astartes who were with her.
She speaks to the Liliths and Astarts:
,,Come on, we want to complain and cry, let the astartes shout"),
that the strange man did this,
while I knew nothing of their treasures."

I took Adam past every ugly thing and got in front of the Škina of the Ptahil.
When I arrived at the Škīnā of the Ptahil, Ptahil rose from his throne.
Ptahil rose from his throne
and prayed with a bow before life. He prayed with a bow to life and handed Kuštā to the soul.
He handed Kušta to the soul
and spoke to her:
,,Your measure is full, soul,
and you left the world of the wicked."

---

1) The first namy is also missing in sorrow.
2) Sorry. the text is probably not in order here.

Then she spoke to him:
,Sit down, simple-minded Uthra, who does not understand anything on the Tibil."

Ptahil sat down on his throne,
and I came before the Škinā of Abathur.
[93] Abathur rose from his throne
and prayed with a bow before life. He prayed with a bow to life and handed Kušta to the soul. He handed the soul Kušṭā;
then I led them past Jōšamīn.
When Jošamīn saw the soul,
he rose from his throne.
Jošamīn rose from his throne
and prayed with a bow before life. He prayed with a bow to life and handed
Kuštā to the soul.
He handed the soul Kuštā;
[then I led them past Enoš-Uthra].
When Enoš-Uthra saw the soul,
he prayed with a bow to life. He bète with a bow to life and handed Kuštā to the soul.
He handed the soul Kuštā;
then I led them past the sons of Salvation.
When the sons of Salvation saw the soul, they prayed with a bow to life.
They prayed with a bow to life
and handed Kušṭā to the soul.
They submitted to the soul Kušṭa;
[then I introduced her to life].
When life saw me,
it won me love.
The Uthras of Light rejoiced mine1),
life blessed me,
and Mandā dHaijē was grateful to me.
You speak to her:
,Blessed be you, soul,
and blessed be the man who redeemed you and lifted you up [hat."
And to him they spoke:

---

1) This from Nöldeke Gram., p. 46, 8 assumed meaning does not seem to me sure. The readings fluctuate a lot. Sorry. has NNy, which is certainly incorrect.

,You brought the soul here, you brought it here, and you were a helper to her."

He created her shine in his place and clothed them with his own robe. With his own robe he clothed them and he placed her on the throne which he established for her. He created her shine in his place,
and she clothed herself with his') robe.
With his robe she clothed herself and he sat down on the throne which he built for her. When she sat on the throne that he erected to her, there
she hopped in radiance and light.
As she hopped in shine and light,
then she jumped up and rose from her throne. She jumped up, rose from her throne and prayed with a bow before life. She prayed with a bow to life and [94] extolled the great life.
She praised Manda dHaije,
who redeemed them and brought them up here"). The soul praises and says: 'On this ascension, on which I will ascend- have risen, let the true, faithful and excellent Naşoreans, as well as the perfect women ascend when they get out of their body divorce." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

I saw my robe and my wreath, then my soul felt equipped for the place of light.

Fifteenth piece.

,My measure is full, and I move out." —
The Spirit speaks to the soul: ,If you're moving out, why are you sorry?
If you're sorry, why are you moving out?" ...

---

1) AvDN) 7 is here taken absurdly from the previous one.
2) That was Hibil-Zīwā! Cf. pp. 438, 16.

If I move out, that's how the demons stand there,
if I turn back, my number is full. Where is the life I loved,
where is the life that loves me?
Where is the man of proven justice,
in whose name I donated alms?
Where is Manda dHaijē,
in whose name did I go to Jordan?
Where are you going, Lord of the Kušta,
where the demons surround my body?
The demons surround my body,
and the Seven stand there and think about evil.
The Seven senses against me
and make secret plans against me.
They speak:
When he walks away from us'),
let's tie him up in the customs house. If he calls, who will answer him, and
who will be a savior to him?
Who will be a savior to him,
when he is tied up in the house of the tax collectors?"

A quake arose on the spot
in this world.
A Uthra was sent to me,
a man who is outstanding in the world.
A great Uthra was sent to me,
a man who is supposed to be a helper for me.
[95] He shall be a helper to the men,
which strengthen the tribe.
He broke their guardhouses
and made a breach in their castle.
He made a breach in their castle,
and the seven fled away") from his path. He brought shine and clothed me with it and
got me out of the world with swagger.
The Seven with their demons and Hmurthas sitting there grieving.
Everyone is sitting there and grieving
the man who came from the Tibil,

---

1) Read prEN).

") Sorry. has p77. But N77 heals "wegstolen".. Either pray (Ethpeel) is too read or pri ,"they hurried away trembling," see Lit... p. 24, 6.

to the man who sprang from the tibil
and a breach was made in their castle.
He made a breach in their castle,
and they took him out of the world with pomp.

When the Seven saw this,
did they see themselves as inferior,
they turned back and sat down by their way.
But the elect (and the Uthras) rose with their praise and looked at the place of — [upwards
light. Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

The soul saw the glory,
she stands at her place of origin and prangets.

Sixteenth piece.

The soul is in the fruit of life blooms and blooms.
She blooms and blooms.
The Uthras stepped up and asked her out:
,When you were in the Tibil,
in the decrepit house,
when you were among the seven, the sons of the empty dwelling,
what did the seven do to you,
when you were among them?a

She responds to them:
,They called me a slave who has no master, and
every day they took me to court.
They turned the court against me,
they pursed their lips against me.
They called me a slave who has no master and no mistress
everyone who reaches him"), beats him, [hat:
everyone who meets him, angers him,
and everyone who comes to him despises him.

---

1) NDDN does not make sense; it is probably influenced by. I suspect N3ON.
2) Sorry. hat lies דראורה.

They called me a river without a transition"),
which has lifted and is clogged at the mouth.
He has lifted and is clogged at the mouth, [96] and the plants about him die of thirst and die of thirst. They called me a prisoner without a place of residence,
who has no father.
He has no father
and no caregiver.
I was hurt and sorry,
that I had to hope for my helper for so long.
I had to hope for my helper,
the man who made me hear his voice, that he may come and rid me of the wicked,
rid me of sinners,
that he may set me free from the birds that let go of the hearers,
who are used to anger in the tibil,
that he may free me from the watchmen, and me from the judges who make a wrong judgment. [losmache,
I said to myself: when will I come out from the desert wasteland")?
I said to myself: when will I get out of her
and look at the place of light?"

How I stand in my place,
I saw my helper. I saw the gentle Uthra,
the man who made me hear his voice.
He screamed and let me hear his voice
and put my heart on his support.
When I saw my father, the Uthra,
the man who is a helper to me,
when I saw my father, the Uthra, I am the light of the world.

He talked and talked to the sons of the void dwelling:
,I am a slave whose master is One,
there is no noble who is like me.
I have a Uthra for my father,
i have a nurse.
I have a judge for my father,
who makes my case with my persecutors.

---

1) See Nöld., p. 430". 2) Sorry. has N37177.

I have a lord of plants,
who seals his plants with water."

The planets are there,
they whisper and talk:
,With whose power is he standing there,
that his mind is so firmly supported by him?
Who is his Lord, who is his helper,
who is the judge who settles his case with his persecutors
versiehtpu

I replied to the seven,
who have condemned themselves'):
,,The slave of the stranger I am,
the man who strengthens his friends.
[97] I am the slave of the stranger,
the man who is a helper.
[A helper] is he the man ********,
and he strengthens his tribe." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

When I was among you,
don't you worry about me.
Now I want to go there,
what do I have in common with you?

Seventeenth piece.

The voice of the soul of life I hear,
who weeps from the body of garbage.
She speaks:
, They brought me naked") into the world,
and they took me out of her empty. When I was empty, they took me out of her,
like a bird that nothing accompanies."

The voice of the soul is,
who whines and cries in her place.

---

1) Sorry. is an aggravation, cf. R 54. 2; 117, 23
2) See above, p. 317, 22.

She speaks:
What should I do with you, my body,
start in that ') world?
If you, my body, were a garment of splendor and light,
that's how I attract you,
and you ascended with me to the house of life.
If you were a belt of shine and light,
so you would be tied around my hips,
and you ascended with me to the house of life.
If you were a wreath of shine and light,
so you would be placed on my head,
and you ascended with me to the house of life.
If you were a rod of shine and light,
that's how I held you in my hand, and you ascended with me to the house of life. Would you be sandals of shine and light, so you would have put me at my feet,
and you ascended with me to the house of life."
So the soul spoke and spoke, and
the body did not accompany her.

The voice of the Messenger of Life I hear,
who calls to the soul of life:
,,Come, come 2), you light-giver,
which you illuminated the dark house.
Come on, come on, you fragrant,
which you made the smelly body fragrant.
Come, come, you noble-born,
[98] who is called a maid in the dwelling of the wicked."

The soul turns around and looks
according to the body and the palace from which they were taken.
She speaks to the body:
If you weren't a body,
formed from a lump of clay!
From a lump of clay you are formed,
and the seven who pursued you remained standing as inferior.
The seven who persecuted you stopped as inferior
within this world." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) So, do not, in this", as dastelt, see also p. 338"
2) See above, p. 514f.

The soul is on the way
and go to the truthful ones. She speaks to you:
,,Come, eat and drink, you good ones,
i will be with you').

Eighteenth piece.

Although still young, my measure became
full, although still young, my exit took place;
although still young, my measure became full
away from this world. If I go out, the demons are there,
if I turn back, my number is full.
How foolish are the Äons,
how simple are the worlds,
how foolish are the Äons,
who sit around me in sorrow.
In sorrow for me they sit there
and eat ...") around me.
To me they eat ... .,
and around me they lie on mats.
They lie around me on mats
and tear their treasure around me"). To me you tear up your sweetheart, and they shed tears for me. They shed tears for me and they're tearing their hair out around me.

Everyone who tears his dress around me, will keep the flaw on his robe. Anyone who sheds tears for me, will find seas and rivers in front of him').
Anyone who pulls out their hair around me,
will be included in the Finsterberg").
My measure has become full, my time is coming,
and I'm moving towards the place of light. —

---

1) The words sound like the invitation of a god to the cult meal.
2) To and from the following siche p. 21 ob.; 466 unt.
a) Here seems to be as much as garb zn, see the following.
4) On his way to Life. 6) Sorry. did Agno.

Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

[99] When I was living in physical garb,
my robe was not taken from me;
now that you got me out of it,
my confidence is directed to life.

Nineteenth piece.

At my height I stand,
and my eyes are looking at the tibil.
I look and see the soul,
how she cries, laments and pours out (in tears)
and with her hair sweeping the streets.
With her hair she sweeps the streets,
with her nails she digs up earth.
With her nails she digs up earth,
she moistens the earth with her tears.
She moistens the earth with her tears,
with her hands she assembles vaults.
Vaults she puts together with her hands, so she stands there and performs the construction. She built it and cleaned it, then she climbed up and sat down on the ring wall').
She took off the rose skirt
and marveled at its beauty.
She speaks to him:
"Woe to you, body splendor,
it is right that the worm of hell eats you.
Woe to you, rose skirt,
which the birds tear to pieces in the air."

The soul sits there and waits:
maybe a escort is coming.
Maybe a escort will come
and I'm going with them.
The soul looks up and sees, how to approach the escort of the bad guys.

---

1) Doubtful, see Joh. II, P. 30°.

Darkness goes before them,
Darkness follows them.
Demons accompany you, Liliths are their guides. A mile and a half (1) the sound of her crying penetrates. A mile and a half away penetrates
the smell of their stench. When they came to the soul,
spoke to you of life's guiltless soul:
What are your works, you wicked ones,
that your travel allowance looks like this?"
To this they reply to her:
,,Our head penetrated into the earth
") within this world.
Our eyes beckoned within this world. Our ears were listening at the doors within this world. Our hands committed murder within this world. Our heart was [100] ambiguous
within this world. Our body drove fornication
within this world.
Our knees bowed to the Seven
within this world.
Our feet went barefoot
within this world."

Then he spoke to them
the innocent soul of life:
,If these are your works, you wicked,
so your travel allowance is excellent.
Go, go, you bad guys,
I am not coming with you in your escort."

The soul is sitting there:
maybe a escort is coming.
Maybe a escort will come,
and I walk with you in your escort.

---

1) i.e. a mile and beyond, similar to un corsaire et demi.

2) To listen or to drive earthmanticism? See also R 63, 16.

The soul looks up and sees,
how the guidance of the good comes about.
Shine goes before you,
Light follows them.
Uthras of life accompany you,
Angels of glory are their guides.
A mile and a half away
penetrate your fragrance.
Then he spoke to ilmnen
the innocent soul of life:
If it pleases you, my good brothers,
lead me with you in your escort.
I want a company for the good,
be a guide to the believers."

Then talk to her:
,What are your works, soul,
that we may guide you with us in our guidance on the way?"
Then she speaks to you:
,,My father distributed bread,
and my mother donated alms;
my brothers sang hymns,
and my sisters handed Kušta."
Then talk to her:
,,Your father who distributed bread,
did it for sicl;
your mother who gave alms,
did it for your soul.
Your brothers who sang hymns,
will ascend on the paths of the Kuštā;
your sisters who handed Kušṭā,
Manda dHaije will be a helper.
What are your works that you have done for yourself, that we may lead you with us in our escort?"

Then she replies to them: ,I want to say euclı, my brothers,
I want to tell you, true, believing men;
i want to tell you, my brothers,
i want to tell you how it was.
My brothers according to your will, my sisters [101] by their own will, my brothers according to your will made me the bride of the wicked.

They made me the bride of the wicked, do not give wages and alms. They do not grant wages and alms, therefore,
they are tied up in the darkness.
But with me, I loved life, Manda
dHaije took a seat in the spirit.
When the Saturday went out in the evening,
when Sunday came for the good'), i took alms in my pocket, took a piece of bread in my hand. I took alms in my pocket and went to the gate of the temple. I put the alms among the other alms") and the piece of bread for the common feeding (for the poor")).
I found an orphan, so I sated her
and filled the widow's pocket.
I found a naked,
so I put a robe around his neck.
I found a prisoner,
so I untied him and sent him back to his place of residence.
I untied him, sent him back to his native place
and provided him with food on the way."

So they brought splendor and clothed them with it, brought light and covered them with it. They tied around her a large diadem of splendor and they laid a wreath on her.
They tied a belt around her,
which is quite high gloss.
They laid her a transition across the seas, put a dam through the rivers for her. They seized her by the surface of the right and led them over the streams of water.

Life turned life upside down,
life found its own.
His own found life, [hope for. — and my soul, that of the NN of this ascension, found what it

---

1) Siche also Lit., p. 220, LIV.

2) Probably in the collection point for alms.

") In vernute I ovuboan, which is also used in the Syrian N5210 and סְבוּלֶת in the Talmudic (Levy, Neuhebr. Wtb. III, p. 468b). The mild gifts were given at a They gathered together and fed the poor there together. Sorry. סבילא; hat which is perhaps influenced by the Arabic sebil,"mild gift".

Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

The soul is on the way')
and look out for their helper:
I'll let my eyes look out for you,
Lord, You are all grace.

Twentieth piece').

Between the hidden and the shine,
between the Light and the Uthras,
between the hidden and the shine
stand there and ask the soul out.
They speak:
,Say, say, soul,
who educated you.
Who built you, who formed you"),
who was [102] the man, your Creator?a

,,One built me, One formed me, One of them was the man, my Creator.
One of the sons of Salvation
kindly took a part.
He wrapped me in a wrap of shine, took
and handed me over to Adam.
Adam, in his simplicity
ashamed, since he did not know, ashamed, since he did not know-[stand.
Adam, in his simplicity
nalım and put me in the physical trunk.
He took and put me in the physical rump of wormwood, bitterwort and ..).
The soul sits there and protects the physical hostel"), which is entrusted to her.
She sits there and protects her,
until their measure and number is fulfilled.

---

1) Sorry. has nhowo. e) Is also Lit., p. 99.
3) p2 probably belongs to N32, not to p2, although man text 46,14 (here p. 464, 41; Nöld., p. 270, 23) has to move to pa.
4) Cf. Lit., p. 100". 5) Sorry. it's like Qol. NDW.

When their measure and number was fulfilled,
the solver went to her.
The solver went to her and solved her,
it led her away, who had bound her.
Who had solved the soul, preceded her,
he who had bound her followed her.
The soul ran [and reached] the one who had solved it, he who had bound her ran, but he did not reach her. The soul alone and its redeemer go to the place of life. -
And life is victorious.

What is it good for me that I came and lived in a deceptive, empty hull? What is it good for me that I came and lived in him, where he does not ascend with me to the place of light?

Twenty-first piece.

The soul goes out,
your measure is full, and your time has come.
Your measure is full, your time has come,
and she has her eye full of the solver').
Full of solver she has her eye,
and her heart is full of weeping.
Her heart is full of weeping,
and the solver does not take a bribe.
He does not accept a bribe and do not trade the body for the soul. They released the soul and led it there,
they were brought before the judge.
The judge asks you out [103] according to their sins and transgressions:
,What works have you, soul, done in the world of deception that you were in?"

,,You are my witness, judge,
that I have not done evil for my own sake.
I did not commit adultery") and did not act according to the will of the wicked.

---

2) See Joh. II, p. 478. 2) See above, p. 540.

I did not commit murder and no blood of Adam's son was shed. My head did not penetrate the earth, and my hands did not commit theft.
1 i have not done magic and do not torment the soul in the body. I have not delivered the servant into the hand of his Master,
don't put the maid in the hand of her mistress, nor have I given false testimony. I have not pushed boundaries, no boundary stones go crazy.
My eyes gave no sign,
and my mouth did not produce a lie.
The fortune tellers didn't tell me true,
and the deceitful Chaldeans did not Chaldeans to me.
I did not eat a double alms') and did not worship two gentlemen.
I gave alms to the poor,
and I was a guide to the blind man.
If I found a hungry one, I satisfied him,
and filled the widow's pocket.
I found a naked,
so I put a robe around his neck.
I found a prisoner,
so I released him and sent him back to his place of residence.
25 I untied him, sent him back to his native place
and provided him with food on the way.
With the sick man I went up to his camp,
with the deceased, I went to the cemetery." —
If these are your works, soul, so may your witnesses come and witness."

When the soul was still standing before the judge,
her witnesses flew up and came to her.
The Jordan River and its two banks for the soul").
The baptism with which she had been baptized,
the Pihta, the Kuštā and the Mambūgā
witness to the soul.
Payment of wages and alms (and baptism)
witness to the soul.

---

1) I did not let alms be given to me from different sides?

°) See Lit., pp. 33 f.

They grasped the soul by the surface of the right,
they lifted them up and set them up in the house of perfection,
in the place [104] whose sun does not set and whose light lamps do not darken. -
- Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

In old age, you formed her') wings,
she jumped down and sat down in a cloud of splendor.

Twenty-second piece.

I will be redeemed, my measure is full, i am redeemed, my number is full, I am saved, my measure is full. -
- When the soul strips the body, does
the trunk keep its mouth shut (closed),
the room*) shows solidification.
The Seven Planets
surround my body and sit there. They speak to her (to the soul):
,When you go out*), soul,
let's get you in front of the customs - officers." ... ,, I go out*), so the demons are there, if I turn back, my number is full. Where's the run I ran,
where is the greeting that my hands extended?
Where are the sandals of my feet, who I left with my friends? Where are you going, Lord of the Kušṭa,
where the demons have surrounded my body?
The demons have surrounded my body,
and my eyes color in my head."
I raised my eyes to the heights,
with my soul I looked towards the house of Life").

---

1) Read Ȧt any, the soul. 2) i.e. the body.

3) The preceding PD , "Go out" is here and text 116, 12 is not in place. The planets do not want the soul to leave the body. It is hardly ironic intentioned.

4) Read pidy. ") Sorry. has NNDD, see p. 5101.

I raised my eyes to the heights
and saw the man, my helper.
,,Help me, help me, " the soul cries,
,'help me before them and do not let me down ').
He helped me out of the middle of the seven, lifted me above the tax collectors, brought me up and straightened me in the house of the Full-Life is held high and is victorious, [ending on. —
and victorious is the man who went here.

The manā rejoices, feels joy,
that Hibil-Zīwā is coming from the house of life to him.

Twenty-third piece.

A voice called from above
and from the upper kingdoms.
[105] A voice called from on high, which spoke:
,,The prisoners are to be freed."
She said: 'Let the prisoners be freed, and for those who are cramped, it will be a long way ")."

I moved there and came,
until I got to their prison.
When I arrived at her prison,
the warden of the prisoners came to meet me").
I talked and talked
the overseer of all prisoners:
" What is the food,
and what is the drink of the prisoners?" —
,,The food of the prisoners is wormwood, bitter herb and ... .,
the drink of the prisoners is black water and dirt."

Then I spoke and spoke
the overseer of all prisoners:
,,Take pegs and keys
and open the gate of the prison.

---

1) I read instead of see text 116, 25.
°) See p. 393, 22; 525 ob. a). See p. 405 unt.

Open the gate of the prison
and release the prisoners who are locked up.
Release the prisoners who are locked up;
let it be wide for those who are cramped."
Then he speaks to me:
How many should I let you out of a thousand,
how many shall I let you out of ten thousand?"

He opened the gate for me
and put the sign on the document'). He picks out the adulterers and thieves
and leads them out to the gate of the Šeol.
He picks out the wizards and witches
and leads them out to the gate of the Šeol.
He picks out the fortune tellers and winkers
and leads them out to the gate of the Šeol.
He seeks out those who push boundaries and move boundary stones
and leads them out to the gate of the Šeol.
I went through the prison
and did not find a true man.
Then I spoke and spoke
the overseer of all prisoners:
,Include the wicked because of their works
and pay attention to the souls, until the great will sit in judgment;
then the wicked will come and be tested."
The prisoners sing hymns and rejoice,
they have taken away the shackles.
The prisoners are crying and howling,
on which the shackles were left.
They speak:
,'We've heard from you, good guy'), [dammest." —
that you (the people) do not go to the cut-off mountain-
,,My sons, there is no cut-off mountain, and there is no one whom his Lord condemned to him.
[106] No, your relatives have condemned you, who live in the deception of the world. [arranges
They have no mass for you, not my memorial service-and the table") of alms and Mass was not set up." —
And life is victorious.

---

1) This is probably ND" babyl. gittu ,,document". It is the gift given to the Redeemer Guide writing.

2) Cf. Joh. II, p. 1061.

3) Sorry. hat ולפאתורא.

O gentle Mānā,
o orderly, well-ordered Manā,
o gentle Mānā,
may helpers come with you.

Twenty-fourth piece.

At the gate of the prisoners I passed, my radiance rose above their prisons. Over their prisons my glory rose, and they became fragrant due to my fragrance.
My scent made them fragrant, and the Seol shone through my brilliance.
The souls perceived it,
then they cry and howl and pour out (in tears).
I call to the prison warden:
,Open the gate to souls."
That's what he's talking about: How many should I let you out of a thousand,
how many shall I let you out of ten thousand?"

He opened the gate for me
and put the sign on the document.
He opened the gate for me
and gave them the reward for their chains').
He laid bread for the poor, He distributed guest meals to the persecuted*), he assigned the reward for their chains to their tables. The souls were singled out
from the place of darkness to the place of light.
-- And life is victorious.

---

1) He compensated them for the sufferings suffered in the chains.
*) Read or פאלינ.

Twenty-fifth piece.

I have a soul in the Tibil,
she is wrapped up in the world.
She is wrapped up in the world,
a uthra step at her touch').
At her touch step a Uthra
and shake her out of her sleep:
,,Get up, get up, soul,
get up, look towards the house of life.
Get up, look towards the house of life and lift up your face to the place of light.
Behold, the whole world
is a thing without value.
A thing without value is she
and does not deserve trust.
[107] See the great sea,
through which there is no transition.
See the Hitpūn River"),
through which no dam is laid.
See the guardhouse,
standing by the rebel.
See the fire fires,
whose smoke rises and reaches the firmament.
See the double pits,
which Rūha dug on the way.
See the high mountain,
on which no path is paved.
See the wall, the Iron wall,
which surrounds the world like a wreath.
Like a wreath, the world surrounds
you, and no breach has been made in them.

When you, soul, hear what I tell you,
and do not contradict my speech, so you will be over this great sea
a transition will be laid.
Through this river Hitpūn
a dam will be laid for you").

---

1) Cf. pp. 430, 32.

2) Means,"they tore me away". Maybe you have ND ,"water", the plural it is to think as a subject.

a) Maybe stand (785 for 78tery, ,I will ", see also 78507d (7x50D).

I'll take you past the guardhouse,
where the rebels stand.
I'll take you past the fires, whose smoke rises and reaches the firmament.
I'll take you past the double pits,
which Rüha dug on the way.
On this high mountain
I will pave a way for you.
In this wall, the iron wall,
I will make a breach for you.
I want to grasp you with all my strength and stretch you with my whole body 1). With all my strength I want to grasp you and lift me up to the place of light." —
And life is victorious.

The chosen ones come from the earth
Tibil, so they come and are embraced by my vine.
They come, they are wrapped in my vine and climb up, look at the place of light.

Twenty-sixth piece,

Whose soul is this,
who is so built, well-built *)?
So built, well-built it is,
so true and faithful.
So true and faithful is she,
so equipped, well-equipped.
She fears and is not afraid,
she does not know fear and anxiety.
She is not afraid of the tax collectors,
not in front of the wrong angels.
They put a Äther wreath on her head and took them out of the world.

This soul flies and moves there, [108]
until she came to the house of the tax collectors.

---

1) You actually expect something different.

a) Here, as well as in piece 34, it is not entirely certain that daf belongs to NJD (see Nöld., p. 307, 17 and above, p. 543"); it could also belong to pa, see above p. 391, 14.

When the chief tax collector saw the soul,
he asked her out:
,,With whose strength did you go out, soul,
and whose name is pronounced about — you?" ,,I went out with the power of life, and the name of Manda dHaije is pronounced over me."

"[With what] should I compare you, soul,
what to compare with in this world? I compare you to the sun of the day, i compare you to the moon of the night. I compare you to the northern air'),
when she regets herself in the world"). I compare you to the waves of water, when the northern air blows over you."

The soul shone more than the sun of the day, it was brighter than the moon of the night. She was stronger than the northern air, when she moves in the world.
She was more pleasant than the waves of water,
when the north blows over you.
The chief tax collector bowed his head,
and the soul rose to him:
,Go, soul, climb up,
go, fly and get there." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

How very happy I am*),
how happy my heart is,
how very pleased I am
on the day when my dispute will be settled,
on the day when my dispute will be settled
and my walk to the place of life is!

Twenty-seventh piece').

A well-sealed letter is,
who goes out of the world,

---

1) See about this p. 281 ob.
[2] See also p. 440 °.
3) See also piece 12.
[4] With some deviations, Lit., p. 111.

a letter written with Kušta,
sealed with the Great seal ring.
Perfect ones have written it,
faithful men secured him.
They hung him around the neck of the soul and sent him to the gate of life.
Where did it come from that Daium saw,
that the soul carried the letter?
Where did it come from that Daium saw her,
while her seven sons were gathered around her?
[109] These speak:
,Who wrote the letter,
whose secret we did not know?
The letter is written with Kuštā,
sealed with the seal ring Großer.
Pious, perfect ones wrote it, faithful men secured him. They hung him around the neck of the soul and sent him to the gate of life."

The soul in its wisdom
spread splendor over him and kept him safe,
wrapped him in light and wrapped him.
The Seven bowed their heads,
and the soul descended on her. They put an ether wreath on her head and took them out of the world.

The soul flies and moves there,
until she came to the streams of water.
When she reached the streams of water,
the great outpouring of splendor went to meet her.
He seized them by the right side of the
and led them over the streams of water1).
They set them up in their skīnā,
at the place where the Uthras sit.

Life supported life,
life found its own.
His own found life,
and Bar-Haije carried out His own. -
And life is victorious.

---

1) Sorry. does it still stand behind here אנפיק אלבשויא זיוא ואיתון נהורא כאסויא
They brought out shine and clothed her with it,
they brought light and covered them with it.

My enlightenment and my praise lead me over.
Who led you through the guard, lead me over, the cloud of light, and it will rise victorious to the place of light.

Twenty-eighth piece.

I excrete from my body,
my time has come, and my measure is full.
My measure is full, my time has come,
and the excretion from the body is close. The guard is moving out in a hurry.
The trunk held the mouth (closed),
the room showed solidification.
The physical hull shook.
The fiends pierce my heart').
Who of the wicked told him:
,,Equip and set up angels on the way")?u
Move out, you divorce, soul,
they will bring you in before the judge.
Your works and your deeds
they will bring you in before the judge.
Get up, go with him,
with the King") of the great (life) who has come to you.
The path I'm taking,
is far and endless.
Through the passage through which I pass,
does not penetrate any tax.
The sun does not set over it,
the lamps [110] of light do not become dark.
The men who are there,
they lay on themselves flaunting wreaths.
With a shine they are clothed,
a light is spread over all*).

---

1) Instead of reading I prefer the reading (also Sorry. so) before. For W37 = W27, see Nöld., p. 41, 6. Then 3N37 instead of 7N3).

2) The words are probably addressed to an underground being. Even the "angels" here are bad geniuses, see p. 4.

3),"King" is also here as much as heavenly being, see p. 62.

1) Read Di7D.

They are the same size
and take the measure of each other.
When the good ones speak,
your speech is one. —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Soul, get up, go
with the king of the great (life) who has come to you.

Twenty-ninth piece.

I was redeemed, my measure became full,
the great (life) sent for me. I'm talking to my sprouts and taught the great ones').
To my sprouts I speak, to the great I gave decrees:
,,My rungs, I'm leaving you;
what will you, my rungs, do?"

I sat down in the shade of my vines"), and
my brightness went up over my vines.
Over my vines my shine went up,
and my vines spoke from their place.
They speak and speak:
,,You're divorcing us, man,
what are you giving up on us? Tell us about your name, a living speech, extended and endless. Tell us about the hidden speeches and from the fixed Mānā, when he goes out").
Tell us what the great (life) abandoned to him"),
when he leaves the world."

,I want to tell you about the hidden speeches and from the fixed Mānā.

---

1) Here in the sense of "noble, noble". ,"Big, grown-up" does not mean.
2) These are its rungs. 3) It is the separating soul.
4) is not ok; maybe פאקדויא רביא.

When he leaves here,
the Seven are his opponents.
To the house of Ptahil
the Seven are opposed to the Manā. When he comes out of the house of Ptahil, Abathur welcomes him with his splendor
and his light is unlimited.
Because of its extended luster fear comes over the second.
The second rises from his throne
and praise the mighty life:
,,Blessed be you, mighty life, that you have sent me this helper."

My rungs bowed their heads,
they wailed and wept in their place.
[111] They speak:
,,You're divorcing us, man;
when will we see your place?
When will we see your figure, which is now hidden from the world?"

To this he replies to them: If the great (life) would let me,
I would grow up in the world with you.
But now that the big one wanted me,
the hidden perfects inflicted themselves
on me. I was added to the hidden Mānās, the glory that looms in the vine." ...
The great life speaks to him and commissions him,
who sent for him in kindness.
It speaks to him:
,,You man, to whom did you leave your sprouts,
and who is the man to teach them?"
To which he replies to him '):
,,Your strength will keep them,
and your enlightenment will be a help to them."
And life is victorious.

---

1) A5 despite the relationship on see p. 240°; 3012; 335°.

Thirtieth piece.

At the gate of the garden I passed,
I heard the gardener's voice.
I heard the gardener's voice,
he cried and made the trees of the garden cry.
Why are you crying, gardener,
and make the trees of your garden cry? About that ...") went away in your hands,
or was the water in your canals inhibited?"

,,It didn't go away ...") in my hands, still the water in my canals was inhibited. But yesterday, but in the evening
a cedar tree was uprooted from my garden.
[A cedar has been uprooted] from my garden, a female cedar") torn out at the root.
I cry for my companions") and for the plants,
which he left with her")")."

,,The cedar that is uprooted from your garden, she was uprooted by the man who planted her. The female cedar, torn out at the root,
it will be set up here with us.
The good plants that have been left with you, they will rise and prosper well."
... And life is victorious.

I am a great mana,
I am a Manā, a son of the mighty (life).
I am a great Manā,
who lived in the sea.
I lived in the sea,
until they gave me wings,
until they made me wings,
[112] until I became a winged,
until I became a winged
and lifted my wings against the place of light.

---

1) See above, p. 4318. 2) See above, p. 409, 4.

") Event. ,,my companion"; Sorry. did "NTINg.

4) He, the thief, by the cedar? After the following, one expects "with me".

b) The cedars are the souls that were taken away from here. Should NANWN really being the female cedar, so could be alluded to male and female secluded.

Thirty-first piece.

At the gate of the prison
the splendor of Sunday passed.
The splendor of Sunday passed,
and at the gate of the prisoners the light filled.
When the souls saw the splendor and light of Manda dHaije, they felt joy in their chains. Then the jailer spoke to them,
who lived among them:
"Which is my (best) day among the days")?
The day you felt joy in your chains")." They talked about it") to the prison warden the prisoners"), among whom he lived:
,Our") (best) day among all days is,
as the splendor of Sunday passed.
The splendor of Sunday passed,
and at the gate of the prisoners the light filled. When we saw the splendor and light of Manda dHaije, we felt joy in our chains."

Then I spoke to the prison warden,
who lived among them:
,,You overseer of all prisoners, you prisoner overseer! Let go of your souls') and give them to me.
Let go and give me the souls,
who are worthy and worthy of the place of light, anyone who is marked with the sign of life and in the four Jordanes")."

Then the jailer spoke to him,
who lived among them:
,Good one, your souls are numerous,
endless and countless.
Search for them") in your gentle sense
and speak with your noble voice.

---

1) Actually, "are you looking for". ") See Lit., p. 186. ") See Nöld., p. 2554.
4) Sorry. hat ד̄נימארולה̄. 5) Sorry. hat 7877 עסיריא. o) Read /NDr.
7) See Joh. II, p. 245m.

8) I can only find the "four Jordans" at one point in the map. Divan (left to right-above the second dogs 37), which is dependent on this pieces: (1. N337) NIN37 pND כול בארבא יארדניא האבשאבא מאהליפלה̄ מן מאטארתא ד̄שאמיש,For anyone who is in the four Jordanen is baptized, passes the watchhouse of Samiš on Sunday."

") Perhaps, "recite to them", see the following half-verse.

Speak with your noble voice
and seek out your souls and lead them there.
Choose and lead your souls, who are worthy and worthy of the place of light, anyone who is marked with the sign of life and is baptized in the four Jordans."

I researched in my gentle sense
and spoke with my noble voice.
With my noble voice I spoke,
sought out my souls [113] and led them there.
I sought out and led my souls, who are worthy and worthy of the place of light, anyone who is marked with the sign of life and
is baptized in the four Jordans.

.Then the jailer spoke to him,
who lived among them:
,,Good man, you sought out your souls and led them
there; who will grant them relief from their chains?" ...
To this I replied and spoke
the overseer of all prisoners:
,In the world where these souls dwelt,
that's where you get relief').
Relief can be found there
and gives bread to the poor.
On the table you put
the relief from their chains." ...
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

I walk towards my image,
and my image is coming towards me.
It feeds and hugs me,
it's like I'm coming back from captivity.

---

1) By organizing mass for the dead and practicing pious works, see p. 548 unt.

Thirty-second piece.

When will my measure be full,
when will my dispute be resolved?
When will I take off the physical garment and go to the places of life, according to the location of the house of the good,
after the world in which my house stands')?
I want to go out and go to my father's house,
will not return to my home here").
I was hurt and sorry,
that I had to live in this world, where
the life comes to me from the fruits,
the shine answered me from a distance.
From a place that is far and far away,
I looked and recognized my father.
.- Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Thirty-third piece

What are the good things like,
when you leave your body?
[114] They like nimble (?) Arrow
"), 4) and who thus left this world. What things do the bad guys like"),
when you leave your body?
They are like bees,
when you leave your cane.
You have delivered your honey°),
then they went and lay down on the stony mountain. -

---

1) I suspect (2N] ,,in the my paternal construction", see the following verse. אלמא האזין probably also stands here erroneously for "N7 see p. 3389.

2) Well read. and are due to the previous האתאם affected. To "my father-in-law's house" is not to be thought of.

3) See Joh. II, p. 193.

4) FN2(F)12) means 'brush, smooth'. One of these meanings can probably be found here present. But one expects a different form, such as pDW" or NDW7 (Part. passport. PL.).

") See Joh. II, p. 1061.

6) B and suffering. have something I don't know how to start with before. ,Starting-measuring" does not fit here.

Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

I want to ascend and speak zunı great (life):
:Daily, everyday
send me voice and strength.
The voice and the power you send me, they will keep me awake so that I do not stumble."

Thirty-fourth piece.

Whose soul is this,
who is so built, well-built')?
So well-built, it is built,
so equipped, well-equipped.
So well equipped, she is equipped,
so true and faithful.
She sits in a cloud of shine,
and angels provide her with a support.
Uthras walk in front of her,
Kuštā paves the way for her.
The soul moved through the prison'),
left eiliga) the house of suffering.

The soul goes and leaves, until she gets to the customs house. The tax collectors call for the servants,
according to the men who wait the Seol:
,,Take the whole weapon device with you
and go halfway along the way.
See whose soul this is, which is so built, well-built.
So well-built, it is built, so equipped, well-equipped.
So well equipped, she is equipped,
so true and faithful.

') See above, p. 5512.

*) can be called "passing through" and (more often) "passing by". It is unsafe, what sense there is here. See, on the one hand, the following half-verse, on the other, p. 445ff. ")

Continue reading the text, e.g. 23.

She sits in a cloud of shine,
and angels provide her with a support.
Uthras walk in front of her,
Kuštā paves the way for her.
She moved through the prison,
hurriedly left the house of suffering."
Didn't they take the whole weapon device
and moved halfway along the way?
But the soul ascended to the house of life,
while the Seven [115] repented shamefully.
-- Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Thirty-fifth piece.

She (the soul) said: In life they put me in order; in his order ... you get me").
In kindness let life be remembered"),
in kindness let the thought of the mighty (life) be remembered,
be remembered in kindness of life,
which made my robe otherworldly.
It took off my skirt of darkness and put on me a robe of splendor. It put a robe on me, which is
wondrous and endless.
I stretched out my body in it, he became equal to the fullness of the world. I swung my wings in it,
I went there and reached the firmament.
I opened my eyes in it, my eyes became full of light.
I go there in my robe, in the garb that life attracted me. I go there in the garb of life, until I get to the House of Seven. How I arrive at the House of Seven,
stand there and whisper.

---

3) "tracking" does not fit; maybe it was also written here סידרון.
2) See above, p. 5241.

,,Why are you whispering, you seven?
I'm not one of you."

I go there in my robe,
until I come to the house of Abathur:
,,Kuštā about you, man of proven justice!"
,'Pray to me Kuštā from yours').«

I go there in my robe,
in the robe that life attracted me.
I'm going there in my clothes"),
until I come to the sons of salvation:
,Kušta about you, man of proven justice!"
,Pray me Kuštā from yours."

I go there in my robe,
in the robe that life attracted me. I go there in my robe, until I get to the water streams. When I reached the streams of water,
the effusion of splendor went to meet me.
He grabbed me by the area of my right and led me through the streams of water:
,,Kuštā about you, man of proven justice."
,,Pray me Kušta from yours."

I go there in my robe,
in the robe that life attracted me.
I go there in my robe, until
I get to the house of life.
When I arrived at the House of Life,
the good ones came to meet me.
[I16] They took out shine and clothed me with it, brought light and covered me with it: ,Kuštā about you, man of proven justice." ...
,Pray me Kuštā from yours."
The good ones counted me3) among their and establish for us the prayer to the great (life). -- Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) One has the words woll as a greeting of the incoming and his counter-greeting to grasp.

2) Read 21255, keep safe. ") Read proro.

The great (life) liked it;
what I told him, he heard:
,Daily, everyday
send me voice and strength.
The voice and the power you send me,
they will keep me awake so that I do not stumble."

Thirty-sixth piece[1]).

,,My measure is full, and I move out." —
When the soul strips the body, does
the trunk keep its mouth shut (closed),
the room shows solidification.
The seven surrounded the body,
sitting there (and talking):
When you go out), soul,
bring you in front of the customs officers." ... If I go out, the demons are there, if I turn back, my number is full. Where is the life I loved,
where is the life that loves me?
Where is the man of proven justice,
in whose name I donated alms?
Where is Manda dHaije,
in whose name did I go to Jordan?
Where is the Jordan of living water,
from which I got victory?
From him I got victory and I received the pure sign. Where's the run I ran, where is the greeting that my hands extended? Where are the shoes of my feet, who I left with my friends? Where are you going, Lord of the Kušta,
where do the demons keep my body surrounded? The demons keep my body surrounded, and my eyes color in my head." I raised my eyes to the heights and saw the man, my helper.

---

[1] Also Siche pieces 15. 22.
e) Siche p. 546".

He spoke to me:
"Go out'), soul,
I came here because of you."
,Carry, carry me," the soul calls,
,carry, carry me away from them and do not leave me behind."

He carried me out of the middle of the seven,
he lifted me above the tax collectors.
He lifted me out [over the tax collectors], [117] lifted me up and judged me in the house of the
in the place of all the splendor, [Completion on,
in the apartment, which is quite luminous.
In that place
your souls are also called and invited. -
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

He climbed up and lifted me up with him
and did not leave me in the empty apartment.

Thirty-seventh piece").

Although still young, my measure became full,
although still young, my exit took place;
although still young, my exit took place,
away from this world.
How foolish are the Äons,
how simple are the worlds,
how foolish are the Äons,
that they sit there in sorrow for me.
In sorrow for me they sit there,
and around me they lie on mats.

The lamentations, die,
those lying on mats ") are killed.
Food,
do not look at the place of light.

---

1) Here, again, hpen bothers). ") See also piece 18.
") Read by שאכביא.

If you don't complain,
if you are not lying on mats,
so if you call me, I will answer you quickly.
I will speak before you,
when I bring you the shining robe, that's coming out of you, big Jordan.

When you cry,
when you lie on mats,
so if you call me, I will not answer you.
I will not speak before you,
i will not give you a shining robe,
do not grant a flaunting wreath.
On the day of your divorce
you will be tied up in the house of the tax
collectors. Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Thirty-eighth piece.

The sound, the sound of a sound
I heard two voices,
the sound of two voices (of two),
they sit there and enlighten each other.
The voice of the spirit and the voice of the soul, they sit there and teach each other. The Spirit speaks to the soul, [it speaks] the spirit to the soul: ,,By your life, my sister, take me with you when you go there." ,How should I lead you with me,
where are you a lying ghost?
You are a lying spirit,
lie about what you didn't see.
How should I lead you with me, my brother,
where the man of the carriage stands erect?
The man of the carriage stands erect and weigh works and wages.
Works and wages') he weighs
and do the spirit together with the soul.

---

1) can perhaps be read twice, but text 128, 12 is also missing.

If he weighs someone, and he turns out to be fully important, this is how you lift him up and give him a support in life. If he weighs someone, and he does not prove to be fully important, that's how you settle the legal dispute with him already there').«

,Lead me with you
until (where) the carriage is erected.
Then may you take me on the dare,
Bring in works and rewards.
If you find me fully important when weighing,
may you bring the spirit together with the soul. If you find me inferior when weighing, may they cut me off behind you. — How good are you"), my sister, soul,
that you led me with you when you went"),
until (where) the carriage is erected,
the works and wages are weighed.
They found me fully important when weighing,
then they brought the spirit together with the soul." —
How the soul rejoices,
that they brought the spirit together with the soul! —
Life [118] supported life,
life found its own.
And life is victorious.

Thirty-ninth piece,

Whether Kušā is good for the good
and Manda dHaije for the sons of Salvation')? -
... While you are still in your body and seek to enlighten yourself by the power of the name of life, When will it be dark, when will it be light"), [[speak]:
when shall the measure of the world be full?
When should the good come out of the evil, when does the sweetness come out of the bitterness?

---

1) See p. 431 unt. °) Lies טאבאת.
") The soul has fulfilled the desire of the Spirit.
4) See also p. 142, 13.
") When should brightness take the place of darkness?

When shall life come out of death; when shall life rise before his Father? When should the bitter herb and . . be filed"), that the soul had to carry in this world?"

,Even if it's not dark, even if it's not getting light, so soon the measure of the body will be full.
Although the Kuštā does not come here to the good and Mandā dHaijē to the sons of salvation,
the light comes out of the darkness
and the good from the evil,
the sweetness comes out of the bitterness and the life out of death, life rises before his father and the soul of life to the sons of salvation, the bitter herb and ... is discarded,
that the Sèele had to wear in this world,
so you will be raised up and strengthened in the place where the good ones are consolidated." And blessed be life.

Fortieth piece.

The voice of the soul I hear,
who cries out of the body"):
,Who will get me out of my body*),
who will take me out of my body? It hurts and depresses me
in this world,
the world that is all night,
full of intrigue,
completely knotted with knots,
completely sealed with seals,
with nodes without a number,
with seals without measure."

,The man who looked at himself and to beget the bodies to release them'),

---

2) Here, not life as a supreme being, but life itself.

°) Lies ונישתאהלון. 3) Read NDNE. *) Read papoN).

") What is there can not be translated differently, but I do not understand the meaning. Also in the following there is some darkness.

who counted the stars in the sky'), measuring the world ocean under the seas, [119] the Sin (the moon) looked at the sky,
before him, he became weak and supported himself
here, who watched the great gate,
from which he took the worlds,
he will untie your knots,
that man will break your seals.
You have searched and found,
again you will seek and find." —
And life is victorious.

Forty-first piece.

A mana (am I) from the house of the great (life),
a Manā from the house of the mighty (life),
a Mānā from the house of the great (life).
From the house of the great (life), who brought me?
Who brought me out of the house of the great (life), who threw me into the tibil?
Who threw me into the tibil,
in the trunk without hands and feet?
I sit there and guard
the hostel that is entrusted to me.
I sit there and guard her,
until my measure is full.
Is my measure full,
then comes the solver.
When the solver comes,
he releases me and leads me to the place of light.
Who loosened me, walks in front of me,
he who bound me, runs after me. I ran and held on to the one who loosened me;
those who bound me did not reach —
me. Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) Read N.

Forty-second piece.

The soul, the soul of life speaks:
,Who locked me in the Tibil?
From the day I fell into Adam, I watched four mysteries1).
I went to the image of water;
water is the life of this world. I went to the image of the sun, the sun is the light of this world. I went to the image of the moon,
the moon is the count of this world."

The soul, the soul of life speaks:
,Who threw me into the tibil?
Who threw me into the Tibil2), who locked me in the wall?
Who threw me in the footblock,
who is like the fullness of the world?
Who put a chain around me3), which is beyond measure? Who [120] clothed me with a skirt of all colors and types?

Yes, Manda dHaije is,
he left to come into the world. Verily,
he brought me out of the earth,
undressed me . . . . . .4).
He took me out of the footblock, which is like the fullness of the world.
He took the chain from me5),
which is beyond measure.
He took off my skirt
of all colors and types.
Who had solved me, walked in front of me, who tied me, ran after me.

---

1) See Joh. II, p. 167. Here mur three are enumerated.

2) 12 is probably to be deleted; perhaps it is too glossed in the Text got into it. Although there are still 12 in the corresponding place there is also a different word for N712.

») Lies רמאבאן.

4) The word N217N1 is found only here, and text 122, 6, 19. It seems something like To signify bondage. Maybe it's with baby. zirgūtu ,,Band" (Muss-Arnolt I, p. 297) together?

5) Read "NJVD.

I ran and held on to the one who loosened me; I ran, who had tied me, did not reach me. Life answered me from the fruits,
the shine answered me from a distance.
From a place that is far and far away,
I looked and recognized my father." —
And life is victorious.

Forty-third piece').

I'm lying wrapped up there in a robe"), on which there is no mistake,
in a robe that there is no mistake about,
there is no lack or lack of him.
Life knew about me; Adam,
who was sleeping, woke up.
It grabbed me by the area of my right
and did not give me . in your hand.
It threw light into the darkness,
and the darkness filled with light.
On the day when the light rises,
the darkness will return to its place. He approached the cloud of light,
his gait is directed to the place of Lebeus. —
And life is victorious.

Forty-fourth piece").

,,My measure is full, and I move out." ...
The Spirit speaks to the soul:
If you're moving out, why are you sorry?
Sorry, why are you moving out?" ,I aim —
out, that's how the demons stand there,
if I turn around, my number is vóll. Where is the life I loved,
where is the life that loves me?

---

1) Is also Lit., p. 96. 2) Read x5oyya. a) See also item 15.

Where is Mandā dHaijē,
in whose name did I go to Jordan?
In his name we went to the Jordan
and received the pure sign.
Where is [121] the Jordan of living water,
from which we got victory?
Where is the man of proven justice, in whose name did we give alms? Where is the run we ran, where is the greeting that our hands extended?
Where are the shoes of our feet,
who we left with our friends?
Where are you going, Lord of the Kušṭā,
where do the demons keep my body surrounded?
Manda dHaije is far away,
be close to me.
At his place Mandā dHaije Kuštā planted, now Kuštā is abundant in the world')."

Then he spoke to me:
,How did you get into decay?
Has life sent you,
or did you come by yourself?
Life sent me
to you, soul of life.
It sends you out of the world,
from the world of darkness, of hatred, jealousy and discord. From
the world of darkness
I will lift you up to the light abode." You were victorious, Mandā dHaije,
and help all your friends to victory.

Forty-fifth piece.

Although still young, my measure became full,
although still young, my exit took place.
Who should I call, and who should answer me,
who should be my helper?

') Insecure. Or at best: now he is sitting in the worlds of the Kušṭā.

I want to call for the voice of life,
i want to call for the lamp, which is completely light, i want to call for the man of proven justice,
the believer gave alms ').
He gives [alms] in faith,
and life set him up in a perfect way. .
. . . . . Kuštā,
and Manda dHaije heard my call.
It came, the man of proven justice came,
the believer gives alms.
He faithfully gave alms
with a true, believing heart.
It came, the Son of life came (and spoke):
,I will be a helper to you.
I'll take you past the planet, the men who guard the Tibil. I will lead you past Jorabbā and Rūhā,
who are called the chief tax collectors. I will lead you up and show you the vine, who stands outside the worlds."
The friends of the chosen one are erected.
*******.
Outside the 'worlds he stands [122] and calls for the perfect. The voice of life is calling,
we see him") in the place of light. - Blessed be life, life is victorious.

Forty-sixth piece.

The man cries in the ages;
his name is dear to the worlds.
The earth is moved by his tears,
the sky is shaken by his voice.
The Lord of the Earth is moved,
and the oppressed of the .") answer him").

') According to the following, it means Mandā dHaijē, although the statement of the the second half-verse of ilm is striking, but see also p. 424, 16.

2) That is there, but one expects: we follow him (or Ã suchlike) or. your Places of light. ") See above, p. 5704.

4) You join him. it is probably influenced by.

The robe of Adam weeps,
which has emerged from the sandarak tree')[1].
Fruit, grape and tree came out and true mystery and silence.
The elect gathered, and the birds take possession of the mountains"). The Manā speaks to the Aons
and makes all the worlds hear:
,,I am a crown of beryl,
which is set up on the head of the great (life).
Who brought me here,
went and put me in the hands of Ruhā and the planets?"
And life is victorious.

Forty-seventh piece.

The Mānā speaks in the ages:
,I am a crown of beryl.
I am a crown of beryl,
a shining belt of gold.
I am a crown of beryl,
which is set up on the head of the great (life)."
The Mānā weeps in the ages,
his name is dear to the worlds.
The sky is moved by his voice,
the earth is shaken by his tears.
The robe of Adam weeps,
which has emerged from the sandarak tree.
The Lord of the earth weeps,
and the oppressed of . . .the . . answer
him. The elect gather together, the birds nelımen own the mountains.

The Manā speaks in the ages:
,,I am a crown of beryl.
I am a crown from the house of life;
who brought me there and threw me into the abode of the wicked? They threw me into the abode of the wicked, the place where sinners live.

---

1) See p. 325, 13. ") Read N'DDNT, see text Z. 19.

The bad guys took me prisoner,
all the worlds are looking to beguile me'). By the power of my father, the Mana"),
and the enlightenment that came from the house
of life, couldn't Rüha capture me, all worlds do not beguile —
me." And blessed be life.

Forty-eighth piece.

[123] A good one, a great son, I am,
who lived in a tear robe,
in the garb of consuming fire,
it is dark and does not shine.
I lived in the House of the Seven Planets, who forge weapons against me every day. I lived in the garb of darkness and made me equal to them.
I was hurt and sorry
in a vain garb.
Pain and sorrow was in my robe,
when he3) put it on and when he took it off. Am I not a son of Great, who locked me up with the Seven?
Icl spread my light over you,
but they are dark and do not shine.
They tell each other inside:
,We want to cut him off and leave him with us."
But then the stranger came to me
and pulled me out of their midst.
He pulled me out of the consuming fire and clothed me with the garment of the mighty (life). 30 He paved a way for me
from here to the light residence. --
And blessed be life.

---

1) Read how to continue pwenwnty.
2) Something else may have stood here.
3) Well-being of the body. A relationship like p. 461,9 is hardly possible here and L 135,9.

Forty-ninth piece.

I am a great shining being,
which was neither lacking nor lacking.
When I lived in a physical garment, I did not fight and did not steal,
there was no lack or lack of me.
I did not drive a secret being and did not wave,
there was no lack or lack of me.
I kept myself safe from the Seven
and did not drive anything from their works.
Now that my measure is full, sit there all in sorrow.
I donned the robe of the high Father
-and looked at the garment of the mighty (life).
Man1) straightened me up in the carriage,
there was no lack or lack of me.
They clothed me with a garment of living fire,
there is no anger or anger.
They put a wreath of glory and victory on me,
whose leaves shine.
They clothed me with a garment of living fire, then I climbed up and looked at the place of light. And life is victorious.

Fiftieth piece.

From a right place
the man came to me, the helper,
came to me the speech
and armed my soul2) on the spot.
He called to me the call of life
and created helpers for me.
The helpers he created for me, goods from [124] the place of Light.
He called loudly with his voice and let me hear, he woke my soul from sleep.

---

1) Read תירצון. 2) Read raan.

He awakened the Lord of mysteries, Adam, whom he had sown among the bodies1). He woke me from sleep, which life had put in my mind. He confused the seven mysteries*), who were with me in my garb. He removed them from their place, from her anger (?) he released a part on her. He brought the bell ringer into confusion,
the men who guard the earth.
He rushed and threw down the guardsmen
and made a breach in their castle.
A breach in their castle he struck
and brought strife into it.
Yes, he stepped under her,
and they didn't know who they were fighting.
They did not see the high father,
did not see my helpers.
They did not see my gentle guide,
who pulled me out of their midst and led me away.
He pulled me out of her robe
of wormwood, bitter herb and ....
He pulled me out of the physical garment, from the void robe. He clothed me with splendor of himself,
covered me with expensive light of himself.
He tied a belt around me
and made my form more luminous than the Seven.
When the Seven saw me,
they saw themselves as inferior.
By the power of my High Father
i passed them all. The ⟨carriage was raised.>
I watched the great father's house, where my brothers
live. When my brothers saw me,
they clothed me with splendor of themselves.
The good ones included me in their bill and kept me in their midst.
- And life is victorious.

---

1) Perhaps it can be read: who lived under the bodies. °) Belongs more to Syriac than to N53.

Fifty-first piece.

My soul longed for life in me'),
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life was my walk.
I flew and moved there,
until I got to the first one").
The servants of the First came to meet me:
,On, we want to capture the man,
may he come and be a partner to us.
Come on, we want to capture the man
and ask him where he came from:
Comrade, [125] where did you come from"),
where are you going?u —
,I come from the Tibil,
from the house that built the planets.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life is my walk." —
,,This is the house of life. Over here! Where are you going? If you go among them"), they will do whatever they can to you." —
,,That's not what I want,
this is not what my soul desires."

My soul longed for life inside me,
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life was my walk.
I flew and moved there,
until I got to the second.
The servants of the second came to meet me:
,On, we want to capture the man,
we want to ask him where he came from:

---

1) The poem vividly depicts the ascent of the soul through the realm of seven planets, as she tries to keep them there, rejects them and finally goes to the Ogdoas, the house of life. Maybe the poem comes from the same man such as the Lit., p. 31. Both show the same content of the stanzas except for the one Sticlwort - the few deviations are probably secondary -, and the verse ,,That's it not what I wish," etc. is found only in them.

2) The first of the planets. 3) See text 125, 10; 126, 8.

4) The plural probably refers to the upper beings, but life could also be mean. can still stand, see text 128, 2 and here p. 4801.

Comrade, where did you come from here,
where are you going?" —
,I come from the Tibil,
from the house that built the planets.
My soul longed for life inside me,
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life is my walk." —
,,This is the house of life.
Over here! Where are you going?
If you go among them, they will do whatever they can to — you." ,,That's not what I want,
this is not what my soul desires."

My soul longed for life inside me,
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life was my walk.
I flew and moved there,
until I came to the third.
The servants of the third came to meet
me: ,,On, we want to capture the man,
we want to ask him where he came from: Comrade,
where did you come from here,
where are you going?" —
,I come from the Tibil,
from the house that built the planets.
My soul longed for life inside me,
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me,
according to the place [126] of life, my gait —
is." ,,This is the house of life.
Over here! Where are you going? If you go among them,
pronounce the name of death." —
,,That's not what I want,
this is not what my soul desires."

My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life was my walk.
I flew and moved there,
until I got to the fourth.
The servants of the Fourth came to meet me:

,On, we want to capture the man, let him come and be a partner to us. Come on, we want to capture the man, we want
to ask him where he came from: Comrade[1],
where did you come from here,
where are you going?u --
,I come from the Tibil,
from the house that built the planets.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life is my walk."
,,This is the house of life.
Over here! Where are you
going? If you go among them, pronounce the name of death, they bind and torment (you)."
,,That's not what I want, this is not what my soul desires."

My soul longed for life inside me,
(after the place of life was my walk)
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life was my walk.
I flew and moved there,
until I got to the fifth. The servants of the Fifth came to meet me:
,,On, we want to capture the man,
let him come and be a partner to us. Come
on, we want to capture the man, we want
to ask him where he came from: Comrade,
where did you come from here,
where are you going?" ...-
,,I come from the Tibil,
from the house that built the planets.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life is my walk."
,,This is the house of life.
Over here! Where are you
going? If you go among them,
they will do whatever they can to you.
If you go among them,
pronounce the name [127] of death."

---

[1] Read instead גאברא.

,,That's not what I want,
this is not what my soul desires."

My soul longed for life inside me,
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life was my walk.
I flew and moved there,
until I came to the sixth.
The servants of the Sixth came to meet
me: ,On, we want to capture the man,
we want to ask him where he came from: Comrade,
where did you come from here,
where are you going?" —
,I come from the Tibil,
from the house that built the planets.
I come from the Tibil,
after the place of life is my walk." —
When you go among them,
pronounce the name of death." ... –
,,That's not what I want,
this is not what my soul desires."

My soul longed for life inside me,
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me, after
the place of life was my walk. I flew
and moved there,
until I came to the seventh.
The servants of the Seventh came to meet me:
,On, we want to capture the man,
let him come and be a partner to us. Come
on, we want to capture the man, we want
to ask him where he came from: Comrade,
where did you come from here,
where are you going?" ... -
,I come from the Tibil,
from the house that built the planets.
My soul longed for life inside me,
after the place of life is my walk." —
When you go among them,
bind and torment them (you).
If you go among them,
pronounce the name of death." —

,That's not what I want,
this is not what my soul desires."

My soul longed for life inside me,
knowledge blossomed within me.
My soul longed for life inside me, after
the place of life was my walk. I flew
and moved there,
until I came to the house of life.
When I arrived at the House of Life,
life came to me.
[Life] came to meet me,
[128] it clothed me in splendor, brought light and covered me It included me in its bill, [so.
and in his midst the good ones also came out:
,Between the lamps of light let your lamps be lifted up and shine."

You have been raised and strengthened
through the Word of Truth that has come to you.
The word of truth has come to the good,.
the word of the truth to the believers. —
And life is victorious.

Fifty-second piece.

,Why are you standing there so (long);
whose path are you guarding?" ... -
,'His way') I guard,
he has to sit in the world." —
, Where did it come from, where is the shape
the man whose path you are guarding?" ... -
,,His robe is a robe of splendor, and light is placed over his shoulders. He penetrated through the worlds, came, split the firmament and revealed himself*). The carriage is erected in front of him, he weighs works and rewards").

---

1) The text says "my way", but this contradicts the following. °) See p. 197, 16. *) See p. 451 unt.; 566 unt.

[Works and wages] does he weigh and do the spirit together with the soul. If he weighs someone, and he turns out to be fully important,
this is how you lift him up and give him a support in life. If he weighs someone, and he does not prove to be fully important,
so he leaves him in this world." —
To us who praise you'),
you will forgive our sins and offenses. —
And life is victorious.

Fifty-third piece.

At the gate of the prisoners I passed,
the torment of this world.
The voice of souls I hear,
they cry out of prison.
They speak:
Woe to us that the world outwits us,
the deity in her has outwitted us.
Our money and assets
tied us to this place.
Who wants to go and tell our children,
who we left behind in the world,
that they do not practice any of our ugly works,
so that they are not tied to this place')?
They are to worship [129] the great doctor, let them worship the great lamp, which is all light, they are to worship Mandā dHaije,
so that he may step down and be a helper to them,
a helper for the perfect
from the place of darkness to the place of light." —
You were victorious, Manda dHaije,
you were victorious and helped your friends to victory. -
- And life is victorious.

---

1) Read דמשאבינאך.

e) Read pandroa57.

Fifty-fourth piece.

O birds of the carob trees,
who sit on their candles')!
What do you birds eat from the carob trees,
what do you drink from the candles?
When the time comes,
that you leave your body, what will
be your travel expenses,
what will your food be?
Not gold, not silver
it's a waste of time.
Not money, not good
it's a waste of time.

All the peoples gathered
and came to the gate of the Son of life:
,,Tell us, son of life,
at the moment when our divorce is taking place,
what will be our travel expenses,
what will our food be?" —
,,Let your hands give alms
and your heart is firm in faith.
This is your travel expense,
which is a blessing to you." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Fifty-fifth piece.

On the construction site,
on the summit of the whole bulge"), at
the top of the whole bulge he is the great one, and he is the great one.
The great (life) stands and recites and enumerates the sins of this world*):

---

1) contains well, and (N5en, is candela, see Nöld., p. XXX unt. According to the following, it looks like the fruits of the tree are so but they don't look like candles. - The souls are thought of as birds, as according to the old idea, see above, p. 574, also Joh. II, pp. 129 f.

*) Lies קומבתא? *) See Joh. II, p. 169 ob.

,,O foolish world,
o you confused, confused world'), o
foolish world,
what is your trust directed at?
What is your trust directed to, to whom does your faith cling?
I'll pick you up and take you away
the glimmer of light, [130] which is given to you.
I'll pick you up and take you away
the world that falls without getting up.
O you world, you wild beast,
that does not know from left to right!
The planets are mastochs,
which are pending for sale in the markets.
Now may they serve you!
Now you should wake up from sleep 2),
now clench your fists,
hitting the atria of your chest
and speak:
,,Woe to me, what have I done,
what have I done abundantly
within this world!
They called me on the path of life, but
I stayed away from the Waystone." —
And life is victorious.

Fifty-sixth piece.

My measure is full, and I move out,
an expert who has learned from the vigilant").
From the watchful I learned and lived in the world.
****
and I heard the speech [of my father]*).
The man who was used over me,
let me hear the speech of the great (life) and separated me from the world").

') See Joh. II, p. 93, 2. 2) Well read. ) See p. 440.

⁴ See p. 587, 10. *) See ibid.

He gave me praise
and alienated me from the world.
I became estranged
the wicked and the sinners.
I dedicated myself to praising
and glorify the light abode.
I praised the wide place
and the uthras without number.

My measure was full, and I moved out,
the seven met me on the way.
They closed the gates in front of me,
to keep me on the road.
The bad guys are talking about me:.
,We want to cut him off and leave him with us."
Then I raised my eyes to the heights,
with my soul I looked towards the house of life[1]).
Life answered me from the fruits, the shine answered me from a distance.
The great life was inclined
and sent the Son of Life to me.
It sent the man to me,
who let me hear his voice.
He opened the doors and came,
split the firmament and revealed himself.
He opened the doors and came,
he opened the gates in front of me
and removed the seven from my path.
He clothed me with splendor of himself
and covered me with light of himself.
He gave me a wreath of splendor,
and my figure shone [131] more than all the worlds.
The planets are there,
whispering and talking:
,When he was among us,
when he dwelt among the works of our hands,
when he lived among us,
he did not listen to our speech.
Now that his measure is full,
his figure shines more than all the world."
Then I spoke and spoke
to the wicked who have condemned themselves:

---

1) Sorry. has NNDD, see p. 5101; 5465.

Fifty-fourth piece.

O birds of the carob trees,
who sit on their candles')!
What do you birds eat from the carob trees,
what do you drink from the candles?
When the time comes,
that you leave your body, what will
be your travel expenses,
what will your food be?
Not gold, not silver
it's a waste of time.
Not money, not good
it's a waste of time.

All the peoples gathered
and came to the gate of the Son of life:
,Tell us, son of life,
at the moment when our divorce is taking place,
what will be our travel expenses,
what will our food be?" —
,Let your hands give alms and your heart is firm in faith. This is your travel expense,
which is a blessing to you." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Fifty-fifth piece.

On the construction site,
on the summit of the whole bulge"), at
the top of the whole bulge he is the
great one, and he is the great one.
The great (life) stands and recites and enumerates the sins of this world"):

---

1) contains wool 277, and (N57dn, is candela, siel Nöld., p. XXX unt. According to the following, it looks like the fruits of the tree but they don't look like candles. - The souls are gedacl as birds as according to the old idea, see above, p. 574, also Joh. II, p. 129f.

*) Read NnDop? ") See Joh. II, p. 169 ob.

,,O you foolish "world,
o you confused, confused world'),
o foolish world,
what is your trust directed at?
What is your trust directed to,
to whom does your faith cling?
I'll pick you up and take you away
the glimmer of light, [130] which was given to you I'll pick you up and take you away the world that falls without getting up. O
you world, you wild beast,
that does not know from left to right!
The planets are mastochs,
which are pending for sale in the markets.
Now may they serve you!
Now you should wake up from sleep'),
now clench your fists,
hitting the atria of your chest and speak: , Woe
to me, what have I done,
what have I done abundantly
within this world!
They called me on the path of life, but
I stayed away from the Waystone."
... And life is victorious.

Fifty-sixth piece.

My measure is full, and I move out,
an expert who learned from the watchful*)
ha From the watchful I learned and lived in the world.
****
and I heard the speech [of my father]*).
The man who was used over me,
let me hear the speech of the great (life)
and separated me from the world").

t.

candela, see
the tree is so Birds thought,

---

1) See Joh. II, p. 93, 2.
°) Well read.
³)
⁴ See p. 587, 10.
") See ibid.

He gave me praise
and alienated me from the world.
I became estranged
the wicked and the sinners.
I dedicated myself to praising
and glorify the light abode.
I praised the wide place
and the uthras without number.

My measure was full, and I moved out, the seven met me on the way.
They closed the gates in front of me,
to keep me on the road.
The bad guys are talking about me:
,We want to cut him off and leave him with us."
Then I raised my eyes to the heights,
with my soul icli looked towards the house of life'). Life answered me from the fruits,
the shine answered me from a distance.
The great life was inclined
and sent the Son of Life to me.
It sent the man to me,
who let me hear his voice.
He opened the doors and came,
split the firmament and revealed himself.
He opened the doors and came,
he opened the gates in front of me
and removed the seven from my path. He clothed me with splendor of himself
and covered me with light of himself.
He gave me a wreath of splendor,
and my figure shone [131] more than all the worlds.
The planets are there,
whispering and talking:
When he was among us,
when he dwelt among the works of our hands,
when he lived among us,
he did not listen to our speech.
Now that his measure is full,
his figure shines more than all the world."
Then I spoke and spoke
to the wicked who have condemned themselves:

---

1) Sorry. has NNDD, see p. 3101; 5465.

,What are you whispering, you seven?
I wasn't one of you. I did not drive your works
and was not counted among you.
[I did not mention] your name') and did not speak your speech.
I was not a Chaldean,
not a soothsayer and not a prophet."

The Son of life spoke,
and I heard my father's speech. The man who was used over me, let me hear the speech of the great (life), and I separated myself from the world.
He sent me a wreath of splendor;
the Seven documents, and I won.
In the glory of my father I go there,
[in the gloss?]*) of the man who was appointed over me.
I flew and moved there,
until I came to the daredevil.
I came to the Wagemann,
who weighs works and wages
and bring the spirit together with the soul;
he set me up in the carriage.
A Mānā, a ") solved for me the clothes fold of life'),
and they based me on the image of life. Life supported life,
life found its own.
Blessed be life, victorious is Manda dHaije and his Love names.

---

1) Maybe it was with Verbum.

a) Maybe there is a bigger gap here, and there was something else.

3) Sorry. again, "NN, but there must have been another word.

') See above. p. 452.

Fifty-seventh piece.

I hear the voice of a soul,
from the dwelling of the wicked and from the interior of the dark-She speaks: [nis ....[1]).
'Woe to me that my gold and my silver would not let me, To create works in front of me.
My gold threw me into the gehenna,
my silver brought me to the depths of darkness. My precious stones and pearls, my comrades, what wickedness they taught me*)! My money and my goods, my comrades,
 and get lost.
[132] My singing and my lust,
they became me slings and chains.
They were slings to me and chains,
my figure is tied up") in every way."
She speaks:
,The wicked led me astray,
and I loved worldly desire.
Worldly desire I loved,
and my') heart made me think of all evil.
My heart made me think of malicethink,
and my tongue made me stumble through Lige."

Manda dHaije spoke to me, the
messenger of all lights:
,O soul! When I called you"), you didn't answer,
now that you're calling, who should answer you?
Since you loved gold and silver,
thou shalt be shut up in the innermost of the seol.
Since you loved dreams and deceit,
shall you fall into the kettles while they are boiling.
Or when your offenses are done
and all your sins are finished,
do you ascend on the ascent,
on which the perfect ones ascend.
If your dishes are not done
and all your offenses are not finished,

---

1) WND is only found at this point. Neither this nor a derivative of NWD or babyl, pašāhu gives a suitable meaning. In any case, one has to read.

2) Read אסברון. *) Read or 107. 4) Read וליבאי.

") Read -ptmp.

will you, soul, die a second death,
and your eyes will not see the light."
Me and the Uthras, my brothers,
they will rise up and look at the place of light. - Blessed be the great life, and blessed be his name in the place of light.

Fifty-eighth piece[1].

I hear the voice of a soul,
which is excreted from the body of garbage.
From the body of garbage she excretes,
out of this world.
She speaks:
,, Naked they brought me into the world,
and they took me out of it empty[2].
When I was empty, they took me out of her,
like a bird that nothing accompanies."

The soul turns around and speaks the palace she left:
What should I do with you, my body,
what shall I do with you in that world[3]?
What should I do with you, you beautiful body,
who eats the hellworm[4]?
What should I do with you, rose skirt, which the birds in the tibil tear to shreds?
[133] If you were a garment of splendor and light, that I could attract you, my body,
so you ascended with me to the house of life. If you were a belt of shine and light, that I could bind you, [my body,]
so you ascended with me to the house of life.
If you were a turban of shine and light,
that I could cover myself with you, my body,
so you ascended with me to the house of life.

---

[1] See piece 17. [2] See p. 517, 22. [3] See p. 537, 3.
[4] Here, perhaps, so conceived by the author, see p. 539, 26.

If you were a wreath of shine and light, that I might lay you on my head, [my body,]
so you ascended with me to the house of life. If you were a rod of shine and light, my body, that I could take you in hand,
so you ascended with me to the house of life.
Would you be shoes of shine and light, that I could put you at my feet, my body,
so you ascended with me to the house of life.
What should I do with you, my body,
which you were formed from a lump of clay?
From a lump of clay you were formed, and the seven and the twelve were your persecutors."

How the soul stands and speaks
the palace she left,
how she stands there and speaks to him,
and the messengers of life came to her; the messengers of life came,
the messengers who do not take a bribe.
They spoke to her:
,,Come on, come on, you pearl,
which you were taken from the treasure of life").
Come on, come on, you fragrant,
which you made the smelly body fragrant.
Come on, come on, you light giver,
which you illuminated the dark house.
Come, come, you noble-born,
who is called a maid in the dwelling of the wicked.
Come on, get excited, put on your robe and put on your flaunting wreath.
Climb up, live in the skinās
among the uthras, while sitting there."

Blessed be the great life, and blessed be the name of life in the place of light.

---

1) See above, p. 514f.

Fifty-ninth piece.

One of the children of the Kuštā
crying in the apartment of darkness:
,I am a daughter of pious men, a daughter [134] of believing men.
I am a daughter of pious;
who threw me into the dwelling of darkness?"

,Your basket filled with bread,
which you withheld from the hungry.
Your jug filled with intoxicant,
which you withheld from the thirsty.
Your bottle filled with oil (?),
which you withheld from the seriously ill').
Your chest filled with vestments, which you withheld from the one who wanted to dress. Your maked2) Bette, that you withheld from the one who wanted to lie down. The path that has been trodden and is reaching, which you blocked off the incoming. As you shut off"), so you shall be shut off
within this world."

If only I had known that I was going to die,
if only I had known ') that I would stumble!
Then I would have my basket filled with bread
do not deprive the hungry.
My jug filled with intoxicant
I would not have withheld the thirsty.
My bottle filled with oil
I would not have withheld the seriously ill.
My chest filled with robes
I would not have withheld from the one who wanted to dress.
My prepared bed
I would not have kept from the one who wanted to lie down.
The path that has been trodden and is reaching,
if I hadn't blocked off the incoming. How I blocked off"), that's how I was blocked off within this world.

---

1) N37N7 may have the same condition here as 377 in Neuhebrüisch.

°) I suspect NIN212. *) Read 5557, see further.

4) Sorry. has m5y. b) Sorry. hat דכלית.

But we have heard from you'),
Good, that you leave no one behind in the cut-off place. Good, I have sinned and led to sin, but you forgive me my sins and transgressions,
 my father"), who distributed bread,
and my mother, who donated alms."

,,Your father who distributed bread,
did it for yourself;
your mother who gave alms,
did it for your soul." —
A remission of sins and offenses will be left to your souls because of the virtue of the pious and the kušta of the faithful").

Sixtieth piece.

A shining being, a son of shining beings, I am, I am a shining being, a son of mighty ones,
I am a brilliant being, a great Son.
[135] Who brought me to the Tibil and let me live there")?
Who let me live in the Tibil,
in the house that the liars built? He made me dwell in the consuming fire,
it is dark and does not shine.
It is dark and does not shine,
there is no glimmer of light on it.
I spread light over you,
but they remain sinister.

I am the first shine;
who let me live in the house of the Seven?
Who let me dwell in the house of the Seven,
and who spread her robe over me")?
Who threw me in the hull from
wormwood, bitter herb and ...?
I was hurt and sorry,
that I had to live in the world.

---

1) Read patpw.
2) For example, "think of my father" or "because of my father". *)
An attached consolation conclusion that does not fit the previous one.
4) Read here and in the following p. 5) Read porn)

I was hurt and sorry
in my garb, when he (the body) put it on and when [he put it down.
When') will the high man come,
who made me hear his voice? He let me hear his gentle voice, caressed and strengthened me. He revealed and showed me
luminous and fixed mysteries.

How he stands there and seeks to clarify himself, the man, the helper, comes up.
The high helper is coming,
he and with him") great splendor. He took off his physical robe of
wormwood, bitter herb and ... .
He freed him from their desire and washed away the fear of them from him*).
He put on him the robe of the great (life
and led him past the man who created him.
He led him past the Škīnas,
in which he had lived.
He led him past the sons of Salvation,
to the men who reach Kuštā. He lifted him up and showed him Hauraran"),
in which the souls become perfect.
The souls become perfect in it,
and it becomes a witness for them.
He hurriedly put on him the robe of living fire"),
he lifted him up and set him up in the house of perfection.
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

Sixty-first piece.

Who and to whom did you serve,
o soul, in the world!

') Read NNOy. *) Probably really sorry. hat At).
a) Add pp. 4) Or read their embers"?
5) Here, as above, p. 302, 28, a country corresponding approximately to Tarwān.
°) Read Avsix.

[136] The men you serve,
were not of the world.
More than you, sun, they are stretched'),
more than you, light, they shine.
Lamps of light are they*),
who shine in the world.
When you investigated, you served the first,
the life that has always been.
You served the second,
the life that came out of life.
You served the third,
the ...") lovely name.
You went to the fourth,
where there was lack and lack.
Lack and error is there*),
there are secrets and beckons.
Secrets and hints are there,
there is the anger (?) world.
Why *******
are you wrapping yourself in the mānā's garment fold?

When I saw it, I left,
despised and abandoned them all.
[They all] I left
and went after Manda dHaije.
He will separate you from evil for good, of the wickedness and distress of this world. -
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) Probably such surnames) in CD. Sorry. has FWeN) Fwionw. Of course, one expects ,shine"

2) Sorry. has py7.

3) Not only with the first, but also with the second and the following, the Plural, because they are also thought of. The designation of the third, i.e. Abathur, as (sorry. i don't understand. Xpiotiavós, what it looks like, of course, it can not be.

4) Lies דמן תאם הוא האסיר ובציר תאם האויא.

Sixty-second piece.

At the gate of the house of Abaddon it is a throne for the Spirit.
A throne is placed for the Spirit, a vessel is placed in front of him.
He calls to the thieves:
,,Come on, fall into the vessel.
Come on, fall into the jar, come on, get clear.
Come on, get clear
about what you practice in the world." —
He calls out to the murderers:
,Come on, fall into the vessel.
Come on, fall into the jar,
come on, get clear.
Come on, get clear about what you practice in the world."

At the gate of the house of Abaddon
there is a throne for the Spirit. A throne is placed for the Spirit, a vessel is placed in front of him.
He calls to the adulterers:
,,Come on, fall into the vessel.
Come on, fall into the jar,
come on, get clear.
Come on, get clear,
about what you practice in the world." ... -
He calls to the winkers:
,Come on, fall into the vessel.
Come on, fall into the jar,
come on, get clear.
[137] Come on, get clear
about what you practice in the world."

At the gate of the house of Abaddon
there is a throne for the Spirit.
A throne is placed for the Spirit,
a vessel is placed in front of him.
He calls to the sorcerers:
,,Come on, fall into the vessel.

---

1) Nomby, otherwise dead spirit, see Nöld., p. 136, 14 and above, p. 418, 22 et seq., appears here being a ruling spirit in the underworld.

Come on, fall into the jar,
come on, get clear.
Come on, get clear
about what you practice in the world."

,,Good man, we have sinned and missed, may he') forgive us all our sins.
May He forgive us our sins and transgressions,
which we have committed in the world."

Thereupon a voice of life called:
,,An ear that is alert"), listens.
Some heard and lived on,
some of them lay down and lay down (to sleep)." —
Life is held high and is victorious,
and victorious is the man who went here.

---

1) See above, p. 144.

2) is better than or sorry. there is something grammatical is impossible.

The upper and lower beings.

Abathur (")MAN), the man with the chariot, the third life (cf. Jn., p. XXIXf.), 89, 2f. 173, 31, 37. 174, 1ff. 195. 196, 5. 199, 5. 210, 6. 230, 16. 242f. 266, 23. 283, 8. 284, 10. 285, 40. 286, 8. 290'. 297, 13f., 19f. 299, 19. 303, 27. 310, 3. 311, 25ff. 313, 34f. 321, 29. 323, 37f. 324, 1. 349ff. 357ff. 363ff. 403, 5. 407, 26. 408, 3. 440, 21f. 451. 478, 16. 531, 5f. 556, 6. 563, 4. Abathur-Uthra 358, 9. 359, 5. 405, 35.

Adakas (Dnonan), the hidden Adam (non see 64, 21. 4862), 246, 1. Adakas-Malalā 236, 25. 237, 9. Adakas-Manā 109, 29. 143,30. 146,30. 244, 14,38. 245,1,9. Adakas-Ziva 110,26. 112,36. 113,1, 26. 117,33f. 237,3. 243, 6. 246, 7.

Adam (EN7n), the first man, 15,7ff. 16, 1ff. 27. 33, 16ff. 34, 10ff. 45, 25. 51,4. 53,33. 107f. 126ff. 141. 176 unt. 220. 242ff. 261, 5. 266,21,23. 284,18. 285, 1. 351, 24. 353, 1, 3. 387f. 400, 13, 15. 404. 408. 424ff. 465. 477, 28. 478, 8. 488ff. 497ff. 506, 5,7. 513, 29. 515,3. 529, 18f. 530. 543, 22ff. 570,4. 571,14. 574. 577, 2nd Great Adam 251,13. 269, 10. 270,9. 293,32. Bodies-licher Adam 242,19. 247,9. 255,35. 307,32. 349,1. Hidden Adam 486. Adam's Son 256, 13, 436,7, 545,2. Sons (children) of Adam 13, 34. 26, 16. 28, 25. 39, 10. 40,8. 44,3, 13. 45,14. 48,24. 201,17. 232, 31. 256,4. 260, 24. 391, 24f. 392, 13f. 442, 6, 36. 443, 11.

Adatan and Jadatan are a pair of geniuses (see Lit., p. 278), 143, 27. 289, 30. 292, 17. 327, 11.

Agzēl (bien), epithet of Sin, 135, 27').

Ajar ("xx), the Äther. Ajar-Gufnā 451, 39. Ajar-Zivā 429, 12. Amamit (Fonon), a demoness, 154, 6. Epithet of Rüha 28, 27. 46, 32.

Anan (jn3N), probably not , cloud", since this female being referred, perhaps, "he heard me" to nzy; see also Joh. II, p. 15',

---

') I give the ending by in this name by ël, niclt by iël (iël), if-probably Siouffi iel writes. The i should be shown in the description, also note man, as in addition to Azazēl and Nūrēl, especially names with iēl are assumed.

402, 33. Usually connected to 389: 118, 5f. 144, 26. 222, 2. 402, 15.
Anan-Nşab-Zīwā-Šitil 118, 8.

Anānā (no) by name means "cloud" and denotes female Beings, see p. 118n.

Anath-Haije (nwronen), female being, in which wolil has found himself
the The deity miy is preserved, cf. mniy, baroniy in the papyri,

118, 3. Anatan (nnrGN), a demon of the underworld, 155, 9, 14, 18. 158, 15ff. Angel (bnn), epithet of Bel, 136, 20.

Anhar-Zīwā (xp an 3N), female being, 118, 5ff.

Anoš (W138), the biblical Enoš, 48, 1. 50, 35. 109, 16. 118, 20. 127, 19. 141,35. 143, 29. 146, 11ff. 148, 14. 166, 31. 223, 19. 243, 30. 246, 21. 249, 11. 259, 32. 260, 10. 261, 12ff. 268, 34. 283, 13. 284'. 286, 3. 295, 18. 370, 2. 424, 15. 440, 28. Enoš (113y) 481. The spelling varies widely in handwriting. Great Anoš 251, 12. 269, 9. 270,8. Good Enoš 184, 12. 191, 12. Little Enoš 263ff. Anoš-Uthra 48, 6. 52, 3. 146, 25. 286, 14, 19. 337ff. 405,33. Enoš-Uthra 29,32. 30, 2,10. 47,36,41. 531,19f. Bar-Anoš-Adam 118, 14.

Arhum (0177x), owner of a guardhouse, 185, 32. 186, 4, 8.

Atarpan (IndanoN), a demon, 104, 7.

Azazel (hymn), formed by ny , "be strong", 144, 26. 173,

21. Azaziel (bmpnn); likewise, 173,

21. Bārath (nx-x2), a "cloud", 402, 16.

Barbag (3n27x2), a Uthra, 144, 25.

Bar-Haije (Nrra), ,,Son of Life", 118, 13. 553, 38. See also Register under son.

Bar-Sfag (JNdd 73), epithet of the Ur, 143,

6. B'haq (Pa73), a demiurgic being. B'haq-Uthra 293. B'haq-Zivā 76, 30. 97, 21.

B'hīr (7)73), "Chosen", a Uthra, 222, 1.

Bihrām (Dxa7e, see Lit., p. 279), 323, 6. 403,6. Bihrām-Uthra 406, 26. Bihrun (pre), "it (life) chose me", a Uthra, 222, 1. Dajum

(Dmx7), epithet of the Rūha, 553, 7, 9.

Dīnānūkht (nepx27) 205ff.

Dīn-Mlīkh p7), a Uthra, 208ff.

Dişai ('897) 205ff.

Dmūth-Haije (avamo7), ,Image of Life", female being, 118, 13, 15. 290, 25. See also the register under Fig.

Ēl (5y) the Great, next to Ruha, 260, 20, 28. See also register under Ēl-Ēl.

Ēl-Šiddai (new 5y), the biblical Ēl-Šaddai, 179, 32.

Ethrauribath (nx2inany), a " cloud", 402, 16.

Ewath (nwy), epithet of Ruha (see 711), 197, 24, 34. 203, 16, 31.
207, 32. 450, 8. Ewath-Rüha 209, 6.

Gaf (Fx2), Father of the Ur, 143, 1. 159ff. 164, 39. 165, 44. - Gaf, and Gafan (1NDN)), a pair of demons, 154f. 159, 9. 162, 27.

Gēw (12), a demon, 156. 158, 3.
Guban (1831) and Gubran (18731), a pair of geniuses,
173, 25. Gufnā (x51) by name means ,"vine".
Hag (387), a demon, 154, 16ff.
Hailel (bytwn), formed by "force", 173, 27.
Halsēl (5ys5xm), a secret name (to y5n,,to be sprightly" or to mand. ,,oppress") 168, 9.
Ham-Zīwā (ny Dn), a secret name (to oon, to be hot") 159, 3.
Witch Hazel (byononn), a secret name (the same) 168, 8.
Hamgai-Zīwā (now den), son of Hamgagai-Zīwā (now in den), 316, 18.
Hananel (BYSNS87), a secret name (to 12n ,be gracious") 162, 29.
Hannel (5y37), a secret name (the same) 162, 29. A Guardian 173, 23.
Hatlımēl ("yonx7), a secret name (to onn,,seal") 168, 8.
Hawwa (m87), Eva, 15, 10,24. 16,6, 14. 33, 17. 34, 10ff. 45,27. 107,25ff. 115, 117, 16f. 118, 9, 26. 119, 3. 127ff. 176, 37. 220, 13, 16. 242ff. 255, 35. 256, 4. 266, 22, 24. 284, 18. 285, 2. 353, 1. 408, 1, 5. 431ff.
Hewath (nxy7), a demoness, 71, 9. 72, 35. 76, 25. 81, 3. 147, 21, 25.
Hibil (5er), the biblical Abel, 109, 16. 118, 3, 16. 127, 16. 141, 35. 146, 23. 148,14. 152, 2. 166,31. 173,35. 175, 1. 177,5. 223, 19. 242ff. 256,35. 257,31. 259f. 261,10. 264,30. 268, 9,34. 274,33. 275,3. 283,13. 2844. 286,3. 303, 7. 319, 5, 9, 28. 404, 22. 424, 15. 500, 19f. Hibil-Jawar 152, 21. 166, 26. 167, 10. Hibil-Manā 163, 25. Hibil-Manā-Jawar 153, 8. Hibil-Uthra 126, 9. 127, 24. 142, 19. 174, 18. 369, 37. Hibil-Ziva 14, 26. 29, 30ff. 32, 39. 47, 33. 142, 18. 143, 18ff. 144, 35ff. 152ff. 204, 1. 220, 19ff. 222, 9. 306, 8f. 311, 33. 325, 31. 326, 30. 350, 35. 352, 37. 356, 21. 357ff. 362, 42. 363, 20. 365, 10. 366, 19, 37. 368ff. 386, 16. 401, 24. 402, 2. 403, 4. 404, 17, 21. 437, 10, 16. 439ff. 511, 4. 530, 10. 547, 11.
Himūn (por), a demon, 179, 30. 209, 24.
In-Hai ("N7 ru), ,,Lebensquell", 195, 29.
Jadatan (NraTa), only here without Adatan, 143,
25. Jahūr (7)7x), owner of a guardhouse, 185, 32. 186, 4,
8. Jāsānā (nindn), a uthra, 269, 21. 270, 32. 271,
4. Jasmus (DydDN"), a ,,cloud", 402, 6.
Jathrūn (manx), father of Šilmai, 196ff.
Jattīr-Jathrūn (mny 7ox), a "lamp", 146, 18.
Jāwar ("wn, see p. 151') 159,28. 170,7. 171,6,9. 172,15,34. 176,31. 190, 14. 230, 12. 289, 2, 19. 290, 28. 291f. 294, 17f. 295, 16. 299, 7. 302, 32. 310, 14, 22. 325, 14. 326, 36. 385, 8f. Hidden Jawar 230, 20. Advance-certain Jāwar 288, 20, 327, 2 Jāwar, son of Jāwar, 173, 11 Jāwar- Hibil 153, 25. 168, 22. 171,7. 174, 14. 175,36. Jāwar-Kbar 151, 24th Jāwar-Mandā dHaije 303,7. 400,35. 401, 22. Jāwar-Smīr 289, 1. Jāwar-Zīwā 31,7. 141, 36. 142, 11. 172, 27. 173, 6. 177, 8. 204, 6. 219, 34. 238, 16. 268, 37. 289, 8. 290, 21. 380, 22. 402, 34f.

Jofīn (pov), a Uthra, 143,30. See for this and the following The name of Joh., p. XXIVff.

Jõfīn-Jõfafīn (poner pow) 67, 20. 191, 3. 196, 12. 428, 7.

Jokabar ("nenow) 390, 6. Jokabar-Kuštā 318ff. Jokabar-Zīwā 401, 10.

Jokašar-Kannā (nono anvnoy) 145, 2.

Jõrabbā (N5tr) 132, 14. 188, 25. 189, 4, 7. 221, 1f., 39. 222, 270, 4. 316, 22, 26. 410, 9, 17. 494, 7. 573, 17.

Josamīn (ponwy) 147, 28. 148,7. 167, 29. 173,36. 283,8. 284, 10. 285,37. 288, 21, 290, 14, 25ff, 291f. 304, 2. 305, 22, 25. 311, 25, 32, 35. 327, 17. 356f. 359. 361. 363ff. 381, 8. 402, 12. 531, 11ff.

Jõsmīr ("ydy), a vine, 326, 27. Jõsmīr-Kannā 143, 24. Jõsmīr-Uthra 325, 29.

Jõzataq (pnonn), epithet of Manda dHaije, 62, 26. 241, 22. 242, 6, 9.

Jūr (7)), owner of a Waclthaus, 185, 32. 186, 4, 8. Jūrā (871) 324, 14. 325, 23. 327, 9. 386, 24. 402, 10.

Kafan (nDns) and Kanfan (No3ns), a genius couple, 173,
25. Kannā (x:x5) by name means "container".

Karafiun (ontnD), a demon, 189.

Karkūm (0137x5), a demon, 143, 5. 156, 38. 411, 13. A pillar in Jerusalem 343, 21.

Kbar ("x55), a ,,cloud", 402, 19, 22. Kbar-Zīwā 67, 19, 20. 75, 1, 3.

Kimsath (NXSO5), a "cloud", 401, 38.

Krūn (175), a demon, 142, 20, 23. 143, 20, 22. 157, 1ff.

Lufan ()85)5), a demon, 104, 7.

Lufafan (iNdnd15), "the great light", 159, 3.

Mag (3nd), a demoness, 154, 16ff.

Malalā (x5x5no) by name means word".

Mandā dHaije ni3nd) 5, 5. 30, 23. 54, 18. 61, 3. 67, 25ff. 69, 3ff. 96, 19. 141, 34. 142, 14ff. 144, 29. 145, 1ff. 148, 6, 14. 150, 31ff. 164, 20. 177. 179ff. 190ff. 212, 18. 220ff. 223, 18. 229, 11. 233, 13. 234, 29. 241f. 248 ob. 252ff. 283, 10. 284, 23, 27. 285, 8, 11. 286, 29, 35. 306, 20. 335, 8. 348, 11. 349, 24, 360, 30, 361ff, 371 ff. 388, 26. 397, 16. 406, 32. 437, 27, 33. 438, 22. 441ff. 452". 455, 11. 490, 12. 506,27. 508,40. 509, 11. 521,3. 523, 29. 531,36. 532, 19. 533, 7. 541, 31. 542, 6. 552, 6. 558, 6, 18. 564, 22. 567, 26. 568, 8. 570, 22. 572. 573, 8. 583, 26, 30. 588, 24. 594, 24.

Margazēl (byinand), formed by arx ,enrage", 173, 21. Marpēl (bio-no), by hebr. ,Healing", 104,9. 173,23.

Mašqlēl (byybpwNo), a "cloud", 402, 26.

Namrus (51DN)), the "Mother of the world" (see Jn. II, p. 62"), 82, 13. 83, 7. 86, 14, 22. 101, 6. 127, 9. 296f. 338, 17. 340, 11, 18. 342, 28, 34. 354f. 384, 30.

Natrel (candy)), a secret name (to "beware") 168, 8.

Nbat (1bN3), see Lit., p. XX), 288ff. 380, 17f. 383, 25. Nbat-Jawar 67, 20. Nbat-Zīwā 290, 5.

Nbaz (1N5)) 444, 34. Nbaz-Hailā 208, 5. Owner of a guardhouse.
Nhar ("xn)), a ,cloud", 402, 19.
Nhur-Hai (87 717)), ,,Lebenslicht", 195,
30. Nhūr-Haije (N"n m7)), the same, one , cloud", 401,
36. Nhūr-Zīwā (Nn 7173), a secret name, 159, 3.
Nidbai ("N5")) see Šilmai.
Nifqath-men-gau-maijā (a napD), a , cloud", 402, 14.
Nsab (3xy), cf. Uthra, p. 544), 222, 1. 325, 25. 381, 13. 402, 15. Nurel (ym) and Nūriel (wm, formed by ,fire", 173, 27.
Osar-Hai 7xyny), ,,Life treasure", 191,4. 196, 14. 292,6. See also Register under treasure.
Pašrēl (wynwnd), a secret name (to "dissolve") 168, 9.
Pihtath-Unihrath Aantd), a "cloud", 402, 18.
Pilpin-Pipin (p5vs poto), owner of a guardhouse, 186, 12, 34, 37.
Piriavis (DnN75), a Jordan, 235,35. 236,6. A vine 451,39.
Pirūn (prr, cf. Joh. II, p. 7') 326, 40. 401, 39.
Ptā-Hai ('xn xnD, cf. Lit., p. XXII') 191, 5. 196, 14. 292, 6.
Ptahil (baxno, cf. Joh., p. XXVIII; Lit., p. XXII), the demiurge, the fourth life, 33, 31. 34, 1. 99, 33. 101, 11f. 103, 1, 9. 104, 23. 105ff. 143, 15. 174ff. 194. 199, 4, 20. 209, 34. 229, 1. 242ff. 265ff. 284, 13. 2844. 293, 35f. 294, 18, 305, 32ff. 311, 25, 32. 326, 16. 348ff. 358f. 364ff. 402, 27. 407, 27. 408, 4. 419. 430, 15. 435, 27. 440, 20. 446, 41. 447, 7. 451, 10. 478. 509, 31. 530,30ff. 556,3,5. Ptahil-Uthra 97,13. 98. 107,31. 109,14. 111, 21. 147,27. 249, 1, 5. 309, 38. 311, 5, 37. 358, 26. 360, 3. 364, 7. 367, 31, 35. 478, 12.
Qananit (Fononp), epithet of the Rūha, 209,
6. Qarbēl (5yaaxp), perhaps formed by "fight", 173, 27.
Qin (1P), a demoness, 155, 10, 18. 158, 15ff.
Qmamir-Zīwā wonop), epithet of the Angel of Death, 424ff.
Rahziël (5ynmx"), a Uthra, 252, 1.
Rām (0N7), the male head of the second age, 27, 23, 27. 28, 1. 45, 28, 39. 260, 24. 408, 29. Another being is Rām-Zīvā 402, 32.
Rāzā (n187) by name means "mystery".
R'ham-Rāzā (xx- oxn-), belongs to on- ,,love", 146,
30. Rūd (717), the female head of the second Age, 27, 28, 27. 28, 2. 45, 28, 39. 260, 24. 408, 29.
Rūhā (N717), see p. XI, 43, 22f. 46, 10, 38. 47, 1. 50, 37. 52,32. 76,27, 31. 80ff. 86, 6f. 87, 3ff. 89f. 98ff. 104ff. 153, 31. 159, 16ff. 164f. 173, 16. 175f. 178, 15. 185, 5. 190, 4, 6. 197, 24, 34. 203, 8ff. 220ff. 224, 23. 226, 14. 227, 1. 228ff. 248, 8. 249. 255. 258ff. 266, 2, 18ff. 267, 5. 287, 16. 307, 8. 316, 38. 323, 23. 337ff. 347, 2, 10. 351, 31f. 352, 3. 372f. 382ff. 405, 4f. 410, 9,17. 437ff. 516,8, 11. 527,4ff. 529f. 550,25. 551,6. 573,17. 574, 12. 575, 5. Ru hs 125, 18f. Ruha dQudšā (Holy spirit) 49,4. 106, 32. 147, 17. 186. 12. 189, 11, 27. 220, 13. 247, 26f. 337ff. 371, 22. 384, 1. 530, 20. See also Register under spirit.

Rwaz (18)7) "he flaunted", a vine, 211,1. 212, 10. 324,34. 326,23.

Šahrath-Ebdath-Ukišrath ,,she woke up, made and performed", a ,,cloud", 402, 3.

Sām (DnD, ,,he created", cf. Uthra, p. 544), 67,21. 180, 17. 191,3. 196, 12. 252, 8. 406, 22. 428, 7. 503, 26. Sām-Smīr-Zīwā 291,38. Sām-Zīwā 199,35. 292, 10. 316, 1. 326, 28.

Sar ("ND), a Uthra, 288,23, otherwise together with Sarwān (1n17nd): 176, 25. 222, 1. 402, 18.

Šar ("x2), ,,he was firm", see Joh. II, p. 6*, a vine, 326, 38. 386, 23. 406, 24. Šar-Zīwa, epithet Hibils, 163, 28. A Uthra 288, 21. Šarrath (and),"she was firm", a vine, 402, 7.

Šarhabel (byekran2), the female head of the third age, see p. VII, 27,31. 28,2ff. 45,35ff. 261,4. 408,36. A mana 240,2. A wine-floor 326, 29. Šarhabel-Ziwa, a Uthra, 251, 29.

Šaškēl (5yswnw), a , cloud", 402, 25.

Şaurel (winny), epithet of the Moon, 28,29. 46,34. Otherwise name of the 424ff. See Joh. II, p. 119". Sdūm (0172), a demon, 156. 158 ob.

S'haq (pxnD), ,,he hopped", 316, 14.

Sidar-Kasiā (nano antD), a "cloud", 402, 8.

Šihlūn (ptrr2), "it (life) sent me", a Uthra, 251, 29.

Šilmai ('not 2), alone only 196ff. 429, 4. Otherwise in the genius pair Šilmai and Nidbai, the two baptismal angels (see Joh. II, p XX), 141, 35. 143, 29. 146, 28. 148, 15. 222, 19. 273, 40. 283, 10. 284, 11. 308ff. 327, 13. 402, 21.

Sīmath-Haije nod), "Treasure of life", female being (cf. Jn. II, p. 201), 31, 8. See also register under Treasure.

Sindiriawis (And), the Jordan of life (cf. Jn. II, p. 12'), 145, 4. 146, 37.

Siniawis (Dnnwo), an area of the underworld (cf. Joh. II, p. 12'), 71, 16. 89, 15. 103, 16f. 150, 33.

Šiqlūn (p5pww), a demon, 320, 17.

Šitil (nw), the biblical Seth, 109, 16. 118, 18. 127, 17f. 141, 33. 143, 29. 146, 5, 11, 24. 148, 14. 166, 31. 223, 19. 243, 29. 246, 21. 249, 11. 259, 32. 260, 9f. 261,6. 264, 30. 268, 9,34. 283,13. 284". 286,3. 320,9. 369,38. 424, 15. 426ff. Large Šitil 251, 13. 269,9. 270,9. Small Šitil 443,9. Šitil-Uthra 146, 7. 370, 7.

Smīr (""Dd), , Kept", a secret name, 162, 29. A Uthra 288, 23. See also Jāwar.

Šum-Hai 012), ,,Name of Life", 195, 30.

Sumqaq (pxpo0), epithet of the Qin, 158, 35. 159, 6.

Šurbai ("8571122), male head of the third age, VII, 27,31. 28, 2ff. 45, 34ff. 261, 4. 408, 36.

Taqfel (yopxn), formed by apn , "be strong", 173, 21, 23.

Tar (7NN) and Tarwān (1n7xn), a pair of geniuses, 222, 1.

Tatagmür ("yoinnkn), a tree, 326, 21. A ,,cloud" 402, 11.

Taurel (bynxn), perhaps there is xixn in it ,"Taurus" as a revered being (see Ephemeris III, p. 153f.), 291, 37. 305, 18, 20. A vine 326, 19. Taurel-Uthra 144, 27. 267, 1.

Ur (")3), see p. XI, 83,37. 87, 2, 12,33. 89,30,34. 142,24. 143, 2, 12, 18. 158, 36. 159, 21. 163, 12. 165, 42. 166, 5, 9. 167f. 171ff. 203, 14ff. 315, 22. 406, 2.

Urpēl (5 you), usually called together with Marpel (see Lit., p. 279), 104, 9. 173, 23.

Zahrel (5yanw), a demoness (see Joh. II, p. 11*), 160f.

Zāmūr ("nony), a demon, 220, 15.

Zan-Hazazban (ing 1n), owner of a guardhouse, 185. 208, 19.

Zartai-Zartanai "noan), a demon, 154. 162.

Zarzēl (burn), a secret name (to Ti ,equip") 168, 8. Zarzel-Zīwā, a Manā, 325, 27.

Z'hīr (77i), "Secured", a Uthra, 221,39. Z'hir-Smīr-Zīwā 252, 8.

Zihan (187m) and Z'ha-Zihau x1), two ,"Light binding", 222, 4. Zihrun (parv), "it (life) warned me" (cf. Jn. II, p. 216"), 222, 1. Zihrūn-Uthra 148, 24.

Zīw-Hai ("Na v), ,,Splendor of Life", 195, 30.

Zīwā (mm) by name means ,gloss, glossiness".

Register.

Aar, weifer 342, 12.
Abaddöns 206ff. 220, 14. 444, 38. 595.
Abbassiden 223, 15.
Image 91, 14. 106, 19, 22. 109, 3. 135, 24. 138, 33. 144, 34. 147, 7. 150ff, 173, 39. 174, 3. 177, 32. 178, 5. 196, 15, 240, 32. 241, 23. 242, 6. 290f. 303, 23. 325, 24. 331ff. 381, 189". 38. 461, 31. 559, 29f. 570, 6ff. Image of life 452, 6. 467, 3. 510, 34. 587, 25. Twelve Pictures138, 37. See also Dmüth-Haijē p. 598.
Abdallah 232ff.
Abraham 43, 5, 23. 46, 10. 410, 14.
Ader 71, 16. 72, 9. 151, 3. 298, 11. Vein of Darkness 84, 8f. 163, 1.
Adõnai 25, 7, 10, 13. 43, 2, 6, 24. 135, 10f. 410, 9, 11. (Sänle) 343, 15.
Monkeys 226,18. 343, 31.
äyvoia 38h.
Egyptians 410.
Ahmat 30, 15.
aláv 464.
Akkadian 211, 241, 295, 80*4, 845, 851. 86^{4}. 119^{5}. 121^{3}. 136^{3}. 141^{1}. 143^{9}. 157^{3}. 205. 303^{1}. 347^{1}. 409^{12}. 502^{2}. 570^{4}. 588^{1}.
Alexander 411, 24.
Alms 17, 26ff. 23, 5. 35, 23ff. 36, 10f. 37, 9. 39,1. 40, 3. 44,16. 182, 14. 187, 11, 15. 188, 32. 213, 26. 214, 17. 215, 27. 221, 18, 33, 35. 230, 12. 247, 4, 20. 255, 7. 284, 8. 285, 17. 286, 6, 25. 299, 6. 300, 3. 320, 26. 353, 6. 385, 10f. 389, 3ff. 392, 31. 397, 31. 424, 9, 16. 433, 2, 15. 444ff. 510, 17. 512, 7. 317, 27. 519, 10. 520, 23f. 523, 4 f. 525ff. 533, 6. 541, 20, 26. 542. 545, 16, 18, 39. 548, 38. 564, 21. 572, 8. 573, 10ff. 584, 20. 592, 6, 9.
Altars 139, 18f.
Altargeister (Kapelleng.)277,36.416,4. 419,21.
Altarranm 228, 13.
Old Testament 177 f.
Amanus 409, 4.
Anvil 13, 26. 93, 2f. 125, 31. 198, 22, 24. 208, 6. 375, 7. 436". 444, 35. Anvils 193, 22f.
Amrā 46, 19.
Amūnēl 29, 19. 47, 18.
Anchorites 228, 35.
Face of Glory 5, 23. 31, 18. 303, 22. 304. 27.
Eon 52, 22. Eons 125, 6. 158, 32. 163, 13. 180, 2. 433, 29. 465, 18. 484, 27 ff. 485, 15. 490, 23, 500, 17f. 538, 13, 15. 365, 23, 25. 574, 7.
Apostle 514.
Arab 54, 16. 232ff. 300. 407, 412ff.
Ark 28, 4. 46, 10. 263, 26, 28. 409.
Archonten 277, 36.
Doctor (healer) 55, 33, 35. 341, 22, 24. 473, 16f. 583, 24.
Asmodaeus 4113.
Astarten 12, 37. 87, 9. 105, 26. 106. 13. 530, 23ff.
Astarwān 406, 23.
Athena 184".
Ether 65, 29. 66, 14. 129, 32ff, 200, 41, 251, 11. 304, 26. 345, 23. 358, 21. 361, 18. 368, 29. 383, 27. 386, 13. 399, 24. 403, 6. 433, 25. 308, 19. 520, 31. Aulerer Ãther 177, 2. 190, 2. 452, 4. Great Ãther of Life 66, 7. Glanzäther 73, 12f. See also Container, earth, king, vine.
Aetherkranz 324, 33. 345, 29. 516, 18. 551, 31. 553, 25.
Resurrection 437, 22.
Chosen (Chosen) 96, 15. 271, 22, 25. 273, 1. 305, 12f. 353, 28. 355, 25. 360, 23. 368, 33. 371, 11. 391, 23. 392, 12. 394, 31. 435, 23. 440, 18. 512 ff. 573, 21. Chosen 17, 25, 27, 18, 5, 22. 19, 7. 20, 19, 31. 22, 9 f., 25. 23, 1, 17, 21. 25, 17. 26, 3, 29. 27, 4, 12. 30, 24. 38, 35. 40. 42, 35. 43, 16. 52, 21. 55, 28. 61, 9, 16. 62, 11, 19. 74, 16. 185, 4. 216, 16. 226, 13, 31. 230, 9. 252, 31. 272, 27, 34. 273, 11. 274, 3, 20. 282, 11. 285, 3. 296f. 337, 6. 349, 2f. 353, 4f. 354, 34. 381, 26. 382, 1. 388, 29. 389, 3. 397, 19f, 401, 15, 26. 406, 5. 514, 33. 522, 2. 529, 13. 534, 8. 551, 16. 574, 5, 29.
Outflow of gloss 527, 18. 553, 30. 563, 18. Outflow of Life 479, 33, 480.
Release (prisoner) 17, 18ff. 18, 11. 36, 16ff. 431, 20, 542, 20. 545, 25.
Leprosy 132, 23.
aitofins 250, 17.

Babel 412, 27. 413, 5f. 414, 8. 416, 28f., 32. 436, 1.
Baiwāzīgh 232, 12.
Bar-Khōnī 206, 1. 524".
Baum der Lobpreisung 59, 19. 60, 1.
Behälter 78, 4f. 79, 19f. 84, 14. 85, 6ff. 88, 2, 4. 197, 29, 36. 280, 15 f. 289, 7. 429, 10. Behälter des Athers 76, 26. Behälter lodernden Feuers 90,33. Siehe auch Urbehälter, Kannā.
Bēl (Jupiter) 28, 30. 46, 34. 116, 1. 124, 17. 128, 13. 133, 7. 136, 21f. 176, 16. 230, 1, 26. 232, 3. 347, 9. 408, 15ff. 412, 30. 419, 5, 14.
Beni-Amin 341, 29f.
Berg, abgeschnittener 548, 32f. Großer Berg 325, 17. Sinkender Berg 82, 14. Berge 501,7f. Zwei Berge 309,7. 314,37. 315,1. Zwei reine Berge 116, 22. 326, 34. 380, 19.
Beryll 12, 30. 574.
Beschneidung 25, 12, 43,11, 24. 225.
Bethaus 43, 8, 26. 228, 11.
Bethlehem 338, 23.
Bēt-Mṭallalē 339, 4.
Bienen 560, 25.
Bilder (Bildwerke) 16, 28. 17, 10. 18, 39. 23, 13. 26, 10f. 40, 12. 44, 7. 53, 24. 181, 3. 230, 7. 19. 395, 9. 434, 2.
Bilūr 347, 6. Bilūre 123, 11. 128, 23. 221, 6. 507, 3.
Bischof 228, 9.
Bitterkraut 137, 31. 543, 28. 547, 28. 568, 3, 15. 577, 22. 592, 31. 593, 14.
Bizbaṭ 30, 15. 54, 16.
Blendwerk 29, 23. 38, 7. 49, 23. 71, 14. 104, 1. 3. 182, 32. 246, 19. 483, 4. 490, 31. 495, 17. 510, 5.
Blut 20, 4.
Boot 176, 24f.
Borsip 436, 1.
Böse, der 16, 3. 22, 38. 34, 16. 38, 25. 39, 12. 41, 34. 79, 19, 25. 82, 29. 85, 15. 87, 36. 88, 14. 92, 37. 99, 15. 100, 21. 102, 1. 216, 37. 277, 23, 25. 371 f. 507, 24. 529, 1. Die Bösen 16, 24. 17, 9. 18, 18. 20, 25, 28. 24, 19. 34, 32. 57, 15. 60, 30 ff. 71, 7, 30f. 72, 34. 76, 13ff. 78, 9. 79, 37. 90, 12. 104, 25. 111, 10 ff. 112, 10. 114, 17. 117, 31. 122, 33. 143, 12, 17. 147, 7. 153, 20. 181, 24. 203, 9, 12, 32. 211, 4, 15, 20. 213, 18. 216, 24f. 232, 3. 261. 262, 31. 263. 264, 31. 267, 26, 32. 268, 5, 10. 277, 28. 284, 30. 285, 9, 25. 286, 19f. 296, 33. 317, 3. 336, 7, 14. 345, 20. 361, 26. 372ff. 389, 11 ff. 393, 34. 394, 18ff. 397, 31. 424, 13, 20, 24. 425, 7, 15. 426, 7, 18. 427, 11, 18. 433, 14. 436, 14. 451, 10. 459, 27f. 466, 34. 474, 12. 475, 16. 488, 36. 499, 6f. 506, 35, 37. 507, 3, 8. 509, 6. 511, 12. 514, 13. 515, 27. 520, 32. 329, 25. 530, 16, 18, 40. 535, 13. 537, 28. 339, 35. 540. 541, 42. 542, 1. 544, 36. 548, 22, 25. 554, 15. 560, 23. 574, 34 f. 575, 1. 586, 4, 13, 41. 588, 3, 18. 590, 28.
Bote 166, 27. 171, 7. 173, 6. 236, 25. 237, 3, 9, 30. 284, 13. 2844. 317,10. 319, 6, 30. 333, 19 f. 373, 22. 374, 2. 405, 29. 430. 431, 6. 432. 443, 7. 455. 460, 31. 472, 1. 588, 25. Guter Bote 243, 7. Reiner Bote 455, 13. 494, 21. Verborgener Bote 167, 11. Bote des Lebens 18, 12. 431, 22. 432, 88. 435, 9. Bote des Lichtes 530, 9. Botin 507. Boten 8, 20. 9, 26. 13, 7. 28, 32. 46, 38. 70, 14. 173, 6. 334, 13f. 381, 3. 460, 33. 590, 19. Boten der Kuštā 56, 31. Boten des Lebens 21, 22. Siehe auch Gesandter.
Brand 19, 13. 27, 16. 36, 11. 45, 32, 37. 76, 26. 260, 30. 316, 41. 376, 38. 382, 32, 445 ff. Verzehrender Brand 39,7. Siehe auch Feuer, Tor.
Brief 317, 8. 339, 16. 342, 6f. 359. 552f. Briefe 428, 24. Einundsechzig Briefe 326, 17.
Brunnen, sieben 225, 14.
Buch 25, 16, 28. 233, 30. 347, 5. 415, 21. 446 ob. Erstes Buch 65, 27. Buch der Bücher 245, 30. Buch des Jordans 57, 27. Buch der Rūhā 230, 2, 5.
Buhlerin (Rūhā) 80, 31. 494, 11.
Bursums 225,5.
Burzan (Burzin) 418, 32.
Byzanz 2314
Byzantiner 223, 14. Siehe auch Rhomäer.
Caelestis 1446.
Chaldäer 22, 15. 37, 31 f. 278, 10. 299, 13, 20. 436, 11. 545, 15. 587, 7.
Christen 411, 1.
Christianer 49, 35.
Christus 28, 22, 38. 29, 17. 46, 32, 38. 47, 1, 10. 49, 8ff. 50, 16. 51, 27ff. 134, 37. 135, 7, 24. 187f. 190, 4, 6. 203, 8, 11. 224, 23. 227, 1. 20. 228f. 247, 33. 248, 8. 255. 307, 8. 316, 38. 323, 23. 382, 34. 383, 13. 406, 19. 437, 12. 449, 5.

Dämon 280, 8, 14. Dämonen 21, 16. 28, 18ff. 29, 4. 46, 14. 54, 1. 67, 29. 81, 36. 83, 6ff. 89, 26. 90, 6. 105, 28. 106, 16. 116, 6, 31. 125, 6. 139, 16f. 146, 8. 169, 43. 170, 2. 178, 24. 224, 6. 228, 31. 229, 3. 277, 35. 281, 39. 358, 38. 359, 10, 12. 372, 9. 416, 4. 419, 21. 522, 7. 533, 1, 10f., 36. 538, 11. 540, 3. 546, 21, 28f. 564, 16, 33f. 571, 29. 572, 14.
Daniel 260, 29.
Dašt-Misaq 417, 2.
David 278. 28, 17. 46, 13. 411, 22.
Delphine 140, 23.
Dēw 85, 5. 144, 2. 150, 33. 171, 33. 220,15. Dēws 21, 17. 28f. 39, 8, 31. 46, 15. 47, 1 ff. 48, 1. 50, 32. 53, 10ff. 54, 1. 81, 36. 83, 16, 23. 89, 26. 105, 30. 106, 18. 116, 7. 156, 7. 171, 30, 33, 35. 224, 6f. 277, 35. 278, 30. 372, 11. 419, 21. 477, 32. Vierundzwanzig Dēws 143, 4. 366 Dēws 142, 23.
Diakon 228, 9.
Diamantmauern 9, 25.
Dilbat (Dlibat) 46, 31. 176, 16, 22. 447, 10. Siehe auch Libat.
Doppelgruben 550, 24. 551, 5.
Doppelzunge 376, 25.
Dōstäer 206, 1.
5óğa 55*

Register.

Aar, weifier 342, 12.

Abaddöns 206ff. 220, 14. 444, 38. 595.

Abbassiden 223, 15.

Abbild 91, 14. 106, 19, 22. 109, 3. 185, 24. 138, 33. 144, 34. 147, 7. 150ff. 173, 39. 174, 3. 177. 32. 178. 5. 196. 15. 240. 32. 241. 23. 242, 6. 290f, 303, 23. 325, 24. 331 ff. 381, 38. 461, 31. 559, 29f. 570, 6ff. Abbild des Lebens 452, 6. 467, 3. 510, 34. 587, 25. ZwölfAbbilder 138, 37. Siehe auch Dmūth-Haijē p. 598.

Abdallah 232ff.

Abraham 43, 5, 23. 46, 10. 410, 14.

Ader 71, 16. 72, 9. 151, 3. 298, 11. Ader der Finsternis 84, 8f. 163, 1.

Adōnai 25, 7, 10, 13. 43, 2, 6, 24. 135, 10f. 410, 9, 11. (Säule) 343, 15.

Affen 226,18. 343, 31.

äγvoia 585

Agypter 410.

Ahmat 30, 15.

aitv 464.

Akkadisches 211, 244, 290. 8024, 848, 851. 86^4. 119^5. 121^3. 136^3. 141^1. 143^9. 157^3. 205. 303^1. 347^1. 409$^{1\,2}$. 502^2. 570^4. 588^1.

Alexander 411, 24.

Almosen 17, 26ff. 23, 5. 35, 23ff. 36, 10f. 37, 9. 39, 1. 40, 3. 44, 16. 182, 14. 187, 11, 15. 188, 32. 213, 26. 214, 17. 215, 27. 221, 18, 33, 35. 230, 12. 247, 4, 20. 255, 7. 284, 8. 285, 17. 286, 6, 25. 299, 6. 300, 3. 320, 26. 353, 6. 385, 10f. 389, 3ff. 392, 31. 397, 31. 424, 9, 16. 433, 2, 15. 444 ff. 510, 17. 512, 7. 317, 27. 519, 10. 520, 23f. 523, 4 f. 525ff. 533, 6. 541, 20, 26. 542. 545, 16, 18, 39. 548, 38. 364, 21. 372, 8. 573, 10ff, 584, 20. 592, 6, 9.

Altäre 139, 18f.

Altargeister (Kapelleng.)277,36.416,4. 419,21.

Altarramn 228, 13.

Altes Testament 177 f.

Amanus 409, 4.

Amboß 13, 26. 93, 2f. 125, 31. 198, 22, 24. 208, 6. 375, 7. 436". 444, 35. Ambosse 193, 22f.

Amrā 46, 19.

Amūnēl 29, 19. 47, 18.

Anachoreten 228, 35.

Antlitz der Herrlichkeit 5, 23. 31, 18. 303, 22. 304. 27.

Äon 52, 22. Äonen 125, 6. 158, 32. 163, 13. 180, 2. 433, 29. 465, 18. 484, 27ff. 485, 15. 490, 23. 500,17f. 338,13, 15. 365, 23, 25. 574, 7.

Apostel 514, 1896.

Araber 54, 16. 232ff. 300. 407. 412ff.

Arche 28, 4. 46, 10. 263, 26, 28. 409.

Archonten 277, 36.

Arzt (Heiler) 55, 33, 35. 341, 22, 24. 473, 16f. 583, 24.

Asmodaeus 411".

Astarten 12, 37. 87, 9. 105, 26. 106. 13. 530, 23 ff.

Astarwān 406, 23.

Athena 1840.

Äther 65, 29. 66, 14. 129, 32ff. 200, 41. 251, 11. 304, 26. 345, 23. 358, 21. 361, 18. 368, 29. 383, 27. 386, 13. 399, 24. 403, 6. 433, 25. 508, 19. 520, 31. Anßerer Äther 177, 2. 190, 2. 452, 4. Großer Ather des Lebens 66, 7. Glanzäther 73, 12f. Siehe anch Behälter, Erde, König, Weinstock.

Ätherkranz 324, 33. 345, 29. 516, 18. 551, 31. 553, 25.

Auferstehung 437, 22.

Auserwählt (Erwählt) 96, 15. 271, 22, 23. 273, 1. 305, 12f. 353, 28. 355, 25. 360, 23. 368, 33. 371, 11. 391, 23. 392, 12. 394, 31. 435, 23. 440, 18. 512 ff. 573, 21. Auserwählte 17, 25, 27. 18, 5, 22. 19, 7. 20, 19, 31. 22, 9f., 25. 23, 1, 17, 21. 25, 17. 26, 3, 29. 27, 4, 12. 30, 24. 38, 35. 40. 42, 35. 43, 16. 52, 21. 55, 28. 61, 9, 16. 62, 11, 19. 74, 16. 185, 4. 216, 16. 226, 13, 31. 230, 9. 252. 31. 272, 27, 34. 273, 11. 274, 3, 20. 282. 11. 285, 3. 296 f. 337, 6. 349, 2f. 353, 4f. 354, 34. 381, 26. 382, 1. 388, 29. 389, 3. 397, 19f, 401, 15, 26. 406, 5. 514, 33. 522. 2. 529, 13. 534. 8. 551, 16. 574, 5, 29.

Ausfluk des Glanzes 527, 18. 353, 30. 563, 18. Ausfluß des Lebens 479, 33. 480.

Auslösung (Gefangener) 17, 18ff. 18. 11. 36, 16 ff. 431. 20. 542, 20. 545, 25.

Aussatz 132, 23.

aitofvis 250, 17.

Babel 412, 27. 413, 5f. 414, 8. 416, 28f., 32. 436, 1.

Baiwāzīgh 232, 12.

Bar-Khōnī 206, 1. 524".

Baum der Lobpreisung 59, 19. 60, 1.

Behälter 78, 4f. 79, 19f. 84, 14. 85, 6 ff. 88, 2, 4. 197, 29, 36. 280, 15 f. 289, 7. 429, 10. Behälter des Äthers 76, 26. Behälter lodernden Feuers 90, 33. Siehe auch Urbehälter, Kannā.

Bēl (Jupiter) 28, 30. 46, 34. 116, 1. 124, 17. 128, 13. 133, 7. 136, 21 f. 176, 16. 230, 1, 26. 232, 3. 347, 9. 408, 15 ff. 412, 30. 419, 5, 14.

Beni-Amin 341, 29f.

Berg, abgeschnittener 548, 32f. Großer Berg 325, 17. Sinkender Berg 82, 14. Berge 501, 7f. Zwei Berge 309,7. 314,37. 315,1. Zwei reine Berge 116, 22. 326, 34. 380, 19.

Beryll 12, 30. 374.

Beschneidung 25, 12. 43, 11, 24. 225.

Bethaus 43, 8, 26. 228, 11.

Bethlehem 338, 23.

Bēt-Mṭallalē 339, 4.

Bienen 560, 25.

Bilder (Bildwerke) 16, 28. 17, 10. 18, 39. 23, 13. 26, 10f. 40, 12. 44, 7. 53, 24. 181, 3. 230, 7, 19. 395, 9. 434, 2.

Bilūr 347, 6. Bilūre 125, 11. 128, 23. 221, 6. 507, 3.

Bischof 228, 9.

Bitterkraut 137, 31. 543, 28. 547, 28. 568, 3, 15. 577, 22. 592, 31. 593, 14.

Bizbat 30, 15. 54, 16.

Blendwerk 29, 23. 38, 7. 49, 23. 71, 14. 104, 1. 3. 182, 32. 246, 19. 483, 4. 490, 31. 495, 17. 510, 5.

Blut 20, 4.

Boot 176, 24 f.

Borsip 436, 1.

Böse, der 16, 3. 22, 38. 34, 16. 38, 23. 39, 12. 41, 34. 79, 19, 25. 82, 29. 85, 15. 87, 36. 88, 14. 92, 37. 99, 15. 100, 21. 102, 1. 216, 37. 277, 23, 25. 371f. 507, 24. 529, 1. Die Bösen 16, 24. 17, 9. 18, 18. 20, 25, 28. 24, 19. 34, 32. 57, 15. 60, 30 ff. 71, 7, 30f. 72, 34. 76, 13 ff. 78, 9. 79, 37. 90, 12. 104, 25. 111, 10ff. 112, 10. 114, 17. 117, 31. 122, 33. 143, 12, 17: 147, 7. 153, 20. 181, 24. 203, 9, 12, 32. 211, 4, 15, 20. 213, 18. 216, 24f. 232, 3. 261. 262, 31. 263. 264, 31. 267, 26, 32. 268, 5, 10. 277, 28. 284, 30. 285, 9, 25. 286, 19f. 296, 33. 317, 3. 336, 7, 14. 345, 20. 361, 26. 372 ff. 389, 11 ff. 393, 34. 394, 18 ff. 397, 31. 424, 13, 20, 24. 425, 7, 15. 426, 7, 18. 427, 11, 18. 433, 14. 436, 14. 451, 10. 459, 27f. 466, 34. 474, 12. 475, 16. 488, 36. 499, 6f. 506, 35, 37. 507, 3, 8. 509, 6. 511, 12. 514, 13. 515, 27. 520, 32. 529, 25. 530, 16, 18, 40. 535, 13. 537, 28. 539, 35. 540. 541, 42. 542, 1. 544, 36. 548, 22, 25. 554, 15. 560, 23. 574, 34 f. 575, 1. 586, 4, 13, 41. 588, 3, 18. 590, 28.

Bote 166, 27. 171, 7. 173, 6. 236, 25, 237, 3, 9, 30. 284, 13. 2844. 317,10. 319, 6, 30. 333, 19f. 373, 22. 374, 2. 405, 29. 430. 431, 6. 432. 443, 7. 455. 460, 31. 472, 1. 588, 25. Guter Bote 243, 7. Reiner Bote 435,13. 494, 21. Verborgener Bote 167, 11. Bote des Lebens 18, 12. 431, 22. 432, 38. 435, 9. Bote des Lichtes 530, 9. Botin 507. Boten 8. 20. 9. 26. 13. 7. 28. 32. 46. 38. 70. 14. 173, 6. 334, 13f. 381, 3. 460, 33. 590, 19. Boten der Kuštā 56, 31. Boten des Lebens 21, 22. Siehe auch Gesandter.

Brand 19, 13. 27, 16. 36, 11. 45, 32, 37. 76, 26. 260, 30. 316, 41. 376, 38. 382, 32. 445 ff. Verzehrender Brand 39, 7. Siehe auch Feuer, Tor.

Brief 317, 8. 339, 16. 342, 6f. 359. 552 f. Briefe 428, 24. Einundsechzig Briefe 326, 17.

Brunnen, sieben 225, 14.

Buch 25, 16, 28. 233, 30. 347, 5. 415, 21. 446 ob. Erstes Buch 65, 27. Buch der Bücher 245, 30. Buch des Jordans 57, 27. Buch der Rūhā 230, 2, 5.

Buhlerin (Rūhā) 80, 81. 494, 11.

Bursums 225,5.

Burzan (Burzin) 418, 32.

Byzanz 2314.

Byzantiner 223, 14. Siehe auch Rhomäer.

Caelestis 144°.

Chaldäer 22, 15. 37, 31f. 278, 10. 299, 13, 20. 436, 11. 545, 15. 587, 7.

Christen 411, 1.

Christianer 49, 35.

Christus 28, 22, 38. 29, 17. 46, 32, 38. 47, 1, 10. 49, 8ff. 50, 16. 51, 27ff. 134,37. 135, 7, 24. 187f. 190, 4, 6. 203, 8, 11. 224, 23. 227, 1. 20. 228f. 247, 33. 248, 8. 255, 307, 8. 316, 38. 323, 23. 382, 34. 383, 13. 406, 19. 437, 12. 449, 5.

Dämon 280, 8, 14. Dämonen 21, 16. 28, 18ff. 29, 4. 46, 14. 54, 1. 67, 29. 81, 36. 83, 6 ff. 89, 26. 90, 6. 105, 28. 106, 16. 116, 6, 31. 125, 6. 139, 16f. 146, 8. 169, 43. 170, 2. 178, 24. 224, 6. 228, 31. 229, 3. 277, 35. 281, 39. 358, 38. 359, 10, 12. 372, 9. 416, 4. 419, 21. 522, 7. 533, 1, 10f., 36. 538, 11. 540, 3. 546, 21, 28f. 564, 16, 33f. 571. 29. 572, 14.

Daniel 260, 29.

Dašt-Misaq 417, 2.

David 273, 28, 17. 46, 13. 411, 22.

Delphine 140, 23.

Dēw 85, 5. 144, 2. 150, 33. 171, 33. 220,15. Dēws 21, 17. 28f. 39, 8, 31. 46, 15. 47, 1 ff. 48, 1. 30, 32. 53, 10 ff. 54, 1. 81, 36. 83, 16, 23. 89, 26. 105, 30. 106, 18. 116, 7. 156, 7. 171, 30, 33, 35. 224, 6f. 277, 35. 278, 30. 372, 11. 419, 21. 477, 32. Vierundzwauzig Dēws 143, 4. 366 Dēws 142, 23.

Diakon 228, 9.

Diamantmauern 9, 25.

Dilbat (Dlibat) 46, 31. 176, 16, 22. 447, 10. Siehe auch Libat.

Doppelgruben 550, 24, 351, 5.

Doppelzunge 376, 25.

Dōstäer 206, 1.

Sōğa 552

Dragon 278, 19. 430, 21. 433, 36. 507, 23. 520, 3. Great Dragon 104, 11. Dragon 71, 21, 23. 72, 31. 80, 1. 154, 33. 474, 11. 507, 9. Third, 594, 11. Third, 76, 29, 332, 26f.
Drõnā 225, 8.
Fragrance (fragrance) 8, 1. 9, 81. 10, 38, 40. 11, 28. 12, 16, 36. 15, 13. 32, 1, 13. 33, 21. 58, 24 ff. 66, 9. 67, 2. 89, 19. 92, 4f. 103, 15. 110, 20. 116. 22. 258. 35. 273. 2. 299. 17. 326. 26. 827, 31. 336, 17. 359, 89 f. 362, 8, 390, 8. 461, 34. 514, 14f. 315, 22f. 337, 25f. 541, 8, 549, 9f, 590, 23 f.

Ea-Oannes 125 ⁴.
Celibacy (illegitimacy) 136, 16. 209, 6. 227, 26f. 270, 27, 83. 449, 8.
Ei 151, 2. 152, 19. 160, 24. 165, 21. Eggs 151, 22. 236, 32. 401, 32. 443, 20. 365 Eggs of light 151, 10. The only one who has 235 ff. 251.
Eisenberg 436, 3.
Eisenmaner 330, 28. 331, 9.
Ice devices 226, 6. 233, 19.
Ekurs 116, 8. 277, 36. 297, 40. 299, 11, 22. 416, 4. 419, 20. 506, 39.
El-Ēl 23, 8. 43, 2.
Outrages 5õ, 36. 70, 29, 33. 217, 11. 317, 21. 474, 7. See also Rebels. Angel 4, 20. 12, 26, 34. 13, 7. 25, 5. 32, 13. 42, 35. 80, 28. 86, 32. 160, 28. 173, 28. 178, 23. 242, 18. 254, 34. 256, 22. 259, 9. 260. 262 f. 265, 30. 266f. 269; 18. 277, 36. 294, 18. 341. 5. 343. 22. 371. 18. 24. 372. 13. 375. 11, 486, 16, 463, 28f, 464, 475, 29, 477, 30, 478, 19f. 331, 30. 354, 16. 361, 16. 362, 2. Two angels 16, 13. 28, 12. 34, 30. 195, 22. 265, 10. Three Angels 15, 12. 33, 19. Four Angels 262, 9. Seven Angels 46, 29. Twelve Angels 269, 19. 270, 18, 29. 271, 3. Angel of error (the lack-liability) 25, 23. 44, 5, 23. 49, 4, 6. Angel the fire 15, 10. 16, 1. 33, 10, 17. 34, 3, 14. 53, 27. Angels of Glory 11, 4ff. 32, 18ff. 42, 28. 44,33. 270,6. 541,6. Angel of light 21, 23. 31, 23. 37, 23. 42, 24f. 44, 37. 51, 24. 52, 4. Angel of Praise-pricing 31, 26. 34, 25.
Enišbai 31, 8.
Grandsons of Darkness 136, 6.
Epiphany 2293.
Earth 198, 21ff. 270, 21ff. Wise Earth 293, 21. Earth of the Athers 66, 17. 182, 8. 289, 7, 18. 293, 23. 302, 30. 381, 9, 11, 18. 386, 6f. Äther's White Earth 12, 23, 361, 12. Earth of Darkness 72, 9. 130, 33. 277, 17. See also Lord, light earth.
Earth gap 208". 430, 20.
Redeemer 5, 20. 31, 16. 49, 28. 284, 28. 384, 8. 388, 20f. 430, 31. 442, 1. 495, 32 ff. 533, 19f. See also solver.
First, the 20, 6. 124, 36. 135, 4. 594, 7. The First 76, 20. 301, 32. 3k2, 23. Firstborn 9, 29. 143, 9. 157, 7. 241, 15. Two Firstborn 308, 12f. Three Firstborn- born 292, 30. See also son.

Donkey with four legs 227, 23.
Estră 28, 27. 46, 31. 47, 1.
Euphrates 61, 24f. 414, 7. 431, 13. 324, 33. Siche also Fraš-Zīwā.

Flags 30, 20.
Vehicle 176, 29. Vehicles 71, 25, 28. 72, 38. 140, 30.
Fasting 18, 23ff. 39, 26ff. 30, 6. 134, 30f. 136, 9f. 224, 19ff. 229, 8, 12. 374, 32. 375. 450, 10. Faster 136, 12. 224, 5. 374, 31. 375, 37. 450, 10.
Miscarriage 11, 39.
Consolidate 5, 17.
Fener 19, 12. 29, 7, 17 ff. 33, 22. 39, 13. 40, 31. 46, 39. 47, 9, 16ff. 48, 22. 52, 17. 200, 24ff. 260f. 408, 31, 33, 37. 438, 3, 16. 308, 35. 319, 8. 326, 20ff. Firebrand 27, 30. 436, 11. Fire fires 530, 22. 531, 3. Living Fire 69, 22. 73, 14f. 76, 10. 89, 5, 17. 91, 17, 25, 37. 92, 4. 98, 28f., 32. 103, 3ff. 108, 14. 126, 23. 193, 24. 196. 7. 240, 22. 241, 3, 18. 246, 6. 248, 6. 252, 12, 18. 259, 18, 33. 264, 39, 41. 265. 266, 7. 267, 11. 292, 1. 294, 3. 466, 1. 489, 31. 494, 35. 576, 17, 21. 593, 27. Blazing fire 15, 12. 16, 30, 37. 18, 3. 19, 6. 22, 36. 27. 14. 33, 18. 35, 11, 20. 36, 32. 37, 29. 39, 22. 40, 4. 42. 10. 45. 17. 19. 48. 12. 52. 27. 54. 5. 69. 21, 23. 84, 4f. 90, 33. 131, 2. 225, 22. 299, 3. 307, 9. 359, 20. 376, 36. 383, 17. 384, 16. 430, 19. 458, 2, 18. 489, 29. Ver-consuming fire 14, 32. 27, 16. 33, 5. 42, 12. 38, 12. 67, 30: 69, 23f. 76, 11. 78, 10. 80, 2. 89, 22. 91, 38f. 92, 6. 94, 4. 98, 4. 108, 19. 132, 20. 246, 26. 248, 6. 264, 39f. 267, 7, 14. 278. 8. 294, 3. 297. 37. 483, 11. 575, 11, 29. 592, 20. See also containers, Brand, angel, wreath, mystery.
Feuergeißel 137, 3. 299, 2. 320, 28. 405, 20. 444 ff.
Fenerwagen 47, 20.
Fingers, smaller than 143, 25. Finsterberg 21, 11. 37, 6. 60, 37. 269, 19. 270, 30. 271, 3. 299, 23. 391, 32f. 538, 32. Darkness 72, 14 ff. 77, 8ff. Great Darkness 157, 36. 253, 39. See also Ader, grandson, Earth, Lord, Children, King, Mānā, Mother, Gates, voice, gate, world, root.
Firmament 201, 11 ff. Firmaments 199 ob. and often otherwise.
Pisces (zodiac) 412ff.
Fleischberg 142, 20, 23. 143, 20f. 136, 38. 137.
Flutes 33, 21. 124, 9. 123, 22. 180, 29. 221, 16. 226. 15. 434. 3. 507. 4.
Fraš-Zīwā 368, 36. 396, 12, 28. 423, 35. See on the Euphrates.
Stranger 52. The Stranger 101, 17f., 33. 120, 3. 121, 6f. 122. 181, 2. 258, 15. 371, 35. 372, 15. 536, 12, 14. 575, 27. Stranger man 81,18. 99, 10. 197, 15. 224, 11, 15. 225, 5f. 227, 15. 234, 5. 244, 33, 37. 273, 3, 13, 16. 337, 14, 31. 372, 20. 373, 20f. 441, 8, 13. 530, 27. See also Life.
Friend of God 434.
Fruit 65, 29ff. 331, 23ff. Large fruit 65,

32. 67, 18. 73, 8f, 18f. 193, 22. Large | Fruit of Glory 68,34. Great Fruit of Light 193, 22. White Fruit 180,17. Fruits of Life534,15. Fruits 66, 3ff. 193, 22. 560, 12. 571, 3. 586, 17. Fruits of Splendor 479, 7.
Five, the 13, 27. 106, 20. 143, 2.
Princes, two, of the world 104, 8.
Block 92, 35. 185, 20. 186, 1, 29. 233, 37. 234, 3. 243, 14. 312, 2. 430, 14. 444ff. 502,31. 524, 34. 570, 16, 26.

Gabriel 14, 26. 13, 21. 89, 6. 98, 11. 248*. 284, 14.
Gāhs 4, 17.
Ganzibrā 150". Ganzibrās 272, 23, 356, 29th
Gaukai 414, 8f. 416, 27, 33. 417, 1.
Gaukelei 71, 13.
Čebel-Gūdī 4094.
Prayer 16, 16. 34, 34. 240, 10. 297. 320. 389 inaction. 433, 8. 464, 37f. 473, 16. 563, 34. Prayers 4,13ff. 222. 344,31. 362,81. 402f. 404, 13. 467, 16. Hidden Prayers 317, 18, 22. 319, 15. 324, 7 ff. Birth hours 197, 22.
Thought 13, 31.
Memorial Book 206ff. 446, 2.
Prisoners 17, 18. 18, 11. 19, 9. 36, 16ff. 40, 28. 49, 33. 227, 1. 233, 1. 256, 13. 431. 20. 432,4. 466,34. 535,5. 542,19. 545,24. In the underworld: 524, 28f. 528,21 (?). 347ff. 558f. 383, 11. Warden of prisoners 405,32, 547ff. 558f.
Prison 547ff. 538. 561, 19. 562, 5. 583, 14.
Mystery 337, 39. 338, 1, 81. 574, 4. Geheimnisse 334, 20f. 350, 4. 456, 10f. 495, 30f. 594, 16f. Secrets of the way 392, 29. See also Mystery.
Gehenna 38,19. 62,15. 324,16. 406,10. 588,7.
Spirit 430, 24ff. 444, 2. 449, 5. 451, 27. 532, 31. 566f. 371, 26. 583, 2. 587, 22. 395. Holy Spirit 28, 26. 46, 81. 50, 28. 51, 2. 187, 17, 21. 188, 2. 207, 32. 227, 20. 233, 14. 450, 8. See also Rūhā p. 601. Ghosts 50, 10. 54, 1. 259, 26. 277, 35.
Community(community) 5, 7. 11, 17. 32, 29. 57, 35, 194, 26, 240, 7f., 20. 241, 33. 246, 17. 247, 5, 7. 253, 1. 257, 20. 259, 28. 261, 11. 283, 20. 284, 2. 285, 17. 302, 16. 309, 2. 324, 24. 355, 15. 381, 34. 400, 5, 18f. 453, 29. 465, 5. 491, 33. 505, 12. 514, 32.
yevédios 1976.
Just 49, 35. 50, 2. 251, 20. 253, 34. 256,6. 257, 31. 268, 9. 415, 9. 472, 28.
Envoys 14, 26. 15, 21. 89, 6. 98, 11. 224, 3. 286, 14, 19. First Messenger 26, 1. 29, 29. 44, 3. 47, 32. 286, 36. 287, 5. First, last messenger 50, 27. Lauterer Gesent 16,5. 26, 23. 32, 38. More truthful Emissaries 58, 19, 59, 1st Emissary of the Life 28, 12. 59, 13. 392, 26, 28. 432,80. 537, 21. Messenger of Light 57, 33ff. Envoys 25, 27. 44,2. 285,3. 332,7. Three Messengers 44, 23. Messengers of Error 43, 30. Messengers of Life 332, 3. 590,17f. See also messenger.

Singing (Music) 10, 1. 22, 21. 26, 9. 28, 36. 38, 5. 44, 8. 47, 3. 52, 28, 30. 53, 7. 125, 7. 180, 29. 216, 19. 221, 5, 15. 226ff. 258, 22ff. 296, 30. 300, 18. 394, 14. 395, 20. 405, 6. 507, 11. 508, 29. 588, 13.
Skill 13, 28.
Gender, living 27, 17.
Faces, two 309, 10. Foot
Figures, five figures 102, 16. Seven figures 99, 18, 22. 114, 15. 446, 41. 494, 8. Twelve Figures 100, 33.
Stars see star.
Vestments see clothing.
Gilgameš-Epic 409-.
Gimrā 158, 167, 83, 170,24, 172,23 ff, 271, 24.
gloss, first 252, 3. 274, 24. 392, 26. Großer Shine 66, 15. 274, 30. 275, 15. 316, 14. 593, 12. Großer, erster Glanz 66, 10. 143, 32. Pure shine 5, 18. See also Ather, outflow, Angel, fruit, Olive rod, Honey, turban, cloud.
Glanzsüule 156,2.
Glanzwesen 94, 23. 245, 35. 257, 7. 270 ob. 335, 33, 401, 4f. 318, 6. 376, 2. 392, 14 ff.
Glass vessels 279, 20.
Faith, first 42, 34.
Glöckner 383, 33. 316, 12. 377, 9.
Gvāas (wis 50.
Goldberg 417, 2.
God 5, 18. 6, 14, 21. 17, 13. 19, 19. 25, 26. 26, 18. 29, 28. 34, 19. 44, 14. 47, 30. 49, 28. 50, 26. 178, 5ff. 187, 18. 188, 4. 224, 4. 225, 9. 227, 33. 229, 4f. 233, 24, 39. 234, 2. (255, 25). 256, 7. 281, 22. 338, 15. 340, 26, 36. 410, 18f. 412, 20. 417, 24. 418, 29. 449, 3. Gods 9, 10. 177, 27. 178, 18. 181, 12. 184, 18. 209, 11. 227, 83. 255, 12, (25). 256, 22. 260, 36. 347, 11, 20. 412, 16. 416, 6. 417, 24. 418, 5. 444ff. God of Gods 187, 31. God of Praise 55, 10. God of Truth 5, 18. See also Lord, Son. Deity 228, 3. 234. 12. 354, 21. 393, 24. 583, 17. Divinity 23, 15. 177, 24. 183, 14.
God-fearing 49, 34. 50, 1, 22.
Houses of Worship 415, 8. 418, 6.
Idols 12, 37. 16, 28. 17, 9. 35, 9. 39, 29. 53. 12. 54, 1. 208, 9, 24. 209, 14, 25. 277, 36. 299, 22. Idolatry 181, 29. 507, 1.
Idol Shrines 26, 11. 434, 2.
Pomegranate 203, 14, 28. 216, 29.
Border post 232, 15.
Belts 26, 33. 44, 33f. 324, 31. 431, 27f. 466, 27. 513, 13. 515, 30. 537, 7. 542, 27. 574, 18. 577, 27. 589, 28.
Good, the 22, 37. 38, 24. 60, 20. 77, 21 ff. 79, 23. 87, 34. 88, 35. 95, 4. 142, 13. 197, 18. 198, 4, 18. 215, 57. 242, 2. 354, 2. 358, 12. 366, 1. 371, 2. 379, 11. 506, 28f. 507, 31. 528, 37, 40. 548, 31. 558, 30. 559, 17. 567, 25. 375, 9. 592, 1, 3. 596, 5. The Good Ones 5, 21. 10, 21. 20, 27. 31, 16. 55, 12. 74, 29. 76, 34. 80, 12. 94, 7, 11. 95, 32f. 112, 35. 119, 13, 19. 122, 30f, 273, 15, 17,25. 274, 3. 285, 24. 354, 36. 374, 12. 396, 39. 435, 34. 437, 16. 467, 34. 478, 9. 518, 23ff.

524, 27. 527, 29. 528, 8. 529, 7 ff. 538, 4.
541. 555, 8. 560, 6, 19. 563, 28, B3. 568,
•7, 18. 577, 38. 582, 14, 19.

Hand of Kuštā 193, 11.
Harp see zither.
Harpocrates 235, 2.
Häscher 436, 8. 519, 3. See also p. 619.
Head of the Age 44, 36, 400, 14f. 437, 34.
Head of the Ages 371, 26. 375, 5.
Hauraran 302, 28, 593, 23.
Home = World 15, 16. 92, 22. 100, 19. 102, 38. 105.
107, 2. 113, 11. 119, 29. 120, 2ff. 121 whether.
122, 126, 11 et seq. 143, 16, 177, 24, 203,
7, 25. 209, 37, 242, 18. 299, 27. 306, 21 f.
310, 12. 311, 12, 19. 319, 18. 322, 27. 352.
22ff. 354, 4. 363, 7. 364, 5. 367, 3ff. 371,
13. 18. 372. 1. 6. 379. 18. 26. 382. 11. 384.

26, 33, 144, 6ff, 145, 5ff, 146, 17, 173, 5.
197,11. 235,30. 290,17f. 302,26. 303,20.
304, 25. 326, 22. 370, 11. 401, 33ff. 423,
16. Lord of the House 196ff. Lord of the Lords 187, 31, 224, 3rd Lord of the Crowns
9, 1. Lord of All Kings 6, 1. 31, 24. Lord the Kuštā 533, 9. 546, 27. 564, 32. 572, 13.
Lord of Perfection 471, 3. Lord of the World 101, 3. 123, 8. Lord of all World
86, 21. Mistress of the whole world
118, 27. Lord of All Worlds 31, 12, 14.
34. 24. 35. 36, 1. 36. 39, 28. 40, 16. 45, 2.
48, 14. 49, 30. Lords of the House 106, 8,
30. 122, 15. 178, 4. 179, 28. 263, 34. 264,
12. 268, 17. 323, 30. Gentlemen of the World 108, 30. 113, 10. Herrenthis world 177, 24. 296, 16. 354, 25. 355, 9. Men of all worlds 147, 19, 23.

9. 387, 6. 436, 14. 457, 24. 472. 483, 29. Rulers, five, of the house 105, 32. 300, 10, 528, 19. Derelict House 25, 5. Witches 436, 10, 444ff. 548, 12. 92,
11. 312, 24, 35. 314, 35. 321, 13. 323, Witchcraft 71, 12. 76, 13. 81, 2. 102, 33. 104, 4.
30. 359, 27. 361, 32. 405, 26. 406, 31. 457.
111, 14f. 136,1. 172,37. 316,38. 340, 24f.
8. 488, 25. 499, 35. 515, 21. 517, 7. 534, 20. Heaven 270, 13ff. Heaven-of water 34, 1.

House of the Great (Formidable) 74, 22,
95. 31. 99, 36. House of Life 20, 21.
25, 1. 65, 24. 68, 36. 69, 8. 70, 32. 91, 31.

27. Sky height 10, 15.
Celestial sphere 33, 12. 34, 4. 52, 7. 53, 28.
Hīra 407, 20.

94, 30. 95, 19. 106, 10. 111, 1. 134, 9. 141, Shepherd, good 181, 18ff.
23. 149, 6. 173, 32. 196, 16. 198, 12ff. Hitpūn 550, 18, 36.
211, 14, 19. 212, 5ff. 224, 27. 225, 26. 228, Hmurthās 53, 15. 54, 1. 81, 3, 6, 20. 82, 4. 83,

26. 232, 1. 238, 10ff. 241ff. 246, 7ff. 247,
5. 252, 32. 253, 1. 256, 34. 257, 18, 20.
259, 18, 28. 261, 11. 262, 12. 264, 29. 265,
21. 266, 31. 267, 31, 35. 268, 4, 13. 270, 3.

16, 24. 89, 26. 90, 7. 105, 26. 106, 12. 116,
9. 137, 18. 226, 17. 232, 11. 233, 20. 277,
36. 299, 27. 319, 18. 342, 14. 419, 20.
533, 36.

272, 20. 273, 20. 274, 31. 286, 8. 297, 11f., Wedding 62, 8. 115. 117. 160.

38. 298, 15. 302, 15. 306, 15. 308, 29. 323,
31. 326, 14. 327, 12. 334, 34. 347, 19. 357,
32. 358, 27. 361, 9. 364, 37. 377, 34f. 393,
4. 401, 3. 403, 18. 430, 12. 432, 27ff. 433,

Horcher 535, 15.
Horns 53, 21. 125, 11, 21. 221, 6.
Horoscope 41°. 312, 28.
Host 228, 24.

7. 438, 2. 440, 2. 441, 26. 442, 30. 443,25. Huš 198, 22, 25. 270, 22.

449, 11. 466, 35. 472, 7. 475, 8f. 476, 4f.
479, 17. 486. 489, 35. 492, 25. 493, 24f.
496, 32. 497, 3. 506, 8f. 510, 24. 513, 15.
314. 516, 20. 521, 5ff, 528, 31 f. 529, 24.
530,7. 537. 546,32. 547, 12. 550,9 f. 562,
9. 563, 27, 569, 13 ff. 574,83. 575,4. 578ff.
586, 16. 589, 27ff. House of Completion
5, 10. 69, 37. 275, 14. 283, 5. 300, 34. 333,
26. 353, 8. 463, 18. 467, 17. 546, 2. 547, 7.
565, 9. 593, 28. See also Lord, Keeper.
Hebrew Speech 306, 28.

Guardian (Guardian) 86, 2f. 87, 12, 20f. 92, 28ff.
94, 20. 109, 30. 145, 19f. 147, 35. 222, 20.
307f. 317, 11. 319, 34. 321,16. 380, 16.
384, 5. 395, 5. 400, 29. 431, 7, 12. 432, 9.
437, 5. 442, 28. 478, 25. 483, 31. 487, 14f.
494, 15. Two Keepers 289, 29, 292, 6.
313, 10. Four Keepers 173, 18. Keepers of the House 364, 16. Keeper of the Light 298,
8. Guardians of the Age 2953. 319, 5, 28.
320, 9.

Army, lapsed 82, 22f. 280, 8. 358, 39 f. "leo6s 235, 16.

359, 31.
Paganism 4, 35.
Savior see Jesus.

Inderland 436, 4.
'Irāq 223, 14.
Isis 189

Saints 194, 24. Saints 50, 2. 136, 16. 209, 7. Islam 407.

227, 26, 28. 449, 7.
Heroes, seven 197, 21. Twelve 197, 21. Helpers 453ff. and otherwise often.
Stallion 227, 7. 350, 36.
Hostel 466, 6. 543, 30. 569, 22.

Ishmael (Satan) 200, 28.
Israel, House 43, 10. 135, 12f. Children of Israel 47, 40.
Jafeth 46, 5.

Lord of the Earth 118, 16. 573, 33. 574, 27. Mr. Hunt 231, 27.
the darkness 142, 24. 143, 12. 171, 7. Jalijā 213, 13. 219, 33. See also Jōhānā.
203, 14ff. 208, 5. 315, 23. 406, 2. Mr. Jam 46, 5.

of the gods 258, 2. Lord of size 4, 7.
6, 8. 7, 13. 14, 25. 30, 10. 31, 13f. 32, 36.
45, 1. 54, 20. 61, 17. 62, 27. 142, 19. 143,

Jaqif 341, 29f. (column) 343, 13.
Jasmine 116, 13, 15. 361, 35.
Jatur 263, 28.

Yazugeans 135, 21, 25, 225.
Jerusalem 25, 11. 28,14, 18. 29, 33. 30, 10, 13. 43, 4f. 46,11 ff. 47, 40f. 48, 16. 50, 30, 37. 51, 9ff. 181, 28. 219, 34. 300, 8f. 338ff. 410. 412, 9.
Jesus 52, 4. 225, 6. 410, 31 f. Jesus Christ 51, 13. 186, 41. 187, 17, 20. 228, 3. Jesus the Savior 29, 19. 47,19. See also Christ.
Jōhānā 51. 190ff. 383, 25. 386,10. Seche also Jahjā.
Carob trees 584, 2, 4.
Jordan Vf. 19, 24. 30, 19 and often. Primarily Jordan 66, 23. 143, 28. 163, 40. First Jordan of Life 292, 15. Third Jordan 76, 14. Great Jordan 66, 10ff. 73,21. 144, 32ff, 292, 20. 303, 6. 444 ff. 566, 6. WeißerJordan 51, 22, 221, 23. Jordan Life 283,11. Great Jordan of Life 145, 4ff. 146, 37. 147, 3. 221, 23. 222, 19. 284, 12. 356,11. 425, 33. Jordan live Water 48, 29. 51, 3, 22. 67, 1. 69, 18. 145, 9. 164, 4. 190, 22. 240, 35. 285, 28, 34. 289,3. 292,26. 564, 24. 572,3. Großer Jordan is alive. Water 66,16. Jordan white Water 66, 7. Four Jordans 558, 27. 559, 6. Seven Jordans 163, 32, 400, 4. 360 Jordane 147, 3. 152, 24. 289, 28. 380, 21. 360000 Jordane 152, 14ff. Interior Jordane 235, 27. Jordane of white water 164, 3. See also book.
Judah (land) 28, 17. 46, 14. Judea 181, 27. Jews 25, 11 et seq. 28, 22. 30, 6et seq. 43, 4 et seq. 46, 23. 48, 10. 50, 20 ff. 52, 9. 135, 19. 219, 34. 225 f. 232. 276, 4. 341 ff. 410. Judaism 285, 27.
Judenknabe 227, 10.
Jiinger 43, 16. 44, 21. 47, 27. 51, 13. 143, 29. 177, 9. 192, 7. 211, 6, 23. 212, 3. 221, 4, 24. 224. 17. 25. 28. 226. 3. 229. 230. 232. 24. 297, 26. 300. 314, 5. 317, 22. 321, 337,9. 341,35. 342,39. 343,12, 26. 344,3. 353, 16 ff. 354, 17. 355, 10, 12. 367, 25. 370,1. 383, 3. 518, 31. 519,1. 362 Disciples 198,9. 202,25. 365 Disciples 338,31. 339,12, 28. 340,32. 341,31f. Female disciples 285, 22.
Jungfrau 50, 16. 184, 15. 187, 18. 188, 4. A Cloud 402, 1. Virgins 53, 6. 61, 18. 62, 2, 13. Seven Virgins 209, 8.
Bachelors 53, 6. 61, 18. 62, 1, 13.
Jupiter see Bēl.

Cameeles 414, 19, 32.
Cameo Space 111, 32, 132, 7.
Fight, white 413, 23, 25.
Kannā of Almsgiving 383, 21. See also Containers, original containers.
Kardus 416, 29.
Carmel 121, 13. 123, 4. 132, 4. 197, 20.
Catholicos 228, 9.
Heretics 374, 27. See also Zandīqe.
Kēwān (Saturn) 28, 29. 29, 10. 46, 34. 47, 11. 115, 36. 124, 11. 128, 17. 136, 6. 176, 15. 223, 21. 224. 347, 7. 414, 5.
Children of Darkness 9, 20, 78, 7.
Church 114, 9ff. 228, 10. 411, 1.
Klapper 184, 6. 189, 19. 228, 1. 431, 16.
Clothes, white 26, 30. 44, 30. 50, 8. 406, 5. 481, 24, 482, 6f.
Boy, youth 222, 1. 235ff. 243, 23f. Little Boy 51, 19. 191, 34. 192, 9, 13. 402, 24.
Goblins 116, 10, 30.
brazier 269,18.
King 26, 5. 48, 6. 56, 31. 57, 34. 91, 33. 107, 23. 169, 7. 170, 13. 176, 22. 184. 9. 185, 11. 188. 31. 208. 19. 213. 17. 217. 21. 219. 13, 279, 14f. 281, 1, 14. 300, 32. 302, 38. 304, 23. 312, 7. 361, 18. 395, 21. 417f. 435, 21. 436, 26. 478, 35. 554, 22. 555, 8. Queen 176, 22nd King of Áther 336, 5. 381, 10. King of the earth of the Athers 381, 18. King of Darkness 3, 18. 72, 3. 81, 26ff. 85, 23. 87, 33. 147, 18ff. 157, 8. 277, 31. 278, 18. 375, 1. 507, 25. Queen 155, 10th King of the Great 472, 34th King of the Uthras 68, 3. 118, 22. 312, 5. 361, 14. 362, 8. The King of World 30, 2. 100, 12. 156, 17. King of this World 107, 32. 160, 4. King of the Dark World 156, 15. King of All Worlds 187, 32. King of the Arabs 412,26. King 412, 24. 413,5. King of Babylon Judah 28, 17. 46, 14. The Burdean King 416,30. Simraean King 416,31. King' the Kings 6, 21. 412, 6. 417. Kings 6, 4. 7, 16, 27. 8, 21. 10, 18, 40. 12, 18. 13,10. 19, 7. 31, 32. 32, 6, 35. 40, 25. 193, 21. 195, 3. 199, 7. 207, 40. 257, 8. 280, 32. 412, 16. 417. 429, 21. Three Kings 155, 38. Seven Kings 303, 10. 417, 5. Twelve Kings (Zodiac) 419, 20. Kings of the Glory 269, 10. 270, 9. Kings of the Lichtes 10, 26. 22, 7. 304, 22. Kings of the Praise 10, 27. King's Son 211, 40. 359. See also King of Light and Lord, 25. Mystery.
Kingship 7,8. 40, 29. 178, 12. 179, 34. 197, 32. 230, 2. 232, 30. 286, 20.
Kingdom, Upper 347, 13th Kingdoms 211, 4, 15, 21.
Headscarf (-bandage) 30, 21. White headbands 26, 32. 44, 32.
Krakh-Nşab 339.
Wreath 7, 27. 9, 7, 8 and more often. Wreath living fire 79, 11. 83, 5. Wreath of Siegen 144, 13. 182, 9. 210, 9. 272, 5. 289, 9. 431, 26. 309, 13. (576, 19). Wreaths of Wins 42, 27, 210, 21.
Craters see mixing jug.
Cross 52, 10. 224, 1. Crosses 225, 5. 286, 11. 309, 19.
Krone 5, 24. 7, 23, 25. 8,32 f. 9, 1, 6, 23. 10, 4, 14. 31, 20. 83, 31 f. 133, 8f. 169. 170. 171, 13. 207, 41. 213, 17. 230, 1. 258, 6. 279, 26. 348, 32. 356, 13. 395, 21. 436, 26. 497, 32, 542, 25, 574. See also Mr.
Henceforth 152, 2.
Copper-earth 143, 14, 168, 20ff.
Kuštā 512, 20, 15. 24, 5. 26, 24 and often otherwise. Kušṭā-Faith 45, 5. See also Messenger. Hand, Lord, path.

Life in eternity 10, 39. 14, 36. 32, 14. 33, 7. 271, 28. First life 5, 2, 13. 48, 29. 191, 2. 196, 11 236, 11. 237, 16ff. 428, 6. Second Life 66, 21ff. 191, 2. 196, 12. See also 283,7. 303, 27. 309,37. 428, 6. Third life 191, 2. 196, 12. 283, 8. 428, 6. Strange Life 5, 2. 31, 2. 65, 21, 25. 149, 2. 150, 28. 179, 19. 199, 21. 220, 4, 6. 239, 25. 251, 6. 263,6. 283,6. 423,14. Great Life 5, 2. 54, 18 and otherwise often. See also image, Ather, outflow, messenger, fruit, messenger, House, Jordan, Light, Reputation, Treasure, Son, Bubble, City, Tribe, Uthra, Path, Essence, word, root, Žeichen.
Teaching, first 25, 15. 27, 17, 33. 44, 1. 46, 33. 51, 33. Living Teaching 78, 15, 240, 12. 360, 32. Living, First Teaching 65, 27. 141. 37. 142. 16.
Teacher 22, 12. 37, 26.
Bodyguards, two 144, 21.
Ladder 49, 19ff. Ladders 208ff. 490, 23.
Handlebars, five 104, 21. 419, 20. Twelve handlebars 408. 10.
Leviathan 234, 16. 298, 5. 419, 17.
Lebanon 179, 2, 11. 263, 27. 409, 4.
Libat (Venus) 28, 27, 35. 226f. 347, 6. See also Dilbat.
Light 6, 3 and otherwise often. Great Light 5, 19. 141, 29. Great, first light 54,26. Great Light of Life 304, 26. See also Angel, Angel, Angel, Angel, Angel, Angel, Angel, Guardians, Children, Mānā, Mystery, Son, Baptism, turban, Uthra, world, root.
Light bandages, two 222, 3.
Lichterde 32, 6, 32. 49,13. 66, 23. 221,37. 222, 12. 277,16ff. 279,18. 281,6. 286,14. 378, 31f. 379, 2f., 29. 380, 21. 401,20. 419, 26. 429. 21. 458. 22.
Lichtkönig 3, 19. 4,7ff. 5ff. 61, 1. 62. 73, 10ff. 143. 8. 146. 27. 35. 214. 3. 237. 33. 277. 280, 11, 30. 282, 4. 360, 36. 361, 17. 363, 15. 365,9. 391,17. 392,33. 436,29. See also king. Place of light (place of light) 14, 20. 18, 16, 19. 20, 18 and more often.
Lichtschatz 202, 26.
Lichtwelt 386, 25. Lichtwelten 3, 20. 5, 2, 22. 6, 20. 12, 15, 31. 16, 10. 19, 25. 31, 2. 32, 33. 34, 27. 39, 15. 48, 16, 31. 65, 25. 68, 4. 143, 33. 144, 3. 149, 2. 150, 29. 156, 35. 157, 19. 164, 15. 170. 174, 10. 181, 2. 234, 6. 237, 36. 239, 25. 251, 6. 277, 11. 279, 15. 280, 7, 12, 28. 283, 10. 316, 17. 326, 18. 384, 35. Seven worlds of Light 303, 9, 167 Lightworlds 199, 36, 360 Lightworlds 289, 36. 365 Worlds of Light 151, 10.
Light beings 12, 25. 154, 8. 162, 20. 236, 22. 237. 282, 1. 302, 21. 304, 34. 345, 25. 357, 2.
Light Cloud 32, 2. 42, 29. 117, 35f. 118, 26. 130, 1. 146, 33. 264, 9, 11. 428, 4. 435, 12, 25. 513, 25. 554, 3. 571, 21. Clouds of light 6, 7. 32, 34.
Lilitls 47, 4. 50, 9. 54, 1. 83, 16, 24. 89, 26. 106, 14. 154, 37. 224, 7f. 277, 36. 419, 21. 438, 32. 530, 24. 540, 4.
Praise, first 28, 28. See also tree, Angel, God, King.
Curling spirits 278, 2.
Solver 424ff. 514, 7. 544. 569, 26f. See Savior.
Lion 280, 5. 285, 14. 430, 18. 433, 31,35. 507, 21f. Lions 183, 2. 474, 10.
Air wind 108, 8.
Magician 415, 20.
Maišān 4132,
Maljōnājē 2264.
Mambūhā (Mambūgā) 19, 27. 36, 40. 225, 7. 286, 25. 357, 6. 383, 14. 545, 37. Mambūgās 240, 6.
Mānā 651. 68,37. 109,6. 113, 2. 125,36 f. 130, 12. 150ff. 235, 26 ff. 239 ff. 246, 3. 287, 8. 289, 1. 308, 1. 316, 29. 325, 28. 345 ff. 359, 39. 367, 30. 442, 25. 458ff, 512, 27. 521, 30ff, 523, 32. 547, 10. 549 ob. 535, 28, 32. 557, 26. 569, 13 ff. 573, 29. 574. 575, 3. 587, 24. 594, 20. Great Mānā 66, 8, 19. 67, 19. 68, 13. 112, 22. 303, 5. 325, 32. 399, 15. 400, 8. 401, 13. 402, 5. 557, 25, 27. Great Mānā the Glorious-keit 65, 30. 66, 6. 67, 17. Future Mānā 152, 2. Expensive Mānā 332f. 359, 40. Verborgen Mānā 155, 27. 242, 31. 246, 1. Well-preserved Mānā 67, 21, 191, 3, 193, 10. 196, 13. 252, 9. 289, 2. 428, 7. Mānās 151, 18. 152, 2. 162, 19. 316, 12. 333, 23. 345, 28. 346, 14. 347, 28. 360, 34. 361, 29. Great Mānās 65, 30, 153, 12. Expensive Mānās 152, 6. 163, 16. 367, 15. Verborgene Mānās 162, 30. 556, 26. Custodians Mānās 358, 7. Mānās of Darkness 154, 16, 22. Mānās of Light 119, 14.
Mandaeans 5, 11. 30, 22, 239, 23, 268, 35. 283, 15. 26. 284. 21. 285. 11. 287. 13. 296, 17. 297, 3. Mandierinnen 283, 15, 26.
Mānī 78, 2785. Mār-Mānī 229, 26.
Manichaean 229°.
Man look strange. Two men 267, 34. Three men 247, 6. 250ff. 284, 23. Four Men 195, 29. 327, 19. 435, 12. Man of tried righteousness(piety) 187, 22, 24. 189, 25. 190 ob. 195, 31. 196, 3. 213. 15. 19. 379, 32. 384. 2. 516, 26. 523, 29. 533, 5. 563. 564, 20. 572, 7. 573, 3, 9. Men of extortion. Device. 51, 29. 54, 6. 75, 12. 77, 1 177, 26. 178, 1. 179 ff. 213, 22, 24, 220 ff. 224, 22. 245, 33. 246, 16. 247, 18. 248, 11. 253. 256, 11. 260, 11. 271, 6. 272, 15. 300, 1. 306, 24. 310, 24. 318ff. 333, 9. 345, 3, 7. 351, 13f. 360, 33. 363, 6. 367, 22. 400, 21. 402, 29. 403, 10. 424, 16. 438, 22. 443, 15. 518, 29.
Mārā 52, 12.
Marcion 52.
Mardmane 229, 18.
Marmahūz 116, 25.
Mars see Nerig.
Maru 362, 3, 5.
Maru aštargān 116, 17, 19. 362, 1.
Massaqthā 119, 8. See also Mass for the Dead.
Wall, iron 87, 17. 93,10. 164, 26. Eiserne

Manners 168, 3. Seven Walls 164,
26. 175, 7. 433, 18. Seven iron walls
148, 15. Seven golden Walls 168, 6.
Sea of Bile 506, 42. Consuming Sea
38, 4. 405, 18. Seven Seas 418, 13.
Menstruation 25, 14, 25. 47, 9. 50, 17, 39. 220,
15. 225, 11, 25. 227, 12. 228, 2, 20. 298, 13.
300, 15. 362, 38.
Mercury see Nbū.
Mesenieř 413, 3, 24.
Messiah 188, 17. Lying Messiah 28, 28, 29, 26. 47, 16. 414, 10. See also Christ.
Metropolitan 228, 9.
Mirjai 341.
Mirjam 410, 32.
Mixing Jug (Crater) 183, 28. 444ff.
Mithra 2844.
Mnunäer 226, 22.
Mohammed 4, 30. 30, 15. 54, 16. 248*. 300,
10ff. 4143.
Monks 30, 3, 13. 224, 5. 227, 29. 228, 29. 374, 23.
Moon 25, 3. 28, 29, 34. 46, 33,39. 115,34. 199, 30ff. 229, 23. 347, 4. 570, 10f. See also Sin.
povoyevis 235, 17. 250, 17.
Monotheism 4, 9.
Morning Star 235, 3.
Mosque 148, 12.
Moses 43, 6, 21. 46, 11, 19.
Mrārā 158.
Mšunnē-Kušṭā 30, 11, 300, 13ff. 351, 12.
Mother of Darkness 155, 11th Mother of the (this) world see Namrus p. 600. Mother all worlds 139,33.
Myrtle 116, 11, 25. 121, 27. 128, 13. 361, 1, 33.
362, 3, 5.
Mystery (Mystery) 65, 27. 121, 17. 142,
150, 30. 165, 16. 197, 13. 220, 10, 21.
223, 17. 227, 22. 228, 8, 21. 232, 14, 18.
235. 26. 239. 27. 242. 29. 245. 19. 251. 12.
288,16. 320, 36. 367, 17. 438,21. Big Furnace Mysterium 111, 27ff. 112. 143,30. 144, 1.
153, 5, 26ff. 403, 2. Hidden Mysterium 152, 30. Mystery of Love 121. vl
123, 26. Mystery of Death 233, 14,
30. 255, 27. Mystery of drunkenness
123, 30. 226, 20. Mystery of Water
6. 124, 17. Mystery of Living Water
31. Mysteries 14, 38. 34, 9. 121, 16.
122, 3. 123, 9. 166, 41. 223, 20. 245.
297, 22. 320, 31. 356, 5f., 33f. 483,
484, 6. 488, 1f. 489. 495, 30f. 502,
29. 577, 1. 593, 8. Four Mysteries 570, 5.
Seven Mysteries 202, 1. 316, 20. 455, 5.
577, 5. Twelve Mysteries 455, 5. Myste-257f. rien of the blazing fire 489, 29. Mysterien of kings 193, 21. Mighty Mysteries of the Light 381, 17. Mysteries of of love 120, 27. 121. Mysteries of the Sorcery 120, 30. See also Mystery.
Mystery House 224, 11.
Mzar(a)z 417, 23.

Navel of the Earth 103, 29, 31. 104,
13. Name, hidden 246, 6. 360 Name 146,
18. Secret (hidden) names 159 ob.
162. 28. 38. 168, 7.
Nämūs 2483
Narcisse 116, 25. 362, 3, 5.
Nāṣaräertum 27,5. 45,4. 198ff. 275,9. 285,26.
299, 8f. 320, 10. 508, 3.
Nask 415, 21.
Nāṣōräer 26, 1. 30, 21. 45, 20. 50, 36. 185, 6.
(187.18). 190.14. 212.16. 213.14.20. 221.
14, 34. 229f. 234, 30. 238. 254f. 268, 35.
273, 4. 294, 16. 296, 17. 297, 3. 306, 33.
310, 32. 312, 7. 317, 28, 39. 318, 1. 323.
326, 5, 8. 327, 20. 345, 15. 367, 8. 383, 20.
385. 3. 5. 403. 14. 16. 404. 36. 405, 15.
424, 15. 449, 5. 451, 32ff. 532, 22.
Nazarenes 187, 18. 188, 4.
Nazareth 50, 29.
Nbū (Mercury) 28, 27, 38. 49, 3, 6. 50, 16. 51,
11. 52, 28. 115, 35. 124, 7. 132, 24. 176,
16, 205 unt. 347, 5. 446, 1.
Fog clouds 34, 8. 175, 30. 186, 13. 188, 19.
207, 42. 270, 14. 298, 16. 311,38. 406,12 f.
Nerig (Mars) 4, 33. 28, 30. 29, 13. 46, 35. 47,
14. 53, 10, 15. 116, 2. 124, 21. 133, 11.
137, 12. 176, 16, 226, 18. 232f. 299, 14,
25. 408, 18.
Netzgeister 278, 1.
New Year 229, 14.
Nhūraitā 410, 7. See also Nūraitā.
Nimūsā 248.
Nituftā (Nitubtā) 155, 28, 163, 17ff. 176,
35. 235,30. 304, 28. 402,5. Nitubtās 317,
19. Noah 28, 4ff. 46, 4ff. 47, 36, 38. 263, 26.
409f. Nun 227,12. Nuns 30,3. 224, 6. 227, 29.
228, 29.
North 7, 3. 280f.
Northern Air 281, 317, 32, 532.
North(wind) 412, 21. 352, 20. 15.
Nūraitā 46,4. 211,36,39. See also Nhūraitā.

Ocimum basilicum 116, 21, 23.
131, 3. Furnaces 80, 2f. 122, 34f. 444, 8.
446, 17. 449, 21. 450, 22.
Ogdoas 5781.
36, 41. 224, 17. 228, 21. 326. 591, 12, 28.
.. Oil and honey 233, 89. 2344.
Olive Tree 410, 2.
Ölhorn 49,
Olive stick, white 220,22. Olive stick live 44,
Water 79, 9. 83, 1, 3. 145, 1. Olives-264, bars of gloss 286, 11. (olive)bars 36.
living water 26, 35. 44, 37. See 19ff.
also stab.
Omaiyads 223, 15. 3004.
Offerings 58, 18. 121, 22. 299, 11, 22, 26.
Sacrificial Cake 53, 18.
Sacrifice 43, 8. 125, 12. 141, 8.
Ophane 44, 31ff. 194, 18.
Oracle Men 29, 15. 53, 14. 178, 26. 436, 10.
444, 39.
Oros (Orpheus) 52, 30ff.
Orphiker 235, 17.
A hidden place 70, 7, 23, 27. 74, 17. 109, 3.
113, 4. 156, 10. 244, 14. 245, 10. 246, 7.
301, 23, 29. 303, 4. 380, 23. 381, 38. 400,
33. Place of Darkness 10, 18. 69, 9. 76,

7ff. 79, 35. 82, 24. 83, 21. 87, 37. 97, 12, 20. 101, 22. 134, 36. 141, 33. 285, 28. 296, 35. 322, 14. 324, 6. 327, 22. 365, 11. 374, 5. 523, 26. 549, 27. 583, 29. Place of life 212. 11. 431. 1. 506, 33. 513, 5, 9. 515, 39. 525 ff. 544, 10. 552, 32. 554, 4. 560, 5. 571, 22. 578ff. Place of the True 306, 25. 321, 15, 17.
Ocean (World Ocean) 193, 1, 5, 32. 194, 20. 224, 13. 267, 21. 281. 415, 22. 417, 27. 418, 13. 419, 2. 569, 2.

Palmyra 405^{8}
Paradise 34, 12. 233, 33. 255, 13, 16.
Parašai Sifa 418, 32.
Parthian 416, 19.
Passport 144, 1f. 157 unt. 158. 167, 1.
Timpani (Tambourines) 53, 21. 124, 9. 125, 17. 221. 5. 226. 12. 14. 434, 3.
Pearl 172. 515, 24. 517, 6. 590, 21. Pearl 159,7. Pure Pearl 274, 12. 362, 19, 33. 363, 4. 514, 16. Beads 13, 25. 123, 35. 160. 29. 300. 18. 588, 9.
Persians 411f. 416, 19. 436, 2.
Persian Kings 411f.
Persian 78. 150. 70°. 1354. 1393. 1894. 203^{1}. 205. 225. 229^{6}. 232^{3}. 284^{24}. 406^{5}. 413^{4}. 415^{36}. 416^{1}.
Plague 27, 19. 45, 22. 408, 25, 27. 414, 15.
Path 94, 7. 95, 13f. 394, 5. 500, 29. Paths 394, 15th path, Paths of Kuštā 36, 24f. 398, 6. 541, 29. See also Path.
Priests 29, 15. 133f. 178, 25. 436, 10. 444,39.
Wickets 25, 20. 70, 7. 134, 25ff. 180, 1. 225ff. 255, 11, 13. Twelve wickets 20, 8, 189, 20. 275,7. 276,13. 285,21 f. 298,19,33. 307,8. Gates of Darkness 225, 24. See also Tor.
Phalanx 112, 11. 176, 26. 410, 29.
Pharaoh 410.
Philosopher 228, 8.
puer Phosphorus 235, 4, 8.
Pihtā 19, 27. 36, 39. 224, 13. 225, 7. 238, 11. 239 f. 283, 20. 284, 2. 285, 16. 286, 25. 320 ff. 357, 6. 383, 14. 398, 3. 528, 38. 545. 37.
Pilate 30, 1. 48, 5.
Planets 26, 15. 28, 23. 99, 21. 104ff. 126ff. 176. 180. 2. 190. 4, 6. 197, 17. 199, 33. 203, 8ff. 234, 16 ff. 242, 28f. 243, 1. 245. 246, 32. 247ff. 255, 23f. 257, 21. 258. 259 f. 263, 32. 268, 19, 28. 274, 16, 22. 284, 29, 287, 9f. 294, 16. 296, 15. 297, 34, 38. 299. 309. 18, 26. 310, 18. 313, 18. 315. 16, 18. 319, 16, 35. 320, 15. 324, 19. 339 f. 354, 15. 358, 37. 363, 36. 364, 3, 7. 405, 17. 4091. 433, 37. 437, 12. 439, 31 ff. 457, 19. 462. 25. 466. 16, 30. 474, 25. 475, 7. 477, 10. 480, 12. 481, 4f. 492, 16. 494, 9, 37. 497,4ff. 499,4f. 500,5. 502, 24f. 510, 7. 511,16. 512,35. 521,18. 528,22ff. 536, 3. 573, 15. 574,12, 578ff. 585,13. 586,32. Seven Planets 52,15. 104,5. 105,7. 107, 5. 221, 32. 223, 21. 224, 23. 230, 16. 233, 23. 244, 29. 294, 8. 297, 30. 316, 39. 323, 25,27, 340, 5, 408, 9ff, 410, 10, 419, 19. 430. 15. 546. 16. 575, 13.
Presbyter 228, 9.
Priests 5, 11. 29, 15. 53, 13. 178, 25. 232, 13. 239, 23. 268, 35. 283, 14, 18f. 284. 285, 16, 29. 286. 298, 23. 436, 10. 444. 39.
Prophet 26, 6. 28, 22, 43, 5, 21, 23. 46, 10. 54, 13ff. 587, 8. Lügenprophet 130,5. Prophetene 25, 31. 26, 24. 44, 2, 27. 54, 13. 224, 25, 285, 3, 860 Prophets 30, 9. Prophets of Lies 25, 22. 26,24. 43, 30. 44, 22. 46, 21. 136, 11. 224, 1, 18. Prophets des Truges 61, 13.
Purim 120°. 618.

Qādōš 25, 8. 43, 2. 234, 15.
Qardūn 409, 14, 410, 3.
Source 161 unt. Great Source 158, 20.

Rabe 409, 15ff.
Large wheels 191, 9f., 18f. 311, 13. 328, 22f. 516, 5.
Smoke 200, 25.
Smoking 53, 26.
Rašnu 2844. Rašna uRast 284, 11. Vine, vine see vine. Rebels 71, 27, 29. 79, 10, 16. 83, 4. 111, 28. 328, 15. 381, 20. 479, 27f. 550, 21. 551, 2. See also outrages.
Travel allowance (Weg--) 23, 1. 96, 14. 141, 21. 246, 28f. 247, 2. 252, 10. 273, 13. 877, 21ff. 392. 480, 25. 482, 23. 509, 29. 540, 12. 542, 22. 545, 27. 584.
Rhomäer 49, 19. 51, 26, 28. 52, 5, 8, 22. 416, 19. 436, 3. See also Byzantines.
Riese 90, 2, 8. 375, 8. Giants 81, 35. 83, 9. 86, 4, 5, 87, 12. 154 ff. 319, 20.
Ring 160, 13ff.
Call (voice) 16, 6f. 25, 6. 28, 11. 30, 16, 19. 46, 9. 50, 37. 58, 2ff. 69, 36. 79, 27 ff. 83, 10. 92, 20f. 130, 24f. 139 f. 181, 11, 25. 182, 27. 230, 26. 232, 5. 233, 21. 247, 19. 273,35. 275,15. 302,35. 304,16f. 308,21. 316, 1. 322, 36. 331, 22. 361, 9. 362, 22, 32, 375, 29, 395 unt. 397,16. 409,2. 425 ff. 455, 10f. 464, 7f. 475, 8f. 477, 25. 478, 6. 479, 6. 485. 495, 92 ff. 501, 29. 547, 14 ff. 561, 5f. 564, 4f. 566, 18ff. 593, 4f. On- Agitator Call76,83. 117,10. First call 272, 21 (618). Stranger's Call 441, 6, 12, 19. Call (voice) of life 5, 12. 18, 14. 68,24. 92,10. 120,32. 121,1. 130,96 f. 141, 22. 180, 5. 211, 6, 23. 212, 3. 221, 33. 222, 5ff. 241, 30. 252, 13. 253, 7, 9, 23. 254, 4. 255, 36. 256, 3. 257, 12, 19. 263, 21 ff. 266, 30. 275, 13. 285, 31. 286, 7. 300, 3. 308, 9. 310, 11. 314, 25f. 320, 33. 321, 19. 322, 26, 28. 333, 10. 337, 3. 345, 9. 357, 4. 362, 27, 35. 363, 19. 367, 8, 10. 370, 16. 376,5ff. 381,23. 383,8. 439,12. 485,24. 573, 1, 25. 576, 29. 596, 9. Call 90, 18ff. 141,5 ff. 349. 351. Three calls 349. Seven Calls 351. Twelve calls 90, 26. 138, 36.
Sabbath 285, 26.
Sacrament 227, 22, 24. 228. 383, 15. Seven Sacraments 227, 9f. 229, 28.

Salamander 154, 33, 37.
Solomon 28, 16. 46, 13. 411, 22.
Şamael 200.
Šamiš (Sun) 25, 7. 28, 26, 31. 43,1. 46,30, 36. 124, 13. 128, 8, 12. 132, 12. 135, 9. 176, 15ff. 225, 2. See also Sun.
Sandarak tree 325, 13. 574, 2, 26.
Sarqid 417, 31.
Sasanids 411 f.
Satan 16, 15, 28f. 17, 8. 18, 38. 22, 22, 32. 23, 7, 13. 27, 15. 29, 33. 34, 32. 35, 9ff. 38,6, 15. 39, 3ff. 40, 12. 42, 22. 45, 18. 48, 27. 54, 1ff. 200, 28. Satans 39, 28. 53, 15. 278, 2.
Saturn see Kēwān.
Sourdough 259 f. 261, 3.
Pillar 399, 24. Seven Souls 341, 12. 343.
Süulen des Truges 374, 28f.
Treasure 147, 34f. 160, 18. 176, 34. 247, 14, 28. 323. 35. 324. 13. 347. 29. 358. 30. 360. 28. 362, 24. 363, 28. 375, 31f. 401, 2. 442, 14. 460ff. 465, 3. 474, 35. 482, 25f. 485, 29. 493. 501, 18, 23. 538, 22f. Treasure of the Life 96, 24f. 147, 12. 243, 36. 271, 9. 362, 13. 363, 21. 487, 22ff, 494, 18, 508, 2. 314, 17. 515, 25. 590,22. See also Oşar-Hai and Sīmath-Haijē p. 601f. Treasures 367,20. 523,32. 529,31. 530, 28. Treasures of gloss 184ff. 444ff. See also Treasure of light.
Treasure House 5, 6. 142, 11. 137, 32 ff. 222, 30. 259, 12f. 260, 23. 261, 4. 316, 9. 372, 3. 429, 7. 458, 33. 459. 487, 16, 29. 489, 33. 493, 6f. 494, 23.
Treasurer(-holder) 111, 3. 150, 35. 151, 1. 324, 14. 334, 12. 372, 6. 386, 24. 402, 10. 429, 5. 486f. 493, 8. 517, 4.
Schinden 29, 14. 47, 15. 53, 11ff. Schinder 29. 15. 53, 13.
Slaclites 20, 6. 62, 22.
Sacrifice 9:33.
Shh.gflußdemonen 278, 1.
Snake 86, 10. 88, 17. 315, 22.
Forge 154, 34.
Scholar 228, 11.
Schrate 50, 10. 116, 33. 278, 1.
Schulie 26, 34.
Pregnant 78, 25.
Silence 224, 20, 225, 10, 229°. 375, 24. 574,4.
20. Sword 27, 19. 45, 22ff. 259f. 316, 40. 408, 25, 27. 439. 442.
Swear 22, 17. 37, 33.
Blessed 227, 30. 228, 17.
Sem (Šum) 28, 4. 46, 5. 410, 6.
Šeol 180, 3. 233, 35, 37. 270, 19. 315, 21. 436, 24. 539, 27. 548. 549, 11. 561, 24. 588, 29. 589. 22.
Šērāsp 417, 33.
Seven, the 24, 27. 90, 22. 112, 2, 14. 125, 5. 126, 30. 131, 28. 134, 13. 138, 1. 143, 3. 199, 19. 200. 13. 27. 39. 229. 16. 274. 19. 310. 8. 311, 4, 20. 317, 6ff. 318, 20f. 328, 2f. 329, 38. 330. 1. 341. 4. 342. 4. 346. 1. 34. 39. 351,352,1,365,3,379,20,28,34,382,16 f. 383, 24. 386, 20. 393, 21. 405, 16. 406, 14. 430, 37. 434, 11. 437, 5. 441, 1. 443, 13. 455, 2. 456, 4. 473, 3, 15. 476. 479, 25 ff. 490. 24. 500. 27. 506. 3. 508. 16. 510. 20. 512, 2f. 516, 9. 517, 30. 522, 8f., 25, 523, 12f. 526, 34, 36. 528, 28. 533. 534. 536, 10. 537, 35f. 540, 26. 547, 5. 553, 23. 556, 2, 4. 562,10,33 f. 563,1. 564,12. 565,6. 573,22. 576,9. 577,28f. 586,10,27. 587,1,13. 590, 13, 592, 27f.
Siegel, großes 39, 23.
Siğistanian 416, 20.
Sihmai 343, 19.
Šimräerland 436, 5.
Sin (Moon) 28,29. 46,33. 124,15. 132,16. 135, 28ff. 176,15. 232. 312ff. 408, 26f. 369,3. See also moon.
Sinai 43, 6, 23.
Şind 436, 4.
VŠkīnā 74. 12, 26. 13,8 and many other times. Three Škīnās 145, 18, 401, 7, 366 Škīnās, 444 Škīnās 144, 17ff. 360000 Škīnās 152, 26. Lower Škīnās 180, 7.
Slave 23, 34. 41, 15ff. Slaves 25, 18. 43, 20. 256, 16. 262, 23f. Slaves (servants) the planets 26, 15. 234, 17.
Šofars 53, 21.
Son, firstborn 143, 2. 147, 6. 162, 21. 165,25. 228,6. 387, 26. 402,8. Solin of God 29, 28. 47, 31. Son of Life 220, 8f. 235, 24 f. 323, 6. 395, 30. 455, 20. 573, 13 584, 15. 586, 20. 587,9. See also Bar-Haijē p. 598. Seven sons 175,21. 338. 33f. 339, 15. 340, 1, 35. 351, 31f. 553, 10. Twelve sons 175, 25th firstborn sons 337,24,26. 382, 24 f. Sons of Salvation 89,4. 94. 15. 97. 15. 98. 16. 142. 14. 195. 20. 29. 241,14ff. 242,10f. 293, 24. 327,19. 371,4. 375, 10. 439, 15, 21. 441, 29. 469, 8. 479, 13f. 531, 25f. 543, 19. 563, 10. 567, 26. 568, 8, 14. 593, 21. Sons of Licltes 10, 11 (read like this). 13,17. 67,25. 202,34. 203,35. 211, 12. 236, 2. 246, 8. 269, 3. 435, 13 ff. 446. 38. 448. 10. 449. 1. 450. 5. 451. 6.
Sun 25, 3. 28, 33. 46, 39. 115, 33. 199, 16ff. 229,22. 347,3. 570,8f. See also Šamiš.
Sunday XII, 50, 25. 283, 16, 25, 31. 285, 20. 26. 286, 6, 25. 451, 34. 512, 7. 542, 8. 558.
Sauce 106,36. 124,30f. 197,22. 468,15. 308,26.
Spheres, large, of firmness 198, 6.
Spiegel 161 unt. 170. 216, 5. 217, 17. 218,
Fizz of Life 145, 17.
Sraoša 2844.
Staff 173,8. 184,6. 192,4. 537,18. 590,4. Staff living water 377, 36. Rods 26, 34. 44, 36. See also Olive rod.
City of Life 7.7. City of Uthras 317, 38.
Tribe of Life 45, 33. 114, 29f. 117, 24 f. 133, 20, 140, 26, 32f. 223, 22. 224, 31. 231, 25. 233, 11, 17. 241, 28. 254,3. 257, 11. 297, 25. 311, 22. 315, 20. 343, 28. 356, 9, 15. 363, 9. 383, 18. Tribes of Life 78, 14. Tribe of Souls 25, 1. 30, 17. 187, 23. 226, 29. 227, 25. 228, 28. 229, 29. 232. 233. 294, 16. 311, 29. 312, 6. 313, 31. 316, 24. 317, 3. 383, 1. 452, 1.
Stammler 116, 32.

Stars 270,17. Seven stars 13, 27. 140,27. 223.18. 337.32. 338. 340.23. 342.15. 385. 18. 404, 24. 468, 17. Twelve stars (Geforeheads) 106, 34. 116, 3. 121,23. 124, 23. 138. 2. 140. 25. 311. 21. 316. 39. 319. 35. 323, 24, 404, 26 Stars of Wrath 223, 22. See also Seven and Twelve.
Magisterium 53, 17.
Voice of Darkness 93, 20.
Hours of salvation 16, 30. 35, 12. 40, 32. 60, 39. 186, 24. 255, 21. 437, 21. 445ff.
South 281.
Süf-Meer 20, 13, 30. 60, 35. 67, 27. 123, 33. 124, 2. 180, 35. 227, 29. 229, 27. 300, 19. 323. 22. 336.10. 347.14. 373, 10. 385, 34. 391,30f. 477, 14, 34.
Sufath 220, 14.
Šum see Sem.
Sin, great 48, 23.
Scapegoats 287, 6.
Forgiveness of Sins 5, 4, 11 and many other times.
Synagogue 25, 10.

Tabdānā 49, 5.
Day of the End 24, 18. 123, 2. 135, 7, 18. 136, 17. 137. 11. 34. 148. 4. 225. 2. 255. 27. 344. 2. 403,17. Day of Redemption 39,2b. Day of the court 16,30,41. 35,11. 10,31. 60, 38. 186. 23. 234, 19. 255, 21. 311, 31. 437, 21, 445ff.
Tambourines see timpani.
Tammūz 447, 9.
Tanit 1446.
Tannā 151,3. 161, 32, 176, 35, 240, 5f. 246, 5th 459, 5. Tannās 289, 6. 403, 9.
Dancing 22, 21. 47, 3. 52, 30. 53, 7. 216, 20. 226. 19.
Tarwān VII. 302ff. 326, 20. 362, 4. 380f.
Dove 147, 14, 409, 18ff.
Baptism 19,24. 48,28. 58, 3. Living Baptism 19, 25. 51, 1, 3. 190, 23. 191, 29. 193, 7. 310,15. 326,3. Baptism of Life 360,35. Great Baptism of Light 184ff. 283, 11. 284. 12.
Dancer, first 240, 18.
Tells 53, 19.
Temples 42, 2, 43, 9. 53, 18, 228, 16. 283, 17, 25,31. 284,7. 285,15,17f. 286, 24. 299, 26. 415, 7. 542, 12.
Torah 50, 20.
Throne 9, 14ff. 104, 16. 105, 2f. and otherwise often. 278, 1. Rebellious Throne 76, 23. Gentle Throne 76, 22nd Throne of Indignation 136, 27. Thrones of Rebellion 20,32.183,8. 451. 11.
6. Tibil 5, 9. 24, 2 and otherwise (318, Depths of the Näşaräertum 198ff. 275,
Tierharn 223, 14.
Zodiac 124, 24. 134, 13. 138ff. Zodiac-pictures 281, 12. Twelve animal pictures (Zodiakal signs) 262, 3. 265, 1. 408. See also Stern, twelve.
Tigris 414, 7. 431, 13. 524, 36.
Ink book 205ff.
Daughters, sixty-seven 184, 16.
Death, second 185, 23, 186, 3f., 32, 189, 2, 226, 1. 227,5. 232,1. 284,32. 342,30. 385,22 f. 405,9. 419, 32. 589, 1. Double death 298. 4. 324. 20.
Tonsure 50, 24.
Gate of Darkness 71, 15. 84, 11. Four-and twenty gates 87, 22,26. Gates of the Brandes 71,3. Wickets (goals) of the Sinisternis 70, 34. 79, 26. 88, 1. 102, 12. 254, 8. 530, 2f.
Dead Spirits 418, 22, 24, 30.
Death lamentation 10, 6. 21, 6. 37 ob. 438 ff.
Mass for the Dead 21, 20. 37, 10. 153, 2. 154, 9. 155, 22. 166,30. 196,1. 210,10, 23,38. 224,18. 225, 7. 324, 11. 468, 23. 548, 37f. See also Massaqthā.
Turān 411, 14, 413, 6.
Turäerland 436, 5.
Turban of Light 211,9,23. 212,10. 324,29. 427, 40. 516, 17. 589, 31. The Turbans Gloss 32, 23. Turbans of light 51, 23. 210, 13, 24, 38. 236, 16, 19. 435, 15.

Unheilsgeister 278, 1.
Fiend 81, 16. 100,16f. 147,17, 21, 26. 278,21. 361, 24. Fiends 72, 25. 80, 6, 26. 81, 22. 104. 19. 105. 30. 106. 18. 116. 34. 117. 12. 119, 23f. 120, 16ff. 121, 15. 147, 16. 154, 36. 161. 36. 278. 1. 296. 12. 309. 21. 319, 4, 27. 338, 25. 339, 6. 382, 4. 416, 4. 442, 2. 554, 14. Twelve Fiends 100, 28f. 104, 6.
Urbehälter 7,4. 308,1. 309,1. 426, 15,27. 427, 15, 22. See also Container, Kannā.
Original fruit 63, 9, 23.
Forefather 177, 3. 374, 35. 469, 5, 13.
Usraël 343, 11.
Ut-Napištim 205, 31.
Uthra 6s and otherwise often. Rüstiger, wohlge-Uthra 69ff. 96, 20th Uthra of the Life 67,31. 68,1. 113, 18. 388, 5. Two Uthras 46, 8. 92, 12. 94, 21. 251. 252, 27. 288, 19. 292, 16. 329, 6ff. 344, 28. 343, 2. 325,17. Three Uthras 26,25. 66,27ff. 92,8. 96,23. 119,2. 145,12. 252ff. 345,35. 347, 34. 501,32. 506,10f. Four Uthras 146,12. 435,17. 800 Uthras 288,18. 360000 Uthras 152,25. Hidden Uthras 74,15. 75,9. Uthras of Life 541.5. Uthras of the Lichtes 20,22. 44,34. 67,26,34. 68,3. 361, 23. 476, 38. 509, 26, 28. 520, 13. 531, 34.
Vampyre
Father of the Uthras 7, 4. 68, 32. 96, 13. 97, 26f. 98, 5, 19. 108, 35. 109, 4. 290, 14. 293f. See also Abathur p. 597.
Father's House 71, 34. 104, 26. (105, 20). 106, often. 108, 28. 208, 15. 209,19,30. 303, 18. 9. 30). 351, 38. 426, 16, 27. 427, 15, 23. 462, 22. 506, 26. 518, 18. 560, 8. 577, 34.
Venus see Dilbat, Libat.
Verderber 71, 1. 79,38. 252,4. 320,3. 371, 29. 372, 18, 458, 5f.
Compression 89, 11. 91, 22f. 100, 2f. 103, 22. 105,16. 147, 24. 174,25ff. 284, 15,34. 348, 36. 350f. 308, 13.
Seducers 49,8. 28,25. 41,5. 46,29. 52,15,25. 131, 25. 280, 27. Seductress 134, 26.

Seven seducers 52, 7. Twelve seducers 51, 27.
Fourth, the 459, 25f. 594, 13. The Fourth 332, 28f.
Vigilienpriester 228, 12.
Visitator 228, 11.
Birds 136, 23f. 186, 17. 433, 11. 436, 8. 519, 3, 16. 535, 15. See p. 619.
Peoples, twelve 31, 32.
Volkshaus 50, 19.
See the house for completion.
Perfect (Completed) 7, 5. 8, 25. 10, 13. 14, 19. 16, 24. 18, 33. 19, 26. 22, 9, 23, 28, 42. 26,37. 35,5. 37,14,16. 38, 10,32. 40,9. 42, 13. 43, 16. 44, 29, 39. 45, 3, 24. 48, 20. 52, 21. 54, 6, 12. 56, 5. 58, 15f. 61, 16. 62, 11, 19. 95, 15ff. 118, 19. 134, 17. 213, 21. 214. 9. 216, 16, 26. 218, 2. 219, 31. 230, 9. 271, 26, 32. 272, 27. 274,3. 285,3 f. 305,6. 316, 5. 336, 4. 341, 28. 379, 13. 390, 8, 11. 393, 26. 395, 23. 400, 26. 401, 2. 404, 11. 424, 15. 429, 19. 516, 23. 532, 23. 553, 3, 16. 556, 25. 573, 24. 583, 28. 588, 35. Eve of the day 283, 17, 25, 31. 284, 6. 285, 19. 451, 33.

Juniper 362, 7, 9.
Wachthaus 383, 29. 429, 4. 550, 20. 551, 1. Waclthäuser 21,23. 134,20f. 183ff. 194f. 208ff. 227, 28. 230, 15. 284, 28. 287, 9. 31f. 313, 36. 314, 1, 10. 326, 16. 330, 385,18. 386, 19. 433, 4. 440,19. 443ff. 479, 9f. 492, 20. 503, 2. 525f. 530, 4, 19. 533, 30.
Watchman 383,32,34. 405,31. 433,12. 4523. 303, 21. 516, 13. 519, 15. 525, 19. 535, 17. 577, 11.
Dare 215, 9. 387, 32. 433, 19. 451, 26. 454, 7. 479, 11f. 505, 21. 516, 28. 521, 34. 566f. 576, 15. 577, 33. 582, 33. 587, 23.
Wagemann 364, 19, 587, 19f.
Cars 34, 19. 50, 29. 176, 18. 179, 29. 222, 2. 234, 23. 314, 14. 319, 13, 25f., 36. 320, 5. 338ff. 494, 10. See also Vehicle.
Walırsager 22,15. 37,31f. 53,17. 278,10. 299, 13, 20. 436, 10. 447, 11. 545, 14. 548, 14. 587, 8. Fortune Tellers 447, 11.
Wanderer (star) 53, 31.
Waraqa B. Naufal 248".
Warzigar 417, 32.
Ablution 16, 21. 35, 1. 298.
Wasqā 225, 7.
Water 46.1ff, 75, 22ff. 200, 10ff. 264f. 408, 38. 409, 11. 570, 6 f. Truncated Water 51, 1. Green water 419, 2. Living water 10, 40. 15, 14f. 20, 17. 26,33,35. 32,15. 33, 20f. 44, 31, 37. 49,1. 36. 27. 66, 16, 22, 67, 37. 70, 11, 73, 22ff. 89, 18. 92, 4. 96, 21. 123, 23. 144, 34. 200, 15. 266, 35. 280, 33. 281, 20, 21, 28. 285, 1. 13. 294, 4. 307ff. 319, 17. 359, 8. 368, 38. 377, 36. 419, 1. Red Water 418, 13. Black water 71,17. 72,27. 83, 22. 88, 7. 153, 28. 158, 21. 161, 33. 164, 23. 163, 31, 167, 38, 168, 171ff. 198, 24, 224, 16. 230, 24. 234, 7. 238, 7. 265, 29, 31. 266, 8. 277, 80f, 279, 24. 281, 27ff. 297, 32, 309, 39 f. 311, 6. 319, 22. 320, 29. 348, 36, 349, 15, 363, 40, 547, 29. Dust water 156,1. Smelly water 217, 1. 328,21. Turbid Water 15,14. 33,20. 69,19f. 77, 36. 89,14. 91,26ff. 97,29. 98,2f., 26. 103, 6f., 12. 106,23. 230,6. 266,35. 285,28,35. 294. 4. 299. 10. 303, 35. 308, 4. 309, 15. 310,6f. 458,4. Consuming (burning) Water 76,15. 310,21. Consuming, verrough water 67, 28. 155, 12. White Water 12,16. 32,33. See also heaven, Jordan, mystery, olive rod, staff. Water streams 21, 8. 67, 10. 97, 19. 292, 4. 327, 18, 440, 23, 479, 15f, 510, 32f, 527, 16f. 542, 32, 553, 28ff, 563ff.
Water floods 28,3. 47,36f. 142,22. 264,23,25. 268, 8, 30. 300, 8. 309, 26. 411, 3. Water mint 116, 21, 23.
Water Mist 199, 4.
Water source, large 172, 13.
Wazan 418, 4, 22.
Away 20, 3. 23, 2. 68, 10. 148, 10. 259, 24. 260, 13. 264, 7. 271, 26. 323, 3. 429, 17. 433, 9, 17. 473. 479, 4. 500, 28. 503, 19. 519, 11. 527, 30. 554, 23. 561, 18. 562, 4. 575, 31. 582,24ff. 586,10,12. The way of the believers 36, 26. Way of Life 26, 3. 254, 26. 255, 3, 32. 256, 2. 439, 14, 20. 473, 25f. 585, 23. See also Mystery, Path. 299, Incense 115, 31. 128, 8, 11. 23.
Wine 10, 1. 121, 29. 180, 28. 221, 16. 227, 12. 229, 21. 298, 1. 429, 11.
Wine Blossoms 128, 18.
Vintage 330, 34. 331, 2. 347, 26. 494, 37.
Vine (vine) 24, 14. 41, 36ff. 45, 10. 59, 39. 67, 21. 181, 27. 191, 3. 196, 13. 211, 1. 212, 10. 301, 11. 317, 33. 324, 34. 326f. 346, 7, 17, 386, 22f. 402, 7. 406, 22, 24. 428, 7. 429, 8. 551, 17f. 556, 27. 573, 19. First vine 326, 37. Ather-Wine-floor 404, 15; see also Ajar p. 597. Vines 129,32. 275,33. 302,24. 304, 29. 363, 13. 401, 15. 508, 28. 555, 18ff. Seven vines 401, 8.
World of Darkness 14,30,34. 33,3, 6. 148, 1f. 153, 31. 183, 27. 185, 23. 186, 33. 189, 2. 238, 7. 241, 31. 242. 249, 6. 253, 10. 256, 30. 280, 29. 473, 28. 511, 14. 572, 26, 28. Worlds of Darkness 53, 29. 143, 19, 33. 152, 33. 155, 3, 13. 158, 36. 159, 9. 168, 34. 170, 15. 277, 13, 26. 278, 36. 279, 7. 281, 18.27. Three Worlds of Darkness 142. 19. Lower Worlds of Darkness 68,6. You too, Lord, King, world of light, Mother. End of the world 46, 19. 48, 19. 107, 5. 179, 37. 243, 15. 267, 20. 284,19. 300, 21. 377,2 f. 408, 8. 418, 27, 33.
World Epochs 27. 45. 408. World Ocean see ocean, Being, great 258,5. Upper, Lower being 187, 16ff. 188 ob. Essence of life 403, 30.
Wind 200, 36ff. Four winds 15, 16. 33, 22. 203, 7, 25. 416, 30. 433, 30. 436, 13. 508, 18.
Waving (winking) 18,25. 35,31. 39,33. 57,4.

60, 10ff. 244,30. 252, 17. 278, 22. 484, 21. 510, 14. 540, 16. 545, 12. 576, 7. 594, 16f.
Winker 60, 9. 61, 11. 348, 14. 395, 28.
Arching 104, 12, 14, 18. 584, 28f.
Wolf 285, 14. 412, 32. 413, 2. Wolves 183, 2. 343, 31.
Cloud 380,24. 399,22. First cloud 327,14. Cloud of splendor 130,23,264,9,302,7. 546, 8. 561, 15. 562, 1. Clouds 401 f. Clouds of splendor 32, 33. See also Licltwolke, Nebelwolken.
Wort 289, 11 et seq. 291, 31. 292, 34. 295, 15
Word of Life 88, 19. 289, 11.

290. 3. 292. 18. 20. 311. 7. 346. 28. 365. 17. 412, 7, 17. 413, 9. 418. 433, 2. 444ff. 522. 548, 9. 549, 20. Great sign 275, 17. Pure sign 300, 4. 310, 16. 341,27. 385,42,564,27,572,4. Signs of life 19, 30. 196, 19. 230, 21. 255, 2. 273, 39. 274, 2. 283, 21, 30. 284,4. 285, 20. 286,31. 383, 10. 558, 26. 559, 5, 13. Secret Characters 164, 1. Pure characters 163,34f.
Witnesses 16,33ff. 35,15ff. 45,13. 284,13. 285f. 317.29 F. 397.19. 512.8F. 521.15f. 544.33. f. 345 unt. 593, 26.
Goats 228, 32.

Root of Darkness 313, 26. 319,22. Root interest 22, 19. 38, 3. 188, 29. 437, 31. 448, 14. of life 117,13. 134,11. Great root quotes 3, 28. of blessing 323, 11. Roots of Light Zither (Harp) 125, 15. 180, 29. 189, 12, 14.

66. 9.
Wüteriche, five 316, 41.

Zakhriā 51, 6. 213, 14. 219, 33.
Zandīqe 229, 18. See also Heretics.
Zatan (pillar) 347, 17.
Magic (magic work) 16, 33. 22, 23. 23, 30. 28. 36. 29. 22. 35. 15. 38. 7. 40. 10. 49. 23.

221, 15. 226, 13.
For zodiacal signs, see zodiac.
Customs officers 433, 12. 476, 36. 503, 1. 519, 16. 546. 20. 547,6. 551,29. 561,22. 564,15. 565,7. Oberzöllner 552,1, 21. 573,18. House of the Customs officers 21, 18. 509, 19. 512, 10. 517, 31. 320, 33. 533, 17, 21. 551, 34. 561, 22. 566, 14.

26. 50, 23, 31, 38. 52, 30, 33, 59, 33ff. 71, Anger 22, 30ff.
12. 76, 13,25. 78,11. 80,34ff. 120,29. 121, In the future 193,10.
18. 125,8. 130,27. 136,1. 154,17,36. 172, Tongue, third 384,31.
37. 178, 22. 226, 20ff. 228,1,24. 340, 24f. Second, the 78,25. 97,1ff. 241, 10,16. 242,11.

383, 36. 545, 5. See also Mystery.
Magicians 30, 15. 47, 4. 59, 32. 278, 9. 436, 9. 444ff. 548, 12. 595,38. See also Witches.
Magic Marbles 172, 6.
Spells 169, 29 ff.

290, 23. 291, 6, 29. 292. 293, 12. 294, 15. 335. 4. 346. 36. 356. 2. 380. 29. 381. 21. 440, 22. 495, 4. 497, 23. 501, 27. 556, 9f. 394, 9. The second 76, 21, 28. 332 24f.
Twin brother 9, 31.

Cedar 129, 30. 557. Cedars 62, 17. 179,2,11. Winking see waving.

263. 27. 409. 4.
Characters 20, 17. 48, 28. 58, 3. 157, 10. 177, 31. 181, 11, 184ff. 222, 14. 223, 23. 233, 19. 255, 9, 11. 283, 12. 286, 10, 27. 289, 33.

Twelve, the 13,28. 24,27. 101,7. 143,3. 330,2f. 430,37. 434,11. 437,5. 441,2. 506,4. 508, 17. 512, 4. 590, 13. See also star, Zodiac.

אand y, 1 and 17 are together.

NO9.
עודאמא 208^{2}.
עור; עריא 440^{5}.
אטמא 29^{1}.
איאר, איאר זיקא 15^{7}.
אִיתָהּ4 ב, Nry, NryO.
אכואת 504^{1}.
אלאהא4, 23ff. B382.
ND15 802.
אליכתא 234^{4}.
אלמא 6^{1}. 46^{4}. אלמיא 5^{3}.
крюк 1161.
עסתואר 203^{1}.
עופאניא 44^{3}. 194^{3}.
אפראייא 413^{5}.
кр акру 3011.

/y 12°.
עריא siehe עור.
אראדאייא 136^{3}.
אשכארהא 416^{1}.
Nony 1521.

באיואזיג 232^{3}.
ND3 242.
בראתא 12^{9}.
באראתא 445^{1}.

גיביא 21^{1}. 226^{2}.
גאראדיא 139^{4}.
канру 3011.
גאייך 413^{1}.
גאורא 143^{9}.

גוארא 139^{3}.
גימרא 158^{3}.
גינזא XI.I. 3234.
גאנזיברא 150^{3}.
ND 197°.
גיציא 428^{7}.
גורמא 445^{1}.

рут 205, 10.
727 by08.
דאגנא 415^{1}.
דוד—מרודיא 228^{1}.
דאריא 431^{1}.
דניניא 86^{4}.

הדר 160^{3}.

האג 258^{4}.
היותא 86^{5}.
הופיא 194^{2}.
חלי 434^{2}.
האלתא 208^{3}.
הילתא 233^{2}.
הילבונא 151e.
הומבאריא 203^{2}.
DDF 2615.
המץ 291^{1}.
הומריא 53^{4}.
האפיקיא מיא 67^{2}.
הצב 85^{2}. האצביא 461^{2}.
הרף 192^{3}.

ואסקא 225^{3}.

זאבא 29^{5}.
זאהריריא 93^{5}.
זאינא 413^{4}.
זקר 254^{3}.
זארנאניא 435^{1}.
זארנטא 570^{4}.
זאריז 295^{1}.
F271 4341.
זרף 206^{4}.

NDD 321".
טיפא 184^{1}.
טרטל 428^{10}.
טאשתא 413^{6}.

יהר 440^{5}.

כולאזתא 228^{5}.
כאנננא 158^{1}.
בכיפותא Andng 934.
כיצאת 9^{3}.
כרץ 61^{2}.
כאראצטיאניא 594^{3}.
כושטא 5^{12}.

לופאתא 84^{3}.

מהארא 431^{3}.
מלאך 6^{8}. מאלאכיא 4, 20.
מאלכיא 4, 23. 6^{2}.
מאנא 65^{1}.
рырногу 1914.
מרארא 158^{3}.
מאויבא 428^{5}.
מארנאנותא 120^{5}.
מירווא 415^{3}.
משאשביא, משאשיא 520^{3}.

נבז 519^{2}.
נאגיא 106^{5}.
נהימתא 246^{4}.
ND10") 248".
נאנדבא 121^{3}.
NOD "83".
NPDN 4150.
D) 1114.
נאצבא 453^{9}.
юру, крн 1411.
Now") 305#.

סיבלא 542^{3}.
Di3ND 117*.
מאסיהפא, סיהופתא 194^{5}.
NonD 70. notd 44.
סיטרא 184^{7}.
אסיק, סלק 25^{8}.
סינגיאניא 136^{3}.
ND17ND 189".

אorю06*.
פהש 588^{1}.
715 4832 120, 2591. 1 2 2263. 74.
404^{5}. 456^{2}.
פלונתא 361^{1}.
פרא 19^{5}.
פירוניא, פארוניא 104^{3}.
פירצא 382^{5}.
פארצינדיא 189^{4}.
פירושתא 519^{2}.
No 251°
פרישאיא 215^{1}. 235^{5}. 280^{2}. 318^{1}. 323^{2}. 415^{2}. 445^{2}.
פרישותא 6^{4}.
צלא 382^{4}.
צאר 433^{2}.
צרא 109^{6}.

קובלא 194^{5}.
קארישא 136^{2}. 194^{4}.
קארישתא 80^{4}.
קאיים 8^{2}.
קילבא 436^{5}.
א5p 5841.
קופתא 103^{7}.
кар 324.
א"ур8-
PP 202".
קירקנא 128^{5}.

רנימא 17^{3}.
רדי, רדא 24^{4}.
ריטנא 321^{5}.
ראכתא 416^{1}.
רומאיא 49^{3}.
DD7, NDD " 7 2081.

משכילים 225^{6}.

תושביהתא 55^{2}.
крэк2 108*.
N3W 331.
שוהבא 213s.
5nw 1987.
שהר 258^{5}.
אשי, שואליא 119^{5}.
55 2 294.
P) $ 445.
DD 2 231 ". 340°.
שיריאנא 182^{2}.

ban 5°
onn 321.
תיארותא 251^{4}.
תילבוניא 236^{7}. 444^{1}
תאנא 151^{3}.
ndn 1914.

Corrections and supplements.

P. 4,5f. The King of Light is also mentioned in some other pieces, see register.

P. 464. One can also see here as a spatial world and in singular To understand the senses, see p. 53.

P. 73, 10. Perhaps: was the great king of light of glory.

pp. 85, 25, should read: "he expanded" (to m0W); that fits badly. Perhaps pNANNwy can be read: "he rubbed himself up" (to pNW).

P. 103. I hesitated for a long time, whether not in z. 26-28 the firmament subject was on- instead of Ptahil and by the high throne Ptahil's throne was meant, but I have finally decided for the other view. To express 'high throne' for the The "high" tire of the firmament p. 104,15. Ptahil's throne has been to think above the firmament.

P. 107, 6 read: distributed the years evenly, that none ...

P. 115, 1. Also a translation , "Let us not call Adam Uthra" pact.

P. 1203. The translation p. 123,4f. is incorrect. It must read: ,,and ver- they shared their share among themselves. They divided their share among themselves." Therefore, one may do not rely on this position.

P. 125, 2. Instead of prinD, perhaps porn is to be read: who swear in lies.

P. 1273. "At best, one could also understand NEDN in the sense of "letting know", ,,knowledge" in the sense of"having sexual intercourse" (U7", idü).

P. 1290. Before ,,here" is missing a comma.

P. 1328. Read: Neuhebr. Wörterb. I.

P. 142, 15f. Read: the living, first teaching.

P. 152, 33. I now conclude with Brandt, Schr., p. 1422 NDy in the sense of ,waiting time, for a long time", although I can not explain it etymologically. After that, this post to translate: ,,a long wait is ahead of you." P. 153, 21f. gives such a sense: .If you hugged me, I'd waste a lot of time over it." P. 166,6: ,,You are still standing a (long) waiting time before."

P. 208,7. The cosmic omphaloi often took the form of a beehive (see the illustrations at RosCRER, Omphalos 1913 and New Omphalos Studies 1915), nevertheless, this sense is probably not to be thought of.

P. 240,11. Maybe prrnne pENE71 also refers to no1w D1W, after that: In them grew, through them was illuminated. Aabn'nphy Aewnektnys refers to the one with whom it was clothed and by whom it was strengthened.

P. 250,11. Text 261, 13, 17, 24; 262, 3; 271, 13 in spite of the Var. דניהויא probably for "have shone up, appeared", see 261, 11; 271, 6 (Var.), 11.

P. 264, 11f. and otherwise. NND'D UN7D is more correct ,"the lip(s) warped" than ,,the Lips tips".

pp. 272,21f. Besser: You are the first call that life called from its nature.

P. 278,16. NINT is perhaps originally an incorrect spelling for NDND (in the two words are very similar to each other), which are then written next to NDND in the text got into it. After that: some have a hundred jaws and incisors in the Mouth.

S. 323 ob. Der Sinn wiirde etwas glatter werden, wenn man fir Z. 2 und 9 zu Gesicht bekommt- und das zu einem ganz besonderen Anlass . (zuvorkommend: zuvorkommend: zuvorkommend: zuvorkommend: zuvorkommend: zuvorkommend: zuvorkommend) (bezw. die Varr.) als איתראנררון auffaBte: ,die Schlafenden sollen ausgerittet werden und aufstehen - ,Sie sollen aufgerittelt werden.' Aber einer (rr) fir ist unwahrscheinlich trotz מירשימינין Joh. 74, 6, auch beachte zu 345, 10, wo eine Umwandlung ins Passiv nicht m6glich ist.

S. 334, 16ff. Die Verba konnten an sich auch 3. f. singen. statt 2. m. sein und sich aufציצוכתא beziehen, doch zeigt das Folgende, da.6 die Worte des Mana geltenn.

S. 343, 9. Im Text ist קארמאיא zu streichen.

S. 344, 23 Lügen: Ein Kranz gleich dem reinen Kranz.

S. 358, 6f. und 369, 25ff. sind die Perfekten kaums als Wunschauflockerungen aufzufassen. Das Perfekte ist in diesem Sinne im Aramäischen selten, im Syrischen fast nur auf הוא beschrankt.

S. 416, Anm. 1, Z. 4 liegt ראבתא statt : ראבאת

S. 424, 4 Lügen: in ihrem Gewande.

S. 433, 11. 436, 8. 519, 3, 16. 535, 15. גזירייא גזיריא draht besser mit ,,Bittel* oder ,Hischert, גזירבממאייא גזירבאטיא (so etwas zu lesen) mit ,,V6gte" zu iibersetzen.

S. 444, 4 Lügen ,,scheiden" statt ,,schied".

S. 471, 24 Lügen: bereitete keinen Fehler.

.S. 508, 25 Lügen: fliegen dahin wie Minuten, siehe S. 106%.

S. 522f. איתיב ,sitzest" (zu Z. 14, 20 usw.) pa.Bt nicht. Wenn es nicht direkt zu zugandern ist, dann ist vielleicht איתוב zugandern ist, zu lesen nach der Var. תיתאב.

S. 578, 21f.; 579, 11f. usw. Ich habe reif gewogen, ob die Worte הין מולית הינאתאיהון עביר אמאבאר אבריא nicht von der aufsteigenden Seele gesprochen werden: ,Wenn ich mich unter sie beebe, tun sie (mir) alles Erdenkliche an.* Ich konnte jeden zu keinem abschließenden Urteil gelangt. Fir diese Bestätigung spricht, dab weiterhin אלית fir אזליה steht, das nur 1. pers. sein kann und vielleicht ursprünglich in allen Strophen gestanden hat, fur die andere, da in der sechsten und siebten Strophe der vorausgehenden von den Dienern des Planeten gesprocheneYers fehlt und danach dieser Vers nicht eine Antwort darauf sein kann.

Mit Rucksack auf Ev. Mt. 23, 35 hebe ich hervor, dab Hibil S. 257, 31; 268, 9 ,der Gerechte* genannt wird.

Reference to the history of religion

published on behalf of the Religionsgejdidtlicen Kommijjion at the Gejelljdhaft der Wijjenjdhaften in Göttingen.

Gemeinjamer Verlag der Firmen: J. C. Hinrids'sde Buchhandlung in Leipzig and Dandenhoed & Rupredt in Göttingen.

The listed band numbers are those of the order of opinion. The ift collection is also divided into the following 12 groups: 1. Europe. 2. Altjemitijdes and Agnptijdes. 3. Judaism. 4. Gnojticism einjdl. mandäijde religion. 5. Jslam. 6th Jran. 7th Jndien, except 8th Buddhatum (joweit nidt in group 9). 9. China, Japan, Mongols. 10. Afrita. 11. America. 12. The primitives of the Südjee and the jüdl. Ajiens.

(Vol. 1 -3 originally, in the no longer continued Sammlung ‚Religionsverkunden der Dölker".)

1. The religion of the Batak. A paradigm for animijtijdhe religions of the indijcen archipelago. Don Lic. Johann Warned. With 4 Fig. VI, 136 pp. 4°. 1909. (Group 12.) include. 6, b. 8,50

2. Amida Buddha unjere 3ufludt. Certificates of recognition of the japanese Suthavati Buddhism. Don D. H. Haas. From 12 Onwards-education. VIII, 185 pp. 4°. 1910. (Group 9.) go. 8.50 geb. 11

‚Haas has worked with a thorough, many-sided study based on Budh, durdh that he gave us a clear insight into strange teachings in the distant Ojten verjdafft, jowohl der Wiljenjdhaft, as audh der Mijjion, has a valuefull service." Beitjdr. f. MijjionBfunbe, 1911.

3. The religion of the Tweer in Siid:Togo. Don D. J. Spieth. XVII, 316 pp. 4°. 1911. (Group 10.) include. 14, b. 17

4. Dīghanikāṇa. The Budh of the langen Terte of the Buddhijt. Canons of Selected by Prof. Dr. R. Otto Sranke, LXXX, 360 p. 4°. 1913. (Group 8.) include. 19, b. 22

‚Ik besluit deze mijn aankondiging van F.'s work met de verzekering dat ik ar niets dan lof voor heb." Prof. H. Kern im ‚Museum" 1914, 10.

5. Songs of the Rgveda. Edited by Prof. Dr. A. Hillebrandt. XII, 152 pp. 4°. 1913. (Group 7.) include. 7, b. 9,50

‚The broadest and most valuable styles of the large collection can be found united here in a forgetful superjection, which is considered the rejection of long-standing Sor- Identifications may apply. The reid-containing notes increase the value of the budget nidt only for the wider audience, yondern aud for the narrower Şadgenojjen des Derfajjers. Ş For the present volume, we have all Urjade dantbar too jein and fõnnnen highly recommend him to everyone." A. B. Sdjröber, in B. beutjdj. Biteraturztg. 1914, 3.

6. Prajña Pāramitā. The sinfulness of knowledge, Nam indijmen, tibetijden and dinefjden sources of Mar Wallejer. VIII, 164 PP. 4°. 1914. (Group 8.) include. 7.50 b. 10

7. The hijtorijden sources of Shinto:religion. From ancient Japan. and Chinefijmen overjoyed and cleared. Don Prof. Dr. K.Slorenz, X, 470-p. 4°. 1919. (Group 9.) include. 20, b. 23

‚Fier will provide a meeting-oriented introduction to the altreligiöje Japan has made a wide selection of the most important religious documents commanded. In-depth, jorgefältigte remarks suffer the Derständnis. Nad-

the work of Florence da ijt, it will be a favorite of anyone who Religion wants to talk and forjæen, to be the sun pit of more in-depth knowledgenuken.", Beitjdjr. f. Miftionsfunde 1922, 10.

8. The Srautajūtra of the Āpajtamba. From the Sanstrite überjekt of Prof. Dr. W. Caland. 1.-7. Bud. IV, 270 pp. 4°. 1921.
(Group 7.) include. 12, b. 14,50

(Bud 8 - 15 eridien 1924 at the Koningl. Akademie van Wetenschappen in Amsterdam.)

,Cine has created a complete overview of a wide-ranging source for the- jtändnis des indijden Opferlultes, of high religious value." Mund). New issues Madhridhten b. 6. Sept. 1921.

"For the religionshijtorijdh Lejer ift not only the content in the the whole is important, and the detail is important." Theol. Aiteraturzig. 1921.

9. The Kpelle. A Negro tribe in Liberia. Presented on the groundlocation of nativesberidhten. - With 2 Nadh carriers: Terte in der Golafprade und Kpelle-Beiträge von h. Rohde. Nebjt einer Kartenjfizze. Prof. Dr. Diedrid Wejtermann. XVI, 552 pp. 4°. 1921. (Group 10.) include. 25, b. 28

„. . .These few facts may serve to indicate the interesting ethnological this is a very valuable book. It may be confidential recommended to the attention of all serious students of anthropology."
Prof. Frazer in ,,The Times", May 25, 1922.

,This work can be used as a klajjijd for the jammed Dölkerkunde, nidt only for Africa, both because of the ydlidten clear style and penetrating piydologijden Derjtändnijjes, as due to the accuracy of the Nadridten and the new-a kind, meijterhaften method of shooting. Welcome to the World- jonderes has been dedicated. Dod can be found on the Wirtjdaft and about Samilie and Gefellidaft auslide Nadridhten and Terte. Auszeidnet and the model is the short presentation of the languages as a means of expression of the spiritual life."
R. Th. Preuß im Biter. Bentralblatt 1922, 20.

, A source work that has so far been supported by nidts in the field of Afritanifics be jtellt tann."
Stoloniale Runbsdau 1921, 3.

10. Religion and mnthology of the Uitoto. Tert recordings and Beobadtungen bei einem Indianerftamm in Kolumbien. Introduction, Terte and Wörterbudh. With 3 Tafeln. Prof. Dr. K. Th. Preuj. VI, 760 pp. 4°. 1921 - 1923. (Group 11.) go. 34, b.

37 Erjdjien in 2 parts. A binding for both parts[ammen 1,30.

,Cin Sorjderwerk erjten Ranges, of great general. Scope."
Border Messengers bom 26. Aug. 1922.

„Religions and languages can be found in the same great Dant obligated."
Deutfdje Biteraturzcitung 1922, 26.

,The religious material far exceeds all expectations. Which Analnje of the myths belongs to the grateful, the Derf. offers us. Either of The in-depth study offered every Religionshijtoriker, such as aum to anyone who takes it with the Jeddite of Menjdheit, the nuhbringendjten and we are grateful for all the studies that we have done of the outsized workforce of the Derf. thank."
Liter. Jentralblatt 1922, 25.

12. The Rigveda. Reviewed and explained by Prof. Dr. K. Srd. Geldner. 1st Part: 1st- 4th Eiederkreis. VI, 442 pp. 4°. 1923. go. 28, b. 31

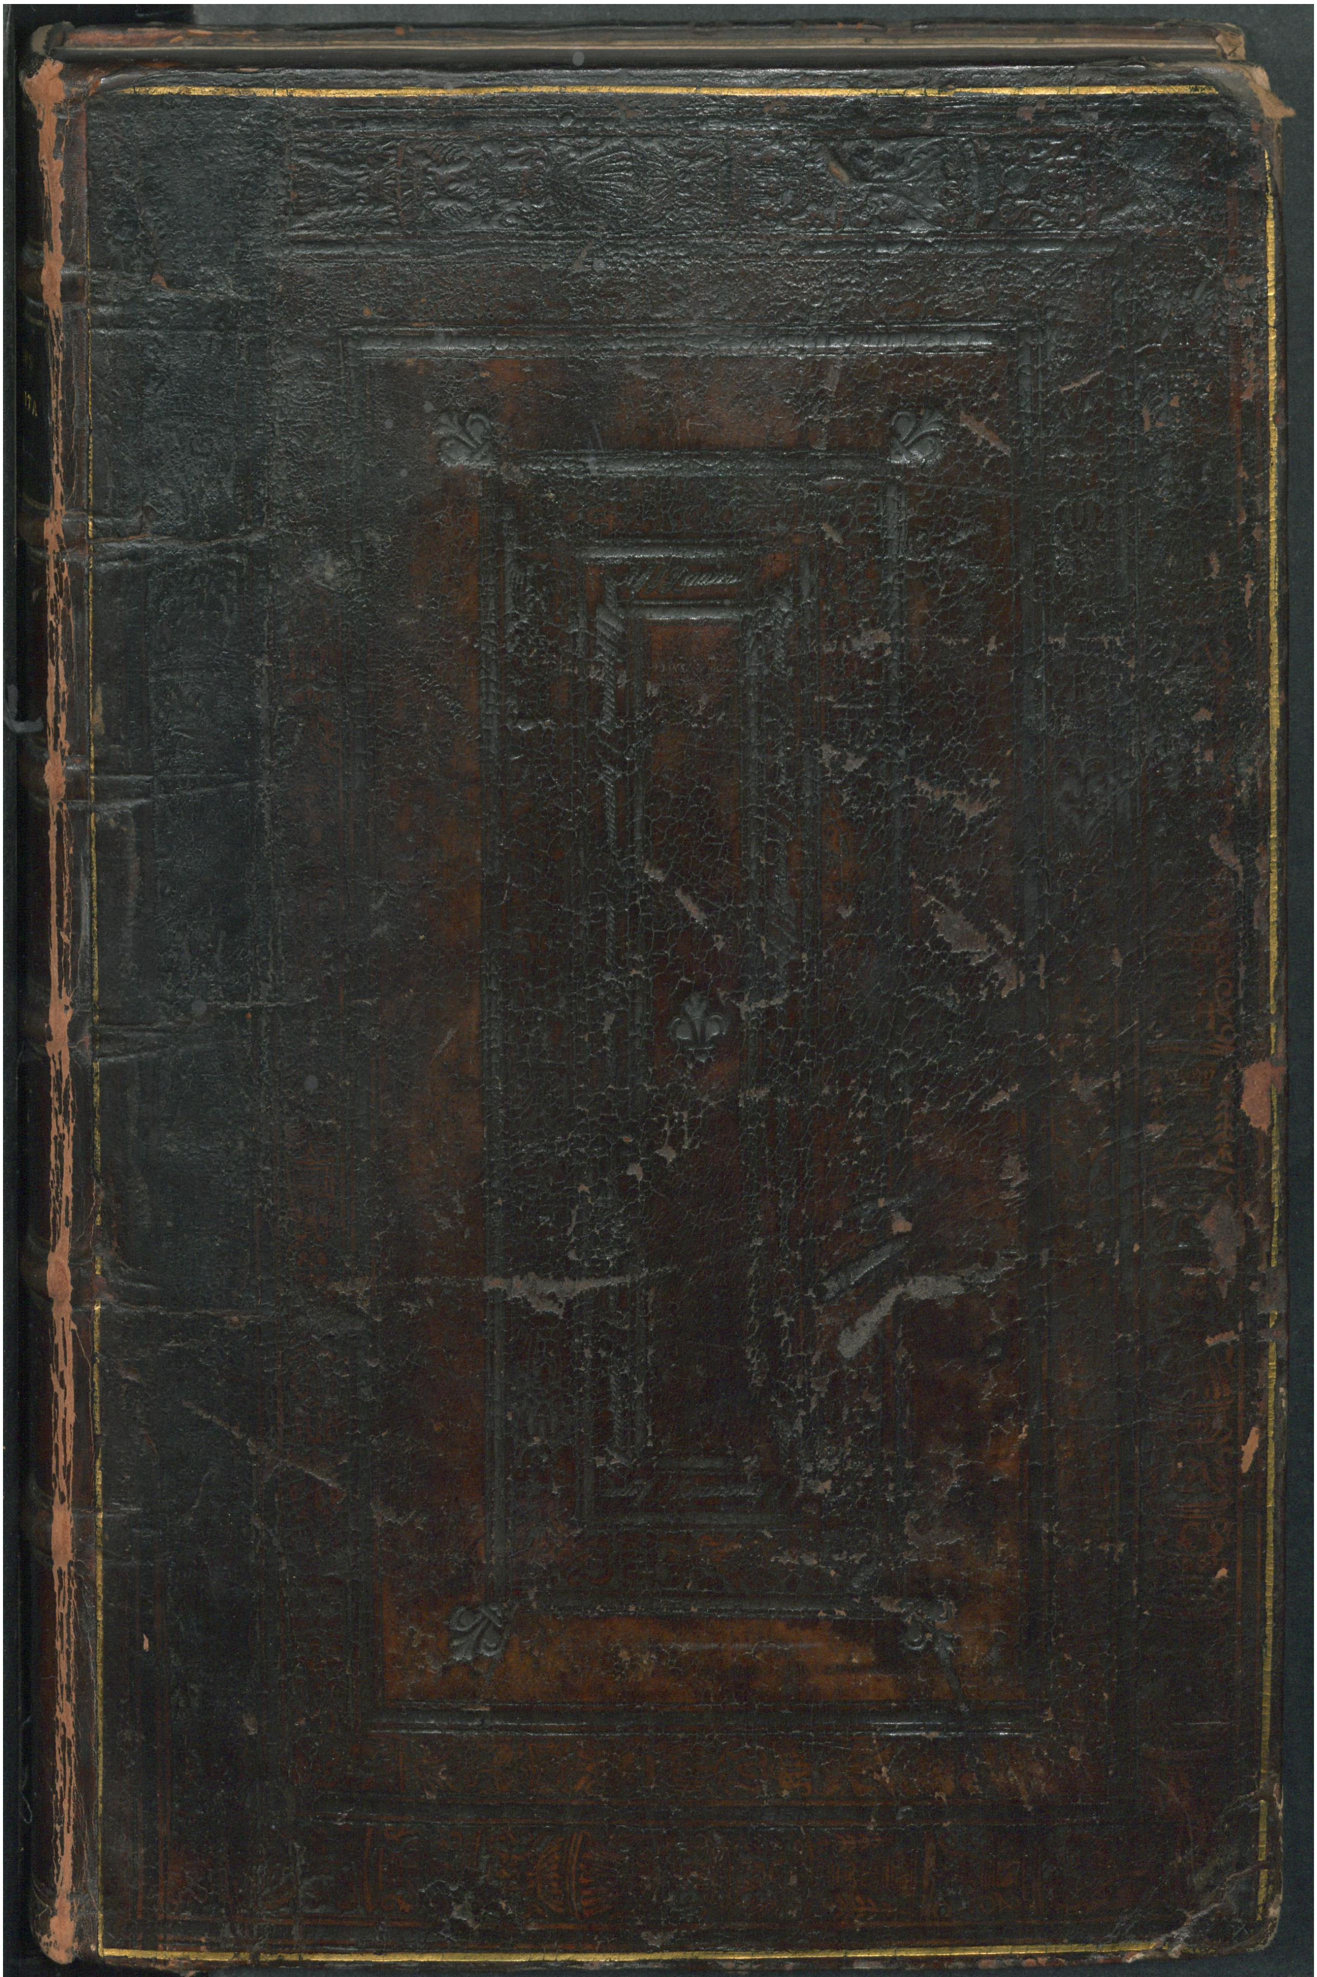
,The publication of the first volume of Prof. G.'s annotated translation (and the notes are not the less importand part) is a most welcome event."
Royal Asiatic Society, 1925.

Fubert & Go. G.M.B.S. Göttingen.

Warning!
This translation is not a professional translation,
it might have some mistakes.
I hope you enjoyed the first and only
English translation of the Ginza Raba.
For more translated texts join our telegram group.
t.me/mandaen_friends
Greetings may god bless you all!

Mandaean friends

TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH
BY RAM AL SABIRY



Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

DIONYSIUS
AREOPAGITA
OPERA
PARIS
1515

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

DIONYS ARIOPAG

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

1773/D

FROM THE LIBRARY OF WILLIAM MORRIS
KELMSCOTT HOUSE
HAMMERSMITH

P

393 Dionysius Areopagita. Opera (cum Scholiis, &c. edidit J. Clichtovaeus), title with large woodcut device (coloured in yellow), and woodcut initials, old calf (rebacked) Paris. H. Stephanus, 1515

3/15/-

Dionysius
38/

a/-

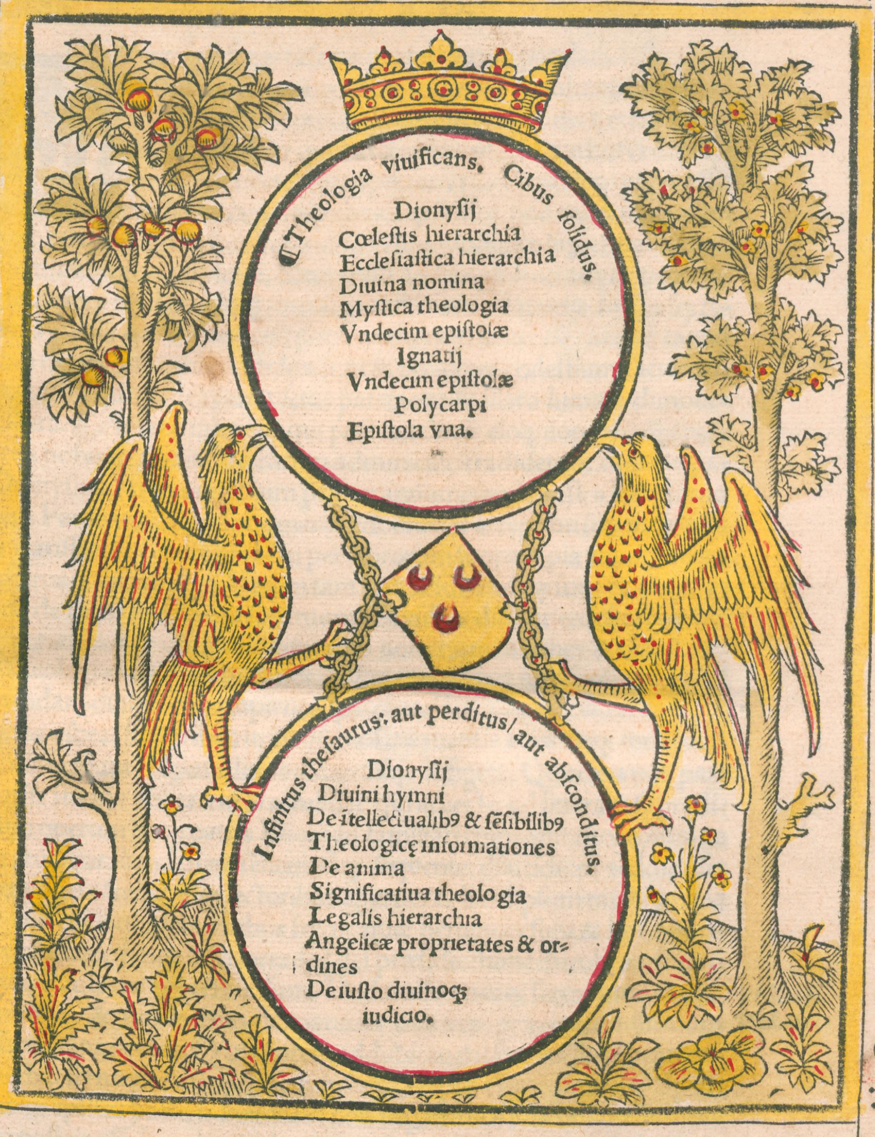
Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

2 J 372

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

¶HAEC.SECVNDARIA.EST.ET.CASTIGATISSIMA.EX.OFFICINA.ÀEMISSIO.:



¶Theologia viuificans. Cibus ſolidus.

Dionyſij
Cœleſtis hierarchia
Eccleſiaſtica hierarchia
Diuina nomina
Myſtica theologia
Vndecim epiſtolæ
Ignatij
Vndecim epiſtolæ
Polycarpi
Epiſtola vna.

Infinitus theſaurus: aut perditus/ aut abſconditus.

Dionyſij
Diuini hymni
De ītellectualibꝰ & ſēſibilibꝰ
Theologicę informationes
De anima
Significatiua theologia
Legalis hierarchia
Angelicæ proprietates & ordines
De iuſto diuinoqꝫ iudicio.

¶Inſuꝑ addūtur. De hęreſibus. De fide catholica. De cōtēptu mūdi. nō habita.
Cum puritate Religione Pietate Deuotione Humilitate Reuerentia Attentione & quæqꝫ
alia ſacra ſcripta Tractentur Legantur Seruentur:
Ad IHESV paternæ lucis/ talium munerum & authoris & largitoris/ honorē.

tu
pí
lia cl ob
m at co te qu
íul
ín
qu
ra ſtí
ha
ill
va
ua
ct
co
tã
de re
m ní
eſ
tri eq
oc
co cís
pi
ſo

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

¶REVERENDO IN CHRISTO PATRI AC
domino/D. Guillelmo Briconneto/Epiſcopo Lodouenſi digniſſimo: Iudocus Clichtoueus/ humillimam S D.

QVi templi fores reſerant/vt introitum pandant volentibus abſtruſa ſacra contueri/ſacratiſſime Præſul: non modicum præſtant illis adminiculum/ quo ſui deſiderij compotes ſiant. Haud aliter qui ſanctos elucidarūt authores diuinorum myſteriorum interpretes/vt illorū peruia magis eſſet intelligentia/perceptibiliorqꝫ ſenſus: non contemnendam tulerunt opem cupientibus recondita in illis altiſſimæ ſapientiæ arcana pio mentis obtutu conſpicere. Sicut enim ad templorum adyta penetraliaqꝫ ſecretiora nō datur cuiq̃ introitus/niſi valuis adapertis foribuſqꝫ recluſis: ita plane nec deiloquorū patet authorum ſententia/ aut ad manū obuiaqꝫ fit legēti/in quibus abdita ſunt & occultata cœleſtium ſacrorum munia: niſi ſit qui viam aperiat/ſeras patefaciat/& illato lumine dimoueat obſcura. ¶At vero inter eos qui poſt ſanctorū eloquiorum ſcriptores cœleſtia nobis myſteria/ litterarum adminiculo tradiderunt/diuinus pater Dionyſius Areopagita cum primis annumerandus eſt/ a beatiſſimo quidem Paulo veræ fidei ſacramenta edoctus: & acceptum ſupernæ lucis iubar clariſſimo radiorum iactu per librorum ſuorum pia monumenta in poſteros tranſfundens. Verum tam ardua ſublimiaqꝫ ſunt eius opera: quibus de ſacris cœleſtium ſpirituum ordinibus diſſerit/eccleſiaſticæ hierarchiæ functiones aſſignat/diuinorum nominum rationes/& demū myſticæ theologiæ dignitatem eminentiſſime pandit: vt non facile cuiuis ad hauriendam diuinā illam ſapientiā pateant. Perſtringitur enim eximijs illis quos vibrat fulgoribus imbecilla noſtræ mentis acies: neqꝫ intrepidū valemus oculum fulgentiſſimis illius radijs infigere. Quocirca non paruam pijs ſtudijs vtilitatem is attuliſſet: qui adiecto ad litteram ſupradictorum operum beati patris Dionyſij familiari commentario/ continuo contextu litteralem ſeriem ſententiāqꝫ ſequente: dilucidiora reddidiſſet tā ſacra opera/benigniſqꝫ lectoribus apertiora. Et idipſum michi perſuadens/non meis quidem viribus fretus: quæ pertenues ſunt & hoc munere rite obeundo longe inferiores/ſed dei præſidio: hunc elucubrandi commentarij laborem aggreſſus ſum. Declaratio namqꝫ ſermonum domini illuminat/ & intellectum dat paruulis. eius item præceptum/lucidum eſt: illuminans oculos. Quis autem addubitauerit ſacratiſſima beati patris verba/ ſermones eſſe dei: & in ipſis præcepta vitæ contineri? Spero equidem ipſum patrem luminum non negaturum ſubrutilam infirmis oculis noſtris affulgentiam/ ad exhibenda paulo apertius in hiſce libris contenta diuinorum myſteriorum ſpectacula: qui vberiore clariſſimæ lucis iubare ſacram authoris mentem impleuit. ¶Nec me arbitretur quiſpiam: tam arduum & difficile munus meo ipſius delectu aut arbitrio ſolum ſuſcepiſſe. Non enim tantæ ſum temeritatis aut arrogantioris au-

Pſal. 118.
Pſal. 18.

daciæ: ꝙ tam graue negocium meo solius sensu aut iudicio aggredi vnq̄ tentassem. Sed assiduis & crebris multorū & grauium virorum impulsibus ad id attentandum sum permotus: qui forte plus æquo de me sentiebant/ & michi plus æquo tribuebant/ dolebantq; maiorem in modum: tantum diuinæ sapientiæ thesaurum nullo reserante delitescere/ & tam diu latebroso in codice claudi. Quibus cum frequentius fuissem reluctatus/ michi nimirum conscius ꝙ tantæ moli ferendæ essem longe impar: improbę tamen illorum importunitati/ sed sanctę & piæ tandem manus victas dedi/ moremq; gessi. Neq; itidem superuacuum hunc laborem nostrum fore putarunt/ ꝙ scholia exactissime elaborata superioribus annis huic nouæ translationi in quam paramus commentarium/ subiuncta videantur. quandoquidem illa/ certorum duntaxat locorum intercisa annotatione explicant sententiam: reliquam autem litteralis cōtextus partem/ explanationis luce destitutam relinquunt. & præter huiusmodi annotamenta certis affixa locis: efflagitant impensius complures familiarem explicationem & continuam/ toti litteræ non intercise/ non mutilatim sed integre respondentē. Igitur nos persuasionibus eorum victi/ pro facultate nostra impræsentiarum talem continuam tentauimus expositionem: obnixe cupientes vt illa ad hæc sanctissima diuinę sapientiæ antistitis opera clarius intelligenda præstet adiumentum/ & pios legentium animos ad deum cum veneratione/ pietate & religione sacratius colendum: quodam quasi vehiculo subuehat/ erigat/ promoueat. Enimuero hic sacratissimi patris & omnium qui litteraria nobis de deo diuinisq; mysterijs monumenta pararunt/ præcipuus est finis: vt ex illis deus cognoscatur syncærius/ cognitus ametur ardentius/ amatus autem: in spiritu & veritate colatur/ adoretur/ & laudetur vberius. ¶ Porro cum variæ sint operum beati Dionysij traductiones: eam præsertim quæ Ambrosij est monachi Camaldulensis/ delegi nostro efflagitato commentario declarandā: ꝙ cæteris emunctior sit & tersior/ quā & Faber Stapulēsis olim præceptor noster/ diligenti recognitione & scholijs suis reddidit illustriorem. Vtriusq; autem horum/ subnectendam huic nostræ epistolā sedulo curaui: vt ex vtraq; cōstet liquidius præstita amborū ea in re opera atq; elaboratio. Hos vero quantuloscunq; labores nostros tuæ grauissimæ paternitati dicatos volui Antistes amplissime: non solum ꝙ pridem de me pluribus beneficijs optime merita sit/ sed & ꝙ eam nouerim cum sacrarum disciplinarū omniū/ tum operū beatissimi Dionysij q̄ studiosissimā/ & in illa syncæriore animo affectā vel maxime. Neq; id quidem præter rationem. Non enim potest qui præceptorē egregiū (Paulū dico apostolum) vnice colit: & illius tam diuinum discipulum propemodum sui magistri æmulū & assectatorem non colere atq; obseruare. Atqui diuiniloqui Pauli studio addictissimā esse tuā insignē āplitudinē/ negaturū putauerim neminē/ qui cōmētarios nouos in epistolas eius/ tui grauissimi nominis auspicijs iāpridē in lucē fœliciter æditos esse agnouerit. Iure igit̃ & Dionysiana pręcipuo & singulari affectu āplexatur opera obaltiſſimæ doctrinæ cum Paulo germanitatem ac affinitatem/ tua eximia præſtantia. meritoqꝫ illi nuncupantur & in Dionyſium commentarij: vt eiuſdem tui nominis authoritate & diuini præceptoris & eiuſdem diſcipuli monumenta legantur iam & enodatiora & detectiora. Itaqꝫ ſit hæc noſtra (velim) lucubratio tuæ præſtātiſſimæ dignitati accepta: & pro ampliſſima in me tua beneficentia vel quantulumcunqꝫ gratitudinis argumentū. legentibus autem omnibus vtilis/ atqꝫ ad percipiendam diuinorum ſenſorum intelligentiam accommoda. Vale litterarum & virtutum decus. Ex Pariſijs/ anno 1514.

¶ Ambroſij oratoris & monachi/ Camaldulenſis ordinis prefatio: in tranſlationem librorum ſancti Dionyſij Areopagitę.

NObilitatem generis/ diuitiarūqꝫ copiā magni Dionyſij: Athenienſium concilium/ cuius per electionē particeps erat oſtendit aperte. Nam vt diuinus nos Lucas in ſcribēdis apoſtolorum actibus docuit: Areopagitarum fuerat vnus. Cū enim apoſtolus Paulus Athenas petijſſet: atqꝫ cū philoſophis tum Epicureis/ tum Stoicis verba feciſſet/ CHRISTVMqꝫ ipſis dn̄m noſtrū/ mortuorū reſurrectionē/ et generale iudiciū prędicaſſet: captus/ atqꝫ ad Areopagitas ductus/ prędicatione ſua nonnullos etiam ibi cōfeſtim lucratus/ ad veritatis lucem reduxit. qui & recedētem ſecuti ſunt. In his Dionyſium quoqꝫ Areopagitam fuiſſe/ mulieremqꝫ Damarim nomine/ alioſqꝫ cum ipſis nōnullos tradidit. Ego autē nō arbitror abſqꝫ cauſa pręter cęteros qui tunc diuina Pauli prędicatione crediderunt: Dionyſium a ſcriptore/ qui ſpiritu dei mouebatur/ tātūmodo ipſa etiā addita dignitate nominatū fuiſſe. Areopagita enim (inquit) Dionyſius fuit. ſed credo ita factū: quia & ſapientia pręcipuus fuit/ & vitę apud Athenienſes ſanctiſſimę. Nō enī quoſlibet: ſed genere/ diuitijs/ vitęqꝫ ſanctimonia primos atqꝫ pręclaros ad cōciliū illud deligebāt. Et antiquitus quidē/ vt Androcio in ſecūdo rerū atticarū libro refert: ex nouē primis magiſtratibus/ nouē primi deligebātur. poſtea vero Areopagitarū numerus vſqꝫ ad quīquagita virū cōcreuit: primarij tamē ſemper viri (vt diximus) eligebātur/ vt etiā Philochorus in tertio rerū atticarū ſcribit. Erat autē pagus Martius extra vrbē Athenas/ vbi Areopagitarū cōciliū: leges contenentiū/ cauſas cognoſcebat. quas oēs Androcio in primo/ & Philochorus in ſecūdo & tertio rerū atticarū enumerat. Ita & diuinus Paulus quaſi nouos deos prędicās: a fatuatæ ſapiētiæ ſtudioſis ad Martiū trahitur pagū. Sed pręcipuus inter eos/ veritatiſqꝫ amator diuus hic Dionyſius: ītegro ſuo Pauli prędicationē iudicio cōfirmauit. atqꝫ ilico inani Areopagitarū grauitate relicta: lucē prędicationis Pauli dn̄m noſtrū IHESVM CHRISTVM ſecutus eſt. Nam etſi Romani tēporibus illis īperio ſuo domuerāt oīa: Atheniēſes tamē atqꝫ Lacedemonios legibus/ moribuſqꝫ ſuis libere viuere ꝑmiſerūt. Vnde Martij pagi con

Actuū. 17

Dionyſius
Damaris

Androcio

philochorꝰ

ciliū:dignitatē adhuc ſuā retinebat.Ita igitur veritati iā adhęrēs Diony ſius:primū a Paulo ſalutis dogmata percepit. Deinde maximo Hiero-theo(vt ipſe ait)ſecūdo vſus eſt pręceptore. & demū (vt in ſeptimo apoſtolicarū inſtitutionū libro ſcribitur)epiſcopus a Paulo Athenienſiū qui Dionyſius credebāt ſtatuitur. Huius beati Dionyſij: Dionyſius alter ātiquiſſimus corīthiorū Corinthiorū epiſcopus meminit.& Polycarpus: in quadā eius ad Athe Polycarpꝰ nienſes epiſtola.Sed rectā magnāqꝫ ſanctiſſimi huius viri doctrinam mi rari oēs maxime debēt:vt qui traditiōes eccleſię inculpabiles/& exquiſitā diſciplinā nouerit/nichil coinquinatū/nichil impurū/ex adulteratis philo ſophorū dogmatibus immiſcēs.Et pleriſqꝫ vt miſeris cōdolendū eſt:qui propter ſuā ignorantiā/ acerbos ſe iudices atqꝫ cenſores prębuerunt. qui acuta cęteroru inuenta prout ignorātia ſua dictat acerbe carpētes:cū legāt quę non intelligunt/ſcriptorē ſtatim condēnāt. neqꝫ eos pudet/ ꝙ nec redarguere/nec emēdare poſſunt:quę male putant cōſcripta.Ad ſeipſos ergo irā ſuā cōuertant:ſibiipſis acerbi ſint/qui per negligentiā altiora di-ſcere nequiuerunt/quiqꝫ a doctioribus petere dedignati/in dubijs ſuis cō tabuerunt.Hęc dixi/quia nonnulli beatū hunc Dionyſiū/quaſi hęretice multa cōſcripſiſſet vituperāt:qui michi hęreticorū etiā peruerſas opiniones ignorare videntur.nā ſi ſcirēt: certe cōferendo hæc illis/viderēt tantū ab eis differre/quātū lumen a tenebris diſtat.Quid enim dicēt de theologia iſtius viri:qui trinitatē ſolā adorabilē pręedicat? Quid dicēt ꝙ animā/corpuſqꝫ humanū (hoc eſt totum hominem) ab vno trinitatis IHESV CHRISTO vnigenito dei verbo abſolute aſſūptū fatetur? Quid dicēt de intellectualiū/intelligibiliū/ ſenſibiliūqꝫ ipſius doctrina? aut in quo repræhēdere poterūt:quæcunqꝫ de generali hominū reſurrectione/ de gloria iuſtorū/& impiorū ſupplicijs docuit? Hæc enim vt ſummatim dicā:
ſalutē continent noſtrā.quæ latius exponere:modo tēpus nō eſt. præſer-Euſebius tim cum oportune ſcholiorū cōmētarij illa indicaturi ſint.Sed nō enume Origenes rauit libros ipſius (aiūt) Euſebius Pāphili: neqꝫ Origenes eius meminit.
Nos autē multa fuiſſe ab Euſebio prætermiſſa(quæ forte ad eū nō perue nerāt)reſpōdemus.immo vero ille ipſe reſpōdet:qui ſe fatetur innumera-biles credere libros ad ſe nō perueniſſe.nā vel nōnullorū regionis ſuæ ho Hymeneꝰ minū libros legiſſe:nullo modo videtur.vt Hymenei & Narciſſi Hieroſo
Narciſſus lymitanę preſbyterorū eccleſiæ.nec Pantheni operū meminit:nec Clemē Pāthenus tis Romani/duabus ſolū exceptis epiſtolis. multos inſuper ab eo pręter-Clemens. miſſos numerare poſſem:ſi opus eſſe putarē. Origenes autē non omniū:
Origenes ſed vix quatuor ſolūmodo meminit virorū. Michi vero diaconus quidā Romanus nomine Petrus: oēs diui Dionyſij libros in Romana ſacrorū bibliotheca librorū inueniri affirmauit.quorū plurimos ad beatū Timotheū Pauli diſcipulū & Epheſinū epiſcopū ſcripſit.Is enim ab Ionicę philoſophiæ ſtudioſis(qui tūc apud Epheſinos florebāt)vehemēter agitabatur.atqꝫ ideo beati Dionyſij omnis externæ philoſophię doctiſſimi:
patrociniū petebat. Ab Areopagita vero Dionyſio hos libros cōſcriptos fuiſſe/ illud etiā teſtatur;ꝙ multorū meminit/& nōnullorū dicta propo-

nit qui tēporibus illis floruerunt, quorū & actuū liber/& epiſtolæ Pauli meminerūt. ſed pręcipue omniū ſyncæritas dogmatū: iſtud oſtendit. Et quāuis hi libri longioribus egeant cōmentarijs: vt multitudo/altitudoq̧ rerū planior fieri poſſit: breuius tamen per ſcholia marginalia/deo confiſi quæ viſa ſunt ſcripſimus.

❡Capitū diuinorū operum beatiſſimi Dionyſij Areopagitæ index.

❡Cœleſtis Hierarchiæ.

Qꝫ oīs diuina lux (licet varie per ſummā benignitatē ad creaturā ꝓdeat) ſimplex tamē manet, neq̧ id ſolū: verū & quæ illuſtrat/vnū efficit. Cap. I Qꝫ cōgrue/diuina atq̧ cœleſtia: etiā per diſſimilia ſigna tradātur. II
Quid ſit hierarchia: & quænam eius vtilitas. III
Quid ſignificet angelorum appellatio. IIII
Cur omnes cœleſtes ſpiritus: cōmuni appellatione dicātur angeli. V
Quænā ſit cœleſtiū ſubſtātiarū prima/q̄ media/q̄ extrema diſtictio. VI
De ſeraphim/& cherubim/& thronis: & de prima eorū hierarchia. VII
De dominationibus/virtutibus/ac poteſtatibus: et de media illorum hierarchia. VIII
De pricipatibus/archāgelis/& āgelis: deq̧ extrema illorū hierarchia. IX Epilogus & concluſio totius angelici ordinis. X
Cur oēs cœleſtes ſubſtātię: cōi vocabulo cœleſtes virtutes appellant̄. XI
Cur ſacerdotes: inter homines dicantur angeli. XII
Cur a ſeraphim/purgatus fuiſſe dicatur Eſaias propheta. XIII
Quid ſignificet/is qui traditur: angelicus numerus. XIIII
Quæ ſint figuratiuæ angelicarū virtutū imagines/& reliqua. XV ❡Eccleſiaſticæ Hierarchiæ.

Quęnā ſit eccleſiaſticæ hierarchiæ traditio/& quæ illius intētio. Cap. I De ijs quæ in illuminatione baptiſmatis fiunt Cap. II. pars. I Myſterium illuminationis/ſiue baptiſmatis. Cap. II. pars II
Spūalis itelligētia/cōtēplatio/theoria/ſācta q̧ anagoge. Cap. II pars III
De ijs quæ in ſynaxi/ſanctaq̧ cōmunione fiunt. Cap. III. pars I Myſterium ſynaxeos ſiue communionis. Cap. III. pars II
Spiritualis tantæ rei ſenſus. Cap. III. pars III
De ijs quæ in vnguēto fiunt: & quæ in ipſo cōſūmant̄. Cap. IIII pars I Myſterium confectionis vnguenti. Cap. IIII. pars II
Spiritualis ſenſus/contemplatio. Cap. IIII. pars. III
De ſacerdotalibus cōſecrationibus & conſūmationibus. Cap. V. pars I Myſterium ſacrorum ordinum. Cap. V. pars II
Spiritualis intelligentia. Cap. V. pars III
De initiandis ordinibus. Cap. VI. pars. I Myſterium monaſticæ conſummationis. Cap. VI. pars II
Spiritualis ſenſus. Cap. VI. pars III
De ijs quæ in quieſcentibus fiunt. Cap. VII. pars I Myſterium ſuper ijs qui ſancte quieuerunt. Cap. VII pars II Spiritualis ſenſus. Cap. VII. pars III.

Index libri

¶Diuinorum Nominum.

Quænã ſit ĩſtitutio operis:& quę de diuinis noibus tradita ſint. Cap.I De coniuncta & diſcreta theologia/& quęnam ſit diuina coniunctio atq; diſcretio. Cap.II.pars I Ex ſanctiſſimi Hierothei libro elementorum. Cap.II.pars.II
Quę ſit orationis virtus/de beato Hierotheo/& de reuerentia & conſcriptione theologica. Cap.III
De bono/lumine ſiue luce/pulchro/amore/extaſi/zelo: & ꝙ malum neq; eſt/neq; ex eo quod eſt/neq; inter ſubſtantias eſt. Cap.IIII.pars I Hierothei ſanctiſſimi ex amatorijs hymnis. Cap.IIII.pars II
Eiuſdem ex eiſdem amatorijs hymnis. Cap.IIII.pars III
Eiuſdem ex eiſdem amatorijs hymnis. Cap.IIII.pars IIII
De ente:in quo etiam de exemplaribus. Cap.V
De vita. Cap.VI
De ſapientia/ſenſu/ratione/veritate/fide. Cap.VII
De virtute/ iuſtitia/ſalute/ redẽptione:in quo/ et de ęqualitate & inęqualitate. Cap.VIII
De magno/ paruo/eodem/altero/ ſimili/ diſſimili/ ſtatu/motu/ ęqualitate. Cap.IX
De omnipotẽte/antiquo dierũ:in quo & de ſęculo/& de tẽpore. Cap.X
De pace:& quid ſibi vult in deo ipſum eſſe/quę ſit ipſa vita/quę ipſa virtus/& quę hunc in modum dicuntur. Cap.XI
De ſãcto ſanctorũ/rege regũ/domino dominorũ/deo deorũ. Cap.XII
De perfecto & vno. Cap.XIII

¶Myſticę Theologię.

Quęnam ſit diuina caligo. Cap.I
Quomodo oportet ei cõiũgi/ & laudes referre authori omnium cuncta excellenti. Cap.II
Quęnam in theologia ſint affirmantia/quę negantia. Cap.III
Qꝫ nil ſenſibiliũ eſt:qui ſenſibilis omnis eminẽter eſt author. Cap.IIII Qꝫ nil intelligibilium eſt:qui intelligibilis omnis rei author eſt. Cap.V

¶Epiſtolarum Dionyſij.

Ad Caium cultorem. Epiſtola I
Ad eundem Caium. II
Ad eundem Caium. III
Ad eundem Caium. IIII
Dorotheo miniſtro. V
Soſipatro ſacerdoti. VI
Polycarpo epiſcopo. VII
Demophilo monacho de benignitate. VIII
Tito pontifici per epiſtolam interroganti:quę ſit ſapiẽtię domus/quę patera/qui cibi eius/& qui potus. IX Ioãni theologo/& apoſtolo/& euãgeliſtę:in Pathmos inſula relegato. X Apollophani philoſopho. XI

Index libri.

¶Epistolarum Ignatij.

Ad Trallianos ex Smyrna. Epistola I
Ad Magnesianos ex Smyrna. II
Ad Tarsenses ex Philippis. III
Ad Philippenses ex emporio. IIII
Ad Philadelphienses ex Troia. V
Ad Smyrneos ex Troia. VI
Ad Polycarpum episcopum. VII
Ad Antiochenses ex Philippis. VIII
Ad Heronem ex Philippis. IX
Ad Ephesios ex Smyrna. X
Ad Rhomanos ex Smyrna. XI
Insuper Polycarpi martyris ad Philippenses: epistola vna.

Finis indicis.

¶Iacobus Faber Stapulensis: pijs lectoribus.

LVmen quāto soli vicinius est: tāto splēdet illustrius/ vimqꝫ mortalium superat oculorū. & vnūquodqꝫ quanto magis suæ propinquat origini: tanto quoqꝫ puriorē suam retinet naturā/ atqꝫ seruat. neqꝫ id aliter in diuinis: aliter vero in humanis euenire putandū est. Hinc omniū sane scripturarū supremū dignitatis apicem/ summūqꝫ decus/ augustā reuerentiā/ & authoritatē obtinere dinoscuntur sacrosancta euangelia: vt quæ a deo proxime manauerint in dispositos animos trāsfusa. Mox ea sequūtur sanctæ & arcanæ IHESV reuelationes/ apostolorū acta/ & epistolæ/ & prophetarum monumenta: quæ veteris legis continentur organo. & hæc vniuersa duplici testamento/ & vetere scilicet & nouo cōtenta: eloquia nominantur. Porro eloquia proxime & dignitate & authoritate sequūtur ea hagiographa/ sanctaqꝫ scripta: quę apostolorū auditores ad fidelis ecclesiæ instituendam futurā sobolē reliquere. Inter quæ sunt diuini Dionysij Areopagitæ sacratissima opera/ tanta excellētiæ dignitate eminentia: vt cōmendationis eorū nullus vnq̄ verbis valeat assequi summā. Vt enim dilectissimus deo discipulus Ioānes/ ob euāgelij sui sublimitatē inter euāgelistas aquila nominatur: ita et sanctus Ioānes Chrysostomus hūc beatissimū patrē/ suorū scriptorū altitudinem demiratus/ totus pene effectus attonitus/ volucrē cœli exclamat. Hūc sancti viri singulari doctrina fulgentes sanctus Maximus/ sanctus Michael Hierosolymitanus/ sanctus Andreas Cretēsis & vniuersa docta Græcia: miris laudibus effert/ magnū appellat/ angelū appellat/ & cui similis nō successerit sacrorū interpretē. Et cū aliquādo in obscuris theologicis Eusebij Pamphili de motu monadis in dyada/ & statu in triade (quod ad intimos diuinitatis processus/ ineffabilēqꝫ intimorū illorū processuū statum in trinitate/ pertinere videtur: & discussum a beatissimo patre in libro hypotyposeon) ita legēs incidissem. Nō ens eni ex negatione: primū finitur. ꝙ entiū nichil existat.

Chrysostomus
Maximus
Michael hierosolymitanus
Andreas cretensis
Eusebius

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

Polycarp9
Dionyſius corithiorū.
Methodi9
Athanaſi9
Damaſcenus.
Eugenius
Gregorius turonenſis
Fortunat9

1.corin.3.
Hebræ.5.

effectrix ſiquidem cauſa/& præſtantius illis eſt.ex negatione:identidē ſinitur vltimū.ꝙ entiū nichil exiſtat:ſed ipſis quoqꝫ deterius.Et iterū.Quia ſupra vnionem huiuſmodi eſt vnio:& ſupra diuiſionē diuiſio.quod etiā melius quiſpiā ſuperunitū et ſuperdiuiſum nuncupauerit.viſus eſt michi ipſe Euſebius/aut Dionyſiū lectitaſſe aliquando:aut eos qui ſuis verbis/ſuoqꝫ philoſophandi modo fuiſſent vſi.Verū vt ſolē cōſpiciamus:face nō egemus.idcirco cætera teſtimonia patrū de ipſo:vt Polycarpi/Dionyſij Corithiorū epiſcopi/Methodij/Athanaſij/Damaſceni/Eugenij/Gregorij Turonenſis/& Fortunati:nūc prætereūda iure cenſeo.vt qui aliena luce ad perſuadendū:minime indigere videamur.Hæc ſacratiſſima opera/has diuinitatis opes/& cœleſtes ambroſias/nō quas fabuloſe fūdit cornu Amaltheæ:voluit ſumma dei benignitas noſtris tēporibus/latinis/intelligibilius reſtitui/ex illa plenitudine apoſtolicorū temporū deprōptas.Et plane litteraria monumēta ex apoſtolicis tēporibus ad noſtra deriuata/ęque michi a cæteris differre videntur:ac viuētia a mortuis/cœleſtia a terrenis/& a mortalibus imortalia:aliquid viuificū atqꝫ mirificæ lucis vltra cætera in ſe ſeruātia.Attamē illa ipſa eorum lux/ſpiritualiſqꝫ & viuifica intelligentia:ſine certo duce occulta manet/prorſuſqꝫ incognita.Ad quā procuidubio percipiendā:nullū hoc ſacratiſſimo authore inuenire valebimus certiorem ducem.de quo nimium vere dicere poterimus (quod ipſe de Hierotheo dicere ſolebat)nos nunq̄ illuſtriorem ſolem offendiſſe:cui infigere conaremur obtutus.Hic ſanctiſſimus author:vnus eorum eſt/de quibus beatiſſimus Paulus aiebat.ſapiētiam autem loquimur inter perfectos.& perfectorum/ſolidum eſſe cibum.ſiquidem horum diuinorum operū intelligentia:ſolidus cibus eſt.Et teſtor illorum ſanctorum temporū fœlicitatem/a quibus omnis ſapientiæ lux per omnia gratiæ tempora effluxit:michi nunq̄ poſt ſacroſancta eloquia/minus quidem & ſubrutile/intelligentiæ noſtræ peruia:quicquā his magni & diuini Dionyſij operibus occurriſſe ſacratius.Et ſi reliqua (quæ iniuria temporū perierunt) ad manus prompta haberētur:ſufficere haud dubie poſſent ad totius orbis viuificam illuminationē/magis reuera deploranda q̄ quæcunqꝫ opū/regnorum/aliarumqꝫ fortunarum iacturæ/q̄ quæcunqꝫ detrimēta.Et eloquia perſimilia ſunt arcæ in qua ſapientiæ theſauri latentius occluſi occultiqꝫ manent:nunq̄ oculis peruij/niſi ſit qui reſeret/ſacrumqꝫ inferat lumē.Hic autem cœleſtis/& ſupramundanus theologus diuinā arcā aperit:& ſacrum lumen infert.in quo/reſeratorū eloquiorum mirificum decorē contemplari valemus.quę vniuerſa idoneis lectoribus magis obuia patebūt:q̄ nos ipſi pręmonere/aut ſcribere ſufficiamus.¶Quare dum paucorum adhuc ammonuerimus:quaſi patefactis atrijs/ad diuinarum opum ſanctuarium(deo omniū munerū authore/& ſacratiſſimo martyre ducibus) vos admitti orabimus.Primum itaqꝫ eſt.Sacroſancta eloquia/& hæc inſuper diuina opera/illiſqꝫ ſimilia(quæ eloquiorū myſteria detegunt)attēte in orantis modum ad deum humili/proſtrata/prouolutaqꝫ mēte/omni cum reuerentia:& tractanda & legenda eſſe.In humanis enim ſtudijs homines vtcunqꝫ placet gerent habitum: in diuinis autem ſola attentio/deuotio/pietas/religio/reuerentia/ & humilitas iuuant/mentemqꝫ adaperiunt. Et qui ad ea ſecus accedunt: non modo nichil proficiunt/ ſed plerumqꝫ euadunt deteriores/impij/prorſuſqꝫ diuinis præſidijs capti.neſcientes diuina & ſancta: diuine & pure fuiſſe tractanda/ & humana humane. ¶ Secundum eſt.Hunc ſacratiſſimū diuinæ reſerationis ſapientiæ authorem:neqꝫ Platonicum/ Ariſtotelicū/Stoicū/aut Epicureū/ ſed IHESV vitæ authoris & ſpiritus ſancti ſub diuiniſſimis Paulo & Hierotheo præceptoribus/eſſe philoſophum.non ꝙ neſcierit/ quę Plato & Ariſtoteles ſciuerūt:immo vero vterqꝫ(ſi tempora dediſſent)ſe etiā beatū putaſſet/eius nominari diſcipulum. Et idcirco nolite eos audire:qui eum nominant Platonicū.ſapiētius cogitate.eſt enim aliquid lōge ſublimius. & his profecto nominibus:ſacrorum adimitur authoritas/ & diuina impie trahuntur ad humana.perinde ac ſi Ioannem euangeliſtam: Pythagoricum voco/aut voco Platonicum(vt nōnulli prophanorum fecerunt)& nō potius cœleſtem & ſupramundanum ſcribam/ſiue IHESV CHRISTI & ſancti ſpiritus ſuper oēs diuiniloquā tubā. Sācta ſanctis relinquātur/ & prophana prophanis.ſiue vt modeſtius loquamur:humanis relinquantur humana. Scio quid loquor/ſcio quid ſcribo/& cur ſcribo: nō in alicuius odiū/ſed longe minus q̃ par eſt/quæ dei ſunt veneratus. Credite potius beatiſſimo patri:de ſeipſo a terrenis philoſophis pręſidia non quæſiſſe » tradēti/atqꝫ ita capite primo diuinorum nominū proteſtāti.Sit autem » modo quoqꝫ nobis ea(quæ ſemper)definita lex:eorū quæ de deo dicuntur » tueri veritatē/non in perſuaſibilibus humanæ ſapientiæ verbis:ſed in » oſtenſione theologorū a ſancto ſpiritu agitatæ virtutis.per quā ineffabilibus » & incognitis/ineffabiliter & ignote coniūgimur/pręſtātiore illa vnione » rationalis noſtræ/ ſpiritualiſqꝫ virtutis/atqꝫ actionis.Nulla ergo ratione » præſumēdū/aliquid de ſuꝑſubſtantiali/ ſecretiſſimaqꝫ deitate aut dicere » aut cogitare: præter illa/ quæ nobis ſacra eloquia tradiderunt. Hactenus ſacratiſſimus pater.qui ſolūmodo euangelia/ Petrum/Iacobum/ Ioannem/Iudā/Bartholomeū/Ioſeph iuſtū/ Paulū/Hierotheum/Ignatiū/ & prophetas:ad ſuorū dictorū robur/et confirmationem ſolet adducere. Et nichil hic vos iterū moueat Nicolaū Cuſanum altiſſimæ ſapientiæ beatiſſimi patris ſtudioſum/communi errore deluſum/etiam vocaſſe ipſum Platonicum. eum enim:ipſorū furta latebāt.Et ideo poſt epiſtolā teſtes citabimus Platonicos/more ridiculæ apud Flaccum corniculæ/falſis plumis ornatos:ſibiqꝫ vanū diuinitatis nomen ex furto ſcriptorū/præſertim huius ſanctiſſimi patris/& ſupramūdani philoſophi quæſijſſe.& ſacra ex adytis prophanaſſe/ diuinitatemqꝫ de cœlo ad terrena deturbaſſe/et diuinis aduerſus diuina(quod beatiſſimus pater de Apollophane ſcribit ad Polycarpū) nefarie vſos.digniores profecto qui ad Caucaſiā rupem religati a vulturibus roderentur:q̃ fabuloſus ille Prometheus/ ꝙ ſacrum de cœlo ignem ſubiecta ferula ad terrena elicuiſſet. Neq; quis hunc ſacrum interpretem/Platonicū ideo putet:quia verbis diſſerendo de diuinis vſus

Nicolaus cuſanus

Apollophanes.

ſit Platonicis. quinīmo & verba / & ſententiæ: & Platoni / et reliquis philoſophis ꝓ maiori parte (ne dicā pro toto) de deo digne loquēdi āte apoſtolorū tēpora deerāt. Et proinde profuſū equidē riſu (ne ſi Heraclitus quidem fuiſſem) temperare haud valuiſſem: cū aliquando apud Platonicos ita legendum occurriſſet. Poſt apoſtolorū / apoſtolicorūqꝫ virorū contiones & ſcripta: a Philone & Numenio inceperūt ſcripta Platonis intelligi.

¶ Tertium. nos ea quoqꝫ (poſt publicā ad IHESV vitæ authoris venerationem / excogitatā vtilitatē) præcipua de cauſa ad litterā beatiſſimi patris / ſcholia adiecimus: vt cognoſcatur aperte ex ſacris litteris / & earū ſpirituali & viuificante intelligētia (prout a beatiſſimo Paulo & diuino Hierotheo / & ſpiritu ſancto / quod omniū maximū eſt: fuerat edoctus) omnia deprompſiſſe. Et inter legendū nō a ſcholijs ad litterā / ſed a littera ad ſcholia procedendū eſt. ſuntqꝫ ſcholia: annotationes quędā interciſæ pro certorū locorū cōmoditate adiectæ. cōmentaria vero: exactam magis / & continuā declarationē continent. Et cū ſacratiſſimus pater eloquia citat: vtitur æditione ſeptuaginta duorū interpretū / quorū nominatim meminit Ariſteas. Nō enim tempore apoſtolorū alia fuiſſe ab ea quæ ſeptuaginta duorum erat / & quæ nunc ſeptuaginta dicitur: præter originalia legitur. Et proinde quando ex noſtra traductione eadem adducuntur: interdū aliquanta apparet varietas / ſed ſpiritus omnia concordat & viuificat omnia. Et poſt epiſtolā: ex ſeptuagita (vt reliqua ſimili facilitate requirātur) pauca adijciemus. Et non adieci ſcholia Maximi: ꝙ huic trāſlationi minus michi viſa ſunt accōmodata. & illa quæ ſunt Ambroſij marginalia: meo inſtituto nō ſatis ſufficiebant. quæ ſi quis affectantius volet: a Camaldulēſibus facile requirat. Et id inſuper minime lectores latere cupimus: oportuiſſe plerumqꝫ Ambroſij ſententiā erigere / vbi codex inemēdatus / aut forte interpres humano more lapſus / diuiniſſimi patris intelligentiā nō fuerat aſſecutus. Ad quod cōmodius faciendū: honeſtiſſimi religioſi ſacrarū ædium ſecundo a Dionyſiana Pariſio milliario (in quibus nūc corpus deo dicatiſſimi martyris Galliarū apoſtoli / & noſtri primi ſacrorum antiſtitis: vna cū ſociorū ſuorū Ruſtici / & Eleutherij corporibus requieſcit) vetuſta originalia michi multa humanitate communicarūt. vt nullus etiā putet ea quæ Ambroſius manu ſua ſcripſerit: hac recognitione / ſtudijs vtiliora. Fecimus tamē pro virili noſtra quæ potuimus: ſed nō quanta / dignitas ipſa efflagitabat. lōge enim inferiores ſubſedimus. Inſuper nō ſine diuina ordinatione / & ſumma prouidētia id effectum eſſe michi viſum eſt: vt hic ſacratiſſimus / & longe diuina ſapientia illuſtriſſimus pater / primū Athenienſiū antiſtes Atticā rexerit eccleſiā / & ciuitatē primariā omniū litterarum parētem illuminauerit. qua illuminata / mox in Gallias a beatiſſimo Clemente apoſtolus miſſus: ſedem apud Pariſiorū inſignē vrbem (ſeu Pariſiū / ſeu Lutetiam appellarēt) delegerit. quæ melius Dionyſia a Dionyſio primo ſuo antiſtite & apoſtolo / primo ſuſceptore & regeneratore: q̄ ab Iſide / aut luto (vt volunt nōnulli) potuiſſet appellari. primus enim eā ad vitæ fontes erexit in CHRISTO paruulā (ſolent enim primi ſuſceptores indere nomina) primus mortē ab ea effugauit et induxit vitam: quā in Chriſtiano cultu/ſuo ſanguine/et omniū tormentorū molitionibus libēter ſuſceptis tandē cōfirmauit. vnde & victor (mundo triūphato) ad deū qui ipſum miſerat conſcendit. Tunc deus illum locum piorum ſtudiorū fontem pręordinauit: vt ad quem in certum euentus rei argumentū ex Athenis virū ſupra omnē humanā ſapientiā doctū/direxerit. Vos igitur Dionyſiaca bonarū litterarū omniū academia/eadē & Pariſienſis/quā vnus ideq; pater ſociam fecit Athenis/& ſororem: veſtro applaudite apoſtolo/veſtro primo antiſtiti/parenti/ primo ad vitā ſuſceptori/et illuminatori. & eius ſacras diſciplinas in honore ſuſcipite: atq; in eis ipſis dies/noctesq; proficite.

Ariſteas

Furta platonicorum

De Furtis Platonicorum teſtimonia

Magnus Baſilius

Baſilius.

Magnus Baſilius de Numenio: in oratione qua exponit euāgeliū. In principio erat verbum. Non ignoro (inquit) plurimos veritatis inimicos/ & mundana ſapientia ſe plurimū iactantes/ſic ammiratos iſta fuiſſe: vt in ſuis libris conſcribere auſi ſint. Furatur enim noſtra diabolus: & ſuis ea largiri conatur.

Ambroſius Camaldulenſis.

Ambroſius

Sciendū multos externorū philoſophorū et maxime Proculum: ſententijs Dionyſij/immo vero ipſis quoq; vocabulis nudis vſos plerūq; fuiſſe. Vnde ſuſpicari poſſumus: ab ijs qui Athenis philoſophabant̄/libros beati Dionyſij (quorū ipſe meminit) celatos fuiſſe. vt que inde ſumebant: inueniſſe ipſi putarētur. ſed diuina prouidētia (his modo libris adinuentis) inanis gloria illorū/et malitia patefacta eſt. Hęc: Ambroſij ſcholium.

Marſilius Ficinus Platonicus.

Marſilius.

In libro de religione Chriſtiana: Marſilius capite ſecūdo & viceſimo de Platonicis ita habet. Ergo certe repperi pręcipua Numenij/Philonis/ Plotini/Iamblici/Proculi myſteria: a Ioāne/Paulo/Hierotheo/ Dionyſio Areopagita accepta fuiſſe. Quidquid enī de mente diuina/angeliſq; & cæteris ad theologiam ſpectantibus magnificū dixere: manifeſte ab illis vſurpauerūt. Hęc Marſilius. Et niſi in aduerſarios Chriſtianæ ſapientiæ mollior eſſe maluiſſet: plane dixiſſet/furati ſūt. ſed de platonicis nūc ſatis.

Nunc De Editione Septuaginta Interpretum

Cap. ſecūdo cœleſtis hierachiæ numero 13. ſic legitur. ferarū quoq; illi applicāt formas: leonis/ac pantheræ proprietatē ei aſcribētes. vt pardum fore dicētes/vrſāq; indigentē. Quod ex Oſee partim cap. quinto/ partim cap. decimotertio habetur. vbi nūc neq; pāther/ neq; pāthera legitur: ſed leena. Cap. quinto hoc modo. Quoniā ego quaſi leena Effraim/& quaſi leo domui Iuda. Et cap. decimotertio. Et ego ero eis quaſi leena: ſicut pardus in via Aſſyriorū. occurram eis quaſi vrſa raptis catulis: & diſrūpam interiora iecoris eorū. Septuaginta æditio cap. quinto ſic habet. Quia ego ſum quaſi pāther effraim/et quaſi leo in domo iuda. Et cap. decimotertio ſic. Et ero eis quaſi panther/& ſicut pardus in via Aſſyriorū. occurrā eis

ſeptuagita

ſicut vrſa indigens cibo: & diſrūpam interiora cordis eorū. ¶ Cœleſtis hierarchiæ cap. quarto circa finem ſic legitur. Et ipſe quoqꝫ IHESVS cum ob nimiā charitatē ſuā/ ſalutiqꝫ noſtre nimis neceſſariā/ ſuæ pietatis opus implendum in ordine veniſſet nunciantis: magni conſilij angelus ſit prædicatus. ¶ Qꝫ magni cōſilij angelus ſit prædicatꝰ: ex Eſaiæ cap. nono habetur. vbi id nūc nō legitur: ſed ſic. Paruulus enī natus eſt nobis/ & filius datus eſt nobis: & factus eſt prīcipatus ſuꝑ humerū eius/ & vocabitur nomē eius admirabilis cōſiliarius. Septuaginta ęditio ſic habet. Quia paruulus natꝰ eſt nobis/ & filius datus eſt nobis: cuius prīcipatus factus eſt ſuꝑ humerū eius. et vocabitur nomē eius magni cōſilij angelus. ¶ Et iterū eiuſdē cœleſtis hierachiæ cap. octauo/ nūero 43. Primus hoc poſt Cherubī diſcit: qui lūbos ſaphyro erat accictus/ qui talarē tunicā pontificalis veſtis indiciū induebat. porro angelos reliquos qui ſecuribus armati erāt. Nūc Ezechielis cap. nono de veſte linea/ pro podere & veſte talari: de atramētario ſcriptoris ad renes/ pro ſaphyro ſiue zona ſaphyrina: & vas interitus/ pro ſecuri legitur. que vniuerſa in æditione ſeptuaginta leguntur. vt etiā diuus teſtat̃ Hieronymus. pro lineis (inquit) ſeptuaginta interpretati ſunt podere. pro atramētario ſcriptoris ad renes: zona ſaphyrina ſuper renes. pro vaſe interitus in manibus: ſecurim. Sed ex his facile eſt intelligere diuerſitatem litterarū originalium a beatiſſimo patre adductarum: quæ plerumqꝫ limatior ꝗ noſtra eſſe videtur/ & vnde hæc diuerſitas pendere queat. ſpiritus autem immutabilis: omnia perficit/ & viuificat.

ſeptuagita

¶ Preterea cap. nono/ numero 46 legitur. Statuit enim altiſſimus terminos gentiū/ iuxta numerū angelorum dei. Et ſcholium eius OO. habet. hoc oraculo caremus. ¶ Verum poſtea inter legēdum michi occurrit id dictum eſſe propter dictum cantici Moſis Deuteronomij cap. triceſimo ſecundo. vbi nunc nō angelorū dei: ſed filiorum Iſrael habetur. quod nūc ita legitur. Memēto dierū antiquorū: cogita generationes ſingulas. interroga patrem tuū & annūciabit tibi: maiores tuos & dicent tibi. Quando diuidebat altiſſimus gentes: quando ſeparabat filios Adam. conſtituit terminos populorum: iuxta numerum filiorum Iſrael. Pars autem domini populus eius: Iacob funiculus hęreditatis eius. Sed hęc & ſimilia benignus lector facile ītelliget: & vnde huiuſmodi pēdeat varietas. nūc vero ad ſanctiorem litteram ſeſe cōuertendi: iam tempus videbitur idoneum.

Quid laterales numeri deſignent.

¶ Numeri ad latus in imo litteræ poſiti: ad litteralium ſententiarū diſtinctionē adiecti ſunt/ et ijdem in cōmentario repetiti eodem ordine: vt conſimiles vnius ad conſimiles alterius referantur.

Quid laterales litteræ.

¶ Litterę vero alphabeticæ in ſuperiore margine ad litterā adiectæ ſunt: vt ad conſimilia litterarum elementa (quæ litteræ reſpōdent) quærantur ſcholia.

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

¶Diuini Dionyſij Areopagitæ Athenienſiū epiſcopi/et Galliarū apoſtoli: cœleſtis hierarchiæ liber/ ad Timotheū Epheſinæ ciuitatis epiſcopum: adiecto ad litteram cōmentario declaratus.

¶Qꝫ omnis diuina lux licet varie per ſummā benignitatē ad creaturā prodeat: ſimplex tamen manet. neqꝫ id ſolum: verum & quæ illuſtrat/ vnum efficit.

Cap.I.

1 OMne datum optimū/ & omne donum perfectū/ A de ſurſum eſt. deſcendens a patre luminū. Sed & candidiſſimæ illius lucis (quæ a patre/ motus initium ſumit) proceſſus omnis/benigna in nos largitione manans: rurſus vt ſumma virtus (per quā vnū ſecum efficimur) vi intentionis precipuæ nos
parat & explicat: atqꝫ ad cogētis ad ſe patris vnitatem ac deificam ſimplicitatē conuertit. Ex ipſo a eni (vt ſacra teſtātur eloquia) & in ipſo ſunt ōnia.
2 ¶Itaqꝫ IHESVM inuocātes paternam lucem:
quæ eſt/quæ vera eſt/quæ illuminat omnē hominem venientem in hunc
mundū/ per quem ad patrem principale lumen/ acceſſum habemus: ad ſanctiſſimarū ſcripturarū intelligētias (prout illas a patribus accepimus) contuendas pro viribus pergamus. & quas illi nobis vel per ſigna vel per intelligētiæ ſacratioris arcana tradiderūt: cœleſtiū ſpirituū diſtinctiones 3 & ordines inquātum poſſumus ſpeculemur. ¶Cūqꝫ principalē illā imo principiū omne trāſcendentē ſummi patris lucē/quę nobis angelorū beatiſſimos ordines typicis exprimit ſignis: purgata mentis acie nec trepidante cordis aſpectu ſuſceperimus/ ex ipſa rurſus ad eius ſimplicem radium tota animi intētione dirigamur. Nam profecto ne ipſa quidē vnq̃ ſingulari ſuo arcano et (vt ita dixerim) ꝓpria ſua itimitate deſeritur. Cæterum B cū ad eos qui prouidentia regūtur ſubuehendos ac ſibi cōiungendos condeſcenſione & cōnexione mirabili/ benigniſſime multiplicetur & prodeat: manet tamen intra ſemetipſam firmiſſime in ſua imobili idētitate ſtabiliter fixa. eoſqꝫ qui ad ipſam (vt fas eſt) aſpirare nitūtur: pro modo virium ſuarū intēdit ac prouehit/ ac ſecundū ſimplicē illā vnionē ſuā cōiungit ſibi/atqꝫ vnū efficit ſecum. Neqꝫ enim aliter fas erat/ infirmitati noſtræ lucere diuinū illum radiū: niſi ſacrorū varietate velaminū (quibus ad ſuperiora ferremur) opertū/& ijs quæ nobis familiaria ſunt/ prouidētia 4 paterna naturæ mortaliū ſeſe accōmodāte/veſtitū. ¶Quocirca & noſtri quoqꝫ ſacerdotij ſacratiſſimā functionē: diuina illa ſanctio cœleſtium ordinū excellēti mūdanis omnibus imitatione dignata/ memoratas illas C ſpirituales diſtinctiones carnalibus figuris expreſſas/& formarū cōpoſitionibus D varias tradidit. vt ipſi pro modulo noſtro/ex hiſce fictionibus ſacris:
ad ſimplices illas/ nulliſqꝫ figuris vmbratas cœleſtium rerū intelligētias/aſſimilationeſqꝫ ſubuehamur. Nam neqꝫ poſſibile eſt humanæ mēti E ad ſpiritualem illā cœleſtiū diſtinctionū imitationem/ intelligentiāqꝫ cōſcendere:
niſi ad hanc mortalium rerū ſimilitudinibus/ formiſqꝫ ducatur.

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

vt ſcilicet viſibilem pulchritudinẽ: inuiſibilis decoris imaginẽ putet. odoreſqꝫ ſenſibus peruios: ſpiritualis fragrãtiæ ſimilitudinẽ extimet. & intimæ lucis indiciũ: ex lucidi ſolis ducat imagine. ſuauitatis item illius (quã deum ſitiẽs animus atqꝫ in diuina cõtẽplatione requieſcens capit) ſacrarum litterarũ lectionem / et flagrans ſtudium: arbitretur effigiem. habitus quoqꝫ illius cõgruentiſſimi / & perpetua intentione atqꝫ ordine ad diuina tendentis: ex vitæ præſentis ordinibus capiat cõiecturam. IHESV item fœliciſſimã ſocietatem: de ſacroſancti myſterij cõmunione cõijciat. Et cętera in hunc modũ: quę cœleſtibus quidẽ / ſpiritualibuſqꝫ ſubſtãtijs diuine ac nude: nobis vero per ſigna tradũtur. Vt igitur pro captu noſtro dij efficeremur: clemẽtiſſima illa diuinitas cœleſtium quoqꝫ diſtinctiões ordinum nobis exponens / noſtriqꝫ functionem ſacerdotij illis miniſterij ſocietate coniungens (dum pro viribus diuina illorum ſacratiſſima officia imitari nitimur) terrenis imaginibus cœleſtes ſpiritus pinxit / carnaliqꝫ velamine (dũ in ſacris litteris de illis loquitur) æternos animos texit / vt nos ex viſibilibus ad intelligibilia / & ex fictione ſignorum ad ſimplices cœleſtium ordinum prouehat ſummitates.

¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS.

¶Omne datũ optimũ. Epiſtola Iacobi apoſtoli cap. primo. Nolite itaqꝫ errare fratres
A mei dilectiſſimi. omne datum optimũ / et omne donũ perfectũ: de ſurſum eſt / deſcendens a patre luminũ. apud quem non eſt trãſmutatio: nec viciſſitudinis obumbratio.
a ¶Ex ipſo enĩ: vt ſacra teſtãtur eloquia. Paulus ad Roma. cap. vndecimo. quoniã ex
B ipſo / et per ipſum / et in ipſo ſunt omnia. ¶Ceterũ cum ad eos. Ceterũ / ſed. ¶Excel-
C lenti mundanis omnibus. excellenti / ſupereminenti mundanis omnibus. ¶Carnali-
D bus figuris expreſſas. carnalibus: ſenſualibus / terrenis / materialibuſqꝫ figuris. ¶Nam E neqꝫ poſſibile eſt humanę menti. Ex hoc depręhendis: quis modus diuina perquirẽ-di in theologia ſit tenendus / atqꝫ poſſibilis.

¶PRIMI CAPITIS Libri de cœleſti Hierarchia cõmentarius ad litteram.

OMne bonum de cœlo manare / et a deo ſpiritualium munerũ largi- 1
tore profluere: ex beati Iacobi teſtimonio proponit imprimis ſacratus pater. In quo per datum optimũ: accipiunt nõnulli interpretes donũ naturæ. per donũ vero perfectũ: donum gratiæ / ꝙ ipſa habẽ-tem perficiat. Alij vero potius idem omnino vtroqꝫ nomine ĩtelligi debere cenſent: et ſecundũ / ipſius primi eſſe explicationẽ. vt ſenſus ſit / omne donũ in creaturis exiſtens: deſuper atqꝫ a deo proficiſci.
quẽ & patrem luminũ hic vocat ſanctus apoſtolus: ꝙ author ſit & elargitor cœleſtiũ donorũ. Vnde nomen patris hoc loco et alijs duobus proxime ſequẽtibus in hac lit-terali ſententia locis / non diſcrete ſumitur et perſonaliter: ſed ſubſtãtialiter atqꝫ vt dei ad nos habitudinem ſignat. Deſcẽdere autem donũ dicitur et de ſurſum eſſe: quoniã a deo eſt / ratione excellentiæ ſuæ ſuper omnia collocato. et ab ipſo fonte plenitudinis ſummæ / ad inferiorum defluit participationem. Omnis enim creatura / ſi ad creatoris eminentiã conferatur: longe inferior eſt. et idcirco omne bonũ quod dono creatoris ipſi creaturæ infunditur: de ſurſum eſſe / et quaſi ad inferiora deſcendere perhibetur.
Neqꝫ hiſce nominibus: aut locus corporalis aut motus localis hic ſignificari putetur / quæ ſpiritualẽ tantũ habent rationẽ. Aſtipulatur autẽ & eidem Iacobi ſentẽtię beatus 1.Corin.4. Paulus: ſcribens ad Corinthios. Quid autem habes: quod non accepiſti? Si autem ac-cepiſti: quid gloriaris quaſi nõ acceperis? Et diuinus ſaluatoris noſtri præco / idipſum Ioan.3. etiã perhibet: cum ait. Non poteſt homo accipere quicꝗ: niſi fuerit ei datum de cœlo.
Et ſane id perſimile eſt: atqꝫ ſiquis dixerit claritatem omnẽ & illuminationẽ / in mor-talium oculos ſubiectaqꝫ corpora a lãpade ſolis (qui fons eſt totius luminis ſenſibilis) deriuari. Verum vt ipſius ſolis radius duplicem habet motũ. vnum quidem directũ quo a ſole in oculos animaliũ vibratur / quaſi a cœli faſtigio ad inferiora deſcendens.

Alterũ vero reflexũ & regreſſiuum, quo illuſtratos oculos erigit ad ipſum ſolẽ/primitiuũ luminis authorẽ: reſilitq; & reuertitur in ſuũ primordiũ/ & ad ipſum reducit omnia quæ perfudit ſuo iubare/ quaſi ab imis denuo ad ſumma regrediens. Et certe primus horũ motuũ ab vnitate eſt ad multitudinẽ: & ab vnico ſolis orbe intimaq; luce ſingulari/ad multiplices & multiformes oculos in quibus ſpargitur. Secundus vero ediuerſo a multitudine/varietate & diuerſitate redit in vnitatẽ: nã illuminatos omnes oculos colligit in ipſũ ſolẽ atq; cõſtringit. quinimo efficit oẽs vnũ cũ ſole/vnione copulatiõeq;
lucis infuſę: qua reddit cũctos luciformes/ & imagine ac ſpecie ſolis indutos. Ita plane diuinus & ſpiritualis radius bifariã mouet. Primũ a deo in nos: benigniſſimo eius ĩdultu a ſũmo cœli ſolio in aĩos noſtros trãſfuſus. & qui in deo ſimplex eſt & vnicus: ĩ nobis ſparſus cernitur/expãſus & multiplicatus. Secũdo vero intẽtos in ipſũ animos noſtros & irradiatione illa cœleſti illuſtratos/explicatoſq;: vt cũcta in ipſis appareãt in ſuo decore atq; ornatu(perinde vt ſuperfuſũ lumẽ rebus explicat eas: & colorũ oĩm pulchritudinẽ diſcrimenq; oſtendit) noſtros inquã animos ſurſum attollit: colligitq; rurſũ ad diuinã ſimplicitatẽ/ab imis ad ſũma nos reuocãs/& a diuiſione multitudineq; ad vnitatẽ.
Neq; id ſolũ efficit ſecũdo ſuo/regreſſorioq; motu cœleſtis radiꝰ ꝙ animos noſtros ſuo ꝓfuſos fulgore ſubuehit ad deũ/patrẽ luminũ: ſed & ipſos vnũ efficit cũ deo per quandã deiformitatẽ/ cõnexionẽq; & vnionẽ ſuperdiuinã. qua pię mẽtes ſuperno illo radio illuminatæ inſeruntur deo: vniceq; & ſingulariter ipſi cõiunguntur. Quẽadmodũ enim ferrũ ignitũ: vnũ quodã modo efficitur cũ igne ipſũ abſorbente atq; immeãte. vt iã ferrũ nõ appareat/quis ſecundũ ſubſtantiã permaneat: ſed ſolus cãdor igneus. ita & ſyncæræ mẽtes quas dignatur deus ſua illuſtratione/ſic diuino illo lumine trãſeũt in deũ ꝑ quandã cõformitatẽ & aſſimilationẽ: vt arctiſſime illi atq; ſtrictiſſime cõiungãtur/vnũ ꝑ fiant nõ ſubſtantia ſed ſpecie cũ eo. De hac autẽ vnione ſpirituali loquitur beatus Paulus ad Corinthios dicẽs. Qui autẽ adhæret dño: vnus ſpiritus eſt. Et dominus noſter a 1.corin.6
diſcipulis per paſſionẽ diſceſſurus rogauit patrẽ: vt ipſi vnũ inter ſe eſſent/ſicut & ipſe Ioan.17
cũ patre vnũ eſt. At quomodo diſcipuli vnũ eſſent adinuicẽ mutuo charitatis vinculo:
niſi & cũ deo vnũ efficerentur/ per nexũ illum & vnionẽ ipſius diuini radij? Porro propter huiuſmodi duplicem ſpiritualis radij motum: deus ipſe & alpha dicitur/ principiumq; Apo.1
a quo profunditur omne bonum. & ω/finiſq; rerum: in quem reditu/recurſuq; ſpirituali cuncta reuocantur & colliguntur. Idem quoq; primus dicitur/vt omnium bonorum Apo.22 origo: & nouiſſimus/vt omnium meta/finis & vltimũ ad quod reducuntur. Et quẽadmodum ex beato Paulo in littera adducit ſacratiſſimus pater: ex ipſo ſunt omnia Roma.11 tanquã primario bonitatis fonte/effundente in nos abunde ſuæ benignitatis dona. Et in ipſo ſunt omnia tanquam fine præcipuo: ad quod tendunt & procedunt omnia. Q; ſi quis dicat(ſicut & codex græcus in illo Pauli loco habet)in ipſum ſunt omnia: ſignificantius exprimetur id ad quod confirmandũ/aſſumptũ eſt Pauli verbum/deum ſcilicet
2 finẽ eſſe in quem procedunt omnia. ¶Deinde beatus pater cum magna pietate & religione deũ in iſtius operis principio (vt par eſt)inuocans: IHESVM filium dei vocat paternam lucem. tum ꝙ a deo patre æterna generatione natus eſt: vt lux de luce/lumen de lumine/deus de deo/deus verus de deo vero. tum ꝙ patris gloriam & excellentiã/
virtutem/ ſapientiam & bonitatem manifeſtat: ſicut verbum ſuam mentẽ/ ſicut lux intima & ſplendida: corporis lucidi pulchritudinẽ declarat. Si enim filij dei claritatem/magnitudinem/& perfectionẽ cognoſcimus: protinus ex eo quantus & qualis ſit pater qui eũ genuit/agnoſcemus. Secũdo eã lucem quæ dei filius eſt: dicit beatus pater eſſe. nam perfectiſſime ens eſt: & a non eſſe ſemotiſſima. nunq̃ enim nõ fuit: & nunq̃ non erit. Quod & ipſe IHESVS de ſeipſo proteſtatur: dicens ad Iudęos. Niſi credideritis Ioan.8
quia ego ſum: moriemini in peccatis veſtris. Et rurſum ad eoſdẽ. Anteq̃ Abraham fieret: ego ſum. Tertio eadem eſt vera lux. nam natura ſua lux eſt abſoluta atq; eſſentialis:
non per participationem id habens aut aduentitium. quemadmodũ omnis lux creata cum ſenſibilis tũ ſpiritualis/participatione ſolũ lux eſt & contracta: illius veræ lucis typus & vmbra. Quarto eadem lux illuminat oẽm hominẽ venientẽ in hũc mundũ: vt Ioan.1
ait Ioãnes. Ego(inquit eadẽ ſumma veritas)ſum lux mundi. Qui ſequitur me non ãbulat Ioan.8
in tenebris: ſed habebit lumen vitæ. Et rurſũ alio loco. Ego lux in mundũ veni: vt Ioan.12 omnis qui credit in me/in tenebris non maneat. Quinto affert hic in laudem & præconium filij dei ſacratus pater: ꝙ per IHESVM habemus acceſſum ad deum patrem/qui principale eſt lumen. Et id quidem poſtremum/de patre ideo dicit: ꝙ pater/lux eſt primitiua/ fontalis & primaria/ab alia luce nequaq̃ prodiēs. ſed filio qui vera lux eſt itidē & ſpiritui ſancto luci immēſę: ineffabili modo cōmunicās ęternæ ſuę lucis cōſortiū/ſocietatē & veritatē. Emanat enim filius identidē & ſpiritus ſanctus a patre: vt lux de lu ce/& lumē de lumine. Cæterū ꝙ per filiū dei acceſſū habeamus ad patrē: ex eo cōſtat/

1. timo. 2. ꝙ mediator eſt dei & hoīm homo CHRISTVS IHESVS/ vt ait Paulus. & ex ipſius
Ioan. 14. mediationis officio: ima ad ſummū ſubuehit. qđ & de ſe dicit in euāgelio. Ego (inquit) ſum via/veritas & vita. Nemo venit ad patrē: niſi per me. Idē quoq; & beatus Paulus Ephe. 2. atteſtatur: ſcribēs ad Epheſios de dn̄o noſtro. quoniā per ipſum habemus acceſſū ābo in vno ſpiritu ad patrē. Porro poſt piā huiuſmodi inuocationē proponit diuinus pater:
quidnā in hoc opere ſit moliturus. vtpote ꝙ ad ſacrarū litterarū intelligentiā (ſicut eā antiqui patres tradiderūt) perſpiciendā enixe elaborare intēdat: pariter & ſpeculari ꝓ viribus cœleſtiū ſpirituū ordines atq; hierarchias. quas ipſi patres tradiderūt poſteris atq; aſſignarunt/ vel per ſigna materialia quę ſpiritualiū ſenſorū ſunt ſignificatiua: vt ꝑ formas et figuras corporales. vel per myſteria ſecretioris et altioris agnitiōis: qua mēs humana ſacratiore lumine perfuſa ſpiritualē haurit ex alto diuinorū ſciētiā/cœleſti reuelatione indultā. Et horū duorū modorū diuina cognoſcēdi: ſecūdus eſt primo ſupe-rior & dignior. ¶ At vero queādmodum in luminis ſenſibilis ſuſceptione purgatus eſſe 3 debet oculus a lippitudine & noxijs ſordibus/ & firma eius acies quæ nō cōniueat aut trepidet ob imbecillitatē ad lucidū ſolis radiū: cōſimili ratione proponit deinde Diony ſius lucē illā diuinā/oīa ſupereminentē oīmq; primā (quę cœleſtiū ſpirituū incorporalē naturā: ſenſibilibus & corporalibus figuris nobis īſinuat) a nobis primū hauriri debere/purgata mente a nebulis & caligine terrenorū affectuū/ & irreuerberato mētis obtutu: 5 nō trepidāte ob infirmitatē/ad illius diuinæ lucis aſpectū. Poſtea vero cōuerſo/reflexoq; motu: ex ipſa luce in nobis ſuſcepta/ad vnicū/& ſingularē dei radiū illicq; intimum vt reuocemur/elaborandū eſt. Nā ipſa diuina lux a ſingulari ſua ſimplicitate & intima deo identitate nunq̃ diſcedit: q̃uis benigna cōdeſcenſione ad angelicos ſpiritus ac ho-mines illuminādos/atq; ad ſui cōſortiū promouendos progrediat̃ ad exteriora/ & mul tiformiter prodeat. Sed intra diuini ſecreti latebras & inacceſſa adyta: manet ipſa ſuꝑdi uina lux ſemper eadē/ſtabilis/fixa/vnica/ſingularis & intima. Eoſq; qui ad illā hauriē-dā enitūtur/erigit pro ipſorū facultate atq; ad ſe pertrahit: vnūq; ſecū cōiunctione ſu-permūdana (vt ante dictū eſt) efficit. Sic ſane videmus & ſenſibilē ſolis lucē: ſemꝑ ſoli ītimā manere/vnicā/eandē & fixā. q̃uis ad ſubiecta corpora illuſtrāda/& oculos aīaliū ſuis radijs implēdos: multifariā/partibiliter & varie prodeat. vt in ſuo fōte/vna ſit: extra illū/diuerſa et diuidua. Neq; quis miret̃/diuina nobis myſteria et āgelicorū ſpirituū ordines: per ſigna ſenſibilia/figmētaq; corporalia tradi debere. Nā nō potuit nobis craſ ſo circūdatis corpore/diuinus ille radius cœleſtiū arcanorū reſeratiuus illucere: niſi fuiſ ſet diuerſitate corporaliū velaminū adopertus/& ſenſibilibus formis quę nobis domeſticę ſūt & familiares/obuelatus. Sic enī diuina prouidētia & noſtrę cōſuluit infirmitati: & ſe naturę noſtrę/ſpiritualia in ſua puritate capere nō valēti/accōmodauit. ¶ Dein 4 ceps aſſignat Dionyſius cauſā propter quā diuina ordinatione id cōſtitutū eſt: ꝙ ſacrę diſtinctiōes & ꝓprietates cœleſtiū ſpirituū nobis explicarent̃ per rerū ſēſibiliū formas ac figuras. vt ſcilicet ex huiuſmodi viſibilibus ſignis & figmētis: erigeremur ad inuiſibi lē earū & ſpiritualē naturā ac virtutē/atq; ex cōpoſitis ad ſimplices/ex corporeis ad in-corporales/ex diuiſibilibus ad īdiuiduas illarū ſubſtātias: aciē mētis attolleremus. Nō 6 eſt aūt perfunctorie trāſeundū: quod hoc in loco annotat beatus pater. vtpote ꝙ diui-na ordinatio/dignā iudicauit functionē adminiſtrationēq; ſacerdotalem quę ab hoībus geritur/imitatione cœleſtium ordinum: omnia mundana ſuperexcellenti. Nam eccleſi-aſtica hierarchia atq; diſtinctio: a deo inſtituta eſt omnino ad imitationem cœleſtis & angelicæ hierarchiæ. vt quemadmodum ſuperiores ſpiritus cœleſtes purgant/ illuminant & perficiunt inferiores: ita qui in eccleſia funguntur pontificali ſacerdotaliq; dignitate/alios inferiore conſtitutos ordine ex ſuo officio itidē purgant/illumināt & perficiūt. queādmodū in libro de eccleſiaſtica hierarchia: clarius illud determinabit̃. Proin de ſacerdotes ipſi in ſacra ſcriptura: interdū angelorū nomine inſigniūtur. vt qui eiuſdē functionis habent conſortiū: habeant & nominis eiuſdem communionem. Dicit enī Malachi. 2. Malachias. labia ſacerdotis cuſtodiunt ſcientiā: & legē requirēt ex ore eius/quia āgelus domini exercituum eſt. Verum hoc ex duodecimo huius libri capite euadet clarius. Qꝫ autem neceſſariũ fuerit humanæ infirmitati/ viſibilibus iuuari figuris & ſpeciebus ad ſpiritualẽ cœleſtiũ ſubſtãtiarũ naturã cõprehendendã: vel ex eo cõſtat. ꝙ nõ poteſt humana mẽs ſenſibus alligata & tegmine corporis aggrauata/ eniti & cõſcẽdere ad diuina ſuꝑcœleſtiaqꝫ intelligẽda: niſi rerũ ſenſibiliũ imaginibus et formis ad illa manuducat̃ & aſſurgat. vt ſcilicet ex viſibili rerũ pulchritudine: ad inuiſibilẽ cœleſtiũ decorẽ erigat̃. ex odore ſenſibili vt imagine: ad ſpiritualẽ ſuaueolentiã. ex luce ſolis viſibili: ad lucẽ diuinã. Putet itẽ dulcedinẽ lectionis ſacrę ſcipturę: effigiẽ eſſe ſuauitatis illius intimę/ quã diuina contẽplatione inebriati animi beatorũ percipiũt. ordinẽ quoqꝫ eccleſiaſticæ functionis quæ in pręſenti vita geritur: illius decẽtiſſimi ordinis cœleſtiũ ſpirituũ exiſtimet eſſe repręſentationẽ. deniqꝫ cõmunionẽ ſanctiſſimi ſacramenti euchariſtiæ: arbitret̃ eſſe imaginẽ illius feliciſſimę ſocietatis/ qua ſancti cũ CHRISTO in ęternũ cõiungũtur. Et ſimilia id genus/ humana mens pie cõiectet: quę angelicis ſpiritibus nude & ſine velamine/ nobis autẽ per velamẽta rerũ ſenſibiliũ exhibent̃. Itaqꝫ vt noſipſi deiformes q̃tũ nobis fas eſt/ & vberiori participatione dei fœlices euaderemus: benigniſſima dei bonitas angelicarũ ſubſtantiarũ diſtinctiones & ſpiritualẽ naturã nobis patefacere volẽs/ & ſacerdotalis officij miniſteriũ quod ab hominibus in præſenti vita geritur: ipſis cœleſtibus ordinibus ſocietate cõmunioneqꝫ functionũ cõiungens (ꝙ vt iã dictũ eſt/ ſacerdotalis functio eſt ad imitationẽ officiorum ac operationũ angelicarũ) ipſos cœleſtes ſpiritus in ſacra ſcriptura obtexit figuris & notis rerũ corporalium: vt ex imis ad ſumma nos ſubuehat/ a ſimplicibus ad compoſita/ a ſenſibilibus ad intelligibilia.

¶ Qꝫ cõgrue diuina atqꝫ cœleſtia: etiã per diſſimilia ſigna tradãt̃. Cap. II

5 PRimũ igit̃ oportet (vt reor) exponere: quã eſſe totius ſimul cœleſtis hierarchiæ deſtinationẽ putemus/ & quid vnaq̃qꝫ F cõferat ſectatoribus ſuis. Tũ cœleſtes quoqꝫ diſtictiones:
iuxta id qđ de illis ſacræ litteræ tradũt/ laudare cõueniet.
deinceps vero cuiuſmodi formis atqꝫ figuris cœleſtes illas diſtinctiones ſacræ litteræ tradũt honeſtiſſime fictas/ & ad
quã ſimplicitatẽ per hæc figmẽta nobis cõſcẽdendũ ſit: explicare cõſequẽs fuerit. Ne nos quoqꝫ vulgi errore ſeducti/ paſſim exiſtimemus cœleſtes ac G diuina ſpecie ꝑditos ſpiritus: multis pedibus/ multiſqꝫ eſſe faciebus/ & ſiue H ad boũ ſtoliditatẽ/ ſiue ad feritatẽ leonũ eſſe formatos/ ſeu ad aquilarũ recuruis roſtris effigiẽ/ ſeu ad piloſã auiũ plumeſcentiã fictos/ ſeu rotas quaſdã igneas & materiales ſedes ad accubitũ ſummę diuinitati neceſſarias ſupra cœlũ imaginari ſtolide incipiamus/ & equos diſcolores aliquos/ & ſatellites I armatos/ ac duces: & cætera id genus quæ nobis euidenti & expreſſa varietate ſignorũ ſacratiſſime ficta tradũtur. Nẽpe enĩ poeticis fictionibus K theologia (vt eos deſcriberet ſpiritus qui formis carẽt) affatim vtit̃/ humanę ſcilicet mẽtis (vt diximus) infirmitatẽ nõ ignorãs/ eiqꝫ ꝓpriã et cognatã viã per quã ad altiora ferat̃ benigniſſime prouidẽs/ ac pro ipſius modo 6 in ſacris litteris huiuſmodi aſcẽſionis itinera ſternẽs. ¶ Porro ſi cui videtur ſacras quidẽ haſce cõpoſitiones nõ eſſe admittẽdas: quippe cũ ſimplex diuinarũ rerũ ſubſtãtia in ſe ipſa/ & incognita ſit nobis/ & intelligentiã fugiat noſtrã. cæterũ eas quæ in ſanctis libris & litteris reperiuntur imagines angelorum/abſonas atqꝫ incongruas putat: & omnẽ hanc durã nimis (vt ita dixerim) angelicorum nominũ improbat ſcęnam/ dicens oportuiſſe theologos (quandoquidem ad incorporalia corporeis lineamẽtis ac formis deſcribenda omnino veniſſent) proprijs inquantum poſſent illa/ cognatiſqꝫ figuris exprimere. ex ijs ſcilicet quę ſũt apud nos precioſiſſima/ ſubſtãtiãqꝫ

ſuā ex humo altius attollūt/& ſeſe in altitudinē vēdicāt: & non cœleſtibus ac diuinis/ſimplicibuſqꝫ naturis terrenas quaſqꝫ/infimas & varias circūda re formas. Ita enim & mēs noſtra ſeſe melius ad celſa ſuſtolleret: cōmodio re freta adminiculo. & ſublimes illæ ac mundo celſiores ſignificationes: ad incōgruas diſſimilitudines & incōcinnas non deducerētur. At id profecto eiuſmodi eſt: vt & diuinas virtutes neſarie iniurijs violet/& noſtrā etiā for taſſis mētē in pręcipitia erroris īpellat/prophanis illā cōpoſitionibus pror ſus affigēs. Et fortaſſe nō deſit qui arbitret̃ cœleſtia illa/leonū et equorum agminibus plena: vt pro laude mugitus reſonent/& auiū gregibus/ & ani= mātibus reliquis/& materijs quibuſlibet vilibus/& cæteris in hunc modū:
quæqꝫ vel abſurde vel corrupte vel paſſiue deſcribūt diſſimiles per oīa in ſa
cro eloquio ſimilitudines/quibus iſta ſignant̃. ¶ Atqui veritatis iſta inquiſi 7
tio abūde (vt reor) ſcripturæ ſanctæ altiſſimā ſapiētiā indicat: vt quæ in cœ leſtiū deſcriptione ſpirituū/ vtriqꝫ rei vigilantiſſima cura proſpexit. vt neqꝫ diuinis virtutibus iniuria vlla (vt ſic dixerim) fieret: neqꝫ nos infimis humil limiſqꝫ affigeremur imaginibus. Nēpe enī ꝙ informibus/ formæ: figuraqꝫ carētibus figurę admoueantur diſpēſatione ſalutari: nō modo ea cauſa fue rit quā prædiximus/infirmitatis noſtræ ſcilicet ratio: quæ cōſcēdere ad cel ſiora/ac ſpiritualia contēplari ſine adminiculis nequit/īdigetqꝫ proprijs & de ſua fragilitate petitis auxilijs quibus ad ſuperiora nitatur: vt ſcilicet ſpe=
ctaculis illis eximijs & forma omni/ naturaqꝫ ſuperioribꝰ familiares nobis
L imponātur formæ. verū/ꝙ id quoqꝫ myſticis ſcripturarū eloquijs decētiſſi mū eſt: ſacrā & obſtruſā cœleſtiū ſpirituū veritatē huiuſmodi arcanis vela mētis/& ſacratiſſimis ſignis occultare/& ꝓphanæ multitudini inuiā pone=
M re. nō enī oēs ſacri ſunt: neqꝫ iuxta ſcripturæ ſentētiam/oīm ſciētia eſt. Qꝫ ſi quis abſonas & abſurdas imagines in ius vocet/vereriqꝫ dicat diuinis illis ſanctiſſimiſqꝫ ſpiritibus formas adeo fœdas imponere: illū ita admonuiſ= N ſe ſufficiet/duplicē in ſacris litteris tradi ſignificādi modū. ex his alterū per ſimiles imagines/figuraſqꝫ procedere/nichilqꝫ a ſua natura deuiare: alterū per diſſimiles formas promouere/itaqꝫ effictū: vt diuerſa prorſus & alia q̄ O videatur inſinuet. ¶ Deniqꝫ & reuerēdā illā superſubſtātialis deitatis/ in= effabilēqꝫ beatitudinē/diuinorū eloquiorū myſticæ traditiones dū expri= mere cupiūt: aliquādo vt verbū & itellectū & eſſētiā laudāt/vt per iſtas ap 8 P pellationes: diuinā eius eloquentiā & ſapientiā/& ſubſtantiā veriſſime exi ſtentē/atqꝫ oīm quę ſūt ſubſiſtētia verā cauſā ſignificēt. Interdū vt lucē ipſā concelebrāt/& vitā vocāt. Enīuero huiuſmodi ſacra figmenta: honeſtiora quidē ſunt/& terrenis ac materialibus formis eminere videntur. cæterū ne ſic quidē ad diuinæ ſimilitudinis veritatem prope accedunt. Excedit enim illa ſubſtantiā omnē: vitāqꝫ tranſcendit. nulla hanc exprimit lux. oīſqꝫ ſer= mo/omnis mēs atqꝫ ratio: abſqꝫ vlla comparatione/illius ſimilitudine infe= rior eſt. ¶ Aliquando item ab eiſdē laudatur ſcripturis honeſtiſſime ac pe 9
Q ne diuine/dū in eius laude diſſimilibus vtuntur ſignis: eāqꝫ inuiſibilem/in= finitā/& incōpræhēſibilē prędicāt. ijs eā appellātes nominibus/ quibus nō quid ſit: ſed quid non ſit dicitur. Hoc enī verius vt arbitror in ipſa eſt: & de illa proprie magis aſſeritur. Nā ſicuti ſecretior illa/ſacerdotaliſqꝫ traditio docuit: dū illā eſſe aliquid negamus ex ijs quæ ſunt: verū profecto loqui-mur/etſi modū quo illa indiffinita eſt (quippe quę ſuperſubſtātialis & in-10 cōpræhenſibilis atqꝫ ineffabilis eſt) prorſus ignoramus. ¶ Si ergo in diuinis rebus negationes quidē veræ ſunt/affirmationes vero nequaq̃ tātis ar canorū latebris cōgruūt: illa ſane cōuenientior in rebus inuiſibilibus erit expreſſio/quæ per diſſimilia ſigna monſtratur. Honorāt igit̄ illos cœlites ordines: nō probro afficiūt/aut vllo dedecore/ſāctarū litterarū deſcriptiones: dū eos diſſimilibus formis ac fictionibus exprimunt/ac per eas indi-cāt terrenis ac mortalibus rebus abſqꝫ vlla cōparatione præcellere beatiſ ſimos ſpiritꝰ. Porro ꝙ mentē atqꝫ animū noſtrū ſimilitudines illæ quæ vi dentur abſurdę/potētius iuuēt/atqꝫ ad diuina cōmodius ſubuehāt: nemo qui recte ſentiat arbitror inficiabitur. Nā ſi quidem quæqꝫ ſunt apud nos precioſiora ſumantur: quis nō videat fore/vt per huiuſmodi figuras ober rare incipiat animus/putās cœleſtes illas ęthereaſqꝫ ſubſtātias rutilātis au ri pręferre ſpeciē/viroſqꝫ eſſe aliquos lucidos/ & oris maieſtate coruſcos/decoros/& veſtis cādore cōſpicuos: ignēqꝫ innocue de ſe mittētes/& cęte-ra id genus quibus theologia ſublimes illos ſpiritus pingit/& figurarū va rietate deſcribit. Quod vti ne illi paterētur/ qui nichil celſius mortali hac luce & corporū ſpecie cōtueri queūt: excellens illa ſanctorū virorū (qui di uina nobis monumēta reliquerūt) ſapiētia/vt adminicula neceſſaria infirmis animis daret: ad eas quoqꝫ diſſimilitudines quæ videntur abſurdæ/ſingulari diſpenſatione deſcendit. nequaq̃ permittēs imbecillā mentē no-ſtrā fœdis inhærere imaginibus/atqꝫ illis prorſus acquieſcere: ſed potius erigens animæ partē ad ſuperiora tendentē/ atqꝫ inhoneſtate formarū a viſibilibus omnibus reuocans. quaſi fas nō ſit/neqꝫ veriſimile omnino eſ-ſe videat̄: ne ijs quidē qui ſtolidiores/craſſioriſqꝫ intelligētię ſunt: cœleſtia illa & diuina ſpectacula fœdis rebus reuera ſimilia eſſe. Ad hæc illud quoqꝫ cogitādū eſt: nichil eſſe in rebus hūanis quod boni participatione ſit oīno priuatū. nā vt ſeſe ſcripturæ ſanctæ veritas habet: fecit deus ōnia/ R bona valde. Fas igitur fuerit ex his oībus pulcherrimas elicere intelligen-tias: ſpiritualibuſqꝫ & intelligibilibus rebus/ex humilioribus atqꝫ terrenis diſſimiles ſimilitudines. Sic enim dicimur effingere: cum eadem aliter ſpi 11 ritualibus inſunt/aliterqꝫ carnalibus. ¶ Nēpe enim iracundia mutis qui- S dē animātibus ex affectu & cōmotione paſſiua prouenit: eſtqꝫ iracundus eorum motus/omni prorſus ratione deſtitutus. At in ſpiritualibus omnino ſubſtantijs longe alio modo ira intelligenda eſt. ſignificat enim vt reor equidem/maſculam illarum (vt & ita dicam) & penitus inſitā rationem atqꝫ ſapientiam/& habitum in diuinis atqꝫ immutabilibus rebus cō ſtantem/& perpetua firmitate locatū. Eadē ratione cōcupiſcētiam in mu tis quidē eſſe dicimus affectum quendā improuidum/atqꝫ terrenū: ex in-ſito motu ſeu conſuetudine in ijs quæ ſunt mutabilia abſqꝫ vlla modera-tione feruentem/ & irrationabile dominium corporalis appetitus. ex quo animal omne ad id quod ſenſibus concupiſcendum occurrit: impel-

Cap.
2

litur. Vbi vero ſpiritibus angelicis diſſimiles ſimilitudines admouendo/
T concupiſcentiam illis applicare pergimus:diuinum hanc amorem intelli gere neceſſe eſt eius qui omnem rationem/omnemqꝫ intelligentiam ſupe rat/ mundiciæ atqꝫ puritatis: deſideriumqꝫ iuge & conſtans caſtiſſimæ atqꝫ fœliciſſimæ illius atqꝫ ab omni perturbatione remotiſſimæ contem-plationis/& inexplebilē auiditatem æternæ profecto atqꝫ inuiſibilis ſocie tatis. per quā ad ſerenū illud/ ſupremūqꝫ iubar aſpirāt:& inuiſibilem illū decorē totius authorē pulchritudinis ābiunt. Porro incontinentiā in his accipiamus rigidā ſeueritatē/intentionēqꝫ perpetuā: quā nichil inflectere/nichil intercipere poſſit/ob meraciſſimū & immutabilem diuinæ pulchritudinis ac ſimplicitatis amorē:cū ad id quod vere/ſūmeqꝫ expetendū eſt/ſemper anhelent. Ipſum quoqꝫ irrationabile atqꝫ inſenſibile in brutis quidē animalibus/ inanimatiſqꝫ naturis: rationis ac ſenſus priuationē ꝓ-prie dicimus.cęterū in ſpiritualibus intellectualibuſqꝫ ſubſtātijs:ſingula-rē ipſarū excellentiā(vt quæ mundo ſuperior ſit) cōgruētiſſime fatemur.
per quā ſermoni noſtro corporeo atqꝫ tranſeūti/terrenoqꝫ ſenſui/& a ſupernis virtutibus alieno:longe antecellunt. Licet igitur nō incongruas cœ leſtibus etiā ex viliſſimis materiæ partibus formas effingere: quippe quæ & ipſa a ſummo bono nacta ſubſtātiā/ per oēs ſui partes atqꝫ diſtinctio-nes/intellectualis decoris quaſdā præ ſe ferat imagines.per quas:ad ſpirituales illas/primitiuaſqꝫ formas poſſimus aſcēdere.ſimilitudines (vt di ctū eſt)haud ſimili ratione capientes/& eaſdē non eodem modo:ſed conuenienter & proprie in ſpiritualibus/corporalibuſqꝫ proprietatibus diffi nientes. ❡Hiſce figmentis nō modo cū de cœleſtibus ordinibus loquerē 12
V tur/vſos theologos inueniemus/vt eos ſacratius/veriuſqꝫ ſignarent:verum
X & cū de ipſa ſumma diuinitate diſſererent. ❡Deniqꝫ illā interdū ex viſi- 13 bilibus iſtis/precioſiſqꝫ cōcelebrāt: vt cū ſolē iuſtitiæ/ſtellāqꝫ matutinā in corde fideliū ſacratius orientem:atqꝫ vt lucē abſqꝫ vllo velamine ſpiritua li fulgore perſtringentē mentis obtutus/appellant. Aliquando ex ijs quæ ſunt media/diuinā prędicant maieſtatē;cū ſcilicet illam/ignē innocua flā-ma lucentē/aquam vitalis plenitudinis indultricē;& (vt ſignificantius dixerim)in intima ventris penetrantē/emanantemqꝫ flumina perpeti lapſu decurrentia/dicunt. Aliquando item ex infimis/rem tantam collaudāt:cū deum vel fragrans vnguentum/ vel lapidem angularem vocāt. Ferarum quoqꝫ illi applicant formas:leonis ac pantheræ proprietatem ei aſcriben tes/vt pardum fore dicentes:vrſamqꝫ indigentem. Addā et quod omniū viliſſimum atqꝫ abſurdiſſimū eſſe videatur.namqꝫ & vermis ſpeciem/ diuinam illam excellentiam ſibi affixiſſe:ij qui diuina ſacratius callent/tra-diderunt. Adeo omnes quos diuina impleuit ſapientia/ occultę illius ac diuinæ inſpirationis enunciādæ functi miniſterio: ſancta ſanctorū ab im perfectis ac prophanis abſqꝫ vlla cōmixtionis macula dirimunt/diſſimi-lemqꝫ ſacrarū rerum fictionē profitentur ac prædicāt.vt neqꝫ diuina prophanis perceptu facilia ſint:neqꝫ rurſus ſacratiſſimorum ſignorum ſtudioſi inſpectores/figuris tanq̄ veris inhęreant.vtqꝫ diuina veriſſimis ꝓſe-

cto negationibus honorētur: dum extremis creaturæ ſuæ partibus a ſua licet natura remotiſſimis ſimilis dicitur. Nichil igitur ineptū aut abſurdū facere videntur: qui ob eas quas diximus cauſas/ cœleſtibus illis immortalibuſq; ſubſtantijs diſſimiles omnino ſimilitudines ex inferioribus petitas affigunt. Nam fortaſſe ne nos quidem ex ambiguo ad inquirēdum excitati eſſemus/ neq; ad ſacratiora intelligentiæ per diligentiorem ſcrutationis indaginem veniſſemus: niſi nos commouiſſet inhoneſta fictionum facies qua proprietas exprimitur angelorū/ nulla ratione permittens mētem noſtrā fœdis formarū inſidere figmentis: ſed excitans potius ad omnes mortales affectus renuendos/ atq; ſalubriter cōſuefaciens per ea quæ vidētur ad ſublimiora cōtendere atq; ad cœleſtia ſubuehi. Sed hęc hactenus dixerim: ob eas quę in ſacris litteris habentur effigies/ deſcriptioneſq; angelorum. ex quibus id conſtet: eas ab inferioribus/ multūq; remotis/ rationaliter vtiliterq; petitas. 14 ¶ Deinceps vero diffinire oportet quid hierarchiam ipſam eſſe arbitremur: quidue illa conferat ijs qui ſe illi deuouentes/ in eius ſortem conceſſere. Sit autem dux verbi CHRISTVS (ſi michi dicere liceat) meus: qui de tanta re quid dicere debeamus inſpiret. Eſt enim ipſe: totius ſcientiæ fons/ cœleſtiſq; afflatus indultor. Tu autem o fili/ iuxta quod ſancit noſtra pijſſima et ſacroſancta traditio/ & ipſe (quæ ſācte dicuntur) congrua ſuſcipe pietate: ac diuina diſcendo diuinus efficere. & ſancta mentis receſſibus condens: ea vt eximia & coniungendi nos deo vim habentia ſingularem: a prophana multitudine inuiolata cuſtodi. Neſas enim eſt (vt ſacra teſtantur eloquia) ſpiritualiū margaritarum Z puriſſimū illum/ ac permixtionis ignarum perlucidumq; decorem & ornatum totius venuſtatis authorem: in porcos abijcere.

¶ SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS.

¶ Deſtinationem putemus. deſtinationē: diffinitionē/ atq; determinationē. ¶ Ne nos F G quoq; vulgi errore ſeducti. Ficta tradūtur in prophetis: multipedes ſpiritus/ multarūq; facierum/ & bos/ leo/ aquila/ plumeſcentes aues/ rotę igneæ/ ſedes/ equi diſcolores/ ſatellites/ ac duces exercitus. Multipedes & multarū facierum. Ezechiel cap. primo. In medio eius ſimilitudo quatuor animaliū: & hic aſpectus eorū. ſimilitudo hominis in eis/ & quatuor facies vni/ & quatuor pēnæ vni: & pedes eorū pedes recti. Bos/ leo/ aquila. Ezechiel eodem in loco. Facies hominis & facies leonis: a dextris ipſorū quatuor. facies autē bouis: a ſiniſtris ipſorū quatuor. & facies aquilæ: deſuper ipſorum quatuor. Et plumeſcentes auiū inſtar finguntur: cū ſubiungitur. et facies eorū & pennæ/ extentę deſuper. duæ pennę ſingulorū tegebantur: & duę tegebāt corpora eorū. Rotę igneę & ſedes. Daniel cap. ſeptimo. Aſpiciebā donec ſedes poſitę ſunt: & antiquus dierū ſedit. ſedes eius flāmę ignis: rotę eius ignis accenſus. Equi diſcolores. Zacharias cap. primo Ecce vir aſcendens ſuper equū rufum: & ipſe ſtabat inter mirteta quę erāt in profundo. & poſt eū equi rufi/ varij & albi. Satellites armati. ſecundus Machabeorum cap. tertio. Apparuit illis quidā equus terribilē habēs ſeſſorē optimis operimētis ornatus: iſq; cū impetu Heliodoro priores calces eliſit. qui autē ei inſidebat: videbatur arma habere aurea. alij etiam apparuerūt duo iuuenes virtute decori/ optimi gloria/ ſpecioſiq; amictu: qui circunſteterūt eū/ ſine intermiſſione multis plagis verberantes. Exercitus duces. Ioſue cap. quinto. Cum autē eſſet Ioſue in agro vrbis Hierico: leuauit oculos & vidit virū ſtantem contra ſe/ euaginatū tenētē gladiū. perrexitq; ad eū & ait: noſter es an aduerſariorū? qui reſpōdit/ nequaq̄: ſed ſum priceps exercitus domini/ & nunc venio. & cecidit Ioſue pronus in terrā/ adorās eū. ¶ Et ſiue H ad boū ſtoliditatem/ ſiue ad feritatem leonum. Stoliditatē: ferinā/ pecoralēq; effigiē.

multipedes
Multarū facierum
Bos
Leo Aquila
Plumeſcentes auiū inſtar
Rotę igneę
Sedes
Equi diſcolores
Satellites armati
Exercitus duces

I K ¶Imaginari ſtolide incipiamus.ſtolide/ſenſualiter atqꝫ craſſe.¶Nempe enim poeticis
L fictionibus. fictitijs imaginibus/ repræſentationibuſqꝫ. ¶Verū q̄ id quoqꝫ myſticis
M ſcripturarū eloquijs.verum/ſed.ſubaudimus/cauſa fuit.¶Non enim omnes ſacri ſunt:neqꝫ iuxta ſcripturæ ſententiā/omniū ſcientia eſt. Paulus epiſtola prima ad Corinthios capite octauo.Nobis tamen vnus deus pater:ex quo omnia/& nos in illo.&
vnus dominus IHESVS CHRISTVS:per quem omnia/& nos per ipſum.ſed non N in omnibus eſt ſcientia. ¶Duplicē in ſacris litteris tradi ſignificandi modum. Ex his alterū per ſimiles imagines/figuraſqꝫ procedere.vt qui ex eſſentijs ſenſibilium/ex inferiorū bonitatibus/ex noſtris intelligentijs:ad ſupramundanas eſſentias/bonitates/menteſqꝫ:& ex dominio ad dominiū/ex temporali regno ad regnū immenſum/ & cæteris eiuſmodi euehuntur. Alterum per diſſimiles formas promouere.vt cum inuiſibilem /incompræhenſibilem/& immenſum dicunt deū.vt cum per bouem/leonē/aquilam /alatas multicipites volucres/equos/ & ſimilia id genus: cœleſtes/ ſupramundaniqꝫ ſpiritus & eorū ſacramenta/pijs ſanctorū hominū mentibus aliquando inſinuantur.
O ¶Deniqꝫ & reuerendā illā ſuperſubſtantialis deitatis/ ineffabilemqꝫ beatitudinē.
Tres ſuperſubſtātiales/ineffabileſqꝫ beatitudines nominat diuinus pater Dionyſius:
patrem/filium & ſpiritum ſanctū:quas nos perſonas/ ſuppoſitaqꝫ dicimus. Et diuina illa beatitudo quę filius eſt: verbum/intellectus/eſſentia/lux/ vita/in ſacris litteris nominatur.
Verbum Verbum quidē,Ioānes cap. primo.In principio erat verbum:& verbū erat Intellectus apud deum/& deus erat verbum.Intellectus.pſalmus cēteſimus triceſimus quintus.
Eſſentia qui fecit cœlos in intellectu:quoniam in æternum miſericordia eius.Eſſentia.Ioannes Lux cap.octauo.Priuſq̄ Abrahā fieret:ego ſum. Lux.Ioannes cap. primo. Erat lux vera:
Vita quæ illuminat omnem hominē venientem in hunc mundū.Vita. Idem & capite eodem.
& vita erat lux hominū.Et hæc per primum diuinarum ſignificationum modum
P dicta ſunt. ¶Diuinā eius eloquentiā:& ſapientiā.eloquentiam:elocutionem/explicationemqꝫ.
In filio enim pater ſeipſum explicat:& omnia explicantur in filio.Mens:pater.
Q intimum mentis verbum:filius.voces & ſermones: creaturæ. ¶Eamqꝫ inuiſibilē
& infinitam.Per ſecundū ſignificandi modum diuina beatitudo in ſacris litteris:inuiſibilis Inuiſibilis /infinita/incompræhenſibiliſqꝫ dicitur.Inuiſibilis quidē.Paulus ad Timotheum epiſtola prima cap.ſexto.qui ſolus habet immortalitatem:& lucem habitat inacceſſibilem.
Infinita quem nullus hominū vidit:ſed nec videre poteſt.Infinita.pſalmus centeſimus Incompręhenſibilis quadrageſimus quartus.& magnitudinis eius non eſt finis.Incompræhenſibilis.Paulus epiſtola ad Romanos cap.vndecimo. O altitudo diuitiarum ſapientiæ & ſcientiæ dei:q̄ incōpræhēſibilia ſunt iudicia eius/& inueſtigabiles viæ eius.quis enim cognouit ſenſum dn̄i? ¶Nā vt ſeſe ſcripturæ ſanctę veritas habet:fecit deus ōnia/ bona valde.
R Geneſis cap.primo.Vidit deus cuncta quę fecerat/& erant valde bona.¶Nempe
S enim iracundia mutis quidem animantibus.mutis animantibus: brutis/ irrationalibuſqꝫ animantibus.¶Diuinum hāc amorem intelligere neceſſe eſt.hanc/ concupiſcētiā.
T ¶Vſos theologos inueniemus. Theologi:prophetæ/apoſtoli/& ſacrarū litterarum
V inſtauratores.¶Deniqꝫ illam interdum ex viſibilibus iſtis precioſiſqꝫ cōcelebrāt.
X Ipſa diuinitas ex viſibilibus ſummis/ex medijs/ex imis nominatur.Ex ſummis:ſol iuſtitiæ /ſtella matutina/lux vera.ex medijs:ignis/aqua.ex imis: vnguentū/lapis angularis
Sol iuſtitiæ /leo/panthera/pardus/vrſa/vermis.Sol iuſtitiæ.Malachias cap.quarto.& orietur Stella matutina vobis timentibus nomen meum:ſol iuſtitiæ. & ſanitas in pennis eius. Stella matutina.
Apocalypſis cap. ſecūdo. & dabo illi ſtellam matutinā.Lux.ex beato Ioanne
Lux apoſtolo iam teſtimoniū habitum eſt.& ex eodē/cap.tertio.Hoc eſt autem iudicium/Ignis quia lux venit in mundū:& dilexerūt homines magis tenebras q̄ lucē.Ignis.Exodus cap.tertio.Apparuitqꝫ ei dominus in flamma ignis de medio rubi:& videbatur q̄ rubus Aqua arderet/& non comburebatur.Aqua.Ioannes cap.ſeptimo.ſi quis ſitit: veniat ad me & bibat.qui credit in me(ſicut dicit ſcriptura)flumina de ventre eius fluent aquæ Vnguentū viuæ.Vnguentum.Cantica cap.primo. Trahe me poſt te:curremus in odorē vnguētorū Lapis tuorū. Lapis.Eſaias viceſimo octauo.ecce ego mittā in Sion lapidē:lapidē probatum Leo /angularē/precioſum/in fūdamētū fūdatū. Leo/Panthera.Oſee cap.quinto.
Panthera quoniam ego quaſi leena Effraim & quaſi catulus leonis domui Iuda.vbi illa fœlicitate
Pardus apoſtolicorū temporum & plenitudinis ſapientiæ ſpiritus ſancti:legebatur. ego Vrſa quaſi panthera Effraim & quaſi leo domui Iuda. Pardus/vrſa. Oſee decimotertio. &

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

ego ero eis quaſi leena: ſicut pardus in via Aſſyriorū. occurram eis quaſi vrſa raptis catulis: & diſrumpam interiora iecoris eorum. Vermis. pſalmus viceſimus primus. ego autem ſum vermis & non homo: opprobriū hominum & abiectio plebis. ¶ Nefas enim eſt/ vt ſacra teſtantur eloquia. Mattheus cap. ſeptimo. Nolite ſanctum dare canibus/neqꝫ mittatis margaritas veſtras ante porcos: ne forte conculcent eas pedibus ſuis/& canes conuerſi dirumpant vos.

Vermis.
Z

¶ SECVNDI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

5 Quæ in hoc libro determinanda ſunt: certo quodā ordine proponit ſacratus pater/dicitqꝫ primo loco explicandū eſſe: quænā ſit ipſius hierarchiæ ratione generali diffinitio/vt totā complectatur cōmuni quodā ambitu cœleſtem hierarchiā/ & quid illa aſſectatoribus ſuis ac imitatoribus conferat. quod in proxime ſequenti capite expedietur. Secundo vero loco concelebrandæ ſunt dignis laudibus cœleſtes ſubſtātiæ/declarandæ earū diſtinctiōes/nuncupationes & proprietates. quod in quarto/quinto/& ſequentibus deinceps capitibus pertractabitur. Tertio deniqꝫ loco/ cuiuſmodi figuris ſenſibilibus ſacræ litteræ deſcribunt cœleſtes ſpiritus/et quid per vnāquāqꝫ illarū formarū ſignificetur/quoue modo ex illis ad ſimplicem illorū ſpiritualemqꝫ naturā eſt aſſurgendū: determinare conueniet. quod potiſſimum in vltimo huius libri capite cōficietur. Et plane operępreciū erit huiuſmodi materiales deſcriptiones ad ſpiritualē ſignificationem & ſenſum traducere: ne quiſpiam vulgi errorem ſecutus (quod carnaliter & ſenſibiliter expreſſa: carnaliter itidē & paſſibiliter capere ſemper ſolet/neqꝫ vnq̃ erigitur vltra molem & ſpeciem corporeā ad ſpiritualēītelligētiā) putet cœleſtes ſpiritus: aut multos habere pedes aut facies/boūue aut leonū/aquilarum vel auium gerere ſpeciem. aut effingat ſupra cœlos eſſe rotas igneas: aut ſedes corporales quibus deus ad inſidēdum egeat/aut equos diuerſicolores/milites armatos duceſve exercitus/& cętera id genus: quæ in ſacra ſcriptura decentiſſime efformata cōperiuntur. Vt enim in præcedēti capite dictum eſt/ diuinarum litterarū ſcriptores eā ob cauſam īmateriales cœleſtiū ordinū inuiſibileſqꝫ ſubſtantias materialibus & viſibilibus ſignis deſcripſerūt: vt noſtræ mētis infirmitati cōſulerent/ & accōmodatā illi viam per quā ad cœleſtiū eueheretur cognitionē prępararēt/ex cognatis ipſi & affinibus rebus: gradū ad ſuperiora & aſcenſionē ad cœleſtia cōſtruētes.

6 ¶ Obiectionē ponit deinceps eorū: quibus irrationabilis videri poſſet huiuſmodi ſenſibilis deſcriptio coeleſtiū ſpirituū. Nā ſimplex (inquiūt) & intellectualis angelicarum virtutū ſubſtātia: nobis prorſus eſt incognita. quomodo igitur per rerū materialiū cōpoſitiones/figurationeſqꝫ cognoſcetur ab hominibus? Ad hęc/imagines illæ & figurę quibus ſacræ litteræ beatiſſimos ſpiritus exprimūt: abſonæ (dicet fortaſſe quiſpiam) & abſurdę ſunt/prorſuſqꝫ indignæ quę tam ſublimibus rebus attribuantur. ideoqꝫ improbanda potius & reiiciēda cuiq̃ videbitur omnis illa ſenſibilis repręſentatio: tanq̃ theatralis quedā ac ſcęnica adumbratio/ſacris ſpiritibus adaptata. Qꝛ ſi quę incorporea ſunt/corporeis fuerāt et ſenſibilibus formis exprimēda: debuiſſent potius diuinarum rerum ſpeculatores illa corporalibus quidē rebus/ſed digniſſimis & perfectiſſimis exprimere. vt cœlo/ſole/luce/& ſimilibus: quę in alto cœli faſtigio locū ſibi vendicant/ & a terrę craſſitie longius diſtant. neqꝫ terrenę/ abiectęqꝫ & viles formę: erant angelis ipſis accōmodādę. Sic enim mens humana cōmodius ad cœleſtia capienda erigeretur: ꝙ cōuenientius nacta eſſet pręſidium/ob maiorē naturę cōformitatem & cognationem inter angelos & digniſſima huius mūdi corpora. neqꝫ cœleſtes ſubſtantię tunc ad humiles & infimas abijcerētur formas materiales: quibus omnino ſunt diſſimiles. At cū per abiectiſſima figmenta & ſigna deſcribūtur ſublimes illi & mundo celſiores ſpiritus: vidētur ipſi profecto iniuria affici/ ꝙ cōtra ſuā dignitatem tam ſordido & vili circūdantur amictu. Illud inſuper infirmā mentem humanā deuoluere poſſet in deuia erroris/& inducere in eā opinionē: ꝙ huiuſmodi terrenę & humiles formę ſecundum veritatē & ſubſtātiā adeſſent angelis. Forſan erit & aliquis: occaſione huiuſmodi figurationū viliſſimarū exiſtimans in cœlo leones eſſe & equos/ auiū multitudinē & aliorum animaliū/aliaſve res materiales: quibus per diſſimiles quaſdā ſimilitudines in ſacro eloquio ſignificātur cœleſtes ſpiritus/ſed abſurde/incōcinne & paſſibiliter. vt sen-
7 tirent ij: qui hęc ſupradicta obijcerēt. ¶ Prędictā diluit obiectionem/dicens imprimis

ſacrā ſcripturā ſapiētiſſime id obſeruaſſe: ꝙ infimis rebus angelicorū ſpirituū expreſſerit proprietates/ & duobus incōmodis prouide occurriſſe. Primum. ne ipſis angelis vlla fieret iīuria: ex eo ꝙ quis crederet formas ſenſibiles illis adeſſe. minus enim īmo nullo modo ad id credendum quis inducetur: cū perſpicit viliſſimas illis formas aſcribi.
Secundū. ne noſipſi inhęreamꝰ & īmoremur affixi huiuſmodi formis/ putātes eas ſecundū veritatē adeſſe cœleſtibus ſpiritibus: ſed animū ex illis ad altiora attollamus.
Non enim ſolū ob ſupradictā cauſam adhibētur angelicis ſubſtātiis figurę materiales & ſenſibiles: vt illarū ſcilicet adminiculo mens humana(quę ībecilla admodum eſt/ & ſupercœleſtia in ſuę naturę ſimplicitate cōpręhendere nequit. vt neqꝫ dei verbū percipere
potuiſſet/ niſi carne veſtitū: neqꝫ apparētes hominibus ſpiritus angelicos/ niſi corporali forma vt humana aut ignea circūamictos) conſcēdat ad ſublimia & ſpiritualia intelligēda. verum etiā ob alterā cauſam/ id rationabiliter & decenter a ſcriptura factū eſt. vt videlicet ſecreta ſupercœleſtiū myſteriorū intelligentia & veritas occultetur & abſcōdatur huiuſmodi corporalibꝰ tegumētis: ab iis qui indigni ſūt & minus idonei eam capere. vtqꝫ imperita vulgi multitudo arceatur & excludatur ne illā percipiat:
ꝙ neqꝫ apta eſt neqꝫ diſpoſita ad cœleſtiū ſpirituū ſimplicitatē ſpiritualem contuendā.
Non enī omnes: ad ſacra perſpiciēda & diuinarū ſcientiā rerum ſunt accōmodati/neqꝫ admittēdi. quādoquidē neqꝫ in corporalibus rebus ſacris/ vt gēmis precioſioribus/auro argentoqꝫ circūdatis/ aut reliquiis ſanctorū id fit: vt paſſim omniū pateant contactui aut aſpectui. ſed ſecretioribus recōduntur locis/ aut vitro perſpicuo circūductę aſſeruantur: ne omniū manibus contrectentur. Qꝛ ſiquis ſuperius adducta obiiciens/ accuſet & vituperet formas illas corporales ex infimis rebus petitas: tanq̄ ineptas & indignas quę cœleſtibus applicētur ſpiritibus/ ſeqꝫ dicat abhorrere prorſus ab huiuſmodi figuris/ tā ſublimibus ſubſtātiis imponēdis: is demū agnoſcat/ duplicē eſſe in ſacra ſcriptura ſignificādi quæ ſpiritualia ſunt & intellectualia/ modū. Vnus eſt per ſimiles imagines & cōformes ſimilitudines. quādo ſcilicet inter id quod ſignificatur & id per quod ſignificatur/ magna eſt naturæ & proprietatū cognatio: neqꝫ hoc ab illius veritate diſcedit. vt cū per lumen/ vitā/ rationem/ mentem aut ſpiritū: de angelicis ſubſtātiis ſublimiter habetur ſermo. Alter ſignificādi modus eſt per diſſimiles formas/ & difformes ſimilitudines. quando ſignū longo diſtat naturæ/ perfectioniſqꝫ interuallo ab eo cuius adhibetur ſignū: īmo plurimā cum eo habet diſſimilitudinē. vt cū cœleſtes ſpiritus per rotas/ currus/ & equos igneos/ armatoſve milites repręſentātur.
vbi ſigna ipſa/ diuerſa prorſus & alia q̄ ſint ſecundū ſubſtantiā: inſinuāt. nam infima ſummorum/ & corporalia ſpiritualiū ſunt indicia. ¶Declarat autem quod modo 8
dictū eſt beatus pater/ in expreſſione diuinitatis ipſius filii dei a ſcripturis facta: oſtendens huiuſmodi explicationē interdū fieri per ſigna ſimilia/ primūqꝫ ſignificādi modum.
quēadmodū cum ſecūda ſummæ deitatis perſona dicitur in ſcripturis verbū: ad deſignādam eius elocutionem & explanationē/ qua patrem cuius eſt verbum manifeſtat.
cum etiam nūcupatur intellectus: ad ſignificandā eius immenſam ſapiētiam.
deniqꝫ cū noīatur eſſentia/ vita & lux: quia omniū eſt ſubſtātia/ ſubſiſtendi cauſa/ omnium etiā viuētium vita/ & lucidorū lux. Sane iſta quinqꝫ nunc adducta: honeſta quidem ſunt deumqꝫ decētia ſigna/ a terrenis formis ſemota/ et propemodū ei propīqua atqꝫ ſimilia. Nequaq̄ tamen ad omnimodā illius ſimilitudinem accedunt: quādoquidē ipſe ſuper omnē ſermonē/ mētem/ ſubſtantiā/ vitā & lucem eminētiſſime collocatꝰ eſt.
¶Aliquando vero diuina ipſa beatitudo in ſcriptura diſſimilibus exprimitur ſignis & 9
ſecūdo ſignificationis modo: ſcilicet per diſſimiles ſimilitudines. quādo negatiuis appellationibus & aliquā rerum corporaliū proprietatem de deo negātibus inſinuatur:
quibus nō quid ſit ſed quid nō ſit/ ſignificatur. vt cum noīatur incōpręhēſibilis/ iuiſibilis/immortalis/ immēſus/ incircūſcriptus. Et hoc ſecundum enunciādi genus/ verius de deo dicitur q̄ primum: quod eſt per affirmationes & predicatiuas nūcupationes.
Nam huiuſmodi affirmationes non adequate neqꝫ omnino exprimunt quid deus ſit:
ſed longe citra deficiunt/ minuſqꝫ voces ipſę dicunt q̄ res ipſa ſit. Quomodo enim dei aſſequeris integre aut exprimis ſubſtantiā/ cum lucem eum vocas aut vitā: qui omni luce ſuperior eſt & omni vita eminentior? Negationes vero id vere auferunt a deo:
quod ab eo eſt alienū/ re enī vera inuiſibilis eſt & indefinitus/ nulliſqꝫ finitus metis aut
limitibus: q̄uis modū ipſum quo incōpręhenſibilis eſt aut immēſus/ attingere nequaq̄

10 aut capere possimus. ¶Quoniã igitur in locutionibus quæ de deo fiunt/negatiões cõpletius & plenius enunciant quicq̃ de eo: affirmationes vero nequaq̃ sufficientes sunt ad ipsum diuinũ secretum & sublimitatem dei exprimendã. ꝙ semper inferiores sint & contractiores q̃ res enunciãda:& ab ea deficientes. perspicuum est in ipsa diuinitate exprimenda potiores esse negationes quæ fiunt per dissimilia signa: q̃ affirmationes/quæ per similia. Quare etiã consimiliter in cœlestium spirituum explicatione: potior erit secundus significãdi modus q̃ primus. Prosequitur deinceps datam superioris obiectionis dissolutionem sacer Dionysius: particulatim & peculiariter ad duo quæ colligi in illa videbãtur incõuenientia respõdens. Primo siquidẽ loco id asserebatur: ꝙ per huiusmodi humilium formarum ad cœlestes spiritus applicationem/videretur iniuria ipsis beatissimis angelis fieri. Idipsum hic refutat/ostẽditq; nõ per talem descriptionem dedecus aut contumeliã illis irrogari: sed potius honorem afferri egregiumq; decus/ quãdo per talia signa dissimilia exprimitur ipsorum angelorum super omnia visibilia & corporalia eminens excellentia. Secũdo vero loco adducebat obiectio pręcedens/id incõmodum: ꝙ illę similitudines rerum infimarum abiectæ & viles pertrahere facile possent animũ nostrum in errorem/affigereq; fœdis illis imaginibus. Et id quoq; hic constanter inficiatur Dionysius/ ostenditq; luculenter imagines illas extremas & humiles: efficacius animũ nostrum iuuare ad veritatem capessendã/ atq; ab errore liberius vindicare. Nã si cœlestes spiritus exprimantur solum per signa illa corporalia: quæ apud nos digniora sunt/perfectiora & excellentiora/ vt aurum/ candorem vestium/humanã effigiem aut ignem innocuum: protinus ob propinquitatem & affinitatẽ illorum cum angelicis substãtijs/putari possent illa secũdum veritatem & substantiã angelis adesse/& horum constituere naturã: quod vtiq; falsissimũ est. Ne igitur eo imbuerẽtur aut abducerentur errore: qui nichil vltra sensum & speciem corporum perspicere queunt(cuiusmodi sunt prophana vulgi multitudo:& turba imperitorum)qui sacrã nobis scripturã tradiderunt/ vt necessaria nobis(quibus ad diuina subueheremur)adiumẽta relinquerẽt: cõgruenter admodũ & apte dissimiles rerum sensibilium similitudines cœlestibus substãtijs accõmodarunt. ne sinerent animũ nostrum illis abiectis immorari signis: & existimare illa secundũ rem ipsam angelis adesse. sed erigerent eum per huiusmodi formarũ inhonestatem & fœditatem: ad spiritualem intelligentiã in illis quęritandã & vestigandam/ attollerentq; humo mentem nostrã: ad sublimiora ex illis formis indaganda ac perquirẽda. quãdoquidẽ nec ij qui crasso sunt & pingui ingenio: putare vnq̃ debeant aut possint/immortales angelorum substãtias illis fœdis abiectisq; signis esse persimiles: ob nimiam naturæ ipsorum abinuicem dissimilitudinem. Insuper & illud constanti ratione pensitandum est: ꝙ nichil est in rebus cõditis /omnino boni participatione destitutum. Quoniã enim omniũ cõditor/bonus est:& omnia ab eo condita itidẽ bona sunt cũctisq; suæ bonitatis (cuiq; pro suo captu) impressit signacula atq; vestigia. Quocirca ex infimis quoq; rebus & apud nos postremis elici possunt & trahi dissimiles similitudines: quibus ad supremarũ substantiarum intelligentiam euehamur/ per aptã quandã effictionem. qua eędem proprietates aliter sensibilibus/ aliter vero immo opposito modo intellectualibus assunt substantijs.

Gene. 1.

11 ¶Porro id postremo loco adductũ: quinq; exemplis & rerum sensibiliũ proprietatibꝰ ostendit beatus pater. Primo in ira. quæ in brutis animalibus irrationalis est affectus: cõmotionem & efferuentiã sanguinis circa cor inducens/& ratione carens. In cœlestibus vero spiritibus eadem designat virilem animi virtutem constãtissimũq; vigorem: supra affectum omnẽ longe eminentem/nulli motui obnoxium/rationi maxime coniunctum/& perpetuo tenore stabilem. Secũdo in cõcupiscẽtia. quę plane in animalibus designat appetentiam sine futuri prouidẽtia ad terrena procliuem: ex naturali inclinatione aut acquisita cõsuetudine ad illa quæ voluptate titillant sensus/sine vlla ratione se ferentem. Designat etiã concupiscentia/ nulla moderatione frenatũ appetitũ sensitiuũ/dominãtem in corpore: ex quo animal illi obsequẽs rapitur in id delectabile quod sensui obiectum est. Verum in angelicis spiritibus concupiscentia prorsus ex aduerso intelligi debet esse diuinus amor mundicię & puritatis ipsius dei: qui omnem rationẽ & mentẽ excedit. Debet item intelligi esse desideriũ continuũ & stabile ipsius diuinæ cõtemplationis: ab omni perturbatione seiũctissimæ. Deniq; & esse insatiabilis auiditas ipsius diuinæ societatis: per quã quidem auiditatem indeficientem/cœlestes ſpiritus ad immẽſæ lucis claritatem & ſumme boni pulchritudinem iugiter aſpirant.

Tertio idẽ declarat beatus pater in incõtinẽtia. quæ in nobis quidẽ animi ſignificat ꝑturbationẽ:
abiecta recta ratione/ ad turpia & ea quæ ſuadet cõcupiſcẽtia pertrahentem/& haud dubie vicio danda eſt. In cœleſtibus vero ſpiritibus penitus contrario modo incõtinentia ſignificat immobilem in bono conſtantiã/ perpetuãq; perſeuerantiã:
quã nichil ad malũ inflectere aut a recto abducere poſſit/ ob ſyncęriſſimũ diuinæ pulchritudinis amorem/ ad quem rectiſſime ſemper anhelant. Quarto idem oſtẽdit in irrationabili: quod in brutis animalibus priuationẽ & carentiã rationis indicat. In cœleſtibus vero ſpiritibus irrationabile per ſuperexcellentiã dicitur: & ſignificat eximiã illorum eminentiã vltra rationem omnem humanã/ mentẽq; & ſermonem. Poſtremo demõſtrat propoſitũ in inſenſibili: quod in inanimatis & ſenſu deſtitutis corporibus priuationẽ defectũq; ſenſus ſignificat. In angelicis vero ſubſtãtijs excellentiã quãdã ſingularem: per quam illæ ſenſui omni corporeo atq; terreno (qui ab ipſis omnino eſt alienus: etſi ſpirituales ſenſus/ viſus inquam auditus & cęteri modo ſpirituali & ſupramũdano eis decẽtiſſime conueniãt) longe pręſtãt. Ex prædictis recte colligit Dionyſius/ꝙ fas eſt atq; rationabile: ipſis cœleſtibus ſpiritibus/ etiã ex ſingulis materiæ corporalis partibus/ proprietatibus & affectiõibus/ formas ſenſibiles adhibere. Nam & ipſa materia/ a ſummo bono & omniũ conditore deo conſecuta ſuam exiſtentiam (omnia enĩ per ipſum facta ſunt: & clarum eſt omniũ nomine etiã materiã contineri)
Ioan.1. etiã bona eſt: contra illorũ ſentẽtiam/ qui eam malũ quiddam & ad maleficiũ eſſe poſuerunt.
Eadem quoq; per omnes ſui partes/ diſtinctiones & varietates/ per õnes itẽ quãtumuis diuerſas aut humiles proprietates: præ ſe fert imagines quaſdã & notas
ſpiritualis pulchritudinis intellectualiſq; ſpeciei/ per quas ad pręcipuas & prĩcipales cœleſtium ſpirituũ formas & proprietates poſſimus aſcendere. ſi modo ſimilitudines corporalium rerum & ſpiritualiũ: non ſimili ratione conſiderationeq; acceperimus/ & eaſdẽ quidem proprietates vt lumen/ ardorem/ motũ/ quietem: non eodem modo in his & illis collocauerimus. ſed in corporalibus illa corporaliter/ & quẽadmodum ipſis competit: in ſpiritualibus autẽ intellectualiter/ & ſecundũ ipſorum conditionẽ intellexerimus.
❡At vero ꝙ non incõgrue vel irrationabiliter ſacrarũ litterarum ſcriptores 12
vſi ſint figmentis & ſignis corporalibus/ cũ de incorporeis cœleſtium ſubſtãtiarũ naturis loquerẽtur: hoc loco ex eo comprobat ſacratus pater. quia cũ etiam de ſuprema ipſa diuinitate verba facerent: formis viſibilibus & figuris carnalibus eã expreſſerunt/et quidem rectiſſime. quare argumento a minori ſumpto: idem cõgruentiſſime fecerunt cum de angelis loquerentur. Eſt enim diuina ſubſtãtia: in infinitũ & improportionaliter remotior a formis terrenis/ q̃ angelicorum ſpirituũ: qui & cõditi ſunt/ & certo limite clauſi. ❡Q; autẽ de ſumma diuinitate differentes prophetæ & ſacrarũ litterarum 13 interpretes/ eam figmentis materialibus deſcripſerint: planius hic oſtẽditur. Nã interdum ipſam ex ſummis & digniſſimis rebus corporalibus inſinuarunt: vt cũ ſolem iuſtitiæ/ ſtellam aut lucem aperte ſpirituales mentis oculos illuſtrantem/ eam nuncupant.
Nõnunq̃ eandem ex medijs rebus viſibilibus/ & quæ quantũ ad ſuæ naturæ cõditionem
atq; dignitatẽ medio ſe habent modo/ deſignant: nuncupãtes illam/ ignem
Ioan.4. innocuum & innoxia flãma ardẽtem/ aut aquam viuã/ fontẽq; aquæ viuæ ſalientem Ioan.7. in vitam ęternam/ atq; de intimo credentiũ ventre fluentem. Aliquando vero ex infimis poſtremiſq; rebus corporalibus: ipſam ſupremã deitatem prędicãt. vt cum ipſam vnguẽtum ſuaue olens vocãt/ aut lapidem. Quinimo & ferarum quãdoq; ipſi deitati formas attribuunt & aſciſcũt: vt leonis/ pantheræ/ pardi & vrſæ. Et quod omniũ videtur indecentiſſimũ: ipſi diuinorum myſteriorũ traditores perhibent deum ipſum/ & vermis ſpeciem ſibi ipſi aſcripſiſſe. Vt intentiſſimo ſtudio vnanimiq; ſentẽtia viſi ſint omnes/ explanandæ inſpirationis diuinæ vſi officio/ ad id elaboraſſe: vt cœleſtiũ myſteriorum ſacramẽta ſignis corporalibus obuelarent/ illa a prophanis & imperitis occultarent/& diſſimilem rerũ ſacrarum repręſentationem traderent: vbi aliud eſt quod dicitur/ aliud quod intelligitur. Et id quidẽ ſtudioſe fecerũt ſancti patres. tum vt diuina/vulgaribus & a ſacrorũ participatione ſecluſis nõ eſſent peruia: aut perceptibilia.
tum ne ſtudioſi ĩdagatores ſymbolorũ atq; ſignorũ: figuris ipſis tanq̃ veritati inhęreant.
ſed vel ex ipſa conditionũ diſſimilitudine incitentur ad aciem mentis altius attollendã:
et veritatẽ ex ſignis indagandã. tum deniq; vt diuina ſacramẽta negationibus

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

etiam/quæ veriores affirmationibus esse dictę sunt: celebrentur & prædicētur. cum diuinitas ipsa/postremis etiā & vltimis creaturæ suæ speciebus (a quibus tamen naturæ interuallo ac ratione est abiunctissima) similis esse dicitur. Non enim solum negatiões esse putandæ sunt/cum de deo quippiā negatiuū enunciamus: dicentes eum infinitū/immensum/& intēporalem. sed cum etiā illud de eo affirmamus: quod vel omniū iudicio
secundū rem illi conuenire nequeat. quēadmodum quando dicimus ipsum au vermē esse aut vrsam: aut aliam quāuis ex vilibus & abiectis formis illi attribuimus.
quod ex hoc loco facile depręhendas. Recte igitur faciūt: qui propter causas supradictas cœlestibus spiritibus formas etiam viles & abiectas ascribūt. Nam multi sanctorū patrum diuinæ sapientiæ studiosi/ nequaq̄ fuissent forsan impulsi ad indagādum sacratiorem intelligentiā sub formis illis humilibus abstrusam: nisi eos ipsa figurarum fœditas & abiectio prouocasset ad id studiū. quæ non permisit sacram illorum mētem illis immorari imaginibus: cum nō visum fuerit credibile/illas in angelis debere reperiri.
sed ea occasione excitauit eorum mentē ad exuendas omnes rerum corporalium proprietates/sub pedibusq; relinquendas: & assuefecit ipsorū animū/ per huiusmodi 14 abstractionem ad superna & sublimia prouehi. ❡Postremū in huius capitis (quod cū pręcedēte: ipsius prohęmij & p̄fationis locū tenere videtur) calce/ quid primū sit determinaturus/
explicat beatus pater. diffiniendū imprimis esse dicens: quid sit hierarchia/& quid ipsa ijs qui se illi addixere cōferat. quod in proxime sequēte capite exequetur.
Cum magna deinde pietate & veneratione inuocat CHRISTVM/ verum summi patris verbū: vt sui verbi & eorum quæ differere constituit sit dux/director/& amministrator. Postremū/sanctum Timotheū (ad quem pręsens mittit opus) admonet:
vt hæc scripta cū debita pietate & religione suscipiat/ illorūqꝫ lectione proficiat/atqꝫ eadē a prophanis arceat. quæ omnia: in littera satis clara sunt/& ad oculū patēt.

❡Quid sit hierarchia: & quænam eius vtilitas. Cap. III.

15 Est itaqꝫ hierarchia (vt michi quidē videtur) ordo sacratior
& scientia & operatio/ quę ad dei similitudinē pro viribus 16 nititur: ac pro modo suo ad illius imitationem ex indulta sibi diuinitus intelligentiæ luce subuehitur. ❡Porro pulchritudo diuina vt simplex/vt bona/vt ꝑfectionis author/
pura quidem est: nullamqꝫ prorsus admixtionē dissimilitudinis suscipit. verum singulos pro meritis/ lucis suæ participes facit: & sacrosancto mysterio perficit/quātum quisqꝫ initiatus/ cōgrue illius in se immutabilē exprimere effigiem nititur. Est ergo sacratissimæ huius functionis intentio: deo quantū fieri potest similem euadere/ vnūqꝫ cum illo fieri. Quæ profecto destinatio deū ipsum habet totius sacratioris scientię A & actionis pręceptorē: inqꝫ illius augustissimā speciem intēta semper ac firmiter: atqꝫ ad illā/se pro virium modo cōponens. eos etiā qui secum diuina sectantur: dei signa & imagines efficit/ac perlucida specula & omni labe pura/ dignaqꝫ quibus principalis illius ac diuinæ lucis suauissimus radius influat. Quæ vbi indultum sibi sacratissimū iubar affatim hauserint:
hoc ipsa postmodū absqꝫ inuidia sequētibus fundūt/atqꝫ in hoc ipso diuinis obtēperant legibus. Neqꝫ enim fas est ijs qui sacra mysteria tradunt/siue qui illa percipiunt: operari prorsus aliquid/nisi quod officij sui diuina sanxit institutio. Ne aliter quidē esse q̄ sunt/ cōfuso licebit ordine:
si candorem illū lucis (per quā dij efficiūtur) in se suscipere cupiūt: in quā prospicientes iugiter pro ratione cuiusqꝫ sanctorū spirituū/ se ad eā effingere student. Cum itaqꝫ hierarchiā dicimus: sacram penitus quādam distictionē indicamus/quæ sit imago diuinæ pulchritudinis. fulgorisqꝫ sui

& intelligentiæ arcana myſteria ordinibus ac diſciplinis ſacratioribus peragit: principijq; ſui ſimilitudinem (vt fas eſt) in ſe conatur exprimere.
¶ Ea enim demum cuilibet diuinæ illi diſtinctioni dedito/ perfectio eſt: 17
pro modo ſuo ad dei imitationem totis conatibus eniti/ quodq; pręſtantius
B omnibus ac diuinius eſt (vt ſacra teſtantur eloquia) dei cooperatorē fieri: diuinamq; in ſe operationem/ quantum poteſt/ palam cunctis oſtendere.
Puta quoniā ſacræ illius functionis ordo eſt: vt alij purgentur/ alij purgent. & alij myſterijs imbuātur atq; illuminentur doctrina ſalutari:
alij id opus exequantur. ad perfectum alij ducantur: perficiant alij. vnicuiq;
diuina imitatio hoc modo conueniet. Diuina illa beatitudo (vt humano loquamur affectu) nullius diſſimilitudinis admixtione violatur:
plenaq; eſt ſempiterni luminis/ perfecta/ nullius perfectionis egēs/ totius perfectionis induſtrix/ purgans/ & illuminās/ atq; perficiens. immo vero ſacra ipſa purgatio exiſtens/ & illuminatio atq; perfectio: ſupra purgationem omnē/ ſupra lucem/ ante perfectionem inextimabili modo locata/
ipſa perfectionis author ac totius quidem ſacræ functionis cauſa: cęterū
C a ſacris omnibus ratione excellentię ſingularis/ excepta. ¶ Oportet igitur 18 (vt arbitror) eos quidem qui purgantur: omni prorſus labe puros effici/ac diſſimili omni cōmixtione liberari. Qui vero illuminantur: eos diuina luce repleri/ atq; caſtiſſimis mentis obtutibus ad cōtēplationis habitum/virtutemq; conſcendere. Porro qui perficiuntur: eos (cum gradatim ad ſuperiora ferantur) participes fieri perficientis illius ſcientiæ ſacrorum/ ad quæ contuenda prius illuminati erant. At vero quibus purgandi cęteros officium eſt: ingenti mundiciæ copia tradere alijs ſuæ ſanctimoniæ conſortium decet. Qui vero illuminandi cōſecuti ſunt munus: eos vtpote lucidiores ſpiritus/ ad percipiendam atq; tradendam alijs participationem ac ſocietatem lucis idoneos/ ſacriq; illius fulgoris gratia opulētiſſime plenos:
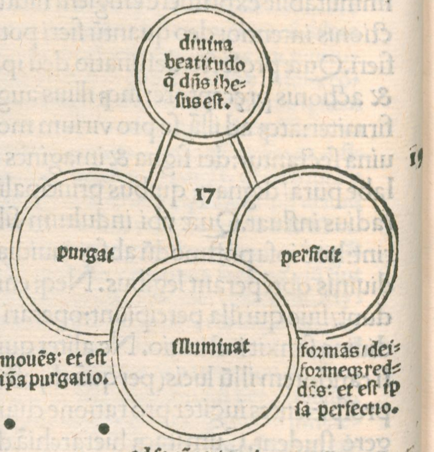
exundantem omni ex parte lucem in eos qui merentur/ effundere.



diuina beatitudo q̄ dñs iheſus eſt.
17
purgat
perficit
illuminat
mouēs: et eſt ĩpa purgatio.
formās/ deiformeq; redēs: et eſt ipſa perfectio.
ad ſe cōuertens/ ſurſumq; agens: et eſt illuminatio.

Qui autē perficiendi fungunt̄ vice:
eos vt perficientis diſciplinæ peritiſſimos/ ſacratiſſima inſtitutione ſcientię ſanctarū (quas cōtēplati ſunt) rerū/ ad ſe accedētes huius rei cauſa ꝑficere. ¶ Quilibet itaq; ſupernę di- 19
ſtinctionis ordo ꝓ modo ac ratione ſua: vt deo cooperet̄ enititur. ea per gratiā indultæ ſibi a deo virtutis efficiēs:
quę ĩpi diuinitati/ excellēti quodā
modo naturaliter inſunt/ & quæ
ab ea ſuꝑſubſtātialiter fiunt: quæq;
ſe ad imitationē cœleſtiū angelorū
ſublimiter pandunt.

A SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶ Quæ
profecto deſtinatio deū ipſum habet. deſtinatio:
B intētio/ imitatio/ ſacraq; fūctio. ¶ Vt ſacra teſtantur eloquia. Ioānes epiſtola ad Gaiū. Nos ergo debemus ſuſcipere huiuſmodi:

vt cooperatores ſimus veritati. Mattheus cap. quīto. Sic luceat lux veſtra coram hoībus: vt videāt opera veſtra bona/ & glorificent patrē veſtrū qui in cœlis eſt.
17 ¶Et vnaquæq; hierarchiarum/ hoc eſt ſacrorū principatuū/ cœleſtiumq; ordinū: diuinam
beatitudinē/ purgantem/ illuminantem & perficiētem imitatur. ſuntq;
in ea qui purgant/ illumināt & perficiunt.
ſunt qui viciſſim purgantur & purgant/
illuminantur & illumināt/ perficiuntur & perficiunt. ſunt qui eo in ordine ſolū purgantur/ illuminantur & perficiuntur.
Sol dum aerem/ tenebras pellendo
mouet: purgat. dum animalium
oculos ad ſe rapit ac conuertit: illuminat.
dum vero ad ſe cōuerſos ſua lāpade implet: format/ atq; perficit. Igitur ſacrorū prīcipatuū quidā ſupremi/ quidā
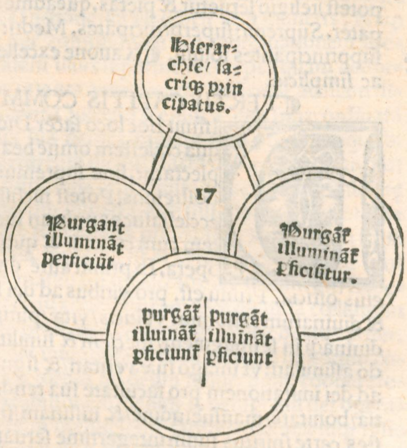
poſtremi/ & quidā medij. Supremi quidem:
purgant/ illuminant/ & perficiunt.
poſtremi purgātur/ illuminātur/ & perficiuntur.
medij vero viciſſim purgantur
18 & purgant/ illuminantur & illuminant/
perficiunt̄ cōſummāturq; & cōſummāt.



Hierarchie/ ſacriq; principatus.
17
Purgant illumināt perficiūt Purgāt illumināt ꝑficiūtur.
purgāt illuināt ꝑficiunt̄
purgāt illuināt ꝑficiunt

¶Et hinc hierarchicorū ordinum aliam ſubinferunt partitionē: quoſdā eſſe principātes/quoſdā ſubditos/ & quoſdā mixtos/ viciſſim principantiū & ſubditorū officia: pro
dignitate/ ſyncęra inuiolataq; ſeruātes. Et hos oēs ordines: vna eademq;
diuinitas/
ſuꝑeminēter pura/
ſuperlucens/
omnēq; perfectionem
ſuperans:
ambit/ mundat/
illuſtrat/ perficit.
vt adiecta monſtrat
formula.
¶ Veruntamen
quia in cœleſtib⁹
ōnibus/ cū ſūmis
tū medijs ac infimis:
19 hierarchiæ
hoc eſt ſacri principat⁹
nomē coaptat
ſacrat⁹ pater/& ſūmiſſionis
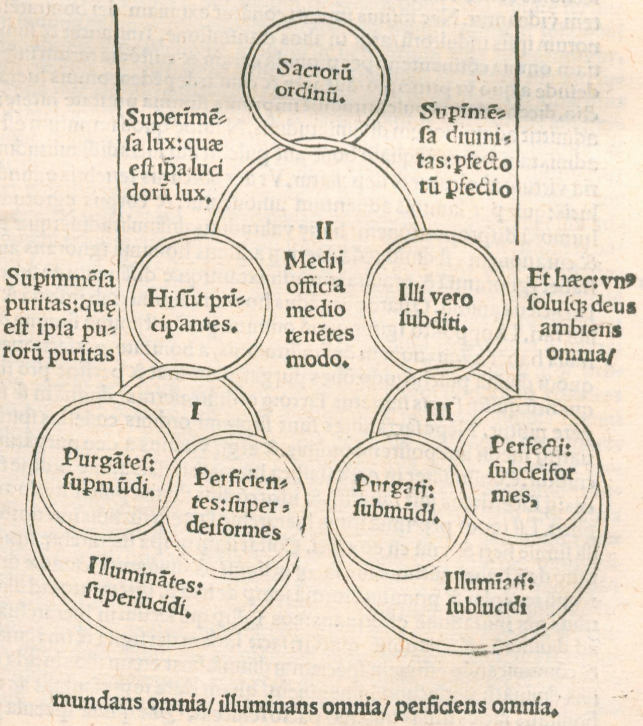
ſubiectioniſq; nomē
in illis ſupramūdanis
cap. ſeptīo
refutat: ideo
qui principantes
in ſubiecta figura
appellātur/ ſuꝑprincipantes ap-



Sacrorū ordinū.
Superimēſa lux: quæ eſt ipa lucidorū lux.
Supimēſa diuinitas: ꝑfectorū ꝑfectio
II
Medij officia medio tenētes modo.
Hi ſūt principantes.
Illi vero ſubditi.
Supimmēſa puritas: quę eſt ipſa purorū puritas
Et hæc: vn⁹ ſoluſq; deus ambiens omnia/
I
III
Purgātes: ſuꝑmūdi.
Perficientes: ſuperdeiformes
Illumināntes: ſuperlucidi.
Purgati: ſubmūdi.
Perfecti: ſubdeiformes,
Illumīati: ſublucidi
mundans omnia/ illuminans omnia/ perficiens omnia.

pellari poterūt.& qui ſubditi: ſupprincipātes. Quare iure euenit vt iterum coincidēte cū ſuperiori / partitione: cœleſtes ordines diſtribui poſſint in ſuperprincipātes / in ſupprincipātes ſolum / in principantes & ſupprincipantes. reſpectu quidem ſolum habito:
ad ipſos cœleſtes ordines. Et id adiectum eſt: vt de diuinis loquendo(quoad fieri poteſt) religio ſeruetur & pietas. quēadmodum nobis pie iter mōſtrauit ſacratiſſimus pater. Supremi: ſuperprincipātes. Medij: principantes / & ſupprincipātes. Poſtremi:
C ſupprincipantes ſolum. ¶Ratione excellentiæ ſingularis excepta. ſingularis: vnicæ ac ſimplicis.

¶TERTII CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM. 15

Diffinit hoc loco ſacer Dionyſius hierarchiam in ſua generali ratiōe:
qua cœleſtem omnē beatorū ſpirituum principatum ambiat ac cōplectatur.
ſiue ſupremus ſit ille ſacer principatus: ſiue medius / ſiue poſtremus. Poteſt nichilominus ſecundo loco eadem diffinitio etiā eccleſiaſticę applicari hierarchię: ob ipſius cōformitatem & affinitatem cum cœleſti / & quoniā eadem ſunt vtriuſq; munia cōſimiliaq;
opera. Exprimit autē data in littera hierarchiæ ratio: duo præcipua eius officia. Primū eſt. pro viribus ad dei ſimilitudinem niti: per virtutū / operationū & diuinarum rationum vt lucis / vitæ / puritatis / bonitatis / perfectioniſq; conformitatē.
diuināq; in ſe imaginem / ſpeciem & ſimilitudinē exprimere / & illi pro ſuę rationis modo aſſimilari: vt imago ſuæ veritati / & ſignum ſuo exemplari reſpondet. Secundū eſt:
ad dei imitationem pro facultate ſua tendere & niti: illiuſq; benignitatem / prouidentiā / bonitatē / manſuetudinē / & iuſtitiam / in ſuis operibus imitari. Quorū vtrūq; cœleſtes certe ſpiritus ſuum integerrime ſeruātes principatum: indefeſſo ſtudio / aſſiduoq; enixu exequūtur. Nempe ſtudent pro viribus diuinam in ſe ſimilitudinē exprimere / & illi quātum fas eſt ſimiles euadere: in candore puritatis / luminis effulgentia / & perfectionis conſūmatione / vt omnino deiformes ſint / & in deum tranſire ob cōformitatem videantur. Nec minus imitari conātur eximiam dei bonitatē: cōmunicatione bonorum ipſis indultorū / atq; in alios tranſfuſione. Imitantur & ſummā eius prouidentiam omnia cōtinentem: per prouidā curam & cuſtodiā rerum inferiorum. ¶Oſtendit 16 deinde a quo vt principio / authore & cauſa: depēdeat omnis hierarchiæ ordo & functio.
dicens diuinā pulchritudinē imprimis ſumma puritate nitere: quæ nullā prorſus admittit admixtionem diſſimilitudinis. Nempe quod impurum eſt & purgari indiget:
admixtam habet aliquam boni aut pulchri aut lucis diſſimilitudinem / quæ purgatoria virtute aboleatur & depellatur. Vt aer obſcurus tenebris offunditur diſſimilitudine lucis: quæ per luminis aduentum amoueatur. & corpus ęgrotum admixtam habet humorū diſproportionem / bonę valitudinis diſſimilitudinē: quæ per conualeſcētiam & curationem eſt dimouēda. Deniq; animus hominis ignorans aut vicijs corruptus / habet ignorantiā & prauitatem admixtam: quæ diſſimilitudo ſunt ſcientiæ & virtutis perficiētis animū. Quare purgādus hominis animus: ab inſcitia & labe peccati debet liberari. Ex oppoſito igitur quod omnino purū eſt / immo ſumma & immenſa puritas:
nullā habet admixtionem diſſimilitudinis / a bonitate / perfectioneq; decidentis. Eadē quoq; diuina pulchritudo ōnes purgat / illuminat & perficit pro ſuo captu & modulo quantū quiſq; ſacris initiatus ſacroq; ordini inſertus / diuinā in ſe ſimilitudinem effingere nititur. Nēpe ſacratiores ſunt ſupremi ordinis cœleſtes ſpiritus / & amplius initiati:
q̃ medij aut poſtremi ordinis. & ergo vberius a deo purgātur / illuminātur & ꝑficiuntur.
Conſimiliter in eccleſiaſtica hierarchia / ſacratiore ordine ſunt inſigniti pōtifices:
q̃ ſacerdotes aut miniſtri. & idcirco illos diuina pulchritudo auguſtius illumīat & ꝑficit. Eſt igitur pręcipua ipius hierarchię ſacreq; fūctiōis intētio: & deū recte imitari / illi ſimilē fieri & vnū cū eo effici. Cōſtat itaq; ꝙ ip̄a hierarchię functio & propria operatio deū habet authorē ſuę ſacrę actionis / & diuinioris ſcientiæ magiſtrū. in quē tanq̃ ſcopū / exēplar & primitiuā formā ſemꝑ defixa & intēta / atq; ad illius ſpeciē ſe pro viribus per imitationē efformans: eos inſuꝑ qui ſecum in hierarchiæ ſortē cōceſſere / &
ad diuinorū aſſimilationē tendūt: facit itidem dei ſigna & imagines / imprimēdo ipſis & cōmunicando effigiem ſpeciemq; diuinā. facit etiam illos lucida ſpecula: infundēdo illis diuinarū perfectionū imaginem / quam clare reprę ſentent ac referant / vt deificæ bonitatis facies in illis quoquo pacto reluceat. Quæ quidē ſpecula poſtq̃ diuinæ lucis radios in ſe ſuſceperint: illos deinde ſequentibus & inferioribus tranſfundunt / atq; in illo dei obſequuntur ordinationi. quæ ſanxit poſterioribus illa communicari debere a prioribus: quæ priora ante in ſe ſuſceperunt. vt lunam miniſtrare debere lumen ſublunaribus corporibus: quod a ſole prius accepit. Neq; enim licet aut eos qui ſacrorum myſteriorum tradunt alijs notionem / aut qui illam ab alijs accipiunt / aliquid facere: niſi quod ex diuina inſtitutione & ſanctione / ſui eſt officij atq; muneris. Neq; præſcriptum definitumq; a deo ordinem / per confuſionem aut inordinationem licebit in hiſce miniſterijs immutare: ſi claritatem illius ſupernæ lucis (per quam deiformes fiunt) in ſe haurire cupiunt. in quam intenta mentis acie defixi: ſe ad illam diuinam 15 lucem componere atq; formare ſtudent. Quæcunq; enim a deo ſunt: ordinata ſunt. & vbi confuſio eſt ordinis proprij: lux illa deifica radiare non poteſt / neq; ſibi Roma. 13.

conformes animos reddere. Cum igitur hierarchia dicitur: ſacra deſignatur diſtinctio / ordinatiſſimaq; functio / quæ diuinæ ſit pulchritudinis repræſentatio ac ſpecies: ſuſceptę lucis intimæ & notionis arcanorum myſteriorum munera atq; miniſteria recto ordine diſciplinaq; peragens / & dei (quod ſuum eſt & omnium principium) imaginem in ſe 17 efformare ſummopere nitens. ¶At vero quæ ſuprema ſit & abſoluta eorum qui hierarchiæ cœleſti (de illa enim hic ſecundum materiam ſubiectam / vt dictum eſt / habetur ſermo: q̃uis ſecundo loco eadem poſſent & ad eccleſiaſticam / per quandā cœleſtium imitationē applicari) ſunt dediti atq; addicti / perfectio: cōſequēter aperit beatus pater.
eamq; potiſſimum eſſe dicit: pro viribus ad dei imitationem eniti / deiq; in bonorum cōmunicatione propagationeq; in alios / & cæterorum ad deum ſubuectione cooperatorem fieri / per huius miniſterij in reliquos exhibitionem. deniq; & benignam dei operationem in ſe factam atq; ſuſceptam: alijs etiam manifeſtam facere / conſimilemq; ipſis operationem impendere. Quicunq; enim hierarchiæ cœleſti aut eccleſiaſticæ ſunt aſcripti atq; deſtinati: hæc duo potiſſimum habent opera. Primum. ꝙ a deo aut proxime aut per medium ſuſcipiunt ſupremæ bonitatis munera / purgationem / illuminationem / perfectionem: ſuperne in ipſos deriuata. Secundum. ꝙ eadem dona benignitate ſui authoris accepta: cum ſumma beniuolentia & cōmunicabilitate tranſfundunt in reliquos / purgationiſq; illuminationis & perfectionis gratiam ac beneficium alijs impartiuntur.
16 Eſt autem ſacra tam cœleſtis q̃ eccleſiaſtica diſtinctio / potiſſimum circa hæc tria aut ſuſcipienda aut efficienda intenta: purgationem / illuminationem & perfectionē / quæ ſunt potiſſima ipſius hierarchiæ officia. Nempe aliqui cœleſtes ſpiritus purgantur: alij purgant alij illuminantur myſteriorum diuinorum ſcientia: alij id officium exequuntur & illuminant. demum alij perficiuntur: & alij perficiunt. & vnicuiq; cœleſtium ſpirituum / in his operibus / dei imitatio pro ſua ratione ordine & modo congruit: vt ſcholia huic loco reſpondentia apertius declarant. Porro diuina beatitudo nullam habet ſibi admixtam diſſimilitudinem boni: quare nullo modo purgatur. nullis item eſt offuſa tenebris:
quoniam vt ait Ioannes / deus lux eſt: & tenebræ in eo non ſunt vllæ. & idcirco non illuminatur. Deniq; nullius eget perfectionis: vt quæ omnem rebus perfectionem 1. Ioan. 1.
elargiatur / & ergo non perficitur. ſed ſolummodo purgat / illuminat & perficit ea:
quæ harum diuinarum operationum ſunt capacia. Quinimmo ipſa diuina bonitas:
eſt ipſa purgatio / illuminatio / & perfectio. nam ſuaptæ natura hæc habet: atq; propria ſubſtantia. non autem per participationem & ab alio: quemadmodum cœleſtes ſpiritus. qui dicuntur quidem & recte / purgare / illuminare & perficere: nullus tamen eorum aut purgatio dici poſſet / aut illuminatio / aut perfectio / quoniam hæc ſolum participatione & gratia obtinent. Deniq; tertio loco ſumma ipſa diuinitas propter eximiam ſuam excellentiam / qua omnibus ſingulariter & in immenſum ſupereminet: prędicatur hic eſſe ſupra omnem purgationem / ſupra illuminationem omnem atq; ſupra perfectionem collocata. ꝙ omnem antecedit & excedit purgationem / illuminationem & perfectionem / omniū quidem horum cauſa prima & principiū: ſed ante hęc omnia / &
18 ab omnibus eminentiſſime excepta. ¶Deinceps ediſſerit latius & digerit: quomodo diſpoſitos oporteat eſſe eos qui purgātur / illuminātur & perficiūtur: purgāt / illumināt / & perficiunt. Illos quidē qui purgantur, oportet (inquit) ōni labe terreni affectus & ignorātiæ puros effici / & omni diſſimilitudinis admixtione euacuari: quo cōmodius & expeditius ad dei ſimilitudinem prouehantur. Eos vero qui illuminātur / oportet diuine lucis irradiatione perfundi: atq; ſyncęra mentis acie ad dei contemplationem euehi. Demū

Cap.
3
4

eos qui perficiũtur/opus eſt participatione ſacrorum myſteriorum & ſancta illorum ſci-entia imbui: ad quę cognoſcẽda prius erãt illuminati. vt hoc pacto per gradus quoſdã:
ad perfectionis apicem ferantur. Porro qui alios purgandi funguntur officio: debent alijs ſuæ puritatis(qua vbertim affluere ipſos operęprecium eſt) tradere cõmunionem & conſortium. Quomodo enim qui impurus eſt:alios ad puritatem adducere poterit?
Qui vero illuminandi alios gerunt officium:oportet eos affluentiore quidem lucis copia præditos & ad elargiendã alijs participationem luminis aptos:profluentem vndiq;
ex ſe claritatis ſpiritualis gratiam / in eos qui idonei ſunt & digni trãſmittere. Deniq;
eos qui perficiendi cæteros exercent munus : opus eſt primum quidem perficientem ſacrorum myſteriorum diſciplinam exacte callere/ alioqui alijs illam tradere non poſſent. deinde accedentes ad ſe ad hanc perfectionis gratiam obtinendam/ imbuere altiſſima diuinarum (quas contemplati ſunt) rerum diſciplina : per quam illi ad ſummam perfectionis ac apicem pertingant. ❡Demum colligit ſacratus pater ꝙ in hiſce tribus hierarchiæ officijs / purgatione / illuminatione & perfectione : vnuſquiſq; ſupramun- 19
danæ diſtinctionis ordo pro ſuo captu & modo enititur / vt deo cooperator euadat.
illa quidem per gratiam virtutis a deo ſibi traditæ efficiens:quæ ipſi diuinitati ſuapte natura & ex ſe conueniunt. illa itidem miniſterio quodam & more inſtrumenti alijs elargiens: quæ ipſi deo præcipue & superſubſtantialiter aſſunt. atq; in ipſo fontaliter primarieq; exiſtentia : explicant ſe ad exteriora modo quodam ſublimi / ad ipſorum cœleſtium ſpirituum imitationem / atq; dignam aſſectationem. Enimuero ipſi diuinitati naturaliter inſunt: ſumma potentia/ſumma ſapientia/ & ſummus amor/ ſumma veritas/ perfectio & virtus. Ab ipſa vero diuinitate fiunt: prouidentiſſima mundi gu-bernatio/rerum conſeruatio/ & indeficiens ſuorum donorum elargitio. Et tam ea quæ diuinitati naturaliter inſunt/q̃ ea quæ superſubſtantialiter ab ea fiunt/ ſe ad imitatio-nem angelorum ſublimiter pandunt: quoniam deo inſunt per veritatem archetypam/angelis vero per veſtigium ac imitationem. & tanq̃ exemplaria in deo exiſtentia:ipſis cœleſtibus ſpiritibus inſinuantur ac panduntur / vt pro viribus illa imitentur / atq; ad ipſorum nitantur imitationem ac ſimilitudinem: quo fiant deiformiores.

❡Quid ſignificet angelorum appellatio.

Cap. IIII.

QVoniam itaq; quid ſit hierarchia ipſa/cõuenienter a nobis (vt reor) diffinitum eſt: ipſam iam angelorum functionem 20 ſuo ordine laudare neceſſario conuenit / ſacraſq; illius formas (quas ſacræ litteræ fingunt) eleuatis mentis luminibus cernere. vt per ſacratiora figmenta: ad excellentem illarum prorſuſq; diuinam ſimplicitatem conſcendamus. atq; cum debitæ venerationis honore/ gratiarumque actionibus congruis : totius ſupremæ ſcientiæ laudemus initium. ❡ Primum omnium illud veriſſi-ma ratione dixerimus:vt bonitate ſola/ ſumma illa diuinitas rerum eſſen- 21 tias ſtatuit atq; ad eſſe produxit. Eſt enim omnium cauſæ / excellentiſq; bonitatis id proprium : vt ad conſortium ſui quæ ſunt inuitet & at-trahat omnia / ſingula ſcilicet pro captu & modo rationis ſuæ. Igitur omnia quæq; ſubſiſtunt: prouidentiæ ratione reguntur/ ex ſumma illa omnium authore deitate manantis / illiq; participant. alioqui eſſent profe-cto nulla : niſi ſubſtantiæ rerum / atq; principio communicarent. Itaq; inanimata omnia: hoc ipſum quod ſunt/ inde ſuſcipiunt. quippe eſſe omnium eſt ipſa diuinitas: quæ modum totius eſſentiæ ſuperat. Porro quæ viuunt omnia: ex hac ipſa quæ ſupra omnem vitam eſt/ cunctaq; viuificat:
vt viuant acceperunt. Rationalia item atq; intellectualia : eiuſdem ſupra mentem omnem atq; intellectum perfectæ/& omnia ad perfectum ducen-

21

tis ſapiētiæ ſunt participatione fœlicia.
Liquet autem illas in conſpectu eius
verſari ſubſtātias: quæqꝫ multis modis 22 illi cōmunicant. ¶ Sanctæ itaqꝫ cœleſtium ſpirituum diſtinctiones: eis &
quæ ſolum ſunt/ & quæ ſine rationis
vſu viuunt / & quæ humana vtuntur
ratione: diuinæ illius participationis
dignitate & copia / longe præcellunt.
Nam cum ſe ad imitandum deum ſpiritualiter/
intelligibiliterqꝫ componant/
atqꝫ diuinam ſimilitudinem vltra humanum
morem intuentes / ad eam / intellectualem
ſpeciem ſuam effingere
cupiant: merito vberiore illius participatione beatæ ſunt. Aſtāt enim propius illi coherētes/ ac ſemper in anteriora (quātum fas eſt) eximia diuini & nunq̄ fatiſcentis amoris intētione cōtendunt:
diuinos illos fulgores abſqꝫ vlla materia & admixtione / iugiter haurientes:
atqꝫ in illorū formæ naturam tranſeūtes/
vitamqꝫ omnem habentes ſpiritualem.
Hæ ſunt igitur quæ principali &
multiplici modo diuinæ ſocietatis honore
ſunt preditę: ſecretumqꝫ diuinum
præcipue/ multiſqꝫ enunciant modis.
23 ¶ Idcirco & præ omnibus angelicū cognomen
meruerunt: ꝙ cum in eas primo
diuinę claritatis fulgor emanet/ ipſę poſtmodum in nos enunciationes illas ſublimiores ſuperne traijciāt. Sic deniqꝫ & lex (vt ſcriptura diuina teſtatur) per angelos nobis indulta eſt/ inclytoſqꝫ illos D
patres noſtros qui ante legē/ quiqꝫ B
fuere poſt legem: angeli ad deum ſubuexere.
ſiue quid agendum eſſet admonentes / atqꝫ ab errore ſacrilego vitaqꝫ prophana ad rectum veritatis iter traducētes: ſiue ſacra quęuis inſtituta/ ſeu cœleſtium ſacramentorū occultas 24 viſiones/ ſiue diuinas aliquas prædictiones docēdo pandētes. ¶ Enimuero ſi quis fortaſſe dixerit/ ex deo ipſo abſqꝫ vllo medio / quibuſdam ſanctorū F diuinas apparitiones contigiſſe: is illud quoqꝫ de ſacratiſſimis libris ſapienter intelligat/ vt ſecretum ipſum dei/ quodcunqꝫ tandem illud eſt: nemo vnq̄ G vidit / neqꝫ videbit. Cæterum diuinæ illæ apparitiones / ſanctis viris per

Cap.
4

H ſigna deo conueniẽtiſſima: ſacris quibuſdam atqꝫ intuentium modo ac viribus accõmodatis / viſionibus cõtigere. At vero ſapiẽtiſſima theologia / viſionem illam quæ in ſemetipſa deſcriptam oſtenderet diuinam veluti effictam ex rebus formas non capientibus ſimilitudinem (ꝙ ad deum cernẽtes
I adducat) diuinam apparitionem rectiſſime appellat. per quam intuentibus diuinius ille fulgor irradiet / eoſqꝫ ſacratius aliquid atqꝫ auguſtius doceat.
Huiuſmodi vero diuinas viſiones: celeberrimi illi patres noſtri miniſterio
K cœleſtium virtutum ediſcebant. An non ipſam quoqꝫ legis ſacram ſanctionem: vt ex deo Moſi traditam / ſcripturæ ſanctæ traditio loquitur?
At id quidem nos verius inſtruit: diuinæ illam fuiſſe / ſacratioriſqꝫ legis effigiem.
L ¶ Ex quo & illud ſapientiſſime theologia videtur innuere: ꝙ ſcilicet iccirco illa per angelos ad nos vſqꝫ manauerit / vt id ſanctiſſimæ ac diuinæ 25 legis inſtitutione caueretur: priora ſequẽtibus iter ad deum ſternere. Non enim ſolum in ſuperioribus / inferioribuſqꝫ ſpiritibus lex iſta conſtituta eſt:
verum in æqualibus quoqꝫ / & qui eiuſdem ordinis ſunt. Quippe ſtatuit ſummus ille ac superſubſtãtialis omnium ordo: per ſingulas diſtinctiões / primos & medios extremoſqꝫ eſſe ordines atqꝫ virtutes. vt ſcilicet inferiorũ ſpirituũ excellẽtiores quiqꝫ / præceptores ac duces ſint: ꝑ quos illi acceſſum habeãt ad deũ / & ad lucẽ illã ſecretiſſimã dei / ſocietatẽqꝫ perueniãt. Intueri autẽ libet vt diuinũ illud ſacramentũ / quo noſtræ humanitatis IHESVS
M benigniſſime factus eſt particeps / angeli primũ didicerũt: deinde per illos /
N ad nos quoqꝫ ſcientiæ iſtius gratia deriuauit. Sic deniqꝫ Gabriel Zachariam quidem pontificem (vt legimus) docuit naſciturum ex ſe pręter ſpem ſola diuina gratia filiũ / prophetam fore / ac pręuium illius (quæ mundo clementiſſime atqꝫ ſaluberrime reuelanda erat in humana carne IHESV)
O diuinæ operationis. MARIAM vero / quo pacto in ea diuinũ illud atqꝫ ineffabile ſuſceptæ a deo humanitatis ſacramentũ perficeretur: inſtruxit.
P Alius item angelus / Ioſeph pium erudiuit: & quæ patriarchæ Dauid diuinitus
Q promiſſa fuerant / impleta præmonuit. Alius item paſtores vt ſolitudinis receſſu & quiete purgatos alloquitur / eiſqꝫ nunciat gaudium: atqꝫ cum illo multitudo cœleſtis exercitus / hymnum illum celeberrimum atqꝫ laudatiſſimũ mortalibus tradit. ¶ Libet ad ipſas quoqꝫ ſupremas ſanctorum / altiſſimaſqꝫ intelligentias: cordis lumen attollere. Cerno enim vt ipſe 26
quoqꝫ IHESVS cœleſtiũ ſubſtãtiarũ author mirabilis atqꝫ incõpręhẽſibilis / ab humana (quã ipſe ſtatuerat & elegerat) lege atqꝫ ordine nõ deſciuerit:
cũ ad infirma noſtra ſine vlla ſui mutatione veniſſet. imo obtẽperanter
R patris ac dei inſtitutis (quæ per angelos dederat) fuerit obſecutus. Illorũ itẽ Ioſeph miniſterio nunciatur Ioſeph: a patre ſũma diſpẽſatione decretus IHESV
S vel in Aegyptũ diſceſſus / vel ex Aegypto in Iudęã denuo reditus. Ipſum
T quoqꝫ per angelos cernimus paternis legibus ſubditum. ¶ Omitto enim ea dicere / quæ ſacroſanctis noſtris traditionibus exponuntur (ſcienti enim 27 V loquor) vt ſcilicet IHESVM angelus paſſioni proximum & orantem confortaſſe memoretur. Et ipſe quoqꝫ IHESVS cum ob nimiam charitatem ſuam / ſalutiqꝫ noſtræ nimis neceſſariam / ad ſuæ pietatis opus implendum in ordine veniſſet nunciantis: magni conſilij angelus ſit prædicatus. X Nam profecto(ſicut ipſe ſuo miniſterio conuenientia locutus ait) quæcunq; audiuit a patre:nunciauit nobis. Z

¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶Vt ſcriptura diuina. Lucas in actibus apoſtolorum D cap.ſeptimo. Et occiderunt eos qui annunciabant de aduentu iuſti/cuius vos nunc proditores & homicidæ fuiſtis: qui accepiſtis legem in diſpoſitione angelorum. ¶Inclytoſq; E.
patres noſtros qui ante legem/ quiq; fuere poſt legem: angeli ad deum ſubuexere.
Ante legem: Loth/ Abraham/ Iacob. Poſt legem: Gedeon/ prophetæ/ apoſtoli/& qui pie in deo vixerunt. vt Cornelius Centurio / Daniel / Ioſeph / Ioannes.
Angeli ad Loth: Geneſis cap. decimonono. Habes hic quempiam tuorum / aut generum/ Loth.
aut filios/aut filias/omnes qui tui ſunt: educ de vrbe hac. delebimus enim locum iſtum: eo ꝙ increuerit clamor eorũ corã domino/qui miſit nos vt perdamus illos.
Cumq; eſſet mane/cogebant eum angeli dicentes: ſurge/tolle vxorem tuam & duas filias quas habes/ne & tu pariter pereas in ſcelere ciuitatis. diſſimulante illo appręhenderũt manum eius/& manum vxoris ac duarum filiarum eius: eo ꝙ parceret dominus illi. Abraham: Geneſis capite viceſimo ſecundo. Extenditq; manum & arripuit gladium: Abraham.
vt immolaret filium ſuum. & ecce angelus domini de cœlo clamauit: Abraham/Abraham. qui reſpondit/ aſſum. dixitq; ei/ non extendas manum tuam ſuper puerum/neq; facias ei quicq̃: nunc cognoui ꝙ timeas dominũ/ & non pepercisti vnigenito filio tuo propter me. leuauitq; Abraham oculos ſuos/ viditq; poſt tergum arietem inter vepres cornibus hęrentem: quem aſſumens obtulit holocauſtum pro filio ſuo. Vocauit autem angelus domini Abraham ſecũdo de cœlo dicens. per memetipſum iuraui dicit dominus:
quia feciſti hanc rem/ & non peperciſti filio tuo propter me: benedicam tibi & multiplicabo ſemen tuum ſicut ſtellas cœli/& velut arenam quę eſt in littore maris. poſſidebit ſemen tuum portas inimicorũ ſuorum: & benedicẽtur in ſemine tuo omnes gentes terræ. Iacob. Geneſis cap. triceſimoprimo. Nũc ergo ſurge: & egredere de terra hac in terram natiuitatis tuæ. Gedeon. Iudicum ſexto. Apparuit ei angelus domini & ait: Iacob.
dominus tecũ/virorum fortiſſime. vade in hac fortitudine tua: & liberabis Iſrael de manu Gedeon.
Madian. ego ero tecũ: & percuties Madian quaſi virũ vnũ. Tolle carnes & azymos panes: & pone ſupra petram illam/& ius deſuper funde. & extendit angelus domini ſũmitatem virgę quam tenebat manu: & tetigit carnes & panes azymos/aſcẽditq; ignis de petra & carnes azymoſq; panes conſumpſit. angelus autem domini/euanuit ex oculis eius. Cornelius centurio. Lucas actuum apoſtolorum cap. decimo. Orationes tuæ & eleemoſynæ tuæ aſcenderunt in memoriam in conſpectu dei. & nũc mitte viros in Ioppen: Cornelius.
& accerſi Simonem quẽdam qui cognominatur Petrus. Daniel cap. ſeptimo. Aſpiciebam Daniel.
ergo in viſione noctis/& ecce cum nubibus cœli quaſi filius hominis veniebat:
& vſq; ad antiquum dierum peruenit/ & in conſpectu eius obtulerunt eum. & dedit ei poteſtatem/ & honorem/& regnum: & omnes populi/tribus & linguæ ſeruient ei. poteſtas eius: poteſtas ęterna quæ non auferetur/ & regnum quod non corrũpetur. Ioſeph. Ioſeph.
Matthęus cap. ſecũdo. Ecce angelus domini apparuit in ſomnis Ioſeph dicens: ſurge & accipe puerum & matrem eius/ & fuge in Aegyptum. & eſto ibi: vſq; dum dicam tibi.
futurum eſt enim vt Herodes quęrat puerum ad perdendũ eum. Ioannes. Apocalypſis Ioannes cap. viceſimoſecundo. Et poſtq̃ audiſſem & vidiſſem: cecidi vt adorarem ante pedes angeli/ qui michi hæc oſtendebat. & dixit michi: vide ne feceris/ conſeruus enim tuus ſum & fratrum tuorum prophętarũ/& eorum qui ſeruant verba prophetiæ libri huius.
deum adora. Ecce ergo angeli ad deum ſubuehũt: vt Ioannem. quid agendum ſit monſtrant & ammonent: in Loth/ Iacob/Gedeone. ab errore ad veritatis iter reducunt: in Cornelio centurione. ſacramentorum cœleſtium occultas viſiones pandunt: in Daniele.
diuinas prædictiones docent: in Abraham & Ioſeph. ¶Quibuſdam ſanctorum diuinas apparitiones cõtigiſſe. vt Moſi: de quo numerorum duodecimo. Cunq; fuiſſent egreſſi: F deſcendit dñs in colũna nubis/ & ſtetit in introitu tabernaculi vocãs Aaron & Mariam. Moſes qui cum iſſent: dixit ad eos. audite ſermones meos. ſi quis fuerit inter vos ꝓpheta dñi:
in viſione apparebo ei/vel ꝑ ſomniũ loquar ad illũ. at nõ talis ſeru⁹ meus Moſes: qui in oĩ domo mea fideliſſimus eſt. ore enĩ ad os loquor ei: palã & nõ per ęnigmata/& figuras deũ videt. ¶Vt ſecretũ ipſũ dei qđcũq; tandẽ illud eſt. Id ſupra ex Paulo ad Timotheũ. G

cap. ſexto. Qui lucem habitat inacceſſibilem/quem nullus hominũ vidit vnq̃: ſed nec videre
H poteſt. ¶Per ſigna deo conuenientiſſima ſacris quibuſdam. adiunge viſionibus.
I ¶Diuinam apparitionẽ rectiſſime appellat. diuinam apparitionem quæ & theophania dicitur: celeberrimi patres noſtri (hoc eſt ſancti prophetæ) miniſterio angelorum ediſcebant.
vt Daniel cap. ſeptimo. Horruit ſpiritus meꝰ/ego Daniel territus ſum in his: & viſiones capitis mei cõturbauerunt me. acceſſi ad vnum de aſſiſtentibus/& veritatẽ quęrebam ab eo de omnibus his: qui dixit michi interpretationem ſermonũ/& docuit me.
K ¶An non ipſam quoqꝫ legis ſacram ſanctionẽ. Deuteronomiũ cap. nono. Deditqꝫ michi
L duas tabulas lapideas ſcriptas digito dei. ¶Ex quo & illud ſapiẽtiſſime theologia videtur innuere. Ex luca paulo ante. Et paulus epiſtola ad Galatas cap. tertio. Quid igitur lex? propter tranſgreſſionem poſita eſt: donec veniret ſemen cui promiſerat/ ordinata
M per angelos in manu mediatoris. ¶Angeli primũ didicerunt. Lucas cap. primo Ait angelus ei/ne timeas MARIA: inueniſti enim gratiã apud deum. ecce cõcipies in vtero & paries filium: & vocabis nomen eius IHESVM. hic erit magnus/& filius altiſſimi N vocabitur: & regnabit in domo Iacob in ęternum/& regni eius nõ erit finis. ¶Sic deniqꝫ Gabriel Zachariam quidem pontificem. Lucas cap. primo. Apparuit autem angelus domini ſtans a dextris altaris incenſi: & Zacharias turbatus eſt videns/ & timor irruit ſuper eum. Ait autem ad eum angelus. ne timeas Zacharia/quoniam exaudita eſt deprecatio tua. & vxor tua Elizabeth pariet tibi filium: & vocabis nomen eius Ioãnem.
& erit gaudium tibi & exultatio: & multi in natiuitate eius gaudebũt. erit enim magnus coram domino: & vinum & ſiceram non bibet. & ſpiritu ſancto replebitur adhuc ex vtero matris ſuæ: & multos filiorum cõuertet ad dominũ deum ipſorum. Et ipſe præcedet ante illum in ſpiritu & virtute Heliæ (vt conuertat corda patrum in filios/& incredulos O ad prudentiam iuſtorum) parare domino plebem perfectam. ¶MARIAM vero quo pacto in ea diuinum illud. Lucas cap. primo. Dixit autem MARIA ad angelũ. quomodo fiet iſtud: quoniã virum non cognoſco? Et reſpondens angelus dixit ei. ſpiritus ſanctus ſuperueniet in te/& virtus altiſſimi obumbrabit tibi. Ideoqꝫ & quod naſcetur ex te ſanctum:
P vocabitur filius dei. ¶Alius item angelus: Ioſeph pium erudiuit. Matthęus cap.
primo. Ecce autem angelus domini apparuit in ſomnis Ioſeph dicẽs. Ioſeph fili Dauid:
noli timere accipere MARIAM coniugem tuã. Quod enim in ea natum eſt: de ſpiritu ſancto eſt. Pariet autem filium: & vocabis nomen eius IHESVM. ipſe enim ſaluũ faciet Q populum ſuũ: a peccatis eorum. ¶Alius item paſtores. Lucas cap. ſecũdo. Et paſtores erant in regione eadem: vigilantes/& cuſtodiẽtes vigilias noctis ſuper gregem ſuũ. Et ecce angelus domini ſtetit iuxta illos/ & claritas dei circũfulſit illos: & timuerũt timore magno. Et dixit illis angelus: nolite timere. ecce enim euãgelizo vobis gaudiũ magnũ quod erit omni populo: quia natus eſt vobis hodie ſaluator (qui eſt CHRISTVS dominus) in ciuitate Dauid. & hoc vobis ſignum: inuenietis infantem inuolutũ & poſitũ in præſepio. & ſubito facta eſt cum angelo/multitudo militiæ cœleſtis laudantium deum/
R & dicentium: gloria in altiſſimis deo/& in terra pax hominibus bonę volũtatis. ¶Illorũ item miniſterio nunciatur Ioſeph. Matthęus cap. ſecundo. Ecce angelus domini apparuit in ſomnis Ioſeph dicens: ſurge & accipe puerum & matrem eius/ & fuge in Aegyptum.
Et paulo poſt. Defuncto autem Herode/ ecce angelus domini apparuit in ſomnis Ioſeph dicens: ſurge & accipe puerum & matrem eius/ & vade in terram Iſrael.
S defuncti ſunt enim: qui quærebant animam pueri. ¶Ipſum quoqꝫ per angelos cernimus paternis legibus ſubditum. hoc eſt. videmus dominum in eius natiuitate/ in fuga in Aegyptum/in reditu ex Aegypto: ordinatũ per angelos ſub ſummi patris legibus/ ordinationibuſqꝫ.
Oſee. 2. qui & per os Oſee prophetæ locutus ait: ex Aegypto vocaui filiũ meũ.
T ¶Omitto enim ea dicere: quæ ſacroſanctis noſtris traditionibus exponuntur. hæ ſacroſanctę
V traditiones: ſancta ſunt euangelia. ¶Vt ſcilicet IHESVM angelus paſſioni proximum & orantem confortaſſe memoretur. Lucas cap. viceſimo ſecundo.
Et ipſe auulſus eſt ab eis quantum eſt iactus lapidis/ & poſitis genibus orabat dicens:
pater ſi vis/tranſfer calicem iſtum a me. veruntamen non mea voluntas: ſed tua X fiat. Apparuit autem illi angelus de cœlo: confortans eum. ¶Magni conſilij angelus ſit prædicatus. Eſaias cap. nono. Paruulus enim natus eſt nobis/ & filius datus eſt nobis/ & factus eſt principatus ſuper humerum eius: & vocabitur nomen eius admirabilis conſiliarius/ deus fortis/ pater futuri ſeculi/ princeps pacis. Legebatur tempore apoſtolorū.& factus eſt principatus ſuper humerum eius:& vocabitur nomen eius magni conſilij angelus.loco cuius nunc verſum habemus:admirabilis cōſiliarius.

❡Quecunqꝫ audiuit a patre: nunciauit nobis. Ioannes cap. decimoquinto. Vos amici mei eſtis:ſi feceritis quę ego pręcipio vobis.Iam non dicam vos ſeruos:quia ſeruus Z neſcit quid faciat dominus eius.vos autem dixi amicos: quia omnia quęcunqꝫ audiui a patre meo/ nota feci vobis.

❡QVARTI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

20 QVid deinceps determinãdum ſupereſt: hic proponit ſacer Dionyſius/dicens poſt aſſignatam hierarchiæ diffinitionē reliquum eſſe: vt ipſa ſacra cœleſtium ſpirituū diſtinctio dignis laudibus celebretur/ rectoqꝫ ordine enucleatius declaretur/& formæ ipſæ corporales(quibus ſacra ſcriptura ipſos deſcribit) erecta mentis acie obtutuqꝫ ſpirituali conſiderentur.
vt per huiuſmodi velamina ſenſibilia/ad occultam & latentem ſub ipſis intellectualem illorū ſimplicitatē congruenter fiat aſcenſus: & demum cum decenti veneratione & gratiarū actionibus debitis/ deus ipſe laudetur.
qui totius ſcientiæ ſanctiſſimorum ſpirituū/omniſqꝫ cognitionis quę de cœleſtium myſteriorum ſacramētis haberi poſſit:principium eſt & exordium. Ab eo enim vt fonte exuberantiſſimo profluit in cœleſtes ſpiritus & homines: quicquid de ſupremis ac ſupramundanis 21 habetur ſacratioris ſcientiæ/ vereqꝫ cognitionis. ❡Oſtendit deinde ōnia condita/ a diuina bonitate ſubſiſtere/illiqꝫ participare: vt gradatim per varia rerum genera/ad cœleſtium ſpirituū contemplãdam dignitatem nos euehat.Sane ex ſola bonitate
ſua/ſumma deitas omnes rerum ſubſtantias ad eſſe produxit.quoniã cum ſit per ſe ſufficiētiſſima & bonorum omniū pleniſſima:non indiguit creaturarum eſſentijs/aut aliquam inde vtilitatem accepit. Verum cum bonitatis diuinæ(quæ omnium cauſa eſt) ſit proprium:ſeipſam cōmunicare/& ſui cōſortium atqꝫ participationē alijs tradere: cōdidit diuerſa entium genera/vt eſſent quibus bonitatē ſuã ipſe qui ſumme & per ſe bonus eſt/communicaret.Quęcūqꝫ igitur ſubſiſtunt: diuinæ prouidentiæ cura gubernãtur/ex ſumma dei bonitate profluētis/ipſiqꝫ prouidentię participãt.Alioqui nullo pacto ſubſiſterent:
niſi ſummæ deitatis(quæ rerum omniū ſubſtãtia atqꝫ principium eſt) participationem haberent.Itaqꝫ inaĩata omnia/vt cœli elementa/mixta imperfecta & mineralia:
hoc ipſum quod ſunt/a diuina bonitate ſuſcipiunt. eſt enim diuinitas ipſa / rerum omnium eſſentia:quinimo gradum omnem & modū eſſentiæ rerum eminētiſſime ſuperat.
Viuentia itidem/vt plantæ/bruta/homines/ſpiritus cœleſtes:ipſum viuere a ſumma diuinitate( quæ omniū vita eſt/& cunctis vitam largitur)acceperunt. Deniqꝫ rationalia & intellectualia/ vt homines & agmina cœleſtia:diuinæ ſapiētiæ ſunt participatione fœlicia/quæ ſupra omnem rationem & mentem perfecta eſt/ omniaqꝫ ad perfectum ducit.
Perſpicuum autem eſt/illas in cōſpectu ſummæ diuinitatis diuerſari & conſiſtere ſubſtãtias:
*quæ multis modis illi participant/atqꝫ amplius q̃ cęteræ cum illa cōueniunt.*quales ſunt angelicæ ſubſtantiæ:quæ ſubſiſtūt/ viuunt/ rationales ſunt & intellectuales inſuper immateriales ſunt & incorporeę.quod nullis inferiorum entium generibus cōuenit.Cū enim pluribus modis huiuſmodi ſubſtãtiæ ipſi deo q̃ reliqua cōmunicant:inde noſcuntur eſſe natura perfectiores/ſicut ſunt & ſimiliores ipſi perfectiſſimo rerum principio / q̃ cætera quæ paucioribus modis dei habent participationem.quare dignum eſt & ęquū:
ipſas iugiter aſſiſtere ipſi deitati.vt ipſi perfectiſſimo propinquius adhęreant:quæ perfectiora 22 ſunt. ❡Ex ſupradictis colligit ſacratiſſimus pater ꝙ cœleſtes ſpiritus dignitate
naturæ & copia diuinæ participationis longe pręſtant inanimatis quæ ſolum ſunt/plantis & brutis quæ viuunt / & hominibus qui ratione vtuntur & intellectu ſunt pręditi.
Cum enim ad dei imitationem ſe totos omnino conferant/ & diuinam ſpeciem perfectiore modo q̃ homines intueantur/eamqꝫ nitantur ad viuum & conformiter in ſe exprimere:
haud ab re copioſiore ipſius dei participatione ſunt beati. Aſſiſtunt enim ipſi deo
e propinquo & in vicinia/ & ſemꝑ in ſuperiora anterioraqꝫ nitūtur/indefatigabili diuini amoris vigore emicantes:a deitate ſummæ lucis radios indeſinenter ſuſcipientes/ atqꝫ in illorum ſpiritualium radiorum formam ac habitum traſſuſi/vitaqꝫ omnino ſpirituali dotati. Ipſæ igitur angelicæ ſubſtantiæ: modo principaliori q̃ cætera ſubſiſtentia & pluribus itidem gradibus/ diuinam ſortitæ ſunt participationem / & ipſam ſummæ diuinitatis ignotam omnibus & incognitam ſubſtantiã: varijs modis & inter ſe & hominibus ipſis enunciant. ¶Quocirca recte cœleſtibus illis ſpiritibus / angelorum nomen impoſitum eſt: quod a nunciandi officio rebus indi ſolet. quoniam cum in ipſos diuinæ claritatis fulgor & radius emittatur: illum deinde in nos varijs & multiplici- 23 bus modis tranſfundunt/ deiq; cognitionem altiſſimorũq; myſteriorũ arcana nobis an-Gala. 3. nunciant. Quippe hoc modo lex moſaica: angelorum miniſterio/ teſte ſcriptura/ populo Iſraelitico eſt tradita. Et antiquos patres noſtros qui ante legem ſcriptã fuerũt & qui poſt legem/ angelici ſpiritus ad deum adduxerũt: aut admonentes quid foret agẽdum/aut ab errore & vita prophana ad veritatis viam ipſos trãſferentes/ aut ſacros ritus cerimoniaſq; dei colendi docentes/ ſeu occultas arcanorũ cœleſtium viſiones hominibus reſcrantes/ aut rerũ futurarũ prẽnũciationes a deo factas: hominibus illarũ ignaris ape-rientes. Horum autem quinq; angelicorũ miniſteriorum exempla: in huius loci ſcholijs diffuſe explicantur. ¶Deinde obiectionem diluit: quæ contra ſupradicta fieri poſſet/quoniam enim dictum eſt diuinarũ rerum enunciationes/ hominibus angelorum miniſterio factas eſſe: dicet forſan aliquis ꝙ nõnullis ſanctorũ patrum cõtigerũt diuinæ ap- 24

paritiones abſq; vllo medio/ cœleſtiumve ſpirituũ officio. vt Moſi: de quo dominus ipſe Nume. 12. in Numeris teſtatur. Ore ad os loquor ei: palam & non per ęnigmata & figuras deum Exo. 33. videt. Et rurſum alio loco. loquebatur dominus ad Moſem facie ad faciẽ: ſicut ſolet lo-qui homo ad amicũ ſuum. Reſpondet ſacratus pater id ex ſacris diuinæ ſcripturæ libris inconcuſſe tenendũ: ꝙ ipſam diuinæ naturæ ſubſtantiã (quæ cũctis vſq; adeo manet incognita: vt non poſſet quiſpiã recte diffinire quidnam ipſa ſit/ nã eſt incõprẹhenſibilis)
nullus mortaliũ & hanc vitam degentiũ vidit vnq̃ nude/ neq; videbit. quemadmodum
1. timo. 6. beatus Paulus ad Timotheũ etiã perhibet: de deo loquens. qui ſolus habet immortali-tatem: & lucem habitat in acceſſibilem. quẽ nullus hominũ vidit: ſed nec videre poteſt.
Verum illæ diuinæ apparitiones de quibus loquitur obiectio: contigere ſanctis viris per ſigna deo cõgruentiſſima/ figmentaq; conueniẽtia ad reprẹſentandũ illam dei proprietatẽ/ quæ tum ſanctis viris erat inſinuãda. cõtigerunt etiam illæ apparitiones per ſacras quaſdam viſiones: ſubiectarum creaturarũ miniſterio formatas/ & accõmodatas capaci-tati ac viribus intuentiũ illas viſiones. Nã qui limpidiore fuerunt mentis acie: viſiones habuerũt ſacratiores & altiores. qui vero infirmiore: inferiores & minꝰ ſpirituales/ quiſq; ſcilicet pro ſuo captu. Sacra autem ſcriptura/ eam viſionem quæ diuinam exhibet ſimilitudinem efformatam ſignis/ non quidẽ ſenſibilibus extero aut interno ſenſu/ ſed intel-lectualibus ſolum & forma omni figuraq; carẽtibus: diuinã vocat apparitionem/ ꝙ huiuſmodi viſio eos quibus offertur: hoc medio ad deum ſubuehit. per quam quidẽ viſionem/ ſupercœleſtis fulgor diuiniore modo illis q̃ cęteris illucet: & eos excellẽtius aliquid & excelſius q̃ alios edocet. Et hoc modo Moſes dicitur in ſacris eloquijs dei apparitionẽ habuiſſe: q̃uis nude & ſine velamine diuinã faciem in hoc prẹſentis vitę incolatu nunq̃ viderit. queadmodum diffuſius annotauimus circa primũ caput primi libri eximij patris Ioãnis Damaſceni de fide orthodoxa. Tales autem diuinas viſiones: antiqui patres veteris teſtamenti/ miniſterio angelorum didicerũt/ efformataſq; perſpexerũt. quare per-ſpectum eſſe debet/ quęcũq; ſanctis patribus reuelata ſunt aut apparuerũt: annũciatione angelicorum ſpirituũ atq; officio illis fuiſſe exhibita. Quod & hoc argumento atq; iudi-Exo. 20. cio/ in littera comprobatur. legem Moſaicam diuina ſcriptura affirmat a deo eſſe Moſi traditam. et tamen (vt ſupradictum eſt) cœleſtium ſpirituum enunciatione atq; miniſterio: illa eſt lata atq; poſita. Quæ igitur in ſcriptura a deo fuiſſe tradita dicuntur: fun-ctione & intermedio angelorũ officio exhibita ſunt & reuelata. Qz autem lex illa vetus dicatur in ſcripturis a deo eſſe tradita: nos edocet & admouet/ ipſam nouæ & euãgelicæ legis (quæ longe verior eſt & ſacratior) fuiſſe imaginem & figuram. queadmodum per-Hebrę. 10. hibet beatus Paulus: legem habere vmbram futurorum bonorum. ¶Aſſignat deinde rationem admodum dignam beatus pater: quare lex vetus per cœleſtes ſpiritus tanq̃ miniſtros & adminiſtratores/ ad homines vſq; ꝓpagata fuerit & deriuata vt ſcilicet per 25 hoc iſta cognoſceretur eſſe diuinæ ſanctionis & ordinationis lex/ ꝙ priora in huius mũdi ordine & ſublimiora naturæ entia: inferioribus iter ad deum parent/ & præcedentia ſequentibus ductum præbeant quo ad deum perueniant. Sunt autem (vt iam dictum eſt) cœleſtes ſpiritus/ natura priores: homines vero/ longe poſteriores. Siquidẽ hęc diuinæ ſapientiæ conſtitutio: non ſolum in ſuperiorum diſtinctionũ & inferiorum ſpi ritibus locũ habet/ vt ſuperiores inferioribꝰ prẹſtent ad deũ ꝑueniẽdi adminiculũ: verũ

etiã & in ijs qui æquales ſunt ſecundũ eiuſdem hierarchiæ rationẽ/ & vnius eiuſdemqꝫ diſtinctionis. Nẽpe conſtituit ipſe deus/ qui ordinatiſſimus eſt omnium rerum tenor /& ordo rectiſſimus: per ſingulas trium diſtinctionũ atqꝫ hierarchiarum cœleſtium ſtationes/
eſſe quoſdam ſupremos/alios medios/& alios extremos ac vltimos ordines: quẽadmodum ſextũ huius libri caput latius aperiet. vt excellentiores ſcilicet & ſuperiores ſpiritus angelici/inferiorũ poſteriorumqꝫ duces ſint ac præceptores: per quos ipſi aditũ habeant ad deũ/& ad candidiſſimã dei lucem ſocietatemqꝫ perducantur. At vero quemadmodũ hanc ſupernæ ſanctionis regulam angeli inter ſe adamuſſim obſeruãt:ita & ad homines. Enimuero ipſi ſuperni ſpiritus primum didicerunt altiſſimũ dominicæ incarnationis myſteriũ/ diſpenſationiſqꝫ carnis aſſumptæ ſacramentum: deinde hominibus tanti myſterij notionẽ tradiderunt. Quod multis ex ſacra ſcriptura deſumptis declaratur exemplis. Primo ipſius Zachariæ. cui nunciauit Gabriel naſciturũ filium Ioannem/ Lucę.1
præter expectationem & ſupra naturæ legẽ: qui præcurſor eſſet & præco illius diuinæ operationis/quæ mundo in aſſumpta dei verbi carne erat manifeſtanda/ſcilicet aduentus ipſius domini in carnem iã completi:& euangelicæ perfectionis ab eo tradendæ. Secundo.
exemplo ſacroſanctæ virginis MARIAE: quã Gabriel edocuit quomodo id diuinum in ea compleretur myſteriũ: quo virgo manẽs pareret dei filiũ. Tertio. exemplo ſancti Ioſeph. quẽ ãgelus inſtruxit de myſterio impletæ promiſſiõis olim patriarchę Dauid
a deo factæ/ſcilicet ꝙ de fructu ventris ſui poneret ſuper ſedem eius/ꝙqꝫ de ſemine Pſal.131.
eius naſceretur CHRISTVS. Id autem in filio ſacratiſſimæ virginis & puriſſimæ ſpõſæ ſuæ impletũ eſſe: teſtatus eſt angelus cum ait. Et dabit ei dominus deus ſedẽ Dauid patris Lucę.1
eius:& regnabit in domo Iacob in æternum/& regni eius non erit finis. Quæ quidẽ verba q̃uis ad ſolã deo ſacratã virginẽ dicta fuiſſe in euangelio legantur: credibile eſt tamen eadẽ/aut ab angelo aut a beata virgine ipſi Ioſeph fuiſſe reuelata. Quarto idẽ patefacit exemplo paſtorũ. qui a vulgi & turbæ ſtrepitu remoti per ſeceſſum in ſolitudinẽ/et ideo ad diuina myſteria capienda purgatiores: didicerunt ab angelo natũ eſſe mũdi Lucę.2
ſaluatorẽ/ & cœleſtis militiæ multitudinem deo laudes & hymnũ concinentẽ audierũt.

26 ¶ Deniqꝫ quinto loco erectis ad altiorem diuinarũ rerum/ ſanctorumqꝫ eloquiorũ & ſacratiorem intelligentiã cordis oculis: idem dilucidũ eſſe comprobatur in domino noſtro.
qui vt deus: cœleſtiũ ſpirituum conditor eſt/& author admirabilis. vt homo vero: ab humana
lege & ab hominibus obſeruãda (quã ipſe cũ deo patre ſimul inſtituerat) nequaq̃ aberrauit/quando noſtræ carnis infirmitatẽ ſine aliqua ſuæ deitatis permutatione ſuſcepit.
ſed cum admiranda obediẽtia: dei patris mandatis (quæ per angelos tradiderat) integre eſt obſecutus. Siquidem octaua die circũciſus eſt: quadrageſimo die oblatus in tẽplo Lucę.2
cum hoſtijs conſtitutis/ cum parentibus itidẽ/in ſolennitatibus a deo ordinatis iuit Hieroſolymã: agnum paſchalem ſecundum legis ritum manducauit/ & deniqꝫ non venit Math.26
ſoluere legem ſed adimplere. Rurſum miniſterio angelorum ipſi Ioſeph nunciatur a Math.5
deo patre primum diſceſſus in Aegyptum: et ſecundo reditus in terrã Iſrael. vt omnino Math.2 & per omnia cognoſcatur ipſe CHRISTVS: paternis legibus atqꝫ decretis circa diſpẽſationem carnis & quæ eam concernebant factis/ per angelos fuiſſe ſubditus: ꝙ angelorũ 27 denunciatione omnia illa ſunt cõpleta. ¶ Præterea vt euangelica tradit lectio: dominum Lucę.22
noſtrũ imminente paſſione orantem in horto angelus confortauit. Ipſe quoqꝫ cũ veniſſet in hũc mundũ/nũciaturus opus humanæ redẽptionis a ſe implendũ: magni cõſilij Eſa.9
angelus a propheta nuncupatus eſt. Et quẽadmodũ diſcipulis ſuis loquens ea quę ſuo miniſterio erant cõuenientia/ad quod perficiendũ venerat/dixit: ꝙ quęcunqꝫ audiuit Ioan.15
a patre/nunciauit nobis. nã per diſcipulos: illa toti mundo promulgauit.

¶ Cur õnes cœleſtes ſpiritus: cõmuni appellatione dicãtur angeli. Cap. V.

28 HAec igitur eſt (quantũ ipſi ſapimus) angelicæ/quam in ſcripturis ſanctis inuenimus: appellationis cauſa. Dignum vero videtur inquirere/diligentiuſqꝫ rimari/quamobrem ij qui A nobis de deo rebuſqꝫ diuinis diſſeruerũt: omnes quidem ſimul B cœleſtes ſubſtantias/angelos vocẽt. Vbi vero altiſſimas C illarum diſtinctiones exponere & enarrare pergunt/angelicum eum proprie ordinem nominant: qui diuina & cœleſtia agmina com-

D E plet/ extremoq; in loco poſitus perficit. Ante hunc vero archangelos emi-nentius ſtatuunt/principatus deinceps/ & poteſtates ac virtutes/quaſq; his etiā ſuperiores ſubſtantias norunt/atq; enūciant ſanctorum voluminū tra ditiones: graduū inter ſe celſitudine differentes. ¶ Dicimus itaq; in omni- 29 bus ſacratiſſimis diſtinctionibus ſuperiores quoſq;/ eminētioreſq; ordines:
inferiorum quoq; agminum non carere fulgoribus/atq; virtutibus. poſteri-ores vero: ſuperiorum intelligentiæ exortes eſſe. Igitur ſanctiſſima illa/ſum-
F morum ſpirituū agmina/etiā angelos theologi appellant: & ipſa enim vim ſuperni illius/diuiniq; fulgoris enunciant. Porro extremum ſanctorum ſpi rituum ordinē: principatus/aut thronos/ aut ſeraphim/dicere: abſurdū eſt/
& a ratione prorſus alienū. neq; enim ſupremis illis virtutibus ſocietate aut
G participatione coniungitur. Cæterum quemadmodū ipſe hic venerandos/diuinoſq; pontifices noſtros ad familiares ſibi & cognitas ſummæ diuinitatis intelligentias prouehit: ita et quæ illi prelatæ ſunt/& longe eminent ſa cratiſſimæ diſtinctiones/implētem cœleſtes/ angelicaſq; functiones ad deū ſubuehūt ordinem. ¶ Niſi forte iſtud quoq; quis dixerit/ idcirco angelicas 30
omnes appellationes eſſe communes: q omnium cœleſtium virtutum ſit æqua ſocietas/atq; ad dei ſimilitudinem/luceq; diuinā (licet aliæ alijs excellant/graduſq; diuerſi ſint) vna tamen intentione nitantur. Verum vt huius rei ratio liquidius conſtet/ & quod dicimus magis perſpicuum ſit: intuea-
H mur alto mentis obtutu cuiuſq; cœleſtis ordinis expoſitas in ſanctis litteris proprietates.

A ¶ SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶ Ij qui nobis de deo/rebuſq; diuinis diſſe-
B ruerunt. prophete/& ſancti apoſtoli. ¶ Omnes quidem ſimul cœleſtes ſubſtantias/ange los vocent. pſalmus centeſimus ſecundus. Benedicite domino omnes angeli eius/potētes virtute: facientes verbū illius ad audiendā vocē ſermonū eius. Et Mattheus cap. vi ceſimo quinto. Cum autem venerit filius hominis in maieſtate ſua/ & omnes angeli cū eo: tunc ſedebit ſuper ſedem maieſtatis ſue/& congregabūtur ante eum omnes gentes.
C ¶ Vbi vero altiſſimas illarū diſtinctiones exponere & enarrare pergunt. Quod dictū eſt propter Paulum/ex cuius ſancta diſciplina/ſequentia deducit. Et vtinam diuine pietatis indultu: nobis plura reliquiſſet. nam qui hæc aperte declarent: Hebreorum libros nō D habemus. ¶ Extremoq; in loco poſitus perficit: perficit/ complet/ terminat/ atq; cœle-
E ſtes ordines abſoluit. ¶ Ante hunc vero archangelos eminentius ſtatuūt. Nouē beatiſſi morum ſpirituum ordines/ ſacroſq; principatus eſſe: ex ſequentibus amplius dilucebit.
qui a ſanctis/& deo plenis viris appellātur: ſeraphim/ cherubim/throni/ dominationes/Seraphim virtutes/poteſtates/principatus/archangeli/angeli. De ſeraphim Eſaias. cap. ſexto. Vidi dominū ſedētem ſuper ſolium excelſum/& eleuatum: & plena erat domus a maieſtate eius. & ea que ſub ipſo erant: replebāt templum. ſeraphim ſtabant ſuper illud: ſex ale vni/& ſex ale alteri: duabus velabant faciē eius/& duabus velabant pedes eius/ & dua-Cherubim bus volabāt. De cherubim. pſalmus ſeptuageſimus nonus. Qui ſedes ſuper cherubim:
manifeſtare Effraim/Beniamin/ & Manaſſe. Excita potentiam tuam & veni/ vt ſaluos fa cias nos. Et Ezechiel cap. decimo. Cherubim autem ſtabant a dextris domus cū ingre-deretur vir: & nubes impleuit atriū interius/ & eleuata eſt gloria domini ſuper cherub.
Throni De thronis/dominationibus/poteſtatibus & pricipatibus. Paulus epiſtola ad Coloſſen-Dñationes ſes cap. primo. Qui eſt imago dei inuiſibilis: primogenitus omnis creature. quoniam in Poteſtates ipſo condita ſunt vniuerſa in cœlis & in terra/viſibilia & inuiſibilia: ſiue throni/ ſiue do-
Pricipatus minationes/ſiue principatus/ſiue poteſtates. omnia per ipſum & in ipſo creata ſunt: & Virtutes ipſe eſt ante omnes/& omnia in ipſo conſtant. De virtutibus. Mattheus. cap. viceſimo quarto. Sol obſcurabitur: & luna non dabit lumen ſuum. & ſtelle cadēt de cœlo: & virtu tes cœlorum commouebuntur/& tunc parebit ſignum filij hominis in cœlo. De archangelis. Paulus ad Theſſalonicēſes epiſtola prima capite quarto. Quoniam ipſe dominus Archāgeli in iuſſu & in voce archangeli & in tuba dei deſcendet de cœlo. ¶ De angelis. Geneſis Angeli cap. decimonono. Veneruntqꝫ duo angeli Sodomam ſedente Loth in foribus ciuitatis.

qui cū vidiſſet eos: ſurrexit & iuit obuiā/adorauitqꝫ pronus in terrā. ¶ Et ipſa enim vim F
ſuperni illius/diuiniqꝫ fulgoris enunciant. ipſa: ipſa agmina. ¶ Cæterum quēadmodum G ipſe hic venerandos. ipſe: ipſe ſanctorū ſpirituum extremus/angelicuſqꝫ ordo. ¶ Expoſitas H in ſacris litteris proprietates. expoſitas: expreſſas atqꝫ tactas.

¶ QVINTI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

28 PRoponit hoc loco beatus pater queſtionem: quare omnes cœleſtes
ſpiritus cuiuſcunqꝫ diſtinctionis & hierarchię/ vocentur angeli/ appellatione quadam communi & generali omnibus. Dicta eſt (inquit) iam ratio & ſignificatio nominis angelici. Verum id inquiſitione non eſt indignū: quare ſacrarum litterarum ſcriptores/ omnes ſimul cœleſtes ſubſtantias ſiue ſupremæ/ ſiue medię/ſiue poſtremę hierarchiæ: angelos communi nomine vocāt. Cū vero illarum diſtinctiones/ & diſtinctionum per ſuos ordines partitionem depromunt/eum vocāt appellatione peculiari angelicum ordinem: qui finit & terminat ſupernorū ſpirituū ſeriem/ vltimoqꝫ & poſtremo inter ordines cœleſtium ſubſtantiarū ponitur loco. Supra illū vero: archangelorum excelſius ponunt ordinem/deinde principatuū/poſtea poteſtatū & virtutū. & reliquos illis ſuperiores ordines ſuo digerunt ſitu & loco (quemadmodū ſacrorum librorum aſſerit authoritas) graduum inter ſe ſublimitate/eminentiaqꝫ diſcrepantes. quandoquidem aliqui 29 eorum excelſiorem ſortiti ſunt gradum: alij vero inferiorem. ¶ Diſſoluit propoſitā queſtionem/diuinæ ſapientiæ ordinatione obſeruatam hanc explicans legem: ꝙ in omnibus cœleſtium ſpirituum diſtinctionibus/ ſuperiores atqꝫ excelſiores/ inferiorū quoqꝫ & poſteriorū habent proprietates, dignitates & perfectiones. non tamen ediuerſo. nā inferiores: ſuperiorū minime aſſequuntur excellentias aut eminentias. Quemadmodū in rerum corruptibilium ſerie/ſi conſtituantur hæc quatuor ſuo ordine: inanimata/plantæ/animalia bruta/homines. quicquid habent ea quę imperfectiora ſunt/vt inanimata:
ſortiuntur et ea quæ ſunt natura digniora/vt plantæ. non tamen contra. Sicut enim inanimata ſubſiſtunt: ita & plantæ hę tamen vita participant: qua carent inanimata. Rurſum vt plantæ vitam habent: etiam & bruta. Attamen bruta ſenſu prędita ſunt: cuius plantę ſunt expertes. Deniq; vt bruta animalia ſentiendi habent facultatem: haud minus & homines. obtinent tamen homines rationem & intellectum: cuius pręſidio bruta ſunt deſtituta. Cum itaq; cœleſtes ſpiritus vltimi atqꝫ infimi ordinis/ nunciandi habeāt proprietatem & officium: etiā aliorum omnium ordinum ſuperiorum ſpiritus superni/eandem nunciandi ſibi vendicant conditionem/per regulā modo adductā. Recte igitur cuiuſcunqꝫ ſint ordinis cœleſtia agmina/ſiue medij ſiue ſupremi: nomen angelorum ſibi aſciſcunt/quoniam virtutem & vim diuini illius fulgoris in omnes radiantis/ alijs enunciant.
At vero extremū illum & infimū ſanctorum ſpirituū ordinem: principatus aut dominationes aut thronos dicere/& alicuius ſuperiorum ordinū nominatione appellare/foret abſurdum. quoniā ille poſtremus ordo: ſuperioribus & eminentioribus ordinibus/ſocietate aut participatione peculiariū proprietatū nō cōiūgitur/ ſed infra cæteros ſubſidet.
Verum quemadmodum ipſe poſtremus ordo/ qui peculiari nomine angelorū deſignatur:
homines ſacros cœleſtia pertractātes myſteria vt pontifices ipſos/ad cognatas ſibi & familiares diuinarum rerū notiones ſubuehit. ita et ſacratiſſimę cœleſtiū ſpirituum diſtinctiones/quę illi infimo ordini prelatę ſunt/ graduqꝫ pręcellunt: hunc vltimū ordinem/finientē & terminantem ea parte ſupernarū ſubſtantiarū ſeriem/ ad deū ſubuehunt/30 promouent & ſuſtollunt. ¶ Aſſignatur & altera a beato patre angelicæ appellationis omnibus cōmunis/ratio: idcirco angelorum nomē ſpiritibus omnibus cœleſtibus eſſe cōmune/quia omniū ſupernarū ſubſtantiarū ęqua eſt ſecūdū generalē rationē ſocietas & cōmunio. ſunt enī oēs: immortales/imateriales/intellectuales atqꝫ a bono indimobiles.
Et licet alię alijs excellant/graduſqꝫ earū diuerſi ſint: ōnes tamen ad dei ſimilitudinē/claritatemqꝫ diuinam/ vna eademqꝫ intentione feruntur. Perrecte igitur hoc naturę eiuſdem in genere conſortiū: vnius nominis identitate & nuncupatione ſignificatur.
Quemadmodum diuerſa eſſe animalium genera/varioſqꝫ gradus/inficiabitur nemo: & alia alijs eſſe excellētiora. omnibus tamē illis nomē animalis commune eſt: ꝙ eadē om-

Cap.
6

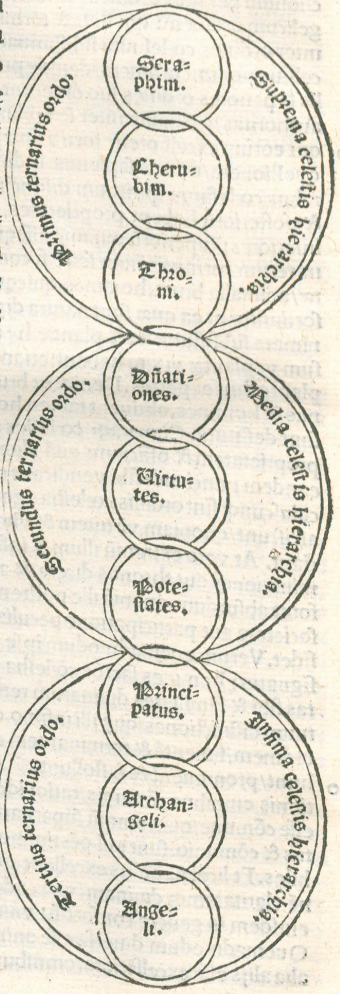
nino animalis ratione participant/& virtutis ſenſitiuæ communione cōueniunt. Verum vt ea quæ nunc adducta ſunt/manifeſtius dinoſcantur: videndæ ſunt ſingillatim cuiuſqꝫ ordinis angelorum peculiares proprietates/quas ſeptimum/ octauum & nonum caput adaperient.

¶ Quęnam ſit cœleſtium ſubſtātiarum prima/quæ media/quę extrema diſtinctio.

Cap.VI.

QVot nēpe & cuiuſmodi ſint ſanctorū ſpirituū diſtinctiōes/ 31 et quo pacto ſacræ illorū functiones peragant̄: ſolā examuſ I ſim noſſe dixerim ſummā(per quam illi in deum aſſumuntur)deitatē. Ad hæc ipſos quoqꝫ cœlites: virtutes proprias/atqꝫ fulgores/& ſacratiſſimum ſuum cœleſtēqꝫ ordinem nō ignorare/par eſt. Neqꝫ enim ſcire poſſumus nos beatiſſimorum ſpirituum abſtruſa myſteria/ vtqꝫ illi ſanctiſſime perficiantur. niſi illa forte nos ſcire quis dicat: quæqꝫ illorum miniſterio/ ſua ſcilicet rite callentiū/ diuina nos pietas docuit. Itaqꝫ nos quidē nichil k motu proprio/inſtructuqꝫ dicemus. cæterū quę a ſanctis theologis notata ſunt āgelicæ proprietatis inſignia: ea nos edocti pro viribus L exponemꝰ. ¶ Omnes ſimul cœleſtes/īmortaleſqꝫ ſubſtantias: in nouem ordines diuinus ſermo diſtinxit/proprijſqꝫ ac ſignificantibus vocabulis appellauit. Has eximius M præceptor noſter in ternas tertio repetitas diſtinctiones: ad ſanctę trinitatis diuiſit imaginem. Ac primam quidem eſſe ait: quę coram deo verſetur ſemper/ idqꝫ ex diuina dignatione ſuſceperit: vt illi inhæreat iugiter/ nulliſqꝫ medijs interiectis ſpiritibus inſeratur. N Nam ſanctiſſimos thronos / & oculis plurimis aliſqꝫ præditos ordines/cherubim ſcilicet & ſeraphim Hebræorum voce appellatos: iuxta deum nullis medijs inſertis agminibus eminenti propinquitate locatos O ait/idqꝫ ſanctarum ſcripturarū tradere expoſitionem. Hanc igitur ternariam diſtinctionem: vt vnam/ & per omnia æqualem/ primamqꝫ re vera hierarchiā/illuſtris dux noſter ac magiſter eſſe ait: qua non ſit præſtantior altera/primoribuſqꝫ dei ſummi ſplēdoribus maiori propinquitate coniuncta. Secundam vero aſſeruit: quæ poteſtatibus/ dominationibus/virtutibuſqꝫ cōficitur. Tertiā item/quæ in cœleſtibus fūctionibus extremum teneat locum: ex angelis & archan

Doctrina beatiſſimi Pauli



32

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

gelis principatibuſq; conſtantem.

¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶Ad hæc ipſos quoq;. Ad hęc: adhuc/ pręterea/ inſuper. I ¶Cæterum quæ a ſanctis theologis. theologis: prophetis & apoſtolis/ & præſertim K
a beatiſſimo Paulo: a quo angelicæ proprietatis inſignia/ hic ſacramentorum diuinorum magiſter edoctus eſt. ¶Omnes ſimul cœleſtes. doctrina beatiſſimi Pauli. ¶Has L eximius præceptor noſter in ternas tertio repetitas diſtinctiones. Eximius pręceptor noſter/ M beatiſſimus Paulus. ¶Nam ſanctiſſimos thronos/ & oculis plurimis/ aliſq; pręditos N ordines. Ezehiel cap. 1. Et totum corpus oculis plenum: in circuitu ipſorum quatuor. Et Eſaias cap. 6. Seraphim ſtabant ſuper illud: ſex alæ vni/ & ſex alę alteri. ¶Idq; ſanctarũ O ſcripturarum tradere expoſitionem. Et dicebat Paulus: id ſanctarũ ſcripturarũ tradere expoſitionem.

¶SEXTI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

NIchil de cœleſtibus ſpiritibus proprio ſenſu aut ſentẽtia differendum
31 eſſe/ caute imprimis admonet beatus pater: conteſtans primum ſummam deitatem (per quã ipſi ſpiritus ſuperni in deũ trãſeunt & traducuntur) exacte & plene noſcere/ quot & quæ ſunt ipſorum ſupramundanorũ ſpirituum diſtinctiones: & quomodo ſacræ illorum operationes/ſpirituales omnino & eximię/ exerceantur. Secundo/ par & rationabile eſſe: ꝙ ipſi cœleſtes ſpiritus ſuas virtutes/ proprietates & conditiones/ſuumq; ſacrum ordinem non ignorent. quandoquidem ſuas functiones proprias rite peragere non poſſent: niſi eas cognoſcerent & exploratas haberẽt. Tertio vero/nos homines cognoſcere non poſſe occulta ſanctiſſimorum ſpirituum myſteria/ & quomodo ſpiritus illi ad ſummã ſibi congruam perfectionem ducantur: ob noſtrę mentis imbecillitatem/& excellentem illorum celſitudinẽ atq; eminentiam. Niſi forte quis illa nos ſcire dicat: quæ diuina benignitas nos edocuit/ ipſorum ſupercœleſtiũ ſpirituũ miniſterio.
vt qui ſua munera & officia probe calleant: & idcirco alijs quantũ deus ſinit/ ea reuelare poſſunt. Verũ huiuſmodi ſcientia noſtra/ admodũ imperfecta eſt & obſcura: & per quam vix bene dicimur quicq̃ ſcire de angelicarum ſubſtãtiarum natura. Quocirca proteſtatur ſacer Dionyſius cum ſingulari quadam modeſtia/ nobis reuera ſemper imitanda/cum de diuinis myſterijs eſt differendum: ſe nichil quidem de ſacratiſſimorum ſpirituum ordinibus & functionibus/ proprio motu aut iudicio dicturũ/ ſed ea duntaxat quę ab alijs diuinæ ſapientiæ ſtudioſis annotata ſunt angelicæ naturæ myſteria/ vt ab ipſis
32 edoctus eſt: ſe traditurum. ¶Poſtea diſtribuit ipſos cœleſtes ſpiritus in tres hierarchias/& quãq; earum rurſum in tres partitur ordines: hoc pacto. Cœleſtes omnes/ angelicaſq; ſubſtãtias: in nouem ordines ſacra ſcriptura (quæ viuus et verus eſt dei ſermo) diſtinxit/
eaſq; peculiaribus & ſpecialibus nominibus: cuiuſq; ordinis propriã functionẽ deſignãtibus/appellauit. Has beatiſſimus Paulus in tres diuiſit hierarchias & diſtinctiones: tertio quidem repetitas/ ꝙ vnaquęq; earum rurſum in tres diducitur ordines. Et id plane ad ſanctæ trinitatis imaginem. Nam vnius in genere/ naturæ angelicę ternaria diſtinctio:
trinitatem diuinarum beatitudinũ atq; perſonarum in vnitate ſubſtantię ſignificat.
Cuiuſq; itidem hierarchiæ ternarius ordo: diuinã triadem in monade ſuprema/ haud obſcure repręſentat. Cæterum primã harum triũ hierarchiã eſſe poſuit ſacratiſſimus Paulus:
quæ coram deo ſemper/ iugiterq; & proxime diuerſatur. id muneris ex diuina benignitate adepta: vt illi perpetuo & e propiquo adhęreat/ nulliſq; intermedijs alijs ſpiritibus ipſi coniungatur ac vniatur. Nam altiſſimos thronos & multioculos atq; multipennes ordines (quos Hebræi cherubim ac ſeraphim appellant) iuxta deũ nullo alio cœleſtium agminum interſtite ordine collocatos aſſerit: idq; ex ſacræ ſcripturæ traditione cõpertum haberi. Hanc igitur ſupremã diſtinctionem in tris ordines partitam: vt vnã/ & per omnia/ in ijs quę ad primę hierarchię diſtinctioniſq; pertinẽt rationẽ/ ęqualẽ (tametſi ordinum ipſius inter ſe: ſit excellentiæ graduſq; diſcrimen) primam merito hierarchiã & eſſe & dici: beatus Paulus ſenſit. vt qua non ſit altera diſtinctio pręſtantior/ neq; primitiuis & immediate ex deo manantibus ſacris ſplendoribus: viciniore gradu/ locoq; cõiũcta.
Secundã vero/ mediãq; hierarchiã/ deo ſacratus Paulus eſſe ait: quę ex poteſtatibus/virtutibus/ dominationibus/ vt tribus ſuis ordinibus conflatur & coaleſcit. Tertiam vero/ poſtremamq; diſtinctionem eſſe dixit: quę ex angelis/ archãgelis & principatibus/ſuis quidem ordinibus conſtituitur.

¶De seraphim & cherubim &,thronis: & de prima eorum hierarchia. Cap.VII.

Hunc nos quoqꝫ suscipiētes functionū cœlestiū ordinē/aptissimaqꝫ 33
distributionem:dicimus primo omne sanctorū spirituū cognomen/ insinuationē atqꝫ indiciū p̄ferre diuinæ cuiuslibet ipsorum proprietatis. Ac sanctorum quidem seraphim appellationem/ ij qui Hebrȩæ liguæ periti sunt/incēdentes
siue calefacientes:cherubim vero/multitudinem sciētiæ siue sapientiæ effusionem significare aiunt. Merito igitur prima illa cœlestis functio ab altissimis spiritibus agitur:cui sit ordo omnibus celsior atqꝫ sacratior/vt ante conspectum diuinæ maiestatis continenter assistat/ perpetuoqꝫ locata sit.atqꝫ in ipsam vtpote propinquissimam: primores illæ diuinæ apparitiones ac perfectiones/præcipue ac peculiarius penetrent. Appellantur nempe calefacientes/ & throni/& sapientiæ effusio: congruo scilicet Seraphim ac diuino illorum habitus signāte nomine. Nam ꝙ diuinis rebus sempiterno motu & nunq̄ lacessente studio inseruiant:ardoreqꝫ ac celeritate mirabili ac feruore perpetui illius & nunq̄ cedentis aut inclinantis æterni motus sui:inferiora etiam agmina ad sui similitudinem potentissime subuehant/illa veluti incēdentes atqꝫ ad similem feruoris gratiā exuscitantes/ præterea
ꝙ summa vi flammantis incendij expurgent/lucidaqꝫ & illuminante proprietate beatissimi spiritus/apertaqꝫ & inextinguibili & quæ semper eodē se habeat modo/totius obscurissimę caliginis ac cęcitatis expultrice ac profligatrice Cherubim sint prędīti:seraphim accepere cognomen. At vero sanctorū cherubim appellatione: illorum eximia scientia deiqꝫ speculatio/ summæqꝫ & exuberantis lucis capacitas atqꝫ cōtemplatio(qua diuinam speciem nō pertraduces vllos/sed primaria vi sua intuentur)gratiæ quoqꝫ copiosa traditio & communicatio/inuidiæ liuore carens/qua indultam sibi sapientiam in sequentia Throni & inferiora transfundūt:designatur. Porro altissimarū & eleuatarum sedium nomine: illas ab omni terreni affectus humilitate longissime remotas esse/sursumqꝫ ad ardua inuiolabili studio ferri edocemur. dum illæ ab infimis omnibus iugi intētione disiunctæ/ac circa illum qui vere excelsus est totis viribus incōcusse/stabiliterqꝫ locatę/ diuinum aduentū absqꝫ vllius perturbationis ac materiæ impedimento suscipiunt:deumqꝫ ferentes obsequij deuotione/ad ipsius percipiendos fulgores semper patēt. Ista quidem nominum ipsorum (quantum ipsi intelligimus) ratio est. ¶Dicendum 34 vero:quam esse ipsorum hierarchiā arbitremur. Nempe enim ꝙ omnis huiusce sacræ functionis intentio:ex diuina imitatione ac specie dependeat/ꝙꝫ officium ipsius omne in participationem sacram/ traditionemqꝫ purgationis/immixti & diuini luminis/consummātisqꝫ scientię diuisum sit:
supra iam satis dictum esse arbitror. Nunc vero digne pro merito tantarū rerum/dicere cupio:quonam modo hæc altissimorū spirituum functio/in sāctis litteris traditur. Primis illis substantijs/quæ post authorem suum deū locatæ ac velut in ipsius valuis positæ/omnem inuisibilem/ visibilemqꝫ virtutem cōditam longe transcendunt:propriā quandā esse atqꝫ adesse in nul-

lo diſſimilem functionem/arbitrãdũ eſt. Puritate quoqꝫ ſingulari præditas exiſtimandum/non quaſi maculis impuris/ colluuionibuſqꝫ liberatas: neqꝫ P vt materiales non ſuſcipientes imagines. ſed vt omni ſummiſſione atqꝫ admixtione celſiores/ſacraqꝫ omni re(excellẽti licet)per ſupremam atqꝫ inuiolabilem puritatem/diuiniſqꝫ ipſis virtutibus omnibus ſuperne eminentes/atqꝫ ordinem ſuum ſempiterno pariliqꝫ & conſtanti vigẽtem motu: fixum atqꝫ inuertibilem diuina dignatione tenentes. nullãqꝫ in deterius imminutionẽ Q penitus ſcientes: ſed ſtabili ſemper atqꝫ immobili diuinæ proprietatis ſuæ/puriſſimaqꝫ ſede ſubnixas. Contemplatiuas item pari ratione ſentiendum eſt/nõ quaſi illæ ſenſibilia vel ſpiritualia contẽplẽtur ſigna: neqꝫ vt quę traditæ in diuinis litteris ſpeculationis ad deũ varietate ferantur. ſed vt totius ſpiritualis ſcientiæ celſiore luce repletas: principaliſqꝫ atqꝫ pulchra cuncta facientis ſpeciei/ ſuperſubſtantiali ac liquidiſſima contemplatione/plenitudineqꝫ 35 beatas. ¶ Eadem quoqꝫ ratione IHESV fœliciſſima ſocietate dignatas intelligendũ. non ꝙ ex fictis imaginibus ac formis illæ deificam ſimilitudinẽ nitantur exprimere: ſed ꝙ veraciter in prima participatione ſciẽtię deificorum ipſius luminum illi propinquæ ſint/ac præterea ꝙ ipſis diuina imitatio excellentiore modo donata ſit. cõmunicãtqꝫ(quantum par eſt) R in primæ conditionis ſuæ poteſtate/ deificis ipſius/ benigniſſimiſqꝫ virtutibus.
Perfectas autem itidem fatendum: non quaſi eam ſcientiã didicerint/qua ſignorũ ſacra varietas/perplexaqꝫ ſoluantur inuolucra. ſed vt quę primæ illius/eminentiſqꝫ gratiæ(per quam deo inſeruntur) plenitudinem ſint S conſecutæ: iuxta ſupremam illã (cuius capaces ſunt angeli) diuinorum operum diſciplinam. Neqꝫ enim per ſanctos alios ſpiritus: ſed a diuinitate ipſa ſacratius erudiuntur/in illam perpetua ſe intẽtione dirigẽtes/ excellenti cũctis virtute atqꝫ ordine. Ad ſummũ quoqꝫ puritatis & nuſq̃ deuiantis conſtantiæ verticem peruectæ/& in eo ſtabilitæ: decorem illum omni materia celſiorem/intelligibilemqꝫ(vt fas eſt)contemplari pergunt. diuinorũqꝫ operum profundas/& quæ ſciri poſſunt rationes: vt primariæ & quæ iuxta deũ 36 ſint diſcunt/ab ipſa ſancta trinitate ſupreme eruditæ. ¶ Iſtud nempe theologi apertius indicant: inferiores ſcilicet cœleſtium ſpirituum ordines/ a ſuperioribus diuinorum operũ ſcientiam honeſtiſſime diſcere. qui vero celſiores omnibus ſunt: a deitate ipſa(vt fas eſt)ſeorſum ſacratius erudiri. Quoſdam T enim ex ipſis inducunt a prioribus ſacramẽta perdiſcere/ dominumqꝫ cœleſtiũ virtutum eſſe ac regem gloriæ(qui humana forma aſſumptus eſſet in cœlum)alijs docentibus noſſe. Quoſdã item ad IHESV ipſius hæſitãtes aſpectum/diuiniqꝫ illius operis & pro nobis aſſumptæ carnis ſcientiam diſcere cupientes: quos ipſe IHESVS per ſe doceat/eximiamqꝫ benignitatem ſuã primo ipſis inſinuet. ego enim (inquit) loquor iuſtitiam: & iudiciũ V ſalutaris. Dignum vero miraculo eſt: cur primæ illæ quoqꝫ virtutes angelicæ(quæ cæteras tanto celſitudinis honore tranſcendunt)diuinarum intelligentias rerum/quaſi non ſummæ ſed mediæ ſint: a deo reuerenter addiſcere cupiãt. Non enim ad ipſum ſtatim verba dirigunt/ interrogantes quare rubra ſunt veſtimẽta tua: ſed prius inter ſe hęrentes inquirunt. vt oſtendãt quidem ſe diſcendi auidas & diuini operis ſcientiam cupere: verum hāc ſibi nequaq̃ ante diuinæ illuſtrationis gratiam ſuo ordine procedentis/ vſur-pare præſumere. ¶Prima igitur cœleſtiū ſpirituum ſacratiſſima functio: 37 ab ipſo deo (vt diximus) eruditur. Cumqꝫ ad illum nullo medio tota intentione feratur: purgatione caſtiſſima/ ingēti lumine/ & exactiſſima primaqꝫ perfectione pro modo & captu ſuo plena/ purgatur & illuminatur atqꝫ ꝑ-ficitur. omnis quidem ſummiſſionis admixtione pura: cæterum primo ple-na lumine/ & primitus indultæ notionis ac ſcientiæ effecta particeps. ¶Il- 38

lud quoqꝫ paucis non inconuenienter addiderim/ ꝙ participatio ipſa diui-næ ſcientię: & purgatio/ & illuminatio ſit/ atqꝫ perfectio: dū per indultam ſibi ordinatiſſime perfectiorū myſteriorū notionē/ veluti ab ignorantia pur-
gat. Ipſaqꝫ diuina ſcientia illuminat/ per quā etiā purgat: dum quæ antea non videbantur/ ſublimioris nunc intelligentiæ luce panduntur. perficit itidem hoc lumine: dum altiſſimorum ſenſuū firmam/ perſeuerantēqꝫ ſcientiā tradit. Hæc igitur eſt (quantū ipſe ſapio) cœleſtium ſpirituū prima diſtin-ctio/ quæ deū iugiter ambiens/ & circa illum nullis medijs interpoſitis agmi nibus aſtans: æternam ipſius ſcientiam ſimpliciter & indeficienti circūſtat affectu/ ſecundum altiſſimā illius angelicæ firmitatis ſempiterno vigentis motu/ rationem. Ea quippe plurimas ac beatiſſimas ſpeculationes/ puriſſi-mis intuetur obtutibus: ſimpliceſqꝫ & continentes diuinæ claritatis radios ſuſcipit/ atqꝫ diuini cibi alimonia paſcitur: qui primę quidem eſt largitionis profuſione plurimus. cæterū diuinæ refectionis vnitate non varia/ & quos repleuerit ſibi inſerente: vnus eſt. Permulta item diuinæ ſocietatis gratia & X familiaritate & cooperatione beata/ dum eius in ſe pro viribus ſimilitudinē exprimit/ præclaros habitus/ actioneſqꝫ imitatur: plurima ex diuinis rebus excellenti ratione cognoſcens/ diuinæqꝫ ſcientiæ & agnitionis (quantū fas Y eſt) particeps facta. Quocirca ipſius quoqꝫ laudes ſcriptura ſacra mortali-bus tradidit: in quibus aperte ſupremæ illius lucis & auguſtiſſimæ intelligē-tiæ notatur eminentia. Namqꝫ (vt humano more dixerim) alij ex his ſpiritibus/ aquarum voces imitantur: dum exclamant. benedicta gloria domini de loco ſuo. alij laudatiſſimā illam & horroris/ reuerētiæqꝫ ac ſacratioris in-telligentię plenam clamātes emittūt vocem. Sāctus/ ſanctus/ ſanctus: dominus deus ſabaoth/ plena eſt omnis terra gloria illius. Has autem altiſſimas Z cœleſtium ſpirituum laudationes/ iam quidē cū de diuinis hymnis ſcribere-mus: ſatiſqꝫ tūc hac de re pro modulo noſtro in illo opere diximus. Ex quo ammonendi cauſa id tantum impræſentiarum dixiſſe ſufficiat: ꝙ theologię ſcientiam prima iſta diſtinctio a diuina bonitate (vt fas eſt) intimi fulgoris accipiēs: hāc ad diuinę bonitatis imaginē/ deinceps ijs etiā qui poſt eā ſunt ordinibus tradit. illud (vt breuiter dixerim) docens/ venerandā illam/ excel lentiqꝫ laude ab omnibus prædicandam deitatem: fas eſſe/ laudabiliter a di uinis/ tātæqꝫ maieſtatis capacibus ſpiritibus agnoſci/ atqꝫ pro merito ac mo z do ſingulari celebrari. Sunt enim iſti plane (quod ſacrę tradunt litteræ) vt diuinam ſpeciē præ ſe ferentes/ diuinæ requiei beatiſſimæ ſedes. Illud præterea: monadē eſſe/ atqꝫ in tribus perſonis vnitatē: quæ a ſummis illis/ ange-liciſq; ſubſtantijs vſq; ad terræ nouiſſima ineffabili benignitate pertingat/ & quæ ſunt omnia: prouidentiæ ſuæ ratione moderetur. vt totius prouidentiæ ſingulare principium & cauſa: & quod omnia superſubſtantialiter inuiolabili modo compræhenſa contineat.

¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶ Neq; vt materiales non ſuſcipiẽtes ima- P gines: ſed vt omni ſummiſſione atq; admixtione celſiores. Hoc eſt non quaſi libera-tas a rerum materialium imaginationibus: quemadmodum nos (cum ad dei contemplationem proficere volumus) liberari neceſſum eſt. ſed vt omni ſummiſſione/ hoc eſt ſubiectione & diminutione & contrariorum ammixtionis impuritate: longe ſuperio-
res. ¶ Nullamq; in deterius imminutionem penitus ſcientes. imminutionem: immu- Q tationem/ offenſionem/ atq; iniuriam. ¶ Communicantq; quantum par eſt in primæ R conditionis ſuæ poteſtate: deificis ipſius/ benigniſſimiſq; virtutibus. Alia traductio ha-bet. communicant autem huiuſmodi (vt poſſibile eſt) in præoperatrice virtute: deificis ipſius & humanis virtutibus. quia primos IHESV perficientis/ beatificantiſq;
radios & benigniſſimæ humanitatis ſuæ myſteria (vtpote quæ ſint viciniores) præri-piunt: in alios deriuant/ atq; diffundunt. ¶ Plenitudinem ſint conſecutæ: iuxta ſu- S premam illam (cuius capaces ſunt angeli) diuinorum operum diſciplinam. Angeli/ ſu-premæ diſciplinæ diuinorum operum capaces ſunt: ſed non ſecundum illam exuberantem plenitudinem/ qua ſupremus ordo (qui ſine medio a diuinitate imbuitur) purgatur/ illuminatur/ atq; perficitur. Alij vero tantæ plenitudinis minime capaces: a di-uinitate (concurrentibus alijs/ medijſq; ſpiritibus) purgationes/ illuminationes/ perfectioneſq; ſuſcipiunt. ¶ Quoſdam enim ex ipſis inducunt: a prioribus ſacramen- T ta perdiſcere. Theologi/ ſanctiq; prophetæ quoſdam cœleſtium ſpirituum indu-cunt: ſacramenta a ſuperioribus/ celſioribuſq; ſpiritibus perdiſcere. Pſalmus viceſi-muſtertius. quis eſt iſte rex gloriæ? dominus virtutum ipſe eſt rex gloriæ. Eſaias ca-pite ſexageſimoſecundo. Ecce ſaluator tuus venit/ ecce merces eius cum eo/ & opus eius coram illo: & vocabunt eos populus ſanctus/ redempti a domino. ¶ Ego enim V inquit loquor iuſtitiam: & iudicium ſalutaris. Eſaias capite ſexageſimotertio. quis eſt iſte qui venit de Edom/ tinctis veſtibus de Boſra: iſte formoſus in ſtola ſua/ gradiens in multitudine fortitudinis ſuæ? Ego qui loquor iuſtitiam: & propugnator ſum ad ſal-uandum. Quare ergo rubrum eſt indumentum tuum: & veſtimenta tua ſicut calcantium in torculari? Torcular calcaui ſolus: & de gentibus non eſt vir mecum. Ex quibus õnibus: talis diuinus colligitur dialogus. cuius interlocutores: angelicus ordo. eccleſia. Dialogus medius cœleſtiũ ordo. ſupremus ordo. IHESVS mundi author & ſaluator: qui ſe a ter- ex diuinis ris recipiẽs/ in cœlũ aſſumitur. Angelicus ordo ad eccleſiã. Ecce ſaluator tuus venit/ ec-ce merces eius cum eo & opus eius coram illo: & vocabunt eos populus ſanctus/ redẽ-pti a domino. tu autẽ vocaberis quæſita ciuitas: & nõ derelicta. Medius virtutũ ordo ad principatus & angelicũ ordinem. Attollite portas principes veſtras/ & eleuamini portæ æternales: & introibit rex gloriæ. Angelicus ordo ad mediũ cœleſtiũ/ ſuperioremq; ordi-nẽ. Quis eſt iſte rex gloriæ? Medius ad angelicũ. Dñs fortis & potẽs/ dñs potẽs in præ-
lio. Supremus cœleſtium ordo ad medium ordinem. Attollite portas principes veſtras & eleuamini portæ ęternales: & introibit rex gloriæ. Medius ad ſupremum. Quis eſt iſte rex gloriæ? Supremus ad mediũ. Dñs virtutũ: ipſe eſt rex glorię. Supremi inter ſe. Quis eſt iſte qui venit de Edom/ tinctis veſtibus de Boſra: iſte formoſus in ſtola ſua/ gradiens in multitudine fortitudinis ſuę? IHESVS author ſęculorũ ad eos. Ego qui loquor iuſtitiã/ & propugnator ſum ad ſaluandũ. Supremus ordo ad eundẽ. Quare ergo rubrũ eſt indumentũ tuũ: & veſtimenta tua ſicut calcantiũ in torculari? IHESVS ſaluator ad eoſdẽ. Torcular calcaui ſolus: & de gentibus non eſt vir mecũ. ¶ Familiaritate & coopera- X tione beata. Suprema diſtinctio beata: eſtq; beata rectus & nõ ſeptimꝰ caſus. ¶ Quocir- Y ca ipſius quoq; laudes ſcriptura ſacra mortalibus tradidit. Ezechiel cap. 3. Et aſſumpſit me ſpiritus: & audiui poſt me vocẽ cõmotionis magnę. benedicta gloria domini de loco ſuo/ & vocẽ alarũ animaliũ percutientiũ alterã ad alterã/ & vocẽ rotarũ ſequentiũ ani-malia/ & vocẽ cõmotionis magnę. Eſaias cap. ſexto. Seraphim ſtabãt ſuper illud. ſex alę vni/ & ſex alæ alteri: duabus velabant faciẽ eius/ & duabus velabãt pedes eius/ & duabus volabãt. & clamabant alter ad alterũ & dicebãt. ſanctus/ ſanctus/ ſanctus: dñs deus ſabaoth. plena eſt omnis terra: gloria eius. Sabaoth nūc apud nos verſum eſt/exercituū

Z ¶ Iam quidem cum de diuinis hymnis ſcriberemus. Librum de diuinis hymnis diuinus pater Dionyſius compoſuit: qui et nunc deſideratur. & quē clementia IHESV CHRISTI/ z eiuſq; omni hymno & laude digna bonitas: reſtituat. ¶ Sunt enī iſti plane (quod ſacræ tradunt litteræ) vt diuinam ſpeciem præ ſe ferentes. Eſaias cap. ſexageſimoſexto. Quæ eſt iſta domus quam ædificabitis michi: & quis iſte locus requietionis meę? hæc/ manus mea fecit: & facta ſunt vniuerſa iſta/dicit dominus.

¶ SEPTIMI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

De prima/ſupremaq; hierarchia/& triplici illius ordine determinaturus 33 hic ſacer Dionyſius/admiſſa ſuſceptaq; diſtinctionū angelicarū diuiſione in prȩcedente capite poſita: primū loco proloquij pricipijq; proponit. ꝙ ōne ſanctorū ſpirituū nomē ordini ipſorū peculiariter inditū: inſinuat ac indicat diuinā aliquā proprietatē illi ordini conuenientē. Vt qui hebrȩā callēt linguā: ſeraphim ſignificare dicūt/incendētes ſiue calefaciētes. Cherubim vero: exuberantiā ſciētiæ/ſiue ſapiētiæ affluentia. Eſt itaq; eximiæ dignitatis & excellētiæ prima ſupernorū ſpirituū diſtinctio: ꝙ cæteris omnibus longe ſupereminead & excelſiore collocata ſit gradu/ante diuinæ maieſtatis conſpectū e vicino immediateq; & iugiter aſſiſtens: & primos diuinæ illuſtrationis radios ſine aliorū interſtitio ſuſcipiēs. Etenī ſuperni ſpiritus huius ſupremæ diſtinctionis/ vocanť throni, cherubim & ſeraphim: nominibus quidē diuinis/accōmodatiſq;/et ipſorū habitus ac proprietates deſignantibus. Quod deinceps ſingillatim hoc pacto declarat: Seraphim in ſingulis iſtorū triū ordinū. ¶ Nāq; ſupremi (īquit) ordinis huius primȩ hierarchiȩ cœleſtes ſpiritus/ſeraphim accepere denominationē: ꝙ diuinis rebus ac officijs ſempiterno motu & nunq̄ defatigato ſtudio intenti ſint/& obſequātur. perinde atq; ignis ſenſibilis: perpetuo motu & indefeſſe ſuas agit functiones. Videmus ſane hūc materialē ignē: ſurſum ſemper emicare & in ſuperiora irrequiete ferri. vt ītelligamus et ſupremos iſtos ſpiritus/ab igne & calefaciendi virtute ſuū nomen ſortitos: ſumma vi ſemper in deū cōuerti/totaq; intentione (quæ nunq̄ fatiſcat) in illū rapi. Rurſum ignis iſte terrenus feruore ſuo & magna quidē celeritate/admota ſibi corpora reddit ignita: illiſq; ſui tradit conſortiū/atq; ſecū defert in ſublime. At longe verius & efficacius ſummi ordinis & eminentiſſimi ſpiritus/ardore ſpirituali & pernicitate perpetui motus ſui/quo iugiter in ſuū ferūtur principium: inferiora etiā cœleſtiū ſubſtantiarū agmina ad ſui ſimilitudinē potentiſſima virtute promouent. quaſi illa incendentes: & ad ſimilem feruoris diuini amoris gratiā inflammātes. Deniq; ignis iſte noſter/purgatorius & lucidus eſt: et ſplendore ſuo dēſas propellit tenebras. Supremi itē ſpiritus/ ſeraphim appellati ſunt: ꝙ virtute ſui ſingularis incendij expurgent alios ſpiritus/quibus ſui tradunt conſortiū. lucidaq; & alios illuminante claritate ſint præditi: in aperto quidem conſpicua ac inextinguibili/& ſine remiſſione aut immutatione eodem ſe modo ſemper habente. quæ ſane claritas: obſcuræ Cherubim caliginis/ cæcitatiſq; a mentibus eorum expultrix eſt & propulſatrix. ¶ Nomine vero ſanctorum cherubim/ ſecundi ordinis primæ hierarchiæ ſpirituum: deſignatur eximia illorum ſcientia deiq; ſpeculatio/ſummæq; & profuſiſſimæ lucis copia. qua diuinam ſpeciē nō per radios lucidos ab alijs ſpiritibus in ipſos traductos: ſed propria nixi virtute & imediate deū contuentur ac contēplātur. Deſignať etiā illorū nuncupatione/copioſa gratiæ a deo ſuſceptæ in alios trāſfuſio atq; traditio: qua ſine liuore inuidię indultā ſibi Throni deſuper ſapientiam inferioribus ſpiritibus cōmunicant. ¶ Deniq; thronorum appellatione (qui poſtremum ſupremæ hierarchiæ ordinem complent) inſinuari dicunt ſacri authores/ipſos ab omni terreni affectus ſummiſſione procul eſſe remotos: ſurſumq; ad ſublimia diuinitatis myſteria indefatigabili ſtudio ferri. dum illi ab imis humilibuſq; rebus omnino diſiuncti/& circa illum qui vere excelſus eſt & ſumma celſitudine omnibus ſupereminet/ ſtabiliter collocati: aduentum dei (qui ipſis inſideat atq; immaneat) ſine aliquo materialis affectus obſtaculo ſuſcipiunt. deumq; ipſis immorantem atq; inhærentē prōptiſſima obſequij deuotione ferentes: ad percipiēdos ipſius lucidiſſimos radios ſemper aperti ſunt ac patent. Et plane hæ ſacratiſſimæ thronorum proprietates: a ſedibus materialibus per aſſurrectionem ſunt deſumptæ. quæ a terra eleuatiores eſſe ſolent/ atq; in altum erectæ: fixis ne titubent pedibus ſtabiliuntur. Inſuper inſidere ipſis volentis aduentum patentes ſuſcipiunt: eumq; officioſo quodam obſequio

34 quieſcentem ferunt. ¶ Nunc ſupereſt oſtendere: quænam ſit iſtorum trium ordinum & totius primæ diſtinctionis functio. Sane ꝙ omnis hierarchiæ cœleſtis (quæcunq; etiam ea ſit) intentio conuertatur ad hæc duo: ſcilicet imitationem dei/ & exprimendam in ſe eius ſimilitudinem. ꝙ etiam omne eius officium diuiſum ſit in ſacram participationē ſuſceptionemq;
a deo/ & in traditionem atq; communicationem horū trium purgationis/illuminationis & perfectionis: ſatis in tertio capite dictū eſt. Nunc autem videndū eſt:
quomodo totius primæ hierarchiæ functio peragitur. Et plane putare congruit propriā quandam/ primam/ ſupremamq;/ & in nullo diſcrepantem ab ijs quibus adeſt/ functionē:
cōuenire primis illis cœleſtibus ſubſtantijs/ quæ poſt deum proxime collocatę maximaq;
propinquitate iuxta illū poſitæ: omnē inuiſibilē incorporalēq; creaturā/ & omnē viſibilem atq; materialē lōge dignitate tranſcendunt. Dignioribus enim ſubſtātijs dignior accōmodatur operatio: & ipſam ſubſtantiæ conditionem ſequitur & ipſa functionis proprietas.
Exiſtimādū itaq; eſt: ipſas ſupremas ſubſtantias imprimis ſingulari puritate dotatas eſſe. non quidem ꝙ more humano a maculis aut ſordibus liberatæ ſint/ aut exemptæ demum a materialibus imaginibus: quas ſecundum modum intelligendi noſtrum prius ſuſceperint & in ſe habuerint. ſed quia omni ad inferiora deiectione inclinationeq;
ad terrena/ aut humilium affectuum admixtione ſunt ſuperiores/ omniq; re ſpirituali &
ſacra licet admodum excellēti per ſupremam (quæ nunq̄ labefactari poteſt) puritatem/& cæteris ſpiritibus cœleſtibus longe eminentiores. quia etiam ordinem ſuum conſimili ſemper & perpetuo conſtantem motu: tenent fixum diuina dignatione atq; inuertibilem.
Neq; vllam in deterius prolapſionem/ imminutionemq; boni vnq̄ ſentiunt: ſed ſtabili ſemper atq; immobili virtutis ac bonitatis ſede fixę permanent. Secundo loco exiſtimandum eſt eaſdem primas ſubſtantias/ quæ totam primam cōplent hierarchiam: eſſe inſigniter contemplatiuas. non quidem quia ſenſibilia aut intellectualia contemplentur ſigna aut ſpectra/ aut quia varietate & multiformitate ſignorum euehātur ad deum: ſecundum eum ſpeculandi modum qui in ſacris litteris traditur/ humanæ infirmitati accōmodū.
ſed quia excellentiore totius ſpiritualis ſcientiæ (non autē partis illius: quēadmodum in hominibus vſu venit) luce ſunt repletæ. quia etiam apertiſſima/ clariſſimaq; contēplatione diuinæ ſpeciei atq; pulchritudinis (quę pręcipua eſt omniū: & cūcta facit pulchra) 35 ſunt beatę. ¶ Conſimili quoq; modo putandū eſt/ eaſdē primas ſubſtantias: eſſe dignas habitas vt fruantur fœliciſſima ſocietate domini IHESV. nō tātum ſecundū diuinitatē:
ſed & glorioſam eius humanitatē. Non quidē ꝙ ex effictis imaginibus ac formis:
diuinā in ſe ſimilitudinē humano more conentur efformare. ſed quia reuera illi e vicino aſtāt & propinquæ ſunt/ in prima immediataq; participatione diuinorum illius radiorum:
qui deiformes eos reddunt quibus infulgent. quia etiā ipſis diuina imitatio excellentiore modo q̄ reliquis omnibus indulta ſit: ob maiorem ad deum propinquitatē. communicantq;
per benigniſſimam IHESV illuſtrationē in diuinis eius virtutibus: quibus deificantur atq; in deum tranſeunt. necnō & in benigniſſimis aſſūptæ humanitatis ipſius cōmunicāt virtutibus: agnoſcētes āplius q̄ cæteri auguſtiſſima illius myſteria/ ob primā ad deū vicinitatē & immediatā locationē. Ea enim eſt poteſtas & virtus primę ſuæ cōditionis & ſortis/ qua deo proxime collocatę ſunt: vt cæteris vberius ſacris CHRISTI muneribus participēt. Tertio deniq; loco ſentiendū eſt ipſas primas ſupremæ hierarchiæ ſubſtantias eſſe perfectas. Non quidem quia eam didicerint ſcientiam/ qua varietas & multitudo ſignorum ſenſibilium abſtruſa obuelantium myſteria reueletur: aut qua velamenta corporalia inuoluentia occultis ambagibus ſpiritualem intelligentiam rerum cœleſtium/ reſerentur. Nempe ob imperfectionem & imbecillitatem/ ille modus eſt cognoſcendi noſtræ mentis: quam illę/ eminentiſſime excedunt. ſed quoniā cōſecutæ ſunt exuberantiā & plenitudinē primæ & inſignis gratię: per quā in deum aſſumuntur/iuxta ſummam illam (cuius ipſi cœleſtes ſpiritus capaces ſunt) diuinorum operum ſcientiam. Quippe in CHRISTO vt homine atq; in ſacratiſſima eius anima/ſuperior eſt et eminentior diuinorum operum ſcientia: de cuius etiam plenitudine accipiunt & homines & angeli/ accepto generatim (vt hic fit) angelorum nomine. Illa autem animæ CHRISTI ſcientia (in qua omnes theſauri ſcientiæ & ſapiētiæ ſunt abſconditi) Coloſ. 2 ipſorum etiam ſupremorū ſpirituum excedit capacitatē & menſuram. Conſimiliter in ipſo deo exuberantior eſt ſapientia q̄ in angelis: quoniā īmēſa & infinita. quare angelorum ſcientia collata ad diuinam/ non eſt ſimpliciter ſuprema. Verum quoniam illius immenſitatis diuinę ſcientiæ/cœleſtes ſpiritus non ſunt capaces: id impedimento non eſt/quin ipſis primæ hierarchiæ ſpiritibus aſſit ſuprema(cuius capaces ſunt angeli) diuinorum operũ ſcientia. Nēpe nullis alijs ſpiritibus angelicis adeſt ſuperior aut affluētior ſcientia: cum nulli alij ſint illis ſublimiores/aut maiore propinquitate circa deũ collocati.

Qꝫ autē hæ ſacratiſſimę & altiſſimę ſubſtãtię: ſupremam hauriãt(quantum eſt in angelis)
diuinorum operum diſciplinam: vel ex eo conſtat/ ꝙ non per alios cœleſtes ſpiritus ſed ab ipſa diuinitate primo erudiuntur: in illam perpetua conuerſione atqꝫ motu ſe dirigentes/ea quidem virtute & ordine qui cuncta tranſcendat. Eędem ad ſummum puritatis & ſtabilitatis apicem faſtigiũqꝫ ſubuectę/atqꝫ in eo ſtabiliter fixę: decorem illum diuinę ſpeciei omni re materiali celſiorem & intellectualem(quantum eis conceditur) contemplari ſtudent/diuinorumqꝫ operum occultas rationes (quę ſciri ab ipſis poſſunt) primo loco diſcunt: vt immediate iuxta deum conſtitutę/& a ſancta trinitate primũ eruditæ.
¶Tradunt namqꝫ diuinorum myſteriorum ſcriptores/ inferiores cœleſtium ſpirituum 36
diſtinctiones a ſuperioribus rerum ſacratiſſimarum ſcientiam percipere. eas vero quæ eminētiores omnibus ſunt: ab ipſo deo ſecretius & occultius erudiri. Inducũt enim ipſi deiloqui patres quoſdam ex angelicis ſpiritibus inferiores quidem & poſteriores:
a prioribus occulta ſacramenta diſcere/ & ex aliorum doctrina cognoſcere: ꝙ IHESVS Pſal.23 qui in glorificata carne aſſumebatur in cœlum: dominus eſſet virtutum & rex gloriæ. Quoſdam etiam inducunt ex admiratione ad ipſius IHESV aſcendentis in cœlũ ſubſiſtētes aſpectũ: & cupiētes percipere ſcientiã altiſſimi illius operis noſtrę redemptionis & diſpenſationis pro nobis aſſumptæ. quos vtpote ſupremos & ſummos Eſaiæ.63 ſpiritus/ IHESVS ſine medio & per ſe doceat: dicens illud Eſaiæ. Ego loquor iuſtitiam:
& iudicium ſalutaris. Illud vero dignum contemplatione eſt & admiratione/quomodo illæ ſummę angelicæ ſubſtantiæ/ quæ alijs(vt dictum eſt) lõge ſupereminēt:
diuinorum myſteriorum ſcientiam cum modeſtia/ reuerentia & veneratione ſingulari a IHESV addiſcere cupiant: quaſi non ſummæ eſſent & quæ immediate a deo debeãt erudiri/ſed tanq̃ forent mediæ/& aliorum cœleſtium ſpirituum officio indigerent ad ſacramenta cœleſtia perdiſcenda. Non enim in principio verba ad ipſum dirigunt vt inquirant:
quare rubrum eſt veſtimentũ tuum? ne arroganter ſe videantur ante tempus ingerere ad perquirendũ: ſed prius inter ſe dubitantes ſciſcitantur. quis eſt iſte qui venit de Edom? vt oſtendant ſe quidem diſcendi myſterij deſiderio teneri: verum nequaq̃ pręſumere/vt illam ſibi vſurpent ſcientiam ante tempus legitimum & diuinæ illuſtrationis gratiam/ſuo tempore ſeipſam humilibus & cum reuerentia diuinum donum expectantibus/inſinuantis.
Quemadmodum diſcipuli apprime eruditi/aliquid diſcuſſione & enodatione indigens ad manum habentes: non audent ex modeſtia primum compellare magiſtrum/ vt dubium illud enodet. ſed prius inter ſe percontantur quod videtur ambiguum/ & illorum diſceptatione excitus præceptor: verba ad eos facit rem illam concernentia/ex quibus ipſi quaſi ſecundo loco capiunt fiduciam ipſum magiſtrum interrogandi.
Quod & diſcipulos in euangelio apud Ioannem factitaſſe legimus: cum Ioan.16 inter ſe quærerent eorum verborũ quę a domino dicta fuerant/intelligentiam. ¶Deinde 37
oſtēdit ſacratus pater hoc loco/quomodo ſuprema diſtinctio tria illa cõmunia cuilibet hierarchiæ munera ſuſcipit: purgationem/illuminationem & perfectionem. dicens ex ſupradictis iam conſtare/ꝙ illa prima cœleſtium ſpirituum diſtinctio a deo immediate eruditur. Et quoniam tota intentione virtuteqꝫ mentis fertur in deum: ideo purgatione defecatiſſima/ illuminatione candidiſſima/ & perfectione conſummatiſſima pro ſuæ dignitatis gradu purgatur/ illuminatur & perficitur. nullam habens admixtionem diſſimilitudinis aut ſummiſſionis ad inferiora/primario & ſine medio a deo manãte lumine illuſtrata/ & primo loco indultæ ſibi diuinorũ ſcientiæ qua perficiatur effecta particeps. ¶Neqꝫ illud prætermittendũ eſt/ꝙ ipſa diuinæ ſcientiæ prima participatio/ 38
quam percipiunt ſupremæ illæ virtutes angelicæ: eſt & purgatio/& illuminatio/ & perfectio.
Purgatio quidem: quoniam huiuſmodi participatio per traditam ſibi altiſſimorũ myſteriorum notionem eas veluti a priore ignorantia purgat. Illuminatio vero: quoniã talis participatio illas angelicas ſubſtantias diuina quadam ſcientia illuminat. dum ea quæ antea non cognouerunt: vberioris poſtea cognitionis luce fulgida ipſis manifeſtãtur.
Demum perfectio etiam eſt ea participatio ſupernæ ſcientiæ: dum ſublimium & arduorum myſteriorum perficientem ipſis ſcientiam tradit. Hæc itaqꝫ eſt angelicorum

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

ſpirituum prima diſtinctio: quę deum indeficiētet āplectens & nullo alio interſtite ſpirituum
agmine illi aſſiſtens/ æternam ipſius ſcientiam & indeſinenter ambit ardente deſiderio/& illam iugiter haurit ſecundum ſui motus perpetuo vigore conſtantis rationē.
Nempe eadē plurimas & altiſſimas ſpeculationes ſupra cæteros omnes ſpiritus puriſſimis intuetur luminibus/ ſimpliceſqꝫ & primos ac immediatos diuinę lucis radios in ſe affluenter ac vbertim ſuſcipit: huiuſmodi cibi diuini alimoniam(dei dico perfectiſſimam contemplationem & viſionem)ſemper aſſecuta & obtinens. qui quidem diuinus cibus profuſione largitionis in alios: plurimus eſt. ſed eadem prorſus vnitate diuinæ refectionis/qua deus eos reficit & inſerit intime ſibi/ quos eo cibo replet: maxime vnus eſt. vt ſi
eum a quo proficiſcitur hic cibus/ & in quem tranſeunt qui eo paſcūtur/ attēdas: vnum maxime cibum illū inuenias. Si vero eos conſideres quibus cōmunicatur et profunditur huiuſmodi cibus: plurimus eſt & multiplex. queadmodū de diuinę lucis radio: in principio huius libri dictum iam eſt. Eadem quoqꝫ prima angelorū diſtinctio/ copioſa diuinæ ſocietatis gratia & familiaritate beatitudinē ſortita/ cum ipſius dei in ſe ſpeciē pro viribus efformat: præclaras eius proprietates & actiones q̄ proxime imitatur. multo plura
q̄ inferiores ſpiritus de diuinis rebus excellenter cognoſcens: et ſcientiæ diuinæ atqꝫ cognitionis (quantum illi conceditur) multo vberius cæteris particeps effecta. Hanc ob rem ipſius primæ ſupremæqꝫ hierarchiæ laudes ſancta ſcriptura inſigniter hominibus inſinuat: in quibus eminentiſſimæ illius cognitionis & ſcientiæ notatur ſuperexcellentia.
Nā deſcribuntur apud deiloquos patres/ nōnulli ex illis ſpiritibus imitari voces aquarū: cū dicit propheta audiuiſſe poſt ſe vocē cōmotionis magnæ/ dicentē. Benedicta Ezech.3
gloria domini de loco ſuo. Alij vero auguſtiſſimā illam vocem & plenam reformidationis diuinæ maieſtatis/ ob reſilitionē in ſuam paruitatem ex veneratione & debita reuerentia procedētem: proclamant. Sāctus/ ſanctus/ ſanctus: dominus deus ſabaoth. Quas Eſa.6
quidem āgelicas laudationes: beatus pater in libro ſuo de diuinis hymnis diffuſius explicuit.
Demū & illud ſupradictis adijciendū, ꝙ iſta prima diſtinctio diuinitatis ſcientiā & illuſtrem claritatem a deo ſuſcipiens: eā ad diuinę bonitatis imitationē in ſequētes inferioreſqꝫ deriuat ac transfundit, quo nos edoceat fas id eſſe & rationabile/ ꝙ merito ab omnibus adoranda & prædicanda deitas: ab ipſis primis & ſupremis ſpiritibus/ immēſæ maieſtatis ſuo modo capacibus/ celebretur honore quodā ſingulari/ ſimul & collaudet.
Sunt enim ſpiritus ōnes primæ hierarchiæ/ cuiuſcūqꝫ ſint ordinis: vt ſuſceptacula quędam & reclinatoria diuinæ quietis/ dei ſpeciē & imaginem propter continuā immediationē ad ipſum/ clare præ ſe ferētia. Ex eodē quoqꝫ edocemur: monadem eſſe diuinā/ in perſonarū triade ſubſiſtentem/ quæ a ſupremis illis cœleſtibus ſpiritibus per intermedia omnia/ tum agmina cœleſtia/ tū corpora & cœleſtia & elemētaria: vſqꝫ ad terræ nouiſſima & infimā creaturæ ſpeciē pertingit. Attingit enim (vt ait ſapiens) a fine vſqꝫ ad finē Sapi.8
fortiter: & diſponit omnia ſuauiter. & cuncta quæ ſubſiſtunt: prouidentiæ ſuæ cura moderatur/
tanq̄ totius prouidentiæ fons/ origo & cauſa. quæ omnia virtutis ſuæ immenſitate cōpræhenſa: in ſuo tenore continet & ſaluat. Nichil ſane eſt vſqꝫ adeo in rebus minutū aut abiectum: quod eius prouidentiam ſubterfugiat. cui æqualiter eſt cura de omnibus: Sapi.6
apud quem nec paſſeres in obliuione ſunt/ nec ſine eius nutu in terrā cadunt. qui Lucæ.12 & lilia agri miro veſtit ornatu: & fœnum terrę grato virore adornat. Matth.10

¶De dominationibus/ virtutibus/ ac poteſtatibus: & de media illarum hierarchia. Matth.6

Cap. VIII.

39 TRanſeundum iam nobis eſt ad mediam cœleſtium ſpirituū
diſtinctionem: dominationeſqꝫ illas & potentiſſima omnino ſpectacula diuinarum poteſtatum/ atqꝫ virtutum (erectis in æterna luminibus) pro captu noſtro contemplandum.
Quęlibet enim ſupernarum virtutum appellatio: proprietates illarum diuinam imitantes ſpeciem ſignat. Sanctarum igitur dominationum pleno myſterij nomine ſignari arbitror: celſiorem Dñationes intelligentiam quandam/ totius ſeruitutis ignaram/ omniqꝫ ſummiſſione infima liberam/ nulliqꝫ tyrannicæ diſſimilitudini vllo omnino modo ſeipſam ſubijcientem. Quæ cum ſuam aſſerit libertatem: vt nullis blãdicijs cedens/veraqꝫ dominatio/ſeruili omni & imminutioni obnoxio opere ſupe rior eſt/nulliqꝫ ſummiſſioni cedit. Atqꝫ õni diſſimilitudine celſior: verę dominationis/ immo deitatis ipſius ſũmæ dominantis/ indeficienti ardentiqꝫ flagrat deſiderio. atqꝫ ad illius propriam ſimilitudinem/ſe ipſam inquãtum poteſt/& quæ poſt ſe ſunt: ad ſummi boni exemplar effingit. atqꝫ ad nichil

A eorum quæ fruſtra videntur/ſed ad id ſolum quod vere ac proprie eſt: tota intentione conuerſa/ ſummæ ſemper dominantis deitatis pro viribus par-Virtutes ticeps fit. ℭ Enimuero beatiſſimarum appellatione virtutum: virilem quan 4 dam & (vt ſic dixerim) maſculam incõcuſſamqꝫ fortitudinem ſignari/ certũ
eſt. qua in omnibus diuinis ſuis actionibus præditæ/ ad nullius ſuperne illabentis diuini fulgoris perceptionem inualidæ fiunt/ atqꝫ ad dei imitatio-nem potenter aſſurgũt. Neqꝫ per imbecillitatis ignauiam diuinos ſuos de-ſerunt motus: cæterum intentione perpetua ſupremam illam (per quam va lent omnia) virtutem intuentur. eiuſqꝫ potens imago pro viribus fiunt/ atqꝫ ad ipſam vt virtutis totius authorem vi ſumma conuerſæ: ad ea quæ inferio ra ſecundo loco ſunt/virtutis largitate/ ad diuinæ bonitatis effigiem/prode Poteſtates unt. ℭ Porro ſanctarum poteſtatum vocabulo (quę vnam & æqualem cum 4 altiſſimis dominationibus atqꝫ virtutibus ſortem accepere) ſignificari dicimus ornatiſſimum/ & nulla permixtione confuſum ad diuina ſuſcipienda/ac pulcherrimum ordinem: & aptiſſimam ſeriem cœleſtis/ ſpiritualiſqꝫ potentiæ/ nequaq̃ tyrannice atqꝫ in deterius viribus ſuę poteſtatis abutentis.
verum inſuperabili conſtantia ordinatiſſime ad diuina tendentis/ & quæ poſt ſe ſunt agmina: dei imitatione promouentis. Hæ vero/ ſummæ illius poteſtatis (ex qua/vt ſint potentes/acceperunt) ſimilitudinem in ſe nituntur
B exprimere/ eamqꝫ (vt angelis fas eſt) in ſuis ordinibus/ decore potentiſſimæ virtutis inſignibus præferunt. His diuinis proprietatibus freta cœle-ſtium ſpirituum media illa diſtinctio: purgatur quidẽ & illuminatur/atqꝫ perficitur (modo quo diximus) ex ſacris intelligentiæ diuinæ fulgoribus/ in illam per primæ/ ſuperioriſqꝫ diſtinctionis officium ſecundo loco manan-
C tibus: perqꝫ mediam illam hac liquidiore penetrantibus luce. ℭ Deniqꝫ ꝙ 4
D legimus/per angelum in alium angelum cuiuſdam rei perueniſſe noticiam:
euidens indicium eſſe arbitramur perfectionis ex longinquo venientis/ac proceſſus ratione in ſecundum perfectionis locum deriuãtis. Nempe enim vt ij qui noſtra veneranda myſteria probatiſſime callent: eas diuinarũ perce ptiones rerum/ quæ a deo ipſo ſumuntur nullius intercedente miniſterio/perfectiores eſſe aiunt ijs diuinæ contemplationis participationibus/ quæ per alios veniunt: ita reor angelicorum quoqꝫ ordinum gradum/ qui ſine vl lo medio diuina contemplatione fruuntur/dum in deum ipſum præcipue tẽdunt: longe eſſe certiorem & efficaciorem/ q̃ illorum qui per alios medios E id aſſequuntur. Quocirca noſtra quoqꝫ ſancta/ſacerdotaliſqꝫ traditio/ primores illos ſpiritus: ſequentiũ perficiẽtes & illuminãtes ac purgãtes appel lat. quorũ illi miniſterio/ ad ſummũ illud oĩm pricipiũ ſubuehunt̃: diuinarũqꝫ purgationũ/& illuſtrationũ ac ꝑfectionũ (vt ſibi fas eſt) participes fiũt.

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

Id quippe diuina & æterna lege atq; ordine ſãcitũ eſt: vt ꝑ prima / ſecũdis diuini fulgoris radius influat. Inuenies hoc pleriſq; in locis F docuiſſe theologos. Nã cũ diuina paterna q; clemẽtia / Iſraeliticã plebẽ ꝓ ſalute ſua ad cõ uerſionis gratiam erudiret / feriſq; & immi- G tibus gentibus ad emẽdationem / & ad pœnam de illa ſumendam exponeret / omniq; prouidentiæ genere errantes ad meliora cõuerteret: vbi ad pœnitentiæ remedia confugiſſent / & liberos a captiuitatis iniuria dimittebat: & ad priores per ſummam clemen-43 tiam delicias / copiaſq; reuocabat. ℭ Cernit nempe Zacharias vnus ex theologis vnum ex primis vt arbitror angelis / qui oculis di- H uinæ maieſtatis ſemper aſſiſtunt (communis quippe eſt / vt ſupra iam diximus: cœleſtibus omnibus angelica cognominatio) verba conſolatoria de hoc ipſo a deo didiciſſe / vt dictum eſt. Alium vero ex inferio- I ribus angelis in occurſum primi proceſſiſ- k ſe: vt diuinæ per illum intelligentiæ capax & particeps fieret. deinde cum ab eo veluti ab antiſtite diuinum conſilium didiciſſet: vt prophetam quoq; doceret / fuiſſe permiſſum / q; vbertim habitabitur Hieruſalem a multitudine hominum. Alius item ex theologorum numero: Ezechiel / hoc & a dei- L tate ipſa ſedente ſuper cherubim in ſuæ glo- M ria maieſtatis / ſacratiſſime fuiſſe conſtitutum ait. Iſraeliticam enim (vt diximus) gentem paterna clementia per diſciplinam ad meliora traducens: iuſtitia conuenientiſſi- N ma inſontes a reis diſcernendos inſtituit.

Sera-
phim.
Cheru-
bim.
Thro-
ni.
Purgãtes / illuminãtes / pficiẽtes
Suprema celeſtis hierarchia.
Dñati-
ones.
Virtu-
tes.
Pote-
ſtates.
Purgari et purgãtes / illuĩati
Me dia. cele-
et illuminãtes / pfecti et pficiẽtes
ſtis hierar chia Princi-
patus.
Archan-
geli.
Ange-
li.
Purgari / illuminati / perfecti.
Infima celeſtis hierarchia.

Primus hoc poſt cherubim diſcit: qui lumbos ſaphyro erat accinctus / qui O talarem tunicam pontificalis veſtis indiciũ / induebat. Porro angelos reli- P quos qui ſecuribus armati erant: diuina & ornatiſſima diſpoſitio iubet a priore diſcere diuinum de re tanta diſcrimen. Nam illi quidem per mediam Hieruſalem tranſire iubet: & ſigna frontibus inſontium virorum imponere. aliȷs vero / ite dicitur in ciuitatem poſt ipſum & occidite: neq; parcatis oculis veſtris. ſuper omnes autem in quibus eſt ſignum: nolite propinquare. Quid autem de illo dicemus angelo / qui Danieli ait / exiȷt Q ſermo? aut de illo: qui primus ignem de medio cherubim ſumpſit? ſiue R (quod ad demonſtrationem angelici pulcherrimi ordinis profecto plus valet) ꝙ cherubim ipſa/ ignem in eius manus inijciunt: qui ſanctam indue

S rat ſtolã. Siue de illo qui eximij meriti Gabrielem vocauit & dixit: fac intel ligere iſtum viſionem. ſiue quæq; alia a ſanctis theologis de cœleſtium ſpi rituũ diuina ſpecie/ac decoro ordine dicta leguntur. Ad cuius ſane imagi nem dum noſtra quoq; ſacroſancta functio ſe componit/eiq; ſimilis eua-dere pro viribus nititur: angelicũ decorem veluti in figuris conſequetur/for mas inde capiens: ac per illum/ad ſummum totius ſacræ functionis autho-rem deum/eius freta adminiculis ſcandens.

A ¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶Eorum quæ fruſtra videntur. fruſtra: vane/cadu-
B ce. ¶Decore potentiſſimæ virtutis inſignibus præferunt. decore: forma/ & pulchritu-
C dine. ſeptimus caſus a decor/non a decus. ¶Perq; mediam illã/hac liquidiore penetran tibus luce. hoc eſt/ diuinis fulgoribus manifeſtiore quidem luce penetrantibus per mediam illam inter deũ & hierarchiam ſecundo loco collocatam/quæ prima hierarchia eſt:
& qua mediante/ſecũda purgatur/illuminat̃/atq; perficitur. manifeſtiore dico luce: hac luce quæ in ſecũda per primã ſuſcipitur hierarchia. Sol/lumẽ/ cœlũ/aer/aqua: deus/di-D uina illuſtratio/primæ mentes/ſecũdæ/tertię. ¶Deniq; ꝙ legimus: per angelum in aliũ angelum cuiuſdã rei perueniſſe notitiam. Zacharias cap. ſecundo. Et ecce angelus qui loquebatur in me/egrediebatur: & alius angelus egrediebatur in occurſum eius/ & di-xit ad eum. curre/loquere ad puerũ iſtum dicens/abſq; muro habitabitur Hieruſalẽ prę multitudine hominum & iumentorum in medio eius. et ego ero (ait dominus) murus E ignis in circuitu: & in gloria ero in medio eius. ¶Quocirca noſtra quoq; ſancta ſacerdotaliſq; traditio. Sacerdotalis traditio: noſtræ humanæ hierarchiæ diſciplina. & de præſen F ti traditione atq; diſciplina: beatiſſimus hic loquitur pater. ¶Inuenies hoc pleriſq; in lo-cis docuiſſe theologos. Zacharias cap. primo. Et reſpondit vir qui ſtabat inter myrteta/& dixit. Iſti ſunt quos miſit dominus vt perambulent terram. & reſponderũt angelo do mini qui ſtabat inter myrteta: perambulauimus terram/ & ecce omnis terra habitatur & quieſcit. Apocalypſis cap. ſeptimo. Et vidi alterum angelũ aſcendentem ab ortu ſo-lis/habentem ſignum dei viui: & clamauit voce magna quatuor angelis quibus datum eſt nocere terræ & mari/dicẽs. nolite nocere terræ & mari neq; arboribus: quouſq; ſigne mus ſeruos dei noſtri in frontibus eorũ. Et capite decimoquarto. Et alius angelus exiuit de tẽplo/clamans voce magna ad ſedentem ſuper nubem. mitte falcem tuam & mete:
quia venit hora vt metatur/ quia aruit meſſis terræ. & miſit qui ſedebat ſuper nubem/
falcem ſuam in terram: & meſſuit eam. & alius angelus exiuit de altari qui habebat pote
G ſtatem ſuper ignem: & clamauit voce magna ad eum qui habebat falcem acutam. ¶Fe riſq; & immitibus gentibus ad emendationem. Chaldeis & Babylonijs. de ea enim tranſ migratione in Babylonem loquitur: quę per Nabugodonoſorum ad Cyri tẽpora & Ar taxerxis facta eſt. de qua/& eius ꝑ dei indulgentiã reuocatione: quartus regũ & primus Heſdrę liber ammonent. & de conſolatione reuocationis a deo facta: ſcribit Zacharias H propheta/vt paulo poſt dilucebit. ¶Vnum ex primis vt arbitror angelis. De eo dicit an gelo qui ſuper equum rufum inter myrteta paradyſi profunde ſubmiſſa/ ſtabat. Aſcenſus enim ſuper equum qui angelũ deſignat/& myrteta profunda ſubmiſſaq;/& equi va-rij poſt eum qui ſunt angeli dei: illius diuini ſpiritus ſublimitatẽ atq; altitudinis eminen-tiam denotant. Zacharias capite primo. Ecce vir aſcendens ſuper equum rufum: & ipſe ſtabat ſuper myrteta quæ erant in profundo. et poſt eum equi rufi/ varij & albi. quod &
I paulo ſupra adductum eſt. ¶Verba conſolatoria de hoc ipſo a deo didiciſſe. Zacharias ſuper reuocatione Iſraeliticę plebis a captiuitate Babylonica: a dño cõſolatoria ver ba accepit. Zacharias cap. primo. Reſpõdit angelus dñi & dixit: dñe exercituũ vſq;quo nõ miſereberis Hieruſalem/& vrbiũ Iuda quibus iratus es? iſte iã ſeptuageſimus ãnus
eſt. et reſpõdit dominus angelo qui loquebatur in me verba bona/ verba conſolatoria.
Et hęc diuinę cõſolationis verba ſunt. zelatus ſum Hieruſalẽ & Sion zelo magno. reuer tar in Hieruſalẽ: & domus mea ædificabit̃ in ea/& perpendiculũ extẽdetur ſuper Hieru ſalẽ. adhuc affluent ciuitates meæ bonis/& cõſolabitur adhuc dñs Sion/ & eliget adhuc k Hieruſalẽ. ¶Aliũ vero ex inferioribus angelis. Zacharias cap. ſecũdo. Et alius angelus egrediebatur in occurſum eius: & dixit ad eũ. curre/loquere ad puerũ iſtũ dicens: abſq;
muro habitabitur Hieruſalem prę multitudine hominũ & iumentorum in medio eius.

¶Alius item ex theologorũ numero Ezechiel. Ezechiel cap. decimo. Et eleuata eſt gloria L dñi ſup cherub ad limen domus:& repleta eſt domus nube/& atriũ repletũ eſt ſplendore gloriæ dñi.& ſonitus alarum cherubim audiebatur vſq; ad atriũ exterius:quaſi vox dei omnipotentis loquentis. ¶Hoc & a deitate ipſa ſedente ſuper cherubim in ſuę gloria maieſtatis/ſacratiſſime fuiſſe conſtitutũ ait. Hoc/ ſcilicet Iſraeliticã trãſmigrationem M in Babylonem. Ezechiel cap. duodecimo. Hec dicit dominus deus. in trãſmigrationem/& captiuitatem ibunt:& dux qui eſt in medio eorum in humeris portabitur/& in caligine egredietur. Et paulo poſt.& adducam eum in Babylonem/in terram Chaldeorum:&
ipſam non videbit/ ibiq; morietur / & omnes qui circa eũ ſunt. ¶Iuſtitia cõuenientiſſima N inſontes a reis diſcernendos inſtituit. Ezechiel cap. vndecimo. Et vidi in medio eorum Iechoniam filium Azur/& Pheltiam filiũ Banaię principes populi: & dixit ad me.
fili hominis hi ſunt viri qui cogitant iniquitatem/& tractant conſilium peſſimũ.& paulo
poſt. plurimos interfeciſtis in vrbe hac/& impleſtis vias eius interfectis. propterea hæc dicit dominus. interfecti veſtri quos poſuiſtis in medio eius :hi ſunt carnes/& hæc eſt lebes/ & educam vos de medio eius. gladium metuiſtis:& gladium inducã ſuper vos dicit domnus deus. ¶Primus hoc poſt cherubim diſcit:qui lumbos ſaphyro erat accinctus.
Ezechiel cap. nono. Et gloria domini Iſrael aſſumpta eſt de cherub: quæ erat ſuper O eum ad limen domus.& vocauit virum qui indutus erat lineis/& atramentariũ ſcriptoris habebat in lumbis ſuis: & dixit dñs ad eum. tranſi per mediam ciuitatem in medio Hieruſalem:& ſigna Tau ſuper frontes virorum gementium & dolentium ſuper cũctis abominationibus quæ fiunt in medio eius. Tempore beatiſſimi patris/ vbi legitur:qui Diuerſitas litterarum originaliũ.
indutus erat lineis/ & atramentarium ſcriptoris habebat in lumbis ſuis:legebatur. qui induebatur veſte talari/ & lumbos ſaphyro erat accinctus. ¶Porro angelos reliquos/qui ſecuribus armati erãt. Ezechiel eodẽ cap. nono. Et vt id ſũmatim quod hic diuinus P author dicit/& de ſigno Tau/& de prohibitione facta reliquis angelis taxetur: cõtinuata Ezechielis ſeries(reſumpto etiam quod paulo ante dictum eſt)audiatur. Et ecce ſex viri veniebant de via portę ſuperioris quę reſpicit ad aquilonẽ:& vniuſcuiuſq; vas interitus in manu eius. vir quoq; vnus in medio eorum veſtitus erat lineis: & atramentariũ ſcriptoris ad renes eius. Et ſteterunt iuxta altare æreum/ & gloria dñi Iſrael aſſumpta eſt de cherub/quæ erat ſuper eum ad limen domus.& vocauit virum qui indutus erat lineis/& atramentariũ ſcriptoris habebat in lumbis ſuis:et dixit dominus ad eum. trãſi per mediam ciuitatem in medio Hieruſalẽ:& ſigna Tau ſuper frontes virorum gementium & dolentiũ ſuper cũctis abominationibus quæ fiunt in medio eius.& illis dixit/audiente
me. tranſite per ciuitatem ſequentes eum:& percutite. non parcat oculus veſter neq; miſereamini. ſenem/ adoleſcẽtulum/& virginem/paruulum/& mulieres interficite vſq; ad internitionẽ. omnem autẽ ſuper quem videritis Tau ne occidatis:& a ſanctuario meo incipite. Vbi hic interpretatum legimus vas: tempore beatiſſimi patris legebatur ſecuris. ¶Quid autem de illo dicemus angelo qui Danieli ait/exij ſermo. de Gabriele id dictũ eſt. Daniel cap. nono. Ecce vir Gabriel quem viderã in viſione a principio: cito Q volans tetigit me in tempore ſacrificij veſpertini.& docuit me & locutus eſt michi: dixitq;.
Daniel nunc egreſſus ſum vt docerem te/& intelligeres. ab exordio precum tuarũ egreſſus eſt ſermo. ego autem veni: vt indicarẽ tibi. ¶Aut de illo qui primus ignem de medio cherubim ſumpſit. Ezechiel cap. decimo. Cũq; pręcepiſſet viro qui indutus erat R lineis dicens: ſume ignem de medio rotarum quæ ſunt inter cherubim/ingreſſus ille ſtetit iuxta rotam: & extendit cherub manũ de medio cherubim ad ignem qui erat inter cherubim.& ſumpſit/et dedit in manus eius qui erat indutus lineis: qui accipiẽs egreſſus eſt. ¶Siue de illo qui eximij meriti Gabrielem vocauit. Daniel cap. octauo. Et audiui S vocem viri inter vlai & clamauit & ait: Gabriel/ fac intelligere iſtum/ viſionem. &
venit: et ſtetit vbi ego ſtabam.

39 ¶OCTAVI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

MEdiam cœleſtium ſpirituũ diſtinctionem tres itidem ordines complectentem/nunc explanandã ſuſcipit ſacer Dionyſius: repetens quod in præcedente adduxerat capite proloquiũ. ꝙ quælibet angelicarũ ſubſtantiarũ appellatio: proprietatem illarũ qua diuinam imitãtur imaginẽ/ peculiariter deſignat. Quod hoc loco in dominationibus/ virtutibus & poteſtatibus: hoc modo declarat. Dominationũ quidẽ nomine

(inquit)ſignificatur celſior quædam præſidentia: ſeruitutis õnis prolapſioni & vicio obnoxię prorſus expers/& õni inclinatione ad inferiora(quæ animũ in ſeruitutẽ redigunt) omnino libera, neqꝫ ſe tyrannicæ violentiæ aut cõcuſſioni quoquo pacto ſubijciens: quę ſua dominatione(cum iuſtos opprimit/malos extollit/& propriũ intendit bonum) abutitur.
Recte autem tyrãnis ipſa/ diſſimilitudo eſt dei: qui vt rex benigniſſimus toti mũdo moderatiſſime dominatur/ ſolum ſubditorum bonum quærens. Quæ ſane angelica dominatio cum ſe in libertatem ſpiritus vendicat/nullis ſuccũbens blãdicijs ad illicita trahentibus:
omni opere ſeruili ſcilicet peccati/& obnoxio diminutioni bonitatis inſitæ ſuperior eſt/nulliqꝫ ſubmiſſioni & ad deteriora inclinationi cedit vnq̃. Eadem quoqꝫ omni diſſimilitudine veri boni excelſior: diuinæ dominationis (quæ vera eſt/& omniũ dominationum veritas: omnibus pręſidens nulliqꝫ ſubiecta/ & perpetua atqꝫ inuiolabilis natura) immo ipſius deitatis omnibus dominãtis flagrãtiſſimo ardet deſiderio: atqꝫ ſeipſam quantum poteſt/& quæ infra ipſam ſunt efformat ad propriã ipſius ſummæ & verę dominationis ſimilitudinẽ/quo ipſius ſummi boni exẽplar & archetypam veritatẽ propius et vicinius imitetur. Inſuper ipſa ad nichil eorum quæ vana ſunt & inania / ſed ad id quod vere ac proprie eſt/ſcilicet deum ipſum cõuerſa: totis animi viribus diuinæ dominationis/õnibus ſumme præſidentis/ pro modo ſuo fit particeps. ¶ Nomine vero ſanctarum 40
virtutum, vt ſecũdum deſignant medię hierarchiæ ordinem: ſignificatur virilis quędam/robuſta & firma fortitudo, qua illius ordinis cœleſtes ſubſtantiæ in õnibus ſuis actionibus prædite: ad diuini radij deſuper earũ mentibus illabentis ſuſceptionem nequaq̃ trepidæ ſunt aut infirmæ/ quẽadmodũ imbecillis oculus ad illuſtre ſolis iubar hauriendum
eſt inualidus & trepidat, quinimmo ad dignam dei imitationem: magnis viribus aſſurgũt ac annitũtur. Neqꝫ per debilitatẽ aut inertiam ſua propria deſerũt munia:
more humanæ mentis ignauia torpentis, ſed perpetua interni luminis ad deum cõuerſione:
virtutem illã ſummã & primam quæ omniũ virtutum eſt veritas/& per quam omnia ſunt in ſuo genere valida: ac ſignaculis & notis illius diuinæ virtutis inſignita/ ſemper intuentur. Quinimmo ipſius ſupremæ virtutis: iſtæ virtutes angelicę perfecta fiunt imago. atqꝫ ad illam vt totius virtutis primã cauſam toto niſu conuerſæ: ad ea cœleſtia agmina quæ inferiora ſunt/virtutis etiam ſuæ cõmunicationẽ(vt & in eo diuinã imitentur bonitatem) diffundunt. ¶ Deniqꝫ ſanctarũ poteſtatum appellatione (quæ æqualem 4 hierarchiæ conditionem cũ dominationibus & virtutibus ſunt ſortitæ: q̃uis illius diſtinctionis ordinem habeant poſtremũ/& quãtum ad hoc quandam gradus inęqualitatem) inſinuatur ornatiſſimus & nulla cõfuſione permixtus ad diuina ſuſcipienda/ ac decoratiſſimus ordo/& diſpoſitiſſima ſeries cœleſtis ac ſpiritualis potentiæ: nequaq̃ more tyrãnidis in peiora viribus ſuæ poteſtatis abutentis. Non enim ad inſolentiam/ violentiã aut oppreſſionem aliorũ exercet cœleſtis illa ſpirituũ poteſtas vires ſuas: ſicut tyrãni facere ſolent/opprimentes ſubiectos ſibi/ ſed ad ſuæ ſortis munera exequenda. & inſuperabili conſtantia pulcherrimo quodam ordine ſurſum tendunt ad diuina: atqꝫ inferiores ſubſtantias cœleſtes/per indultorũ ſibi bonorum benignam diſtributionẽ/ad deum promouent.
in quo diuinã ordinatiſſime bonitatem imitantur: ſua bona alijs effuſe elargiẽtem Eædem quoqꝫ angelicæ poteſtates: ſummę/ſupremæqꝫ poteſtatis(quæ omnipotens eſt/immenſa/infinita: & ex qua vt prima cauſa/ipſæ vt potentes ſint acceperũt/immo õnia ex illa & per illam poſſunt)imaginem in ſe nituntur expreſſe efformare/eamqꝫ præ ſe ferunt in ſuis functionibus & officijs: potentiſſimæ virtutis pulchritudine inſignitis. Itaqꝫ hiſce præclaris & ſacris proprietatibus adornata ſecũda cœleſtium ſpirituũ/mediaqꝫ diſtinctio:
purgatur/ illuminatur & perficitur per ſacros diuinæ ſcientiæ fulgores: in illam per primæ ſupremæqꝫ hierarchiæ miniſterium manantes/ſecũdoqꝫ loco emicantes. Qui ſane ſacratiſſimi radij penetrant per primã illam angelicorum ſpirituum diſtinctionem/mediam quidẽ inter deum & hanc ſecundam hierarchiam: luce multo liquidiore & puriore/
q̃ ſit hæc lux per ſecũdam diſtinctionem diffuſa. quẽadmodum ſolaris radius liquidius penetrat cœlum/ipſi ſolari lãpadi proximũ: q̃ aerem ab ea diſtantiorẽ. ¶ Quod 4 poſtremo loco dictum/ mediã ſcilicet diſtinctionem ſecũdo loco ac per primæ officium percipere diuinas illuſtratiões: beatus pater amplius explanat/ ſacræ ſcripturæ teſtimonio & exemplis. Qz enim legimus (ait) in ſanctis eloquijs/in vnum cœleſtem ſpiritũ alicuius rei perueniſſe cognitionem/per alterius edoctionem & doctrinam: perſpicuum eſt argumentũ perfectionis in inferiores ſpiritus per intermedia atqꝫ e longinquo traductę/

& in ſecundum locũ per primũ/ratione porrecti in vlteriora proceſſus/procul tranſfuſæ.
Sicut enim ſacrorum myſteriorũ noſtrorum periti dicunt eas diuinas illuſtrationes quæ
a deo ſine intermedio cuiuſq̃ officio percipiũtur: perfectiores eſſe & potiores illis diuinæ ſcientiæ participationibus/quæ per alios ſuperiores angelos habentur. ita putãdum eſt illum angelicorũ ordinum gradum/ qui ſine vllo medio diuinã contemplationem aſſequuntur/dum in deũ ipſum præcipue ac proxime tendunt: eſſe longe digniorem & præſtantiorem
q̃ gradum illorũ cœleſtium ſpirituũ/qui contẽplationem dei & in illum tendentiã per alios medios angelos obtinẽt. Quapropter hæc noſtra (inquit) quæ de cœleſti hierarchia hic traditur/diſciplina: ſupremos illos & primos ſpiritus appellat inferiorum poſteriorũq; purgatores/ illuminatores & perfectores. nã ipſorum primorum ſpirituum miniſterio: illi ſequẽtes/ad deum/ſummũ rerum omniũ principium promouẽtur/ſacrarũq; purgationũ/ illuminationũ & perfectionum pro ſui ordinis ratione participes fiunt. Nempe id diuina lege & ęterna cautum conſtitutumq; eſt: vt per prima cœleſtia agmina ſecundis/& per priora ſequẽtibus/diuinæ claritatis fulgor irradiet. Porro inuenientur ſancti prophetæ nõnullis in locis id edocuiſſe/ quod paulo ante dictum eſt: vnũ ſcilicet angelum per alterũ alicuius diuini myſterij percepiſſe noticiam/& hoc pacto per prima ſecundis diuini fulgoris radium influxiſſe. Nam cum diuina benignitas paternũ in populum Iſraeliticum monſtrans affectũ/ ipſum pro ſalute ſua ad emendationẽ vitæ reuerſionemq; ad deũ: per tribulationes induceret/ Babylonijſq; barbaris & efferis ad 4. regũ. 25
caſtigationem & punitionem de illo ſumendã/illum in trãſmigratione obijceret atq; ꝑmitteret:
omniq; modo & via ſuæ prouidentiæ errantes per cultum idolorum & grauia ſcelera/ad melioris vitæ frugem reuocaret. vbi populus ille Hebræorũ ad pœnitẽtiam atq; priſtinæ malitiæ emẽdationem ſe cõtulit: protinus liberũ a captiuitate Babylonica 1. eſdre. 1.
per Cyrum dimiſit/ & ad terram natiuitatis ſuæ prioremq; rerum fœlicitatem reduxit.

43 ¶ Idipſum autẽ quod modo propoſitũ eſt: beatus pater quinq; manifeſtat in littera exẽplis/ex ſacra ſcriptura depromptis. Primo ex Zacharia propheta. qui ſcribit vnũ ex primoribus & ſupremis angelis (eſt enim vt ex quinto capite iam patuit/omnibus cœleſtibus ſpiritibus cõmunis angelorum appellatio) qui pręſentiæ diuinæ maieſtatis iugiter aſtant: verba conſolatoria de liberatione populi Iſraelitici a captiuitate Babylonica a deo didiciſſe: poſtq̃ ſupplex eum rogauerat vt tandem miſereretur Sion & Hieruſalẽ. Zacha. 1.
Deinde dicit idem propheta/alium angelũ ex inferioribus in primi occurſum prodijſſe: Zacha. 1.
vt diuinæ ordinationis & beneplaciti per illum diſceret ſacramentum. Eundẽ quoq; poſteriorem ac inferiorem angelũ/cum a primo diuinũ percepiſſet conſilium ſuper reditu populi in Hieruſalem: vt idem myſteriũ prophetã edoceret fuiſſe permiſſum/ꝙ rurſum magna hominũ frequẽtia habitaretur Hieruſalẽ. Secũdo. exẽplo ex Ezechiele ꝓpheta ſumpto. qui ſcribit a ſumma deitate ſedente ſuper cherubim hoc fuiſſe conſtitutũ: ꝙ populus Ezechi. 12.
Iſraeliticus in captiuitatẽ Babylonicã ob ſcelerũ ſuorũ immanitatem eſſet abducendus.
Nempe ſumma ipſa diuinitas/paterna benignitate populũ illum per correptoriam diſciplinam ad meliorẽ vitæ viam reducere ſtudens/ perinde ac optimus pater filium diſſolutum per aſperitatem virgæ: ęquiſſima cenſura innocentes a reis internoſcendos ordinauit/ne eadem ſimul pena inuoluantur inſontes cum nocentibus. Id primum Ezech. 9.
deus vni ex ſanctis cherubim angelo reuelauit/a quo proximus & ille angelus accepit
id diuinum conſiliũ: qui lumbos ſaphyro erat accinctus/indutuſq; erat podere ac talari tunica: pontificalis veſtis indicium præferente. Reliquos autem ſex angelos qui ſecuribus erant inſtructi: ſuperna ſanctio iuſſit a priore angelo lineis induto diuinũ de hac bonorum a malis diſcretione diſcere iudicium. Nempe dei diſpoſitio rectiſſima/illi angelo qui ſaphyro erat accinctus/per mediam ciuitatem ire iubet: & ſigna Tau frontibus innocentium virorũ imprimere. Alijs vero ſex pręcepit/vt vadant in ciuitatem poſt illum:
& occidant omnes noxios/neq; parcat eorum oculus cuiq̃ illorũ. Eos autem quibus impoſitum eſt ſignum Tau: neq; occidant neq; tangant. Tertio idem declarat exẽplo Danielis: Daniel. 9.
ad quem orantem pro fine captiuitatis Babylonicę/miſſus eſt angelus Gabriel dicens.
ab exordio precum tuarum egreſſus eſt ſermo. Quarto. ex teſtimonio Ezechielis: Ezech. 10.
ſcribentis ſe angelũ vidiſſe/ qui primus ignem de medio cherubim ſumpſit. imo (quod amplius valet & confert ad manifeſtationẽ pulcherrimi ordinis angelici: quomodo ſcilicet in illo/ vnus inferior a ſuperiore diuina ediſcit myſteria) dicentis: ꝙ ipſa ſancta cherubim/ignem ſumptũ de medio eorum in illius manus imponũt/qui indutus erat lineis.

per quod deſignabatur/rerum diuinarũ intelligentiã per ignem lucidum indicatã: a ſupremo angelo/inferiori eſſe cõmunicatam. Danie. 8. Quinto, idem demonſtrat ex teſtimonio Danielis: dicentis vnũ ex ſuperioribus (vt exiſtimare fas eſt) angelis vocaſſe Gabrielem archangelum / illiq; mandaſſe: vt Danielem faceret intelligere viſionem ipſi oſtenſam. quemadmodũ ex ſcholijs hæc omnia clarius innoteſcũt. Neç minus alia his perſimilia: a ſanctis prophetis de cœleſtiũ ſpirituũ ordinatiſſima diſpoſitiõe (qua vnus ab alio quicq̃ ediſcit) ſępius dicta leguntur. Cum autem humana noſtra functio & eccleſiaſtica hierarchia ſeipſam accõmodat pulcherrimo cœleſtium ſpirituũ ordini/eiq; pro viribus aſſimilari annititur in diſpoſitiſſima & rectiſſima ordinatione: tunc illa angelicũ decorem/ nõ quidem in ſua plenitudine & veritate/ſed in figuris dũtaxat & imagine conſequetur. ꝙ cœleſtium ordinum decor & ornatus longe ſit perfectior ac eminẽtior: q̃ huius humanæ functionis/& tanq̃ exemplar ad ſuã effigiem. Vnde & hæc eccleſiaſtica functio/ab angelici decore ordinis formas & imitandi rationem capere debet: atq; illius adiuta pręſidio ad deum ſcandere/ſubuehi ac tendere: totius ſacrę functionis cum humanæ tum angelicæ authorem/ cauſam & finem.

¶ De principatibus/archangelis/ & angelis: deq; extrema illorum hierarchia. Cap. IX.

Reliqua nobis ad ſpeculãdum ſupereſt ſacra illa diſtinctio: 44 quæ ordines concludit angelicos. quæ profecto in diuinos principatus & archangelos/angeloſq; diſtinguitur. Ac primo quidem neceſſario dicẽdum puto (inquãtum vires ſuppetunt) Pricipatus quid ipſorum ſignificet nomen. Exprimitur namq; cœleſtium principatuũ nomine: illos ad dei imaginem principari ac duces eſſe: cum ſacroſancto/ principalibuſq; virtutibus cõuenientiſſimo ordine. Atq; id pręterea/ ad ſummũ eos principatũ tota intentione conuerſos: aliorum quoq; pręcipua dignitate duces eſſe. ac pro viribus in ſe effingere ſupremũ illum/ſuiq; authorem principatũ ſtudent: principaliũq; Archãgeli. decore virtutum/ ſummũ illius diuinumq; ordinem promere. 45 ¶ Porro ſanctiſſimus archangelorũ ordo: ęqualis quidem cœleſtibus principatibus dicitur. Eſt enim (vt diximus) ipſorũ atq; angelorũ functio vna/ vnaq; diſtinctio. T Quia tamen nulla eſt huiuſmodi ſacratiſſima functio/quæ non & primas habeat & medias extremaſq; virtutes: ſanctus archangelorũ ordo (ꝙ ſit in medio functionis conſtitutus) cõmuni quodam/ſocialiq; iure extrema complectitur. altiſſimis nãq; principatibus: & ſanctis cõmunicat angelis. V Illis quidẽ: quoniã ad ſupremũ illum principatum præcipue intentus eſt/ & ad eius (quantũ fas eſt) formatur imaginem: ac præterea honeſtiſſimis/ atq; ordinatiſſimis & inuiſibilibus ductibus ſuis angelos etiam iungit/ atq; X vnũ facit. His autem: quia etiam docendi atq; dictandi alijs/ ordinẽ tenet: dum diuinarum intelligẽtias rerum a primarijs virtutibus ſumens/ eas angelis quoq; gratuita nunciat bonitate: ac per angelos nobis/ pro modo ac Angeli. ratione cuiuſq;/diuinorũ ſenſuum aperiens lucem. 46 ¶ Angeli namq; (vt ſupra iam diximus) implendi peragũt munus: õneſq; cœleſtiũ ſpirituũ ordines complent/ extremo in loco inter eximias illas immortaleſq; ſubſtãtias/ angelicam proprietatẽ conſecuti. Atq; ideo a nobis angeli rectius q̃ ſuperiores appellantur: ꝙ ſcilicet & ipſorũ ordo magis circa euidẽtiora & apertiora verſatur/ ac mundana ferme negocia ab eis diſponũtur. Nam ſupremam illam (vt diximus) diſtinctionẽ vt ſecreto illi ſacratiſſimo/ primo or-dine proximã:ſecundæ moderari/ac ſciẽtiæ lucem ſecretius & abditius dare putandum eſt.ſequentẽ vero ex altiſſimis dominationibus & virtutibus poteſtatibuſqꝫ conſtantem:tertiæ illi(quæ principatibus/archãgelis/ angeliſqꝫ conficitur)pręeſſe.priori quidem/ſupremaqꝫ diſtinctione:manifeſtius/ Y ſequenti autem extremaqꝫ:ſecretius. At vero principatuũ/archãgelorum/angelorũqꝫ poſtremam diſtributionem/enũciandi munus adeptam:humanis ordinibus ac fũctionibus ſacris viciſſim pręeſſe credendũ eſt.vt illius miniſterio/

ſuo ordine ferantur ad deum & cõuertantur:ſintqꝫ ipſius ſocietate & coniunctione fœlices. dum diuinus proceſſus eximia dignatione cũctis Z ſacris ordinibus indulgetur: & ſocialiter ac diuino cum ornatu reuelatur.
Hinc profecto humanã iſtam/ſacramqꝫ functionẽ angelis ſacra ſcriptura z diſtribuit: quę Michaelem principem Iudaicæ gentis appellat/& alios cæterarum
nationũ.ſtatuit enim altiſſimus terminos gentium:iuxta numerũ oo 47 angelorũ dei.¶Porro ſi quis inquirere pergat quid ſit cur Hebręorum populus ſolus/ad dei diuinarũqꝫ rerum intelligentiã ſubuectus ſit?reſpõdendum/non oportere imputari rectiſſime gubernãtibus angelis:ſi gentes aliæ ad eorũ(qui dij non ſunt)culturã deuolutæ ſint.ſed illis ipſis imprimis:qui motibus proprijs a recto calle(quo ad deum aſcendere poſſent) ſua ſponte deuiarunt. Cuius erroris adeo pernicioſi/cauſa illis fuit amor ſui atqꝫ ſuperbia:
&(quod ſequi neceſſe erat)eorum cultura quæ diuinum aliquid habere putauiſſent.Huius rei etiam ipſi hebręorum populo crimen impingitur: pp atqꝫ ideo ad ipſum paſſus memoratur/ſcientiã enĩ inquit dei reppuliſti:
& poſt cor tuũ ambulaſti. Neqꝫ enim coactam habemus vitam: neqꝫ liberi arbitrij gratia diuinitus indulta mortalibus/prouidẽtię diuinæ luce & ſplẽdore obtunditur.Cæterũ diſſimilitudo ſpiritualiũ luminum facit:vt affluentiſſima paternæ benignitatis lux aut omnino capi/participariqꝫ nõ poſſit (quippe quę ipſos obtut⁹ intimos ſuo fulgore p̄ſtringat)aut certe ipſa lucis participatio pro ſuſcipiẽtium meritis varia ſit: parua ſcilicet vel magna/ obſcura vel lucida.cum tamen radius ille diuinus/vnus ac ſimplex ſit:eodẽqꝫ qq modo ſe habeat/ſuper omnia ſemper explicitus.Nempe enĩ & alijs gentibus rr ex quibus & nos adimenſum/& infinitũ diuini luminis pelagus(quod paratum ſemper eſt: & patet õnibus ad participandũ) ex pręteriti erroris cæcitate reſpirauimus: nunq̃ præfuerũt alieni aliqui dij/ ſed vnũ illud omnium ac ſingulare principium. ad quod ſane/obſequentes ducebant angeli pręfecti ſingulis gentibus. Conſiderare libet Melchiſedech illum põtificem ss chariſſimum deo:qui nequaq̃ inanium deorum/ ſed altiſſimi ęterniqꝫ dei ſacerdos fuit.Non enim ſine ratione ſapientia diuina illuſtres viri: Melchiſedech non modo amicum dei/verum etiã ſacerdotem dei appellarũt. ſiue vt prudẽtioribus aperte indicarẽt:non modo ipſum ad verũ/ac ſempiternũ
deum eſſe conuerſum/verum & cæteris ad veram & ſolã/ſupremãqꝫ deitatem 48 prouehendis/authorem ducemqꝫ fuiſſe.¶Illud quoqꝫ ſacerdotale pectus Ad timotheũ loquit̃ tuũ/ſanctãqꝫ prudentiã ammonere curabimus:vt Pharaoni ab Aegyptiorum
pręſule angelo/ Babyloniorũqꝫ principi a ſuæ itidem gentis pręſide/ tt & prouidentis & dominãtis oĩbus diſpenſatio atqꝫ poteſtas per viſum innotuere. Et illis gentibus veri dei famuli atqꝫ cultores/duces cõſtituebantur:

Daniel. dum ea viſionũ expoſitio quæ figurata prius ab angelis fuerat/ſanctiſſimis Ioſeph. viris & qui angelis ferme pares euaſerant Danieli ac Ioſeph a deo reuelata per angelos fuit. Vnum quippe omniũ principium eſt: vnica prouidentia.
Neqꝫ vllo modo putãdum eſt Iudęis quidẽ pręfuiſſe deum quaſi id
ſorte conſecutum: cæteris autem gentibus angelos proprie ac ſeorſum/ſiue vv ęqualiter/ſiue aduerſãter/ſiue deos alios quoſdã præſules eſſe. Sed & illud quoqꝫ diuinæ ſcripturæ iuxta hunc ſenſum ſacratius accipiendum eſt: non quaſi deus cũ dijs alijs aut angelis/humani generis gubernaculũ regimẽqꝫ diuiſerit/& Iſraeliticæ gentis princeps & dux ipſe conſtitutus ſit. ſed ꝙ vna illa quidem altiſſimi in cũctis prouidentia: mortales omnes in ſalutem/angelorum ſuorũ ductibus ad ſe peruehendos diſtribuerit. ſolus autem ferme Iſrael præ omnibus ad veriſſimi domini intelligentiã/cognitionẽqꝫ conuerſus ſit. Vnde Iſraeliticã plebem ſeſe diuino cultui deuouiſſe/illumqꝫ hæreditario xx iure ſuſcepiſſe/ſacra ſcriptura indicat dicens: factus eſt pars domini.
Cæterum ipſum quoqꝫ populũ ſignans ęquali cum gentibus cæteris iure/alicui ſanctorũ angelorũ fuiſſe aſſignatum (cuius officio & miniſterio: vnũ zz illud omniũ principium noſceret) Michaelem ait Iudęorũ pręfectum eſſe genti: apertis profecto indicijs comprobans vnã eſſe omniũ prouidentiam/quæ omnibus inuiſibilibus viſibilibuſqꝫ virtutibus longe vi ſummæ maieſtatis emineat. õnes autem angelos ſingulis pręfectos natiõibus: ad ipſam veluti ad principium ſuum/ eos qui voluntarie ſequerentur (quantum fas eſt) prouehere atqꝫ perducere.

T ¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶Quæ nõ & primas habeat/& medias extremaſqꝫ virtutes. Virtutum nomine: cœlicos ſpiritus cõpręhendit omnes. Neq; hic ſpecialis nũcupationis/vſus accipitur: quæ mediam cũ dominationibus & poteſtatibus cõplet hierarchiam.
& cur hunc in modũ/cõmuni hac liceat appellatione vti: cauſam capite vndecimo
V dicturus eſt beatiſſimus pater. ¶Illis quidem: quoniã ad ſupremũ illum principatum.
X illis/principatibus cõmunicat. ¶His autem: quia etiã docendi/atq; dictandi alijs.
Y his/angelis ſacer archangelorũ ordo cõmunicat. ¶Priori quidẽ ſupremaqꝫ diſtinctione/manifeſtius. Diuinitas incompręhẽſibile ſapientiæ pelagus: nobis ignota manet/ſecretaqꝫ ab omnibus. Supremus autem cœleſtium ordo: nobis poſt diuinitatem manet ignotior/occultiorqꝫ/quia illi ignoto vicinior. Poſtremꝰ vero/angelicuſqꝫ ordo: nobis iam eſt manifeſtior. vt qui illi ignoto remotior: & nobis cõiunctior ac affinior habeatur. Porro medius hierarchiarum ordo nobis ſupremo manifeſtior: ſed infimo/angelicoqꝫ ſecretior atqꝫ abditior. Et hoc eſt quod de medio illo ordine/ ſuis quidem extremis cõparato: littera hęc dicit. ſequentem vero ex altiſſimis dominationibus & virtutibus poteſtatibuſqꝫ conſtantem/tertię illi (quę principatibus/archangelis/angeliſqꝫ cõficitur) pręeſſe: priori Z ſupremaqꝫ manifeſtius/ſequenti autem extremaqꝫ: ſecretius. ¶Dum diuinus proceſſus eximia dignatione cũctis ſacris ordinibus indulgetur/& ſocialiter ac diuino cum ornatu reuelatur. hoc eſt/ dum diuinæ gratiæ ſubminiſtrãtibus angelis perfuſio/ eximia & præcellenti dei liberalitate & gratuita largitione omnibus ſacris humanis ordinibus indulgetur:
& concordi ac amica communicatione pulchro cum adhortantiũ diſciplinarum/virtutumqꝫ ad decenter imitandum ornamẽto/reuelatur atq; manifeſtatur. Hinc profecto.
z & reliqua que ſequuntur. ¶Sacrãqꝫ functionẽ angelis ſacra ſcriptura diſtribuit. Daniel cap. decimo. Et ego veni propter ſermones tuos. princeps autem regni Perſarum:
reſtitit michi vno & viginti diebus. et ecce Michael vnus de principibus primis/ venit in adiutoriũ meum: & ego remanſi ibi iuxta regem Perſarum. Veni autem vt docerẽ te quæ ventura ſunt populo tuo in nouiſſimis diebus. & nunc reuertar vt prælier aduerſus principẽ Perſarum. cũ enim egrederer/apparuit princeps Gręcorũ veniens. verũtamen annunciabo tibi quod expreſſum eſt in ſcriptura veritatis. & nemo eſt adiutor meus in omnibus his: niſi Michael princeps veſter. ❡Statuit enim altiſſimus terminos gẽtium: oo iuxta numerũ angelorum dei. Hoc oraculo caremus. ❡Huius rei etiã Hebræorum populo pp crimen impingitur. Exodus cap. triceſimo ſecũdo. Locutus eſt autem dominus ad Moſem dicẽs, vade/ deſcende: peccauit populus tuus quẽ eduxiſti de terra Aegypti. receſſerunt cito de via quã oſtendiſti eis: fecerũtq; ſibi vitulum conflatilem & adorauerũt.

atq; ĩmolantes ei hoſtias dixerunt: iſti ſunt dij tui Iſrael/ qui te eduxerũt de terra Aegypti.
Et Oſee cap. quarto. Et fornicati ſunt a deo ſuo. ſuper capita montiũ ſacrificabant: & ſuper colles accendebant thymiama ſubtus quercum & populum & terebinthum. Et paulo ante, quia tu ſcientiam reppuliſti: repellam te. ❡Eodemq; modo ſe habeat: ſuper qq omnia ſemper explicitus. Omnibus ſuperexpãſus/ ſuperextẽſus/ atq; ſuꝑfuſus. ❡Nẽpe rr enĩ & alijs gẽtibus: ex quibꝰ & nos. De ſeipſo loquitur pius pater: qui a beatiſſimo Paulo ex gẽtilitio errore ad veræ/ pię & ſanctæ religionis lumen diuina pietate cõuerſus eſt.
❡Cõſiderare libet Melchiſedech. Geneſis cap. decioquarto. At vero Melchiſedech rex ss
Salem: proferens panẽ & vinũ (erat enim ſacerdos dei altiſſimi) benedixit ei & ait. benedictus
Abram deo excelſo qui creauit cœlum & terrã: & benedictus deus excelſus/ quo protegente: hoſtes in manibus tuis ſũt. Et beatiſſimus Paulus epiſtola ad Hebręos cap.
ſeptimo/ de eodem. aſſimilatus autem filio dei: manet ſacerdos in perpetuũ. ❡Vt Pharaoni tt ab Aegyptiorum pręſule angelo/ Babyloniorũq; principi. De pharaone. Geneſis cap. quadrageſimo primo. Poſt duos annos vidit Pharao ſomniũ. putabat ſe ſtare ſuper fluuium/ de quo aſcendebãt ſeptem boues pulchrę & craſſę nimis: & paſcebantur in locis paluſtribus. aliæ quoq; ſeptem emergebant de flumine/ fœdæ confectæq; macie: & paſcebãtur in ipſa amnis ripa in locis virentibus. deuorarũtq; eas: quarũ mira ſpecies & habitudo corporũ erat. De principe Babyloniorum. Daniel cap. ſecũdo. Vidit Nabugodonoſor ſomniũ & conterritus eſt ſpiritus eius: & ſomniũ eius fugit ab eo. quod indicauit ei Daniel. Tu rex videbas: & ecce quaſi ſtatua vna grãdis. ſtatua illa magna/ & ſtatura ſublimis: ſtabat cõtra te. & intuitus eius erat terribilis. Huius ſtatuæ caput ex auro optimo erat: pectus autem & brachia de argento. porro venter & femora ex ęre: tibiæ autem ferreę. pedum quedã pars erat ferrea: quedã autẽ fictilis. Videbas ita donec abſciſus eſt lapis de mõte ſine manibus: & percuſſit ſtatuam in pedibus eius ferreis & fictilibus/& cõminuit eos. Tũc cõtrita ſunt pariter ferrũ/ teſta/ es/ argentum/ & aurũ. & redacta quaſi in fauillam æſtiuę areæ: quę rapta ſunt vento/ nulluſq; locus inuentus eſt eis.
Lapis autem qui percuſſerat ſtatuã/ factus eſt mons magnus: & impleuit vniuerſam terram.
hoc eſt ſõniũ. Hec ãgeli: Pharaoni Aegyptio & Nabugodonoſoro principi Babylonio in viſionibus pręmõſtrabãt. ❡Siue ęqualiter ſiue aduerſanter ſiue deos alios quoſdam vv pręſules eſſe. Sententia eſt/ deum non ſolũ & peculariter prouidere ac pręeſſe Hebræorum populo: & alijs ſpiritibus nonnullis reliquas terræ prouincias/ reliquaq; regna ex ęquo eſſe diſtributa: quibus quidẽ præeſſent/ & in quibus vt dij colerẽtur. ſiue quibus præeſſent aduerſando: vt quas fortitudine ſua/ ſuoq; robore aduerſus alios obtinuiſſent.
Neq; alijs regnis dij quidam alieni præſunt: quos gentilitius error temere credebat eſſe
deos. ſed omniũ & Hebræorũ/ Aegyptiorũ/ Chaldeorum/ Gręcorũ/ & Latinorum: vnicũ principium eſt/ vnicaq; prouidẽtia. quoniã (iuxta diuina eloquia) rex omnis terræ deus. Pſal. 46.
quorum quidẽ vniuerſorum & ſingulorũ bonum (ſi saperent homines) pia gubernatiõe Pſal. 118.
diſpenſat. et cui (iuxta prophetæ ſententiam) ſeruiunt omnia. ❡Sacra ſcriptura indicat xx dicens: factus eſt pars domini. pſalmus centeſimus triceſimus quartus. Quoniã Iacob elegit ſibi dominus: Iſrael in poſſeſſionem ſibi. ❡Michaelem ait Iudęorum præfectum zz eſſe genti. Hoc de Daniele dicit. quod ex Danielis cap. decimo ſupra adductum eſt. Et nemo eſt adiutor meus in omnibus his: niſi Michael prĩceps veſter. Et cap. duodecimo.
In tempore autem illo cõſurget Michael princeps magnus: qui ſtat pro filijs populi tui.
& veniet tẽpus: quale non fuit ab eo ex quo gentes eſſe cœperũt/ vſq; ad tẽpus illud.

❡NONI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

44 Poſtremam cœleſtium ſpirituũ diſtinctionem in tres ordines/ principatus/archangelos & angelos diſtributã: nunc determinãdam ſupereſſe proponit ſacer Dionyſius/ & imprimis elucidandũ quid vnũquodq;
dictorum ordinũ nomẽ ſignificat. Sane principatuũ nomine (inquit) Principatꝰ nobis ſignificatur: ꝗ illius ordinis cœleſtes ſpiritus principãtur ac du-ces ſunt inferioribus & ſub ſe poſitis ſupernis ſubſtãtijs/ad imaginem dei:omnibus ſupreme principãtis. Sunt autem ſupradicti ſpiritus ſuperni/aliorum principes: ſecũdum ſacrum ſuũ ordinem/ad hoc ex officio ordinatũ atqꝫ conſtitutum/maximeqꝫ conuenientem principalibus ſuis virtutibus/in quibus: cęteris eiuſdem hierarchiæ ſed inferiorum ordinũ ſupernis ſpiritibus excellentiores ſunt/illiſqꝫ eximie pręcellunt & pręſtãt. Exprimitur pręterea ſanctorũ principatuum nomine/ipſos ad ſummũ dei principatũ (qui nulli ſubeſt/& omnibus eminẽtiſſime principatur)totis animi viribus cõuerſos:aliorum ſpirituũ ſupernorũ qui inferiores ſunt & gradu poſteriores/ duces eſſe ſingulari dignitate ac principes. Eos inſuꝑ cœleſtes principatus pro viribus anniti: vt in ſe/ſupremũ illũ dei principatum(qui ſacri principatus ipſorum author eſt & cauſa)effingant ac exprimant/ diuiniqꝫ principatus ordinem ſummũ quidem & occultum: declarẽt & explicent/ ornatiſſimo pręcipuarum & principãtibus congruentium virtutũ decore.

Archãgeli.

❡At vero archangelorũ ordo/ ęqualis quidem habetur ipſis ſacris principatibus: ſecundũ vnam & eandem hierarchiæ rationem. quãdoquidem ipſorum principatuum/ archãgelorum & angelorum/vna eſt(vt iam dictum eſt)hierarchia atqꝫ diſtinctio. Quia tamen omnis hierarchia cœleſtis/ſupremum habet & mediũ/atqꝫ poſtremum ordinem: ipſe archangelorũ ordo quia in medio poſtremę diſtinctionis conſtitutus eſt:extremos illius ordines principatuum inquam & angelorum/ quodam cõueniẽtiæ & mutuæ ſocietatis nexu coplectitur/atqꝫ cum vtroqꝫ quoquo pacto cõmunicat:ſicut & nomen habet ex amborum extremorum ordinum nominibus compactum. Siquidem cum ſacris principatibus cõmunicat archangelorum ordo:ꝙ vti illi/ ad ſupremum illum dei principatũ præcipue conuerſus eſt/& ad eius(quãtum fas eſt)imaginẽ efformatur. inſuper & angelos ſub ſe poſitos ordinatiſſimo & pulcherrimo ductu deo iungit:atqꝫ vnum cum eo facit. quẽadmodum dictum eſt/cœleſtes principatus: inferiores ſupernas ſubſtantias ad deum ſubuehere/atqꝫ illi coniungere. Cum angelis vero conuenit ſacer archangelorum ordo: quia etiam docendi atqꝫ enunciandi(ſicut & illi)ſortitur officium. dum diuinorum myſteriorum ſcientiam a primis ſupremiſqꝫ ſpiritibus percipiens : eam angelis quoqꝫ gratuita benignitate annunciat/ & nobis itidem per angelorum miniſterium: diuinorũ ſenſuum & ſecretorum pandit intelligentiam.

Angeli.

❡Deniqꝫ angeli ipſi: complendi terminãdiqꝫ cœleſtium ordinum ſeriem habent officium. eam enĩ finiunt/perficiũt/ & claudũt: poſtremo loco inter cœleſtes ordines angelicam nunciãdiqꝫ proprietatem adepti. Atqꝫ ideo hi poſtremi ordinis cœleſtes ſpiritus rectius angeli nominãtur:q̃ ſuperiores cuiuſuis ordinis ſubſtantiæ. quia eorum officium functio & miniſterium/magis circa apertiora & notiora verſatur:& humana fere opera eorum directione & ductu diſponũtur. Nam ſupremam illam cœleſtium ordinum diſtinctionem(quia ipſi deo/ſecretiſſimo quidem & occultiſſimo proxima eſt)putandũ eſt ipſius ſecũdę diſtinctionis moderationem habere/illiqꝫ diuinæ ſcientiæ lumen occultius & latentius dare. Sequentem vero/ ſecundãqꝫ diſtinctionem/ex dominationibus/virtutibus & poteſtatibus conſtitutam: exiſtimandum eſt ipſi tertię diſtinctioni(qus ex principatibus/archãgelis & angelis cõflatur) pręeſſe: manifeſtius quidem & patẽtius/ q̃ ſuprema diſtinctio. nam a ſecreto diuino remotius q̃ prima/ diſtat. ſecretius tamen & occultius:q̃ poſtrema diſtinctio. nam ipſi diuino ſecreto q̃ tertia/eſt propinquior. Cæterum infimam/extremamqꝫ diſtinctionem/ennunciandi miniſterium manifeſtius & apertius adeptam: credendum eſt humanis ordinibus & diſtinctionibus præſidere. vt illius angelicæ functionis officio/ homines ſuo ordine & gradu tendant ad deum: ſintqꝫ eiuſdem communione & ſocietate beati. dum diuinorum munerum ordinatiſſima diſtributio: gradatim & certa ſerie in cunctos diffunditur ordines tum angelicos tum humanos. & a ſummis ad ima/quadam mutuę ſocietatis cõnexione/agglutinatione atqꝫ compaginatione: vna cum pulcherrimo diuini ordinis ornatu declaratur. Hanc ſane ob cauſam/humanã hierarchiam atqꝫ functionem gubernandam Danie. 10. angelis/extremi ſcilicet ordinis ſpiritibus/ſacra ſcriptura aſſignat: quæ Michaelem Iudaicæ plebis principem aperte vocat/& alios angelos :aliarum nationum præſides appellat/ vt principem Perſarum & principem Gręcorũ. Statuit enim deus altiſſimus terdeutero. 32 minos gentium(vt habet ſcriptura:ſecundum ęditionem ſeptuaginta interpretũ)iuxta numerum angelorum dei. quia vnicuiqꝫ genti atqꝫ nationi: vnum deſignauit angelum pręſidem & cuſtodem.

❡Verum ſiquis percontetur. quã ob rem ſolus Hebræorum populus ad dei cognitionẽ & cultum perductus ſit:ſi alijs etiam nationibus deſignati ſunt angeli pręſules & duces/qui ipſas ad deum ſubuehant? Reſpōdet ſacratiſſimus pater/non id imputandum eſſe angelicis ſpiritibus rectiſſime humana gubernantibus: ſi alię gentes ad idolorum (quę dij vere non ſunt ſed dæmonia) culturam abductæ ſunt. Sed Pſal. 95.

hoc ipſis ethnicis & gentilibus ſolum iure debet imputari: qui ſua ſponte & proprio cordis ſui motu declinauerunt a recto calle/quo ad deum peruenire potuiſſent. Cuius plane erroris adeo exitialis & peſtiferi/ipſis gentibus cauſa fuit amor ſui: vero deo contempto/atqꝫ ſuperbia extollentiaqꝫ animi: cui deus ſemper reſiſtit. ad quæ duo extrema 1. petri. 4.
mala/ conſecutum eſt & id omnium pernicioſiſſimum: cultura ſcilicet eorum ſimulacrorum & ſculptilium/quæ/ipſæ gentes putarunt habere aliquid diuini numinis. cum non fuerint niſi argentum & aurum/opera manuum hominum. Et huius etiam infandi Pſal. 113.
cultus idolorum crimen: Hebræorum populo a ſcriptura imponitur/in deſerto/ſub iudicibus/& regibus ſuis. hinc iſte ſcripturæ locus ad ipſum populum Iſraeliticum dicitur: ꝙ ſcientiam dei reppulerit atqꝫ cognitionem/ & poſt cor ſuum in vanitatibus Oſee. 4.
ambulauerit. Neqꝫ id mirum videri debet/ ꝙ gentes permiſſæ ſint abire poſt adinuentiones ſuas & placita: neglecto veri dei cultu. Nam nosipſi nequaq̃ coactam & neceſſitate ad bonum adactam habemus vitam: quandoquidem id repugnaret naturali voluntatis libertati. neqꝫ liberi arbitrij noſtri poteſtas & gratia/ hominibus a deo indulta: ipſius diuinæ prouidentiæ ratione/ luceve obtunditur aut impeditur.
cum ſimul ſemper ſtent: humani arbitrij libertas/ & ſummæ prouidentiæ diſpoſitio omnia continens. Sed multiformitas & diuerſitas ſpiritualium oculorum ac mentium humanarum facit: vt exuberantiſſima diuinæ benignitatis claritas/ ſe in munerum ſuorum communicatione diffundens: aut nullo modo capi poſſit & ſuſcipi/ ꝙ nimio ſuo fulgore imbecillas mentes pręſtringat ac obtundat. aut ipſa ſpiritualis lucis participatio: ſecundum ſuſcipientium diſpoſitionem modum & captum/ diuerſa ſit & multiplex/aut parua ſcilicet aut magna/ obſcura vel lucida: ſecundum rationem & conditionem ſuſcipientis eam. cum tamen diuinus ille radius in ipſo deo vnicus ſit & ſimplex/ eodemqꝫ modo ſemper ſe habeat: ſuper omnia latiſſime expanſus.
Et certe horum duorum quæ modo ſub diſiunctione propoſita ſunt: ſecundum tribuendum eſt/ non primum. Sicut neqꝫ admittendum eſt: ꝙ ſolaris lampadis radius nullatenus poſſit a mortalium oculis percipi. ſed ꝙ ipſius participatio/ pro diuerſitate oculorum illum haurientium ſit varia: in vno quidem maior ac copioſior/in altero vero minor. ſimiliter in vno radius ſolis percipitur lucidior: in alio vero obſcurior. Enimuero alijs gentibus: a dei veri cognitione alienis (ex quibus & ſeipſum ab errore gentilitatis ad veræ fidei lumen (quod ſemper paratum eſt vt infundatur hominibus/ illiſqꝫ communicetur: modo ſe diſponant ad ipſum recipiendum) conuerſum fuiſſe/gratulatur cum debita gratiarum actione ſacratiſſimus pater)
nunq̃ præfecti fuerunt aliqui dij alieni: vt Romanis Mars/ Phebus Delphicis/ aut Athenienſibus Pallas: quemadmodum autumarunt errore cęco deceptæ gentes. Sed omnibus vbiuis terrarum degentibus nationibus: præfuit ſemper & præeſt vnum illud omnium rerum principium/ ſcilicet deus. ad cuius cognitionem/angeli gentibus quibuſqꝫ pręfecti ducebant eos quidem: qui ipſorum monitis & ductibus obſequebantur.
neqꝫ enim inuitos aut renitentes: pro ſuo debuerunt officio ad deum ducere.
Vnde dignum admodum & rationabile eſt attendere pontificem illum inſignem Melchiſedech/
deo longe dilectiſſimum: qui nequaquam falſorum deorum/ſed altiſſimi & veri dei ſacerdos fuit. Quem deiloqui patres & ſapientia præſtantiſſimi/haud immerito Gene. 14 non ſolum amicum dei: ſed etiam ſacerdotem vocauerunt. vt hac appellatione deſignarent perſpectioribus oculatioribuſqꝫ viris/ non ſolum ipſum ad deum verum per fidem & opera eſſe conuerſum: verum etiam alijs (vt eos ad ſummæ deitatis agnitionem 48 adduceret) ducem & præceptorem fuiſſe. ¶ Deinde oſtendit ſacratus pater exemplo ſanctæ ſcripturæ/nationibus gentium prępoſitos eſſe angelos: verba ad Timotheum dirigens, dicenſqꝫ ſe velle & illud ſacerdotalem illius dignitatem & prudentiam admonere: quomodo diſpenſatio prouida & poteſtas ſuprema ipſius dei prouidentis & dominātis omnibus/ ſignificata ſunt per ſomnium ipſi Pharaoni regi Aegypti ab angelo Aegyptiorū pręſide: cū vidit ſeptem boues pulchras & totidē macras/& rurſum Gene. 41.
ſeptem ſpicas plenas & totidem percuſſas vredine. Et ipſi itidem Nabugodonoſor regi Babylonis ab angelo Babylonijs præfecto/ipſius dei prouidētia & ordinatio innotuere:cum ſomno ſolutus vidit ſtatuam partim auream/partim argēteam/ hinc æream Danie.2. & hinc ferream. Et iiſdem gentibus/Aegyptijs inquam & Babylonijs/ veri dei cultores Ioſeph & Daniel/conſtituti ſunt duces & directores:cum expoſitio atqꝫ interpretatio viſionum prius per angelos in regum dormiētium animis efformatarū: ſanctitate conſpicuis viris ipſi ſcilicet Ioſeph & Danieli/a deo reuelata per angelos fuit. vt pręnoſceretur futura ſterilitas ſeptēnis/poſt tanti temporis fertilitatem: & quinqꝫ regnorum futura ſucceſſio. Vnicum enim eſt rerum principium:non plura/ vnica item prouidentia/omnia ſapientiſſime diſponens:non plures & diuerſę. Neqꝫ exiſtimandum eſt deum ipſum Iudęis præfuiſſe:quaſi id ſorte & partitione cū alijs eſſet conſecutus.& cæteris gentibus angelos præſides eſſe:non ſub deo/ſed proprie ac ſeorſum/ ſuaqꝫ ipſorum authoritate. ſiue æqualiter ſocialiterqꝫ cum deo: vt tantam angeli ſinguli in gentes quibus pręſident habeant poteſtatem/quātam deus in Iudęos. ſiue aduerſanter inimiciterqꝫ cum deo: vt ipſi deo repugnent & aduerſentur in ſuarum gentium pręſidentia. perinde ac diuerſi reges terræ inter ſe diſſentiunt. Neqꝫ itidem putandum eſt:cæteris gentibus quoſdā alios deos a deo vero/præſides eſſe aut pręfectos. Quin & illud ſacrę ſcripturæ verbū/quo Pſal.134. dicitur Iſrael eſſe pars domini:iuxta hanc accipiendum eſt intelligentiam. non quaſi deus cum alijs dijs aut angelis diſtribuerit humani generis regimen/ & illis alias ſortitis nationes: ipſe ſolius populi Iſraelitici dux ſit & princeps conſtitutus. ſed ꝙ vna ſolius dei prouidentia omnes homines ad ſalutem ſuiqꝫ cognitionem ſanctorum angelorum ſuorum ductibus & adminiculis adducendos ordinauerit: & ſingulas nationes ſuis angelis ad hoc miniſterium diſtribuerit. ſolus autem populus Iſraeliticus inter omnes/ ad veri dei cognitionem & cultum ſit cōuerſus: cæteris idolorum cultura a dei intelligentia abductis. Propter quod & ſancta ſcriptura populū Iſraeliticum dei culturæ & venerationi ſe præſertim dediſſe/& deum hæreditario quodam iure populum illum Deute.32. peculiariter ſuſcepiſſe innuit: cum ait. Pars autem domini/populus eius: Iacob funiculus hęreditatis eius. At vero eadem ſcriptura deſignās populum Hebræorum alicui angelorum ſanctorum(cuius ductu & officio: deum omnium principium populus ille noſceret) eſſe aſſignatum/æquali cum cæteris nationibus in hoc iure atqꝫ ſocietate/& quemad Danie.10. modum cæteræ nationes habent ſuum quæqꝫ angelum præſidem: ait Michaelem eſſe præpoſitum genti Iudęorum/manifeſto per id argumento ſignoqꝫ ſignificans: ꝙ vna eſt rerum omnium prouidentia/quæ inuiſibilibus omnibus ſcilicet angelicis ſpiritibus/ & viſibilibus vtpote rebus corporalibus/ longe ſupereminet.& ꝙ omnes angeli ſingulis pręfecti nationibus/ eos homines qui ſponte ſua & libere ipſorum ductum ſequi velint(nam neqꝫ dei neqꝫ angelorum eſt munus: vim inferre naturæ aut libertati voluntatis) peruehunt atqꝫ perducunt ad ipſam omnium prouidentiam cognoſcendam: veluti ad ſuum & rerum omnium principium/quod agnoſcant/ venerentur & colant.

¶ Epilogus & concluſio totius angelici ordinis Cap.X.

COlligitur itaqꝫ ex ijs quę ſupra diximus:vt ſanctorum ſpirituū qui diuinis conſpectibus ſemper aſſiſtunt/ prima illa antiquiſſimaqꝫ diſtinctio(quippe quæ a diuino illo totius perfectionis authore radio erudiatur:ad quem nullis interpoſitis ordinibus alijs/ perpetua intentione ſubuehitur)ſecretiore diuinitatis & candidiore luce purgatur/illuſtratur/ atqꝫ perficitur. ſecretiore quidem: ꝙ intelligibilior ſit/ magiſqꝫ ſimplicitati diuinæ nos iungat/atqꝫ inſerat. cādidiore autem:vt quæ primo indulta ſit/ primoqꝫ apparuerit/ totamqꝫ ſe in illam beatiſſimorum ſpirituum ſeriem vtpote capaciorem ſui fulgoris/effuderit. Ab hac autē tam excellentis meriti functione:ſecunda pro modo & ratione ſua rurſus imbuitur. atqꝫ a ſecunda:itidem tertia. a qua/noſtra quoqꝫ ſancta functio: eodē pulcherrimæ A atqꝫ ordinatiſſimæ diſpoſitionis iure/conuenientia & ratione diuina:ad totius pulchritudinis atqꝫ ordinis ſummū illud/ ęternūqꝫ principium ac finē/

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

officio ſacratiſſimi muneris fertur. Sunt autem & angeli omnes ita inſtituti:
vt inferiores ſuperioribus obaudiant/eorumqꝫ nutus enuncient. Ac primi B illi quidem: vt ſummi dei ſe mouētis conſilia & voces exponant. reliqui C vero proportione debita: eorum qui a deo mouētur exprimāt voces. Intantum enim ſumma illa omnium & ſupereminens cōgruentia/ quorumlibet rationalium ac ſpiritualium ſacro decori & ordinatiſſimo inſtituto proſpexit:
vt ipſis quoqꝫ diſtinctionibus ſacris ordines decētiſſimos poneret. Deniqꝫ hierarchiam omnem cernimus in primas & medias/extremaſqꝫ virtutes diſtributam. immo & ipſas quoqꝫ ſingulas (vt proprie dixerim) diſtinctiones ita diſcreuit: vt in eiſdem conuenientiæ pulchritudo ſeruetur. Quocirca D & ipſa ſacratiſſima ſeraphim alterum ad alterum clamaſſe theologi aiunt: apertiſſime per hoc (vt reor) indicantes/ ꝙ diuinarum rerum notiones/prima ſequentibus tradunt. Et hoc præterea non incōuenienter addiderim/eſſe quibuſqꝫ ſeorſum cœleſtibus humaniſqꝫ animis proprias ac
primas & medias extremaſqꝫ virtutes atqꝫ ordines: quibus memoratę pro cuiuſqꝫ modo ſingulorum cœleſtium ordinum propriæ de deo intelligentiæ E expreſſæ videantur. per quas vnuſquiſqꝫ quātum ſibi fas eſt/quātumqꝫ penetrare ſufficit: caſtiſſimæ illius & eminentiſſimæ purgationis/pleniſſimiqꝫ luminis/& principalis perfectionis particeps ſit. Nichil enim eſt quod abſolute perfectum ſit/ aut omnino perfectione non egeat: niſi quod vere perfectum eſt/ ipſaqꝫ perfectio.

¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶Cōueniētia & ratione diuina. cōueniētia: coaptatione/ A congruentia/harmonia/diuina ratione/diuinaqꝫ analogia. ¶Vt inferiores ſuperioribus B obaudiant/eorumqꝫ nutus enuncient. Obaudiāt: obediant/verbum antiquum.
Nutus: angelicus ſermo. quod enim in nobis ſermo/vocaliſqꝫ loquela: id in angelis nutus/
mentiſqꝫ ſpiritualis inſinuatio. quas & pauxillo poſt voces: diuinus pater appellat in analogia. ¶Ac primi illi quidem/ vt ſummi dei ſe mouentis: conſilia & voces exponant. C ſe/ non ad deum: ſed ad ſupremos illos/ ſublimiſſimoſqꝫ ſpiritus refertur. Primos enim illos ſpiritus/ deus (qui ipſa puritas/illuminatio & perfectio eſt) purgat/ illuſtrat/& perficit. & ſuos illis nutus aperit/atqꝫ inſinuat: quæ diuina conſilia/quæ diuinæ voces dicuntur. ¶Quocirca & ipſa ſacratiſſima ſeraphim. Eſaias cap. ſexto. Seraphim ſtabant D ſuper illud. ſex alæ vni: & ſex alæ alteri. duabus velabāt faciem eius/& duabus velabant pedes eius: & duabus volabant. & clamabant alter ad alterum: & dicebāt. ſanctus/ ſanctus/ſanctus: dominus deus ſabaoth. ¶Propriæ de deo intelligentiæ/ expreſſę videantur. E Accommodatæ de deo notiones/anagoge/aſſurrectiones/ſurſumqꝫ ductiones: illis manifeſtatæ depræhendātur.

¶DECIMI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

49 Breui repetitione & epilogo conſtringit hic ſacer Dionyſius/quæ prius de angelicis diſtinctionibus & ordinibus diſſeruit: primum proponens ꝙ prima ſupremaqꝫ diſtinctio ſanctorum ſpirituū/qui diuinæ maieſtati ſemper aſſiſtunt/antiquiſſima quidem & perfectiſſima (tum quia ab illo diuino radio qui totius perfectionis author eſt/ proxime ipſa eruditur. tum quia ad eundem radium nullis interpoſitis angelorum ordinibus/ tota animi intentione huiuſmodi prima diſtinctio ſubuehitur) & ſecretiore diuinitatis luce & candidiore q̄ cæteræ diſtinctiones/purgatur/illuminatur & perficitur. Secretiore quidem. ꝙ illa deitatis lux ſit intellectualior: & illos ſummos cœleſtes ſpiritus magis ſimplicitati diuinæ iungat & cōiunctius inſerat. Cādidiore vero. quia huiuſmodi deifica lux primo indulta eſt/et a deo immediate in illos ſupernos ſpiritus trāſfuſa: extra deum/primū in illis apparens/ & ſe totam in illum ſupremorū ſpirituū ordinem (vt qui ſit diuini huius fulgoris ob maiorem ad deū propinquitatē capacior) effun

dens. Quāto enī radius eſt ſuę propinquior origini: tāto ſplēdet illuſtrior. Ab hac autem ſuprema tantæ dignitatis & excellentiæ diſtinctione: ſecunda atq; media cœleſtium ſpirituum diſtinctio/ ſecūdo loco illuſtratur. Et a ſecunda: ſimiliter tertia poſtremaq; angelicarum ſubſtantiarum hierarchia/ functioq; purgatur/ illuminatur & perficitur. Ab ipſa vero tertia diſtinctione: humana functio & eccleſiaſtica hierarchia ad ſummū illud totius pulchritudinis principium & finem (ꝙ omnis a deo pulchritudo & decor in ſubiectas emanat creaturas: & rurſum omnis a rebus cōditis in ipſum reuehitur/ reuocatur & reducitur) miniſterio angelici muneris ſubuehitur: eodem quidem ordinatiſſimæ diſpoſitionis diuinæ tenore/ eadem lege/ eodemq; iure: quo a deo ſancitū eſt vt ſequentia per priora ad ipſum ferantur. ¶ Sunt autem cœleſtes ſpiritus omnes ita a deo inſtituti/ vt inferiores ſuperioribus prompte obediāt: & ipſorum nutus per ſigna intellectualia expreſſos (quibus intimarum ſuarum notionum alijs præbēt indicium) cæteris inferioribus enuncient. Et primi quidem ſummiq; cœleſtes ſpiritus ita ſunt inſtituti: vt ſummi dei cōſilia & voces ipſis inſinuatas (nempe illos deus primū & proxime mouet) alijs exponant. Reliqui vero inferiores cœleſtes ſpiritus ita ſunt inſtituti: vt ipſorum primorum & ſummorū ſpirituum qui a deo immediate mouentur/ debita ſerie ac ordinatione exprimant voces/ elocutioneſq; ſpirituales: quæ in analogia ad humanū ſermonem & verbū prolatum/ hic voces dicūtur. Nempe ipſa ſumma dei ordinatio atq; diſpoſitio: ita quorumlibet rationalium/ & angelorū ſcilicet & hominum/ congruentiſſimo decori atq; officio conuenientiſſimo prouidit: vt omnibus etiam ſacris diſtinctionibus cum humanis tum angelicis decentiſſime ſuos ordines conſtituerit. Vnde omnem hierarchiam angelicam videmus in tres ſacros ordines/ ſupremum/ medium & poſtremum diſtinctam. immo & ipſos quoq; ſingulos ordines ordinatiſſima dei ſanctio ita diſcreuit: vt in ipſis quoq; quędam diſcretionis & ſeriei pulchritudo ſeruetur/ qua in eodem ordine inueniuntur trifariam cœleſtes ſpiritus diſtincti. Hi quidem in ſupremo/ illi in medio/ alij vero in poſtremo vnius eiuſdēq; ordinis gradu atq; loco. Quam ob rem ſacratiſſimi prophetę deſcribunt ipſa ſancta ſeraphim clamaſſe alterum ad alterū/ volentes per hoc indicare: ꝙ diuinarum rerum notiones/ prima cœleſtia agmina ſequentibus etiam in ordine eodem beniuole communicant. Quinimmo & illud ſupradictis non immerito adijciendum videtur/ ꝙ & cœleſtes & humani animi/ quiſq; ſeorſum ſeparatim & ſingillatim ſumptus: habent peculiares & proprias virtutes/ his tribus etiam gradibus diſtinctas: vt quædam earum virtutum ſupremæ ſint/ quædam mediæ/ & quædam poſtremæ. Nempe purgandi virtus poſtrema eſt/ illuminandi media/ perficiendi vero ſuprema. Vnde & in nobis memoria purgat/ intellectus illuminat/ & voluntas perficit. quod & in ſupramundanis ſubſtantijs longe eminentius inuenitur. vt per has triplices eiuſdē mentis virtutes: proprie de deo notiones atq; aſſurrectiones/ ſecundum captum & modum cuiuſq; cœleſtium ſpirituum illis inſinuatæ: dinoſcantur & percipiantur. Per quas itidem virtutes: quiſq; rationalium & ſpiritualium ſiue homo ſiue angelus/ quantum capere poteſt/ ſit eminētiſſimæ purgationis diuinæ/ candidiſſimi luminis/ & primitiuæ perfectionis particeps. Enimuero nichil eſt quod ſimpliciter perfectum ſit/ nulliuſq; perfectionis indigens: niſi ſolus deus/ ipſum vere perfectum & ipſa rerum omnium perfectio.

Eſa.6.

¶ Cur omnes cœleſtes ſubſtantiæ: communi vocabulo cœleſtes virtutes appellantur.

Cap. XI.

His ita diffinitis: illud quoq; cōſiderare dignum eſt/ quam ob cauſam omnes ſimul angelicos ſpiritus/ cœleſtes appellare virtutes cōſueuimus. Neq; enim vt de angelis/ dicere poſſumus: ꝙ omniū ſit extrema diſtinctio/ ſāctarū virtutū ordo. Atq; inferiorum quidem ſcientiæ ſanctiq; fulgoris/ ſuperiorum ſpirituū ordines participes ſunt: non autem idētidem ſuperioribus ac primis/ inferiores nouiſſimiq; cōmunicāt. Cuius igitur rei gratia cœleſtes quidem virtutes/ ſublimes illæ ſubſtantiæ omnes nominātur: non autem ſeraphim & throni & dominationes pari ratione dicūtur? extremæ namq; ſupremis illis proprietatibus omnibus non cōmunicant.

Angeli enim & ante ipſos archangeli/principatuſqꝫ ac poteſtates: cũ a ſanctis viris ac theologis poſt virtutes ſtatuuntur/cõmuni ſæpe a nobis vocabulo vna cum alijs ſanctis ſpiritibus cœleſtes virtutes appellantur. ❡ Dicimus autẽ/quia dum cõmuniter in omnibus vtimur cœleſtiũ appellatione virtutum: nullam cuiuſqꝫ ordinis proprietatum cõfuſionem introducimus. Sed quoniã diuini omnes ſpiritus altiſſima ratione ſua in tria diuiduntur: F ſubſtantiam ſcilicet/virtutẽ atqꝫ actionem: quoties aut omnes aut aliquos ipſorum omiſſa diligentiore obſeruatione/ſubſtantias cœleſtes/ſiue virtutes appellauerimus: ipſos (de quibus ſermo eſt) nos ſignificare circũlocutione putandum eſt: ex ea (quæ in ſingulis eſt) ſubſtantia atqꝫ virtute. Neqꝫ enim eminẽtem illam ſanctarum virtutum proprietatem a nobis iam rite digeſtam: inferioribus quoqꝫ putandi ſumus per omnia applicare ſubſtantijs/vnde profecto ſummi illius & inconfuſi cœleſtium ſpirituum ordinis peruerſio ſequeretur. Nam iuxta rectiſſimam illam rationem/quam ſæpe reddidimus: ſuperiores illæ diſtinctiões/inferiorũ quoqꝫ ꝓprietates abũde in ſe habẽt. extremæ vero/priorũ excellentioribus meritis carent/cũ primitiui illius luminis fulgor: in illas pro captu ſuo ſuperiorũ officio/deriuetur.

❡ SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ❡ Sed quoniã diuini omnes ſpiritus altiſſima ratione ſua in tria diuiduntur: ſubſtantiã ſcilicet virtutem atqꝫ actionem. F Supramũdana quadam ſibi conſentanea ratione/cœleſtes ſpiritus omnes ac ſinguli dirimuntur in ſubſtantiam/virtutem/& actionem. Nomine ſiquidem ſubſtantiæ: eſſentiam intelligimus. ſubſiſtunt enim ſupramundani ſpiritus omnes/& vere ſubſiſtunt. Nomine vero virtutis: vigorem quendam ſubſtantialem & ad agendum fœcunditatem intelligimus. Sed is actus/hicqꝫ vigor/& hæc ad agendum fœcunditas: ſemper eſt in opera. perinde ac ſi noſter oculus illuſtre ſolis iubar ſemper aſpiceret: & perinde ac ſi mens noſtra ſemper/continuoqꝫ/quod vere bonum eſt/intelligeret/amaret/recogitaretqꝫ ſemper. & hinc quoqꝫ hæc ſupramũdana cœleſtium ſpirituum actio: nobis intelligenda eſt. Et haud ſecus ab illo vigore/cœleſtes ſpiritus/virtutes appellãtur: atqꝫ mens noſtra ab intelligẽdi particula/intellectus appellaretur atqꝫ intelligẽdi virtus. & ab actione/actus ſumũdanos: & ab eſſentia ſupramũdanas eſſentias/ſubſtãtiaſqꝫ/eoſdẽ appellare poſſumꝰ. Ratio: analogia. Verum qui cœlites ſpiritus: virtutes cœleſtes/actus ſupramundanos/formas/& ſpecies ab omni materiæ conſortio & labe ſeiugatas/prorſuſqꝫ immunes ac liberas appellabit: digniori/inſigniorıqꝫ illos nuncupatione appellat q̃ ſi cœleſtes & ſupramundanas nuncupet eſſentias. Nam qui virtutes dicit: vigorem ſubſtantificum nominat/deum ſemper imitantem. qui actus: operationem/ipſius ſummi abſolutiqꝫ eſſe ſemper æmulam. qui formas & ſpecies: pulchritudinem mortalium oculis incognitam/immarceſcibilem/ipſum abſolute pulchrum prope modum repræſentantẽ. qui vero dicit eſſentias: ferme ſpecula paſſiua nominat/diuinas illas pulchritudines/imagineſqꝫ ſuſcipientia: & ſinus/diuinos illos vigores atqꝫ actus complectentes. Vnde fit/vt ſi licet illa nomina ad ipſum innominabile transferre: magis id dignum putent/vt abſolutum ſuperqꝫ omnia ſupereminens/eſſe dicatur: & minus inter hæc/eſſentiæ appellationem illi conſentaneam. Sed de his ſatis.

50 ❡ VNDECIMI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

HNquirit hoc loco ſacer Dionyſius: quare omnes cœleſtes ſpiritus interdum communi appellatione virtutes ſcriptura nominat. vt in pſalmo. Dominus virtutum: ipſe eſt rex gloriæ. Et rurſum. Domine deus Pſal. 23.
virtutum conuerte nos. Et iterum. Benedicite domino omnes virtu- Pſal. 79 tes eius/miniſtri eius: qui facitis volũtatem eius. vbi non ſolũ de ſup- Pſal. 102.
nis ſpiritibus medij ordinis ſecũdę hierarchiæ (quibus virtutũ nomen peculiariter eſt inditũ) habetur ſermo: verũ etiã de omnibus cuiuſcũqꝫ ſint diſtinctionis aut ordinis/cœleſtibꝰ ſubſtãtijs. Neqꝫ enĩ illius eadẽ poſſet reddi ratio/quę de angelorũ cõmuni appellatione in quinto capite ſuperius aſſignata eſt: ꝙ ſcilicet ſanctarum virtutū ordo ſit omniū angelicorū ordinum poſtremus/ ſicut & ordo angelorum. & ergo ſuperiores ōnes ordines ſicut cōmunicant angelorū proprietati officioq; nunciandi/nomenq; illorū ideo habent cōmune: ita omnes reliqui ſupernorū ſpirituum ordines participent proprietati ſacrarum virtutum tanq̄ poſtremo ordine conſtitutarū/ itidem & nomini. Non enim ſacer ordo virtutū/extremus eſt & vltimus/ſicut angelorū: ſed ipſius ſecūdæ hierarchiæ eſt medius. Et cū ſuperiores ſpirituū ordines/inferiorum ſcientiæ & proprietatis ſint participes/non autem ediuerſo inferiores ſuperiorum: non videntur poteſtates/principatus/archangeli & angeli (ꝙ ſub ſacris ponātur virtutibus) ſortiri proprietatē & fulgores ipſarum virtutū illis eminentiū. quare neq; deberēt earū nomen ſibi vendicare cōmune. Rurſum inferiores ſupernorū ſpirituū ordines non vocantur ſeraphim/cherubim/throni aut dominationes: ꝙ eorū vtpote eminentiorū proprietates & excellentias non aſſequantur/& idcirco neq; illorum ſortiātur vocabula aut appellationem. Cōſimili ergo iure neq; poſteriores cœleſtium ſpirituū ordines deberēt virtutum nomine deſignari: cum earum etiā non obtineant proprietates. Aut ediuerſo ſiquis cōtendat eos recte virtutū nūcupatiōe exprimi: fateatur oportet eodē iure/ipſos poſtremos ordines/aut ſeraphim aut thronos aut dominationes appellari poſſe. Et ſic angelicarum proprietatum inducetur permixta quædā confuſio: nam & imæ ſummis & ſummæ imis inordinate cōmiſcebūtur.

¶ Reſpondet huic inquiſitioni ſacratus pater: ꝙ cum ōnibus cœleſtiū ſpirituū ordinibus/virtutū appellatio aſſignatur/ nequaq̄ introducitur cōfuſio proprietatum cuiuſq; ordinis. quoniā ibi nomen virtutū non deſignat peculiarem illam proprietatem/medio ordini ſecūdæ hierarchiæ addictā: neq; id nomen/ tūc eſt illius ordinis proprium. Sed fit huiuſmodi cōmunis omnibus ſupernis ſpiritibus virtutum appellatio: quoniā omnes cœleſtes ſpiritus ſecundū congruentiā & rationem ipſis conuenientem diuiduntur in hæc tria/ etiam re ipſa & non ſola ratione diſtincta: ſubſtātiam/ virtutem & actionem. Subſtātia/eſſentiaq; cœleſtium ſpirituum: ea eſt pars ſubſtantifica eorum/quæ & ſubſtantialē actum & proprias illorum operationes in ſe ſuſcipit/analoga in rebus corporalibus ipſi materię: vt pupillæ oculi. Virtus autem ſupernorum ſpirituum: vigor eſt agendi ſubſtantialis/efficiens proprias cuiuſq; ſpiritus functiones & officia/analogus quidem in rebus ſenſibilibus formę rerum naturaliū: vt actui ſubſtātiali & formæ oculi. Ex huiuſmodi autem ſubſtantia & virtute (vt ex adiectis huic loco ſcholijs licet facile depræhendere) conſtituitur vnuſquiſq; cœleſtium ſpirituum: vt partibus ſuis ſubſtantialibus/& ſpecie quidē inter ſe differentibus. perinde atq; oculus ſenſibilis: ex materia vt pupilla/& ex ſua forma coaleſcit. Et rationabile eſt huiuſmodi ſubſtantialem compoſitionem in vnoquoq; cœleſtium ſpirituum (ſicut & in anima rationali hominis) aſtruere: quoniā ſolus deus omnino & abſolute ſimplex eſt. a cuius perfectiſſima ſimplicitate/quæcūq; condita ſunt: quoquo pacto deficiunt/& ad compoſitionem decumbūt. Neq; id derogat ipſorū cœleſtium ſpirituum ſimplicitati. nam ſimplices quidem ſunt/ ꝙ non diſſecētur in partes eiuſdem rationis ſolo numero differentes: quēadmodum hæc materialia & ſenſibilia. non tamen ſimplices: ꝙ refugiant compoſitionem ex partibus ſubſtantialibus. Cum enim nichil idem natum ſit quicq̄ efficere/& illud opus ſecundū idem omnino in ſeipſo ſuſcipere: quādoquidē aliud eſſe debet agēs/ aliud ſuſcipiens/ quēadmodum aſtruit philoſophus in tertio libro de anima/ ad cōprobandum in anima humana intellectum agentem eſſe diſtinctum a poſſibili: quis non videat par eſſe atq; cōueniens/in vnoquoq; cœleſtium ſpirituū/ſubſtātiam eſſe ſiue eſſentiam ad recipiendū: & virtutem/vimq; agendi ſubſtātialem ad agendum? Neq; idcirco inclamet quiſq̄ nos aſſerere cœleſtes ſpiritus eſſe corporeos. Abſit eni a nobis tanta abſurditas. quoniā & ſubſtantiā/eſſentiā/ potentiāq; eorum ſubſtantialem: omnino ſpiritualem/intellectualem & incorporeā eſſe aſſeueramus. Eorū itidem eſſe/actum/ac virtutē ſubſtantialē: ponimus intellectualē & imaterialē. Quomodo igitur ex immaterialibus & incorporalibus coalitū partibus: erit corporeū? Sed hæc ad dilucidiorē præſentis litterę intelligentiam hactenus dicta ſint. Demum actio / tertio loco hic poſita: propria eſt cuiuſq; cœleſtis ſpiritus operatio quam exercet/producta quidem a ſua virtute vt effectrice cauſa: & ſuſcepta in ſubſtantia ſiue eſſentia ſubſtantiali vt ſuo ſubiecto atq; receptaculo. haud aliter q̄ viſio/propria oculi operatio: producitur a forma ſubſtantiali oculi/ & recipitur in pupilla. Itaq; quoties omnes cœleſtes ſpiritus aut aliquos eorum/ omiſſa ſpecialiori aut magis particulari nuncupatione/ ſubſtātias cœleſtes ſiue virtutes.

Qꝫ in āgelis eſt ſubſtātialis cōpoſitio.

appellamus: putandū eſt nos ſignificare ipſos totos cœleſtes ſpiritus de quibus loquimur / per quādā circūlocutionem / figurāq; ſynecdoches: qua a parte totum ſignificatur. Nempe denominamus ipſos totos per huiuſmodi appellationem: ex ea ſubſtantia quæ in ſingulis eſt vt pars in ſuo toto / ſimiliter & ex ea virtute quæ itidem in ſingulis eſt angelis: vt pars ſubſtātialis in ſuo toto. Neqꝫ per huiuſmodi cōmunē omnibus promiſcue ſupernis ſpiritibus virtutū appellationem / exiſtimādum eſt ſanctos patres voluiſſe ſpecialem illam angelorum medij ordinis ſecundæ hierarchiæ proprietatem aſſignare inferioribus cœleſtibus ſpiritibus. ex quo haud dubie pulcherrimi cœleſtium ſubſtātiarū ordinis confuſio & permixtio ſequeretur: quod eſſet maxime abſurdum & irrationabile. Nam (vt ſæpius ante dictum eſt) ſuperiores cœleſtium ſubſtantiarum ordines / inferiorū proprietates in ſe abunde excellenterq; continent: ſed extremæ / poſtremæqꝫ cœleſtes ſubſtantiæ / ſuperiorū excellentioribus perfectionibus & eximijs fulgoribus carent. cum ipſius diuini luminis fulgor qui primitiuus eſt & fōtalis: in ipſas extremas cœleſtes ſubſtātias deriuetur / officio & miniſterio ſuperiorū ſpirituū. Quare neceſſe eſt illos ſuperiores ſpiritus / profluētius illum diuinū fulgorē percipere. tum ꝙ ipſi primario lumini ſunt propiores. tum ꝙ illum debent alijs profundere: & ergo affluentius q̃ inferiores / in ſe eundem habere.

¶ Cur ſacerdotes: inter homines dicantur angeli. Cap. XII.

51 QVęri autem & illud ſolet ab ijs qui diuinorū librorū ſtudio & amore flagrant / ſi extrema integre non cōmunicant ſummis:
quā ob cauſam ſacerdos homo / inter homines domini G omnipotentis angelus a ſacra ſcriptura nominatur. Eſt autē ea ratio nequaq̃ ijs quæ ſupra diffiniuimꝰ aduerſa. dicimus
enim extremos illos ordines licet integerrima / & ſūma priorum diſtinctionū virtute indigeāt: eius tamen pro captu ſuo vel ex parte / iuxta vnā omniū concinnā / ſeqꝫ mutuo iungētem ſocietatē eſſe participes.
Exempli cauſa. ſanctorū cherubim ordo: ſapientiæ celſiori / ſcientięqꝫ cōmunicat.
qui vero ſub illis ſunt ſanctorum ſpirituū ordines / & ipſi ſapientiæ ac ſcientiæ participes ſunt quidem: particularis tamen pro modo ſuo / atqꝫ inferioris.
Nempe enim ſapientiæ ac ſcientiæ cōmunicare: prorſus cōmune omnibus diuinis ſpiritibus eſt. at vero cōtinenter & primo / ſiue ſecūdo loco H & humiliter id agere / cōmune iam non eſt: ſed vt ſingulis pro modo ſuo & ratione definitum eſt. Hoc autē & de omnibus diuinis ſpiritibus qui ſtatuerit:
nequaq̃ peccabit. Nam quēadmodum primi / ſanctas inferiorū proprietates affatim habent: ita & vltimi / priorū proprietates habent / licet modo non ſimili: ſed inferiore. Nichil igitur (vt reor) abſurdum eſt: ſi ſacerdotem quoqꝫ hominē theologia angelum vocat: qui pro viribus angelicę proprietati docendo participat / atqꝫ ad angelorum ſimilitudinem (vt homini poſſibile eſt) per nunciandi officiū nititur. Inuenies autem celeſtes illas angelicaſqꝫ I ſubſtantias / in ſacris litteris deos quoqꝫ appellari: ſanctos item viros & dei familiaritate digniſſimos / deos dici. Et certe cum diuinum illud ſecretum: exceptum ab omnibus / & ſummæ potentia maieſtatis ſuper ōnia locatum ſit / nichilqꝫ in rerū natura ſimile illi dici proprie & per omnia poſſit:
ſi tamen quęcūqꝫ ſpiritualis / rationaliſqꝫ ſubſtātia (dum id totis viribus / totaqꝫ ſit intentione) contendit: vt ei coniuncta vnum cum illo fiat / atqꝫ ad diuinos eius fulgores hauriendos (quantum fas eſt) indeſinenti ſtudio ac deſiderio aſpirat / ꝙ deum pro viribus (ſi dici licet) imitari pergat: diuino quoqꝫ cognomine digna cenſetur.

G ¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶Quam ob cauſam ſacerdos homo: inter homines dñi omnipotētis angelus a ſācta ſcriptura noīatur. Malachias cap. ſecūdo. Labia enim ſacerdotis cuſtodiūt ſcientiā/& legem requirent ex ore eius: quia angelus dñi exercituū
H eſt. ¶At vero continenter & primo. Continenter: abūde continendo/cōpręhēdendoqꝫ.
I & primo: īmediate/ſine medio/prima participatione. ¶Inuenies autem cœleſtes illas/angelicaſqꝫ ſubſtantias: in ſacris litteris deos quoqꝫ appellari. Pſalmus nonageſimus quartus. Quoniā deus magnus dñs: & rex magnus ſuper omnes deos. Et angelus colluctator ſe deum appellat. Geneſis cap. triceſimo ſecūdo. Nequāq̄ (inquit) Iacob appellabitur nomen tuū/ ſed Iſrael: quoniā ſi contra deū fortis fuiſti/ tanto magis contra homines prēualebis. Et de hominibus: Pſalmus octageſimus primus. Ego dixi dij eſtis: & filij excelſi omnes. quod diuinus ſermo alio in loco de hoībus (ad quos ſermo dei factus eſt) interpretatur. Ioannes cap. decimo. Reſpondit eis IHESVS: nōne ſcriptum eſt in lege veſtra/quia ego dixi dij eſtis? Si illos dixit deos ad quos ſermo dei factus eſt/& non poteſt ſolui ſcriptura: quē pater ſanctificauit & miſit in mundū/ vos dicitis quia blaſphemas/quia dixi: filius dei ſum. Et de Moſe: Exodus cap. ſeptimo. Ecce conſtitui te deum Pharaonis: & Aaron frater tuus erit propheta tuus.

¶DVODECIMI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

Mala.2. QVeſtionem hic mouet ſacer Dionyſius/ a ſacrarū litterarū ſtudioſis agitari Apo.2. ſolitā: cur homo ſacerdos dicatur apud prophetam angelus domini omnipotētis/& in apocalypſi pōtifices ſeptē eccleſiarū Aſiæ/nominātur illarum angeli. ſi ita res ſe habet/vt ſupradictū eſt: ꝗ poſtrema non cōmunicāt integre & omnino proprietatibus ſupremorū. Eſt enim homo longe poſterior & inferior angelicis ſpiritibus: quare nec illorū proprietatibus nec nomini videtur debere cōmunicare. ¶Reſpondet, ꝗ huius appellationis ratio/nequāq̄ eſt diſſona ijs quæ ante determinata ſunt. Nā extremi cœleſtium ſpirituū ordines/licet excellentia & eminenti perfectione virtutis ſuperiorū ordinum careant: illius tamen virtutis ſaltem in parte & inferiore quodam gradu participes ſunt/ſecundū vnā omnium in ſpiritualibus fulgoribus ſocietatem: venuſtā admodum/& omnes inter ſe mutuo cōmunicationis nexu coniungentē. Queādmodū terra & aqua non tātum habēt ſolaris luminis iubar/ vt ſuperiora corpora cœleſtia: eius tamen quoquo pacto & pro ſuo captu ſunt participes. Et plantæ non vſqꝫadeo perfectum habent vitæ gradum ſicut homines: neqꝫ inanimata tam eminētem habent ſubſiſtendi rationē vt noſipſi. nichilominus & plantæ/aliquo modo vita: & inanimata/ ſubſiſtendi ratione participant. Et vt propoſitū in cœleſtibus declaretur ordinibus: cōſtat ex prędictis/ ordinem ſanctorū cherubim/exuberantiorē diuinæ ſcientiæ & pleniorem habere copiam:
a qua & nomen ſortiūtur. qui vero ſub ſanctis cherubim ſunt ſuꝑnorū ſpirituū ordines:
habent etiā diuinæ ſapiētię participationē/ ſed particularis ſolū ſapiētiæ pro ſuo gradu/& inferioris. Enimuero ſciētiæ diuinorū myſteriorū & ſapiētiæ cōmunicare: cōmune eſt omnibus angelicis ſubſtātijs/cuiuſcūqꝫ ſunt ordinis. Sed illi cōmunicare hoc vel illo modo/vt exuberāter/pleniſſime/& primo loco: vel tenuiter/exiliter/ humiliter atqꝫ ſecūdo loco: iam non omnibus angelis cōmune eſt/ ſed vt cuiqꝫ ordini pro ſuo gradu & modo definitū eſt. Illud enim ſanctis cherubim ſolum cōuenit: quæ prima participatione profuſionem ſcientiæ habent. hoc vero: inferioribus cœlorum ſpiritibus etiā omnibus competit.
Et qui idem quod de ſcientiæ participatione dictū eſt/ in omnibus etiā diuinorum ſpirituū proprietatibus aſſeruerit: nequāq̄ a veritate aberrabit. Nam queādmodum primi ſupremiqꝫ cœleſtes ſpiritus/inferiorū proprietates abunde & affluenter habent: ita & poſtremi obtinēt ſuperiorū virtutes/licet nō cōſimili modo neqꝫ in tanta plenitudine:
ſed inferiore modo & gradu. Non igitur præter rationem ſacra ſcriptura hominem vocat angelum: qui docendo alios dei legem/in angelica proprietate nunciādiqꝫ miniſterio cōuenit. & quātum ei cōceditur/ad angelorū aſſimilationem per annunciādi munus
Mala.3. officiūqꝫ tendit: id faciēs homo ad homines/qđ angeli ex ſuo officio ad homines faciūt.
Ibidem Et hinc diuinus CHRISTI præco Ioannes: a propheta angelus dictus eſt/miſſus ante faciē eius. quinimmo ab eodē propheta/& CHRISTVS ipſe/ angelus teſtamēti dictus eſt: ꝗ noui teſtamēti gratiā nobis ex beneplacito patris annūciauit. Inueniet itidem ſacrarū litterarū ſolicitus indagator/ipſos cœleſtes ſpiritus: deos appellari. ſimiliter & homines deo dignos & familiares illi: deorū nomine honoratos. Et plane cū ſecretiſſima prorſuſqꝫ incognita diuinæ naturæ ſubſtantia/ celſitudine ſummæ maieſtatis ſuper ōnia ſit collocata/ nichilqꝫ inueniatur in rebus conditis illi per omnia conſimile: ſi tamē quęuis rationalis ſubſtantia ſiue humana ſiue angelica/ totis viribus annititur vt deo coniuncta vnum cum eo fiat/ & ad diuinæ lucis hauriendam claritatem quantum ei conceditur aſpirat: dei nūcupatione digna habetur/ & deus nominatur: ꝙ deum pro ſuo modo imitari ſtudeat. Valentiore igitur ratione & homo recte nominatur angelus: qui nūciando dei voluntatem/ angelicum exequitur officium. ꝙ longe minus homo ab angelica natura q̈ diuina/ diſpeſcatur & diſtet.

❡Cur a ſeraphim/ purgatus fuiſſe dicatur propheta Eſaias. Cap. XIII.

52 k AGe illud quoqꝫ pro viribus inſpiciamus: cuius rei gratia ad vnum ex theologis/ ſeraphim mitti memoretur. Merito enī inde ſcrupulus naſcitur: ꝙ non ex inferioribus angelis quiſpiā/ ſed ipſe qui inter primas/ excellentioreſqꝫ ſubſtantias numeratur/ prophetam expurgat. ❡Sunt qui dicant iuxta id quod ſupra diffiniuimus de ſpirituum omnium ſocietate/ & ſuarum inter ſe proprietatum cōmunione: non vnum ex altiſſimis illis/ primiſqꝫ ſpiritibus ad purgationem theologi adueniſſe a ſcriptura memorari. ſed aliquem ex ijs (qui nobis præfecti ſunt) angelis/ purgandi prophetæ officio functum: ſeraphim appellatū eſſe cognomine/ ob incendendi miniſteriū. quo & peccata deleta ſunt: & is qui purgatus fuerat/ ad diuinæ obedientiæ reparatus ardorem. Aiuntqꝫ ſcripturas vnum ex ſeraphim/ ſimpliciter dixiſſe: non ex ijs qui prope deum aſtant excelſi ordinis dignitate/ ſed ex ijs virtutibus quæ purgandis hominibus præſunt. L ❡Alius item huiuſce queſtiōis nō improbabilem michi rationem ita aſſignauit. Aiebat enim magnum illum (quicunqꝫ tandem is fuerit) angelum/ qui viſionem adeo inſignem effinxerat/ vt prophetam diuinis rebus inſtrueret: purgādi munus quod ſui erat officij/ in deum: & poſt deū ad primū illum ac primo conditum/ retuliſſe ordinē. Et vera fortaſſis/ ea ratio fuerit. Dicebat enim huius author ſcientiæ/ ꝙ diuina virtus ſuper omnia pergens graditur: & per omnia ineffabili penetrat modo/ omnibuſqꝫ item inuiſibilis eſt. non ſolum ꝙ excellentior ſuper omnia ſit: verū & ꝙ occulto ac ſecretiſſimo ordine/ ſuæ prouidentiæ vires ac munera cunctis immittat. Nempe enim & ſpiritualibus omnibus/ pro ſuo quibuſqꝫ captu/ apparet: antiquiſſimis illis primoribuſqꝫ ſubſtantijs lucis ſuę radios tradens/ ac per illas vt eminētiores ac primas: inferioribus quoqꝫ pro modo cuiuſqꝫ ordinis/ & contēplandi viribus/ eiuſdem lucis diſtribuit iubar. Siue vt apertius loquar/ exempliſqꝫ vtar ex noſtro vſu petitis/ etſi longe inferioribus deo: qui ſuperne ōnibus eminet/ apertioribus tamen: ſolaris diſtributio radij in eam primo materiā tota facilitate concedit/ quæ omnibus lympidior & clarior ſit: ac per illam aptius & euidentius fulgores ſuos iaculatur. Vbi vero craſſiores materias offendit/ minus valet ad ſplendoris ſui vires diffundēdas: ꝙ hæ materiæ in quas lucis ſpicula incidunt/ ad exuberantis lucis traducendos radios idoneæ nō ſint. atqꝫ ideo ſenſim ad hoc vſqꝫ contrahitur: vt diſtribui ferme omnino nō poſſit. Rurſus ignis calor in ea quę ad percipiendū aptiora ſunt/ ſeſe diffundit magis: & quæ illi facilius cedunt/ & in eius traducuntur effigiem. Porro in reluctantes penitus/ contrariaſqꝫ ſubſtātias: aut nullū aut prorſus exi-

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

guum ignei vigoris & muneris veſtigiū apparet infectum. Et quod his ma ius eſt: ijs quæ ſui generis non ſunt / per ea quę ſibi familiaria ſunt (ſi aſſint)
vim ſui feruoris immittit. ea igniens: quæ in ignis facile vertūtur effigiem. ac per illam / ſiue aquam ſiue aliud quippiam eorum quæ difficile igneſcunt:
pro cuiuſqꝫ calefaciens modo. Iuxta hunc igitur naturalis conſequentiæ or dinem: ſummus ille totius venuſtatis viſibilis atqꝫ inuiſibilis / ordo: ineffabili imprimis modo / lucis ſuæ exuberantē claritatē altiſſimis illis / primiſqꝫ ſubſtantijs largiſſimo inſinuat lapſu. ac per illas ipſas: inferiores quoqꝫ ſub-ſtantię / diuini radij participes fiūt. Nempe enim hæ cum primo loco dei co gnitione beatæ ſint / diuinæqꝫ virtutis deſiderio ſumme ardeant: id quoqꝫ meruerunt / vt primæ (quantum fas eſt) ad imitationem diuinæ virtutis & actionis aſſurgerent / ſequenteſqꝫ ſubſtantias ipſæ ad eandem imitationem pro viribus / ſummi boni exemplo ſubueherent. affatim illis eius (quam accepere) lucis participationem / abſqꝫ inuidia vlla tradentes: atqꝫ illæ itidem inferioribus. Et hunc in modum ſingulæ faciunt: dum quæ prima eſt / ſequē ti ſecundo loco / indultæ ſibi diuinæ lucis conſortium tradit. atqꝫ ita in om-nes diuinus ille fulgor emanat. Omnibus igitur qui illuminantur / percipiēdæ lucis initium eſt deus quidē per naturā: & omnino proprie / vtpote ſubſtantia / lucis ipſiuſqꝫ eſſentiæ & viſionis author. Cæterum poſitione & illuminatione dei per partes: ſuperior quæqꝫ inferiori principium luminis eſt / dum per ipſam: in illam diuinum iubar deriuatur / atqꝫ diffunditur. Itaqꝫ ſummā illā cœleſtium diſtinctionem animorū: reliquorū angelorum om-niū ſubſtantiæ / totius ſacroſanctæ ſcientiæ / diuinæqꝫ imitationis authorem (vt ratio docuit) arbitrantur. vtpote per illam: in omnes / atqꝫ in nos / diuinæ claritatis manante ſplendore. Quocirca omnem quoqꝫ ſacratiorem / & ad dei imitationem tendentem actionē: ad deum quidem (vt cauſam principa
lem) referūt. deinde vero diuinis quoqꝫ illis / ſummiſqꝫ ſpiritibus (vt qui pri-M mi: diuina operentur & doceant) acceptā nichilominus referunt. Habet igi tur prima diſtinctio ſanctorū angelorū: plus cæteris igneam proprietatē /
effuſamqꝫ diuinæ ſapientiæ traditionē / ac ſcientiā diuinarū illuſtrationum
N diiudicandarū ſummā: thronorūqꝫ proprietatem / apertam ac patulam dei ſuſceptionē indicantē. Porro inferiorū ſpirituū ordines: igneæ / ſapientis / ſci-entis / deiqꝫ capacis virtutis participes ſunt quidē: ſed minore modo. atqꝫ ad primos illos intuentes altiſſimos ſpiritus: per illos (vt qui dei imitatione pri mi dignati ſint) ad conſequendā diuinæ ſpeciei ſimilitudinē ſcandunt. San ctas igitur (quas diximus) proprietates / quarum per primas cæteræ quoqꝫ ſubſtantiæ participes ſunt: his illis poſt deū (vt primoribus ac principibus ſacris) aſſignant. Dicebat ergo qui iſta me docuit: viſionem quidem illam / per vnum ex præſulibus noſtris ſanctis ac beatiſſimis angelis oſtenſam eſſe
O theologo. atqꝫ ab ipſius illuminante ductu / ad ſacrā illā ſpeculationem fuiſ ſe ſubuectum: in qua ſummas illas / altiſſimaſqꝫ ſubſtantias veluti per ſigna (vt ita dixerim) ſub deo & poſt deū atqꝫ circa deū collocatas vidit. ſummitatēqꝫ illam ante omne principiū / omnibus atqꝫ illis ipſis ineffabiliter eminentem: in medio excellentium virtutū excelſe reſidentem. Admonebatur ergo theologus ex ijs quæ cernebat: vt ſecundū omnē superſubſtantialem eminentiam cunctis viſibilibus inuiſibilibuſqꝫ virtutibus/ abſqꝫ vlla cōparatione deus excelſior ſit. ac præterea/ ꝙ ita exceptus ab ōnibus: vt ne ipſis quidē primis cœleſtibus/ immortalibuſqꝫ ſubſtantijs ſimilis per omnia putari poſſit. Ad hæc/ principiū quoqꝫ illū eſſe omniū/ & ſubſiſtendi cauſam:

atqꝫ inſolubilis cœlitū manſionis immutabilē ſedē. ex qua vt eſſent & bene eſſent: excellentiores quoqꝫ illæ virtutes acceperūt. Deinde ipſorum quoqꝫ ſeraphim diuinas profecto virtutes ex ea viſione ſacratiſſima/ propheta diſcebat:
incendium ſacro illorum ſignificante cognomine/ de quo paulo poſt
dicturi ſumus (quātum nobis explicare fas fuerit) igneæ virtutis altiſſimas 53 intelligentias: vtqꝫ incentiua illa vis/ ad diuinā ſpeciē ferat. ¶ Porro illa ſex alarū ſacratiſſima fictio: abſolutiſſimam/ ſummāqꝫ in deū intentionē in primis ac medijs & vltimis intelligentijs ſignat. At quando multos quoqꝫ illorū pedes & cōplures facies cernens theologus inclytus/ vtqꝫ alis & pedū & vultuū arceretur aſpectus/ alęqꝫ mediæ perpetuo ferrentur motu: ad intelligibilē eorū quæ cernebat ſcientiā ducebatur. Aperiebatur nēpe illi per hæc/ altiſſimorū ſpirituū vis multa peragrans/ multaqꝫ proſpiciens: ſacraqꝫ P illorū & plena horroris veneratio/ ac religio. qua vltra humanū modū: celſiorum/profundiorūqꝫ myſteriorū inſolentem & temerariam neqꝫ omnino promouentem indaginem exhorreſcunt. præterea & indefeſſus ille/ atqꝫ Q alta petens ſempiternus motus: quo præditi/ pro modo ſuo diuinas quoqꝫ actiones imitantur. Ad hæc & diuinā illam ac precioſiſſimam laudationē R in ſecreto ille diſcebat: quippe angelo (qui formabat viſionem) pro viribus prophetam ſacratioris ſcientiæ ſuę participē faciente. Docebat igitur ipſū & hoc/ vt ijs qui quomodolibet mundi ſunt: mundiciæ/ purgationiſqꝫ ſuæ S cauſa eſt/ diuini fulgoris diuinæqꝫ mūdiciæ pro captu cuiuſqꝫ participatio.
Cæterū purgatio huiuſmodi/ a diuinitate ipſa præcipuis cauſis in ōnes angelicos ſpiritus ſummo & ſecretiſſimo perficitur modo: atqꝫ altiſſimis illis virtutibus (quę propinquiores ipſi ſunt) euidentior ferme eſt/ magiſqꝫ ſe inſinuat/atqꝫ diſtribuit. Porro in ijs quæ ſecundo loco ſunt ſiue in extremis medijſue ſubſtantijs intellectualibus/ quantū ſingulæ ab ea meritis diſtant:
pro modo diſtantiæ/ claram intelligentiæ ſuæ lucem ad ſecreti ſui ſingularis/atqꝫ ignoti laudē colligit. Datur autē ea lux ſingulatim: priorū officio/ſecundis atqꝫ ſequentibus. & ſi ſummatim dicere neceſſe eſt: primo loco/ ex occulto illo ſacratiſſimo per primas virtutes in apertū educitur. Hoc itaqꝫ theologus ab angelo ſe inſtituente diſcebat: purgationē ſcilicet & cæteras diuinas actiones/ per primas celſioreſqꝫ ſubſtantias vim ſuæ claritatis aperire/atqꝫ in omnes reliquas diuidi/ quantū quæqꝫ deificæ illius participationis eſt capax. Atqꝫ ideo purgationis illam proprietatē/ quæ incendio fit:
altiſſimis ſeraphim poſt deū rectiſſime ōnino aſſignauit. Nichil igitur abſurdum eſt: ſi ſeraphim purgare theologū dicitur. Sicut enim deus purgat omnes: ꝙ ſit ipſe purgatiōis author. immo (vt ſimiliore vtamur exemplo) quemadmodum apud nos pontifex homo/ cum miniſtrorū ſuorum ſiue ſacerdotū T officio purget/ aut gratia doctrinæ ſalutaris illuminet: ipſe purga-

re & illuminare dicitur/cum ij qui ab eo conſecrati ſunt ordines: ad ipſum vt authorem/ſacra functionis ſuæ munera referant. ita & purgantē ſcientiā ſuam atq; virtutem/is qui purgationē prophetæ peragit angelus: ad deum quidem vt authorem/ad ſeraphim vero quaſi primo poſt deum operantē pontificem refert. eum qui a ſe purgabatur: angelica cum reuerentia (vt ita V dixerim) ita docens. Eius (quæ in te meo miniſterio perficitur) purgatiōis:
principiū quidem præcipuum/& ſubſtantia/& conditor/& author ille eſt:
qui primas quoq; ſubſtantias ad eſſe produxit/& perpetua circa ſe continet ſede/& ne mutari queant atq; decidere: ſola clementia ſeruat. ipſeq; eas ad prima prouidentiſſimarū actionum ſuarum conſortia promouet (hoc X enim is a quo didici: miſſionē ſeraphim ſignare ait) at vero princeps illa & poſt deum dux/primarū antiquiſſimarū ſubſtantiarum ſacra diſtinctio (ex qua purgare ipſe ad dei ſimilitudinem didici) illa eſt quæ te meo miniſterio purgat: per quam author ille totius purgationis atq; opifex/prouidentiæ Z ſuæ opera ex abdito illo ſecretiſſimo ad nos quoq; deduxit. Iſta quidem ille me docuit: quæ tibi ego itidem trado. Tuæ iam erit ſpiritualis/diſcretæq;
ſcientiæ/aut altera ex his cauſis omni ambiguitatis abſolui ſcrupulo/eamq;
alteri in honore præferre: vt quæ conſentanea ratione ac fortaſſis veritate ſubnixa ſit. aut abs te ipſo aliquid inuenire/ſiue ab alio diſcere: quod ſit integerrimæ veritati propinquius/deo ſcilicet verbum tribuente/ac ſubminiſtrantibus angelis. idq; ipſum nobis quoq; angelorum ſtudioſis reuelare:
vt liquidiore intelligentia/michiq; gratiore (ſi fieri poteſt) & ipſe tecū fruar.

k ¶SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ¶Cuius rei gratia ad vnū ex theologis: ſeraphim mitti memoretur. de Eſaia propheta id dictū eſt. Eſaias cap. ſexto. Et dixi. ve michi quia tacui/quia vir pollutus labijs ego ſum: & in medio populi polluta labia habentis ego habito/& regem dominū exercituū vidi oculis meis. Et volauit ad me vnus de ſeraphim/
& in manu eius calculus quē tulerat de altari: & tetigit os meū/& dixit. Ecce tetigi hæc
L labia tua: & auferetur iniquitas tua/& peccatum tuum mundabitur. ¶Alius item huiuſce queſtionis non improbabilem michi rationē ita aſſignauit. Nota ſanctam & eleuatā:
ſacri patris Dionyſij & vnius ſuorū æqualium/theologicarū rerū conferentiā: & q̃ ſublimis
M eo tempore erat theologica intelligentia. ¶Habet igitur prima diſtinctio ſanctorū angelorū. Hic cōmuni angeli appellatione vtitur: ad omnes cœleſtes & beatificos ſpiritus.
N vt cap. quinto monſtrauit interdū eſſe vtendum. ¶Thronorūq; proprietatem: apertā
ac patulam dei ſuſceptionem indicantē. Hoc eſt/proprietatem inſinuantem ſeſſionis O ac requietionis dei capacem locū/atq; ſedem. ¶Oſtenſam eſſe theologo. de Eſaia intelligitur:
in hoc cap. ſexti oraculo/quod ſæpenumero ſuperius adductum eſt. Vidi dominū ſedentem ſuper ſolium excelſum & eleuatum: & plena erat domus a maieſtate eius.
ſeraphim ſtabant ſuper illud: ſex alæ vni/& ſex alæ alteri. duabus velabant faciem
P eius/& duabus velabant pedes eius: & duabus volabant. ¶Multa peragrans/multaq;
proſpiciens: ſacraq; illorum et plena horroris veneratio ac religio/qua vltra humanum modum celſiorum/profundiorumq; myſteriorum inſolentem & temerariam neq;
omnino promouentem indaginem exhorreſcunt. Multa peragrans: ex ſempiterno illo motu alarū cognoſcitur. Multa proſpiciens: ex multiplici illo vultu in eo numero quo deus condidit & ſæcula. Veneratio atq; religio plena reuerendi timoris/& ab indagine audaciore/temeraria aut impoſſibili altiorum & profundiorum ſecretorum dei/ſupramundana exhorrentia/& cauta retractio: per alas faciem velantes & pedes (quæ ſunt altorum & profundorum ſymbola) deſignantur. Igitur contemplari licet ſanctiſſimorū ſeraphim ſempiternum in deum motū/perſpicientiæ plenitudinē/venerationē & dei cultum:
reuerentiæ & auguſti timoris pleniſſimū. deniq; abſtruſorum dei in latibulo ſuarū tenebrarum ſe recipientis: omni cum reuerentia inquiſitionis perfectam abſtinentiam.

¶Pręterea & indefeſſus ille/atq; alta petens ſempiternus motus. Subauditur ex ſuperio Q
re particula: aperiebatur. ¶Ad hæc & diuinam illam ac precioſiſſimã laudationẽ. quam R audiebat a ſeraphim altero ad alterum clamantibus: ſanctus/ſanctus/ſanctus/ dominus deus ſabaoth. plena eſt terra: gloria maieſtatis eius. ¶Vt is qui quomodolibet. vt: qua- S liter/quo pacto. ¶Cum miniſtrorũ ſuorũ ſiue ſacerdotum officio purget. Officio/ ſubmi T niſtratione & medio. ¶Eius quæ in te meo miniſterio perficitur purgationis. Hic fingũ- V tur verba angeli ad purgatum loquentis: ad hanc particulã vſq;/hoc enim is a quo didici. quæ ſunt verba ſacri patris Dionyſij ad Timotheũ: ꝙ ea ex ſeipſo non dicit/ ſed ex eo a quo hanc intelligentiã ac declarationem acceperat. ¶At vero princeps illa & poſt X deum dux. Hic iterum finguntur verba angeli ad purgatum: ad hanc vſq; particulã/iſta quidem ille me docuit. ¶Iſta quidem ille me docuit. Verba ſunt Dionyſij ad Timothe- Z um. Iſta quidem expoſitionis myſteriorum ſeraphim ſacramenta: ille æqualis meus me Dionyſium edocuit/quæ tibi Timotheo identidem communico.

¶DECIMITERTII CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

52 ALiam hoc loco diſcutit queſtionem ſacer Dionyſius: quare ad Eſaiam prophetam purgandũ a peccato/ vnus ex ſeraphim mitti perhibetur.
Non ab re enim exinde difficultas emergit: ꝙ ex poſtremis ordinibus cœleſtes ſpiritus ad homines humanaq; diſponenda officia mitti dicun
tur. Qui autem ad prophetam miſſus refertur: non ex inferioribus angelis ſed de ſupremo ordine (vt nomen ipſum indicat) fuiſſe perhibetur/de quo tamen ordine cœleſtes ſubſtantiæ mitti ad externa non di-cuntur: ſed iugiter diuino aſpectui aſtare. ¶Adhibet primo loco aliquorũ reſponſionẽ/conſentaneam ijs quæ ſuperius dicta ſunt de omniũ ſpirituum cœleſtium quantũ ad ſu arum proprietatũ inter ſe cõmunionem ſocietate (qua ſuperiores/inferiorũ proprietates excellenter: inferiores vero/ ſuperiorum humiliter & ſubexcellenter habere dicti ſunt) ꝙ nõ dicitur a ſcriptura vnus ex ſupremis & ſummi ordinis ſpiritibus: adueniſſe ad pro-phetæ expurgationem. ſed eũ qui miſſus ſcribitur/ fuiſſe vnũ ex poſtremis/ & angelis illis: qui nobis cuſtodiendis & gubernandis ſunt præpoſiti. Ipſum autẽ/ſeraphim eſſe appellatum: ob purgandi prophetæ officiũ quo fungebatur/miniſterio incẽdendi comple-
tum. quo & peccata prophetę deleta ſunt: & ipſe purgatus ad diuini amoris & promptę obedientię reuocatus eſt ardorẽ. Itaq; dicunt iſti: per vnũ ex ſeraphim/ſcripturam intel lexiſſe nõ vnum ex illis cœleſtibus ſpiritibus qui deo ſunt proximi: ſed ex his poſtremis vnum/qui purgandorum hominũ gerũt officium. Et nomen illud ſeraphim/non ibi determinati ordinis nomen eſſe: ſed officij. ꝙ ſoleant plerumq; cœleſtes ſpiritus id nomẽ ſortiri: cuius exequuntur officium. ¶Secundo vero loco affert beatus pater & alteram reſponſionem: ab vno ſuorum æqualiũ & in ſanctæ ſcripturæ ſtudio ſociorũ ſibi aſſigna
tam. qui dixit excellentẽ illum angelum qui viſionem adeo diuinam efformauerat (qua vidit Eſaias dominum ſedentem ſuper ſoliũ excelſum & eleuatum: et cætera quæ conſe Eſa. 6 quenter idem cõmemorat) vt ipſum prophetam diuinis myſterijs ſublimiter inſtrueret:
illud purgandi munus quod ad ſuum attinebat officium/ retuliſſe primo in deum vt pri mum illius muneris indultorẽ/& deinde in primũ illum ſupremumq; diuinorum ſpiritu um ordinem: a quo poſt deũ acceperat benigna deriuatione & communicatione/huiuſmodi miniſterium. Et vera (inquit) merito videri poſſit hæc ratio. Dicebat enim qui hãc ſecundã aſſignauit reſponſionẽ: ꝙ diuina virtus immenſitate ſua omnia ſupergreditur/omnia ambit/& per omnia ineloquibili modo diffunditur/expanditur & extenditur: om nibus etiam inacceſſa & inuiſibilis eſt. non ſolum quidẽ quia excellentiore ſit dignitate & gradu ſuper omnia: ſed etiam quia occultiſſimo & nobis incognito quodã ordine/ꝓui dentiæ ſuę munera omnibus diſpartiatur & infundat. Nẽpe ſpiritibus cœleſtibus omnibus (cuiq; pro ſuo captu) ipſa diuina virtus apparet: ſupremis illis ſubſtantijs angelicis primos ſuæ lucis radios indulgẽs. & per illas vt primas & ſibi proximas/inferioribus di-uinis ſubſtantijs ſecundum cuiuſq; ordinẽ & contemplandi vires: eiuſdem ſuæ lucis diſpartitur radios. ¶Deinde idem duplici manuductione/radij ſcilicet ſolaris & ignei ca-loris: accõmodatiſſime declarat. Vt apertius (ait) fiat quod modo propoſitum eſt: exem-pla illius ſumantur ex rebus iſtis corporalibus/nobis domeſticis. quæ licet longe deo in-feriora ſint/omnibus ſublimiter eminente: apertiora tamen nobis & clariora videbũtur.
Itaq; primũ exemplum eſt de diſtributiõe ſolaris radij/qui in eam primo corporalẽ ſub-

Early European Books, Copyright © 2012 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of The Wellcome Trust, London.
1773/D

Cap. 13

ſtantiam facillime ſpargitur: quæ omnibus lympidior & clarior eſt/ quēadmodū(exempli gratia)eſt cœlum: per quod plane ſol/lucidius & fulgentius ſuos iacit radios. Vbi vero ſolis radius craſſiores/ denſioreſq; inuenit corporales ſubſtantias/ vt aerē caliginoſū aut aquā: minus potens eſt ad ſplendorē ſuum libere diffundendum. ꝙ huiuſmodi craſſiores ſubſtantiæ in quas vibrantur radij: minus idoneæ ſunt & aptæ ad illos copioſę lucis radios tranſmittendos in ſequentia corpora/ob nimiā materiæ denſitatem & feculētiam. Et ita ſenſim ad id peruenitur/ vt lucis radius amplius fere nō poſſit diſtribui: ob corpulentiorem eius cui incidit craſſitiem. vt cū ad terram vſq; pertigit: quā penetrare nequaꝗ poteſt. Secundū exemplū eſt. Calor ignis in ea quæ ad ipſum recipiendū ſunt aptiora/facilius diffunditur: vt ſtuppam/ſtramenta/ligna arida/ & cætera id genus quæ leuius igni cedunt & in ipſius formā facile traducūtur. In reluctantes autē igni contrariaſq; ſubſtantias/vt ligna viridia aut humectata/ aut nullū aut exiguū caloris ignei veſtigiū percipitur tranſmiſſum: quia non ſint idoneæ neq; diſpoſitæ ad illud recipiendū. Quinimo(quod amplius eſt)ignis ipſe illis ſubſtātijs quæ ſui generis atq; naturę nō ſūt: per ea quæ ſibi cognata ſunt atq; affinia/vim ſui caloris infundit. vt per ligna ignita & flāmam: calefacit aquā ſibi omnino aduerſam. ea ignificans quæ in ignis ſpeciem facile vertunt: vt ligna ſicca & tenuia. & per huiuſmodi ſpeciem igneā atq; effigiem calefaciens pro cuiuſq; diſpoſitione & conditione: aut aquam/aut quippiam eorum quæ difficile igneſcunt. quale eſt ferrū. Itaq; iuxta hūc naturæ ordinem: deus ipſe qui ſummus eſt ordo totius pulchritudinis/& viſibilis in corporalibus & inuiſibilis in ſpiritualibus: modo quidem nobis inexplicabili/ſummis illis cœleſtibus ſpiritibus lucis ſuæ claritatē prima largitione & copioſiſſima infundit. & per illos ſupremos tanꝗ intermedios: īferiores quoq; ſpiritus diuini radij participationem ſuſcipiunt. Cum enim hę altiſſimę ſupremęq; ſubſtantię prima participatione dei cognitionem obtineant/& ipſius caſtiſſimo deſiderio ſummopere flagrēt: id quoq; gratuita dei bonitate ſunt aſſecutę/ vt primę etiam poſt deū ad diuinę virtutis & operationis imitationē proueherentur/& ſequentes angelicas ſubſtantias ad eādem dei imitationem(quantū illis conceditur)attollerent. & in hoc ſūmi boni ſectarentur exemplū/omnia ad ſe attrahentis: dum abunde lucis ſupernę participationē quam primo loco acceperunt/alijs poſterioribus ſine inuidia cōmunicant. & illę ſequentes ſubſtantię: ſuſceptā ſuperne illuſtrationem deinceps inferioribus angelis impartiuntur. Et hunc in modū ordinatiſſima ſerie ſingulę cœleſtes ſubſtantiæ faciunt: dum ea quę prima ſupremaq; eſt/ſequenti ſecundo gradu atq; ordine/ traditę ſibi diuinę lucis communionē effundit: atq; ita in omnes angelicas ſubſtantias/ inconfuſo quodā ordine diuinus radius effulget. Itaq; deus ipſe per naturam & ſua ſubſtantia/percipiēdę lucis diuinę eſt principiū: ōnibus & angelis & hominibus qui illuminantur. eiuſdēq; lucis & illuſtrationis intimę primus author eſt & cauſa/omnino proprie & per ſe: nā ſubſtantia & ſuapte natura. nō autē gratia aut participatione: quēadmodū omnia quę ſub deo ſunt. Verū quemadmodū deus in ſupremas angelicas ſubſtātias copioſius atq; valentius fundit ſuę lucis cōſortium/vt quaſi in viciniores poſitione: ita & quæq; ſuperior ſibi viciniori(vt cui ſit poſitione ꝓxima)ad diuinæ imitationis ſimilitudinē/fortius atq; validius ſupernæ lucis participandæ cōmunicat munus. Et ſecundū huiuſmodi intellectualē ſitum/diuiniq; radij in plura diſtributionē tanꝗ in partes/ vnaquæq; ſuperior angelica ſubſtantia inferiori luminis percipiendi eſt principium: quia per ſuperiorē/ in inferiorem diuinum lumen emanat. Sancti igitur patres recte arbitrantur ſupremā cœleſtium ſpirituū diſtinctionē/authorem eſſe & cauſam cognitionis rerū diuinarū & dignę dei imitationis: omniū reliquorū angelorum ſubſtantiæ atq; ordinibus. quoniam per illam primā diſtinctionem: in omnes ſequentes & nos homines/diuinæ claritatis ſplendor traducitur & propagatur. Et hanc ob rem inferiores ſpiritus cœleſtes omnē ſacram actionē & ad dei imitationē promouētē/referunt primum ad deum vt cauſam pręcipuā & primitiuā. Deinde vero eandē actionē etiā referunt acceptam ipſis ſupremis cœleſtibus ſpiritibus: eo ꝙ primi diuina myſteria poſt deū cognoſcant & edoceant. Habet igitur prima illa angelicorū ſpirituū diſtinctio abundantius ꝗ cæteræ diſtinctiones/ igneā incenſionē: ob ſupremum eius ordinem. diuinę ſapientiæ plenitudinem ac effuſionē: ob ſecundū eiuſdē ordinē. & ſpiritualiū ſediū proprietatē/ indicantē(vt ante dictū eſt)apertam dei in ſe ſuſceptionem: propter poſtremū illius ordinem. Inferiores vero cœleſtiū ſpirituum ordines etiam participes ſunt ſupradictorum trium: igneæ inquam virtutis/

ſapientiæ diuinæ/ & capacitatis ipſius dei: ſed minore atq; inferiore modo. Nempe inferiores ipſi ſpiritus erigētes mentis aciē in illos ſummos atq; ſupremos/ & toti in ipſos intenti: eorum ſubuectu/ductu & adminiculo ad aſſequendam diuinæ imaginis ſimilitudinem conſcendunt: ꝙ ipſi ſupremi primo loco dei imitatione digni ſint habiti. Et ideo ſanctas illas (quæ dictæ ſunt) proprietates/ quas inferiores ſuperni ſpiritus per primos recipiunt: ipſi inferiores ſupremis illis poſt deū/ tanq̄ ducibus & magiſtris ſuis aſſignant ac attribuunt. quēadmodum CHRISTVS in euangelio opera ſignorum deitatē ſuam atteſtantium/ad patrem refert/item & doctrinam: cum ait. Pater in me manens: ipſe facit opera. & mea doctrina non eſt mea: ſed eius qui miſit me patris. Itaq; qui hanc ſecūdam reſponſionem ſacratiſſimo Dionyſio aſſignauit: dixit viſionem illam eximiam (qua vidit Eſaias dominū ſedentē ſuper ſolium excelſum & eleuatū: ac reliqua/ quæ ſexto eiꝰ capite deſcribūtur) per vnum ab extremi ordinis ſpiritibus/ qui noſtri ſunt præſides/ duces & cuſtodes: prophetæ oſtenſam eſſe. atq; eundem prophetam illius angeli illuminatione/ad ſacram illam viſionem eſſe perductum: in qua vidit illas ſupremi ordinis angelicas ſubſtantias tanq̄ per ſigna quædam aut corporalia aut potius intellectualia/ proxime ſub deo & circa deū eſſe collocatas. Vidit item in eadem viſione ſummitatem illā diuinæ maieſtatis/ipſis ſupremis angelis immo & omnibus rebus conditis ſublimiter eminentem: in medio illarum ſupremarū atq; primarum virtutum cœleſtiū reſidentem. Quod ſane illi ſignificatum eſt per id: ꝙ vidit dominum ſedentem ſuper ſolium excelſū & eleuatū. Docebatur ergo propheta per ea quæ videbat: ꝙ ꝓpter ſupſubſtantialē ſuam eminentiā deus omnibus rebus cum viſibilibus tum inuiſibilibus improportionaliter eſt præcelſior/ & ita exceptus ab omnibus ob eximiam ſublimitatē: vt nec ipſis quidem primis ac ſummis angelicis ſubſtantijs omnino ſimilis putari poſſit/ ꝙ ſine comparatione illis eſt excellentior. Inſuper ex huiuſmodi viſione docebatur propheta: deum ipſum/ principium eſſe ac cauſam omnium/ atq; impermutabilem ſtabilitatē indiſſolubilis in bono permanentiæ: qua cœleſtes ſpiritus in deo conſtantiſſime fixi ſunt. ex qua ſane omnium cauſa/ ipſæ ſupremæ cœleſtes ſubſtantiæ: & vt eſſent & vt bene eſſent/ habuerūt. Et id ipſi Eſaię ſignificatum eſt per hoc: ꝙ vidit domū totā plenam gloria maieſtatis domini. Rurſum ex eadem viſione propheta diſcebat ipſorum ſanctorū ſeraphim diuinas virtutes & proprietates: cum dixit ꝙ ſeraphim ſtabant ſuper illud. Nā ipſorū ſeraphim appellatio: ſacrū ſignificat (vt ante dictū eſt) incendiū. & paulo poſt dicētur igneę virtutis ſublimes ſignificationes: & quomodo illa incendendi virtus ad dei ducat imaginem.

53 ¶Cęterū efformatio illa ſex alarū ipſis ſeraphim circūpoſitarum/ cū ait propheta ꝙ erant ſex alæ vni ex ſeraphim/ & ſex alæ alteri: ſignificat perfectiſſimā ac intentiſſimā in deum conuerſionē in primis/ medijs/ & vltimis hierarchijs/ & ſacris cœleſtiū ſpirituū diſtinctionibus. At per hoc ꝙ multos illorū ſeraphim pedes/ & multas facies vidit propheta: & ꝙ alis extremis/ facierū & pedū velabatur aſpectus/ mediæ vero alæ perpete volatu ſurſum tendebant: manuducebatur ad ſpiritualem & occultā intelligentiā eorū quæ per ſigna cernebat. Nempe per multos ſummorū ſpirituū pedes: deſignabatur ipſorum virtus multa peragrans atq; percurrens. Et per multas illorū facies: ſignificabatur eorundē virtus complura perſpiciens. Per velationem vero capitis & pedum/ extremis alis factam: monſtrabatur ſacra illa reuerentia & cum reformidatione diuinæ celſitudinis ob ſuam paruitatem veneratio: qua altiſſimi ipſi ſpiritus refugiūt cū ſūma modeſtia & ſupra humanā conſuetudinem/ arrogantem & temerariā/ neq; ſubuehētē ad deū ſed potius deprimentem indagationem profundiorū & altiorum myſteriorum/ q̄ ad eos attineat cognoſcere: a quibus cū ſobrietate & humilitate prorſus abſtinent. Deniq; per medias illas alas quibus volare deſcribuntur ſancta ſeraphim/ inſinuabatur ſempiternꝰ ille & ſemper ad alta indefatigabili niſu tendens motus: quo prędita/ diuinas operationes quantum ipſis conceditur imitantur. Inſuper & diuinam illam laudationem atq; ſacratiſſimam propheta diſcebat/ qua in triū ſupernarum beatitudinum atq; perſonarum diſcretione monſtratur vna deitas & vnus eius dominatus: cū audiuit ſancta ſeraphim clamare vnū ad alterū: ſanctus/ ſanctus/ ſanctus/ dominus deus ſabaoth. Nempe angelus qui formabat in mente Eſaiæ huiuſmodi viſionē: tradidit ipſi prophetæ/ ſuæ ſacratiſſimæ cognitionis participationem. Docebat vtiq; angelus ille prophetā: ꝙ participatio diuinæ mundiciæ/ cauſa eſt purgationis & puritatis oībus ijs qui mundi ſunt. & diuini fulgoris in ſe ſuſceptio: itidē cauſa eſt illuminationis & lucis ſpiritualis omnibus qui lu

Ioan. 14.
Ioan. 7

Explicatio viſionis Eſaiæ.

cidi ſunt & illuminati. Verum huiuſmodi purgatio & illuminatio/ab ipſa deitate vt principio & fonte: in omnes cœleſtes ſpiritus certo quodam ordine emanat. atqꝫ ſupremis illis ſubſtãtijs angelicis quæ deo proximæ ſunt: ea purgatio & lucis irradiatio/perſpectior eſt atqꝫ clarior/magiſqꝫ & copioſius ipſis inſinuatur atqꝫ diſtribuitur. In ijs vero ſupnis ſubſtantijs quæ ſequentes ſunt/ſiue ſecundo & medio loco/ſiue tertio & extremo: quantum ſingulæ earum a ſumma diuinitate diſtant/ipſa deitas claram cognitionis ſuæ lucẽ diffundit per primas. atq; diſtantiores illas/proximarum miniſterio: ad ſecretiſſimæ ſuæ atq; ſingularis lucis vnitatem/ſimplicitatem & excellentiam cogit & vnit. Atqꝫ vt in ſũma res ipſa dicatur/lux diuina in dei ſecreto latentiſſima & incõpræhenſibilis: primo loco atqꝫ deriuatione primaria/ ex illo diuinitatis occulto in ſupremas cœleſtes ſubſtãtias in apertũ prodit/foraſq; progreditur. deinde primarum officio/ſequentibus: & ſuperiorũ cõmunicatione/inferioribus eadem lux traditur. Illud igitur propheta ab angelo ipſum docente diſcebat/ꝙ purgatio ſcilicet & cæteræ actiones dei: per primas & ſummas angelicas ſubſtantias/vim ſuæ proprietatis manifeſtant primum. & deinde in reliquas omnes diuiduntur: quantum vnaquæqꝫ pro ſuæ naturæ modo/diuinam participationẽ nata eſt ſuſcipere. Et ideo propheta illam purgationis functionem quæ fit per incendium/ ſupremis ſeraphim poſt deum recte & ſcite aſcripſit: q̃uis per extremũ facta ſit angelũ. neq; quicq̃ abſurdum eſt: ſi vnus ex ſeraphim/purgare prophetam dicatur. Quemadmodũ enim deus purgare omnes dicitur: ꝙ ipſe ſit primus omnis purgationis author. quinimmo vt magis familiari vtamur exemplo/ſicut in humana hierarchia pontifex cũ miniſtrorum ſuorum atqꝫ ſacerdotum officio purgat ſubiectos ſibi/aut doctrina illuminat: ipſe purgare & illuminare dicitur. cum ij ordines ſacerdotales & miniſtrorum qui ab ipſo pontifice conſecrati ſunt: ad eum tanq̃ ſacrorũ antiſtitem & authorem/ſuæ functionis officia referãt. ita & angelus ipſe qui prophetę purgationem exhibet/ purgatoriam ſuã virtutẽ ad deũ quidẽ vt primum authorem: ad ſeraphim vero tanq̃ primo loco poſt deũ purgationis munus exercentem pontificem/refert. ipſum qui purgabatur prophetam/ hiſce verbis reuerenter alloquens. Illius O Eſaia purgationis quę in te meo officio nũc peragitur/principium & cauſa prima ille eſt: qui ſupremas etiam angelicas ſubſtantias de nichilo creauit/& indemutabili firmitate in bono ita continet ſuaqꝫ gratuita dignatione conſeruat: vt ne vnq̃ decidere a bono/aut in malũ decumbere poſſint. Ipſe itidem illas: ad prima actionum ſuæ prouidentiæ conſortia ſubuehit(qui enim hæc beatum Dionyſium edocuit: dixit miſſionem ſeraphim id ſignificare/ꝙ ſcilicet cœleſtes ipſius ſupremi ordinis ſpiritus/primi diuinæ prouidentiæ munera in ſequentes exequuntur)facitqꝫ eas primas ſuæ diſpenſationis & diſtributionis bonorum miniſtras. Verum illa ſummorum ſpirituum ſacratiſſima diſtinctio(ex qua ipſe/qui extremi ſum ordinis: purgare ad dei omnia primo purgantis ſimilitudinem ſum edoctus)quæ princeps eſt cæterorũ ordinum cœleſtium/& poſt deũ dux ac præſes: illa eſt quæ te nunc meo purgat miniſterio. ꝑ quam deus author & opifex totius purgationis/ſacra ſuæ prouidentiæ opera rectiſſimo ordine: ex ſecretiſſimo ſuę diuinitatis arcano ad nos vſqꝫ poſtremũ ſortitos ordinẽ/deduxit. ¶Hęc ſupradicta(inquit ſacer Dionyſius ad Timotheũ)ille æqualis meus & in ſcripturarum ſtudio ſocius me edocuit: quæ ego ſimiliter tibi communico. Tuæ autem nũc erit diſcretionis & prudentiæ: per alteram ex his duabus reſponſionibus/ ab omni ambiguitate queſtionis propoſitæ liberari. & vnam earum alteri/ ſcilicet ſecundam cauſam primæ præferre: vt quæ rationi & veritati videatur magis conſona. aut a teipſo nouam aliam cauſam inuenire/vel ab aliquo diſcere: quæ ſit veritati propinquior q̃ duæ cauſæ nunc aſſignatæ. deo quidem intelligentiam diuinorum myſteriorum ſuggerente: & angelis a deo eam pijs mentibus benigniter inſinuantibus. Deniqꝫ & tuum erit/ id ipſum quod nouum a teipſo inueneris aut ab alio didiceris/ ad propoſitæ queſtionis attinens diſcuſſionem: michi angelicarum proprietatum cognoſcẽdarum cupido communicare. vt profundiore rerum diuinarum intelligentia q̃ ego ex me penetrare queam/ michiqꝫ gratiore(ſi modo id fieri poſſit)tecum perfruar. In quibus ſane poſtremis verbis/ attendenda eſt ſingularis/ſacratiſſimi Dionyſij modeſtia: qui non dedignatur ſed expetit a ſãcto Timotheo(quem tam ſublimiter in hoc opere inſtituit) edoceri/& illius ſententiam q̃ propriam ſibi acceptiorem fore conteſtatur. Quæ quidem modeſtia: omnibus litterarũ ſtudioſis eſt ſummopere imitanda.

Eximia pij patris modeſtia et humilitas.

¶Quid ſignificet/is qui traditur: angelicus numerus. Cap. XIIII.

54 AT hoc item ſpirituali diſcuſſione & magiſterio dignũ puto: quãobrem ſcripturæ ſanctæ traditio/de angelis loquẽs/milia A miliũ eſſe dicat/& decies millies dena milia:ſupremos humanos B numeros in ſeipſos inuoluẽs atq; multiplicãs/ perq; hos:cœleſtium ſubſtãtiarum ordines nobis eſſe innumerabiles/apertis rationibus pãdens. Sunt enim profecto plurimæ cœleſtium militiæ ſpirituum: quæ mortalium noſtrorum numerorum infirmum/breuemq; modum longe tranſcendant.atq; ab ſola ſua eminentiſſima & cœleſti intelligentia atq; notione ſcitæ ſint ac diffinitæ: quam illis opulentiſſime largita eſt ſumma diuinitas/ immenſæ author ſcientiæ/ atq; ſapientiæ fons/& principium omnibus ſimul exiſtẽtibus:excellentis ratione ſubſtantiæ ipſa exiſtens & cauſa ſubſtantiæ/& continens omnia virtus/ & conſummatio cuncta complectens.

❡SCHOLIA STAPVLENSIS. ❡Quãobrẽ ſcripturæ ſãctę traditio. Daniel cap. ſeptimo. A Fluuius igneus/ rapiduſq; egrediebatur a facie eius. milia milium miniſtrabant ei:& decies centena milia aſſiſtebant ei. ❡De angelis loquens/milia milium eſſe dicat/ B & decies millies dena milia:ſupremos humanos numeros in ſeipſos inuoluẽs atq; multiplicans. Supremos humanos numeros vocat:mille/& decem milia. quos hoc pacto figurant.1000. 10000.Quos ſi in ſeipſos duxeris/ multiplicaueriſq;: ex mille in ſe ductis/ tetragonicus numerus ſurgit/milia milium: qui hoc pacto ſeptem notis figuratur.1000000.Siquidem millies mille: milia milium reddunt.Eadem profecto cenſent: millies mille/millies milia/& milia milium: ſola vocis prolatione diſſidentia. Et ex decem milibus in ſe multiplicatis: prouenit tetragonicus alter numerus/ decies millies dena milia:qui hoc pacto nouem notis deſignatur. 100000000. Vbi numeri quadrati & æquales / præ ſe omni ex parte diuinam naturam ſine vituperatione ferentes: exercitibus militiæ cœleſtis applicantur. & quorum radices & tetragonica latera (vt hic ſacratus deo loquitur antiſtes) rerum humanarum ſummæ ſunt/ ſummiq; numeri. Ex his intelligere perprõptũ eſt/cur deo plenus pater dixerit:ſupremos humanos numeros in ſe inuoluens/ atq; multiplicans. Et mirum eſt ꝙ Pythagorica his conſentiant:cum in radicibus vltra quas non procedũt/tum in diuina quadratorũ natura. Sed fas non eſt rebus tam ſanctis:eorum ſententias ammiſceri.Id tamen non negligenter prætereundũ eſt:nos nunc legere/ milia miliũ miniſtrabant ei: & decies centena milia aſſiſtebant ei.Vbi qui volet attentiuſcule aduertere/& qui arithmetices non fuerit prorſus ignarus:idem profecto reperiet milia milium/& decies centena milia. neq; varijs e terminis ſurgunt: ſed vterq;/ vnus idẽq; eſt millenariorum tetragonus. Vnde veriſimile eſt: tẽpore ſanctiſſimi patris/ litteras ſacras magnam habuiſſe & in ſe & in ſua conuerſione fidelitatem.Et hic locus abſq; arithmetices præſidio:nullo pacto inueniri poteſt/ & pleriq; alij contemplatoribus digniſſimi. Quapropter per eum vos oro qui omnium numerus & menſura eſt/ futuri contemplationis amatores: ne arithmeticen & geometriam teneriore adhuc ætatula deſpiciatis/ vt ad diuina tãdem ſternant iter/ pręſidiaq; ferant.

Nota fidelitatem litterarũ originaliũ tẽpore apoſtolorum & beatiſſ. dionyſij

❡DECIMIQVARTI CAPITIS COMMENTARIVS AD LITTERAM.

54 PErquirit hoc loco ſacer Dionyſius:quidnã deſignat angelicus ille numerus/qui in ſacris litteris a Daniele exprimitur.Id etiã(inquit) diſcuſſione & inquiſitione dignũ exiſtimo/ quare ſacra ſcriptura de cœleſtibus ſpiritibus loquens: dicit eorum numerum eſſe milia milium & decies millies dena milia. In qua ſane numeri expreſſione/ipſa diuina ſcriptura duos ſupremos humanos numeros : vtpote mille & decem milia (qui ſupremi dicuntur numeri:ꝙ vltra illorũ ſummam arithmetici Pythagoricis aſſentientes nõ eſſe progrediendũ contendant/ſed in illa ſtãdum)in ſeipſos inuoluit atq; multiplicat.Nam eos tanq̃ radices & latera quadratorum in ſeipſos ducens:producit duos numeros tetragonicos/ in Daniele ſecundum æditionem ſeptuaginta interpretum(quam hic adducit ſacratus pater)expreſſos.Si enim mil-

Danie.7.

lenarium in ſeipſum duxeris: procreabitur prior numerus ſcilicet milia milium. Si vero decies mille quis inuoluerit in ſeipſum/& per ſeipſum multiplicauerit; protinus conſurget numerus ſecundo loco hic ex Daniele adductus/ vtpote decies millies dena milia.
vt præclare dilucidat huius loci ſcholiũ. At vero non ab re hic dictum eſt: ſecundum numerum ex Daniele hic nominari ſecũdum traductionẽ ſeptuaginta interpretum. Nã noſtri codices/ qui in eccleſiæ gallicanæ ſunt vſu: habent hoc ſecũdo loco numerũ multo maiorem/ vtpote decies millies centena milia. De quo/& huius apud Danielem loci elucidatione ac varietate in diuerſis codicibus: annotauimus nonnichil in calce opuſculi de myſtica ſignificatione numerorum. Verum per hos numeros tam ingentis & copioſæ ſummę/ milia inquam miliũ & decies millies dena milia: ſacra ſcriptura clare nobis pandit ac inſinuat/ipſos cœleſtium ſubſtantiarũ ordines nobis eſſe innumerabiles:
nec certo a nobis numero compræhendi poſſe. Sunt enim reuera plurima supernorum ſpirituũ agmina: quæ humanorum noſtrorũ numerorũ ſummam breuemq; menſuram longe tranſcendunt. ſuntq; huiuſmodi cœleſtium ſubſtantiarũ militiæ/a ſola ſua ſciẽtia atq; cognitione perſpectę: atq; in quo ſunt numero/diffinitę. ꝙ poſt deum/ipſę ſolę cognoſcũt:
quo ſint numero a ſumma diuinitate determinatę. Hanc vero notionẽ & proprij numeri intelligentiam/ipſis affluentiſſime elargita eſt ſuprema deitas: totius ſcien
1.regum.2 tiæ ac ſapientię fons vberrimus. Deus enim/ ſcientiarum dominus eſt: vt ait ſcriptura.
Ecci.1. & omnis ſapientia a domino deo eſt. Eſt itidem ipſa ſumma diuinitas/principium & authoribus omnibus rebus conditis in hoc vniuerſo ſubſiſtentibus: ratione excellentiſſimæ Roma.11. ſuæ ſubſtantiæ omnibus longe eminẽtis. & cauſa ſubſtantiæ cunctis exiſtit: nã ex ipſo/per ipſum/& in ipſo ſunt omnia. Deniq; eadem eſt cõtinens ac conſeruans omnia virtus:
& perfectio cuncta compræhendens. omnia enim ſeruat in eſſe: & cuncta conſummat ac perficit.

¶ Quæ ſint figuratiuæ angelicarum virtutum imagines/& reliqua. Cap. XV.

Age vero iam ſi placet relaxãtes parũper intentionẽ noſtrã/& mentis aciem a ſublimibus illis angelorum ſpeculationibus tantiſper auertentes: ad diuiduam atq; in plura diſciſſam latitudinem multiplicis angelicarum imaginum varietatis deſcendamus. atq; ab ipſis rurſus veluti ab imaginibus:
ad ſimplicitatem cœleſtium ſpirituum per illarum ſolutionẽ
redeamus. ¶ Id autem ãte omnia compertum tibi ſit velim/ ꝙ imaginum
C ſacratiora ſignantium deſignationes: eaſdem interdũ ſubſtantiarum cœleſtium diſtinctiones/perfectas atq; docentes inducunt/aliquando diſcentes atq; ſubiectas. & vltimas ſæpe docentes: primariaſq; diſcẽtes. deniq; (vt dictum eſt) & primas & medias & extremas: virtutibus præditas. ac per hunc expoſitionis explicitæ modum: nichil abſurditatis inſeritur/ nichil quod ſit a ratione alienum. Nam ſi quidem regi ac doceri aliquas a prioribus diceremus/deinde eaſdẽ regere atq; docere: prioreſq; rurſus extremas docere/& poſtmodum ab ipſis illis diſcentibus diſcere: eſſet profecto ea res perabſurda/& ingenti confuſione plena. Sin autem eaſdem & docere & doceri dicimus: verum non eaſdem & ab eiſdem/ ſed ſingulas a ſuperioribus regi ac diſcere/ extremas vero docere atq; regere: non inconuenienter infertur/eas quæ in ſacro eloquio continentur ſacratius effictas formas: eaſdem
D aliquando & primis & medijs extremiſq; virtutibus/ proprie ac vere
E circumponi poſſe. ¶ Igitur & illa vel in anteriora conuerſio ac iugis intentio/vel ſuis in locis manſio atq; tuendarum virtutum ſuarum cauſa nuſq̃ progreſſio/ ſtatus ille præterea per quem ſociali ad ſequentes ſecundo loco cōmunicabiliqꝫ proceſſu/prouidentiſſimæ virtutis participes fiunt: omnibus profecto cœleſtibus ſpiritibus aptiſſime ac veriſſime congruit/ etſi alijs eminentiſſime atqꝫ integre quidem (quod ſæpe iam diximus) alijs vero 58 ex parte atqꝫ ſubmiſſius. ¶ Aggrediamur itaqꝫ quod inſtituimus/illud ſtatim in prima figurarū expoſitione inquirentes: quā ob cauſam diuina F eloquia igneam deſcriptionē præ omnibus ferme honorare videntur. Deniqꝫ inuenies in his nō modo igneas rotas effingi/ verum ignita quoqꝫ animalia:

& viros ignem veluti ex ſe coruſcationis inſtar emittentes. ac iuxta ipſas quoqꝫ cœleſtes ſubſtantias: congeſtos carbones ignis apponi/ & flumina ingenti fragore ignis feruorē emittentia. Sed & thronos eſſe aiunt igneos: & ipſa eminentiſſima ſeraphim incendendi munus ipſa nominis ſui appellatione ſignare. ipſiſqꝫ proprietatem & officium ignis imprimis aſſignant: ac prorſus vltro/citroqꝫ ignis figuras præcipue honorant. Per ignem itaqꝫ ſignari arbitror cœleſtium ſpirituum faciem: dei maxime ſpecie Ignis.
inſignem. Nam profecto ſanctiſſimi qui de deo locuti ſunt viri: ſummam G illam & nullis obnoxiam figuris/formiſqꝫ ſubſtantiam varie in igne deſcribunt. quippe qui diuinæ proprietatis (ſi dici liceat) in rebus viſibilibus plurimas ſeruat imagines. Nempe enim ignis/ſenſibilis in omnibus (vt H ita dixerim) eſt. & per ōnia ſine vlla ſui admixtione proficiſcitur. & ab omnibus prorſus excipitur. cumqꝫ lucidiſſimus ſit: ipſe tamen non admota materia (in qua ſuā vim/ ſuumqꝫ oſtēdat officium) in ſeipſo occultus/atqꝫ Ignis proprietates & philoſophia ad aſcenſum anagogicum mirabilis.
incognitus manet. neqꝫ admittit habitum. neqꝫ patet aſpectui. ipſe omnia ſuperat. et ea quibus inſederit/in ſuum traducit officiū. omnibuſqꝫ quomodolibet ſibi appropinquantibus ſui conſortium tradit. renouat omnia calore vitali. ac fulgoribus apertis illuminat. teneri/miſceriqꝫ non poteſt. diſcernēdi vi habet. atqꝫ imutabilis eſt. ſuperiora ſemper petit. & in acumen tendit.
agilis. celer. ſublimis. nullaqꝫ vi vt inferiora petessat: adigi poteſt. ſemper mobilis. eodēqꝫ motu vigēs. alia mouet. cōplectitur oīa. cū tamē aſtrigi ipſe non poſſit. cūqꝫ alio ipſe nō egeat: ſibiipſi tamē clā incrementa ſuppeditat.
atqꝫ in qualibet ſuſcipiente materia/ſuæ maieſtatis potentiā indicat. efficax.
potens. omnibus inuiſibiliter præſens. ſi negligatur/non eſſe videtur.
attritu autem veluti irritatione quadam naturaliter ac proprie continuo lucentem excitatur in flammā: rurſuſqꝫ incōpræhenſibili abuolat modo. cūqꝫ affatim omnibus participationem ſui locupletiſſimam præbeat: nunq̄ tamē ipſe minuitur. Cōplures item alias ignis proprietates inuenies: diuinæ actioni (quantum humanis imaginibus fas eſt) prope accedētes. Hoc itaqꝫ nō ignorantes viri illi diuina ſapientia repleti: cœleſtes ſubſtantias/ ex igne maxime effingunt. vt illarū diuinam ſpeciem/ ad dei imitationem tendere 59 pro virib⁹: indicēt. ¶ Humana quoqꝫ illas forma deſcribūt: ꝙ mēte vigeāt I Humana forma.
homines/videndiqꝫ vires habeant ad ſuperna tendentes/ſublimiqꝫ ore/& erecto ſint ſtatu/& per naturam ad imperandū ac regendū idonei. Cūqꝫ ſenſu ac viribus/brutorum animalium comparatione/ minimum valeant:
præſtāti tamē virtute animi/ac rationabilis ſciētiæ dominatu/& ꝙ anima naturaliter libera/ſeruire vinciqꝫ non poſſit: oīa ſuperant. Poſſumus autem

& per ſingula plurifariam diuiſa humani corporis membra: non inconcin nas (vt reor) imagines cœleſtium inuenire virtutū. Dicimus enim viſu qui-dem in ſanctis angelis clariſſimā ſignari aciem: qua diuinis hauriendis luminibus inhiant. ſimplicemqꝫ præterea illam & liquidā/ nichilqꝫ obluctan tem: ſed motus celeritate conſtantem/ purāqꝫ & patulam ſuſcipiēdis abſqꝫ Nares. perturbatione vlla diuinę claritatis fulgoribus/ qualitatem. Porro naribus olfaciendi ac diiudicandi vi præditis: capacē eorū perceptionem/ qua ſummam illam/ ſuauiſſimāqꝫ fragrantiam pro viribus admittentes: cætera quę Aures. huiuſmodi non ſint/ ſcite diiudicant ac penitus fugiunt. Auribus vero: vim Guſtus. illam participandi/ diuinamqꝫ participationem ſcite ſuſcipiendi. Guſtu autē: intelligibilis alimoniæ refectionem/ & diuinorum nutrientiumqꝫ liquo-Tactus. rum admiſſionem. At vero tactu/ conſtantiā illam exprimi putamus: qua Palpebræ. quid vtile/ quid noxium ſit/ perite diſcernunt. Palpebras autem & ſuperci-
Supercilia. lia: ſtatum illū ſignificare arbitramur/ quo diuinę ſpeculationis ſenſus atqꝫ Pubertas. intelligentias cautiſſime ſeruant. Pubeſcentem vero ac iuuenilem ætatē: vi-Dentes. talis virtutis conſtantiam/ ſempiterne vigentis. Porro dentes: diuiſionē in-dultæ ſibi perficiētis alimoniæ/ alentiſqꝫ perfectiones exprimere credimus.
Quælibet enim ſubſtantia ſpiritualis/ quam ab auguſtiore perceperit vni-
Humeri. cam & vniformem intelligētiā: prouida virtute diuidit atqꝫ multiplicat/ dū Vlnæ. inferiorem quoqꝫ pro captu ſuo promouet/ atqꝫ ad altiora ſuſtollit. Hume-
Manus. ros autem atqꝫ vlnas/ & manus: faciendi & operandi ſtrennuam ac poten
Cor. tiſſimam vim in diuinis ſpiritibus interpretamur. Cor item/ ſignum eſſe di-cimus diuinam ſpeciem præ ſe ferentis vitæ: quæ vitalem vim ſummi bo-Pectora. ni inſtar in inferiora diſſeminat. Porro pectora: virtutem inſuperabilē/ ſer-Dorſa. uandiqꝫ vim/ vt eſt a ſubiecti cordis viuifica diſtributione/ ſignificant. Dor Pedes. ſa vero: vim indicant vitales omnes virtutes cōtinentem. Pedes autem: mo-
K bilitatem/ celeritatē/ atqꝫ curſum inſinuant ſempiterni motus ad diuina ten Alæ. dentis. Quocirca & ſanctorum ſpirituum pennatos theologia pedes effinxit. Quippe alis ſignatur celeritas alta conſcendens/ & cœleſtis vitæ curſus: iter in anteriora ſemper ac celſiora conſternens/ & (ꝙ ad ſuperiora Alarum le-uitas. feratur) mortalibus atqꝫ infimis omnibus exceptus. Sed enim alarum le uitas: id in ſanctis angelis indicat/ ꝙ terreni corporis ſarcina liberi/ toti Nudi. abſqꝫ vlla admixtione vel pondere ad celſa ferantur. Qꝫ autē nudi ac diſcal Diſcalceati ceati deſcribuntur: hoc ſignat/ ꝙ liberi & abſoluti & expediti/ atqꝫ exterio-
ris ois adiectionis labe ſint puri/ & ad diuinæ ſimplicitatis ſimilitudinem pro viribus tendant. Verum quia rurſus ſimplex illa/ multiformiſqꝫ ſapien tia nudos etiam operit/ & vaſa quædam illis circūferenda largitur: age ipſa quoqꝫ cœleſtiū ſpirituum ſacra operimenta atqꝫ inſtrumēta/ inquantū poſ Veſtis gnea. ſumus/ explicare pergamus. Perlucidā nempe atqꝫ igneā veſtē ſignare ar bitror diuinam ſpeciem/ ſecūdū illā (quā diximus) ignis imaginē. illuminā-di præterea vim: ob præmia in cœlo poſita vbi lux eſt/ & quod prorſus in-Veſtis ſa-cerdotalis. telligibiliter illuſtrat/ ſiue intellectualiter illuſtratur. Porro ſacerdotalem Zonæ. veſtem: vim illam adducendi ad diuina & ſacratiora ſpectacula/ totiuſqꝫ vitæ conſecrationem/ inſinuare puto. Zonas vero: fœcūdarum ipſarū virtutum cuſtodiam diligentem/cogentemqꝫ ipſas in habitum:qui in ſemet L ſingulari facilitate conuertitur/ac per gyrum circa ſeipſum immutabili idētitate verſatur. Virgas itidem:regis ac ducis inſigne præferre/quod omnia Virgæ.

recta perficiat/dicimus. Haſtas vero atqꝫ ſecures:vim diſſimilia diuidendi/ Haſtæ.
diſcernentiumqꝫ virtutum habilitatem/& efficientiam/atqꝫ ſtrennuitatem Secures.
intelligimus. Vaſa quoqꝫ geometrica atqꝫ fabrilia: fundandi & conſtruendi Vaſa geometrica.
ac perficiendi vim/ & quæqꝫ alia ſunt prouidentiæ illius munera/quæ inferiora promouet/atqꝫ conuertit. Interdum & diuinorum in nos iudiciorum M ſigna ſunt:quæ finguntur ſanctorũ angelorum inſtrumenta.alijs quidem ſignificantibus emendantē diſciplinam / ſiue iuſtitiam punientem:
alijs vero mœſtorum caſuum ereptionē/ſiue diſciplinæ finem/ſiue prioris fœlicitatis receptionem/ſeu aliorum quoqꝫ munerum adiectionem: ſiue illa parua/ſiue magna/ſiue carnalia/ſiue intelligibilia ſint. Prorſuſqꝫ mens diuinis in rebus exercitata:nunq̃ dubitabit/inuiſibilibus rebus rerum viſibiles coaptare imagines. At vero cũ ventorum appellatione cenſentur: naturæ Venti.
ſumma celeritas(quæ cũcta ferme abſqꝫ vlla mora temporis penetrat)
motuſqꝫ ille ex ſummis ad infima/rurſuſqꝫ ex imis ad ſumma in momento pertingens profecto ſignatur/inferiora et ſecundo a ſe loco poſita ad ſuperiorem celſitudinem tollens/primaſqꝫ ſubſtantias ad tradēda inferioribus lucis ſuę conſortia prouidentiſſime mouens. Dicet fortaſſe aliquis hũc aereum ſpiritum qui ventus dicitur: diuinã quoqꝫ cœleſtium ſpirituum præferre ſpeciem. Habet enim & ipſe/diuinæ actionis imaginem atqꝫ figurã(ſicut N in ſymbolica theologia:iuxta quatuor elementorum expoſitionē/pluribus Symbolica theologia.
documentis oſtendimus)ſecundũ naturalem mobilitatem/vimqꝫ animãdi/& celerē inſuperabilemqꝫ diſceſſum/& mobilium principiorum atqꝫ finiũ incognitas nobis atqꝫ inuiſibiles latebras. Nõ eni ſcis(inquit)vnde venit: O & quo vadit. Nubis quoqꝫ ſpeciē diuina ſcriptura illis effingit:per id ꝓfecto Nubes.
innuens/ſanctos ſpiritus occulto quidē lumine ſupra mundanum impleri modũ:cæterum primitiuam illã/primoqꝫ apparentē lucē/ modeſte reuerenterqꝫ ſuſcipere/eamqꝫ ſequentibus abſqꝫ inuidia pro ſuo cuiuſqꝫ captu ſecunda deriuatione tranſfundere. præterea ꝙ illis & fœcunditas & vis item animãdi & augendi ac perficiendi aſſit:iuxta intelligibilis imbris fœcunditatem (quæ ſubiectum gremiũ ad vitalem partum pinguibus euocet pluuijs)rectiſſime nube ſignãtur. Et ſi quæritur/quã ob cauſã æris quoqꝫ & electri ac diſcolorum lapidum ſpeciem diuinæ litteræ ſanctis angelis applicant: Electrum.
id profecto dixerim electro(quod auri atqꝫ argenti ſpeciē præfert) P ex qua parte auri color oſtenditur/ſplendorē illum inuiolabilem deſignari:
qui neqꝫ conſumi neqꝫ imminui poſſit/neqꝫ vlla ratione maculari. qua vero argentum lucet:nitidum illud ac purum/cœleſteqꝫ iubar oſtendi. Porro Aes.
æri iuxta eas quas ſupra expoſuimus rationes)ignis aut auri ſpeciē oportet aſcribi. At vero gemmarũ ſpecies colorum varietate diſtinctas:ita accipiendas Q puto.vt ſiue illæ ſint candidæ:nitorem lucis inſinuent. ſiue rutilæ: Gemmæ.
ignis ſpeciem ſignēt.ſiue fuluæ:rutilans referant aurum.ſiue virides:vigorē ac robur iuuentutis enuncient. Inuenies deniqꝫ per ſingulas figurarum

Cap.
15

imagines digniſſimos ſenſus:quibus ad ſuperiora feraris. Verum quia de ijs pro modo virium noſtrarum ſatis dictum puto:ad cætera diſcutienda tranſeamus/& cœleſtibus ſpiritibus effictas beſtiarū effigies explicemus.
Leo. Leonis faciem ſignare putamus:vim illā in angelis principalem ac robuſtā & indomabilem/ per quam occultiſſimo illi ineloquibilis diuinitatis arcano pro viribus ſimiles nituntur euadere: operti ſpiritualibus veſtigijs/& expedita illa atqꝫ ineffabili celeritate itineris:ad diuini fulgoris ſecreta ten-
Bos. dentis. Bouis autem imaginē: fortitudinis ac robuſtatis præferre ſpeciem/
& qua ſpirituales ſulcos ſuſcipiendis cœleſtibus fœcundiſqꝫ imbribus ſcin Cornua. dunt. Cornua itē:ſeruatricē illā ſignant atqꝫ inſuperabilē vim. Porro effigiē Aquila. aquilæ:regiā dignitatem/motumqꝫ ad ſuperna tendentem/celeremqꝫ vola tum/atqꝫ ad captandum neceſſariū reparādis viribus cibum:agilitatē atqꝫ vigilantiam/& curſum/& facilitatem ſummā. ac præterea vim illam ſingu larem ſpeculādi atqꝫ intēdendi libere/et directe(in nullā partem inclinan do aciem luminū)in radiū illum vberrimū & luciditſſimum deitatis:quem Equi. ex ſe inſtar ſolis emittit. Equorū quoqꝫ figurā:obedientiā in ſanctis āgelis ſignificare dicimus/qua diuinis obtēperant iuſſis. Qui ſi quidē albi ſint:cā dorē ac diuinæ propinquitatē lucis q̃ maxime ſignant. ſin vero pulli:occulta diuinitatis inſinuant. ſi autem rubei: vigorem ignis & ſtrennuā efficaciā indicant. ꝙ ſi ex albo/nigroqꝫ permixti:vis illa ſignatur/qua traducente ne ctuntur extrema. & prima ſecundis/ac ſecunda primis:cōuerſionis ac prudentię ratione/iunguntur. Enimuero niſi cohibendæ prolixitatis rationem haberemus:particulares quoqꝫ memoratorum animaliū proprietates/cor-poraleſqꝫ illorum deſcriptiōes omnes:cœleſtibus illis virtutibus/diſſimiliū Iracundia. ſimilitudinū ratione/aptiſſime congruere profecto doceremus. feruorē ira-Cōcupiſcē-tia. cundiæ ad ſpiritualem fortitudinem:cuius extremū ira veſtigiū eſt. concupiſcētiam quoqꝫ ad diuinum amorem. & vt totum ſimul explicem/ omnes mutorum animātium ſenſus & partes in plura diſciſſas: ad virtutum cœ-leſtiū altiſſimas intelligentias & vnicas virtutes/referentes. Verū prudenti-bus nō modo iſta ſufficiunt:ſed vel vnius obſcuræ imaginis expoſitio/ad ſi milia pari ratione ſoluenda ſufficiet. Illud inſuper inſpiciendū/quid ſibi ve lint flumina/rotæ/& currus:qui cœleſtibus virtutibus cōiuncti referuntur.
